According to Judith King of Creative Associates, Benedict and the three other administrators will be in Somalia for two weeks. Upon their return, the men will be debriefed and will file a report on their experiences with AID in Washington.

The entire trip is funded by AID.

The team leader, Peter Ristuben, is the president of Bethany College in Lindsbord Kansas. William Ferrero, management records specialist at SUNY-Empire State College and John Aragon, president of New Mexico Highland University are the other members of the team.

Benedict was attending briefing sessions in Washington yesterday, and was unavailable for comment.

FYI:

Gino Segre, a professor of Physics at the University of Pennsylvania will address a colloquium tomorrow in room 126 of Hasbrouck Laboratory.

Segre's presentation, "Low Energy Physics and Superstrings" is being sponsored by the department of Physics and Astronomy. Refreshments will be served at 3:45 p.m. and the program will begin at 4:15 p.m.

Columnist to speak

Political columnist Tom Wicker of the New York Times will speak at 8 p.m. today in School of Management, room 120.

Wicker, former Times Washington Bureau Chief is a recipient of the Pulitzer Prize and author of the book A Time to Die, about a prison riot in Attica, New York.

Wicker is "widely considered one of the two or three most eminent political columnists in America," University of Massachusetts journalism professor Howard Ziff said. The lecture is sponsored by the University Journalistic Studies Program.

WORLD

Gas victims protest

BHOPAL, India (AP) — More than 3,000 people waving torches and shouting "down with the killer!" burned about 100 effigies of Union Carbides's chairman yesterday outside the plant where a leak of deadly gas created the world's worst industrial accident a year ago.

"Hang Anderson! Hang Anderson!" survivors of the gas leak screamed as they poured kerosense on the effigies of corperation chairman Warren Anderson at the gates of the closed pesticide factory. A leak of methyl isocyanite gas there on Dec. 3, 1984, killed more than 2,000 people and injured 300,000.

Demonstrators cheered, applauded and jumped up and down as the figures burned. Some hit the effigies with sticks, or stamped on the smoldering remains.

The demonstrators, gas victims from the slums around the plant and the activists, demanded Union Carbide's expulsion from India, a boycott of products made by U.S. multinational companies, and more help for gas victims.

Barricades and more than 1,000 heavily armed police were stationed around the plant to keep the protestors out.

Protest leaders assailed "the killer multinational" in speeches, but no violence or injuries were reported.

"Everything is peaceful," said M. Nadarajan, director general of police.

More aid needed

WASHINGTON (AP) — With Africa facing enormous food, health and population crises, a panel of experts recommended yesterday that the UNited States triple the amount of aid it gives countries there.

"The United States needs to pay more attention to the developing world and to Africa in particular," said Lawrence Eagleburger, co-chairman of the group which issued the report.

Eagleburger, a former top State Department official now associated with former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's international consulting firm, and Donald F. McHenry, a scholar at Georgetown University who once served as ambassador to the United Nations, were the report's principal authors.

Decades of drought, famine and debt have damaged Africa, and events there since the mid-1960s "can be compared to the effects of a world war," the report said.

They said 25 of the world's poorest 34 countries are in Africa; the continent's annual 3.2 percent population growth rate is the highest in the world; agricultural production is expected to decline in some countries; and the continent has a critical shortage of trained professionals.

But the report said Africa's situation is not hopeless.

"There is a receptivity to change," McHenry said.

The panel said the United States should commit about $3 billion a year in development aid for Africa, triple the aid now given.

Hotel strike averted by agreement

BOSTON (AP) — A last-minute decision by the union representing 4,000 hotel workers to accept a management contract offer averted a walkout against nine major Boston hotels.

"I'm thrilled, just thrilled," said main union president Domenic Bozzotto. "I know I feel great. I'm sure management does too."

The tentative pact, reached minutes before the strike deadline at midnight Sunday, calls for a 20 percent wage increase over three years, far more than management had originally offered.

Despite his harsh words during negotiations, Bozzotto said after the agreement that both management and the union gained more respect for each other.

"They were never the enemy," he told a cheering crowd of more than 200 workers inside the lobby of City Hall shortly after midnight. "We just had a difference of opinion. We're part of the hotel industry, and we're proud of that."

Some 4,000 members of Local 26 of the Hotel, Restaurant, Institutional Employees & Bartenders, AFL-CIO, had been poised to go out on strike. Their old contract expired at midnight Saturday, but union and hotel management extended the deadline 24 hours at the request of Mayor Raymond L. Flynn.

Union members planned to hold a ratification vote on the tentative settlement late Monday afternoon at the Boston Park Plaza Hotel, one of the nine that would have been struck had negotiations failed.

"Hopefully the membership will ratify it, and we'll be back in business," said Joe J. Burnisika, spokesman for the hotels. "That's what everybody was working for. Obviously, we're pleased."

Under the tentative contract, wages for non-gratuity workers would increase by an average of $1.20 per hour over three years, or slightly more than 6 percent each year. Workers who also earn tips would recieve half that increase, or a 60-cent hourly wage increase each year.

During an 11-hour bargaining marathon Sunday, management had offered to increase wages 4 percent, or under 25 cents per hour, in each year of a four-year contract, according to Louis Chandler, chief negotiator for the hotels. Management's original offer was to increase wages by about 2.3 percent.

The union entered bargaining sessions seeking annual raises of 16 percent, or $1 an hour, over each of the three years.

The hotel workers currently earn an average of about $6.15 an hour, union officials said.

Cape needs development controlled

MASHPEE (AP) — Officials of Cape Cod's fastest-growing town say that unless the development is controlled, Mashpee's undeveloped land and marshes could disappear.

"We know that development cannot be stopped, and we don't intend to stop it," said Selectman B. John Thomas. "These are simply controls which should have been put in years ago."

Town Planner F. Thomas Fudala has proposed seven zoning changes to protect wetlands and open spaces. The proposals were to be voted on at a special town meeting last night.

The zoning changes use both incentives and regulations to control growth. While developers have shown little interest in the incentives, they have strongly protested some of the proposed regulations.

Most controversial are regulations that would:

-Prohibit builders from including marsh and wetlands when calculating minimum lot size. Currently, up to two-thirds of a building lot can be wetlands.

-Establish a 100-foot minimum building setback from all shorelines. The town currently has no setback requirements from water.

-Redefine open space in housing developments so that golf courses, tennis courts and swimming pools can no longer be counted as part of the open space.

John Umina, original builder of the Quashnet Valley Development, which contains a golf course, is upset over the open space article.

"In my mind, there is nothing more beautiful than a golf course," Umina told The Cape Cod Times of Hyannis. "If the town planner had seen the brush and scrub that was open space before we cleared it, he might feel differently."

In addition to the zoning laws, Fudala is proposing an open-space incentive plan that would give developers a bonus of increased housing density in exchange for saving open space.

HEY SPORTS FAN !!

DID YOU MISS THE BASKETBALL ENTRY DATE?

IT NOT TOO LATE, BRING YOUR TEAM ROSTER TO THE INTRAMURAL OFFICE, AS SOON AS POSSIBLE

UMASS INTRAMURAL HOOP

INTRAMURAL OFFICE
215 BOYDEN

National Student Exchange Program
Information Meetings

Students interested in participating in the National Student Exchange Program for Fall 1986 are encouraged to attend an information session.

For students applying to restricted schools, this is your LAST CHANCE to pick up an initial application form.

Restricted schools are: Univ. of Hawaii/Manoa & Hilo; Univ. of So. Florida; Cal State Chico, Northridge & Sonoma; and College of the Virgin Islands.

Tuesday, Dec. 3* CC 805 3-4 pm
Wednesday, Dec. 4* CC 901 3-4 pm
Tuesday, Dec. 9 CC 803 3-4 pm
Wednesday, Dec. 10 CC 805 3-4 pm
* Last days to pick up initial applications for restricted schools.

RENT A WRECK
New & Used Cars
Trucks & Vans Also Available
North Amherst Rent-A-Wreck
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880

James H. McManus
eating place
• OPEN 6 A.M.-3 A.M. SUN.-THURS.
• OPEN 24 HOURS FRI. & SAT.
CAMPUS PLAZA
(NEXT TO SUPER STOP & SHOP)
Rte. 9 • Hadley/Amherst
256-6889

Psssst!....

Are You A
Secret Santa?

GIFTS
Under 50¢
Under $1.00
Under $2.00
Under $3.00
Under $4.00
Under $5.00

A Store Full of Holiday Gift Ideas

Downtown Amherst
Daily 10-6, Sun. 12-5
FACES

DRESS FOR SUCCESS.

You're the man in charge. And you can handle it. Because the Navy has given you the management and technical training to get the job done.

Thirty men report to you. And what you do includes the care and responsibility for millions of dollars worth of sophisticated equipment.

At age 22 you can be a leader in the Navy. With all the decision-making authority you need to help you match up to your responsibility.

The rewards match up, too. A solid starting salary of $17,700, and up to as much as $31,000 in four years with regular promotions and increases.

Responsibility and rewards. It's the way you measure success in the Navy. See your Navy Recruiter or CALL 800-327-NAVY.

NAVY OFFICERS GET RESPONSIBILITY FAST.

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian

ED/OP

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted.

Founded in 1870

Executive Board—Fall 1985

Dode B. Levenson, Editor in Chief
Anne McCrory, Managing Editor
Larry Bouchie, Editorial Editor
Peter Soderberg, Production Manager
Elizabeth Young, Business Manager
Sherry Sharfman, Business Manager

Board of Editors—Fall 1985

Dode B. Levenson, Editor in Chief
Anne McCrory, Managing Editor
Tom Middleton, News Editor
Larry Bouchie, Editorial Editor
Renee Bacher, Arts Editor
Peter Abraham, Sports Editor
Derek Roberts, Photo Editor
Bethanne Moskos, Women's Issue Editor
Kimberly Burge, Black Affairs Editor

For a guy with real class

Rusty Denton

I am flying down the highway at subsonic speeds passing everything in sight. Small children gape through car windows as I appear and disappear simultaneously, and young men stare enviously from beat-up old Dodges. With my black Trans Am, I am the personification of everything masculine -- strong, virile, fast.

Up ahead, a Volkswagen Bug looms ominously in the left lane. It is only going 70 miles per hour and I think I am about to get impatient.

"Hey, hoser, I haven't got all day! Move that ugly piece of import off the road or I'll boogey right over you!"

He sits there, happy doing 70 mph. A Mack truck takes up residence on my rear bumper.

"Listen, speedo, I said move it. Even the garbage truck is keeping up with you." I am starting to lose my cool. Our little trio has now passed several cars, and the right hand lane will not be open for passing for a good while. Oh, no. We are approaching a hill and everyone knows what VW's do on hills. They crawl. In my mirror I see a line forming behind us, and the Bug still hasn't put on his right hand blinker.

This is too much. No Trans Am should be confined by the limits of mere mortals. I honk my horn, I flash my brights; I shake my fist just in case the bird-brain has missed every other comment I've made on his driving. We are now doing 65 mph and counting.

"C'mon! Where do they get drivers like you -- the rest home? Pull over, buddy!"

Aggravation. We have crested the hill, and that little tin-plated cream puff is down to 60 mph and still slowing. 55 mph. 50 mph. The left lane of the highway is now creepimg at 50 mph while this airhead smirks in his little yellow cookie tin. I really don't know if my sleek black rocket can handle going at these sublegal speeds. I decide not to risk it. I will go roaring by in the illegal side lane in a spray of gravel and dirt.

Oh, definitely not cool. Now we are doing 45 mph, and the nerds in the slow lane smile as they pass us. I begin to sweat; no one has ever done this to me before. The truck driver behind me is grinning from ear to ear.

"Can'tcha go any slower, bozo? Everybody loves a parade." Oops, spoke too soon. My speedometer hovers at 40 mph. This calls for drastic action. I roll down a window and crank up the meanest, nastiest acid rock cassette in the car. Then I swerve viciously through the right lane, scaring the daylights out of two little old ladies in a midsize Ford. No big deal.

Zooming up the breakdown lane I almost flatten a hitchhiker. The guy should know better than to stand in the road like that. Weaving and cursing, I am soon back in the left lane, tossing trash and soda cans out the window to be intercepted by that idiot driving the Bug, which is now behind me.

I can't believe it. I sat on his tail; I told him exactly what I wanted; and I flexed just a little bit of my awesome mechanical muscle, and the jerk wouldn't move. He's got no respect. I will never understand why creeps like him won't make room for a guy with real class.

Rusty Denton is a Collegian columnist who drives a little blue import.

Brennan: counter offensive

Bob Kievra

He may not look like your standard Rambo warrior, but liberals across the country are treating 79-year old Supreme Court Justice William J. Brennan Jr. as if he was the latest hero emerging from Hollywood. And rightfully so, for it is Brennan who is leading the counter-offensive against Attorney General Edwin Meese's attempts to implement conservatism in the homes, the churches, and the schools of America.

Five years ago, the Far Right had Brennan talking of retirement. His recovery from a stroke one year earlier was not going well. Republicans had captured control of both the Senate and the White House, threatening his many years of work on the Warren Court. Brennan began leaving the Court at 4:30 p.m. every afternoon to be near his wife who was dying of cancer. Friends noticed that Brennan was acting subdued during oral arguments and worried over the fact that he had cancelled his other public appearances. Today, Brennan's reemergence must cause Jerry Falwell to choke on his prayers.

Slowing down is the last thing on Brennan's mind. He remarried after his first wife's death, overcame his own physical ailments, and resumed travelling. He has been seen at Washington receptions working the crowd and dancing the night away.

Brennan's rejuvenation is good news to those people who cherish civil rights and civil liberties.

While Meese and his like-minded Justice Department officials are calling press conferences to push for constitutional amendments to ban abortions and return organized prayer to public schools, Brennan and his colleagues are fighting back.

Brennan and his fellow justice John Paul Stevens, have recently been making speeches critical of Ronald Reagan's attempts to use the court system to spread the gospel of conservatism.

In July of this year, the conflict heated up. In a speech to the American Bar Association, Meese condemned some of the Warren Court's landmark civil liberties cases saying that the founding fathers would have viewed them as "bizarre."

Brennan responded to these criticisms in a speech on Oct. 12 at Georgetown University when, without mentioning the attorney general by name, he said such views were "arrogance cloaked as humility" and that they only hid biases against minorities.

Waging war with the Reagan/Meese mentality is nothing new to Brennan. Since his appointment to the high court in 1956, Brennan has consistently disagreed with the conservative notion that 20th century society must interpret the Constitution strictly as it was forged in the 1700s. Brennan argues that too often, conservatives justify dangerous activities by invoking hidden blessings from the founding fathers. There are "certain skeletons in the congressional closet," Brennan warns.

Besides attempting to curb women's rights by outlawing abortions, Reagan's Justice Department has targeted the elimination of affirmative action along with reducing the rights of the handicapped and the poor. Meese has ignored the enforcement of antitrust laws and instead concentrates his efforts on implementing school prayer.

Brennan doesn't know how long he can preserve the hardwon victories of the Warren court, but he does know one thing. He's tired of Meese and company using the Constitution to achieve their personal security agenda.

*Bob Kievra is a*Collegian columnist.

Letters

Editorial misstated budget issue

I believe Monday's editorial in the Collegian, titled "Whose budget is it?," misstated the issue regarding control over the SATF.

Students should care, and do care, about how the more than $2 million they pay in student activities fees is being allocated to ensure that they are receiving tangible benefits, as are the organizations and causes in which they are interested. They are entitled to assurances that their money is accounted for and its use subject to review according to sound fiscal management procedures. By statute and regulations of the University Board of Trustees, the campus administration is obligated to guarantee such accountabilty. And that is precisely what the Madson/Donant letter dealt with. No person and no document ever said that the SGA had any right to spend these funds by rules they made up from week to week without references to state law and University regulation.

There is no "takeover"! The letter contains nothing new. Rather, it restates, perhaps more explicitly than in the past, what has always been true insofar as the shared responsibility of the SGA and the campus administration is concerned. (Unfortunately, the SGA and the administration may have obscured by their own rhetoric in the past, what was real and what was "assumed."

Further, there are some additional facts which all should know to fully understand this issue and place it in context. There exists no trustee approved SGA Constitution and By-laws. While it has been requested many times over the past several years, it has never been produced. Thus, there is no established set of rules governing the procedures of the SGA available to the students and the administration, including how the SGA dispenses funds collected throught the SATF. The "rules" thus are whatever the group in authority decides they are. Such an ad hoc fiscal system should be of concern to all.

A constitution which was proposed by an SGA administration task force after two years of work is bogged down in the SGA machinery. This document which represents a detailed description of the SGA administration and responsibilities are unknown to most students and senators, and has yet to receive a detailed and open presentation on the campus.

A desirable first step to get at the facts in this situation might be a press conference conducted "on the record" by the Collegian editors with the SGA and administration representatives of the Constitution Task Force.

William F. Fields
Dean of Students

Vocal senators overrepresented

After following the articles written about the Undergraduate Student Senate this semester, we feel there are a few senators who voice their opinions and we never hear from the majority of the campus' representation.

As senators ourselves, we know that there are 99 senators who have their own opinions and we would like to see any of those senators talked to or interviewed.

We feel students may think there are only a few senators making the decisions when every senator has one vote. Hopefully, in the near future when articles are written on senate meetings, we will hear from more than just a certain few senators.

Jennifer Hughes
Mary Lyons
Monica Jones
Johnson

Nursing needed, unfairly targeted

As a senior nursing major at the University, I feel it is necessary to reply to some accusations made by Provost O'Brien against the nursing department. Much of what O'Brien has said is true from a statistical standpoint. It is unfortunate, however, that during the Provost's review of the department he failed to recognize that nursing education is different from other programs on this campus.

The average nursing faculty member spends more time teaching than the average faculty member elsewhere in the University. Faculty members are also highly accessible to discuss both educational and personal matters that concern their students. It is upsetting that O'Brien feels excellent teaching and genuine concern for students are not a part of "scholarly productivity." The nursing department needs to be compared not to the University as a whole, but to other well respected nursing programs. The department's peers have placed their confidence in the faculty and the program, as evidenced by last year's accreditation by the National League of Nursing.

The elimination of the nursing program would be hard felt in Western Massachusetts. University nursing faculty and students offer many services throughout the area. Without the department many of the programs which work to potentiate the general health of the communities would be compromised. Also, more and more institutions in Massachusetts are demanding baccalaureate prepared nurses. With the elimination of this program, Western Massachusetts would be left without a public baccalaureate nursing program. This would, also, work to compromise the quality of health care in the area. I can only hope that the general faculty and student population of the University and the residents of Massachusetts will not let such a tragedy occur.

Karen Dahl
Central

nassau florida
$35
WILL HOLD YOUR BED
SPRINGBREAK
CALL NOW! 256-1261
COUNCIL TRAVEL SERVICES
79 SO. PLEASANT ST. AMHERST

Change your tires NOW . . .
$4.99 per pair
Alignment and balancing available
North Amherst Tire & Auto Center
Full Service Tire Store
78 Sunderland Rd., No. Amherst, MA
549-4704

The University Dancers will appear at 8 p.m. Wednesday through Friday in Bowker.

ARE YOU PREGNANT & IN NEED OF HELP?
Birthright Can Help
• FREE PREGNANCY TESTING
- Same Day Results -
Services that are Free, Confidential, Caring & Helpful
549-1906
Amherst Carriage Shops Upper Level

CLASSICAL JAZZ REGGAE BLUES ROCK SOUL FOLK JAZZ ROCK SOUL CLASSICAL
#1 IN THE VALLEY!
DYNAMITE RECORDS
Maxell XLII90 $2.00
TDK SA90 — $2.00
New, Used, Buy, Sell and Trade
584-1580
THORNES
150 MAIN ST. NORTHAMPTON

22 Shopping Days till Christmas and only
8 days till the Collegian Special Christmas Edition

MASS. APPROVED INSPECTION STATION
RADIAL TIRE SALE
P155/80R13
$29.95
Includes Mounting plus MA State Tax
North Amherst Tire & Auto Center
"Full Service Tire Store"
78 Sunderland Rd., No. Amherst, MA
Across from Watroba's Store
549-4704
Most Major Credit Cards Accepted

You and Your Problem Drinking Parent
Facing the holidays and intercession can be especially difficult for students who have parents or relatives with drinking problems.
The University Health Services is offering a workshop which will cover:
- Identifying alcoholism or problem drinking patterns
- Alcoholism and family dynamics
- Common problems facing adult children of alcoholics
- Resources for help locally and in your hometown area
Date: Monday, Dec. 9, 1985
Time: 7:00-9:00 pm
Place: University Health Services, Room 302
Please register by calling Health Education at 549-2671, ext.181

NOW OPEN
Riverboat Village
APARTMENTS, SOUTH HADLEY.
1, 2 or 3 BEDROOM UNITS
BEAUTIFUL MODELS FURNISHED BY CHAPDELAINE'S & EPSTEIN FURNITURE CO.
•Swimming Pool •Tennis Court •Club House •Shuffle Board Court
FINANCED BY MHFA
LEASED ON OPEN OCCUPANCY BASIS
OPEN SEVEN DAYS A WEEK
10 AM 4 PM
PHONE 532-9461
532-9462
CALL FOR DIRECTIONS
Riverboat Village
River Lodge Rd.
So. Hadley, MA 01075

SAVE
MIDAS
MUFFLERS
THE ECONOMIZER™ MUFFLER
$24.95 Regular $29.95
INSTALLATION INCLUDED
The Economizer muffler from Midas fits most American-made cars and trucks. Your satisfaction with this product is assured.
Guarantee: The Economizer Muffler is warranted by Midas for one year from the date of installation and will be replaced free of charge if it fails during this period.
expires Dec. 31st
BRAKES
$59.95
Per axle (most cars) Regular $74.90
BRAKE SPECIAL
DISC BRAKES
• Free 4-Wheel brake Inspection
• Replace pads with new guaranteed disc pads
• Resurface rotors
• Replace grease seals
• Inspect and repack wheel bearings
• Inspect calipers
• Inspect hydraulic system
• Lubricate caliper anchors
• Inspect fluid levels
• Add fluid if required
• Road test
DRUM BRAKES
• Free 4-Wheel brake Inspection
• Replace shoes with new guaranteed linings
• Resurface drums
• Inspect wheel cylinders
• Inspect hold down springs
• Lubricate backing plates
• Inspect hydraulic system
• Readjust brakes
• Road test
Guarantee. Midas brake shoes and disc brake pads are warranted for as long as you own your American or foreign car, van or light truck (under 7,000 lbs.) and if they ever wear, new Midas brake shoes or pads will be installed without charge for the shoes or pads or the labor to install the shoes or pads. Additional parts and/or labor required to restore the system to operational condition are extra.
FREE WRITTEN ESTIMATES
143 KING ST. JCT. RTES. 9 & 116 NORTHAMPTON 586-4840
HADLEY 586-9991
Midas

Looking For SECRET SANTA GIFTS?
Come to THE COUNTRY SHOP
* Great stocking stuffers
* Christmas ornaments
* Gifts in all price ranges
178 North Pleasant St. 256-0929
Open: Mon-Sat 9:30-5:30; Sun 12-5

BLACK AFFAIRS

Civil rights and apartheid are parallel

By Dr. MANNING MARABLE
Special to the Collegian

(Editor's Note: Dr. Manning Marable teaches political sociology at Colgate University.)

Martin Luther King, Jr., the political and spiritual leader of the American Civil Rights movement, recognized that the campaign against racism transcended international boundaries. Speaking in London on December 6, 1963, he focused his remarks on the tragedy of apartheid in South Africa. "We must join in a nonviolent action to bring freedom and justice to South Africa by a massive movemet for economic sanctions," he affirmed.

Legal racial segregation in the United States has been outlawed. Apartheid, in contrast, still remains, despite the severity of social unrest which has threatened its existence during the past year. Despite the obvious differences between black America's movement for equality and the situation of the black majority in South Africa, there are many parallels between these two societies.

Nelson Mandela, the leader of the banned African National Congress, expressed these ideals in his last public statement before a South African court in April, 1964: "During my lifetime I have dedicated myself to the struggle of the African people. I have fought against white domination, and I have fought against black domination. I have cherished the ideal of a democratic and free society in which all persons live together in harmony and with equal opportunities. It is an ideal which I hope to live for and to achieve. But if needs be, it is an ideal for which I am prepared to die."

The American Civil Rights movement employed economic boycotts as a method to undermine racial segregation. "Boycotts against stores," King once stated, "are not putting them out of business but bringing them to the point of moral change."

Similarily, black South Africans are resorting to selective buying campaigns with effective results. In the Eastern Cape region this July, blacks boycotted white-owned businesses in Port Elizabeth and East London. Within weeks, owners reported losses of 30 to nearly 100 percent. Dozens of firms went into bankruptcy. Black consumers raised explicitly political demands: the end of the "state of emergency," the release of all political prisoners, and the granting of basic democratic rights.

In South Africa, the increasing level of public protest against apartheid has reinforced the growth of black trade unionism. In 1969, only 16,000 African workers were organized. A decade later, FOSATU was formed, and by 1984 it had over 100,000 paid members in over 400 factories. The Council of Unions of South Africa (CUSA) was organized in 1980, and has 50,000 members. Both labor formations are in the vanguard of fundamental racial change, and project a goal of full democracy and workers' rights.

Announcements

A worship service will be held at 5 p.m. on December 8 in the James House classroom located in Southwest.

The theme will be "...And His name shall be called Immanuel" (Matthew 1:23) A Pre-Christmas Celebration - "God is With Us".

For more information, contact Rev. Kevin W. Lewis at 545-2661 or 545-2789. Or you can see him at the Union Christian Foundation located in Room 428 in the Student Union Building.

D.S.O.
The Dyslexic Student Organization
Room 69 Bartlett Hall
University of Massachusetts, Amherst
Telephone 545-0018
(Registered Student Organization)
Credit Free COLLOQUIM
Presenters:
Dr. Shirley M. De Shields and Judith Udes Herrell
SUBJECT:
Learning Differences:
Dyslexia and the college student
DATE: Thursday, December 5, 1985
TIME: 8:00 p.m.
PLACE: Room 165 Campus Center

Roger former manager of John Deere now appearing at:
Michael's Hair Studio
Carriage Shops, Amherst
Upper Level
549-6973

Navy Gold:
Forged in a Tradition of Excellence
Because the Officers wearing it are the best in the world at what they do . . . they have to be
It takes a special breed of aviator to meet the challenges of Naval Aviation. Strong, dedicated professionals who can control the world's most sophisticated aircraft. There's no room over the oceans for aviators that are second-best.
Beneath the surface pulses a unique environment few will ever challenge. Only an uncompromised standard of excellence earns a submariner his dolphins. The Navy's Nuclear Propulsion Officers wear them.
To find out if you're qualified, see the Navy Representative that will be in the Campus Center on October 28, 1985 or call collect (518) 462-6119.
Minority Students Encouraged to Apply
Navy Officers Get Responsibility Fast.

AUDITION NOTICE
Busch Gardens, The Dark Continent, could be the perfect showcase for your talents if you're a singer, dancer or musician — especially country fiddle, steel guitar or accordian — or if your abilities lie in specialty areas such as sound technician or show operator. There's only one way to find out. Plan to join us for:
AUDITIONS and INTERVIEWS
Thursday, December 5, 1985
8:00 A.M. to 4:00 P.M.
Boston Marriott Long Wharf
296 States Street
Auditions are limited to 5 minutes each and will be given on a first come basis. Dancers should be dressed to dance. Musicians should prepare selections demonstrating their versatility on their principle instrument as well as on any secondary instrument. Sound technicians will receive personal interviews and should bring a typed resume of related experience.
Accompaniment will be provided.
Good starting pay and full and part-time positions are available.
BUSCH GARDENS
THE DARK CONTINENT
TAMPA FLORIDA
Equal Opportunity Employer M/F/H/V

ARTS

Raiders rip-off ridiculous

By DON LIPPER
Collegian Staff

King Solomon's Mines is a ridiculous Raiders of the Lost Ark rip-off.

Rough and ready Richard Chamberlain stars as a great adventurer and big game hunter named Alan Quartermain (no relation to any character on General Hospital). Quartermain has everything an adventurer needs in a stereotypically racist, sexist action film: A silly mission, inane tough guy jokes, a beautiful blonde companion (Sharon Stone) who is guaranteed to be stupid, helpless and get everyone in trouble and a trusty black sidekick with a leopard skin and no brains named Mobopo. Doesn't this sound like the stuff of great literature?

The plot of this absurd adventure is loaded with cliche lines and situations that you are expected to believe in and laugh at simultaneously. It just doesn't work. The film never decides whether it wants to be an adventure movie or a satire of an adventure movie. It is difficult to fear for a hero's safety when he keeps getting out of life-threatening situations through a continual reliance on laughably impossible escapes.

King tries so much to be like Raiders that it even hired John Rhys-Davies (who played Sallah, Indy's Egyptian sidekick in Raiders) as the evil tough guy. Rhys-Davies' character and Quartermain have been bitter enemies for a long time, just as Indy and his rival archeologist Belloq.

This film also has its fair share of nasty but very strange Germans. The German commander in King is played by Herbert Lom (Peter Sellers' boss and rival in the Pink Panther movies). Lom's character is the stereotypical German officer, he listens to the same Wagner record all day long much to the annoyance of all those around him. The jokes in the film would be funny if the filmmakers had decided to go all the way with the humor. As it happens, the jokes only serve to ruin any chance the film had for creating suspense.

SCANDINAVIAN SEMINAR
STUDY ABROAD IN SCANDINAVIA

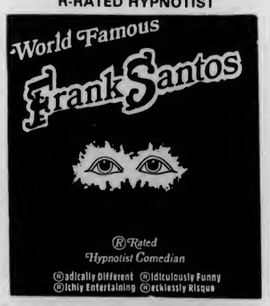
Five-College Information Meeting and Slide Presentation on College Year in Scandinavia Program.

WHEN: Wednesday, December 4 from 2:00-5:00 pm

WHAT: Slides and discussion of year-abroad program in DENMARK, FINLAND, NORWAY, SWEDEN.

WHERE: SCANDINAVIAN SEMINAR HOUSE 24 Dickinson St. Amherst (3 blocks East of Common)

OPEN HOUSE



STUDENTS
INTERSESSION
$5.00 PER HOUR
Work available
all over New England
in your home area during Christmas Break.
On campus information sessions
to be held on
Dec. 4, 1985 at CC Room 904
Every hour, on the hour, at 9 AM, 10 AM,
RGIS Inventory Specialists, EOE

22 Shopping Days
till Christmas
and only
8 days till the
Collegian
Special Christmas
Edition

TUESDAY
R-RATED HYPNOTIST

Because of Popular Demand
2 shows 9:00 & 11:00
JUSTIN RYAN'S
Rte. 9, Amherst
corner of University Dr.
256-1059

THE FINE ARTS CENTER
CONCERT · HALL
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

JAZZ ALL ★ STARS
Ray Brown, bass
Milt Jackson, vibes
Hank Jones, piano
Max Roach, drums
Stanley Turrentine, sax
Saturday, December 7, 8 pm.
Tickets: $13.11

CLEVELAND ORCHESTRA
Christoph Von Dohnanyi, Music Director

MOZART Symphony No. 25
HARTMANN Symphony No. 2
DVORAK Symphony No. 7
Monday, December 9, 8 pm.
Tickets: $20.18

• Gift Certificates Available •
Five College Students Half-Price Tickets available at Fine Arts Center Box Office Springfield Civic Center and DATATIX Outlets
Call (413)545-2511 or 1-800-243-4842

Doonesbury

BY GARRY TRUDEAU

Weather

Today
A few early morning flurries followed by lots of sunshine. Remaining windy and cold with temps ranging from 25-30.

Tonight
Cold and clear, dimishing winds. Lows in 10-15.

Tomorrow
Clouds thickening, scattered snow flurries. Highs from 15-30.

BLOOM COUNTY

by Berke Breathed

The Freaker Patrol

Dowe/O'Brien

Bat Brain

By Bill Dearing

GORDY

By Gorde

Today's Menu

French Lunch
Beef Bourguignon
Egg Noodles
Croissant Sandwich

Basics Lunch
Basics Croissant
Quiche Lorraine

Dinner
Italian Sweet Sausage
Spaghetti, Tomato Sauce
Fried Shrimp/Tartar Sauce
Cocktail Sauce
Fruit Plate with Orange Bread

Basics Dinner
Hi-Protein Spaghetti
Tomato Sauce
Fried Shrimp/Tartar Sauce
Cocktail Sauce
Fruit Plate with Orange Bread

Attention Staff

There will be a homophobia workshop on Wednesday, Dec. 4 at 7 p.m. in Rm. 905 CC.

Correspondents: This counts towards staff status!

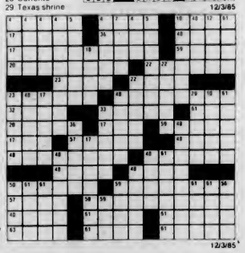
DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Edited by Trude Michel Jaffe



ACROSS
1 Division of a poem
6 Dessert tray item
10 Time of year
14 Outfit
15 Valentine's Day figure
16 Baseball family
17 Very warm
19 "Singin' in the ——"
20 Emperor of Rome: 14-37 AD
21 One kind of fever
23 Nosebag fillers
24 Portico of ancient Greece
25 Read
26 Put up with
32 Newspaper notice
33 Woman's waist coatlike dickey
34 Youth
35 Banter and beef dinner
37 Conductor de Waart
38 Bowling feat
40 Plumber's elbow?
41 Up
43 Sign of a sort
44 Has a different opinion
46 Over
48 Record, in a way
49 Money in Bangkok
50 Spanish explorer Hernando ——
53 Fuel
57 A Waugh
58 Prepares for the cold
60 Like some cellars
61 Blue pencil
62 Goodbye, amigo
63 Devine or Hardy
64 Repetition
65 Sierra ——

DOWN
1 "—— la guerre"
2 Water: Comb. form
3 Devoid of feeling
4 Breaks
5 "Carmen" and "Aida"
6 Anklebone
7 Author Kingsley
8 Korean soldier
9 Railroad bridge
10 Soprano Geraldine
11 Soviet range
12 Butcher's cut
13 Respirator
18 Bar mitzvah, e.g.
22 Frost et al.
24 Wise one
25 Examined (with "over")
26 Commune near Salerno
27 Yemen coins
28 Currents
29 Texas shrine
30 Counter weights
31 Ideal places
33 Tale of adventure
36 Pick up the check
39 Left
42 Having authority
45 Thickset
46 Berne's stream
47 Accompanied with song
49 Midler
50 Art movement
51 Dash
52 Tickle pink
53 Join closely
54 Singer Pinza
55 Kind of light
56 Actual being: Lat.
59 Wedding words

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

B	A	T	H	S		C	O	C	K		I	R	E
U	N	H	A		H	A	L	O		W	H	O	A
M	A	R	I	O		A	T	O	P		H	U	T	S
		T	U	R	K	I	S	H	D	E	L	I	G	H	T
			O	D	N			S	C	U	T
N	A	T	O		T	E	C		K	A	M	I	A
O	R	O		T	R	I	A	N		N	O	O	N	S
M	E	X	I	C	A	N	S	A	N	D	W	I	C	H
A	T	T	I	M	E		S	A	M	O	A		R	U	E
D	E	N	I	M	S			S	E	R		B	A	R	N
			T	A	L	E			M	A	R
J	A	P	A	N	E	S	E		S	A	S	E	S
E	X	I	T		A	I	S	L	E		T	A	K	E	S
T	I	L	E		Z	E	R	O		E	V	E	N	T
E	L	L			E	X	E	S		R	E	D	D	Y

12/3/85

ATTENTION: ALL Collegian Staff and Associates: The following positions are open for the Spring Semester: Managing Editor, News Editor, Black Affairs Editor, Women's Issues Editor, Photo Editor and Arts Editor. You MUST be a Collegian staff member to apply for these jobs. These positions PAY $. For applications, see Anne McCrory. Deadline is THIS Wednesday! There is also a position open for recruitment manager.
ATTN: ALL ASSOCIATES: You must re-apply for your positions for the Spring semester.

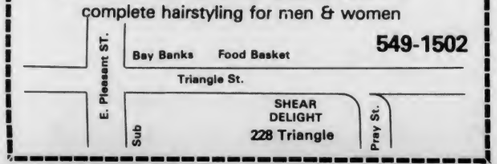
MONEY MOTIVATED?

If You Are Enthusiastic, Have A Strong Clear Speaking Voice and Have the Confidence to Prove What it Takes, Keep Reading This

We are a Major Industrial Tool Company Expanding a new office in Amherst, Mass. Telemarketing is the future successful road to sales in the 1980's, and we are growing rapidly. 3 shifts allow you to work around your schedule, and you can earn up to $10.00 per hour while training. There are still 25 positions available. Salary + Commissions + Bonuses. For an appointment, Call 7 AM-7 PM, Dave 413-256-4101

WED., THURS. and FRI. SPECIAL

HAIRCUT



$6.95

with Laurie
with this ad/coupon
Expires 12/13/85

at SHEAR DELIGHT

complete hairstyling for men & women

549-1502

BOARD OF GOVERNORS

Attention Students and Student Coops.
The Space Committee of the Board of Governors will be accepting requests for student coop space in the CC/SU Complex.
Please pick up criteria sheets for proposals in room 817 Campus Center

Pearl Street

Miller HIGH LIFE Rock Series

99 THE HOT SPOT FM WMUA FM 91.1

RUN DMC

Direct from the movie 'KRUSH GROOVE'
Tix in advance available at UMass Fine Arts Center Box Office at Stop & Shop Datatix and in Northampton at Main St. Rec's.
Must be of legal drinking age.

10 PEARL STREET NORTHAMPTON, MA. 413 584-7771

Spread some Holiday Cheer send a friend a Collegian Holiday Classified

Get your ad in the Special Holiday Edition on Dec. 11.
Come to the Campus Center Concourse from Dec. 2 to Dec. 6

Daily

— Collegian —

Ticket Connection

"YOUR CONNECTION FOR THE BEST SEATS AT THE BEST PRICES"
tickets on sale now:

ROGER DALTRY dec 8
RUSH fri dec 13
SADE thu dec 5
KISS - BILLY CRYSTAL
whalers and bruins home games
mon-fri 10-6 pm 1-788-6938

★track takes second

continued from page 12

UMass domination of the 1,500 with a 3:59.9. Jan Novak was third in 4:01.7 and Renardo Flores fourth with a 4:01.9.

Bill Stewart was first in the 1,000 with a 2:30.3. John Panacione, coming off a solid cross country season, took first in the 3,000, easily winning with a 8:29.1. Stanislawzyk was fourth with an 8:48.2.

Other places for the Minutemen were Neil Osbourne with a fourth in the 400, Rick LaBarge was second in the 55 at 6.6, Ferdie Adoboe, fresh from the soccer season, was second in the triple jump with a 14-49 and Rod Malcolm took second in the high jump with a 6-2 leap.

Ted White was fourth in the 500 meter with a 1:07.4 while Dan Lundardini and Joe Hagan took second and third respectively in the 800. Lundardini's time was a 2:02.1 and Hagan's a 2:03.4.

In the relays, UMass took a pair of seconds. In the 4 x 440, the team of LaBarge, Crichlow, Larry Cuddy and Osbourne turned in a time of 3:31.9. Connecticut won with a 3:26.5.

In the 4 x 880 relay, it was Flores, Craig Moburg, Jim McDonnell and Lundardini turning a 8:19.0. New Hampshire was the winner in the event with an 8:11.1.

"We'll be ready for the big meets," O'Brien predicted. "There, just a few places in events can mean a lot, no one team will place in everything."

Outside proposal forms are now available in the Distinguished Visitors Program office in 415 Student Union.
Proposals discussed on Wed. Dec. 11 7 PM in CC 803 distinguished visitors program

WHERE HILLS TURN TO MOUNTAINS

Why conquer hills when you can challenge a mountain. Just over the border is Mount Snow with 12 lifts (1 gondola, 5 triple chairs, 6 double chairs), 57 trails, 1700 feet of vertical and 80% snowmaking.

THE SHORTEST DRIVE TO BIG MOUNTAIN SKIING LOCATED IN EASY TO REACH SOUTHERN VERMONT ON VT. 100

LODGING (802)464-8501
SKI REPORT (802)464-2151

Mt Snow has by far the most skiing in southern Vermont with the only top to bottom skiing on 2 mountain faces. The 6-Pack offers college students 6 days of big mountain skiing for only $15. per day any Tues., Wed. or Thurs during the season, and it's only a little over an hour to Mt. Snow. Call 802-464-8501 for information. We've got the snow, let yourself go.

Mount Snow VERMONT

Le Boudoir Intimate Fashions

wishes all gentlemen Happy Holidays and cordially invites them to attend the Valley's original

Gentlemen Only Night
Thursday, December 12th 6-10 p.m.

Give her a gift that's truly romantic...
Soft Silk Teddies, Pajamas, Robes, Camisoles & Tap Pants
Matching Bras & Bikinis, Garter Belts
Stockings, G Strings ...
Night Gowns, Dance Wear, Loungewear, and much more
Refreshments Served
Come join us!
Carriage Shops, Amherst 549-6915
HOLIDAY HOURS: Mon.-Sat. 10-6
...Fri. 'til 9 ...Sun. 12-5

SPORTSWEAR FACTORY OUTLET

Next to Super Stop & Shop
Route 9 Hadley, MA

WOOL SWEATERS
80% Rag Wool
20% Orlon
Value up to $40.
$11.99 each
2 for $19.99

All
N.F.L. Football
MLBB Baseball
50-75% OFF

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Come to Collegian Office CC 113 • 8:45-3:45 Mon - Thurs; 8:45 - 2:30 Fri • Deadline is 2 days prior to publication day
Cash in advance • Phone number FREE

ACTIVITIES

Animal Rights Coalition meeting in back of the Hatch at 5 pm Wednesday

Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Counseling Collective is open Monday, Wednesday, Thursday 3-7, Tuesday 1-5. Drop by room 433SUB or call 5-2645

IFSEA Meeting Wed. Dec. 4, 7:00 pm guest speaker will be John Daust of Ziff Paper Co. in Flint Caf

Create...

AUDIO

For sale Technics 35 watt Rec. $40 12 band graphic eq. $70 both $100 call 549-6391 - Brian for info.

AUTO FOR SALE

Audi 1977 100LS 4 dr AT AC SR FM & Tape FWD great winter car in excellent mech shape good radials 20# mpg on regular best $1500 German car around 665-8217

'77 MGB blue 68k BO good condition current inspection 665-4695

1977 Chevy Malibu Classic new snows & brakes must sell to pay bills $1400 or best offer call 665-3921

1975 Oldsmobile Starfire! Must sell! Nice paint job, new clutch, 4 speed, runs well. $50.00 or best offer, willing to negotiate 546-5346 eves or early morning

ENTERTAINMENT

Rack-A-Disc Entertainment Agency for the best party this semester. DJ's, large screen video, rentals. 549-7144

Do you need bands for your party. Professional bands that didn't just get together yesterday. You name the sound and songs you want. We'll set up the band. Different varieties from $150 call Steady Sounds 549-0385

Turn the Tables professional party/club D.J. 5 yr experience widest selection cal 24 hr. 586-9691

FOR RENT

Sunderland, 1 bdrm apt. on busline, 420/month, everything included. Avail immediately! 665-3440, leave message

Amherst Brandywine 2 bdrm apt busline 580/month available 1-1-86 549-1119

Lg 1 bdrm apt Squire Vill. avail Jan 665-4669 aft 6

Next to UMass. Share apartment with woman and son. $200/ Call 549-0024

Single room available all inclusive rent! Available to female or male Jan 1 call Sheryl 256-1645

University Women Rooms available for Spring semester home cooked meals & close to campus call for more information 545-0527

FOR SALE

Ford LTD 75 runs well $550 or BO call 253-9998 evenings

Nikon Lens: Nikkor 135 MM F.3.5. A great Christmas gift. $75 John 256-8311

Stereo System: Onkyo TA-2033 cassette deck with dolby-C and Yamaha CR-450 receiver. Both in perfect condition! A great Christmas gift! $250 Call: John 256-8311

New full-length women's winter coat 50 or BO and short winter jacket 40 or BO call Julie 546-4832

HELP WANTED

Merchandiser 20 hours per week $4.41/hr call between 8-5 need car 584-2050

OVERSEAS JOBS Summer, yr. round. Europe, S. Amer., Australia, Asia. All fields. $900-2000 mo. Sightseeing. Free info. Write IJC, PO Bx 52-MA1 Corona Del Mar, CA 92625

WINTER VACATION JOBS
$175-$225/wk

Help organize citizens to clean up Massachusetts' 1000 worst toxic waste dumpsites. Join the Holiday Season staff of MASSPIRG, the state's leading public interest group and work for passage of the Emergency Cleanup Bill in the state legislature. Rapid advancement opportunities. Will train. Walk-in interviews on campus: Mon 3 pm & 5 pm CC 902; Tues 3 pm & 5 pm, CC 801. Or call Rachel 256-6434

HOUSEMATE NEEDED FOR SPRING

Rm-mate: (upper classman or grad-stnt) N. Amherst 4 bdrm house, own rm, inclds king-sz bed, walk-in closet, grt. bath $250/ per mth Jan-may 1986. Call Joe or leave msg. 549-7597

INSTRUCTION

Private Guitar Lessons experienced and patient teacher. rock/pop/folk/blues improv., reading, theory, composition. Your home or my studio. Doug 549-4786

Intersession Bartending Courses 4 sections available sign up in Credit Free Workshops Room 111 Tower Library

LOST

Men's UMass Ring: Steven Sobeck inscribed. Lost in Townehouse area. Call 549-5924, for Kelley. REWARD!

Missing - Dark brown wool overcoat at "Femmes" concert. I'm cold. Please call Lisle 545-2870 days.

Lost a Nikon automatic camera outside Crabtree in Northeast reward no questions asked contact at 6-5196 or 6-5078

Brown portfolio-type notebook Exercise Physiology lost at Bluewall - reward -Sharon 253-2704 or 253-3734

MOVER

'Round Town Movers fast reliable cheap call Michael anytime 323-6780

OPPORTUNITIES

* THIS SUMMER OUR ORGANIZED APPROACH TO BUSINESS MIGHT HELP YOU DISCOVER YOUR POTENTIAL ****

If you believe you have the qualifications to run a successful business, then we would like to meet you.

FOR MORE INFORMATION and an opportunity to submit an application

 COME TODAY! * to room 904 in the CAMPUS CENTER at 4:00 or 7:00

PERSONALS

Ski Sugarbush! Hotel $149 call Ski Club now 545-3437

THE PEACE CONCERT Bushnell Memorial Hall, Hartford, Dec. 5, 8:00 pm free by calling (203) 560-1610

Mike Reynolds I want my gloves back K S. 008 Pierpont 5160

Ski Sale Workers
Att. all those who worked 10 hrs or more at sale - pick up invitations to party at Office - 430 Student Union

SNUGGLE BUNNY
I missed you! SD

Goonieburger - Now that you're all grown up, can you tell the difference between twin cockroaches before the cucmber gets them? Happy 19th Birthday Hon - we love you! The Postcard Girls

Michael - If you re not careful your entire life will appear here soon

PROFESSIONAL TYPING SERVICE

Cases, papers, dissertations, theses, on-campus, dependable, outstanding quality, low rates, 584-7924

ROOMMATE WANTED

Apt to share pleasant reasonable ideally located in Amherst Ctr 774-2740

Female grad, senior or working for own room in furnished house. Close to bus route. 150/mo + util call 586-7815

Female roommate wanted Main St Amherst beginning January for Spring 253-3934

Huge double room, attached bath 300 + 7 minutes from campus, quiet clean. Call Mark 665-2529

Female roommate needed for townhouse apt call 549-7554

SERVICES

COINS 123/121 tutoring 5.00 per hr. former 123/121 grader Alex 256-1239

Escort Service available 8 pm - 2:30 am everyday any where on campus. Play it safe call 5-2123 for an escort ANYTIME

Editing, Consultation. Ex professor's specialty: dissertations, professional articles, books. 268-7772

Proofreading and Editing essays to theses. Rates vary 259-1276

Professional fitness consultations for women. Student rates. After 2 pm 1-467-7877

TO SUBLET

2 bdrm apt busline avail Dec 25 price nego 253-2831

3 rooms available Jan 1 Swiss Village $215/mo utils incl on bus line call 256-8225

Reward! Take our 1 bed apt. avail for Spring semester. $365 includes utils call 665-4553 evenings

Nice bedroom in two bedroom apt in house. Other roommate is quiet, non-smoking Graduate student. Available Jan-August rent negotiable 665-8194

Two bedroom apt in Northwood call 256-0028

TRAVEL

"Take a break on the French side!" Skibreak's January trip to Tignes/Val d'Isere in the French Alps includes RT airfare (Swissair), transfers, accommodations, skipass (116 lifts), slalom races, cocktails for $740/7 nights in resort. Skibreak (203) 354-6059, Ted: 546-4733

TYPING SERVICE

QUALITY TYPING. Long or short projects. Will correct grammar, spelling, & punctuation. Meticulous proofreading. New IBM typewriter. 549-0367

TYPING & WORD PROCESSING

Next Day Service. Type-Rite 253-5111

WANTED

One bedroom apartment needed for intersession. Preferably within walking distance of campus. Call 546-7054

Elementary Statistics text for Biometry 2111 call Keith 253-2132

WANTED TO RENT

Take over lease in Jan of 4 person house or apt call 546-44.4 or 546-7199

Responsible male senior seeks room in quiet, clean apt or house Spring semester. Call 546-5143 anytime

One or two bedroom apartment for Spring semester call 546-4963

SPORTS

Minutemen fall short, 73-67

BU hands UMass second straight defeat

By PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

BOSTON — Showing more character and intensity than it has all season, the University of Massachusetts basketball team dropped a 73-67 decision at Boston University last night despite a furious second half rally.

Trailing by 18 points, 48-30, early in the second half, the Minutemen closed the gap to one, 59-58, with 8:26 remaining. A flurry of costly turnovers and several missed foul shots allowed the Terriers to regroup and hold on for the victory,

"I'm proud of them. We played like a team tonight, and that's something we haven't done this year," said UM coach Ron Gerlufsen. "Before the game I told them that no matter how young we were we weren't going to get anywhere unless we showed some unity. We showed that tonight."

UMass was led by junior captain Carl Smith with 15 points. Sophomore guard Lorenzo Sutton and freshman guard David Brown added 12 each. Freshman forward Duane Chase came into his own, scoring 10 points to go along with five rebounds and five blocks. UMass, playing on the road for the first time this season, fell to 1-2.

BU, 2-0, was led by Dredderick Irving and Dwayne Vinson with 15 points each and Paul Hendricks with 13 before 977 fans.

Trailing 55-43, the Minutemen scored eight straight points to close the gap to 55-51 with 12:17 left. A Brown jumper, one of the four straight he hit for UMass in that stretch, made it 57-53 and the Terriers were reeling.

A top of the key jumper by senior center Tom Emerson cut it to two before Chase hit the first of two free throws and UMass trailed by only one, 59-58.

Freshman Joe Fennel then missed two foul shots with 7:14 to go before Vinson scored giving BU a 61-58 lead.

Turnovers by Smith and Matt Ryan led to consecutive BU hoops and it was 65-58.

Smith and Jones then missed two one-and-one free throw chances. Jones' three-point play made it 67-61 with 3:38 to go, but the Minutemen were spent. The Terriers hit foul shots at the end to give first-year head coach Mike Jarvis the victory.

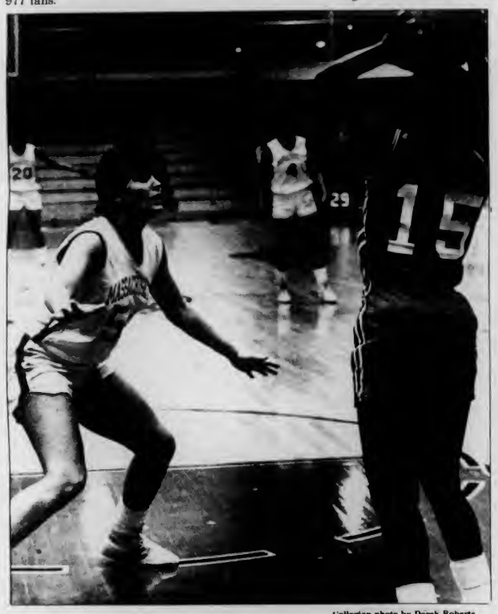
In the first half, the Minutemen fell behind, 46-30, as the Terriers employed a tough press and scored on a variety of inside plays. UMass hung with the Terriers early, taking a 12-11 lead on a Sutton basket with 11:44 to go.

The Terriers then went on a 13-0 run to take a 24-12 lead with 8:15 to go. A Mike Mundy jumper stopped the streak, but the Minutemen were in a deep hole. UMass cut the lead to nine, 35-26, with a six point run.

Chase then exhibited some of his incredible athletic ability with a sequence of three blocked shots, the second coming on a Jeff Timberlake 15-footer that saw Chase jump from 10 feet away and swat the ball down court.

But UMass failed to hold the momentum as BU surged to its biggest lead of the period, 46-28, on a pair of free throws by Irving with 17 second to go. A Smith jumper cut the lead to 16 as time ran out.

The Minutemen shot 41 percent from the field in the half while the Terriers were 52 percent from the floor. UMass committed 15 turnovers, looking unsure of itself against the BU defense. Hendricks had all of his 13 points in the first half for BU.



MINUTEMAN MUTTERINGS– The game was televised on NESN cable. . . Smith has started all 59 games UMass has played since he entered the school. . . The University of Connecticut invades the Curry Hicks Cage on Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. Tickets for the general public were soldout as of early yesterday afternoon.

UMass (67)- Carl Smith 7-11 1-1 15, David Brown 6-10 0-0 12, Duane Chase 3-9 4-7 10, Ben Jones 2-4 3-4 7, Mike Mundy 2-3 0-0 4, Tom Emerson 2-3 0-0 4, Matt Ryan 1-1 0-0 2, Sean Moseby 0-1 1-2 1, Joe Fennel 0-3 0-2 0, Wilbert Hicks 0-1 0-0 0 Totals: 26-58 11-19 67

Boston University (73): Dwayne Vinson 6-11 3-4 15, Dredderick Irving 5-11 5-6 15, Paul Hendricks 5-12 3-5 13, Tony DaCosta 4-5 3-5 11, Jeff Timberlake 4-5 1-1 9, Tom Ivey 3-7 0-0 6, Isaac Kodai 1 1 0-0 2, Larry Jones 1-3 0-0 2.
Totals: 29-55 15-21 73.

UMass (1-2)	30	37	67
BU (2-0)	46	27	73

Fouled Out: None. Total Fouls: UMass - 17, BU - 20. Rebounds: UMass - 34 (Brown 6), BU - 29 (Jones, Ivey 7). Assists: UMass - 16 (Sutton 5), BU - 21 (Timberlake 9). Technicals: None. Attendance: 977.

Collegian photo by Derek Roberts

Senior guard Barbara Hebel (left) and the University of Massachusetts women's basketball team host Dartmouth tonight at the Cage.

Minutewomen host Dartmouth tonight

UMass looking for third straight win

By JOHN A. NOLAN
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts women's basketball team is looking to win its third straight game as it takes on Dartmouth College, tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the Curry Hicks Cage.

The Minutewomen, 2-1, are coming off an 85-64 demolition of the University of Vermont, Sunday, in the Cage. The game, which featured an explosive UMass offensive attack with three players scoring in double figures, was one that University of Massachusetts head coach Barbara Stevens said helped create a team identity which it is obligated to fulfill.

"I think that no matter what happens the rest of the season, I feel that this team has created an identity that it knows it has to live up to from now on," Stevens said. "Last year there were games we knew we should win, but didn't. This year we have to demand superior play because we know we can win."

Stevens also said that along with this demand has come team confidence and a killer instinct.

"I saw it Sunday," she said. "We were up by 15 points and blew that lead, but we came right back at them, showing that killer instinct if you will."

Dartmouth, 2-2, which lost to Vermont in overtime last week, should provide UMass with a much tougher challenge however, as the Big Green features a taller lineup than the Catamounts, something that the smaller Minutewomen will have to deal with.

Jayne Daigle, a 6-2 senior center, leads second year head coach Jacqueline Hullah's team with 18.7 points-per-game while pulling in a team-high 10.3 rebounds-per-game. She is anchored by 6-2 sophomore Beverly Hagerdon and freshman 6-0 power forward Liz Walter. Hagerdon is scoring 12.0 ppg. and Walter 11.0 ppg. to go along with 8.0 rpg.

Senior point guard Sue Stoddard 10.3 ppg. and freshman Marie Polakowski 12 ppg. are also expected to provide UMass with a difficult test. Polakowski, a USA Today high school All-American, is coming off a shin injury and saw her first action in the Big Green's 81-69 victory over Brown on Sunday.

"They are a big, slow team, so we're hoping that our quickness will make up for their height advantage," Stevens said. "Quickness being the difference, I think the game will provide a matchup problem for them, not us."

Despite the height advantage, Stevens said that Dartmouth may be prone to sloppy play, its 29 turnovers against Vermont an indication of that.

If the Big Green does turn the ball over, Stevens said that her team will be sure to capitalize.

"We're hoping to get them in a running, pressing game. We feel that we can cause turnovers going against slower players," Stevens said

For UMass, senior guard Juanita Matthews leads the team with 15.0 ppg., and sophomore center Sue Burtoft has scored at an 11.3 ppg. clip to go along with a 10.0 rpg. average.

The Minutewomen have outscored opponents by a 73-67 average thus far this season. UMass has also outrebounded opponents by a 40-36 average margin.

UM soccer players honored

Five starters and one subsitute from the three-time New England champion University of Massachusetts women's soccer team were named to the All-New England first team.

Sophomore fullbacks Debbie Belkin and Chris Schmitt, sophomore midfielders Kristen Bowsher and Carolyn Micheel and sophomore foward Cathy Spence and freshman foward Beth Roundtree were honored. Spence came off the bench most of the year.

Senior fullback Sue Bird, freshman goalie Jan Holland and freshman foward Cathy Cassady were named to the New England Women's Intercollegiate Soccer Association (NEWISA) to the All-New England second team.

The Minutewomen, who finished the year 16-1 and didn't allow a goal against New England competition, dominated selections with nine honorees. Harvard and Bowdoin College had four selections each between the first and second teams.

Bird and fellow senior co-captain Jamie Watson were also selected to play in the annual NEWISA East-West All-Star game on Sunday Dec. 8 on the West team.

Boston College two players on the first team while New Hampshire College (20-1, the only loss to UMass, 4-0), Harvard, Bowdoin and Vermont had one selection each.

For the first time since NEWISA selections started in 1980, Connecticut had no one selected to the either squad.

—GERRY de SIMAS

Track is second at UConn

By MICHELLE SEGALL
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts men's track team opened its indoor season on Sunday at the University of Connecticut, taking second in a tri-meet with the Huskies and the University of New Hampshire.

The host team won the meet, scoring 82.5 points. UMass had 48.5 and New Hampshire 37.

"Connecticut had the advantage over us because they have already had three meets," said UMass coach Ken O'Brien. "But we did pretty well for ourselves anyway. There were some good efforts."

UMass did well in the running events, placing someone in nine of them, including four first places.

The Minutemen got a first out of Rawle Crichlow with a quick 6.4 in his first 55-yard dash of the season.

"It was a great time for him so early in the season," said O'Brien. "I like seeing him in top form so quickly."

Paul Stanislawzyk led a

continued on page 11

Sports at a glance

UMass Schedule:

Today: Women's Basketball: Dartmouth, Curry Hicks Cage, 7:30 p.m.

Spring Recruiting Schedule, p. 12

The Massachusetts Daily A REGISTERED STUDENT ORGANIZATION NEW ENGLAND S LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY

Collegian

Volume CXV, Issue 61 UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AMHERST (545-3500) Tuesday, December 3, 1985

Wednesday, Dec. 4, 1985

Gov. signs bill against hazing

By ANITA ROYE
Collegian Staff

In response to student deaths and injuries associated with hazing, Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis has signed a bill imposing criminal penalties on those involved in hazing incidents.

The bill, signed last week, calls for fines of up to $1000 or 100 days in jail for people caught hazing. The bill also fines those who are indirectly associated with hazing activities.

Hazing involves the initiation of sorority and fraternity pledges using methods such as swallowing goldfish, paddling or heavy drinking in a dangerously-short period of time.

The alcohol overdose death of Jay Lenaghan, an American International College fraternity pledge, sparked a national interest in fraternity and sorority rituals. Susan Lane, state deputy director of higher education, said the Lenaghan incident demonstrated what could happen nationally.

Debra Valkenaar, assistant coordinator of Greek affairs at the University of Massachusetts, said the bill will have "a very positive impact on the greek system as a whole."

The Greek Affairs Council, comprised of executive boards of inter-fraternity and panhellenic (sorority) organizations, and the presidents of each Greek chapter, supported the bill.

The Greek Affairs office plans on circulating copies of the bill to each Greek house, as required by the bill, and educating people of the problems associated with hazing by conducting workshops in conjunction with the pledge educators.

Lambda Chi Alpha President Sean Saganey said the new policy will not affect his fraternity at UMass since it does not engage in hazing anyway. Saganey said that hazing activities "are garbage" and that they "don't prove or make you more of a man."

John Healy, a three-semester member of Theta Chi fraternity said hazing is what originally sent Theta Chi out of the Greek system. He said the new chapter does not engage in hazing now, but that he is "all for it (the ban)" on a national level.

Dennis Holland, a brother at Phi Mu Delta, said the new hazing law will "give frats a better name."

Collegian photo by Paul Desmarais

OUT OF THE MOUTH—Jocelyn Paul, a sophomore in the School of Management, descends some stairs near the Berkshire Dining Commons yesterday.

Acid rain initiative filed today

By SIOBHAN MASTERSON
Collegian Staff

More than 114,000 signatures will be filed at the Secretary of State's office in Boston today to qualify an acid rain initiative question for the 1986 election ballot.

The ballot question would require Massachusetts to reduce the level of sulfur emissions by 30 percent by 1988, said Kristin Palace, environmental attorney for Massachusetts Public Interest Research Group (MassPIRG) in Boston.

Shawn Baird, campaign manager for MassPIRG at the University of Massachusetts, said that at UMass alone 13,000 signatures were collected.

Ed Kaynor, a member of the Water Resources Research Center at UMass, said that acid rain is caused by sulfur dioxide and nitrogen oxide, which are primarily produced by utility plants that burn high sulfur coal.

Kathy Cross, legislative aide on environmental issues for Sen. John Olver, D-Amherst, said a bill (Senate bill 1187), similar to the question, has been before the state legislature for three years. The bill, she said, is now in it's third reading.

After the signatures are submitted to Secretary of State Connolly, they will be checked for validity. If the Senate doesn't approve the bill by May, she said, the initiative question will go on the Fall 1986 ballot.

"It's a complex process, but it's very possible that the bill could pass before the end of this session," Cross said. The action taken on the initiative question, she said, is helping to move the bill faster.

The bill, would limit the amount of sulfur emissions until 1987, and then call for 25 to 30 percent reductions by 1989, Cross said.

Paul Menard, Berkshire county commissioner, said,"For three years in a row it's (the bill) been in front of the Senate and it hasn't moved. They don't have the guts to stand up and do it."

Palace said the bill's approval has "taken so long because utility companies have done anything in their power, including lobbying, to fend it off."

Armand Kuby, statewide coordinator of the Acid Rain Monitoring Project at UMass, said that acid rain makes bodies of water unable to support life. He added that in addition "statues, buildings, and materials are essentially being dissolved."

The bill, he said, will reduce the amount local sources contribute to the acid rain problem. According to Kaynor," UMass is one of the local culprits. The coal fired heating plant at UMass is atrocious."

Wicker knocks "personality journalism"

Collegian photo by Paul Desmarais

New York Times political columnist Tom Wicker.

By JILL LANG
Collegian Staff

"Personality journalism" is a fundamental tendency which is replacing media's higher levels of responsibility and which has yet to end,New York Times political columnist Tom Wicker said last night.

"Personalities are becoming the be all, end all of events, happenings, and achievements in America. This is deplorable, and there is nothing more distressing in my line of work," he said.

Wicker, addressing the issue of "Crisis in Media" as part of a series of lectures in "Boundaries of Discourse" sponsored by the College of Arts and Sciences and the Institute for Advanced Studies in the Humanities, said personality journalism, which is best exemplified by publications like People magazine, is based on "pseudo-events," events which are staged—or not staged—for purposes of media coverage.

"The Refrigerator (Chicago Bears player William Perry) is famous because he is big and bizarre," Wicker said. "Even his coach admitted he wasted a draft choice on him.

"The media tends to elevate sports and entertainment figures to a certain level of divinity. There is often confusion between the real person and the roles they play. The characters in Dynasty and Dallas are often realer to us than members of our own families."

The media is presenting issues "made to titillate public opinion, and not to enlighten the public," Wicker said.

He said the assigned title of his speech,"Crisis in Media," was appropriate, because "the media is in crisis all the time to some extent. If it isn't, it thinks it is.

"Crisis in media, and media in crisis—it works both ways."

Wicker, 59, started his work for the New York Times as a Washington bureau

continued on page 5

Inside:

AIDS pamphlets come to campus...3
Rocky IV reviewed.....9
Women's hoop beats Dartmouth....16

"The blood of our heroes will be avenged."
—Winnie Mardela, p.2

WORLD/NATIONAL

AP Laserphoto

NAVY CRASH—A Navy F-18 fighter bomber lies upside down after it crased while landing yesterday at Miramar Naval Air Station in San Diego.

Mourners jam stadium for funeral of slain blacks

MAMELODI, South Africa (AP)—Their arms raised in clenched-fist salutes, up to 50,000 mourners jammed a soccer stadium yesterday for the funeral of 12 blacks killed in one of the bloodiest days in 15 months of rioting.

The five-hour funeral and burial service in Pretoria's Mamelodi township began and ended peacefully. After talks with organizers, police had agreed to keep out of sight at Mamelodi and to life riot funerals restrictions, including a limit of 50 mourners.

Diplomats from 11 countries, including U.S. Embassy political counselor Tim Carney, attended.

Winnie Mandela, wife of jailed black leader Nelson Mandela, defied her banning order to be at the stadium. To a standing ovation and freedom chants, she told the throng,

"The blood of our heroes will be avenged...We are here today to tell you that the day when we shall lead you to freedom is not far away."

Mrs. Mandela's eight-year-old banning order bars her from attending gatherings and restricts her to the small town of Brandfort.

The flag of the outlawed African National Congress guerrilla movement was draped over the dozen coffins in Pitjie Stadium, including those of Magdalene Mlombo, a 69-year-old woman shot to death by police, and Trocia Ndlovu, a two-month-old girl who died from inhaling tear gas.

Today's Staff

Night Editor David Summersby
Copy Editor Kathy Hart
Layout Technician Ansel Zinter
Photo Technician Paul Desmarais
Production Supervisor Ansel Zinter
Production: Nancy Rivers, Mark Parker
Tony Beugless, Gary Brennan, Itaru Kato, Karlin Isele

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian (USPS permit #58), a Registered Student Organization at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, is published Monday through Friday excluding holidays, exams and vacations periods. Content is determined solely by the Collegian Board of Editors without prior approval from University administrators, faculty or staff. Operations are funded solely by advertising and subscription revenue. Subscriptions and advertising rates are available at 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Mass. 01003, (413) 545-3500. Postmaster: send address changes to the above address.

Bishops take a stand against war and debt

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Canadian bishops yesterday urged an international assembly of bishops to take a stand on the threat of nuclear way and Third World debt, calling the issues two of "the most urgent problems of our time."

U.S. bishops attending the two-week synod promptly supported the Canadian initiative.

"The future of the world hangs precariously on these two issues," Bishop Bernard Hubert of Saint Jean-Longeuil, Quebec, president of the Canadian Bishops Conference, said in a written statement submitted to the synod.

The statement said the synod should issue a message that affirms "the determination of Christians to take part in building a better world by confronting two of the most urgent problems of our time..."

Hubert, who made the proposal on behalf of more than 160 Canadian bishops, later told The Associated Press in a telephone interview, "The synod should convey a word of hope to the world, and we can do so by expressing our shared preoccupation over these two issues."

Bishop James W. Malone of Youngstown, Ohio, told the AP he agreed it was "appropriate for the synod of bishops to express its concern about these issues."

Dukakis to unveil mental care plans

BOSTON AP - Gov. Michael Dukakis is preparing to unveil a long-term spending plan to improve the state's care for the chronically mentally ill, according to a variety of officials associated with the state Department of Mental Health.

The multi-year package, estimated to be in the $150 million range, comes after a 103-member advistry group completed an eight-month study of ways to strenthen the state's treatment of the mentally ill.

The long-criticized agency has a $674 million budget -much of which is funneled to the mentally retarded - and a new commissioner, Edward Murphy, who headed the state's Department of Youth Services for six years before taking over at DMH in August.

The report by the task force, dubbed the Mental Health Action Project, concluded that a balance was needed between good state hospitals and community-based treatment centers.

Advocacy groups have tended to favor either one or the other, particularly in view of problems resulting from "deinstitutionalization" or the near-emptying of state mental hospitals.

About 20 years ago, there were 25,000 patients in state mental hospitals. Currently, there are 2,000 in the hospitals and 400 in smaller mental health centers, according to DMH spokeswoman JoAnn Fitzpatrick, while an estimated 16,000 are served in community, day and residential settings.

State Human Services Secretary Philip Johnston, who oversees the agency, has called "scandalous" the large numbers of chronically ill people who wander the streets and receive neither hospital nor community care.

Dayton Tires

SNOW TIRES — POLYESTER SNOW TIRES

Size	White Walls Price
A78-13	36.00
E78-14	46.00
G78-15	49.00

RADIAL SNOW TIRES

Size	White Walls Price
P155/80 R13	47.00
P185/80 R13	55.00
P195/75 R14	58.00

ALL SEASON RADIALS

Size	White Walls Price
P155/80 R13	47.00
P185/80 R13	55.00
P195/75 R14	58.00

CREDIT 90 DAYS TO PAY No Interest — credit established in minutes
SAVE 10% Additional Off with purchase of a set of 4 tires
MASS. APPROVED INSPECTION STATION
Michelin Tires Also Specially Priced
North Amherst Tire & Auto Center
"Full Service Tire Store"
78 Sunderland Rd., No. Amherst, MA
Across from Watroba's Store
549-4704

La Cazuela
THE MEXICAN RESTAURANT
Distinctive food and drink from Mexico and the American Southwest
7 OLD SOUTH STREET NORTHAMPTON

ANYTHING IN ELECTRONICS
(Audio, Video, Calculatorss, etc.)
at prices that will have you asking, "How is it Possible?!"
CALL NOW WHILE PRICES ARE STEAMING!! (Limited quantities on specials, so hurry) CALL 549-7379 (we have fliers w/our specials waiting for you) UNIVERSITY ELECTRONICS SALES REP.

21 Shopping Days till Christmas and only 7 days till the Collegian Special Christmas Edition

MONEY MOTIVATED?
If You Are Enthusiastic, Have A Strong Clear Speaking Voice and Have the Confidence to Prove What it Takes, Keep Reading This
We are a Major Industrial Tool Company Expanding a new office in Amherst, Mass. Telemarketing is the future successful road to sales in the 1980's, and we are growing rapidly. 3 shifts allow you to work around your schedule, and you can earn up to $10.00 per hour while training. There are still 25 positions available. Salary + Commissions + Bonuses. For an appointment, Call 7 AM-7 PM, Dave 413-256-4101

Expert raps space weapons

By BETHANNE MOSKOV
Collegian Staff

Calling for an end to funding for the Strategic Defense Industry and a halt to the "weaponization" of space, a military and space expert expressed concern yesterday over the disturbing state of the arms race during a luncheon for women activists at the University of Massachusetts.

Dr. Carol Rosin, president of the Institute for Security and Cooperation in Outer Space and co-author of Space Careers, discussed the problems facing the country and the world surrounding nuclear war and the weapons that are being put into space by the U.S.government.

"Space is an important frontier that must be utilized properly, not by sending earth weapons into space, but by converting industries into space industries and building other non-military facilities in space," Rosin said.

If the world formed a cooperative intervention in space by combining funds and resources for a non-weapon build up of space it would be a big step in the direction of world peace, Rosin said. The people from different counties have formed a link, the next step is the military, she said.

Part of the problem with the build up of space weapons, explained Rosin, is that the weapons are a threat to the security of the world and need to be eliminated.

"The militarization of space (sending military satellites into space) shouldn't be eliminated because things like surveillance satellites are important," Rosin said. "However, the weaponization of space is the problem. We want to see the development of space, not space weapons."

Rosin, who was one of the key strategists in the formation of the MX-missle before she became active in the peace movement, stressed the importance of taking stronger action against military build up than the lobbyists are willing to take.

"When a 1.4 billion dollar budget was being considered for the strategic defense industry the lobbyists in Washington considered this a victory because President (Ronald) Reagan was asking for 2.1 billion," Rosin said.

"This, in my mind, is anything but a victory because the defense industry is still getting money," she said, adding that in order for a victory to be acheived the SDI should get no funding.

According to Rosin, the power and technology that was used to develop the MX-missle is the same that is being used in the development of many space weapons, only many times larger.

This is not only a threat to world security but to world peace she said, "both the Americans and Russians have to come together on this one to avoid a nuclear war."

Rosin is an educator who has traveled internationally to discuss the space-build up problem. By combining her technical and military knowledge she has been able to address this issue with the military leaders of many countries.

In an effort to better educate the government and the military on her proposals, Rosin is hoping to hold an international conference on the weapons in space next year in Washington D.C.

Collegian photo by Paul Desmarais

Dr. Carol Rosin, president of the Institute for Security and Cooperation in Outer Space.

Collegian photo by Paul Desmarais

"I'M COLD"—Sophomore psychology major Traci Deleo hides in her coat yesterday as she walks near Worcester Dining Commons.

Info on AIDS risk reduction out

By NANCY KLINGENER
Collegian Staff

A pamphlet providing guidelines to reduce the risk of contracting Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS) is now available at the University of Massachusetts Health Services.

The pamphlet, titled "Guidelines For AIDS Risk Reduction," divides various sexual practices into categories of "safe," "unsafe," and "possibly safe," "based on admittedly incomplete information, in order to inform the community at risk to the best of our knowledge."

The pamphlet is now at Health Education and will soon be at various pamphlet racks on campus, according to Ron Mazur, Health Services Health educator. Other organizations such as the Program for Gay, Lesbian, and Bisexual Concerns and the Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Alliance will also have copies.

"It was just a question of deciding which of the many pamphlets available we could make immediately available until we have a chance to develop our own material," Mazur said. He and Program for Gay, Lesbian, and Bisexual Concerns Co-Director Reed Ide said they plan to write a pamphlet for the University Health Services about AIDS.

"The pamphlets are a much-needed addition to the educational arsenal," Ide said. He was encouraged by the "extremely fast action" on the part of Health Services in printing the pamphlets, he said. "They realize that they have to be more active too in getting educational resources to the community."

The pamphlet was written last year by the Scientific Affairs Committee of the Bay Area Physicians for Human Rights in San Francisco. Two thousand copies were printed for Health Services, with additional resources available at the University listed at the end.

In addition to the pamphlet, tape recorded information on AIDS will be offered next semester. Beginning Jan. 28, "AIDS: Some Questions and Answers," will be available on TIPS, a service of the Dean of Students office which offers information on various subjects, such as the gym and pool schedules. Students can call the service and ask for the tape by number.

The tape will address concerns in the gay community as well as giving accurate information on AIDS to both gays and heterosexuals, Ide said. "It should have some impact on students, but that impact is going to depend on their use of it, their integrity," he said.

One advantage of the taped message will be that "you don't have to come out of the closet to learn about AIDS," Ide said. Mazur said that the tape "will provide some basic questions and answers and some resources for people to go to."

Health Services will be developing more programs about AIDS, such as workshops in residence halls, because "AIDS is, after all, a life-threatening virus and we want to make sure that people have as precise and accurate information as possible," Mazur said.

Concert tonight to aid famine victims

A concert will take place at 8 p.m. today in Chapin Auditorium at Mount Holyoke College to aid the famine victims in Africa.

Titled "With a Little Help from my Friends," the show was organized by Jonathan Lipman, associate professor of history at the college.

According to the Mt. Holyoke Dateline, the marathon concert will include staff, faculty and student performers. The proceeds from the concert will be sent directly to agencies working with victims of the Sahel famine. Lipman stated that he "...decided to do this as a way of getting the Mount Holyoke community involved in the continuing effort to provide relief for people affected by the famine." He added that the famine gained international recognition earlier in the year as it hit Ethiopia and other African nations.

Artists scheduled to appear include Allen Bonde, Phillip De Fremery, Angel Douglas and Celebration. The Breakable Boys, Voices of Faith, dancers Terese Freedman, Jim Coleman and Hannah Wiley, Indira Peterson with Jagruti Patel, Shades of Expression, Jennie Morgan, Jonathan Lipman and the Faculty Rock Band.

The concert is open to the public and tickets are on sale at the Mary Woolley box office.

—ROBYN RUGGIERO

WFCR raises funds

By Sheryl Jean
Collegian Staff

The Amherst public radio station WFCR-FM raised $102,000 in a week-long, on-air fundraiser, despite an expected decrease in pledges due to new changes in popular programming.

According to WFCR's Director of Development Jo Wellins, the money raised is nearly an 11 percent increase from the $92,400 raised last year.

"Our goal is to raise over $700,000 this year," Wellins said. Three to four times a year fundraisers are held based on need, so "we will only have a fundraiser in the spring if we need one," she said.

According to Wellins, 51 percent of the station's money comes from the listeners, 47 percent from on-the-air pledge drives and the rest from direct and miscellaneous mail pledges.

"We cultivate a continuing relationship with old pledge members," Wellins said. Renewed mail members constitute 75 percent of all pledges, she said.

"The fundraiser educates our audience about the nature of public radio and the mechanics of programming," Wellins said.

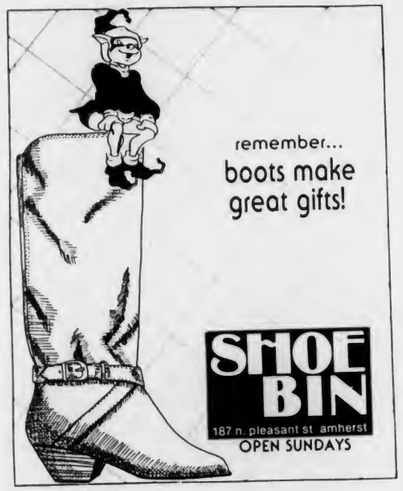
The money is used for basic operation expenses including the production of programs, salaries and satellite link-ups.

Pledges this year doubled in one program area despite a change in programming which angered many listeners. In August, 'Morning Pro Musica'—a classical music broadcast—was moved ahead an hour to 8 a.m. so that a National Public Radio newscast could be aired between 6 and 8 a.m., Wellins said. Supporters of Morning Pro Musica were upset that the program was shortened.

The newscast, 'Morning Edition' is co-produced by National Public Radio in Washington D.C. and WFCR, located in Hampshire House at the University of Massachusetts. Approximately 17 percent of the broadcast is localized, according to Wellins.

"We were pleased by the large support shown for the program change," News Director at WFCR Doug Berman, said. "The support we predicted was there."

Sixty percent of pledges were new members, Berman said, proving that "Morning Edition' has attracted new listeners."



According to Berman, 'Morning Edition' was scheduled to improve the news and public affairs services at WFCR.

"We based our decision on research analysis of what people wanted," he said.

Collegian photo by Scott Maguire

WFCR producer Tom Keney spins a disk in the studio in Hampshire House at UMass. The public radio station has just raised $102,000 in a week-long fundraiser to help cover operating expenses.

remember...
boots make great gifts!

SHOE BIN
187 n. pleasant st amherst
OPEN SUNDAYS

"It's a Boxer"

Trim Fit Boxer Short

100% Cotton

only $9.95

THE UMASS BOXER

Open
M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3

Located in the Campus Center
UNIVERSITY STORE

SNOW DAY INFORMATION

For information regarding campus closing or delayed openings, due to severe snow storms, listen to RADIO STATIONS:

WTTT	Amherst	1434 AM
WHMP	Northampton	1400 AM
WMAS	Springfield	1470 AM
WPOE	Greenfield	1520 AM
WHAI	Greenfield	1240 AM
WARE	Ware	1250 AM
WCAT	Orange	1390 AM
WHYN	Springfield	560 AM
WFCR	Amherst	88.5 FM
WTIC	Hartford	1080 AM
WACE	Springfield	730 AM
WTAG	Worcester	580 AM
WSPR	Springfield	1270 AM
WMUA	Amherst	91.1 FM
WTSA	Brattleboro	1450 AM
WRSI	Greenfield	95.3 FM
WAQY	Springfield	102.1 FM

As an additional convenience, a "snow day hot-line" has been installed. Taped messages will provide up-to-date information on the status of the campus and may be accessed by dialing: 545-3630. THIS IS THE ONLY CAMPUS NUMBER WHICH SHOULD BE CALLED FOR SUCH INFORMATION.

A Service of the Dean of Students Office

TIPS

Grad students protest fee

BY SEAN CASEY
Collegian Staff

Graduate student senators at the University of Massachusetts are enlisting the support of Teaching Assistants (TA's) and other graduate students to protest the Authority Fee, which includes charges on dormitories and dining commons for students who don't use them.

Senators will now ask TA's and graduate students in their departments to sign a petition in which they would pledge to turn in their grades within the last hour that they are due, and also to support any senate action to protest the fee.

Requests for financial breakdowns of the fee were sent by more than 200 students to Jack Littlefield, associate vice chancellor for administration and finance.

Littlefield has answered the request for the information by promising to send three copies of the breakdown of the fee to George W. Claxton, vice-president of the graduate senate.

Although some senators questioned the legality of Littlefield's indirect response, Claxton said he is happy that the senate has at least been promised the information.

"Once we get the information, we can find a way to deal with the fee," Claxton said.

The senate is composing a committee to take the financial information and come up with a plan to present to the administration. The plan advocates a fee in which dormitory/dining commons users would pay more than students who do not.

"As the fee is now, we are paying on-campus students' rent," Claxton added.

"We have to hit them with everything we can now," he added.

★ Wicker

continued from page 1

reporter in 1960. Next year, he will celebrate 20 years as a political columnist for the Times.

Wicker won a Pulitzer Prize for his book about the Attica Prison riots during the 1970s, but said "I am just a political columnist, novelist and lecturer—and all sorts of disreputable things."

FYI:

Advice from pharmacy

In an attempt to reduce possible three-hour waiting periods for prescriptions, Health Services has issued some suggestions.

"We're trying to prevent the end of the semester rush," Joseph Pelis, a staff associate at the pharmacy, said. "Students need to evaluate their needs for the semester break and come in as soon as possible."

Pelis suggests students call in refillable prescriptions, which will be ready within 24 hours. The pharmacy is open until the last day of finals, Monday-Thursday 8:30 a.m. to 8 p.m, Friday 8:30 a.m.to 7 p.m., and Saturday and Sunday 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

The new Program for Gay, Lesbian and Bisexual Concerns is holding an open house at 4 p.m. Dec. 11 in rooms 101 and 105 in the lobby of John Adams Tower in Southwest. The public is invited to visit the new offices and meet with the staff.

Police nab marijuana

Two 20-year-old students were arrested Monday night in the basement of Cance House and charged with being in possession of a "quantity of marijuana" and narcotic paraphenila (a bong), University of Massachusetts police said.

In other police reports:

A knapsack containing $20 in identification cards, books and an insulin kit was stolen Monday evening from a hallway on the south side of Morrill Hall. The owner, a janitor of the building, left the knapsack unattended for an few minutes and then came back and found it gone, police said.

—JEANETTE DEFORGE

Global Gifts of Creswell Gallery
arts, crafts and gifts of color
Carriage Shops
233 N. Pleasant St.
Amherst
10-5 Mon-Sat
549-6600

Secret Santa Gifts
• African Artifacts
• Cards
• Cloths
• Dolls
• Jewelry
• Posters
• Pottery
• Prints

You and Your Problem Drinking Parent

Facing the holidays and intercession can be especially difficult for students who have parents or relatives with drinking problems.

The University Health Services is offering a workshop which will cover:
- Identifying alcoholism or problem drinking patterns
- Alcoholism and family dynamics
- Common problems facing adult children of alcoholics
- Resources for help locally and in your hometown area

Date: Monday, Dec. 9, 1985
Time: 7:00-9:00 pm
Place: University Health Services, Room 302

Please register by calling Health Education at 545-2671, ext 181

21 Shopping Days till Christmas
and only
7 days till the Collegian Special Holiday Edition

HOLIDAY TRAVELERS COLLEGE STUDENTS...
RENT A CAR WITH CASH!

Try Our WEEKEND SPECIALS
Credit Cards Accepted.
Daily Rate $18.95
Unlimited Miles

FRI.-MON. NOON 700 MILES FREE... $50.00
FRI.-TUES. NOON 900 MILES FREE... $65.00
FRI.-WED. NOON 1,000 MILES FREE $80.00

CALL THE OFFICE NEAREST YOU:
★PAYLESS CAR RENTAL CORP. OF MASS. 782-7191
180 BOSTON RD., SPRINGFIELD, MA
★ECONO CAR OF LATHAM, 875 Albany-Shaker Rd., Latham, N.Y. (518) 785-1384
★ECONO CAR OF ALBANY, 466 Central Ave., Albany, N.Y. (518) 438-3601
★ECONO CAR OF SCHENECTADY, 1220 State St., Schenectady, N.Y. (518) 372-0421
★PAYLESS CARS RENTALS OF SYRACUSE, 34 So. Bay Rd., Syracuse, N.Y. (315) 455-3821
Also Passenger Vans, Cargo Vans, Mini Vans...Call Today

Luncheons at the TIME OUT

Spaghetti Specials Daily
Best Pasta in town
37 N. Pleasant St.

Psssst!....

Are You A Secret Santa?

GIFTS
Under 50¢
Under $1.00
Under $2.00
Under $3.00
Under $4.00
Under $5.00

A Store full of Holiday Gift Ideas!
Downtown Amherst
Daily 10-6, Sun. 12-5
FACES

PRE-FINALS PARTY
at CHANGES
dance club
Pearl Harbors $1.25
 PEARL ********
 HARBOR ******
 WEEK ********
Kamikazes $1.25
Rt. 9 Amherst 256-8284

Computerized Buy-back

Cash for Books

UMASS BOOKSTORE

Dec. 9-13 16-20

9:00-4:00

TEXTBOOK ANNEX

Fast · Reliable · Efficient

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian

ED/OP

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted.

Founded in 1870

Executive Board—Fall 1985

Dode B. Levenson, Editor in Chief
Anne McCrory, Managing Editor
Larry Bouchie, Editorial Editor
Peter Soderberg, Production Manager
Elizabeth Young, Business Manager
Sherry Sharfman, Business Manager

Board of Editors—Fall 1985

Dode B. Levenson, Editor in Chief
Anne McCrory, Managing Editor
Tom Middleton, News Editor
Larry Bouchie, Editorial Editor
Renee Bacher, Arts Editor
Peter Abraham, Sports Editor
Derek Roberts, Photo Editor
Bethanne Moskov, Women's Issue Editor
Kimberly Burge, Black Affairs Editor

Setting a political agenda

Today more than 390,000 signatures will be presented to the Massachusetts Secretary of State in Boston—signatures collected by the Massachusetts Public Interest Research Group.

Collected to ensure public referenda on four state issues—limiting sulfur dioxide emissions, providing a timeline for toxic waste identification and clean up, forming a Citizen's Utility Board to have a voice at utility rate hike hearings, and initiating mail-in voter registration—these signatures comprise the largest public referenda campaign ever completed in Massachusetts.

While it is difficult to conceive the enormity of this achievement, we wholeheartedly applaud MASSPIRG and its efforts to bring these four issues to a popular vote.

Now that these signatures have been delivered, the state Legislature (which has previously failed to act upon the issues) must vote on the issues before May. If the Legislature opposes any issue, MASSPIRG must collect 10,252 signatures to have the questions placed on next November's ballot.

Since nearly 13,000 signatures were collected on this campus alone, we have complete faith that MASSPIRG will be able to collect additional signatures if necessary, and spur the somewhat snarled democratic process we all rely on but rarely participate in.

As local MASSPIRG representative Shawn Baird said, "This campaign shows there is not only deep concern for these issues, but that students and citizens are actively setting the political agenda in this state."

Unsigned policy editorials reflect the majority opinion of the Collegian Board of Editors.

No thanks, not needed

Stephen Erickson

Seeing as Thanksgivng is behind us now, it has occurred to me that this is the perfect opportunity to acknowledge those things for which I am not at all thankful. The following is a list of things I think the world could do without quite nicely;

-people who don't flush
-students who rustle paper and pack up books towards the end of class while the professor is still speaking. Since we are not prisoners awaiting parole or women in labor, what's the hurry?
-people who heckle at public events and then expect others to take them seriously
-hecklers in general
-Jesse Jackson
-hypocrites
-Christian Fundamentalists who tell me I'm going to hell. Whatever happened to "Judge not and you shall not be judged?"
-Genessee Cream Ale
-women screaming unnecessarily. Not only is it obnoxious, butwith so many rapes on campus, screams should be reserved forthe real thing.
-the dry campus
-narrow minded campus radicals and condecending leftists. Nothing is more annoying than people who "know" they are "politically correct."
-apathy
-militant feminists
-persons who do not bathe or shower for political reasons.
-hard boiled eggs
-selfishness
-people who decide not to conform for the sake of not conforming and then conform to some different standard anyway.
-insects
-Congressman Ed Markey
-folks who take themselves too seriously
-dumb slogans like "You can't hug a child with nuclear arms." This may be true, but you can protect the child's future.
-game shows where fat ladies jump up and down
-game shows
-pro-life and pro-choice extremists
-soap operas
-people who can not separate their personality from their politics.
-bumper stickers that say "God made the Irish #1."
-people who make a big deal about skin color
-guys who lift weights then walk around as if they are carrying invisible luggage
-writer's bloc
-mediocre Collegian columns like this one
-large term papers that are due very shortly
-stress
-deadlines

Stephen Erickson is a Collegian columnist.

Idealism vs. poor planning

Gayle Wintjen

Recently, many opinions concerning the inefficiency of the Undergraduate Student Senate have been expressed on this page. Clashes of political ideologies and personalities have erroneously been blamed for this circumstance. Though these problems do exist, the present ineffectiveness of the senate is due to a mixture of poor organization and historic idealism.

The structure of the senate is modeled after the United States' political system: The campus president and trustee are elected popularly, and each residence hall and residential area elect its own representatives. The judicial body is appointed and a speaker and treasurer are elected from within the senate. Each senator must sit on a committee and each committee elects a chairperson. No qualms here. The problems develop when "crises" arise.

The senate is asked to contend with at least one "crisis" a semester. However, this usually forces many of the leaders to drop what they are directly responsible for, in order to strategize around the issue at hand. When this happens, the original goals of the various committees and officers become subordinate to the crisis. Thus none of the "bread and butter" work gets done. The way to correct the problem is for the senate to utilize the provision for establishing ad hoc committees as stated in its by-laws.

In addition, we must not let all ad hoc issues fall under the guise of "student empowerment."

In my opinion, "student empowerment" is an idealistic euphemism used to insure that student's needs are in the forefront of every decision being made on this campus and that students are active participants in that process. However, this phrase is often used to focus on the issues of concern of the leadership, not the majority of students.

For example, how many students could not get in to the classes they need because of insufficient academic space? How many students could not afford to come back to school this semester because of financial aid cuts? Why do students get rained on inside the Campus Center?

The point is clear—priorities must be established so that students' needs are met. Students need to be presented with tangible solutions to their problems, not prophesized to about an unobtainable goal.

Finally, it has never been a priority of the senate to play for the long run. Goals and objectives are drawn up for any Recognized Student Organization which desires a slice of the Student Activities Fee, but no uniform objectives are designed to guide the senate. The consequence of this has been exemplified by the financial crisis that now faces the SATF and the threat of an administrative coup of that fund.

If the organization is unclear about its goals for achievement, it cannot know what resources are needed to accomplish them. The senate must ask itself such questions as "What is the most important goal we wish to accomplish? What are we willing to relinquish to accomplish that end?" Until these questions are answered, the senate will inevitably face the same dilemma every year.

Some efforts have already been made to cure the ill of the senate. But the use of a new hyperdermic must be employed to attract students who usually do not concern themselves with matters of government. Incentives such as earning credits for experience and monetary compensation are needed. Moreover, each individual must realize the extent to which s/he can contribute to the future of the university. Perhaps at that point, we will obtain the golden ring of student empowerment in its truest sense—all students working together for a common goal.

Gayle Wintjen is a UMass student.

Letters

Women's hoop needs support

As a UMass alumnae, I recently visited the campus and had the very real pleasure of meeting Barbara Stevens (head coach) and several others on the women's basketball team. A check of my old Index '72 shows no mention of any women's team during my UMass years, and I feel compelled to write this for those of you who might overlook the opportunity to know this team.

I watched the Minutewomen practice. For three non-stop hours they endured -embraced! - a grueling series of conditioning exercises and demanding drills. There is an enjoyment, a sense of pure beauty, to be derived from watching the intensity of total effort. I could see it even in practice.

I hold season's tickets to the Old Dominion Lady Monarchs, the 1985 Divisgn I NCAA women's champions. One reason for their success is the outstanding support of the several thousand who spend $5 for the excitement of watching each game and cheering them on to victory. There is no charge for the UMass women's games, and the new Cage is beautiful -- a far cry from the rickety bleachers where I cheered for Julius Erving. Other UMass women's teams, such as field hockey and soccer, have risen to national prominence. I challenge you now to dispover women's basketball! The UMass team of committed, hard working athletes and coaches are worthy oy your appreciation. Cheer for them, weep with them, love them, support them. I have seen them and they deserve it. Check them out, and your education will be the better for it.

Judy Ruggles
Virginia Beach, VA

All letters submitted for publication must be signed and include the author's address and telephone number, which will not be published. Letters must be typewritten and double spaced at 67 characters per line. Column sumbissions hsould be between 40 and 60 lines. All submissions are subject to edition for clarity and length. —Editor.

The Collegian welcomes letters, column, and cartoon submissions. Submissions should be mailed to the Editorial Editor at the Collegian, 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Mass. 01003, or they can be dropped off at the Collegian classified ad counter in the basement of the Campus Center. Due to the volume of mail received, individual replies cannot be made.

The Whately Inn
Quality Food To Order
Chestnut Plain Rd.
Whately
1-665-3044
Featuring Steve Kloc's Famous Broiled LIVE LOBSTER
Also Serving Louisiana Cajun Entrees
Also Steaks, Prime Rib, Seafood
DIRECTIONS: take 116 north to South Deerfield, south on route 5-10 1¼ miles. Right on Christian Lane ½ mile from center of town
Open: Mon-Sat 5-10 pm Sun 1-9

TCYP has openings for the following positions:
FOSTER CARE -mature individuals and families to provide a stable environment for needy adolescents.
RELIEF STAFF - to provide respite hours to youths in foster care. Situations vary according to need.
ADVOCATES - willing to share living accommodations with young adults needing orientation into independent living situations.
Stipends, training and support are available for all openings. For further information, call B.J. Vanasse at Tri-County Youth Program, 16 Armory St., Northampton, 586-8210.

SMITH COLLEGE
SCHOOL FOR SOCIAL WORK
INFORMATION DAY
Saturday, December 7, 1985
2:30pm
Wright Hall Auditorium
Smith Campus
For information: 584-2700 x7960

CLASSICAL JAZZ REGGAE BLUES ROCK SOUL FOLK JAZZ ROCK SOUL CLASSICAL
#1 IN THE VALLEY!
DYNAMITE RECORDS
Maxell XLII90 $2.00
TDK SA90 — $2.00
New, Used, Buy, Sell and Trade
584-1580
THORNES
150 MAIN ST. NORTHAMPTON

SALE
Pre Xmas
25% Off
Everything
Lodestone
4th thru 14th

James H. McManus
eating place
• OPEN
6 A.M.-3 A.M.
SUN.-THURS.
• OPEN 24 HOURS
FRI. & SAT.
CAMPUS PLAZA
(NEXT TO SUPER STOP & SHOP)
Rte. 9 • Hadley/Amherst
256-6889

Hampshire Business Machines Inc.
TYPEWRITERS
Sales, Service
Rentals
Brothers, IBM.
Smith Corona, etc
321 Main St.
Amherst
549-6177

RENT A WRECK
New & Used Cars
Trucks & Vans Also Available
North Amherst Rent-A-Wreck
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880

Lorraine Lipani
NATURAL HEALING
therapeutic massage, guided relaxation, and self-care information
12 year professional;
Amherst office
for appointment
(413)665-7577

Half-price skiing at Okemo makes twice as much cents.

College students with valid ID's are eligible for Okemo's Special College Discount at the Okemo Mountain Lodge. Condominiums surrounding the Base Area feature full kitchens, fireplaces, telephones and cable color TV. Ski-in, ski-out accomodations conveniently located to all mountain facilities.
Half-price discount on lift tickets mid-week
lesser discounts weekends and Holiday periods 12/25/85–1/1/86, 2/15– 2/21/85.
Okemo has:
• 58 trails and slopes
• Has the fourth highest vertical drop in Vermont
• Has eight major lifts including a new 4-passenger chairlift.
• Covers over 60% of its skiable terrain with snowmaking.
• Receives an annual snowfall of over 12 feet.
• Is the only Eastern ski resort with a major town at its base.
• Has a 4½ mile novice trail from the summit.
• Has two of the steepest gladed areas in the Northeast.

Half-price skiing is twice the fun.
Write or call for more information:
Lodging Service . . . 802-228-5571
Snow Reports 802-228-5222
General Information 802-228-4041
OKEMO
Okemo Mountain RFD 1, Box CA, Ludlow, Vermont 05149

Stallone in yet another Rocky flick

ROCKY IV
Starring Sylvester Stallone
Directed by Sylvester Stallone

By BRIAN STACEY
Collegian Correspondent

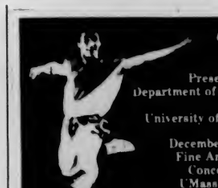
Not for the squeamish or the queasy, Rocky IV is for those who can see the message behind the medium.

Back in Rocky III when Adrian, (Mrs. Rocky) delivers her single line of emotional range in the whole anthology, the message came out: "You've got to believe in yourself."

Far more moving than Mr. T's taunts at his bedroom prowess, (Rocky III) Rocky's ones and nerves flare; like the proverbial, menacing cornered chipmunk, Rocky must fight; no questions, no distractions.

It's not even us, the good guys, against the Evil Empire. Despite the ads or what you may have heard, Rocky doesn't fight for America. Quite accidently, he achieves what Geneva didn't.

Mr. Russia (very Swedish) bristles. Not a Hulk Hogan carnival freak, still beyond a Mr. Universe, tag him hunk. He has the gall to call Rocky not even human.

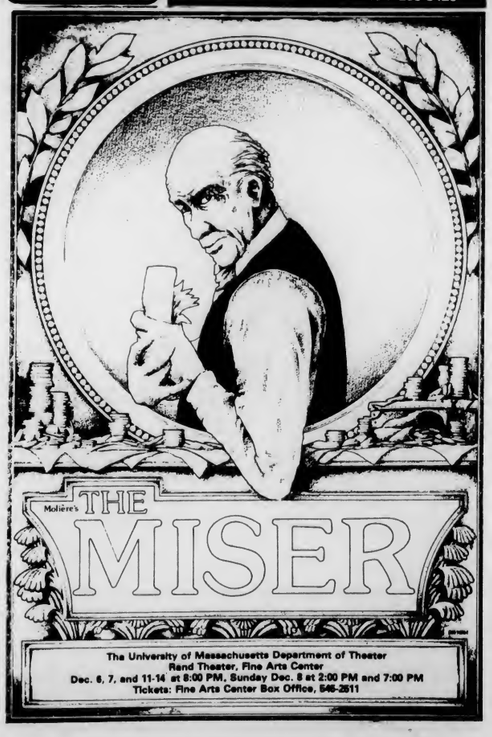


Yes, Sylvester Stallone, writer, star, director, is an egomaniac. Stallone with the sandals and crucifixion from Rambo, has Rocky IV, his arms outstretched in agony again. Aren't we lucky? All three previous Rocky clips are shown; lest a newcomer forget who the good guy is. Mercifully, the "Gonna Fly Now," tune is retired.

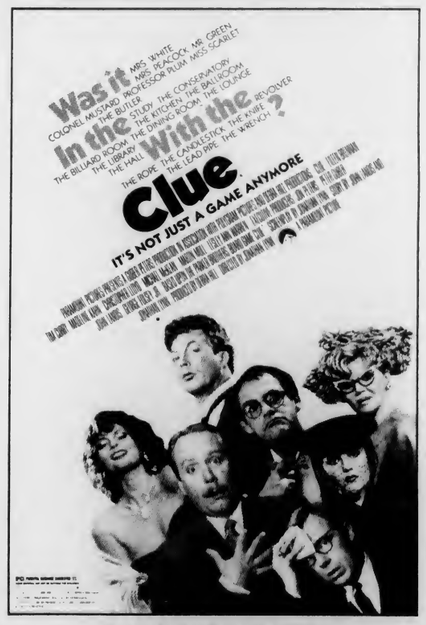
Realistic? Of course not. If the masses are entertained, so what? And the masses are more than entertained, they're inspired.

Rocky's got what everybody should have, and if you do have it, you need to be reminded of it. This time he even says it: "Going that one more round when you don't think you can, makes all the difference in the world."

Balboa is victorious in Rocky IV.



Correction: The University Dancers will perform at the Fine Arts Center tonight through Friday at 8 p.m.



University Dancers
Presented by Department of Music and Dance at University of Massachusetts
December 4, 5, & 6
Fine Arts Center Concert Hall
UMass. Campus
Tickets: Fine Arts Center Box Office Mon.-Fri., 10:00 A.M.-4:00 P.M., 545-2511 and Datatix Outlets
General Admission 4.00
Student 3.00
Children & Senior Citizens 1.00

OOPS!
Now's the time to call...
North Amherst Motors
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880
Expert Repairs & Reconditioning

AMHERST CINEMA
Wednesday - Saturday
Gregory's Girl 7:15
Experience Preferred But Not Essential 9:00
Double Feature $3.00
30 AMITY ST. AMHERST 253-5426

THE FINE ARTS CENTER
CONCERT HALL
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST
JAZZ ALL STARS
Ray Brown, bass
Milt Jackson, vibes
Hank Jones, piano
Max Roach, drums
Stanley Turrentine, sax
Saturday, December 7, 8 pm.
Tickets $13.11
CLEVELAND ORCHESTRA
Christoph Von Dohnanyi, Music Director
MOZART Symphony No. 25
HARTMANN Symphony No. 2
DVORAK Symphony No. 7
Monday, December 9, 8 pm.
Tickets $20.18
• Gift Certificates Available •
Five College Students Half Price Tickets available at Fine Arts Center Box Office, Springfield Civic Center, and DATATIX Outlets
Call (413)545-2511 or 1-800-243-4842

THE MISER
Molière's
The University of Massachusetts Department of Theater
Rand Theater, Fine Arts Center
Dec. 6, 7, and 11-14 at 8:00 PM, Sunday Dec. 8 at 2:00 PM and 7:00 PM
Tickets: Fine Arts Center Box Office, 545-2511

Was it MRS. WHITE, MRS. PEACOCK, MR. GREEN, COLONEL MUSTARD, THE BUTLER, PROFESSOR PLUM, MISS SCARLET In the STUDY, THE CONSERVATORY, THE KITCHEN, THE BALLROOM, THE BILLIARD ROOM, THE DINING ROOM, THE LOUNGE, THE LIBRARY, THE HALL With the REVOLVER, THE ROPE, THE CANDLESTICK, THE KNIFE, THE LEAD PIPE, THE WRENCH?
Clue
IT'S NOT JUST A GAME ANYMORE
Opens Friday, December 13th
At A Theatre Near You.

UTOPIA SPAS

Get A

SUN TAN

ADVANCED MEMBERSHIP SPECIAL

- 8 Visits
- Free ½ Hour Hot Tub

for

$29.95

Offer Expires Dec. 5, 1985

175 University Dr. 253-SPAS

YVONNE'S

CARRIBBEANA RESTAURANT

Luncheon Specials

with Super Island Vegetarian and Regular dishes

Prices from $2.50 and up

50¢ DRAFT BEER

with all lunches

Route 9, Hadley

586-4389

Lunch Hours 11:30-3:00 pm Monday - Friday

Dinner Hours 5:00-10:00 pm Every Night

STUDENTS INTERSESSION

$5.00 PER HOUR

Work available

all over New England

in your home area during Christmas Break.

On campus information sessions

to be held on

Dec. 4, 1985 at CC Room 904

Every hour, on the hour, at 9 AM, 10 AM,

RGIS Inventory Specialists, EOE

Ski

UMASS SKI CLUB

presents

WINTER PARK COLORADO

JANUARY 5-12 $425.00 per person

Your Trip Includes:

- Roundtrip jet flight Newark/Denver
- Roundtrip transfer from Denver to Winter Park
- 7 nights luxury condominum lodging at The Pines
- 5 days skiing at Winter Park and Mary Jane ski areas
- Welcome Party and mountain orientation
- Ski race with prizes
- All taxes and tips included

For more information contact:

UMASS SKI CLUB

or Tom Gerraty 549-5913; Dwayne Head 256-4287

"The best trip, the lowest priced!"

Get your ad in the Special Holiday Edition on Dec. 11.

Come to Campus Center Room 113 from Dec. 2 to Dec. 6

Daily

— Collegian —

Pearl Street

Miller HIGH LIFE Rock Series

99 THE HOT SPOT FM WMUA FM 91.1

RUN DMC

Direct from the movie 'KRUSH GROOVE'

Tix in advance available at UMass Fine Arts Center Box Office at Stop & Shop Datatix and in Northampton at Main St. Rec's.

Must be of legal drinking age.

10 PEARL STREET NORTHAMPTON, MA. 413 584-7771

SPORTSWEAR FACTORY OUTLET

Next to Super Stop & Shop

Route 9 Hadley, MA

WOOL SWEATERS

80% Rag Wool

20% Orlon

Value up to $40.

$11.99 each

2 for $19.99

All

N.F.L. Football

MLBB Baseball

50-75% OFF

'TIS THE SEASON

FOR THE

T.O.C.

at the

Top Of the Campus restaurant

enjoy affordable, fine dining

OPEN STUDENT RATES CLOSED

m-f: 11:30-2:00

t-th: 5:00-9:00

f-s: 5:00-9:30

meal exchange

15% disc. w/ I.D.

Dec. 21 — Dec. 25

THE SURVIVOR

A PLAY

The true story of 7 teen-agers who defied Nazis.

December 5, 6, 7, 13 and 14 - 8 P.M.

Hampden Theater, Southwest

University of Massachusetts Amherst

2 talks by the playwright:

December 5th, 4 P.M.

"Writing About The Unwritable"

Hampden, Southwest, UMass

December 6th, 9:20 A.M.

"Jewish Women and Theater

Green Rm., Theater Dept. Smith

- Written by Susan Nanus
- Based on the memories of Jack Eisner
- Directed by Marica Black
- Wheelchair Accessible FREE

Sponsored by SCERA,

Southwest Residential Arts Programming and the UMass Arts Council

---

JBs HOT ROAST BEEF SANDWICHES

These 2 people may come in tonight (12/4) or tomorrow (12/5) and claim their Free Mozzarella Sticks, Reg. Fries, Jr. Deluxe Burger, Medium Coke!!

Wrong, try Health Services!!

Golly Gee J.B.'s is the place for me!!

11 am - 2 am 7 days

253-7018

50 Main St. Amherst, MA

Student Telephone Directories

Additional copies of the Fall 85 Student Telephone Directory are available now, and may be picked up at the Dean of Students Office

227 WHITMORE

The Five College Program in Peace and World Security Studies Presents:

RANDALL FORSBERG

Originator of the Nuclear Weapons Freeze Proposal and Director of the Institute for Defense & Disarmament Studies

TODAY

WED., Dec. 4

2:00 P.M.

Memorial Hall, UMass

"The Future of the Peace Movement"

8:00 P.M. Johnson Chapel, Amherst College

"Reducing the Risk of War"

All events open to the public; no admission charge.

For information, call: PAWSS, 549-4600, ext. 519

UNIVERSITY PLACEMENT SERVICE SPRING RECRUITING SCHEDULE

THIS SCHEDULE OF ON-CAMPUS RECRUITING CONTAINS RESUME DUE DATES THROUGH FEB. 14. RESUMES MAY BE TURNED IN AT THE WHITMORE SIGN-UP DESK DEC. 5-13 FROM 9:00-3:00 FOR 'P' DATES THROUGH FEB 14 AND FOR OPEN SIGN-UPS ON FEB. 3-4 AND 10,11.

SCHEDULES WILL APPEAR IN THE COLLEGIAN EVERY 2 WEEKS DUPING THE SPRING SEMESTER. LAST MINUTE CHANGES WILL BE POSTED AT THE UNIVERSITY CAREER CTR., WHITMORE SIGN-UP DESK AND CAMPUS CENTER ASSISTANCE DESK. REMEMBER TO CHECK THE COLLEGIAN WHEN YOU RETURN TO CAMPUS!!

TO USE THIS SCHEDULE:
1. SELECT THE COMPANIES WITH WHICH YOU WILL REQUEST AN INTERVIEW.
2. IF PRE-SCREENED(P) SUBMIT 2 RESUMES BY THE DUE DATE; RESUMES MAY GO TO THE UNIVERSITY CAREER CTR. OR WHITMORE SIGN-UP DESK(MON-TUES 9:00-3:00)
3. IF OPEN(NO 'P') SUBMIT 1 RESUME ON ONE OF THE DUE DATES; THESE RESUMES MUST GO TO THE WHITMORE SIGN-UP DESK
4. EACH RESUME SHOULD BE STAMPED WITH THE INFORMATION NEEDED; STAMPS ARE AVAILABLE AT THE WHITMORE SIGN-UP DESK AND THE UNIVERSITY CAREER CENTER.
5. REMEMBER TO IDENTIFY SCHEDULE NUMBERS, COMPANY DIVISIONS ETC. WHENEVER THESE ARE NOTED.
6. TWO WEEKS BEFORE THE INTERVIEW DATE THE FINAL SCHEDULE WILL BE POSTED AT THE UNIVERSITY CAREER CENTER, WHITMORE SIGN-UP DESK AND THE CAMPUS CTR. ASSISTANCE DESK. IT IS YOUR RESPONSIBILITY TO VERIFY YOUR APPOINTMENT TIME. IF NO LIST HAS BEEN POSTED BY 2 WEEKS BEFORE THE INTERVIEW DATE, YOU SHOULD CHECK DAILY, SINCE WE ADD COMPLETED SCHEDULES FOR PRE-SCREENED COMPANIES AS LISTS OF SELECTIONS ARE RECEIVED FROM THOSE COMPANIES.

YOU WILL FIND ADDITIONAL INFORMATION ON POSITIONS, LOCATIONS ETC. AT THE UNIVERSITY CAREER CENTER AND AT THE WHITMORE SIGN-UP DESK.

WATCH THE COLLEGIAN WHEN YOU RETURN FOR ADDITIONAL COMPANIES AND INTERVIEWING OPPORTUNITIES. VISA CODE; P=PERMANENT RESIDENT VISA: C=U.S. CITIZENSHIP

Majors	Degrees	Organization	Positions	Visa	Visit Date	Due Date
			ENGINEERING
EE,IE,ME	BS	SIEMANS ALLIS	SALES TRAINING	C	FEB 5	DEC 5-13
EE,ME	BS/MS	TERADYNE/BOSTON			FEB 6	DEC 5-13
CSE	BS/MS	TEXAS INSTRUMENTS	PROGRAMMER/ANALYST	P	FEB 12,13	DEC 5-13
3.0-4.0 GPA PREF.		INFO SYS & SERV
CE,ME	BS	NAT.OCEANOGRAPHIC & ATMOSPHERIC ADMIN.	ENSIGN NOAA COMM CORP	C	FEB 13,14	DEC 5-13
EE	BS/MS	HUGHES AIRCRAFT	SUPPORT SYS/LONG BEACH,CA	C	FEB 4	JAN 6 P
EE	BS	SCIENTIFIC ATLANTA	ENGINEERS	P	FEB 4	JAN 6 P
EE,ME	BS	NORTHROP/PRECISION PRODUCTS DIV	ELECTRONICS/MECHANICAL DES, SYSTEMS ANALYSIS	C	FEB 6	JAN 8 P
CHE	BS/MS	PROCTER & GAMBLE	R&D/PROD.DEV-CINCINNATI	P	FEB 6	JAN 8 P
EE,ME,CSE	BS/MS/PHD	ITEK OPTICAL SYS	SOFTWARE ENGRS/IMAGE SCIENTISTS-LEXINGTON,MA	C	FEB 7	JAN 9 P
IE/MFG ONLY
EE,CSE,OR	MS/PHD	NEW ENGLAND TEL.	BELL COMM. RESEARCH		FEB 7	JAN 9 P
EE,CSE	BS/MS	CODEX			FEB 11	JAN 13 P
EE,CSE	BS/MS	DIGITAL			FEB 11	JAN 13 P
CHE,ME,EE	MS	OWENS-CORNING FIB.	RESEARCHER	P	FEB 11	JAN 13 P
ME	BS	GILLETTE	ME/SO. BOSTON, MA	P	FEB 12	JAN 14 P
EE	BS/MS	NAT'L SECURITY AGENCY/NE RECRUITMENT		C	FEB 12	JAN 14 P
EE,CE,ME	BS/MS	VETERANS' ADMIN.		C	FEB 12	JAN 14 P
EE	BS/MS PHD	NAVAL UNDERWATER SYSTEMS CTR	NEWPORT RI/NEW LONDON CT LABORATORIES	C	FEB 13	JAN 15 P
EE,ME,CE	BS/MS	NORFOLK NAVAL	ENGINEERS IN PORTSMOUTH VIRGINIA	C	FEB 13	JAN 15 E
CHE,IE	BS/MS	SHIPYARD
EE,CSE	BS/MS	RAYTHEON	HARDWARE DES. & DEV. BOSTON,MA & PORTSMOUTH,RI	C	FEB 13,14	JAN 15 P
EE,CSE,CHE	BS/MS	ANALOG DEVICES			FEB 14	JAN 16 P
EE,CSE,ME	MS/PHD	SANDIA NAT'L LAB	R&D/RADAR,MICRO CIRCUIT DES.,DIGITAL SIGNAL PROC., ARTIFICIAL INT., ROBOTICS	C	FEB 14	JAN 16 P
CHE,ME,EE	BS	ELECTRONIC DATA SYSTEMS	ENGINEERING SYSTEMS DEVELORMENT PROGRAM-NATIONWIDE	P	FEB 18	JAN 17 P
EE,CSE	BS/MS	GENRAD	SOFTWARE/SALES-CONCORD, BOLTON, WALTHAM MA	C	FEB 18	JAN 17 P
EE	BS/MS	RCA-AUTOMATED SYS	EE STAFF	C	FEB 19	JAN 21 P
APPLICATION MUST PICYED UP AT PLACEMENT AND SUBMITTED WITH RESUME
EE,CSE	MS/PHD	MIT-LINCOLN LAB			FEB 20	JAN 22 P
IE,ME	BS	RAYTHEON	MFG MGT DEVELOPMENT PROG	C	FEB 24	JAN 24 P
MFG OPTION	MS
IE,ME	BS	INGERSOLL RAND	ENGINEERS		FEB 25	JAN 27 P
ME	MS
EE,CSE	BS/MS	XEROX	INTERACTIVE COMP GRAPHICS		FEB 25	JAN 27 P
EE	BS/MS	MOTOROLA/GOVT ELECTRONICS GROUP	6-MONTH ENGR TRAINING PROGRAM/ SCOTTSDALE & TEMPE AZ	C	FEB 26	JAN 28 P
EE,CSE	BS	CASHER ASSOC	PROGRAMMER ANALYST	P	FEB 27	JAN 29 P
EE,CSE, ME,IE	BS/MS	DATA GENEPAL			FEB 27	JAN 29 P
EE,CSE	BS	GTE COMMUNICATIONS SYSTEMS			FEB 27	JAN 29 P
EE	BS/MS	LAWRENCE LIVERMORE NATIONAL LABORATORIES			FEB 27	JAN 29 P
EE,ME	BS/MS	NORTHROP	ENGR IN PICO RIVERA,CA	C	FEB 27	JAN 29 P
EE,ME	BS/MS	MCDONNELL DOUGLAS ASTRONAUTICS CO.	HUNTINGTON BEACH,CA	C	FEB 28	JAN 30 P
EE,ME,IE	BS/MS	A T & T	AT&T TECH/NETWORK SYS. BELL LABS, AT&T COMMUNICATIONS	P	MAR 4,5	FEB 3 P
ALL ENGR	BS	FACTORY MUTUAL	LOSS PREVENTION CONSLTNT	C	MAR 5	FEB 4 P
EE,CSE	BS/MS	HANSCOM AFB/ELECTRONIC SYSTEMS DIV		C	MAR 6	FEB 5 P
			NATURAL SCIENCES AND MATH
COINS, APPLIED MATH	BS/MS	COMPUGRAPHIC	ASSOC SOFTWARE ENGRS WILMINGTON, MA	P	FEB 7	DEC 5-13
CHEM,COINS GEOL/GEOG,MATH,PHYS	BS	NAT.OCEANOGRAPHIC & ATMOSPHERIC ADMIN.	ENSIGN NOAA COMM CORP	C	FEB 13,14	DEC 5-13
MATH	BS	NEW ENGLAND MUTUAL	ACTUARIAL TRAINING		FEB 14	DEC 5-13
COINS	BS	STATE MUTUAL ASSURANCE			FEB 4	JAN 6 P
MATH	BS	HARTFORD INSURANCE	ACTUARIAL TRAINING	P	FEB 5	JAN 7 P
PHYSICS GEOLOGY-REMOTE SENSING MAPPING	BS/MS/PHD	ITEK OPTICAL SYS	SOFTWARE ENGRS/IMAGE SCIENTISTS-LEXINGTON,MA	C	FEB 7	JAN 9 P
COINS	BS/MS	CODEX			FEB 11	JAN 13 P
COINS	BS/MS	DIGITAL			FEB 11	JAN 13 P
COINS	BS	AETNA LIFE/CASUALTY	TECH WRITING,CLAIMS ETC.	FEB 12	JAN 14 P
MATH,COINS	BS/MS	METROPOLITAL LIFE	ACTUARIAL TRAINING		FEB 12	JAN 14 P
MATH,COINS	BS/MS	NAT'L SECURITY AGENCY/NE RECRUITMENT		C	FEB 12	JAN 14 P
COINS	BS/MS	RAYTHEON	SOFTWARE SCI. PROGRAM. BOSTON,MA & PORTSMOUTH,RI	C	FEB 13,14	JAN 15 P
COINS	BS/MS	GENRAD	SOFTWARE/SALES-CONCORD, BOLTON, WALTHAM MA	C	FEB 18	JAN 17 P
MATH	BS	GE FINANCIAL MGT	FINANCIAL MGT-ALL OF USA	P	FEB 19,20	JAN 21 P
COINS	BS/MS	RCA-AUTOMATED SYS	EE STAFF	C	FEB 19	JAN 21 P
APPLICATION MUST PICKED UP AT PLACEMENT AND SUBMITTED WITH RESUME
COINS	BS/MS	BURROUGHS	ACCT REP/EASTERN USA	P	FEB 20	JAN 22 P
PHYS,MATH COINS	PHD BS/MS/PHD	MIT-LINCOLN LAB			FEB 20	JAN 22 P
COINS	BS	CASHER ASSOC	PROGRAMMER/ANALYST	P	FEB 27	JAN 29 P
COINS,PHYS	BS/MS	MCDONNELL DOUGLAS ASTRONAUTICS CO.	HUNTINGTON BEACH,CA	C	FEB 28	JAN 30 P
CHEM	BS	FLEXCON	JR. STAFF CHEMIST		MAR 4	FEB 3 P
COINS	BS/MS	SOFTWARE A&E	SOFTWR ENGRS IN DC AREA	P	MAR 5	FEB 4 P
			MANAGEMENT
BUS,MKT,MGT	BBA	CARNATION	SALES MGT DEVELOPMENT	P	FEB 10	DEC 5-13
BUS,MKT	BBA	FIRESTONE TIRE	ENGRY LEVEL STORE MGT		FEB 12	DEC 5-13
BUSINESS	BBA	STATE MUTUAL ASSURANCE			FEB 4	JAN 6 P
ACCTG	BBA	HARTFORD INSURANCE	ACCTG TRAINEE,JR.ACCT	P	FEB 5	JAN 7 P
MBA w/BS IN CHE/CHEM		PROCTER & GAMBLE	R&D/CINCINNATI	P	FEB 6	JAN 8 P
MGT,MKTG	BBA	OWENS-CORNING FIB.	SALES REPRESENTATIVE	P	FEB 11	JAN 13 P
ACCT,BUS,MKT	BBA	AETNA LIFE/CASUALTY	ACCTG,MKTG, ETC.	P	FEB 12	JAN 14 P
MKT,GR FIN	BBA/MBA	NO'WESTERN MUTUAL	SALES/SALES MGT	C	FEB 13	JAN 15 P
ACCT,FIN	BBA	GE FINANCIAL MGT	FINANCIAL MGT-ALL OF USA	P	FEB 19,20	JAN 21 P
MKTG	BBA/MBA	BURROUGHS	ACCT REP/EASTERN USA	P	FEB 20	JAN 22 P
MGT,MKT	BBA	ADAMS(BROOKS)DRUG CO.	MGT. TRAINING	P	FEB 25	JAN 27 P
BUS,MKT	BBA/MBA	CALCOMP	ASSOC SALES REP	P	FEB 28	JAN 30 P
BUS,MKT	BBA	FLEXCON	SALES REP		MAR 4	FEB 3 P
BUSINESS	BBA	CHRYSLER	BRANCH MGT. TRAINEE	P	FEB 18	FEB 3,4
GRFIN,MKT ACCTG	BBA	DEFENSE LOGISTICS AGENCY	QUALITY ASSURANCE SPEC.	C	FEB 21	FEB 3,4
			MISCELLANEOUS MAJORS
ENV SCI	BS	NAT.OCEANOGRAPHIC & ATMOSPHERIC ADMIN.	ENSIGN NOAA COMM CORP	C	FEB 13,14	DEC 5-13
ECON	BA	STATE MUTUAL ASSURANCE			FEB 4	JAN 6 P
LIB ARTS	BA	OWENS-CORNING FIB.	SALES REPRESENTATIVE	P	FEB 11	JAN 13 P
ECON,ENGL	BA	AETNA LIFE/CASUALTY	ACCTG,MKTG, ETC.	P	FEB 12	JAN 14 P
ECON	BA	METROPOLITAL LIFE	ACTUARIAL TRAINING		FEB 12	JAN 14 P
MATH,COINS RUSSIAN & FAR EASTERN	BS/MS	NAT'L SECURITY AGENCY/NE RECRUITMENT LANGUAGES		C	FEB 12	JAN 14 P
ECON,PSYCH SOC	BA MA	NO'WESTERN MUTUAL	SALES/SALES MGT	C	FEB 13	JAN 15 P
ECON	BA	GE FINANCIAL MGT	FINANCIAL MGT-ALL OF USA	P	FEB 19,20	JAN 21 P
FASH MKT, LIBERAL ARTS	BA/BS	ADAMS(BROOKS)DRUG CO. W/INTEREST IN SALES	MGT. TRAINING	P	FEB 25	JAN 27 P
ARPE,ENT, PLPATH,PL&SOIL,ANSCI	BA	CIBA-GEIGY	SALES REP	C	MAR 4	FEB 3 P
ECON	BA	FLEXCON	SALES REP		MAR 4	FEB 3 P
ECON	BA	DEFENSE LOGISTICS AGENCY	QUALITY ASSURANCE SPEC.	C	FEB 21	FEB 3,4
FOOD SCI	MS/PHD	PILLSBURY R & D			MAR 5	FEB 4 P
COG PSYCH w/COMPUTER	MS/PHD BACKGROUND	SOFTWARE A & E	KNOWLEDGE ENGRS	P	MAR 5	FEB 4 P
			ANY MAJOR MAY INTERVIEW WITH THESE COMPANIES
		NY P.I.R.G.			FEB 4	DEC 5-13
		SEARS MERCHANDISE	MGT TRAINEE	C	FEB 4,5	DEC 5-13
		US MARINES	ALL TRAINING PROGRAMS	P	FEB 5	DEC 5-13
	BA/BS	INSTITUTE FOR PAPALEGAL TRAINING	4-MO. POST GRAD PROGRAM	P	FEB 10	DEC 5-13
	BA/BS	OSCO DRUG	MGT TRAINEE	P	FEB 10	DEC 5-13
	BA/BS	AETNA LIFE/CASUALTY	TRAINING PROGRAMS	P	FEB 12	DEC 5-13
		US AIR FORCE	TECHNICAL & NON-TECH.	C	FEB 4	JAN 6 P
	BA/BS	ERNEST & JULIO GALLO	SALES MGT TRAINEE		FEB 6	JAN 8 P
		RUSS BERRIE & CO	SALES REPS NATIONWIDE	P	FEB 13	JAN 15 P
.5 GPA	BA/BS	METROPOLITAN LIFE	ADMIN TRAINING	P	FEB 18	JAN 17 P
		PROCTER & GAMBLE	SALES MGT	P	FEB 19	JAN 21 P
	BA/BS	BLOOMINGDALES			FEB 21	FEB 3,4
		LECHMERE	EXECUTIVE TRAINING	P	FEB 21	FEB 3,4
	BA/BS	JORDAN MARSH	EXECUTIVE TRAINING	C	MAR 6	FEB 5 P

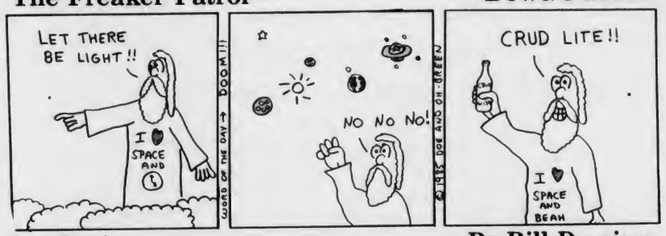
Doonesbury

BY GARRY TRUDEAU

Weather

Today: It will be quite cold with high's 25 to 30 amidst sunny skies and scattered clouds.

Tomorrow: Light snow developing with a high of about 30.



BLCOM COUNTY

by Berke Breathed

The Freaker Patrol

Dowe/O'Brien

Bat Brain

By Bill Dearing

GORDY

By Gorde

Today's Menu

LUNCH
Royal Zucchini Beef Parmesan
Grilled Cheese Sandwich

DINNER
Roast Turkey/Bread Dressing
Gravy, Cranberry SAuce
Cheese Spinach Strudel

BASICS LUNCH
Hearty Latin Stew
Grilled Cheese on Wheatberry

BASICS DINNER
Cheese Nut Loaf/MushroomSauce
Roast Turkey/Bread Dressing
Gravy, Cranberry Sauce

Attention Staff

There will be a homophobia workshop Tonight at 7 p.m. in Rm. 905 CC.

Correspondents: This counts towards staff status!

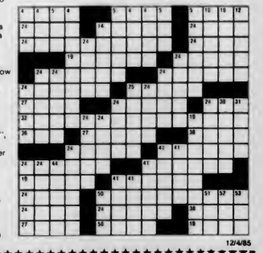
DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Edited by Trude Michel Jaffe



ACROSS
1 Take in
5 Convince
9 Weather word
13 Rool segment
14 English country
15 Actress Negri
16 Dessert choices
18 Give off
19 Actor Michael et al
20 Ho's companion
21 Schlissers Steve and Phil
23 Auction participant
24 Showed shock
25 Radiant
27 To me, in France
28 Plink or plunk, eg
29 Shade giver
32 Hawaiian's dessert choice?
36 Behold
37 Chef's specialty
38 Govt. info. org
39 Pickle
40 Inventor's protection
42 Save
45 Sound from a songbird or a soprano
46 Saw
47 "My Mother —": TV show
49 Bell tone
50 Confections
54 Old one, in Osnabruck
55 Rockettes' forte
56 "Caro Nome", for one
57 Band member
58 Artists' gear
59 Profound

DOWN
1 Amusement, for short
2 Musical gift
3 NYC's 5th
4 Dessert for a Georgian?
5 Rebuffs
6 Family member
7 Sass from Sandy?
8 "Right on!"
9 Quick
10 Person on the move
11 Complexion shade
12 One of the four elements
14 Went under cover
17 Paddock resident
20 Worshipper in India
21 Bess' successor
22 In concert
23 Storage areas
24 Cumberland et al
25 End a case
26 Louisiana Long
28 Breadth
29 A Ford
30 Frankie ol song
31 Pecan core
33 Synchronize
34 Straitlaced
35 Bakery product
39 Pleaded
40 Covenants
41 Saroyan hero
42 Tracking device
43 Roman bureaucrat
44 Beatrice's admirer
45 Time periods
47 Minnesota athlete
48 Mild expletive
50 Runner Ioi 21 Across
51 Common verb
52 Office attire
53 Dupe

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

C	A	N	T	O	T	A	R	T	F	A	I	L
E	Q	U	I	P	A	M	O	R	A	L	O	U
S	U	M	M	E	R	L	I	K	E	R	A	I
T	I	B	E	R	I	U	S	■	S	P	R	I
■	■	D	A	T	S	■	S	O	D	A	■	■
P	I	E	R	U	S	E	■	T	O	L	E	R	A	T	E
O	B	I	T	■	G	I	L	I	■	L	A	D
R	O	A	S	T	■	E	D	D	■	S	P	A	R	E
E	L	L	■	R	I	S	E	N	■	O	M	E	N
■	D	I	S	S	E	N	T	I	S	■	A	C	O	R	D	S
■	■	T	A	P	E	■	B	A	H	T	■	■
D	E	S	O	T	O	■	K	E	R	O	S	E	N	E
A	L	I	E	■	W	I	N	T	E	R	I	Z	E	S
D	A	N	K	■	E	D	I	T	■	A	D	I	O	S
A	N	D	Y	■	R	O	T	E	■	L	E	O	N	E

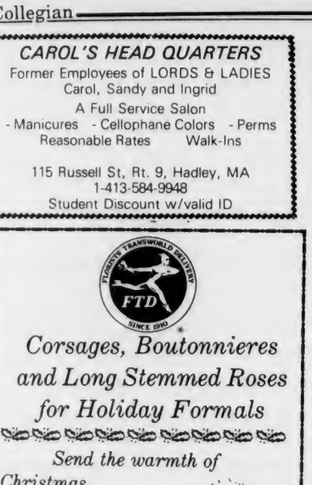
12/4/85

12/4/85

ATTENTION: ALL Collegian Staff and Associates: The following positions are open for the Spring Semester: Managing Editor, News Editor, Black Affairs Editor, Women's Issues Editor, Photo Editor and Arts Editor. You MUST be a Collegian staff member to apply for these jobs. These positions PAY $. For applications, see Anne McCrory. Deadline is TODAY! There is also a position open for recruitment manager.
ATTN: ALL ASSOCIATES: You must re-apply for your positions for the Spring semester.

CAROL'S HEAD QUARTERS
Former Employees of LORDS & LADIES
Carol, Sandy and Ingrid
A Full Service Salon
- Manicures - Cellophane Colors - Perms
Reasonable Rates Walk-Ins
115 Russell St, Rt. 9, Hadley, MA
1-413-584-9948
Student Discount w/valid ID

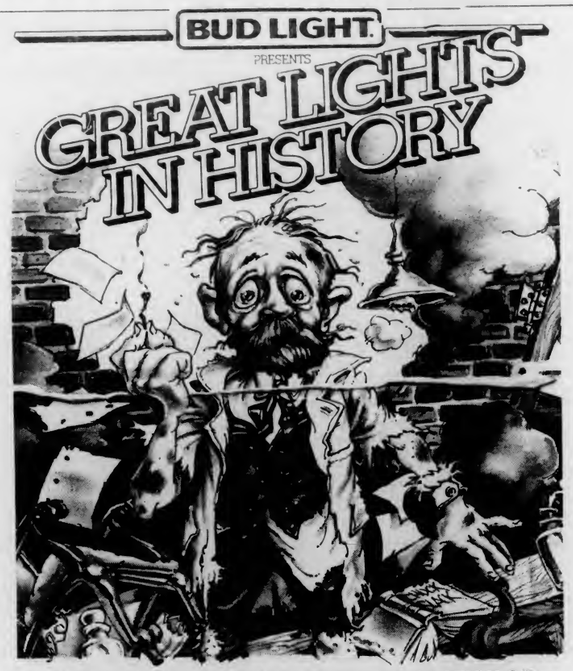
NOW OPEN
Riverboat Village
APARTMENTS, SOUTH HADLEY.
1, 2 or 3 BEDROOM UNITS
BEAUTIFUL MODELS FURNISHED BY CHAP DELAINES & EPSTEIN FURNITURE CO
•Swimming Pool •Tennis Court •Club House •Shuffle Board Court
FINANCED BY MHFA
LEASED ON OPEN OCCUPANCY BASIS
OPEN SEVEN DAYS A WEEK
10 AM 4 PM
PHONE 532-9461
532-9462
CALL FOR DIRECTIONS
Riverboat Village
River Lodge Rd
So. Hadley, MA 01075



Ticket Connection
"YOUR CONNECTION FOR THE BEST SEATS AT THE BEST PRICES"
tickets on sale now:
ROGER DALTRY dec 8
RUSH fri dec 13
SADE thu dec 5
KISS - BILLY CRYSTAL
whalers and bruins home games
mon-fri 10-6 pm 1-788-6938

FTD
Florists' Transworld Delivery
SINCE 1910
Corsages, Boutonnieres and Long Stemmed Roses for Holiday Formals
Send the warmth of Christmas to Family and Friends with the "Candle Glow" Bouquet or "Holiday Cheer" Sleigh
KNOWLES FLOWER SHOP
172 N. Pleasant St. 253-3805

NOW AT HAMPDEN SNACK BAR
PLAY THE GREATEST ADVENTURE VIDEO GAME EVER
GAUNTLET
4 CAN PLAY AT ONCE
Brought to you by ATARI and
Russell-Hall



Quality
LACROSSE PLAYERS WANTED
Sundays: 2/23/86 to 5/25/86
Call NOW to Register and/or for info
Dave 256-6742
Mike 253-7321 or
George 253-5507
THE WESTERN MASS. MENS LACROSSE CLUB

UMass Ski Club
Bush Bash
SUGARBUSH
VALLEY
Jan. 19 - 24

YOU NEED A VACATION
SIGN-UP NOW
UMass Ski Club
430 Student Union
For more info
call 545-3437
Final payments due Dec. 15th

BUD LIGHT
PRESENTS
GREAT LIGHTS IN HISTORY

1867. ALFRED NOBEL LIGHTS THE FIRST STICK OF DYNAMITE, AND NEVER GETS ANOTHER MOMENT'S PEACE.
But he got a big bang out of his discovery
And you'll get a bigger bang out of discovering Bud Light. It's the less-filling light beer with the first name in taste.
Get on the stick. Hurry to the bar of your choice and bring out your best. By discovering today's great light, Bud Light.
EVERYTHING ELSE IS JUST A LIGHT.
© Anheuser-Busch Inc St Louis Mo

Swimmers hosting Tufts

By JOE ROBERTS
Collegian Correspondent

The University of Massachusetts men's swim team will host a solid Tufts University team tonight at 7 p.m. at the Boyden pool.

"Looking at it on paper, it could go either way. It's gonna be a close one," said UMass coach Russ Yarworth. "Their times from their first meet are pretty close to ours. The meet will be a barn-burner. I'll be psyched if we get past it (with a win)."

Tufts, 1-0, has a strong freestyle swimmer in Jim Wong, who placed first in the 50 freestyle at last year's New England meet. "He should match up well with Drew (Donavan) in the 100 freestyle," Yarworth said.

"We need some points in diving; to win the first relay (400 medlay) and see how our sprinters do in the 50 freestyle. Those are the keys to the meet," Yarworth noted.

This week, as opposed to most of the preseason, the team should be close to full strength. The Minutemen, 1-0 after a season-opening victory at Boston College last week, had been held back by some injuries. "They've (injuries) come around. (Marc) Surette has had the flu but he should be ready. (Mark) Waters still has some shoulder problems and (Mike) Bolles will be ready also," Yarworth said. Bolles has had an injured hand, but swam in the Boston College meet with it hurt and placed highly nonetheless. Bolles has yet to go at full strength and he may be a key for the 50 freestyle event.

Junior Fred Marius has not been practicing with the team since the BC meet. He was called away from school due to a death in his family, but reportedly has been swimming on his own, according to the coach. Marius is important in the meet because he is UMass' strongest swimmer in the breaststroke.

The Minutemen are mentally prepared for the meet. "They're psyched to give it a shot. I wouldn't say they were confident but they line up pretty well. It will be interesting," Yarworth noted.

The Minutemen will also be in action on Saturday, hosting a strong Springfield team before hitting the road to Lowell next week. They will then take the final exam and holidays period off before swimming again during Intersession.

Correction

It was incorrectly reported yesterday that nine University of Massachusetts women's soccer players were named to the New England Intercollegiate Women's Soccer Association (NEWISA) All-New England all-star team.

The women were named to the New England region all-star team. The region includes the states of Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Vermont and Maine. It excludes Connecticut and Rhode Island.

UMass' Debbie Belkin, Kristen Bowsher, Carolyn Micheel, Beth Roundtree, Chris Schmitt, and Cathy Spence were named to the first team while Cathy Cassady, Jan Holland and Sue Bird were named to the second team.

The NEWISA All-New England selections will be released early next week after the NEWISA senior all-star game Sunday at 1 p.m. at Boston College that UM's Sue Bird and Jamie Watson were selected to play in.

—GERRY deSIMAS

★ UConn

continued from page 16

Other starters include 6-7 forward Eddie Williams (9.0 ppg), 6-4 freshman guard Phil Gamble (8.0 ppg) and 6-9 forward Gary Besselink (3.0 ppg).

UMass, to win, will need to rebound effectively against Coles and Besselink as well as slow down Kelley, who handles the ball the majority of the time in the Huskie offense. Both Chase and Emerson will be counted on for strong inside defense.

Gerlufsen indicated that UMass will be looking low to both Chase and Emerson in the post, making inside play a big key to the game.

"I expect an excellent game," said Gerlufsen. "I hope we get a good crowd, we like having the help."

UM gymnasts open

The University of Massachusetts men's gymnastics team opens its 1985-86 season on the road tonight, facing the University of Lowell at 7 p.m.

The gymnasts, under the coaching of Roy Johnson, will be away for the rest of the semester, facing Syracuse in New York on Saturday. They will be home starting in January when they face Dartmouth on the 15th and the Naval Academy on the 18th.

Sports Notice

Anyone interested in playing women's lacrosse for the University of Massachusetts this spring should attend a mandatory meeting on Tuesday, December 10 at 5 p.m. in Boyden Room 153.

If interested, but unable to attend the meeting, contact head coach Pam Hixon at 545-1942 during the day. Those interested should make every effort to attend the meeting.

S T.A.R.T.
STUDENTS ADVOCATING RIGHTS TOGETHER
The Academic Affairs and the Governmental Affairs supports students in their fight to keep control of our money
SELF GOVERNANCE IS A RIGHT!
THE ADMINISTRATION IS TRYING TO TAKE THIS RIGHT AWAY
COME TO THE RALLY DEC. 5th
at 12:30
IN FRONT OF THE STUDENT UNION
LETS WORK TOGETHER

D.S.O.
The Dyslexic Student Organization
Room 69 Bartlett Hall
University of Massachusetts, Amherst
Telephone 545-0018
(Registered Student Organization)
Credit Free COLLOQUIM
Presenters:
Dr. Shirley M. De Shields and Judith Udes Herrell
SUBJECT:
Learning Differences:
Dyslexia and the college student
DATE: Thursday, December 5, 1985
TIME: 8:00 p.m.
PLACE: Room 165 Campus Center

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Come to Collegian Office CC 113 • 8 45 3 45 Mon Thurs, 8 45 2 30 Fri • Deadline is 2 days prior to publication day
Cash in advance • Phone number FREE

ACTIVITIES

Create. . .

Tau Beta Pi Initiation Wed Dec 4 5:30 campus Center room 804 proper dress required and bring your bent

UnioN Video Center's general membership meeting will be held Wednesday at 4:00 pm presidential elections and constitution on the agenda

DVP - Distinguished Visitors Program meeting tonite at 5:30 pm in the Suffolk Room. Be there, even late.

International Women's Event planning committee meeting tonite at 5:30 pm in the Suffolk Room

AUDIO

For sale Technics 35 watt Rec. $40 12 band graphic eq. $70 both $100 call 549-6351 - Brian for info.

AUTO FOR SALE

Audi 1977 100LS 4 dr AT AC SR FM & Tape FWD great winter car in excellent mech shape good radials 20# mpg on regular best $1600 German car around 665-8217

'77 MGB blue 68k BO good condition current inspection 666-4686

1977 Chevy Malibu Classic new snows & brakes must sell to pay bills $1400 or best offer call 665-3921

1975 Oldsmobile Starfire! Must sell! Nice paint job, new clutch, 4 speed, runs well. $60.00 or best offer, willing to negotiate. 546-6346 even or early morning

1979 VW Rabbit 5-speed, runs great, looks good $1400 Geoff 259-1582

1970 Volvo stwgn 4 speed great condition strong engine $1500/BO Lawrence 549-5898

Is it true you can buy jeeps for $44 thru the U.S. Government! Get the facts today! Call 1-312-742-1142 ext. 5931-A

BUY ME!

1973 Buick LeSabre, full extras good tires runs great $350 Ken 665-4796

DISCUSSION

"Christmas: A Children's Story or an Adult Challenge?" Join Rev. Esther Hargis for Prophets and other Heretics, Thursday, 12:15-1:15 pm in 428 SUB

ENTERTAINMENT

Rack-A-Diac Entertainment Agency for the best party this semester. DJ's, large screen video, rentals. 549-7144

Do you need bands for your party. Professional bands that didn't just get together yesterday. You name the sound and songs you want. We'll set up the band. Different varieties from $150 call Steady Sounds 549-6385

Turn the Tables professional party/club DJ. 5 yr experience widest selection cal 24 hr. 586-9691

FOR RENT

Sunderland, 1 bdrm apt. on busline. 420/month, everything included. Avail. immediately! 665-3440, leave message

Amherst Brandywine 2 bdrm apt busline 580/month available 1-1-86 549-1119

Lg 1 bdrm apt Squire Vill. avail Jan 665-4669 aft. 6

Next to UMass. Share apartment with woman and son. $200# Call 549-0024

Single room available all inclusive rent! Available to female or male Jan 1 call Sheryl 256-1645

University Women Rooms available for Spring semester home cooked meals & close to campus call for more information 545-0527

Lg room for rent in house near center on busline available Jan 1st for more info call 256-1274 ask for Norm or Jeff after 5 pm

2 lrg rooms in N Amherst house 200# util call AM PM 549-7515

One bedroom apt: Cliffside, on bus rte. $340/mo. all util incl. mod kitch, gun-sz. bed, laund, 7-Eleven call 665-7596 eves avail Jan 1

Large 1 br apt Southwood 365# avail 1/1/86 lease 253-3634

FOR SALE

Ford LTD 75 runs well $550 or BO call 253-9998 evenings

Nikon Lens: Nikkor 135 MM F.3.5. A great Christmas gift. $75 John 256-8311

Stereo System: Onkyo TA-2033 cassette deck with dolby-C and Yamaha CR-450 receiver. Both in perfect condition! A great Christmas gift! $250! Call John 256-8311

New full-length women's winter coat 5/6 or BO and short winter jacket 40 or BO call Julie 546-4832

72 Olds Cutlass S orange, aluminium mags, good interior, strong rocket 350 eng, little rust, new heater core, battery brakepads, asking $800 546-7131

Apple Computer This fantastic machine a $2500 value can be yours for $700 call Tim at 546-3092

HELP WANTED

Merchandiser 20 hours per week $4 41/hr call between 8-5 need car 584-2050

OVERSEAS JOBS Summer, yr. round. Europe, S. Amer., Australia, Asia. All fields. $900-2000 mo. Sightseeing. Free info. Write IJC, PO Bx 52 MA1 Corona Del Mar, CA 92625

HOUSEMATE NEEDED FOR SPRING

Rm-mate: (upper classman or grad-stnt) N. Amherst 4 bdrm house, own rm, inclds king-sz bed, walk-in closet, pvt. bath $250# per mth Jan-may 1986. Call Joe or leave msg. 549-7597

INSTRUCTION

Private Guitar Lessons experienced and patient teacher rock/pop/folk/blues improv., reading, theory, composition. Your home or my studio. Doug 549-4786

Intersession Bartending Courses 4 sections available sign up in Credit Free Workshops Room 111 Tower Library

LOST

Men's UMass Ring: Steven Sobeck inscribed. Lost in Townehouse area. Call 549-5924, for Kelley. REWARD!

Lost a Nikon automatic camera outside Crabtree in Northeast reward no questions asked contact at 6-5198 or 6-9378

Brown portfolio-type notebook Exercise Physiology lost at Blue wall - reward -Sharon 253-2704 or 253-3734

Brown wallet sentimental and ID value Return to campus Ctr Info booth no questions asked

Lost blue knapsack w books only. If found call Joey 549-2792 reward

Help! Lost on 11/22 grey sweater of great sentimental value somewhere near Hatch Please call Tricia 6-4939

MOVER

Round Town Movers fast reliable cheap call Michael anytime 323-6760

PERSONALS

Ski Sugarbush! Hotel $149 call Ski Club now 545-3437

THE PEACE CONCERT Bushnell Memorial Hall, Hartford, Dec. 5, 8:00 pm free by calling (203) 560-1610

Mike Reynolds I want my gloves back K. S, 008 Pierpont 5160

Ski Sale Workers
Att: all those who worked 10 hrs or more at sale - pick up invitations to party at Office - 430 Student Union

My Queen - Watch for hidden messages in the ads!!! P.S. We ALL know who has you for Secret Santa hee hee hee

John Patrick, It's been a great 6 months. P.S. You are! Love, Andrea

Wench here it is stop giving off that odor or is rug burn worth it Nice new bigger bed you need it nomore surprises in mine Go for Goober good luck with Calc you need it

Dear Joe - Happy Birthday! Remember, I love you and I'll always be here for you. Thanks for the best year of my life. Love, Anastasia

Beth L. - Happy Late Birthday! Welcome to UMass and good luck on finals Love Tom

Decency, Have a nice Christmas! See you in the Spring. Echelon

C.E. Arrowed by eros I was in early September The wound is still fresh, For the memories and assistance in class, I thank you. Dinner? C.E.

Gary - BooBoo and I wish you a Happy Birthday we both love you!

SERVICES

COINS 123/121 tutoring 5.00 per hr former 123/121 grader Alex 256-1259

Escort Service available 8 pm - 2:30 am everyday any where on campus. Pay if safe call 5-2123 for an escort ANYTIME

Editing, Consultation. Ex-professor's specialty: dissertations, professional articles, books. 268-7772

Proofreading and Editing essays to theses. Rates vary 259-1276

Professional fitness consultations for women. Student rates. After 2 pm 1-467-7877

TO SUBLET

2 bdrm apt busline avail Dec 25 price negotiable 253-2851

3 rooms available Jan 1 Sunset Village $215/mo utils incl on bus line call 256-8235

Reward! Take our 1 bed apt. avail. for Spring semester. $366 includes utils. call 665-4553 evenings

Nice bedroom in two bedroom apt in house. Other roommate is quiet, non-smoking Graduate student. Available Jan-August rent negotiable 665-8194

Two bedroom apt in Northwood call 256-0628

Intersession - female only to share 1½ Puffton Village own room call Jane 549-0137

Female to share room in Puffton for Intersession. Call evenings 549-5519

One bedroom in Townehouse Apts for Intersession call 549-6621

1 bdrm apt avail Wintersession Brandywine rent negotiable heat incl fully furnished on busline call 549-4177 keep trying

One bedroom apartment available Jan 1 $340 including everything call after 5 pm 665-8403

TYPING SERVICE

QUALITY TYPING. Long or short projects. Will correct grammar, spelling, & punctuation. Meticulous proofreading. New IBM typewriter. 549-0367

TYPING & WORD PROCESSING

Next Day Service. Type-Rite 253-5111

PROFESSIONAL TYPING SERVICE

Cases, papers, dissertations, theses, on campus, dependable, outstanding quality, low rates, 584-7924

$50 REWARD

4 females to take over lease for fall 86 semester of apartment. Summer if necessary. Going abroad next semester and need a place for fall! Please call 546-6012 Marjorie or 546-6395 Marne

ROOM WANTED

Male looking for room for Intersession near campus preferred. Call Tom 6-6793 before 11:00 or after 7:00 pm

ROOMMATE WANTED

Apt to share pleasant reasonable ideally located in Amherst Ctr 774-2740

Female roommate wanted Main St Amherst beginning January for Spring 253-3304

Huge double room, attached bath 300 # 7 minutes from campus; quiet clean. Call Mark 665-2529

Female roommate wanted to share Brittany manor apartment starting Jan 1 call evenings 256-6645

Wanted: One male roommate to share Brandywine apt; Spring call 549-5796

Female needed to share room in Brittany Manor apt Feb to June call 253-3766

Female roommate wanted. Share room in 2 bedroom apt on bus rt $198 ! util 665-2020

Female nonsmoking roommate wanted for townhouse. Extremely reasonable rent! Call 6-5770 6-5773

WANTED

Elementary Statistics text for Biometry 2111 call Keith 253-2132

WANTED TO RENT

Take over lease in Jan of 4 person house or apt call 546-4474 or 546-7199

Responsible male senior seeks room in quiet, clean apt or house Spring semester. Call 546-5142 anytime

One or two bedroom apartment for Spring semester call 546-4963

SEX! Now that we have your attention, wanted, a 2-3 bedroom apt for spring semester reward! call 247-5154

We want your 2 bdrm house or apt will take over lease in Jan call 546-1199 for your cash reward!!

1 bdrm apt in N Amherst begins Jan 1 call 549-6872 between 4-7

To take over 2 or 3 bedroom lease in January Brandywine, Townehouse, Puffton, or area 546-6570 or 546-9862

UM returns home for UConn

Minutemen seeking some consistency

By PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

At times during this young season, the University of Massachusetts basketball team has looked great, playing up to its much-publicized potential.

But at other times, the mistakes that come with inexperience have haunted the Minutemen, leading to a pair of losses that could've been avoided.

The University of Connecticut invades the Curry Hicks Cage tonight at 7:30 to give the Minutemen their toughest test of the season before an expected sellout crowd.

"It's a matter of consistency and playing hard for the whole game," said UMass coach Ron Gerlufsen. "I have no questions about our talent, it's there. We just have to realize that to win at this level, you have to give a full effort. I think that lesson has been learned."

UConn, 2-0, and UMass, 1-2, have been traditional rivals over the years, playing 94 games since 1905. The Huskies lead the season series 56-38, but over the past two years both teams have been closely matched.

Last season, UMass lost 64-52 in Storrs, but in 1983 UMass was a 67-65 overtime winner at the Cage. That game will long be membered for the shot that freshman guard Carl Smith, now the UMass captain, hit in the final seconds to tie the game. Donald Russell ('85) won the game in the closing second of overtime.

"It's a great rivalry for both teams," said Gerlufsen. "It's an important game for both teams for a lot of reasons. For us, it's big because we need a victory to help us develop as a basketball team."

UMass has lost two straight, 73-67 at Boston University on Monday night and 57-54 to New Hampshire before the Thanksgiving break. In both games, UMass was hurt by periods of bad play.

At BU, UMass fell into a 16-point hole in the first half, but rallied to within one midway through the second half. The Minutemen failed to get any closer, missing a free throw that could of tied the game, two others that could've given them the lead and later on two one-and-one chances.

"I look back on that game and I think those missed free throws beat us," said Gerlufsen. "We also had some costly turnovers that may be the result of our youth (UMass starts two freshman and a sophomore with the first three players coming off the bench being two freshmen and a junior college transfer) but all-in-all it's really just settling down and getting accustomed to each other."

UMass enters the game led by sophomore guard Lorenzo Sutton with 16.3 points-per-game. The 6-2 off-guard is also averaging 4.3 rebounds-per-game and 3.6 assists. He is playing a team-high 35 minutes a game and UM's best scoring threat from the outside.

Smith uncharacteristically has more turnovers (17) than assists (16), but the 5-11 junior point guard played a strong second half at BU, penetrating into the middle with success and running the UMass offense like he is capable of.

"Carl is trying to do everything himself and nobody can do that," said Gerlufsen. "We've talked about it together and I think he understands what he's doing wrong. He's a great player, better than he's showing right now."

Smith is scoring at 10.6 ppg clip and had a season-high 15 at BU. The three froncourt starters are expected to be freshmen David Brown (8.3 ppg) and Duane Chase (5.6 ppg) at forward and senior Tom Emerson (4.0 ppg) at center.

All three played strong games at BU with Brown hitting four straight UMass hoops at one point, Chase scoring a career-high 10 points and sending back five BU shots with impressive blocks and Emerson banging the boards and contributing a key jumper during the UMass comeback.

When the starters are in the flow of the game, such during the BU rally, UMass has looked strong. But substitutions have hurt UM as Gerlufsen struggles to find a group of players he can depend on for a game-to-game basis.

"It's not a matter of the players coming in playing poorly," said the coach. "It's more that the guys left in there aren't keeping it up. It's tough to try and develop depth, but I have to do it."

Playing well of the bench have been two freshmen and a junior college transfer. Freshmen Sean Mosby (3.0 ppg) and Joe Fennell have contributed along with junior Ben Jones (6.3 ppg and 3.3 rebounds). Gerlufsen has given a lot of minutes to 11 players, but few reserves have stood out in the early going.

Connecticut, 2-0, whipped St. Peter's 53-40 in its last outing and also defeated Yale, 80-76, in its opener. The Dom Perno-coached Huskies, a member of the powerful Big East conference, were 13-15 last season.

Leading UConn is flashy point guard Earl Kelley. A 6-1 senior speedster, Kelley is averaging 16.0 ppg this season and burned UMass with 20 last season. Senior center Tim Coles, a bruising 6-7, 235 pounder, is scoring 17.5 ppg.

continued on page 15

Getting in The Cage

General public tickets for tonight's game were sold out as of Monday, but 3,000 students can still get into the Cage for what is expected to be an excellent game.

The lobby doors to the Cage will be open at 6:15 p.m. for the 7:30 start. Any student with a validated UMass identification card can gain admission after 6:15 until the Cage is full.

The Cage holds 4,024 with about 1,000 tickets set aside for the general public. The game is one three left at home before the semester's end.

SPORTS

Minutewomen rip Dartmouth, 80-49

Damminger perfect with 22 points

By JOHN A. NOLAN
Collegian Staff

Senior center Karen Damminger scored 22 points, grabbed five rebounds and had four steals as the University of Massachusetts women's basketball team won its third straight, an 80-49 pummelling of Dartmouth College, last night at the Curry Hicks Cage.

Damminger, who started in place of injured starter Sue Burtoft who missed the game after suffering a deep elbow bruise Sunday against the University of Vermont, was perfect from the field hitting all ten of her shots while converting two free throws.

"Karen was a lot quicker than the Dartmouth players that tried to cover her," University of Massachusetts head coach Barbara Stevens said.

Damminger said that she was worried about trying to fill Burtoft's shoes but that once the game got going, she said she felt that anyone could have done the job.

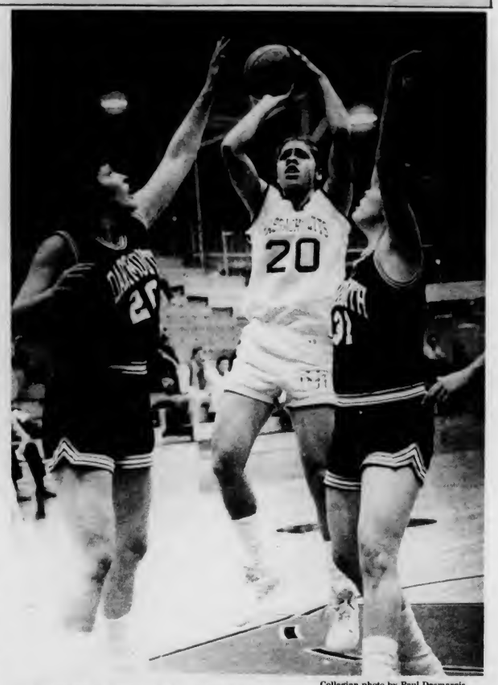
"It doesn't matter who starts as long as they play and play as a team," Damminger said. "Everybody played as a team, everybody played awesome."

After Dartmouth took an early 4-2 lead, the Minutewomen, 3-1, blew the game open with a spectacular 35-6 run, triggered by a tenacious full-court press that produced 18 first-half turnovers by the Big Green. After senior guard Barbara Hebel tied the score at four apiece, the lights went out for Dartmouth.

A layup by freshman guard Christel Zullo and a turnaround jumper by senior forward Jerrie Bernier gave UMass a four point lead before Dartmouth's Beverly Hagerdon 's layup cut it to two. Consecutive layups by Damminger, forward Tara Lewis, Bernier and Hebel keyed UMass to 14 straight points extending its lead to 16-6. Five points by Lewis and four each from Damminger, forward Juanita Matthews and junior forward Kelly Collins highlighted another burst, 24-4, which concluded with a jumper by freshman Beth Wilbor with 4:48 to go in the first half. The Minutewomen led 45-22 at the half, ending the game for all intents.

"They all wanted it very badly," Stevens said of her team, which avenged a disappointing 66-57 loss last year to the Green. "With our press, we created the type of tempo that we wanted."

In the second half, the Minutewomen continued to apply pressure upon the Big Green, forcing an additional 15 turnovers. Without the single-handed efforts of senior center Jayne Daigle (16 points) Dartmouth would never have been able to make the score anywhere near respectable.



With junior guard Mary Marquedant's 25-foot buzzer beating bank shot, every UMass player scored in the runaway. With balanced scoring, the Minutewomen got 10 points from Bernier, nine from Lewis and eight each from Wilbor and forward Rebecca Kucks.

UMass (80) Karen Damminger 10-10 2-2 22, Jerrie Bernier 5-9 0-0 10, Tara Lewis 4-11 1-3 9, Beth Wilbor 4-6 0-0 8, Kelly Collins 4-5 0-0 8, Rebecca Kucks 3-6 1-2 7, Barbara Hebel 3-7 0-0 6, Juanita Matthews 2-4 0-0 4, Christel Zullo 1-4 0-0 2, Mary Marquedant 1-2 0-0 2, JoAnn Dupuis 1-3 0-1 2. Totals: 38-67 4-8 80.

Dartmouth (49) Jayne Daigle 6-10 4-4 16, Bev Hagerdon 6-11 3-5 15, Liz Walter 3-8 0-1 6, Marie Polakowski 2-5 0-0 4, Shawn Corkum 1-3 0-0 2, Margo Peterson 1-2 0-0 2, Tiffany Boyd 1-2 0-2 2, Laurie Lopes 1-3 0-0 2, Sue Stoddard 0-4 0-0 0, Terry Fortin 0-0 0-0 0, Jenny Bloom 0-3 0-0 0, Nancy Fitz 0-3 0-0 0. Totals: 21-56 7-12 49.

UMass (3-1)	45	35	49
Dartmouth (2-3)	22	27	49

Fouled Out: None. Total Fouls: UMass—9, Dartmouth—10. Rebounds: UMass—36 (Lewis 8), Dartmouth—37 (Daigle 10). Assists: UMass—26 (Hebel, Marquedant 5), Dartmouth 12 (Walter 3). Technicals: None. Attendance: 223.

Collegian photo by Paul Desmarais

UMass senior Juanita Matthews (20) lofts a jumper against Dartmouth last night. The Minutewomen won, 80-49.

Donnelly an All-American for 4th time

University of Massachusetts senior defenseman Megan Donnelly was named to the national field hockey All-American team for the fourth straight season.

Donnelly, a native of Wilmington, MA, led UMass into the NCAA tournament this season and a Top 10 national ranking.

Junior attackman Lisa Griswold was named to the second team by the coaches association. Both she and Donnelly will tryout for the United States National Team in California later this month.

"This is a great honor for both players, they certainly deserved it," said UMass coach Pam Hixon. "They both had excellent seasons for us."

Sports at a glance

UMass Schedule:
Today:
Men's Basketball: Connecticut, Curry Hicks Cage, 7:30 p.m.
Men's Swimming: Tufts, Boyden Pool, 7 p.m.
Men's Gymnastics: at Lowell, 7 p.m.

The Massachusetts Daily A REGISTERED STUDENT ORGANIZATION NEW ENGLAND S LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY

Collegian

Volume CXV, Issue 62 UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AMHERST (545-3500) Thursday, December 5, 1985

Trustees approve sports arena

Project scheduled for 1990

By LESLEY CLARK
Collegian Staff

WORCESTER — Plans to build a multipurpose arena at the University of Massachusetts moved one step closer to reality yesterday as the Board of Trustees voted to approve the project.

Funding for the $36.6 million project is contingent upon legislative approval. Trustee Andrew Knowles said the University is seeking $17.54 million in capital outlay funds (non-budgeted funds) from the state Legislature, and $17 million in 24-year state Building Authority bonds.

Repayment of the bonds would be due in 1990, when the project is scheduled to be finished. Upon completion, an annual interest fee of $2.1 million will be paid through a mandatory student fee of not more than $50 a semester, Knowles said.

Student Trustee Dani Burgess voted against the plan, calling it detrimental.

"I understand the validity of such a proposal," he said. "But by prioritizing the arena you lessen priorities for other lacking areas, such as sufficient study and work space."

Burgess said he could not support a plan that assumed students could fund the bonds.

"The price is too steep to expect students to afford," he said. "It's inappropriate to assume students can keep paying and paying."

According to David Bischoff, dean of the school of physical education, the proposed 9,000-seat arena would be used for sports, concerts, graduation ceremonies and other University functions.

"There's a general agreement on campus that there is a real need for this facility," he said. "The mob scene at the Cage opening night in and of itself speaks to the desperate need for such a facility."

Previous plans had proposed an ice rink within the arena, although Bischoff said yesterday the University would be considering placing the rink next to the arena because it would be more economical.

Knowles said he hoped the plan would be deliberated by the Massachusetts House Ways and Means Committee by February. Vice-chairman of the committee, William Mullin (D-Ludlow) and House majority leader George Keverian (D-Everett), have both voiced support for the plan.

Collegian photo by Michelle Segall

BEFORE THE CROWDS COME- Ron Bernardos of Springfield Steel Erectors works on the Indoor tennis and track facility at Smith College. The building is set for completion in Aug. 18.

Student senate approves one motion

By JOEL P. COFFIDIS
Collegian Staff

Most of the work at last night's Undergraduate Student Senate meeting was completed at the back of the room, as several senators painted rally signs while the assembly managed to approve only one motion on an eight-page agenda.

The motion passed was the senate's approval of the minutes of the Nov. 20 meeting, which preceded more than 90 minutes debate on Coordinating Committee appointments. After the prolonged debate, quorum was requested and called short by two head counts, thus adjourning the assembly and preventing a vote on the appointments.

During the debate, senators took turns painting 50 signs to be used for today's rally in front of the Student Union Building. The rally, organized by more than 30 student groups, is to protest the administration's attempt to gain more responsibility concerning student funds (Related story, same page).

Debate centered around the senate's Nominating Sub-Committee's appointments of three senators to the Coordinating Committee. The appointments are seen as important because of Coordinating Committee's stature in the senate. The committee is charged with the effective management of SGA by-laws and policies for governing the democratic process in the assembly. In addition, the 17-member committee plans senate meetings and oversees the program staff of the Registered Student Organization Office.

Lynne Murphy, a senator from Washington Tower, spoke against the sub-committee's process of appointing Coordinating Committee members. She added that she was denied a position on certain committees and questioned the motivation behind the appointments.

Joel Rabinowitz, a Nominating Sub-Committee member, urged the senate to approve the nominations. He said all the appointees were qualified senators, and were chosen on those merits only.

The question of whether there was political motivation behind the appointments was debated, with both sides disagreeing before the meeting adjourned two hours early.

Inside

Search committee selected.....3
Advice for student investments.....9
Basketball loses hard.....20

"All of the quirks have been straightened out," —an author of a long-awaited academic grievance policy which goes before the Faculty Senate today.

Trustees to temporarily insure UMass

By LESLEY CLARK
Collegian Staff

WORCESTER — After four days without police liability insurance the University of Massachusetts Board of Trustees yesterday voted to insure the University until an insurance carrier is found.

"These employees are entitled to coverage by their employers," UMass Chancellor Joseph Duffey said. "We must provide interim insurance until negotiations provide us with a carrier."

Police liability insurance, which covers University police for alleged acts of false arrest and assault and battery while on duty, expired Nov. 30. The University declined to renew the insurance at a higher price.

Trustee James Carlin, who voted against the proposal, said the University does not have the money.

"We're voting to assume liability that was previously assumed by a carrier," he said. "The board (Trustees) should go to the state Board of Regents's (of Higher Education) and have them implore the Legislature for money."

Trustee Andrew Knowles said the temporary insurance would be funded through trust funds or University operating expenses. "Its in the best interest of the University to indemnify our employees with the coverage they expect," he said. "As soon as insurance is obtained we don't have a problem.

"Besides," Knowles added, "if litigation should occur it'll take years to resolve."

Knowles said the interim insurance would provide employees with coverage equivalent to the former plan.

In October, the Town of Amherst voted to appropriate $128,500 to establish an account to cover possible claims against the Amherst police department, which had been working without liability insurance since June 30.

Knowles said the state Commissioner of Insurance is working on a solution to liquor liability insurance, which the University lost over the summer.

Rally set today for fund control

By RHONDA SWAN
Collegian Staff

A rally to protest recent efforts by the University of Massachusetts administration to gain more control of the Student Activities Trust Fund will be held at 12:30 p.m. today in front of the Student Union Building.

The trust fund, to which each student pays $88 per year, is the Student Government Association's vehicle for providing resources, services and programs to the campus community.

Students Advocating for Rights Together (START), a new coalition formed in order to reassure its control of the trust fund, is organizing the rally.

According to John Ruddock, speaker of the Undergraduate Student Senate, the rally is an effort to "gather students to respond in a clear and decisive manner to the attempt by the administration, more specifically Randy Donant and Dennis Madson, to usurp the rights of students to exercise authority granted by the University's Board of Trustees."

The board oversees policy conflicts at the University of Massachusetts' Amherst, Boston and Worcester campuses.

Both Donant, the director of student activities, and Madson, the vice-chancellor for student affairs have said they are carrying out a responsibility that has been granted to them by the trustees. They have said that there are no specific trustee documents that give students final fiscal control of the trust fund.

Student officials said the administration has "violated students' rights," and the senate has conducted "business as usual" to counter its actions.

One of the actions is the senate's plan to hold a referendum vote asking approval in raising the student activity fee from $88 to $100 per year on Dec. 11 and 12. A similar question failed earlier this semester, but the required 7.5 percent student turnout didn't occur, thus prompting the new referendum.

WORLD/NATIONAL

AP Laserphoto

TAKING LEAVE- National Security Adviser Robert McFarlane announces his resignation at the White House yesterday, with President Reagan and his successor, Vice Adm. John Poindexter, looking on. Poindexter has been described as a low-key nuclear physicist who shuns the limelight.

Remains of 7 MIA's flown back to U.S. after excavation

HANOI, Vietnam (AP)- U.S. servicemen stood at attention under a hot sun yesterday and saluted as comrades carried seven small wooden crates that Vietnam said contain the remains of Americans killed in the war that ended a decade ago.

A folded American flag was atop each of the crates, which were put aboard a C-141 transport plane at Hanoi's Noi Bai airport for the flight to Honolulu. The remains will be analyzed at the U.S. Joint Casualty Resolution Center there.

Veitnamese officials delivered the remains three days after completion of an unprecedented joint excavation at the spot where an American B-52 crashed during a bombing raid over what was then North Vietnam.

In a short, simple airport ceremony, the Vietnamese also handed over to the U.S. military delegation "material evidence" of 14 other American servicemen, including identificaiton tags.

Officials on both sides said they hoped the excavation and return of remains marked the beginnning of much greater cooperation in accounting for the 1,797 Americans still listed as missing in action in Vietnam.

Ngo Hoang, a Foreign Ministry official, said the remains in the seven crates were found around Hanoi and the nearby port of Haiphong, which were prime targets of an intense U.S. bombing campaign in December 1972. At least 27 American planes were shot down and 93 airmen were killed, captured or reported missing.

Hoang said authorities found no remains in the 14 "material evidence" cases because their planes crashed with severe impact, or villagers had carried the crash remnants away or plowed up the sites to plant crops.

Vietnam has repatriated the remains of 123 Americans since 1974. The last and largest turnover was of 26 sets of remains Aug. 14, all but two of which were positively identified.

The U.S. Army, Air Force and Navy delegation receiving the remains included 13 specialists who completed a two-week excavation of a B-52 crash site at Yen Thuong village near Hanoi on Sunday, working with a Vietnamese team.

Joe Kennedy announces his run for Congress seat

BOSTON (AP)- Flashing a familiar smile, Joseph P. Kennedy II made his political debut yesterday by declaring he'll run for the seat in Congress once held by his uncle John so that he can "fight for the rights of ordinary people."

The 33-year-old son of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy became an instant front-runner in an already crowded field for the Democratic primary next September in the district now represented by House Speaker Thomas P. "Tip" O'Neill Jr. He is retiring after 17 terms.

"This is Joe Kennedy running for office...and no other member of my family," he emphasized at a packed news conference, adding that he would welcome support from his uncle, Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass, and from his many brothers, sisters and cousins.

"I'd like to go to Washington, D.C., because I think we can use the government as a catalyst," Kennedy said.

He attacked President Reagan for military spending for creating a "huge federal deficit."

"The days of taxing and spending are gone. We need to find new ways of creating wealth," Kennedy declared, calling for a federal government that is more efficient.

He stressed his own business experience for the past six years as founder and chairman of the non-profit Citizens Energy Corp., which provides lowcost fuel to the needy. Backed by his wife, Sheila, Kennedy tried to head off questions about his decision to run in a district 20 miles from his home in Marshfield.

Aid to locked-out motorists to stop

NORTHHAMPTON (AP)- Police get an average of three calls a day to aid motorists locked out of vehicles, but now have been ordered to stop helping them beginning Jan.1.

"I don't have the time to start sending officers to locksmith school," Police Chief Daniel L. Labato said Tuesday. He said car locks built since 1984 are so sophisticated that it takes too long for his officers to figure them out. He also said techniques that worked on older locks are liable to damage newer models, which can cost up to $200 to replace.

The department answers more than 1,200 lockout calls a year, said Capt. Leonard J. Helems Jr.

AP Laserphoto

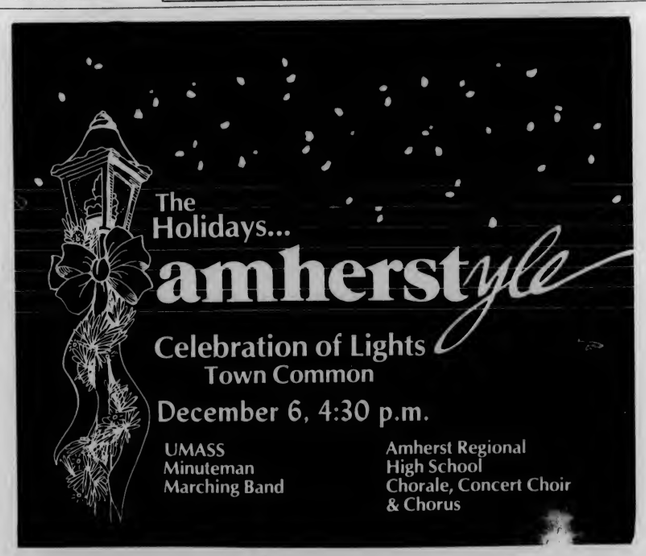
MAN HANDLES TOWER- Space Shuttle Atlantis space walker Sherwood Spring on the end of a robot arm man handling the 45-foot tower that was built in the cargo bay on Sunday.

Embezzlement trial begins

DEDHAM (AP)- the embezzlement trial of suspended Norfolk County Treasurer James M. Collins began yesterday after an angry Superior Court judge said he would not tolerate further delays in the proceeding.

In his opening argument, the assistant district attorney prosecuting the case said he would present witnesses who would describe how Collins forged signatures on checks.

The trial began after several days of argument over Collins' mental capacity, argument which eventually angered the judge.



"The public demands a case of this nature go to trial as quickly as possible," Judge Roger J. Donahue said Tuesday as jury selection got under way. "This is not the ordinary felony case."

Donahue made the statement after Collins attorney, Paul V. Buckley of Newton, threatened to quit unless the trial was delayed, and just before two outbursts by the defendant. Buckley's request was denied.

Today's Staff:

Night Editor	Steve Higgins
Copy Editor	Nancy Stern
Layout Tech	Conor Plunkett
Photo Tech	Michelle Segall
Production Supervisor	Conor Plunkett
Production:	Pamela DiSalvo, Kelly Sieger, Leslie Nakajima, Ken Levenson and Itaru Kato.

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian (USPS permit #58), a Registered Student Organization at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, is published Monday through Friday excluding holidays, exams and vacations periods. Content is determined solely by the Collegian Board of Editors without prior approval from University administrators, faculty or staff. Operations are funded solely by advertising and subscription revenue. Subscriptions and advertising rates are available at 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Mass. 01003. (413) 545-3500. Postmaster: send address changes to the above address.

Collegian photo by Michelle Segall

WHERE DO YOU WANT THIS?- Jacob Dolinger, 11, carts unwanted merchandise through Northampton center that his mother is donating to a low-income distribution center.

Search committee is formed

A search committee to find a new director for the Affirmative Action and Equal Opportunity (AA/EO) office will be formally seated next week, Provost Richard O'Brien said.

Formal invitations to sit on the committee will be sent this week to faculty, staff and students.

"There are huge numbers of individuals and groups which have been consulted as to who should be seated on the committee," O'Brien said Tuesday, but he declined to reveal individuals' names.

The committee will consist of about 12 people, O'Brien said.

The Provost is also forming an AA/EO advisory committee, which will be seated separately from the search committee. The advisory committee will help the search committee in developing a 'functions and functioning' paper for the AA/EO office. The paper will also be a basis on which the search committee will work.

A 'functions and functioning' paper is a document which would define the capacities and objectives of the AA/EO office. Since its inception in the early 1970s, the office has never had any formal paper of this kind.

O'Brien has drafted a preliminary version of the paper, which he will submit to the advisory committee for discussion and review.

— JILL LANG

Policy, plan to go before faculty senate

●Faculty senate to vote on plan changes

By SUSAN EATON
Collegian Staff

After being inactive for almost a year, the Academic Priorities Council of the University of Massachusetts Faculty Senate has made recommendations to Provost Richard O'Brien which determine what will happen to faculty positions after they are vacated by retired professors. The Faculty Senate will vote on these recommendations for modifying the provost's Long Range Plan today.

"This is important because the faculty has been brought into this process," said Council Chairman George Armelagos. "In the past, the Provost has made such decisions independently. I feel this shows a real spirit of cooperation."

In a special report requested by O'Brien, the Council said it expects 186 retirements during the next five years, and that these retirements are expected "to generate potential growth from savings from difference in salary of retirees and the salary of faculty members hired to replace them." According to the report, O'Brien maintains that there is a potential of 47 positions that can be generated from such savings.

Armelagos explained that savings come from the hiring of faculty members whose salary is usually lower than that of the person who retired.

O'Brien's Long Range Plan, the report says is "quite modest" in that it proposes to transfer only 18 positions. This means that in 18 instances, when a professor retires from one school/college, his/her position will be 'reallocated' to a different school/college. But, since the colleges in most instances will retain the positions generated from the savings, the "impact of the transfers will be lessened." The only colleges that will experience net decreases in positions is Physical Education (1 percent) and the School of Education (3 percent).

● Faculty senate to view grievance policy

By LESLEY CLARK
Collegian Staff

The Undergraduate Academic Grievance Procedure, designed to provide students at the University of Massachusetts with an appeals process, comes to a vote today at the Faculty Senate meeting after more than seven years of work.

The proposal seeks to provide students with a process by which academic differences can be resolved.

"Undergraduates are one of the only groups on campus who do not have a formal grievance channel," said Gayle Wintjen, former chairwoman of the Academic Affairs committee which authored the proposal. "Undergraduates have never had a grievance policy."

Students may use the policy to address problems with grades or "incidences in classrooms in which students feel unfairly treated," Wintjen said.

She said the policy emphasizes informal methods of resolving problems.

"It mandates that a student must iniate some conversation with the professor," she said. If the problem is not resolved through contact with the professor, it is channeled through the omsbuds' office which acts as a liason between the student and professor.

"If all avenues of informal communication have been exhausted, the omsbud will convene a hearing board," Wintjen said. The board's decision is final.

Wintjen said the proposal has the support of the administration and the Academic Matters Council of the Faculty Senate.

"All of the quirks in the proposal have been straightened out," she said. "I'm hoping the only opposition to the proposal is from professors who have not taken the time to read it."

Producer to discuss China

By JOE SHARTRAND
Collegian Staff

Dianne Harrison, an independent film producer, will show footage of China's restricted religious center, at 7:30 p.m. today, in the Commuter Lounge of the Student Union, and then she will discuss her experiences in China.

The Counseling Center at Berkshire House and the Union Video Center are sponsoring the presentation of Harrison's video, "One Woman's China." Harrison is one of the few Westerners who have been allowed to video tape China's remote religious centers, according to Ted Slovin, associate director of the Counseling Center.

"Harrison comes from a counseling background," according to Michael Gowell, coordinator of Union Video Center. "She got into video as a second career and is now a New York University student," Gowell said. "She was a licensed family counselor."

Harrison will be on campus because of her career switch from counselor to producer and because of her expertise in video.

"She came to visit Ted Slovin and he asked her if she wanted to do a video presentation," Gowell said. "One of the reasons we brought her to campus was because she switched careers," Slovin said, "and is using media as a way of enhancing intercultural communication." She is an expert on media and could help advise students and faculty on using the media to help in counselling students, according to Slovin.

"Her program (on china) has already been on ABC-TV," said Slovin. "Her videos existed as raw footage until she met with Peter Jennings," Gowell said. Jennings persuaded Harrison to edit her videos into a number of short documentaries.

"Her presentation will be a good real-life experiential account for union video members," Gowell said.

Collegian Photo By Brian Guarnotta

KOSHER FOOD- An mural contest enrty by University of Massachusetts student John Moebes, to be judged by Rabbi Saul Perlmutter of the University Hillel Foundation and instructors in the University fine arts program. The prize for the best mural is $100.

Speaker presents plan for stable peace

By PAMELA BURRELL
Collegian Staff

Complete abolition of nuclear arms is the key to stable peace, a director of a disarmament institute said last night in a speech at Amherst College.

Randall Forsberg, originator of the nuclear weapons freeze proposal and Director of the Institute for Defense and Disarmament Studies in Brooklyn, Mass., was the fourth speaker in a series of lectures on new approaches to peace and world security, sponsored by the Five College Program in Peace and World Security Studies.

Forsberg's plan calls for a nuclear freeze by the year 1990. Parts of the plan would follow in 10-year spans, the next decade bringing a bi-lateral end to intervention in third world affairs. The next step would be an abolishment of nuclear weapons and a reduction of conventional weapons to shortrange borderguards, she said.

"As long as the great powers use conventional forces for marginal gains or to avoid marginal losses politically or economically in the third world," Forsberg said, "as long as they are so free with their use of force--I wouldn't trust them not to go to war over something important."

Admitting that her plan is "longterm" Forsberg said, "We've been working 45 years on the shortcut and we're making negative progress.

"Unless we have long range capabilities used to put down political change we will not have a stable peace," she said.

Forsberg analogizes her prediction for Eastern Europe to be like "Fin!andization." This means that the Soviet Union would not discuss political change or party politics with Eastern Europe except under direct military threat.

As for the United States, Forsberg said despite a call for an arms freeze, President Reagan has doubled the number of nuclear weapons. Politicians from the two major parties cannot imagine a future without nuclear arms, Forsberg said, and most have not even thought about it.

CHANUKAH CELEBRATION
Sunday, December 8th, 7 pm

- Candle Lighting
- Latkes
- Trivia Contest
- Music

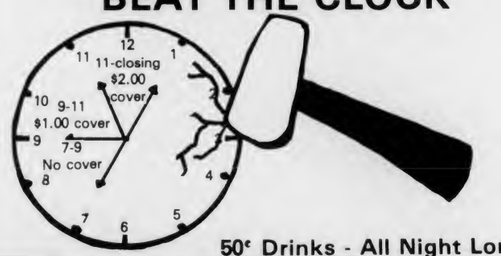
5 - 7 pm — Help make Latkes in Earthfoods Kitchen
FREE ADMISSION
Sponsored by B'nai B'rith Hillel
Cape Cod Lounge, Student Union

家湖園南
Hunan Garden Restaurant
MANDARIN/SZECHUEN CUISINE
"The BEST Chinese Food"

Boneless Bar-B-Q Spare Ribs
Small $2.80 or Large $4.60

Luncheon Specials
From $2.25 served 11 a.m. -3 p.m.

New Buffet & Sunday Brunch
Buffet Served 5-8 Mon.-Thurs.
Brunch Served Sunday 11:30-3
ALL YOU CAN EAT $5.25



1) Beef with Fresh Mushrooms
2) Chicken Fingers
3) Chicken Wings
4) Chinese BBQ Pork
5) Broccoli in Oyster Sauce
6) Sweet & Sour Chicken
7) Pan Fried Rice
8) Pan Fried Noodles with Chicken
9) Pan Fried Ravioli
10) Hot + Sour Soup

Luncheon Specials & Take-out Service
Full Cocktail Menu
Sun.-Thurs. 11:30 a.m.-10 p.m.
Fri. & Sat. 11:30 a.m.-11 p.m.

10 Belchertown Road at Rte. 9, Amherst
256-0252

20 Shopping Days till Christmas and only
6 days till the Collegian Special Holiday Edition

JUSTIN RYAN'S
BEAT THE CLOCK

50¢ Drinks - All Night Long!

TRADER FRED'S
LABELS FOR LESS
ONLY 22 DAYS TO GO

Men's Leather Work Boots
Reg. 48.00 Our Price 24.95 — Special 19.99
Ladies 100% Cotton Oxfords
Reg Price to 22.99 — Special 8.99
Men's Union Bay Corduroy
Reg. Price 32.00 — Special 15.99
Ladies' Assorted Shaker Sweaters
Reg. Price 32.00 — Special 15.59

Don't Forget. . .Trader Fred's Great Gift Idea!
Chamois Shirts
2 for $25. or 3 for $29

MEN'S
Union Bay Denim Jackets Reg. $68 — Our Price 29.99
Petroleum Black Denim Jeans Reg. 38.00 — Our Price 19.99

LADIES
Ladies' Palmettos Denim Jeans Reg. 38.00 — Our Price 14.99
Ladies Forenza Denim Jeans Reg. 38.00 — Our Price 15.99

LADIES
Ladies Chamois Shirts Reg. 22.00 — Our Price $14.99 or 2 for $25
Ladies Gitano Cords Reg. 28.00 — Our Price 14.99

Famous Name Brand
100% Cotton Afghans Reg. to $48.00 Our Price 24.95

48 North Pleasant St., Amherst in the new Tucker Taft Building
Mon.-Sat. 9:30-9
Sun. 12-5
253-7155

Student put in custody; chevy catches on fire

A 19-year-old student was put into protective custody Tuesday night after he broke a pool cue in the basement of Thatcher House, University of Massachusetts police said.

The man was allegedly drunk and fighting with the head of residence and residential assistants because he refused to pay for the cue. Police asked him to leave the area and told him "to go to bed," and when he refused he was put into protective custody, police said.

In other police reports:

The contents of a rubbish barrel caught fire Tuesday night in the basement of Baker House. The barrel was dragged outside. "It was most likely caused by careless disposal of smoking materials," police said.

A 20-year-old student was taken to the University Health Services late Tuesday night after she injured her head on the corridor of the fourth floor of Coolidge Tower. She was wrestling in the hall with a male friend, he spun her around and hit her head on the wall, police said.

A 1980 Cheverolet caught fire Tuesday morning in parking lot 31. The fire was extinguished by the owner of the car, police said.

—JEANETTE DeFORGE

Entertainer to discuss AIDS

Entertainer David Summers, who has contracted Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS), will visit the University campus to discuss AIDS with students and other members of the University community.

Summers will speak at 7 p.m. tonight in Campus Center Room 101. A question and answer period will be led by Summer and Dr. Paul Berman of the University Health Services.

In the last 18 months, Summer has appeared on the three major television networks, the Phil Donahue Show, the Cable News Network and the British Broadcasting Corporation.

Summer will also speak to students at 4 p.m. today at the Lesbian, Bisexual and Gay Alliance in the Student Union. Summer's visit is sponsored by the Program for Gay, Lesbian and Bisexual Concerns.

Ambassador speaks on U.N.

Canadian Ambassador and Permanent Representative to the United Nations Stephen Lewis will speak about the United Nations in his lecture, 'Whether the United Nations Now.'

The lecture will take place at 8 p.m. tonight in Thompson Hall room 102 at the University of Massachusetts. The lecture is sponsored by the Five College Canadian Studies Program and the Amherst chapter of the United Nations Association.

The lecture is part of the Canadian studies program's "From a Canadian Perspective" lecture series.

Tenant's union to meet

The Puffton Village Tenants' Union will meet at 7 p.m. today in Room 164 of the Campus Center to discuss Union strategies, new extermination efforts, and the meeting with Puffton Village management.

The Puffton Village Tenants' Union was organized in response to tenants' complaints of the cockroach infestation that exists in some Puffton rental units and to aid in making Puffton residents aware of their rights as tenants. All Puffton tenants are eligible to join the union and are encouraged to attend today's meeting.

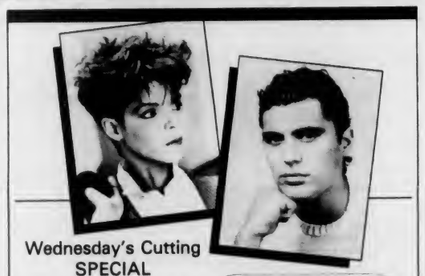
TONIGHT AT
CHANGES Dance Club

Pearl Harbors $1.25 ... PEARL ... HARBOR ... WEEK ... Kamikazes $1.25

Rt. 9 Amherst 256-8284

NOW OPEN
Riverboat Village
APARTMENTS, SOUTH HADLEY.
1, 2 or 3 BEDROOM UNITS
BEAUTIFUL MODELS FURNISHED BY CHAP DELAINES & EPSTEIN FURNITURE CO
•Swimming Pool •Tennis Court •Club House •Shuffle Board Court
FINANCED BY MHFA
LEASED ON OPEN OCCUPANCY BASIS
OPEN SEVEN DAYS A WEEK
10 AM - 4 PM
PHONE 532-9461
532-9462
CALL FOR DIRECTIONS

Riverboat Village
River Lodge Rd.
So. Hadley, MA 01075



FREE! COMEDY CABARET NIGHT FREE!
Fran Solomita &
OPEN MIKE CONTEST
bring your best for worst) jokes - Prizes
HAMPDEN SNACK BAR
THURS Dec 5 9pm

SPORT Style
"Teddy" Sweatshirts

11.95 12.95
Photographer Dwayne Autery

Located in the Campus Center
Open M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3
UNIVERSITY STORE

Wednesday's Cutting SPECIAL
Women. $12
reg. $18
Men. $10
reg. $16
LORD'S & LADY'S HAIR SALONS
The Hampshire Mall • 586-7913

MONEY MOTIVATED?

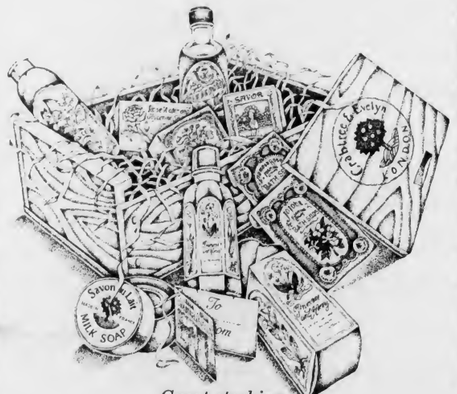
If You Are Enthusiastic, Have A Strong Clear Speaking Voice and Have the Confidence to Prove What it Takes, Keep Reading This

We are a Major Industrial Tool Company Expanding a new office in Amherst, Mass. Telemarketing is the future successful road to sales in the 1980's, and we are growing rapidly. 3 shifts allow you to work around your schedule, and you can earn up to $10.00 per hour while training. There are still 25 positions available. Salary + Commissions + Bonuses. For an appointment, Call 7 AM-7 PM, Dave 413-256-4101

20 Shopping Days till Christmas and only 6 days till the Collegian Special Holiday Edition

UTOPIA SPAS

CHRISTMAS IS ALMOST HERE AND THIS IS A GREAT GIFT IDEA!



SEND A HOT TUB THRU THE MAIL

TO: NAME_____
ADDRESS_____
_____
FROM: NAME_____
ADDRESS_____
TELEPHONE_____
VISA/MC/AMEX #_____

Tub for 2 people for ☐ 1 hour ($22.00) ☐ ½ hour ($14.00)
We'll mail it to you or for you, if you like!
Or stop by and pick one up!

Send check, money order or VISA/MC/AMEX to:
UTOPIA SPAS
175 University Dr.
Amherst, MA 01002
(413) 253-7727

We specialize in custom designed gift baskets!

Great stocking stuffers, too!

CRABTREE & EVELYN

71 N. Pleasant St.
Amherst 253-9561

Hours:
M-W 10 - 6:00
Th & Fr 10 - 8:00
Sat 10 - 5:00
Sun 12 - 5:00

Spread some Holiday Cheer send a friend a Collegian Holiday Classified

Get your ad in the Special Holiday Edition on Dec. 11.
Come to Campus Center Room 113 from Dec. 2 to Dec. 6

Daily

— Collegian —

Ticket Connection

"YOUR CONNECTION FOR THE BEST SEATS AT THE BEST PRICES"
tickets on sale now:
ROGER DALTRY dec 8
RUSH fri dec 13
SADE thu dec 5
KISS - BILLY CRYSTAL
whalers and bruins home games
mon-fri 10-6 pm 1-788-6938

Happy Holiday

CHINESE KITCHEN
FAST FOOD RESTAURANT
興旺樓
Eat In or Take Out Hours
Sunday Noon to 10 PM
Mon-Sat 11:30 AM to 10 PM

Pu-Pu Platter $12.00

Try Our Luncheon-Dinner Specials
Only $1.49 before 3 PM, $1.90 after 3 PM

2 LOCATIONS:
430 Russell St (Rt 9) Hadley 253-2571
150 King St, Northampton 586-8220

Writing center provides relief to students

By JULIE M. BENNETT
Collegian Correspondent

As the end of the semester approaches, students who are frustrated by seemingly insurmountable term papers may seek relief at the University of Massachusetts's Writing Center.

The center operates on a drop-in basis and provides services both for the students who want objective tutoring and for the tutors who learn about teaching and writing. Valerie Traub, a Ph.D. candidate in literature at the University, runs the Center and teaches the peer tutors who staff it.

Peer tutors receive 3 credits for their work, through an independent study course offered through the English department.

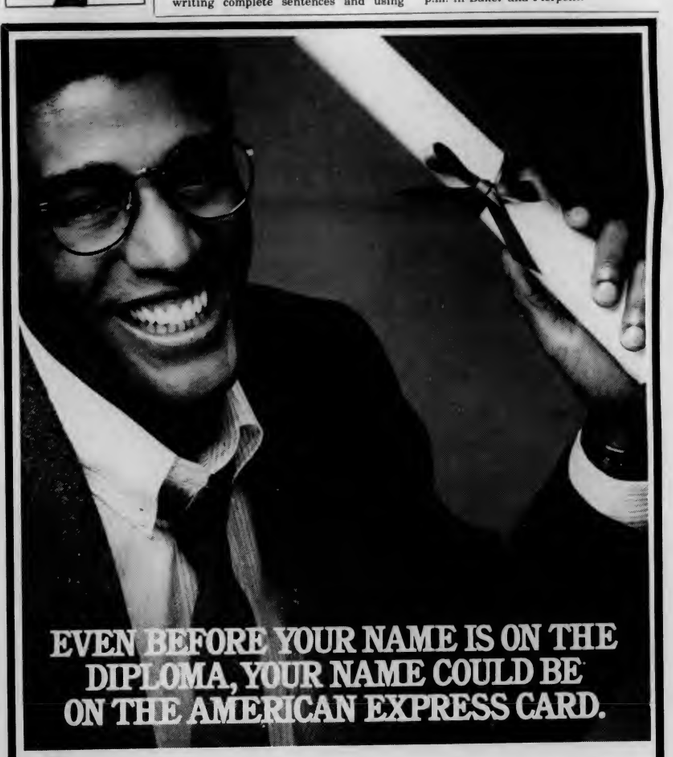
"Our (the center's) role is not to come between teachers and students, but rather to help students understand what the expectations (of a teacher) are and how he or she could fulfill them," Traub said. "It is the tutor's job to try and bring out what someone has to say, either through encouragement and support or through being challenging and provocative."

Most clients "need help on thinking up topics, organizing and creating workable structures, and focusing on material," Traub said. Even experienced writers could still use help which focuses on form, voice and style, she said.

The center is also helps people who are having difficulty with basic skills such as writing complete sentences and using tenses and pronouns correctly. But since the drop-in center is unprepared to provide a student with the same tutor each time, Traub suggests that students who want to work with one tutor are "in some ways are better off with a personal tutor who is going to help them week after week."

"Most people who come in are initially apprehensive," she said, "they don't know what it's about and they don't know if they're going to get criticized. Most of them have been criticized a lot. Once they see it's a good thing, though, they come back."

Christopher Muise, a junior political science major, said he "had trouble expressing two sides of an argument. I came for help to write more objectively and have a broader perspective of the topic." He said the tutor helped him by suggesting points from the other side that he had not realized before.



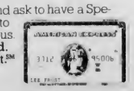
Traub said the director of the Writing Program, Charles Moran, supports the center and recommends it. She said the support she receives comes from faculty members who already know her and "stop to give thanks for helping a student. But it's very informal," she said.

The Center is staffed by 15 tutors and operates 10 and a half hours a week. It is open Monday 7-9 p.m. in Baker basement and Pierpont classroom, Tuesday 3:30-5 p.m. in Bartlett 101, Wednesday 3:30-5 p.m. and 7-9 p.m. in Bartlett 101, and Thursday 3:30-5 p.m. in Bartlett and 7-9 p.m. in Baker and Pierpont.

UMass Ski Club
Bush Bash
SUGARBUSH VALLEY
Jan. 19 - 24

YOU NEED A VACATION
SIGN-UP NOW
UMass Ski Club
430 Student Union
For more info
call 545-3437
Final payments due Dec. 15th

EVEN BEFORE YOUR NAME IS ON THE DIPLOMA, YOUR NAME COULD BE ON THE AMERICAN EXPRESS CARD.



It's not too long until you'll be walking up to get your degree. But there's something you could get right now that will help you in any walk of life. The American Express® Card.

Because if you're a senior and you've accepted a $10,000 career-oriented job, you could get the American Express Card.

That's it. No strings. No gimmicks. (And even if you don't have a job right now, don't worry. This offer is still good for 12 months after you graduate.) This is a special offer from American Express because, as graduating seniors, we think you're kind of special. In fact, we believe in your future. And this is the best way we know to prove it.

Of course, the American Express Card will prove to be a great help to you in your career -- for travel and for entertaining. And, to entertain yourself, you can use it to buy some new clothes for work or some new things for home. In addition, the Card is also a great way to help you begin to establish your credit history.

So call 1-800-THE-CARD and ask to have a Special Student Application sent to you. Or look for one on campus. The American Express Card. Don't leave school without it.℠

© 1985 American Express Travel Related Services Company, Inc.

SUPERIOR PIZZA
Simply Superior Pizza
FAST, FREE DELIVERY
17 Montague Rd.
North Amherst
549-0626
With any Large or Small Pizza, get second item
FREE
Expires Dec. 21, 1985

D.S.O.
The Dyslexic Student Organization
Room 69 Bartlett Hall
University of Massachusetts, Amherst
Telephone 545-0018
(Registered Student Organization)
Credit Free COLLOQUIUM
Presenters:
Dr. Shirley M. De Shields and Judith Udes Herrell
SUBJECT:
Learning Differences:
Dyslexia and the college student
DATE: Thursday, December 5, 1985
TIME: 8:00 p.m.
PLACE: Room 165 Campus Center

Change your tires NOW . . .
$4.99 per pair
Alignment and balancing available
North Amherst Tire & Auto Center
Full Service Tire Store
549-4704

SALE
Pre Xmas
25% Off
Everything
Lodestone
4th thru 14th

UNWANTED HAIR?
Have it removed the Electronic Way!
Call NEW REFLECTIONS
586-8371
No Needles, No Pain, No Hair

RENT A WRECK
New & Used Cars
Trucks & Vans Also Available
North Amherst
Rent-A-Wreck
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880

Joe's Paradise
GOURMET FRIED CHICKEN
The crunchiest, crispiest, tastiest fried chicken and piping hot biscuits.
Single pieces or Paradise Pacs of up to 20 delicious pieces.
Also fresh pocket sandwiches, salads and desserts.
Eat in or take out orders
All fresh chicken prepared with natural ingredients, fried in pure peanut oil.
Downtown Amherst 31 Boltwood Walk (through the alley, next to Taco Villa).
253-7494

GOLD SALE
Gold! Gold! Gold! Gold! Gold! Gold! Gold! Gold!
60% OFF
on 14k Gold Chains and Earrings
14k Gold Bracelet
Regular $42.00 NOW $16.00
14k Gold 18" Chain
Regular $80.00 NOW $29.00
14k Gold Earrings
Regular $28.00 NOW $12.00
Many other Fabulous Savings Available
FOR ONE WEEK ONLY
Mon. Dec. 2 thru Sat. Dec 7
Located in the Campus Center
Open M-F 9-5 Sat 10-3
UNIVERSITY STORE

SPORTSWEAR
Factory Outlet
Next to Super Stop & Shop
Route 9 Hadley, MA
All
N.F.L. Football
MLBB Baseball
50-75% OFF
Sweat Shirts Reg. $32.00 NOW $15.
Beer Mugs Reg. $17. NOW $4.00
NFL Telephones Reg. $65.00 NOW $25.
Stadium Blankets Reg. $32.00 NOW $10.
Wall Plaques Reg. $14.00 NOW $4.00
Infant Wear Reg. $22.00 NOW $9.99
Coffee Mugs Reg. $8.00 NOW $2.00
Toddler NFL Wear Reg. $13.00 NOW $6.99
NFL Back Packs Reg. $18.00 NOW $5.00
Plus much, much more!

FOCUS BUSINESS

$tudent $ense

By Christine Hughes and Peter Rice

When most people hear the term "investment," they conjure up thoughts of slick real estate deals, or huge Wall Street stock transactions. But that's not always what investing is.

To invest your money simply means to put it to use in the most profitable way. As a college student you may not be among a class reknown for wealth, but that doesn't mean that you can't begin investing now. While there are literally hundreds of things that you could invest in, we'll only mention a few of the best for someone with currently limited funds.

One feasible investment for a student is a mutual fund. The purpose of a mutual fund is to pool the funds of many investors in order to buy a variety of instruments. This type of investment is an attractive one for a number of reasons.

First, it allows for the diversification into many different areas which wouldn't normally be available to an individual investor with a relatively small amount of money. For example, if you had invested $500 in a mutual fund you would essentially have invested $1 in each stock. By having your investment spread out like this, the relative risk on return is lowered.

Second, a mutual fund is usually actively managed by financially experienced and devoted professionals. This helps to ensure the best investment of your money. Third, a mutual fund tends to be less expensive to get in and out of than individual stocks or bonds. Many mutual funds are "no-load" funds, which means there is not a fee charged to buy or sell them. Although many mutual funds have minimum investment levels of $1000, there are plenty of opportunities available with levels of at least half that.

If you are looking for an investment with a more precise and certain return, you many be interested in a certificate of deposit, or a CD, as they are often called. A CD is the investment of a fixed amount of money for a pre-determined length of time, resulting in a specific return.

CD's are offered by almost all financial institutions at various, competitive rates of interest. The minimum amount of investment is usually between $500 and $2500, and is generally held for a period of three to six months.

The advantage of a CD is that you can determine at the time you invest exactly how much you will have earned when the CD matures (when its term of investment has elapsed). CD's tend to be quite safe investments, as long as the institutions offering them are stable organizations.

If your idea of investing is more along the lines of "playing the market," fine. But be prepared for anything, because the stock market would be through the use of a discount broker. By picking low prices as recommended, you could buy a respectable amount of stock for only a few hundred dollars. If you are fortunate enough to select the "right" stocks, the potential for return becomes unlimited.

Before taking on an investment of this sort, it is imperative that you understand one thing about the stock market. The different factors and forces that cause price movements are dependent on an almost infinite number of things. Even the people who invest in the market professionally and have been doing so for a long time, have no guarantee that their selections will perform as expected. The stock market does not offer the same safety or certainty that the previously mentioned investments do.

Christine Hughes and Peter Rice are former managers of the UMass Student Federal Credit Union.

Students have investment options

Reagan accepts resignation of Dynamics head

WASHINGTON (AP)- President Reagan "reluctantly" agreed to relieve NASA Administrator James Beggs of his duties pending disposition of charges that Beggs defrauded the government while an official of General Dynamics Corp., the White House announced yesterday.

In brief written statement issued shortly before Reagan was to appear publicly to announce a change of national security advisers, spokesman Larry Speakes said Beggs asked Reagan to be granted a leave of absence and the president agreed.

It was not immediately clear whether Beggs would continue to be paid pending trial on the felony indictment announced Monday.

::While reluctantly acceding to the request, the president has asked Mr. Beggs to assist temporarily in the orderly transition of his responsibilities to his colleagues at NASA to facilitate continuity of management at this critically important agency," the statement said. "Mr. Beggs has agreed to do so."

The spokesman said the space program "has been revitalized" under Beggs' leadership, and "this important record must be continued."

An administration and a congressional source said the acting NASA administrator would be Dr. William R. Graham, a California research executive who became deputy administrator only last week.

Monday's indictment named Beggs and three other former or present General Dynamics Corp. officers on charges they tried to hide cost overruns on an Army project by shifting the costs from a non-reimbursable category to one in which the government would pay the firm.

FAMOUS NAME BRANDS WATCH SALE!
• BENRUS
• GRUEN
• TISSOT
• JULES JURGENSEN
• HELBROS
• CLINTON
• WALTHAM • DUFONTE by LUCIEN PICCARD
• HAMILTON-BUREN
• OTHER FAMOUS BRANDS
FEATURING: ANALOG QUARTZ • DIAMONDS - TWO • DIAMONDS - FOUR • DIAMONDS - SIX • MESH BRACELETS • FASHION LINK • SPORTS • NURSE-SWEEP SECOND • DRESS • AUTOMATIC DAY & DATE • AUTOMATIC CALENDAR • ALARM-CHRONOGRAPH-L.C.D. • POCKET WATCHES • ELECTRICS
YOUR CHOICE
$ 39.95
Available at The Jewelry Counter
M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3
not all models are available
Located in the Campus Center
UNIVERSITY STORE

SPORT Style
Champion Hooded Sweatshirt
$16.95
S-M-L-XL
Colors: Navy White Maroon Grey Scarlet

Open M-F 9-5 Sat 10-3
Located in the Campus Center
UNIVERSITY STORE

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian

ED/OP

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted.

Founded in 1870

Executive Board—Fall 1985

Dode B. Levenson, Editor in Chief
Anne McCrory, Managing Editor
Larry Bouchie, Editorial Editor
Peter Soderberg, Production Manager
Elizabeth Young, Business Manager
Sherry Sharfman, Business Manager

Board of Editors—Fall 1985

Dode B. Levenson, Editor in Chief
Anne McCrory, Managing Editor
Tom Middleton, News Editor
Larry Bouchie, Editorial Editor
Renee Bacher, Arts Editor
Peter Abraham, Sports Editor
Derek Roberts, Photo Editor
Bethanne Mookos, Women's Issue Editor
Kimberly Burge, Black Affairs Editor

The time for action

An unprecedented coalition of student groups is holding a rally at 12:30 p.m. today on the Student Union steps to protest the administration's latest effort to impose its will upon the Student Activities Trust Fund.

Though faced with a formidable task, Students Advocating Rights Together may soon regain budgetary control of the SATF (a privilege which the Undergraduate Student Senate has previously enjoyed), by the simple virtue of the unique diversity and unity of such radically different organizations.

START represents more than 30 student groups, including the Undergraduate and Graduate Student Senates, the UMass Republican Club, the University Democrats, the Commuter Area Governing Board, the Southwest Area Government, the Student Center for Educational Research and Advocacy, the Radical Student Union, the Legal Services Governing Board, the Third World Caucus, the UMass Peacemakers, Students for Participatory Democracy, the Women's Caucus, and the Jewish Caucus.

While we are sometimes dismayed by the behavior of the senate, and while we recognize that there is indeed a fiscal crisis within the SATF, we reject the administrative response -- a laundry list of seven policies which are non-negotiable and for which no recent effort was made to solicit student input.

And, while the argument rages about to whom the University Board of Trustees has delegated SATF authority, neither students nor administrators can expect to settle this dispute by continually pointing to trustee documents which offer seemingly contradictory explanations.

The time has come for responsible action by both students and administrators.

First, all students must make an effort to attend the rally to demonstrate their support for their elected student leaders, for our student government cannot accomplish much without that support.

Secondly, the campus administration and the senate must agree on a more reasonable forum to discuss this matter in a more rational, less explosive, and less adversarial manner.

Little will be accomplished if administrators refuse to discuss the policies further, and even less will be accomplished if the student body cannot muster a simple show of support, especially in light of the unity of their diverse leadership.

Unsigned policy editorials reflect the majority opinion of the Collegian Board of Editors.

Contrary to literature being distributed by START, the Collegian has never authorized the use of its name within the volumnious list of RSOs included under the title "...so you won't see these anymore!" Also, the Collegian is completely independent fiscally from the SAO, the SGA and the University administration. The Collegian is funded by advertising and subscription revenue alone. — the Editor.

Infamy from firebomb fury

William Spain

COLUMBO, Sri Lanka--For years, this South Asian island was considered by foreign travelers to be one of the most tranquil and benign locations on Earth. Explorers and merchants of centuries past would carry on about the peace and beauty to be found in what they called Serendib. Recently, it has been becoming an increasingly popular spot for European tourists. With all the miles of palm-fringed beaches, archaeological wonders, and spectacular wildlife reserves to be found here, it is not hard to understand why.

In the last two years, that image has been shot to hell. Little about Sri Lanka is now reported in the West except for ambushes, curfews, and assorted acts of terrorism. The suffering that these events have wrought here is multiplied by the knowledge that they are giving the country a bad name. Nobody likes to see their nation associated only with armed conflict.

Nothing gets a place more noticed in the international press than acts of violence within its borders. The history, culture, aspirations, and achievements of the world's countries are rarely offered by the media for the enlightenment of the general populace. It is not until the bodies start piling up that news is made.

For instance, how many millions of Americans thought that Lebanon was in Pennsylvania or New Hampshire until the bullets were flying in Beirut? Quite a few, I would bet. Similarly, there is the case of South Africa. Most of us (including Dan Rather and his ilk) were content to live in blessed ignorance before a few random firebombs grew into the conflagration that plays before us now. There are many questions but few satisfactory answers as to why this is so.

Perhaps the most puzzling of them is where to lay the blame. A lot of journalists would probably say violence and tragedy are what people like to hear about most. If that is true, it would account not only for the fascination with international strife but also for the gruesome relish with which domestic crime news is reported to the public. Media consumers can express their horror and disgust, all the while making sure not to miss the smallest detail of the carnage.

It is clear that the media have a responsibility to cover the dark side of human nature. To play it down or dismiss it would be a betrayal of the calling. What needs to be more thoroughly considered is the problem of weighing benefits and damages. Is it fair or just to spread news of unrest in a country without considering the possible repercussions? In Sri Lanka, these have been extensive. Tourism has dropped off sharply in the wake of reports about insurgent activities and government countermeasure. This has been a disastrous blow to a developing economy beginning to reap the foreign exchange benefits brought by wealthy vacationers.

I do not think that many reporters worry about such things. Nor am I convinced that they should. Covering only good news is something best left to the government-controlled media of dictatorships. The unfettered state of American journalism allows all aspects of human interaction to be duly reported. To neglect the inevitable conflicts that arise would be irresponsible and dishonest, but to concentrate on them alone can produce an even more distorted view of the already sad state of world affairs.

William Spain is a Collegian columnist.

The fight for rights is now

Marc Kenen

Students. Today is the day where we must address ourselves to the administration's attempt to takeover our $1.8 million Student Activities Trust Fund.

As we join together in this fight we can gain much strength from looking at history. Students, just like you and I, fought tooth and nail for years to gain control of this money. They fought to establish the Legal Services Office to protect us from unlawful acts by administrators and police officers; they fought to build SCERA to battle unfair tuition increases and oppressive acts by members of the community; they fought to build Off-Campus Housing to help us struggle for fair and equitable housing; and they fought for the Office of Third World Affairs to gain a voice for minority students on this campus.

None of these were given to us by the administration. Students fought and they won. But now the administration tries to take it all away.

It is no accident they try this deceitful act during this time of the semester. They know we are all very busy with our school work. And well we should be. But, alas, they have issued a challenge and we must respond. We must act for those who came before us; we must act for the 25,000 of us here; and we must act for our brothers and sisters who will follow us in the future.

Student power rests in our numbers, our unity and our commitment. Without these we have nothing. In planning today's rally we have seen students, torn by strife and ideological differences, unite in this struggle. Conservatives working with progressives, putting aside our differences because they are just that, our differences. This is a diverse student body and the many viewpoints are well represented. But we all have one thing in common; the right to decide what is done with our money.

If we lose this fight the results will be catastrophic. Over time they will dismantle the LSO. They will disempower our advocates fighting tuition increases. They will set us back 20 years in the fight to determine our own lives.

Student power comes from the uniting of individuals into a cohesive, committed group. The rally today is only the beginning. It will serve to form this group. It is what happens after the rally that will determine our future. We must take the energy and the unity of the rally and turn it into power.

It is a hard part of the school year to imagine devoting valuable energy towards having to fight administrators who are hired to work FOR you and not AGAINST you. But we have no choice. Either we do it now or we lose our money. Together we cannot be defeated. And the time for talk is over. The time for action is here.

Marc Kenan is a teaching assistant for the Legal Services Office.

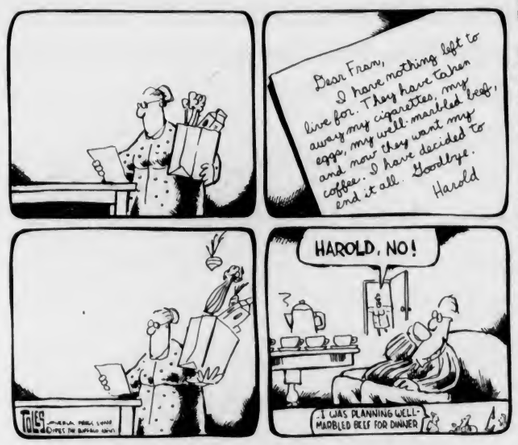
Getting the real story

Peter Dow

It is usually not my policy to respond to a letter to the editor concerning one of my columns; however, the letter by John Hayes ("Get It Straight," Nov. 24) deserves a response. Hayes' letter, rather than making substantative arguments to refute my Nov. 21 column, immerses itself in polemical rhetoric. Instead of responding to my column, the letter simply serves to perpetuate myths which the American left claim as truth.

One immediately knows that Hayes is wearing his own political "blinders" when he naively states that "all murder and torture in Nicaragua is being carried out by the freedom fighters." In order to reach such a preposterous conclusion, Hayes' only source of "information" must be Sandinista propaganda. Hayes obviously has not investigated the many thousands of accounts of Sandinista torture and murder that have been documented by the Nicaraguan Permanent Commission for Human Rights. Hayes also ignores the repeated Sandinista violence against the Catholic Church, the Miskito Indians, the independent trade unions, and other opposition groups.

Many incidents of Sandinista brutality are reported consistently by such respected newspapers as The Wall Street Journal, The New York Times, and The Boston Globe. in addition, I have repeatedly written columns in this space detailing instances of Sandinista repression, which Hayes claims never happened. It is indeed unfortunate that Hayes' own blinders have forced him to develop a warped sense of reality in Nicaragua.



Hayes claims that the Sandinistas are "a popularly elected government which in the last 6 years has done more to improve the quality of life in Nicaragua than 100 years of U.S. supported dictatorships." First, one has to question the validity of an election which was run and controlled by the party (the FSLN) that won. Indeed, the outcome was already know prior to the election; Bayardo Arce, one of the Sandinista commandantes, stated as much when he said that even if the Sandinistas lost, they would not relinquish their power. Hayes also overlooks the Sandinista repression of the opposition groups and their leaders (including Adam Fletes, Donald Lacayo, and Arturo Cruz) which eliminated any hope for a free election.

Heyes is quite confident that the Sandinistas have done much to improve the Nicaraguan "quality of life." Indeed, the Sandinistas did initiate literacy and health campaigns; however, their "social revolution" has been abandoned since Daniel Ortega's decree eliminating all civil liberties. Also, is the American left qualified to jud?to add the number of grenades in a Sandinista schoolbook more important than being able to receive a fair market price for your goods? Is receiving a dose of penicillin more important than being able to organize a trade union without fear of brutal FSLN retaliation? Americans should not try to measure which are more important; however, the Nicaraguans deserve to see their promised democracy become reality.

Secondly, I do not claim that El Salvador is a "bastion of freedom," as Hayes claims; it is true, however, that El Salvador is progressively moving toward this goal. The Salvadoran military has been checked by civilian authority, and abuses have decreased dramatically from levels in the 1970s and early 1980s. Also, nothing is further from the truth than the claim that Duarte's government would collapse if the military is weakened. Indeed, support for the government comes from the population itself; this was evident in the elections for the national assembly and the president. In addition, the communist FMLN guerillas have received virtually no support. They have resorted to kidnappings and abductions of young Salvadorans to obtain new troops; they also kidnapped Duarte's daughter and more than 30 Salvadoran mayors to obtain the release of jailed guerilla leaders.

Finally, Hayes claims that my columns are "bogus trash." If he was referring to my arguments, then why didn't he attempt to refute each of the points in my column with substantative arguments, rather than repeating the usual, wildly-generalized leftist phrases? Central America is not an ideaological battleground for American leftists and the sooner Hayes and his counterparts realize this, the better.

Peter Dow is a Collegian columnist.

A question of authority

Roth/Burgess

No more boring reviews of the "Student Activities Trust Fund Saga." No further confusion about trustee documents, SGA Constitutions, differing opinions, and who knows what else has been brought up for discussion throughout the past two weeks. Just for argument's sake though, we want to mention a few historical points and also mention just a few important ironies.

First of all, this is not the first time that the Student Government Association and the University administration have argued over the authority question. Indeed, we have close to seven years worth of memos, proposals, counter-proposals, and more memos which all deal with some argument about authority. They all vary, from questions of trust fund management, to who supervises professional staff, and, of course, who should control the operation of the SGA agencies/SATF funded agencies. Wait. What was that? Yes, you're right, we said seven years. Actually, if you want to be nitpicky, we could add a few years (but, we won't).

In order to fully explain why this question has never been resolved, we would have to write a legthy dissertation. But, since we can't do that, we will still present the bottom line.

Primarily, there are existing written policies which outline how certain processes are to be enacted. In many cases, these documents are the basis for our actions and our belief that there is specific delegation of these processes to the SGA and its various branches. Additionally, the hundreds of memos mentioned earlier were not written in vain. Many of them provide concrete, written confirmation of agreements SGA leaders made with the administration. Unfortunately, as the years go by, trust levels and good faith adherence to these agreements are washed under the bridge. There seems to be an assumption, by certain parties, that new leadership doesn't read the old files, and further, that the background to the negotiations documented in the files has not been passed along. The topper, though, is that air of surprise that answers students when discrepencies in policies are noticed, or when blatant ignorance is demonstrated by the actions of any one individual.

For seven years there has been a perpetuation of the authority question. Throughout this time, we have seen the development of an interesting problem, which we call "the convenience syndrome." There are policies of convenience, statements of convenience, phrases of convenience, the "let's leave it outs"... because it's convenient. Who are we trying to kid?! Each time we sit down at the round table for negotiation and request that a policy (already existing) be placed in writing -- so that disagreements and long years of struggle can be ended -- we are refused. Another reason is not that it is a dangerous policy (most likely it's something which has already been practiced for years), not because there is a misconception on the part of SGA leadership, but because, when time comes to match the bread with the butter, the administration backs down and "forgets" about all past precedent. In fact, ironically, the administration finds it very convenient to state that they are responsible for the process and take credit for the results, unless something is going wrong, in which case they quickly point to the students as having, "once again," stepped out of line. How else could a problem have arrisen?!

One final point should be made. We are well aware of the fact that there are many students on this campus who don't really understand what this argument is all about; not because they don't care, but because there are just too many confusing incidents to decipher and not enough in-depth explanations for them. So we tried to give some of those explanations today. Now, instead of being sarcastic, the question is, what can we do?

First of all, we ask that you help by trying to better understand the issues at hand. Take an interest in the future of the SGA. The positive future of student control of the budget process within the SATF and of student involvement with our professional staff and our agencies, is essential to our struggle against the overzealous hordes of University officials. Secondly, you should come to the rally today. The START (Student Advocating for Rights Together) coalition could be your key to understanding this menacing situation. Don't be fooled by administrators who appear to offer solutions.

For example, when speaking about ways to improve the financial system of the SGA, one administrator mentioned "incorporating" the SGA, like student governments in the California system. To most individuals, this sounds like a great idea. It did to us. Only after we did our own research and talked with some other administrators did we realize that Massachusetts' law appears to prohibit such a move on our part. But, we're still looking. It's interesting, though, that the administrator chose to leave these facts out of his reference (what was that about statements of convenience?).

It is time for action, understanding and support. Let us START, together by helping to put an end to the misunderstanding of the past seven years...or who knows where we will all be... seven years hence?!!!

Stacy Roth and Dani Burgess are the SGA co-presidents.

Security overzealous

Heidi Lu

Two weeks ago,I went to the Violent Femmes concert at the Blue Wall. There were some weird doings going down at that concert between the crowd and each other, and between the crowd and the student security. I don't know the Violent Femmes that well -- this is the first concert I've ever been to -- and I've only recently been listening to their two albums. I heard there was to be some slamming at this concert and my interest was sparked. My first real contact with slamming was about two weeks ago at an Anti-Apartheid dance and when people slammed there was a lot of open space. I wasn't into it. I talked to two people there about slamming and they were telling me how this slamming was "bad," not what slamming was all about, there was too much space, and this made it dangerous, people could get hurt.

At the beginning of the concert I was dancing with a small group of friends. A student security guard of UPC came up to us (about 4-5 times), grabbed us and told us to "stop it, there won't be any of that here." We tried to talk to the guard, (because she is in the very important role of watching so no one gets hurt), to explain to her that we were only dancing. We were not slamming; we were not nudging people; the others around us were not bothered by us (we asked them). We felt we were in the right; we were only dancing, this was a concert, the floor was completely cleared, we paid good money for our tickets, the music was turning us on and we were going to dance.

Some gentle slamming started, some cooperative nudging, pushing, and balancing. I was on the outskirts, still just dancing with a friend and the student security guard grabbed my friend and me forcefully and told us she had warned us. She told us to stay out, to stay against the wall, on the outskirts of the floor. We tried to talk to her, "we were only dancing, what harm are we dong?", "why can't we dance?", etc. A few minutes passed and I joined the crowd again, the slamming was starting and it was great. The guard finally left us alone when the real slamming started.

This real slamming was a group of people getting into the music, dancing closely and being balanced by each other, being pushed back in the crowd if anyone's balance was lost, pushed in another direction as people kept rotating, and not letting people get out of physical touch with each other because the tension, and thus the balance, would be lost and someone could get hurt, or fall. There were women and men slamming together; small women and small men, big women and big men, and we were working together. If this is what slamming is about -- a cooperative effort of sharing and breaking down physical boundaries on the dance floor -- then it is great.

There were times though, especially toward the end of the concert, when another small group joined our slamming group and that was not great. They were into a kind of slamming UPC and security should be aware of because it is NOT cooperative or concerned with other human beings. All the men in this group (they were all men) were BIG and they all seemed very muscular. They had a lot of weight behind them, and they were into a slamming slamming. They threw their weight; they elbowed into people; and they pushed very hard. They were rude and disruptive. This slamming is NOT cool because it is not cooperative or caring of other human beings and it is not concerned with everyone having a good time. So next time: you who want to get hurt slamming either do it with your own size or better yet, find others who want to get hurt also.

It is more than likely that UPC security tried to grab these more violent folk off to the sidelines also, but I didn't see much of that happening. When I am just dancing, and that's just a basic part of music and concerts, and I get pulled off to the side, and a friend of mine who is one of the most gentle of men anyone will ever meet gets pulled to the side, that is unacceptable. I was happy when security left us alone when we were actually slamming, but isn't that a bit ironic?

Heidi Lu is a UMass student.

Fight the cold beauracracy

David Valade

My sister started at the University this semester. She's a first-year sudent and came here directly from high school. One thing my brother and I have tried to impress upon her is the size of this institution. Because it is so large, people are often lost between the cracks.

Class size will make people no more than a face in the crowd, causing professors to be unable to help those that really need it. This can be frustrating to both professor and student. The University's size also causes problems with administrators. Rules become more important than people. It is quickly forgotten that the purpose of this institution is to educate. Over the course of the last two weeks, my sister has found out how uncaring the University can be.

My sister's roommate withdrew from school a few weeks ago. This left my sister with a double-single in Southwest. She was concerned about being forced to move, so she spoke with her RA and her RD. They both assured her that this wouldn't be a problem. A short while later she received a bill for $65 for the "increased privacy" of a single room. This happened in spite of the fact that her roommate had paid for the room through the end of the semester and would be receiving no refund. Somehow the University thinks it is right to charge twice for the same room.

The letter my sister received said she would have to pay the $65 or she might have to move. If she wasn't moved, she would have a new roommate move into her room. Because of my sister's concern, my father called Housing. He was assured that my sister would not have to move. When my sister went to Housing to confirm that she wouldn't be moved, they believed she was there to make arrangements to move. This was totally unexpected and came after she had been assured three separate times that she would not have to move. The University somehow seems negligent in its role of educating when it uproots a first semester student trying to adjust to University life just prior to finals, the most stressful period of the year.

Events such as this are commonplace at a University of this size. What should surprise us is that they don't happen more often. Because of our size, smooth operation becomes more important than the education of an individual student. An oversized bureaucracy rolls over countless students.

Your student government has established several agencies that work to minimize the adverse effects of University policies. LSO, SCERA, OCHO, and OTWA all provide various services to you in this area. They all work with student government to ensure that University policies don't forget that you, as a student, are the reason the University exists. Because of the actions of Randy Donant and Denny Madson the services these agencies provide are in danger. Whether these agencies continue to act on your behalf depends on you.

A coalition has formed to fight Donant's actions. Such ideologically differing organizations as the Republican Club and the Radical Student Union are working to fight the actions of Donant and Madson. We are putting aside our differences to fight for our rights as students. Donant and Madson should beware. The success of their actions depends on students being divided. They should realize that our concern for our rights is more important than our differences.

At 12:30 p.m. today, there will be a rally on the steps of the Student Union. This is your chance to show the University administration that you care about your rights. It is your chance to say that you won't be abused by people like Madson and Donant. Join us today and send a clear message that you'll fight for your rights.

David Valade is a Collegian columnist.

All letters submitted for publication must be signed and include the author's address and telephone number, which will not be published. Letters must be typewritten and double spaced at 67 characters per line. Column sumbissions hsould be between 40 and 60 lines. All submissions are subject to edition for clarity and length. —Editor.

The Collegian welcomes letters, column, and cartoon submissions. Submissions should be mailed to the Editorial Editor at the Collegian, 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Mass. 01003, or they can be dropped off at the Collegian classified ad counter in the basement of the Campus Center. Due to the volume of mail received, individual replies cannot be made.

IF YOU CAN'T AFFORD TO LOSE BUY AT OLYMPIAN

Men' and Women's Autry "CLC" Leather court shoe. Reg. $42.99. $32

Men's Autry "Maverick" High top leather court shoe. Reg. $44.99. $34

Women's Autry "Becky" Leather aerobic shoes Low, reg. $42.99 $32 High, reg. $49.99 $37

If you demand high performance, the Autry® athletic shoe sale at Olympian is the way to go. Superbly designed with ultra-soft leather, cool perforations, ActionSorb® insoles and special tread rubber soles, Autry shoes will put you a step ahead of the competition. Even if the only competition is you.

Record reviews:

Joni Mitchell pulls through

By PETER WISSOKER
Collegian Staff

THE DALLAS REUNION TAPES (ROIR)
? and the Mysterians

? and the Mysterians, the original tex-mex rockers, are back with a new cassette album of their reunion last year. The Mysterians are in fine form, particularly organist Frank Rodriquez, whose Leslie organ sound made "96 Tears" the truly great song that it is. The ? and the Mysterians' sound is as driving as ever on this tape. The roller rink organ, the steady tex-mex rhythm section and of course ?. ? is lively and vivacious as usual except when he starts to babble. Highlights include, "Girl(You Captivate Me)" for the best music award and of course "96 Tears." Because it's on tape The Dallas Reunion Tapes is kind of hard to find. Check Main St. Records in Northampton or write to ROIR at 611 Broadway, Suite 725, NYC NY 10012.

NIHILIST OLYMPICS (1 Dimensional Records)
Eighth Route Army

Local band makes album. The album is tight but there isn't much that's new on it. Some of the songs on the first side are well played and on the whole pretty interesting, but the album peters out after awhile. The sound is pretty much an inventory of new-wave from the Ramones to the Cure.

DOG EAT DOG (Geffen)
Joni Mitchell

Mitchell has made the transition to the land of synthesizers better than anyone of her era. Since she knows what she wants she avoids being dominated by producer Thomas Dolby, a problem with many albums he produces. Mitchell's songs span the tyrannies of everyday life from smoking to evangelists. The album is extremely contemporary and realistic. Mitchell merges her music and voice with the music and the themes of 1985. And it works well, except for a cameo by Michael McDonald. So unless you really can't stand Joni Mitchell, and you know who you are, this album is recommended. If you've never heard her Dog Eat Dog will make a fine introduction.

ICE ON FIRE (Geffen)
Elton John

I like this album. Go ahead, give me a hard time. The horn arrangements in this white rock'n'soul menagerie are tighter than anything Hall and Oates has done and there isn't a bad song in the lot. A lot of the album sounds like "I'm Still Standing." Ice on Fire stands up to just about any rock album which as come out this year in terms of consistency and basic rockness. It's an album you can dance to just like when you were young.

THE LOST WEEKEND (A&M)
Danny and Dusty

It's hard to believe that anyone could get paid to make an album as entertaining as this. Dan Stuart of Green on Red and Steve Wynn of the Dream Syndicate have combined with members of their bands and the Long Ryders to put together the best Neil Young clone band ever. None of the songs are actually by Mr. Young but they sound as if they are, and what's more they sound better than some of the stuff that he's done recently. The only cover tune on the album is Bob Dylan's "Knockin' on Heaven's Door" which sounds like Neil Young is singing it. This album is without a doubt one of the top ten entertainment values of the year.

MasterClasses at Parsons

Willi Smith: Fashion Design
James Wines: Environmental Design
Diana Bryan: Illustration

The Intersession Master Class program is designed for serious students seeking to develop their professional capabilities.
The distinguished design leaders conduct one-week full-time intensive workshops supported by noted instructors in each field. One college credit is earned upon completion of each workshop.

January 6-10 Intersession Recess
Monday-Friday, 9:00 am to 4:00 pm
Accommodations are available.

For additional information, call
Andrew Rothman: 212-741-8975.

Parsons School of Design
66 Fifth Avenue New York, New York 10011

26 MAIN ST. AMHERST 256-8331
JOHN DELLARIA SALONS

ARTS

live wire

by Peter Wissoker

photo by Miranda Turin

Bimskalabim will play Thursday night at Pearl Street.

Welcome back.

This is the third time the computer has lost my column, so this will be a truly exciting live wire (Non-sequitor).

Boston's premiere ska band Bimskalabim will play tonight at Pearl Street. With Don the unique frontman at the front, this may be your last chance to see them up here before their album comes out. And it should be good. Really, really good.

Across town one of the Rolling Stones' favorite bands, The Neville Brothers, will play at the Northampton Center for the Arts. Warming up will be Luther Guitar Jr. There are two shows so you have time to see the Neville Bros. and then run over to Pearl Street. Once again, Neville Brothers, former members of The Meters, New Orleans' finest.

Millie Jackson will be at the Frontier Lounge in Springfield. The Outlaws will be at the Red Balloon with the Fabulous Heavyweights and locally Prime Suspects will play at the Hatch. Also Judy Polan at the Iron Horse.

Saturday, Ray Brown, Milt Jackson, Hank Jones, Max Roach and Stanley Turrentine will play Saturday night at the Fine Arts Center.

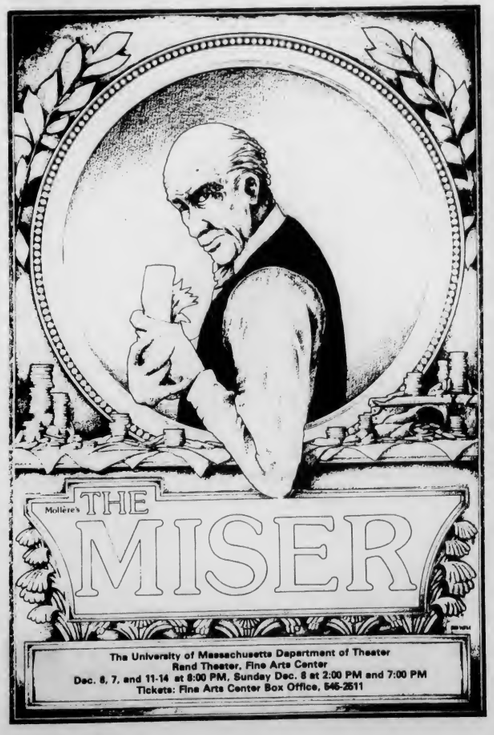
Sunday, Rush will play with the Steve Morse Band in Hartford.

On Monday guitarist Birelli Lagrene will be at the Iron Horse for one 7 p.m. show. This should be hot. We, here at the Collegian have been told that this guy is the next Stanley Jordan, except he didn't go to Princeton. He comes highly recommended so it would be worth your while to check it out.

Finally on Wednesday, there will be a five band extravaganza featuring the Pajama Slave Dancers, Circle, Watch the Teeth Kate, The Image and Godspeed. ...Could be good.

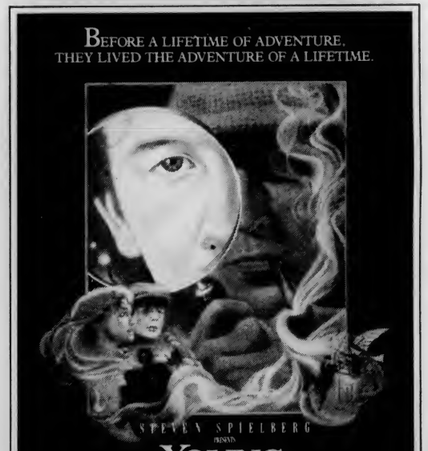
The Neville Brothers will play tonight at Pearl Street

THE FINE ARTS CENTER
CONCERT HALL
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST



JAZZ ALL STARS
Ray Brown, bass
Milt Jackson, vibes
Hank Jones, piano
Max Roach, drums
Stanley Turrentine, sax
Saturday, December 7, 8 pm.
Tickets $13.11

CLEVELAND ORCHESTRA
Christoph Von Dohnanyi, Music Director

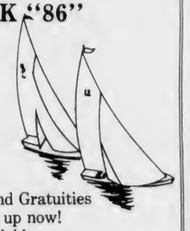


MOZART	Symphony No. 25
HARTMANN	Symphony No. 2
DVORAK	Symphony No. 7

Monday, December 9, 8 pm.
Tickets $20.18

• Gift Certificates Available •
Five College Students Half Price Tickets available at Fine Arts Center Box Office Springfield Civic Center and DATATIX Outlets
Call (413)545-2511 or 1-800-243-4842

BEFORE A LIFETIME OF ADVENTURE, THEY LIVED THE ADVENTURE OF A LIFETIME.



STEVEN SPIELBERG presents
YOUNG SHERLOCK HOLMES

A PARAMOUNT PICTURES PRESENTATION · STEVEN SPIELBERG PRESENTS YOUNG SHERLOCK HOLMES
AN AMBLIN ENTERTAINMENT PRODUCTION IN ASSOCIATION WITH HENRY WINKLER / ROGER BIRNBAUM
EXECUTIVE PRODUCERS STEVEN SPIELBERG · KATHLEEN KENNEDY · FRANK MARSHALL
WRITTEN BY CHRIS COLUMBUS · PRODUCED BY MARK JOHNSON · DIRECTED BY BARRY LEVINSON
A PARAMOUNT PICTURE

Opens Wednesday, December 4th
At A Theatre Near You.

American Travel Services presents

SPRING BREAK "86"

Ft Lauderdale
Hotel from $139.00
Air: New York $209. Rd Trip
Boston $228. Rd Trip
Holiday Inn Oceanside $209.

Nassau/Paradise Island
Hotel & Air from $329.
Pilot House Hotel $379.

All prices include Taxes and Gratuities
Don't be left out, sign up now!
Limited space available
For more information: call Rob 549-5303

There's Something for Everyone
on your list at

THE OLD MILL

Rte. 63 N. Amherst
1 mile north of UMass
Open Daily 10-6

THINK CHRISTMAS AT OUR ONE STOP SHOP

SPORT Style

Pacer
Imprinted
Sweatshirt
$15.00
reg. 21.50

50/50
Limited quantity

Located in the Campus Center
M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3
UNIVERSITY STORE

Bruno's

PIZZA SUBS

SPECIAL

1 FREE SODA with any Small Pizza
2 FREE SODAS with any Medium Pizza
3 FREE SODAS with any Large Pizza

Choose From Polar Cola, Diet Polar Cola
And Other Polar Sodas Including
Orange, Grape, Root Beer, Strawberry,
Ginger Ale and Cream Soda.
Five Cents Deposit Required On All Cans

ALSO AVAILABLE
WORLD CLASS SUBS
FREE DELIVERY!

EXPIRES DECEMBER 21, 1985

4:00pm to 2:00am
363 MAIN STREET, AMHERST
256-0222

SALE!

3 DAYS ONLY...
FRI/SAT/SUN DEC 6,7,8

100% COTTON
TURTLENECKS
in a dozen dazzling colors

REG. ~~8.95~~
NOW
6.95

3 DAYS ONLY

3 FOR 19.95

A Store-full of Holiday Gift Ideas!

FACES

Downtown Amherst / Daily 10-6, Sun. 12-5

let us do your wash-dry-fold and hand pressing
10-5 PM MON-SAT
SELF SERVICE
7 DAYS - 7 A.M.-10 P.M.
549-1665

SPEEDWASH

Quality Laundry
11 Pray St.
Amherst, MA

Yesterday & Today Records

Grateful Dead Psychedelic
Grand Opening
Punk Jazz
Blues

Top CASH PAID for USED:
Records Tapes
Stereos Guitars
Videos CD's

An Alternative Record Store
96 N. Pleasant St.
Amherst 253-9209

Christmas Boxed Cards

You'll find a special yuletide wish for everyone on your list.

Located in the Campus Center
UNIVERSITY STORE

M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3

AMERICAN GREETINGS

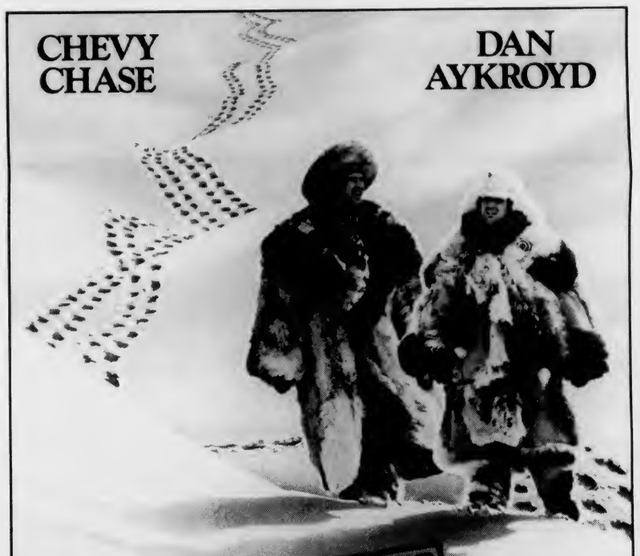
MCMLXXXV American Greetings Corp.

NOW AT HAMPDEN SNACK BAR

PLAY THE GREATEST ADVENTURE VIDEO GAME EVER

GAUNTLET

4 CAN PLAY AT ONCE



Brought to you by ATARI and
Russell-Hall

Dr. Carol Rosin
Founder of Institute for Security & Cooperation in Outer Space as Alternatives To Star Wars argues for US/USSR Cooperation in Outer Space

Dec 5 Thurs UMass CC 811
4 to 5:30 pm
Hampshire College 7:30 pm
Sponsors: AIAA-UMass, Future Studies/UMass, CISCOS, Pioneer Valley LT Society, Planetary Citizen, World Federalists, Women Strike For peace, Womens Resource Center Hampshire College

VALLEY BOOKS
Carriage Shops
Books at 40-80% Off List Price
Thousands of new books
on every subject
Art Books, Kids Books,
History Books, Photography
Cooking, Wine and Drink
SAVE ON BOOKS FOR CHRISTMAS
Mon-Fri 10:30-5:30 Sun 12-5
Sat 10-5 549-6052
Check, Visa or Mastercard

CHEVY CHASE DAN AYKROYD

SPIES LIKE US

With spies like these who needs enemies?

WARNER BROS. Presents A LANDIS/FOLSEY Film
An A.A.R.-BERNIE BRILLSTEIN-BRIAN GRAZER Production
CHEVY CHASE · DAN AYKROYD · "SPIES LIKE US"
STEVE FORREST · DONNA DIXON · BRUCE DAVISON
BERNIE CASEY · WILLIAM PRINCE · TOM HATTEN
Music By ELMER BERNSTEIN Executive Producer BERNIE BRILLSTEIN
Screenplay by DAN AYKROYD and LOWELL GANZ & BABALOO MANDEL
Story by DAN AYKROYD & DAVE THOMAS
Produced by BRIAN GRAZER and GEORGE FOLSEY, JR. Directed by JOHN LANDIS

Read the Signet Paperback FROM WARNER BROS. A WARNER COMMUNICATIONS COMPANY © 1985 Warner Bros. Inc. All Rights Reserved PG PARENTAL GUIDANCE SUGGESTED

Track Them Down December 6th at a Theatre Near You.

Computerized Buy-back

Book

UMASS BOOKSTORE

Dec. 9-13 16-20

9:00-4:00

TEXTBOOK ANNEX

Fast · Reliable · Efficient

Doonesbury

BY GARRY TRUDEAU

Today's Weather

Today
Chance of morning sunshine, overcast skies developing by afternoon. Highs in mid-40s.

Tonight
Possibility of light snow.

Tomorrow
Windy, flurries tapering off, high's in mid-40s.

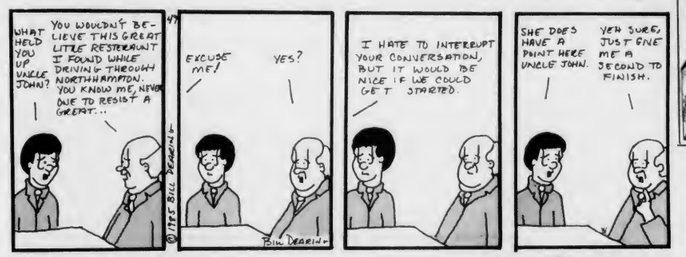
BLOOM COUNTY

by Berke Breathed

Today's Menu

Lunch
Ham Grinder
Broccoli and Cauliflower Casserole

Basics Lunch
Falafel Pocket Sandwich
Broccoli and Cauliflower Casserole



Dinner
Cheese Lasagna with Tomato Sauce
Chopped Beefsteak Special

Basics Dinner
Polynesian Vegetables
Cheese Lasagna with Tomato Sauce

Bat Brain

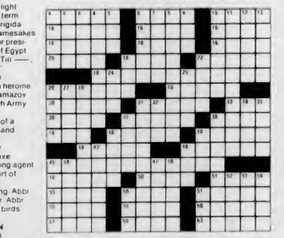
By Bill Dearing

GORDY

By Gorde

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Edited by Trude Michel Jaffe



ACROSS
1 Configuration
6 Flying mammals
10 Esau's wife
14 Part of an estate
15 Another, Sp.
16 Teasdale
17 Pull up
18 Like some history
19 Trudge
20 Kett of the comics
21 Shore dinner item
22 Lagoon
23 Don't upset this?
26 Tracks
29 Smallest
30 Decoys
31 Hunter's concealment
33 Japanese admiral
36 Historic times
37 African antelope
38 Beach toy
39 Urge
40 Stage light
41 Music term
42 Lollobrigida and namesakes
44 Former president of Egypt
45 "Wait Till ——, Nellie"
49 Entree
50 Lytton heroine
51 A Karamazov
55 Turkish Army Corps
56 "—— of a Thousand Days"
57 Poplar
58 —— fixe
59 Maturing agent
60 Support of a sort
61 Meeting: Abbr.
62 Helper: Abbr.
63 Shore birds

DOWN
1 Pintail
2 Deistic
3 Science subj.
4 Lyonnaise and Duchesse
5 Soon
6 Yalie's cheer
7 Set —— (snare)
8 Running over
9 Impresario Hurok
10 Savory gelatins
11 Spotted canines
12 Excited
13 —— a clue!
21 These: Fr.
22 Principal
24 Time abbrs.
25 Do a librarian's job
26 Weaving reed
27 In plain style
28 Summer coolers
31 Things to be counted
32 Chou En ——
34 Ocean action
35 Swan genus
37 Enthusiasm
38 Conceivable
40 Danish king of yore
41 Norma ——
43 Emits
44 Wind dir.
45 Pas de ——
46 The Golden ——
47 Sharpens
48 Sluggish
52 Shut!
53 A King
54 Garden State cagers
56 Driver's asso.
57 Tried the boards

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

R	E	A	P		S	W	A	Y		S	N	O	W
E	A	V	E		S	H	I	R	E		P	O	L	A
C	R	E	A	M	P	U	F	F	S		E	M	I	T
			C	A	I	N	E	S		H	E	A	V	E
		M	A	H	R	E	S			B	I	D	E	R
G	A	S	P	E	D		S	M	I	N	K
A	M	O	I		S	O	U	N	D		E	L	M
P	I	N	E	A	P	P	L	E	S	U	N	D	A	E
S	E	E		G	R	A	V	Y			U	S	I	A
			B	R	I	N	E		P	A	T	E	N	T
R	E	D	E	E	M		W	A	R	B	L	E
A	D	A	G	E		T	H	E	G	A	R
D	I	N	G		S	W	E	E	T	M	E	A	T	S
A	L	I	E		K	I	C	K	S		A	R	I	A
R	E	E	D		I	N	K	S		D	E	E	P

12/5/85

HIGH STYLE at Low Costs
Even college students can afford to look good at Marjon

also: Tanning and waxing

	start at
cuts	$8.00
perm	38.00
foiling	45.00
shampoo/cut/dry	14.00

Marjon Hair Design Inc

Marjon Hair Design
Mountain Farms Mall
Rt 9
Hadley, Ma

586-4551

Levi's

* JACKETS
* CORDS
* 501's
* FLANNEL SHIRTS

GIFT IDEAS!

Saturday Clothes
DOWNTOWN AMHERST 253-9729
Open 7 Days - Thurs. 'til 8

James H. McManus eating place

CAMPUS PLAZA (NEXT TO SUPER STOP & SHOP) Rte. 9 • Hadley/Amherst 256-6889

CONVENIENT to CAMPUS!

• BREAKFAST SERVED ANY TIME
• OPEN 6 A.M.-3 A.M. SUN.-THURS.
• OPEN 24 HOURS FRI. & SAT.
• BEER & WINE SERVED 'TIL MIDNITE
• PLENTY OF PARKING

EARN MONEY FOR COLLEGE
LOADERS & UNLOADERS

$8/hr • PART-TIME EVENINGS & EARLY MORNING HOURS

We offer steady employment, paid vacations and health benefits. Interviews will be held every Wednesday, 9am—1pm

UNITED PARCEL SERVICE ups
120 Wayside Avenue
West Springfield, MA 01089

MASS. APPROVED INSPECTION STATION

Gas Saving Tune-up
4 Cyl. $34.95
6 Cyl. $39.95
8 Cyl. $44.95
Incl. new rotor, points, spark plugs, points & condenser adjust, set timing & carb. adjust, check vacuum & advance, inspect wires, distributor cap, PVC valve, ignition cables, air filter, and check fluids. Not included: Emission Test and Primer.

Lube, Oil & Filter $17.99
Includes up to 5 quarts of 10-30 oil and safety check.

North Amherst Tire & Auto Center
Full Service Tire Store
78 Sunderland Rd., No. Amherst, MA
Across from Watrobe's Store
549-4704

Beer with us!
Choose from our bounty of more than 80 varieties of imported beer!
We won the Valley Advocate's "Best Beer Selection" award - 1982!
Our selection now is EVEN BETTER.
We now feature our own brand of low priced LIQUORS as well as our super selection of WINES at very affordable prices.
Plus BULMER'S CIDER
BILLI'S BEVERAGES
Beer—Wine—Liquor
SUNDERLAND • 665-2727
We welcome your empties!

The great beers of the world go by one name: Löwenbräu. Brewed in Munich, in England, Sweden, Canada, Japan and here in America for a distinctive world class taste.

THIS WORLD CALLS FOR LÖWENBRÄU

© 1985 Miller Brewing Co. Milwaukee, WI.

ROYAL CRANE ORIENTAL FOOD MARKET
360 College St., Amherst
Rte 9 East 253-5658
Exotic imported mink blanket ($110-130)
Homemade Bedspread from Korea ($110-150)
with a large variety of AUTHENTIC ORIENTAL
• Fresh Produce • Sauces & Spices
• Noodles • Frozen & Canned Goods
• Cooking Implements & Supplies
• Homemade take-out food
• New items arriving every week
• Gourmet foods at everyday prices
• Asian cookbooks at Publisher's prices
• Large Indian Inventory
Decorative Oriental Tableware and accessories for Christmas giving • Open 10-8; Sat. open 9-8

Ski
UMASS SKI CLUB presents
WINTER PARK COLORADO
JANUARY 5-12 $425.00 per person
Your Trip Includes:
• Roundtrip jet flight Newark/Denver
• Roundtrip transfer from Denver to Winter Park
• 7 nights luxury condominum lodging at The Pines
• 5 days skiing at Winter Park and Mary Jane ski areas
• Welcome Party and mountain orientation
• Ski race with prizes
• All taxes and tips included
For more information contact:
UMASS SKI CLUB
or Tom Gerraty 549-5913; Dwayne Head 256-4287
"The best trip, the lowest priced!"

25% off everything thru Dec. 14th
Holiday Sale 85
Amherst store only
THE FINEST VINTAGE WEAR AMERICA HAS YET PRODUCED
Lodestone
48 Main Street Brattleboro, VT 05301
18 North Pleasant Street Amherst, MA 01002

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Come to Collegian Office CC 113 • 8:45-3:45 Mon.-Thurs. 8:45-2:30 Fri. • Deadline is 2 days prior to publication day
Cash in advance • Phone number FREE

ACTIVITIES

Newman Student Video presents "Miracle on 34th Street" Friday (tomorrow) Dec 6 7:00 pm Main Lounge all are invited

8 poets will read their own poems "The Beast in a Cage of Words", poems of nuclear war, Friday, December 6, 1985 at the Chocolate Bakery 241 King Street (Route 5), Pot Pourri Mall, Northampton

Southwest Residents - Get Involved! Weekly Southwest Assembly meeting tonight, 7:00 pm in Hampden's Southside Room all are welcome

Submit. . .

WSYL Radio important meeting for all members tonight 7:15 CC 164 stay tuned

AUTO FOR SALE

Audi 1977 100LS 4 dr AT AC SR FM & Tape FWD great winter car in excellent mech shape good radials 20^ mpg on regular best $1500 German car around 665-8217

1977 Chevy Malibu Classic new snows & brakes must sell to pay bills $1400 or best offer call 665-3921

1975 Oldsmobile Starfire! Must sell! Nice paint job, new clutch, 4 speed, runs well. 950.00 or best offer, willing to negotiate. 546-5346 eves or early morning

1979 VW Rabbit 5-speed, runs great, looks good $1400 Geoff 259-1582

1970 Volvo stwgn 4 speed great condition strong engine $1200/BO Lawrence 549-5898

Dodge Omni GLH 1984 25000 miles silver excellent condition wide tires & wheels AM FM radio cassette 4 speakers quick sale only $6250.00 549-3597 after 6 pm

1970 Cutlass wirebuilt 350 runs good & clean; new trans new brakes, radials good, good spare, drive it away for $250 or BO call Mike * 6 pm 256-8788

1975 Dodge Dart dependable, standard, some rust $400 or BO Kathy 549-4600 ext 348

1975 Pontiac Ventura custom hatchback PS/PB/AT. 6-cyl, snow tires, $425 Janet 665-8289

1969 Mustang midnight blue, 4-speed, toploader, headers and lots of other fun speed equipment $1200 or BO 323-6701

Chevy Malibu $650 firm 549-3591

1976 Pinto automatic runs well $500 or best offer 584-5742

BUY ME!

1973 Buick LeSabre, full extras good tires runs great $350 Ken 665-4766

DISCUSSION

"Christmas: A Children's Story or an Adult Challenge?" Join Rev. Esther Hargis for Prophets and other Heretics, Thursday, 12:15-1:15 pm in 428 SUB

ENTERTAINMENT

Rack-A-Disc Entertainment Agency for the best party this semester. DJ's, large screen video, rentals 549-7144

Do you need bands for your party. Professional bands that didn't just get together yesterday. You name the sound and songs you want. We'll set up the band. Different varieties from $150 call Steady Sounds 549-0585

Turn the Tables professional party/club D.J. 5 yr experience widest selection cal 24 hr. 586-9691

How to prevent asclear war: a film shown at Earthfoods Friday 11:30-1:00

FOR RENT

Sunderland, 1 bdrm apt. on busline, 420/month, everything included. Avail. immediately! 665-3440, leave message

Amherst Brandywine 2 bdrm apt busline 580/month available 1-1-86 549-1119

Lg 1 bdrm apt Squire Vill. avail Jan 1 665-4669 aft 6

Next to UMass. Share apartment with woman and son. $200 Call 549-0024

Single room available all inclusive rent! Available to female or male Jan 1 call Sheryl 256-1645

University Women Rooms available for Spring semester home cooked meals & close to campus call for more information 549-0527

2 lrg rooms in N Amherst house 200^ util call AM PM 549-7515

One bedroom apt: Cliffside, on bus rte. $340/mo. all util incl. mod kitch, gun-sr. bed, laund, 7-Eleven call 665-7596 eves avail Jan 1

Large 1 br apt Southwood 365^ avail 11/86 lease 253-3634

To takeover lease Jan 1 9 Creatview Apts 1 bedrm cal eves 549-6752

Two rooms in Belchertown for Intersession $200 includes heat 323-6701

2 b room Northwood Apt $370/m bus available Jan 1 665-3856 or 665-7783

1 or 2 rooms in house, North amherst. Pine St. busline, $175/mo, 549-6650. 549-0380

Room in house available for Spring semester, Jan-Aug across street from campus, walk to town, deck, washer dryer big back yard, pets OK 250/month + utilities 549-6364 Lisa or Pat

FOR SALE

Ford LTD 75 runs well $550 or BO call 253-9998 evenings

Nikon Lens: Nikkor 135 MM F.2.5. A great Christmas gift. $75 John 256-8311

Guitar Amplifier, crate, 2 12" Celestion speakers, 120W, accutronix reverb parametric EQ, excellent condition $250 549-1536

72 Olds Cutlass S orange, aluminum mags, good interior, strong rocket 350 eng little rust, new heater core, battery breakapside, asking $800 546-7131

Soft Contact Lenses most daily wearlenses $18.00 to $25.00 each. Extended wear lenses $30.00 to $48.00. Lowest prices on contact lens solutions heat units $12.95 Amherst Optical Shoppe 253-5412, 256-6403

Studded snowtires on Buick 14" rolleigh rims white walls new 549-0385

Stereo System: Onkyo TA-2033 cassette deck with dolby-C and Yamaha CR-640 receiver. Both in perfect condition! A great Christmas gift! $250 Call: John 256-8311

FOUND

An umbrella Monday night (12/2) IN THE Hatch call 546-1280 to identify

Found black mens watch. Monday in the pool room. Call David at 253-7404 and identify it.

HELP WANTED

Merchandiser 20 hours per week $4.41/h call between 8-5 need car 584-2050

OVERSEAS JOBS Summer, yr. round. Europe, S. Amer., Australia, Asia. All fields. $900-2000 mo. Sightseeing. Free info. Write IJC, PO Bx 52 MA1 Corona Del Mar, CA 92625

Jobs! $4-$6/hr! Intersession Spring. Apply Telefund Memorial Hall Basement

Jobs Florida - Hightech, Aerospace, Finance, & contact points. Send $7.95 Soutcast Market Consultants Inc. Suite 4A, 74 Gulf Blvd., Irb Florida 33535

Put your car to work for you and make at least $7 per hour delivering pizza. Apply Superior Pizzeria 549-0626

HOUSEMATE NEEDED FOR SPRING

Rm-mate: (upper classmean or grad-stnt) N. Amherst 4 bdrm house, own rm. inclds king-sz bed, walk-in closet, prt. bath $250 per mth Jan-may 1986. Call Joe or leave msg. 549-7597

INSTRUCTION

Private Guitar Lessons experienced and patient teacher rock/pop/folk/blues improv., reading, theory, composition. Your home or my studio. Doug 549-4786

Intersession Barbending Courses 4 sections available sign up in Credit Free Workshops Room 111 Tower Library

LOST

Lost a Nikon automatic camera outside Crabtree in Northeast reward no questions asked contact at 6-5198 or 6-9378

Brown wallet sentimental and ID value Return to campus Ctr Info booth no questions asked

Lost blue knapsack w/books only. If found call Joey 549-2782 reward

Help! Lost on 11/22 grey sweater of great sentimental value somewhere near Hatch. Please call Tricia 6-4969

MARVELOUS

U Look Marvelous bumper stickers $1 546-6313

MOM MISSES ME

And I miss her! I need a ride to Boston the evening of 12/19. Call Liz at 549-7046. Keep trying!

MOVER

'Round Town Movers fast, reliable cheap call Michael anytime 323-6780

PERSONALS

Ski Sugarbush! Hotel $149 call Ski Club now 545-3437

Decency, Have a nice Christmas! See you in the Spring. Echelon

Dear Michael. Tuesdays personal was provoked by Beth not me. However since your life is so exciting, perhaps a full page ad would be more appropriate than a bunch of personals.

How to prevent asclear war: a film shown at Earthfoods Friday 11:30-1:00

Happy Birthday Ter; and good luck with the permit. Love from your pal Steve

Happy Hanukkah Smudgespopper. Looking forward to Saturday night. Love you babe - Boobals

Jobs! $4-$6/hour Intersession Spring Apply Telefund Memorial Hall Basement

Mary Jane, Since I saved 40-70 on your bracelet and necklace, I would like to buy you a beautiful piece of diamond jewelry. I can get a necklace, earrings or even a ring - say preferease? Meet me Thursday at Golden Opportunity 13 N. Pleasant St. at Lodestone Love, Bruso

JG, 7 months too many?? Get ready for many, many more!! I love you tons, Stef

Kelsey -- Your eyes and your smile say more than I could hope to hear. You bring out the best in me. I love you. -- Jeffrey

Bryn - You are my favorite brown-eyed woman. I love you with all my heart DM

Karen Congratulations on your preengagement Love Jenn and Michelle

Mr Magoo - You make me feel great. I love you - Lisa Jane MacMillan

Turbo - This means you little boy, Happy Birthday! Soon you'll be able to share everyday Luv BS (LG)

Hey Gallahey, Nice wind XOXO

PROFESSIONAL TYPING SERVICE

Cases, papers, dissertations, theses, oncampus, dependable, outstanding quality, low rates, 584-7924

$50 REWARD

4 females to take over lease for fall 86 semester of apartment. Summer if necessary. Going abroad next semester and need a place for fall! Please call 546-6012 Marjorie or 546-6396 Marne

ROOM WANTED

Male looking for room for intersession near campus preferred. Call Tom 6-6793 before 11:00 or after 7:00 pm

ROOMMATE WANTED

Apt to share pleasant reasonable ideally located in Amherst Ctr 774-2740

Huge double room ... shed bath 300 + ... met clean. Call

Female roommate wanted to share Brittany manor apartment starting Jan 1 call evenings 256-6645

Wanted: One male roommate to share Brandywine apt; Spring call 549-5796

Female needed to share room in Brittany Manor apt Feb to June call 253-3766

Female roommate wanted. Share room in 2 bedroom apt on bus rt $98 + util 665-2020

Female nosmoking roommate wanted for townhouse. Extremely reasonable rent! Call 6-5770 6-5773

Roommate wanted for Brittany manor apt share with 2 seniors and 1 junior available now call Steve Dave or Rich phone 253-7312

Apartmentmate sought for December or longer if desired. Entire nonlease four room centrally located Noho apartment free by February, possible January. 200$ inclusive. Woman preferred 546-6176

1 or 2 female roommates wanted for D-Wine apt Feb 1 rent 138.75/mo heat incl 549-0627 Mary or Barb

Female roommate needed to share a room in Brittany manor Jan 1 on It is a newly renovated apartment and will have only three roommates call Robyn 256-1232

Two roommates wanted male or female in Southwood apt call Eric 256-1628

Female to share Brittany Manor apt Spring semester call 256-0996

Female roommate wanted for spring. Fall option. On bus route. Call Dara or pete 256-1569

Echo Village fully furnished, on 2 bus routes, starting Jan/Feb 256-6809

SERVICES

COINS 123/121 tutoring 5:00 per hr former 123/121 grader Alex 256-1239

Escort Service available 8 pm - 2:30 am everyday any where on campus. Play it safe call 5-2123 for an escort ANYTIME

Editing, Consultation. Ex professor's specialty: dissertations, professional articles, books. 268-7772

Professional fitness consultations for women. Student rates. After 2 pm 1-467-7877

TO SUBLET

2 bdrm apt busline avail Dec 25 price nego 253-2831

3 rooms available Jan 1 Swan Village $215/mo utils incl on bus line call 256-8225

Reward! Take our 1 bed apt. avail. for Spring semester. $365 includes utils. call 665-4553 evenings

Nice bedroom in two bedroom apt in house. Other roommate is quiet, nonsmoking Graduate student. Available Jan-August rent negotiable 665-8194

Two bedroom apt in Northwood call 256-0028

Intersession - female only to share 1½ Puffton Village own room call Jane 549-0137

Female to share room in Puffton for Intersesson. Call evenings 549-5519

One bedroom in Townehouse Apts for Intersession call 549-6621

1 bdrm apt avail Wintersession Brandywine rent negot heat incl fully furnished on busline call 549-4177 keep trying

One bedroom apartment available Jan 1 $340 including everything call after 5 pm 665-8403

To sublet over Intersession one bedroom (two people) in Puffton Village call 549-7578

TRAVEL

"Take a Break on the French Side!" Skibreak's January trip to Tignes/Val d'Isere in the French Alps includes RT airfare (Swissair), transfers, accommodations, skipass (116 lifts), slalom races, cocktails for $740/7 nights in resort. Skibreak (203) 354-6069 Ted: 546-4783

TYPING SERVICE

QUALITY TYPING. Long or short projects. Will correct grammar, spelling, & punctuation. Meticulous proofreading. New IBM typewriter. 549-0367

TYPING & WORD PROCESSING

Next Day Service. Type-Rite 253-5111

U.M.O.C.

We miss you all!!!

SPORTS

UMass stumbles in OT, 78-70

Sutton hits 26 in Cage battle

By PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

The young University of Massachusetts basketball team suffered its biggest disappointment of the season last night, losing a 78-70 overtime battle to the University of Connecticut before 3,406 at the Cage.

Senior guard Earl Kelley scored six points for the Huskies in overtime as UMass fell to 1-3 on season with the painful loss. Kelley also tied the game in regulation on a jumper with four seconds left. Kelley had 26 points in the game.

"I feel sick for our players, they played a hard game and lost," said UM coach Ron Gerlufsen. "We're learning more and more with each game, its unfortunate we're losing while we're doing it. This was a tough one."

UMass had a chance to win the game with 13 seconds left, leading 66-64 with center Sean Mosby at the line. The freshman missed the first end of a one-and-one and Kelley's short jumper in the lane tied it at 66.

In the extra period, senior forward Eddie Williams (19 points) hit two straight jumpers to put UConn up, 70-66. Williams' shots sandwiched a pair of missed one-and-one free throw chances by UMass freshmen David Brown and Joe Fennell.

Sophomore guard Lorenzo Sutton (another outstanding game with 26 points and eight rebounds) then hit a 15-footer to put UMass within two, 70-68 with 2:46 left in the overtime.

Freshman Phil Gamble (17 points) hit a free throw with 2:23 left for a three-point UConn lead. Brown then missed two free throws with 2:01 left, the fifth-straight foul shot miss for the Minutemen, who were 12-for-21 from the line for the game.

Kelley put the game away with 1:03 left with a short turnaround in the lane that made it 73-68. He secured it with four straight free throws in the final minute. A Brown drive and a free throw by Gamble set the final margin.

"I don't know how far away we are from being a real good team, maybe an inch, maybe a foot, maybe a mile, but I do know we're getting closer," said UM junior captain Carl Smith, who had 10 points and 11 assists in the game.

"We've come a long way during this season, we're getting better," said Smith.

UMass, which played with intensity for the whole game for the first time this season, trailed only 36-34 to the favored Huskies after the first half.

The Minutemen led 4-2 before the Huskies took the lead on a Kelley drive with 17:52 left. The Huskies led by as many as six on several occasions, but the persistent Minutemen stuck with it as Sutton scored eight straight to cut the lead to 23-21 with 7:12 to go. "I knew we were in it then," said Sutton.

In the final minutes of the half, two jumpers by senior center Tom Emerson and another by Sutton (12 points in the half) kept UMass within reach.

But, according to Gerlufsen, UMass lost the game in the opening minutes of the second half. The Minutemen were outscored by a 7-2 margin early on as Gamble scored the first five Huskie points.

A Sutton hoop with 15:33 left followed by two Duane Chase free throws made it 43-40, but the Huskies controlled the inside and were at the point of putting the game away as Gamble was running wild.

"We lost the game there, it was the only time we didn't play hard," said Gerlufsen. "I liked a lot of things we did, but we still have a lot of progress to make."

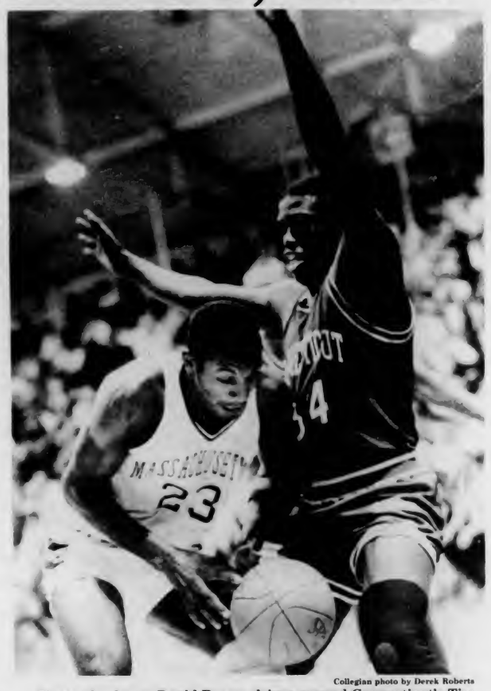
Then Gerlufsen junked his frequent substitution policy and went with a five of Smith, Sutton, Mosby, Fennell and Brown from the 12:41 point on as UMass was trailing 51-42, their biggest deficit of the night.

The Minutemen took off, cutting it to one, 56-55, with 8:44 left on a Smith jumper as the crowd picked up. Tim Coles hit as foul shot and a layup and UConn led by four, 63-59 with 5:40 to go.

But jumpers by Brown (11 points) and then Sutton tied it with 2:27 left. A Brown foul shot gave UMass the lead, 64-63 with 2:15 remaining. Kelley tied it with a foul shot before Sutton's running one-hander in the lane gave UMass a 66-64 advantage with 1:13 left.

Kelley was then called for an offensive foul before Mosby was fouled by Gerry Besselink, intentionally, but was given a one-and-one with 0:13 to go. He missed and Kelley's clutch jumper forced OT.

The Minutemen, who host Hartford Saturday, were 29-of-63 from the field and were outrebounded 43-36, getting only 10 offensive boards. The Minutemen did cutdown on turnovers however, committing only eight.



UMass (70): Lorenzo Sutton 12-25 2-2 26, David Brown 5-11 1-5 11, Carl Smith 3-7 4-6 10, Duane Chase 3-8 2-2 8, Sean Mosby 4-5 0-1 8, Tom Emerson 2-3 0-0 4, Joe Fennell 0-0 3-5 3, Ben Jones 0-3 0-0 0, Matt Ryan 0-1 0-0 0. Totals: 29-63 12-21 70

UConn (78): Earl Kelley 9-19 8-10 26, Eddie Williams 8-10 3-4 19, Phil Gamble 6-13 5-10 17, Tim Coles 4-11 2-2 10, Robert Ursery 2-3 0-0 4, Gerry Besselink 1-3 0-2 2, Cliff Robinson 0-3 0-1 0, Terrence Warren 0-1 0-0 0, Terry Coffey 0-0 0-0 0. Totals: 30-63 18-29 78.

UMass (1-3).....34 32 04 - 70

UConn (3-0).....36 30 12 - 78

Fouled Out: Besselink. Total Fouls: UMass - 20, UConn - 19. Rebounds: UMass 36 (Chase, Sutton 8), UConn (Coles, Kelley 9). Assists: UMass - 19 (Smith 11), UConn - 7 (Kelley). Technicals: None. Attendance: 3,406.

Collegian photo by Derek Roberts

Umass freshman David Brown drives around Connecticut's Tim Coles in action last night at the Cage. UMass lost in overtime 78-70.

Palazzi rookie-of-the-year

ECAC also honors Dwyer, two others

University of Massachusetts freshman quarterback Dave Palazzi grabbed another post-season honor, being named ECAC 1-AA rookie-of-the-year.

Senior nose guard Mike Dwyer was selected as a member of the first team all-stars.

Junior offensive guard Stan Kaczorowski and freshman punter Dimitri Yavis were second team picks as the Minutemen, who finished 7-4, continued to rack-up honors.

Palazzi, the Yankee Conference rookie-of-the-year and second team conference all-star, passed for 1,152 yards and five touchdowns while rushing for 241 yards and seven scores. Dwyer made 90 tackles, had 13 sacks and recovered four fumbles while causing five. Yavis averaged 39.5 yards-per-kick with a longest of 58 yards. Kaczorowski anchored a strong offensive line that returns four starters next season.

— PETER ABRAHAM

Minutemen swimmers roll over Tufts, 75-38.

By JOE ROBERTS
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts men's swim team came up big again with a 75-38 win over what was supposed to be a solid Tufts University team last night in the Minutemen's home opener at Boyden Pool.

"I was stunned. I thought it would be close. If this is an indication of the rest of the season then I'm a happy camper," UMass coach Russ Yarworth said. "The kids all know they did well, they showed the power that has been waiting to come out."

UMass came out strong and never looked back. The undefeated Minutemen, 2-0, won the first three events. John Turner, Fred Marius, Ed Burton, and Paul McDonough teamed to win the 400 medley relay in 3:45.57. Chris Payson then won the 1000 freestyle with a 10:08.62 and Drew Donovan won the 200 freestyle in 1:45.61. He was followed by Jim Flannery's 1:47.57.

The UMass domination, the Minutemen won 10 of 13 events on the night, continued in the 200 yard backstroke as Turner broke the UMass record in the event with a time of 1:59.01. Marc Surette placed second at 2:06.88.

UMass had a 23-point lead, 33-10 after four events. Pat Mullen won the one-meter diving twice because the Tufts doesn't have a three-meter diver. "Mullen has gotten better each year. Bob (Newcomb, a diving coach) has really helped all the divers. But Pat has worked really hard also," Yarworth said.

The Minutemen also placed first in the 200 individual medley, Turner's 2:01.3, the 200 butterfly, Burton's 2:01.63, the 100 and 500 freestyle Donovan in 46.88 and 4:35.0. Donovan beat rival Jim Wong of Tufts by a second in the 100. Marius also placed second in the breaststoke with a 2:19.65. Jim Kuhns placed second in the 50 freestyle at 22.4 beating teammate Mike Bolles by three tenths of a second.

Of the meet, Yarworth said, "They won't be complacent because they can see their goal crystalizing in front of them."

UM swimmers at home

By FRED NADEL
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts women's swim team hosts traditional rival Springfield College today at Boyden Pool. The squad is looking to rebound after two consecutive loses.

The meet holds special meaning to UM coach Bob Newcomb. An assistant at Springfield before coming to UMass, Newcomb hopes to beat the team he once coached.

Springfield is a powerful team, but has lost some of the punch it once had. Two New England champions departed since last season, when the team beat UMass by 36 points.

This season, however, the teams will match up more evenly. Newcomb sites the diving, backstroke, and freestyle events as the essentials for a UM victory.

Margaret Cameron reinjured her shoulder over the holiday, and Newcomb hopes she will be able to swim. UMass' Georgia Wood and Jean Cowen must be able to withstand a powerful SC diving squad.

Allison Uzzo, Kris Henson, Patty Pike, and Sue Freitas must swim well in their events to spearhead a UMass victory.

The Minutewomen are 1-2 this season and will face powerful Maine in Orono on Sunday.

Sports at a glance

UMass Schedule:
Today: Women's Swimming: Springfield College, Boyden Pool, 7 p.m.

The Massachusetts Daily — A REGISTERED STUDENT ORGANIZATION — NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY

Collegian

Volume CXV, Issue 63 UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AMHERST (545-3500) Friday, December 6, 1985

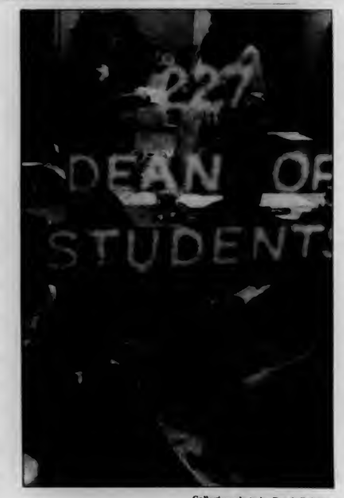
Alumni may back student control of activities fund

By ANDREW WOLFF
Collegian Staff

The president of the University of Massachusetts Alumni Association said yesterday he is considering drafting a letter to Chancellor Joseph Duffey expressing the association's support for the students' effort to retain control over the Student Activities Fund.

Edward Accomando, a 1971 graduate and class president, said he is in the process of gathering information about the issue and will present his case to the 41-member association.

"I am in favor of students taking over their own money," Accomando said from his office in Andover. "That's something I fought for back in the '60s."



The association, which last year raised over $8.4 million in private funds for the University, has no legal power on the issue, and can only make recommendations to Duffey and Provost Richard O'Brien.

The issue in question is whether Randy Donant, director of student activities, can legitimately take control of the Student Government Association's trust fund.

The fund is made up of fees paid by students and goes toward paying for all student activities. It has been operating at a deficit for two years.

Donant said he wants to be able to form a "partnership" with students in erasing the deficit. Stacey Roth, SGA co-president, said the issue is broader than that, and includes the question of who ultimately has power over student money.

continued on page 3

Collegian photo by Derek Roberts

Students occupy Dean of Students William's Field's office in Whitmore Administration Building yesterday afternoon in protest of administrative takeover of the student trust fund. At least 16 of the students were arrested for trespassing after the building closed. More photos page 3.

16 students arrested at sit-in

START protests fund control

By ANDREW WOLFF and JILL LANG
Collegian Staff

More than 16 students were arrested last night after they refused to leave the Whitmore Administration Building following a sit-in, Gerald O'Neil, director of public safety, said.

All but three were released on personal recognizance according to University spokesman Arthur Clifford. The three, whose names were not made available, declined bail and were taken to Amherst Police Station, O'Neil said.

O'Neil said the protesters will be arraigned in Northampton District Court within the next week on trespassing charges.

Two of those arrested and released were: M. Lynne Murphy, president of the University Democrats, and Timothy Kress, 23, a senior political science major.

The demonstrators, protesting the administration's position on the control on the student activities fee allocation, were part of a larger group of about 65 people calling themselves START (Students Advocating Rights Together), which began occupying the building shortly after 1 p.m.

They were protesting the actions of Dennis Madson, vice chancellor for student affairs, and Randy Donant, director of student activities, authors of a Nov. 19 memo which outlined seven guidelines for the control of the Student Activity Trust Fund. The actions give Madson and Donant more student budgetary responsibility thus diminishing student input for the allocation process.

Madson and Donant have said they are concerned with balancing the Student Government Association's approximately $1.7 million budget, which has been operating at a deficit for two years.

continued on page 3

Faculty Senate approves appeals policy

By LESLEY CLARK
Collegian Staff

The Faculty Senate unanimously passed the first-ever undergraduate academic grievance policy yesterday, providing students with a formal appeals process.

"We're thrilled it passed so readily," said Ellen Breslin, a member of the Academic Matters Council which drafted the proposal.

Associate Provost for Undergraduate Education and member of the Council, Norman Aitken, said the policy would go into effect immediately, "unless I learn otherwise."

"The proposal is fair and accomodative," Council member Linda Lockwood said. "It emphasizes informal discussion and effectively utilizes an existing program on campus."

An academic grievance is defined as a complaint by a student alleging that a member of the University (respondent) has caused the student to suffer some harm related to an academic matter. Graduate students who serve as teaching assistants or course instructors may be named respondents. Evaluation of a student's academic performance and the assignment of a grade are not considered grievances under the procedure.

Aitken said grade assignments may be disputed under the grievance policy if the grading is "arbitrary and capricious," meaning that the grade was assigned on some basis other than performance in the course, or that the grade was assigned by an ureasonable and unannounced departure from the professor's previous standards.

The policy states that the burden of proof is on the student, "who must demonstrate, beyond reasonable doubt, that one or more of the specified forms of arbitary and capricious grading has occurred."

The procedure consists of six steps, beginning with direct discussion between the student and respondent "to attempt to resolve the matter by direct conciliation." If the grievance is not resolved the student may take the matter to the respondent's administrative supervisor.

If the grievance has not been resolved the student may take the complaint to the ombuds office which will "seek a resolution through informal communication with both parties." If the grievance is not resolved within 15 days, both parties will be invited to resolve the grievance through mediation.

A hearing panel of five disinterested persons, appointed by the ombuds, is convened if the parties do not choose to go through mediation or if mediation is unsucessful. The panel's decision is final, unless appealed. Appeals may only be made on the basis of violations of due process, meaning that the panel failed to comply with set rules.

"Having a formal procedure in place facilitates informal discussion," Ombudsman Howard Gadlin said.

Assistant Dean in the College of Arts and Sciences, Irma McClaurin-Allen, said the Undergraduate Deans' Council had reviewed the proposal "with a critical eye."

She said the Deans' Council believed the procedure would "permit the University to address specific types of issues in a manner that is both consistent and objective and one which affirms its academic standards and policy of academic freedom."

Pearl Harbor rally

The third annual "Pearl Harbor Day Rally" will be held at 12:30 p.m. today in front of the Student Union Building.

The rally, sponsored by the UMass Republican Club, is organized to commemorate the attack on Pearl Harbor and remember the veterans and war casualties, said Loren Spivack, president of the club.

Spivack said the rally will be postponed to Monday in the event of bad weather, which is predicted for this afternoon.

One of the rally's major themes is to "apply the lesson of Pearl Harbor to the current threats that the U.S. faces today," Spivack said.

Spivack said several club members will speak on various issues surrounding the Pearl Harbor attack which took place Dec. 7, 1941.

"We hope to present an alternative concept on how world peace is maintained and to look at how to do it," Spivack said. "If you don't want any more Hiroshimas, then you need to make sure you don't have any more Pearl Harbors."

—JOEL P. COFFIDIS

Chanuka begins

By TERRY EGAN
Collegian Correspondent

Chanukah, the festival of light, begins this Sunday when the moon is at its thinnest and comes at the time of year when there is the least amount of natural light, according to Rabbi Saul Perlmutter of the B'nai B'rith Hillel.

People feel a need for a festival of light at this time of year, Perlmutter said. The holidays (Christmas, Chanukah, Kwanza) which occur in December "all have aspects of lights," he said.

"Almost every major culture has a festival of lights at this time...to give us hope and strength," he said.

Perlmutter said that Chanukah's proximity to Christmas has affected the way it is celebrated in the United States.

"There's more of an emphasis on giving gifts than there would otherwise be," he said. "It's also gotten more attention than it would have."

Perlmutter said the closeness of the Christmas and Chanukah seasons has created a problem.

"There are many well-meaning people who will say 'merry Christmas' to you. It makes you feel a little uneasy. It is not our holiday. Perhaps it would be better for people to say 'happy holidays' instead," Perlmutter said.

Chanukah is a celebration of the Jews' struggle for religious freedom against great odds, said Perlmutter. In 165 B.C.E. (before the Christian era) the Syrian-Greeks tried to force Jews in Palestine to accept Hellenistic values, forbidding Jews to observe the Sabbath, and put idols in the temple. Despite being outnumbered, the Jews revolted and reclaimed their temple and land.

continued on page 8

Inside:

5 emergency phones installed.....3
Tim Harris on SPD.....9
Basketball faces Hartford tomorrow....20

"I don't want to see a bunch of fat old men sitting in there,"
—Board of Governors member Gary Kaufman on alloting space for a lunch room for Campus Center employees, page 5.

WORLD/NATIONAL

Cancer treatment is 'promising'

WASHINGTON (AP) - News of a promising new cancer treatment at the National Cancer Institute prompted a flood of calls to the federal center yesterday from people desperate for a cure.

"What they're saying is, our mother, our brother, our sister is dying at this very moment. We have nothing to lose. We want to be a candidate," said Carol Case, the institute's chief of public inquiries.

"Our 800 telephone numbers are jammed this morning," said Paul Van Nevel, the institute's associate director for communications.

The callers want information about a new treatment, called adoptive immunotherapy, that turns ordinary white blood cells into "killer cells" that attack malignant tumors. The treatment was announced Wednesday in an article in the New England Journal of Medicine.

In 11 of 25 patients with advanced cancer, doctors were able to shrink tumors by at least 50 percent and, in one case, apparently eradicate the disease.

Officials cautioned that the treatment is still highly experimental, carries toxic side effects and is also very expensive. It is available only at the cancer institute in Bethesda, Md., a Washington suburb.

"This is really the first step," said Dr. Steven Rosenberg, director of the research project.

"But it demonstrates that it is possible to manipulate the immune system and make a variety of cancers in a variety of locations disappear."

Bill may raise minimum wage to $3.55

BOSTON (AP) - Despite strong business opposition, a Senate committee is pushing for a higher minimum wage rate for Massachusetts workers than required by federal law in hopes of helping the working poor in the commonwealth.

The Senate Ways and Means Committee endorsed a bill this week to raise the current $3.35 rate, which has been unchanged since 1981, to $3.55 by Jan. 1 and by 10 cents more in each of the following two years.

Action by the full Senate was expected next week. Similar bills have failed to gain passage in recent years.

"It is disgraceful that the minimum wage has remained frozen at such a low level," said Sen. Patricia McGovern, D-Lawrence, chairwoman of the committee. "Given the lack of leadership on the part of the federal government, the committee feels that the commonwealth should take the initiative."

McGovern said people working a 40-hour week for the minimum wage earn only $134 a week, or less than $7,000 a year. She urged the state to follow the example of Maine and Connecticut, which have enacted similar bills.

"By approving these modest increases, Massachusetts is announcing that it is time to change the minimum wage laws and to recognize the rising cost of living," she said.

But William J. McCarthy, counsel to Associated Industries of Massachusetts, predicted the bill would backfire because businesses would try to eliminate some of the workers that McGovern is trying to protect.

"The employment costs simply go up and they find ways of consolidating employment and eliminating jobs at the lowest level of the wage ladder," said McCarthy, whose trade group represents manufacturers.

The bill also could force businesses to increase wages all the way up the job ladder, thereby increasing their costs, and would encourage companies to expand their workforce in other states, said McCarthy, who promised a heavy lobbying campaign against the bill.

In other action this week, the Ways and Means Committee endorsed a $324.4 million housing bond issue, which would pay for subsidized units of low-income, family and elderly housing plus repairs to current structures.

Corrections:

A pre-view in yesterday's Collegian incorrectly stated that AIDS activist David Summers woud speak at the University of Massachusetts last night. Summers will speak at 7 p.m. Dec. 12 in Campus Center room 101.

UMass student John Moebes won the mural contest for the Kosher Dining Comomons.

Randall Forsberg was misquoted in yesterday's Collegian. He said, "As long as we have long range capabilities used to put down political change we will not have a stable peace."

Yesterday's Collegian incorrectly identified Undergraduate Student Senator M. Lynne Murphy as Senator Lynne Murphy.

RIP-OFF–Live Aid organizer Bob Geldorf holds bootleg tapes of the Live Aid concert at a press conference yesterday. The tapes, on sale in the mid-east, are robbing the movement of cash for famine release, according to Geldorf.

Today's staff:

Night Editor.....John Yonce
Copy Editor.....Jim Patriquin
Layout Technician.....Bethanne Moskov
Photo Technician.....Maria Bull
Production Supervisor.....Norm Achin
Production.....Pam Marchand, Laura Eell, Amy Constant, Paula Saucier, Lynn Smiley

Collegian photo by Brian Guarnotta

★ rally

continued from page 1

Chancellor Joseph Duffey said last night that he could not comment on the arrests, but he supports the students' right to protest.

"I certainly support their right to raise questions aboutimplementation of a policy," Duffey said. "But there's no justification for violating the picketing code and staying in the building after it was closed."

The Senate passed a motion on Nov. 20 asking for Donant's resignation and an apology from Madson. Last night, the Campus Center Board of Governors postponed until next week a vote on a motion requesting Donant's resignation as a non-voting member of the board because the author of the motion, graduate student and board member John Hayes, was not present.

Donant said last night he does not intend to resign.

"Power and control should not be an issue," he said. "The issue is when are we going to get ourselves together to form a partnership."

The leaders of START and Madson attempted to negotiate the issue, but they reached a stalemate because neither side could agree on which student leaders should be present at the negotiating table, SGA co-president Stacy Roth said.

Earlier in the day, START sponsored a rally for student rights on the steps of the Student Union.

Madson said he preferred to speak only with five student leaders but START wanted seven leaders to be present.

"I would like to build upon the relationship I have with the officers. I do not want to be confounded by strangers in the room," Madson said.

"This effort is more than just an SGA issue," Ruddock said. "The needs of the entire group must be addressed, and the entire group supports these seven people."

According to Murphy, at 6:45 p.m., protesters were handcuffed, brought in groups of three to police headquarters in Dickinson Hall and then released on their own recognizance.

Of those arrested, four were women.

Shortly before 5 p.m., O'Neil warned the students, gathered outside the second floor office of the dean of students, that the building would be closed and anyone remaining would be arrested.

Collegian photo by Derek Roberts

Student protestors march to occupy Whitmore Administration Building yesterday (top) after a rally protesting Dean of Students William Field's and Student Activities Director Randy Donant's takeover of the Student Activities Trust Fund. Donant (above) looked tired later last night. Students have repeatedly called for Donant's resignation.

★ alumni

continued from page 1

Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs Dennis Madson, during a student sit-in yesterday protesting the proposed SATF change, said about the possible letter: "I think most alumni understand the funds of the University are controlled by the administration. I will be glad to talk to the people (alumni) that have that opinion."

Accomando said if the continued student autonomy over the SATF issue means the $12 fee will be raised he would not support the students.

"I'm not going to support anything if that means a $70 increase," he said. "I am in favor of student autonomy, I am not in favor of an increase in student fees."

Collegian photo by Derek Roberts

A University police officer is silhouetted outside the doors to the lobby of Whitmore Administration Building last night as protestors mill around inside.

5 Help phones installed in parking lots

By SHERYL JEAN
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts will be a safer place with the addition of five new emergency "HELP" phones installed in main parking areas, said Larry Holmes, assistant director of public safety.

There are now a total 10 emergency phones located in heavily-traveled areas of campus, and the five new ones are the first to be added since 1980, Holmes said.

"The phones are strategically located and easily accessible,"said Mary Dumas, a community officer of the Department of Public Safety.

"The five new emergency phones are located on the parking lot booths at the entrance to parking Lots 62, 63, 64, 65 and 71," Holmes said. The other emergency phones are located in various areas throughout campus.

Holmes added that the decision of where to place the phones was based on studies indicating high problem areas.

It's easier to report an accident by using a nearby phone, rather than reporting it directly to the police station, Dumas said.

The emergency phones, Dumas said, are directly hooked up to the main desk at the campus police station in Dickinson Hall and incoming calls are automatically registered. The police are able to simultaneously answer an emergency call and dispatch an officer, Dumas said.

The phones are easily distinguishable since the boxes are painted bright yellow with "HELP" written in red lettering with a yellow light on top of each box.

"There are surprisingly very few problems with damages to the phones," Holmes said. There have been only a few cases of vandalism to the phones, he added, because people realize they may need to use them some day.

The phones serve as an educational message, urging people to report incidents in the community, Dumas said.

The project is being sponsored by the University Contingency Fund, according to Trey Williams, special assistant to the vice chancellor of student affairs.

Wallet thefts are common

BY JEANETTE DeFORGE
Collegian Staff

Mary had $100 taken from her dorm room in Orchard Hill. She left her room for a few minutes to go the bathroom, she closed her door but left it unlocked. Her bookbag containing the money was lying on her bed, and when she returned it's contents were scattered all over the room and her $100 was gone.

Mary's experience is not uncommon. Her wallet is one of the 10 to 15 wallets which are stolen in an average month on campus, Lawrence Holmes, the assistant director of public safety at UMass said.

"The majority of wallet thefts are preventable," Holmes said. "Ninety-five percent of all thefts (of wallets) are from unlocked areas," he said.

Wallets are mostly taken from dorm rooms and desk drawers, Holmes said.

The total amount of wallets stolen from academic buildings recently has been about the same as that taken from dorm rooms. The instances of wallet thefts in dormitories are usually slightly higher.

"Lately (though) there have been more thefts from academic buildings," Holmes said.

In many incidents the owner leaves his or her wallet unlocked for a few minutes to go to the bathroom or run an errand. When he or she returns their wallet is gone.

"It only takes 10 to 15 seconds to rip them (wallets) off," Holmes said.

Fifteen wallets and their contents totaling $814 were stolen from the UMass campus in November. In October, 11 were taken. approximately the same number of wallets are taken from UMass each month, Holmes said.

"(Occassionally) somebody from outside comes in and makes a few hits," but there are no professional thieves on campus because there isn't enough money to make it worth their while, he said.

Many wallets are found later in places like rubbish barrels, restrooms, and in dark stairways. Others may be thrown in elevator shafts or found on the top of elevators.

"People who steal wallets try to get rid of the things that make it traceable (like the licenses and other identification cards)," Holmes said. "They have to get rid of it fast and most will throw them anywhere they won't be found."

The money loss is inconvenient but "duplicating papers takes lots of money and time." Many items stolen from wallets are not replaceable, Holmes said.

According to state law, if a wallet with contents valued at $100 or under is stolen after being misplaced by its owner, the thief is guilty of larceny, a misdemeanor. But if the contents are valued at more than $100, the thief will be punished under felony charges.

Computerized Buy-back

Book Rocks

UMASS BOOKSTORE

Dec. 9-13 16-20

9:00-4:00

TEXTBOOK ANNEX

Fast · Reliable · Efficient

BOG allots new space for bicycle co-op

By PATRICK JOHNSON
Collegian Staff

The Campus Center Board of Governors voted last night to allot a new space in the Student Union to the Student Union Bicycle Cooperative during a meeting marred by a confrontation between a board member and the speaker of the Undergraduate Student Senate.

Speaker John Ruddock appeared as a guest before the board to discuss a demonstration that had taken place in the Whitmore Administration Building earlier in the day. While Ruddock was speaking, Christopher Walsh, a representive of the Greek Area Government who was sitting next to him, reacted to one of his comments.

Walsh told Ruddock he did not like being personally attacked by him, and if he were to continue, Walsh said, "I'll make a physical (attack)." When Ruddock replied that he did not like being threatened, Walsh said, "I don't like faggots."

Ruddock then stood up and demanded an apology from Walsh. When he refused, Ruddock said he wanted the incident to be recorded in the minutes of the meeting, and then walked out.

When Walsh said his comment was not directed toward Ruddock specifically, other board members said they were not convinced. Board treasurer Fran Hegeler said, "There is no place for slurs in a public forum." Jeff Collins called Walsh's comment "unprofessional" and "childish" and made a motion that the board vote whether to censure him next week.

In other matters, the board voted 13-0, with one abstention, to let the bike co-op use the space formerly occupied by Union Records Unlimited. The Campus Center Building Services had wanted to use the area for storage and as a lunch room for employees.

Gary Kaufman was in favor to give the space to the bike co-op because, "I don't want to see a bunch of fat old men sitting in there."

Polka-thon ends fund raising

By DANIEL MILLER
Collegian Staff

About 20 disc jockeys will spin polka records from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. on WMUA Radio tomorrow before wrapping up a week-long fund drive tomorrow night.

On Nov. 24, public radio station WFCR ended its week long fund drive, in which they raised $102,000, two thousand more than their goal.

The University of Massachusetts campus radio station began its annual fund drive Sunday.

"We want to raise $10,000," WMUA Program Director James Neill said. "But we really don't expect to get it. It's more of a target figure.

"I expect that the majority of the money will be made during the polka-thon Saturday," Neill said. WMUA General Manager Pat Mahoney said that some of the 20 disc jockeys come for the polka-thon come from Chicago each year to participate in the event.

"Our polka-listeners have traditionaly been very good to us," Neill said. "They have given us several thousand dollars each year."

For fiscal year 1986, the Student Government Association funded WMUA $61,000. Neill said that the SGA usually funds "about 60 percent of our annual operating costs." Bill Stepchew, WMUA Chief Engineer, estimated that WMUA last year had an operating budget of $83,000 and that $56,000 was allocated by the SGA.

Neill said money from the fund drive will be used to maintain or replace old equipment, pay for the station's Associated Press wire service subscription, and for the relay of the station's signal through phone lines from the station to its transmitter at Dickinson Hall.

GREAT GIFT IDEA
Special Holiday Gift Boxes sent UPS
Party Platters,
Wide Variety of possible
Secret Santa/Undercover Rabbi
presents
THE CHEESE SHOP
79 Main Street, across from Plumbleys
Imported Cheeses Coffee Beans
Bulk Tea Fresh Pasta
Delicious Giant Cookies and other Baked Goods
Gourmet Groceries
Daily until 6; Saturday until 5; Sundays 9-1
We are next to C & C Liquors!!

GREAT GIFTS
Clothing Earrings
Stocking Stuffers
Posters Cards
Mugs Rugs Vases
Scarves Ornaments
Crystals Calendars
Stuffed Animals - Toys
Boxes, Tins, Jewelry
Candy Gloves Tea Sets
* * *
Cotton – Wool – Alpaca
Scarves, Sweaters, Slipper Socks
HOURS: Weeknights 'till 9 p.m. Dec. 6-23
Daily 10 A.M. to 6 P.M. Sun. 12-5
Great Gifts...
Great Prices
THE MERCANTILE
Amherst Carriage Shops
and
Northampton (Next to Iron Horse)

The MUSIC EVERYONE WANTS
This CHRISTMAS
THE CURE THE HEAD ON THE DOOR CASSETTE
Rubén Blades y Seis del Solar Escenas CASSETTE
JONI MITCHELL Dog Eat Dog CASSETTE
PETE TOWNSHEND White City
Includes Face The Face Give Blood Secondhand Love
CASSETTE
MARSHALL CRENSHAW Downtown CASSETTE
DEL FUEGOS Boston, Mass. CASSETTE
INXS Listen Like Thieves
Includes This Time Falling Down The Mountain
CASSETTE
STEEL PULSE
Babylon
The Bandit
ELEKTRA
. . .is at FOR THE RECORD
(located in FACES, downtown Amherst)
At Amherst's most complete Record Store, you'll find something for everyone in our comprehensive selection of LP's and Cassettes in all categories of music. . .
Lots of 45's + 12" dance records, too,
and now Compact Discs
Albums Pictured on sale
5.99 ea.
LP or Cassette
Sale ends Dec. 12
159 N. Pleasant St. 256-6134

THE HUNGRY U

WE ARE NOW OFFERING FREE
DELIVERY TO UMASS 6 DAYS A WEEK!*
TRY OUR HOMEMADE PIZZA, SUBS, SALADS AND OTHER SPECIALTIES! * STARTING DEC.3rd
Our Thick Crust is Made Fresh Daily
With Our Special Homemade Sauce.
We Offer A Wide Variety Of Toppings Delivered Hot To Your Door.

Deliveries Made:
Tue., Wed., Thur. 4:30-1:00 am
Fri., Sat. 4:30-2:00 am
Sun. 4:30-1:00 am
Closed Monday

55 University Dr., Amherst
Minimum $3.00 549-5713

$1.00 OFF! ANY LARGE PIZZA
Offer Good Dec. 6 - Dec. 12 (*) With This Coupon
Not Valid With Any Other Special Offer

RUSSELL'S LIQUORS
18 Main St. Downtown Amherst 253-5441

BEER:
CLOSE OUT. . .Braumeister 12 oz cans.....$7.00 case
Utica Club 12 oz. long necks.....$6.49 case + dep.
Budweiser 12 oz. cans.....$11.99 case + dep.
Coors & Miller Lite 12 oz. cans.....$11.99 case + dep.

LIQUOR & WINE:
Vodka or Gin 80°.....$8.99 1.75 liter
Champagnes & Sparkling Wines.....$2.99 + up 750 ml
Don't Forget Your Secret Santa!!

There's Something for Everyone
on your list at

THE OLD MILL
Rte. 63 N. Amherst
1 mile north of UMass
Open Daily 10-6

THINK CHRISTMAS AT OUR ONE STOP SHOP

CHANUKAH CELEBRATION
Sunday, December 8th, 7 pm

• Candle Lighting
• Latkes
• Trivia Contest
• Music

5 - 7 pm — Help make Latkes in Earthfoods Kitchen

Free Admission
Sponsored by B'nai B'rith Hillel
Cape Cod Lounge, Student Union

DISTINGUISHED TEACHERS AWARD NOMINATIONS

DEADLINE: DECEMBER 20, 1985

IF YOU KNOW A FACULTY TEACHER OR TEACHING ASSISTANT/ASSOCIATE WHO IS TRULY OUTSTANDING AND DESERVES RECOGNITION, SUBMIT A NOMINATION IN WRITING WITH A BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF WHY YOUR NOMINEE DESERVES THE AWARD.

STUDENTS, FACULTY, AND ALUMNI MAY MAKE NOMINATIONS.

SUBMIT NOMINATIONS BY FRIDAY, DEC. 20th

TO: DISTINGUISHED TEACHING AWARDS COMMITTEE
GRADUATE STUDENT SENATE
919 CAMPUS CENTER
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS

Menchu to speak

By NANCY KLINGENER
Collegian Staff

Rigoberta Menchu, a Guatemalen Indian woman and author, will speak at Amherst College tomorrow in "A Dialogue With Rigoberta Menchu."

Menchu became well-known for her autobiography, Me llamo Rigoberta Menchu, co-authored with Venezuelan anthroplogist Elisabeth Burgos and translated into English as I, Rigoberta Menchu. In it, Menchu describes the exploitation of her people and the violence committed against them by the Guatemalen military.

Menchu learned Spanish to become a spokeswoman for her people after her parents and younger brother died of torture. Her talk this Saturday will be in Spanish, with English translated provided.

The Five College Latin American Studies Council, several departments at the five colleges, and community groups for peace in Central America are sponsoring the lecture. It will be at 7:30 p.m. in the Converse Assembly Room.

VCR worth $675 stolen from Ballroom

A Panasonic video cassette recorder valued at $675 was reported stolen Tuesday afternoon from the Student Union Ballroom. It was taken sometime between November 23rd and 25th, University of Massachusetts police said.

In other police reports:

A mitre saw, some saw blades and wrenches valued at $650 were reported stolen Wednesday afternoon from Bowker Auditorium. They were property of the Fine Arts Center, police said.

A Ross 10-speed bicycle was reported stolen Wednesday morning from a bike rack on the southwest side of Boyden Gymnasium. It was locked and chained, police said.

Speaker describes role of UN

By ROBYN RUGGIERO
Collegian Correspondent

With a positive thrust, Canadian Ambassador to the United Nations, Steven Lewis, discussed the United Nations as "Capable of making an immense contribution to human kind" in a University of Massachusetts lecture last night titled "Whether or Wither the United Nations?"

Lewis called the 40th anniversary of the United Nations a marginal turning point for the U.N. because of the positive attention it has attracted in the last few months. He mentioned that The New York Times covered the 40th anniversary.

"To assume that the U.N. can solve the quest for peace is to put a burden on the United Nations that it cannot bare," Lewis said, adding that people must recognize that the U.N. cannot solve the problems of arms control and disarmament and that the U.S.A. and the U.S.S.R. have a better chance at achieving this in Geneva.

The United Nations deals with questions that arise through the conflicts in question on a day-to-day basis. "We give them no pause, the United Nations pressures the super powers on these issues...alerting them that they have to respond...that is the beauty of the U.N." Lewis said.

According to Lewis, one of the great problems that the United Nations faces is problem solving concerning controversies between nations. He attributed this to the principles of soverienty. The U.N. attempts to prevent problems from spreading, he said. "It is the United Nations which allows world opinion to be focussed and expressed."

Lewis said that the United Nations "may not bring peace...but all and all it is truly a touch of sanity in this world...the U.N. will be the corridor through which the problem is explored" even though the solution may occur outside its door.

VALLEY BOOKS
Carriage Shops
Books at 40-80%
Off List Price
Thousands of new books
on every subject
Art Books, Kids Books,
History Books, Photography
Cooking, Wine and Drink
SAVE ON BOOKS FOR CHRISTMAS
Mon-Fri 10:30-5:30
Sat 10-5
Sun 12-5
549-6052
Check, Visa or Mastercard

19 Shopping Days
till Christmas
and only
5 days till the Collegian
Special
Holiday
Edition

HOLIDAY TRAVELERS COLLEGE STUDENTS...
RENT A CAR WITH CASH!

Try Our WEEKEND SPECIALS
Credit Cards Accepted.
Daily Rate $18.95
Unlimited Miles

FRI.-MON. NOON 700 MILES FREE... $50.00
FRI.-TUES. NOON 900 MILES FREE... $65.00
FRI.-WED. NOON 1,000 MILES FREE $80.00

CALL THE OFFICE NEAREST YOU:
★PAYLESS CAR RENTAL CORP. OF MASS.
180 BOSTON RD., SPRINGFIELD, MA 782-7191
★ RICONO CAR OF LATHAM, 875 Albany-Shaker Rd., Latham, N.Y. (518) 783-1304
★ RICONO CAR OF ALBANY, 466 Central Ave., Albany, N.Y. (518) 436-3681
★ RICONO CAR OF SCHENECTADY, 1220 State St., Schenectady, N.Y. (518) 372-0421
★ PAYLESS CARS RENTALS OF SYRACUSE, 58 So. Bay Rd., Syracuse, N.Y. (315) 455-5821
Also Passenger Vans, Cargo Vans, Mini Vans...Call Today

SPORT Style

"86"
Football
Jersey
12.95

Photographer Dwayne Autery
Locatd in the Campus Center
M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3
UNIVERSITY STORE

SALE!
3 DAYS ONLY...
FRI/SAT/SUN DEC 6,7,8

100% COTTON
TURTLENECKS
in a dozen dazzling colors

REG. 8.95
NOW
6.95
3 DAYS ONLY

3 FOR
19.95

A Store full of Holiday Gift Ideas!
FAGS
Downtown Amherst Daily 10-6, Sun. 12-5

★ chanukah

continued from page 1

When the Jews went to relight the menorah candles in their temple, according to legend, they found only enough oil to light it for one day. They lit the menorah despite the lack of oil, and the candle burned miraculously for eight days. The Chanukah menorah is a symbol of faith and the miracle celebrated at Chanukah. One candle is lit for each of the eight days of the holiday, Perlmutter said.

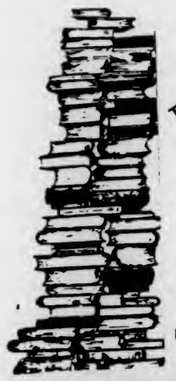
A seven-foot menorah will be lit Monday through Friday in the Student Union at 4 p.m. each day. Menorahs and candles are also available at the B'nai B'rith Hillel in Student Union room 302 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. said Perlmutter.

Vilas speaks today

Argentine sociologist and author Corlos Vilas will speak on the Sandinista revolution in Nicaragua at 4 p.m. today in Campus Center room 805.

Vilas has written the award-winning book, Perfiles de la Revolution Sandinista and is considered an authority on Latin American planning and development. Today's lecture is sponsored by the Faculty and Staff for Peace in Central America and the Five College Latin American Studies Council.

—STEVEN HIGGINS



THE UNIVERSITY STORE PRESENTS THE:

YELLOW SALE

20-60% SAVINGS Off Publishers List Price limited quantities and titles

on sale through December

THE BEST BARGAIN IN MATHEMATICS - series by Springer-Verlag

(on special sale tables located in the Trade Book Dept.)

Located in the Campus Center

UNIVERSITY STORE

Store Hours
Monday-Friday 9-5
Saturdays 10-3

YOUR TEXTBOOK ALTERNATIVE

As a customer of the Jeffery Amherst Bookshop, you're acquainted with our reputation for personal, professional service. We invite you to give yourself that same convenience when it comes to ordering texts. Consider the advantages:

- we order the quantities you request — we won't cut your estimate
- computerized ordering
- regular written reports on the status of your order
- prompt response to title queries
- immediate reporting on publisher out-of-stocks
- desk copy loans from store stock

But we do more than make your life easier. Consider the advantages for your students when they buy books at the Jeff:

- 10% off all non-course books
- 10% off all school supplies
- a serious committment to stocking used texts—a crucial factor in student budgets
- access to all our class lists —a valuable reference for student planning
- free, fast special ordering
- payment by charge or check - with no ID hassles
- longer, more convenient hours —we're open Sundays year-round... and extra hours during rush

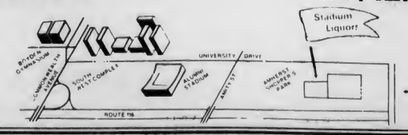
Every shopper is concerned with value—and since you have a choice, why not choose the professional service, the efficiency and ease of ordering your texts with the Jeffery Amherst Bookshop.

Jeffery Amherst Bookshop

55 South Pleasant Street, Amherst
253-3381 253-3870

Kegs ★
Beer ★



STADIUM LIQUORS
Amherst
Mass

Wine ★
Soda ★

Lowenbrau 12 oz bottles..... $12.50 + $1.20 case
Meisterbrau 12 pack cans..... $4.40 + .60 12 pack
Busch 12 oz cans..... $9.80 + $1.20 case
Kronenbourg bottles..... $3.70 + .30 6 pack

Nouveau Beaujolais..... $4.99 750 ml
Posti Asti..... $5.95 750 ml
E & J Brandy..... $8.90 L
Vodka..... $9.95 1.75 L
Lord Calvert..... $12.99 1.75 L

175 University Drive

253-5595

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian

ED/OP

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted.

Founded in 1870

Executive Board—Fall 1985

Dode B. Levenson, Editor in Chief
Anne McCrory, Managing Editor
Larry Bouchie, Editorial Editor
Peter Soderberg, Production Manager
Elizabeth Young, Business Manager
Sherry Sharfman, Business Manager

Board of Editors—Fall 1985

Dode B. Levenson, Editor in Chief
Anne McCrory, Managing Editor
Tom Middleton, News Editor
Larry Bouchie, Editorial Editor
Renee Bacher, Arts Editor
Peter Abraham, Sports Editor
Derek Roberts, Photo Editor
Bethanne Moskos, Women's Issue Editor
Kimberly Burge, Black Affairs Editor

Energy expended for what?

Timothy Harris

The Thomas Jefferson Society, Students for Government by Referenda, the UMass Republican Club, and now Students for Participatory Democracy; do the handful of right-wing ideologues that plague this campus never tire of forming new organizations to hide behind?

SPD, the newest acronym on the block, seems to have been formed for the express purpose of harassing MassPIRG by challenging the optional $2 semesterly fee which is their source of funding. MassPIRG is a non-partisan student group which works on environmental and consumer issues. SPD is a group of liberal-bashers who claim to be interested in "student rights."

The Chronical of Higher Education on March 20 carried a revealing article with the long-winded but telling headline, "Conservative Student Groups Try to Topple PIRGs by Halting Use of Negative Check-off Fee System." In its second breath the title went on, "self-styled 'student rights' activists have succeeded in only a few cases but are not ready to quit."

A national campaign against the PIRGs has, according to this article, been organized by the United Students for America Foundation. A list of groups supportive of the anti-PIRG drive reads like a Who's Who of the Collegiate Right: Young Americans for Freedom, Students for a Better America, and the ubiquitous College Republicans.

In light of this information it should come as no surprise that one of SPD's organizers is none other than Loren Spivak, president of the UMass Republican Club. Evidently it was decided that attacking PIRG under the aegis of the Republicans could create a certain credibility gap. Another of SPD's members is the organizer of Students for Government by Referenda, Bill "Let The People Speak" Collins. Bill has been conspicuously absent from a signature drive to put the presence of Accuracy in Academia on campus to a student referendum. Could it be that Collins only wants the students whose politics agree with his own to be heard?

Many of us have had more than enough of Colins' peculiar brand of "populism." It is a populism that plays off of students' own perceived powerlessness and takes on a completely negative face. Collins is against MassPIRGs $2 fee, conversely he attacks environmentalism; he is against a $12 SATF fee increase, conversely defunding an anti-oppression coordinator position at SCERA; he is against the BOG boycott of Coors Brewery, conversely supporting a far-right lobbying group. It is a "populism" that is manipulative in nature and wearing thin.

Collins' constituency at the South West Area Government will no doubt remember a controversy over Coors brewery last semester. Well, Coors once again is playing a role in campus politics for it turns out that the Adolph Coors Association has provided the anti-PIRG USA Foundation with $15,000 in seed money. The Coors Brewery, home of James Watt, is notorious for its vocal opposition to pro-environment legislation.

By using the very same tactics that have been employed by groups of young conservatives across the country, SPD displays an appalling lack of originality. One would hope they would have the intellectual depth to adapt a strategy fit for their own campus. MSPD would have MassPIRG funded out of the Student Activities Trust Fund during a fiscal crisis, in which groups already competing for a slice of he SATF are underfunded. One would think the "fiscally conservative" students of SPD, if I may be so presumptive as to describe them as such, would encourage alternative fund-raising strategies to take pressure off of SATF.

The somewhat disappointing "party-line" strategy of SPD is likely to continue, for they will no doubt campaign with the same USA Foundation supplied materials that have been used on other campuses. It is ironic that students who bill themselves as free-thinking individuals would bow to the manipulations of powerful interests such as Coors.

Timothy Harris is a UMass student.

The absence was noted

Rhonda Swan

The absence of black faces in the crowd which gathered outside the Student Union Building for the START rally yesterday is indicative of the general apathy that exists within the black student body of this University.

For the past 20 years the black population of UMass has been actively protesting against and trying to correct the injustices done to them by the white majority, and rightly so. However, blacks have begun to perceive virtually all important issues as either black or white and this is not the case.

Blacks do not exist separately from whites. Neither do black students live isolated from white students on this campus. Every student pays tuition and fees to attend this insitution each semester. Therefore every student contributes to the SATF and the monies belong to the entire student body.

Threats by the administration to take control of those monies affect all students equally. It is time black students realized that student issues are their issues too.

The sponsors of the Jeans and Tee Shirts party and the Funk-a-Thons and the various "Smokers" have absolutely no trouble getting participation from the black student population to attend these various events.

However, where were you during the anti-apartheid rallies and where were you yesterday? It is time for black students to stop complaining about not being represented and come out of the closets and start representing yourselves. Wake up and start participating while you have the opportunity for there may come a time when oppurtunity stops knocking.

Rhonda Swan is a member of the Collegian staff.

Letters

Columnists level-headedness

I am writing to show appreciation for Stephen Erickson's columns that I've read this semester in the Collegian. "No thanks, not needed" was thoroughly entertaining. I like reading articles by a person who seems to keep an open mind and is obviously well-read.

Too many columns have been spewings of feelings-gone-fact; what people want to believe. Militancy is easy to come by. Extremists from either political pole often tend to show ignorance and try to "represent their heads through showing their hearts." I personally am more politically "left" than Erickson, but still appreciate his apparent level-headedness. I hope he keeps up the good writing.

Dan Sanford
Northeast

Random Notes

Larry Bouchie

At this time of the year, everyone should be aware that the new state anti-hazing law does not solely apply to the Greek Area. For instance, the perennial "Secret Santa" rites, which sometimes include demonstrations of what may be considered public humiliation, among other things, may be punishable by fines of up to $1,000 and expulsion. So beware, and match the responsiblity which is now legally expected of the Greeks.

* * *

Speaking of holiday time, those of you who've been living in the library lately have already missed two favorite holiday programs—Charlie Brown and Rudolf the Red Nosed Reindeer. But don't despair—Union Video Center taped Rudolf (check its schedule for replay times), and the best is yet to come: the Grinch Who Stole Christmas is on tomorrow night. Check TV listings for time and channel.

* * *

Word from usually cautious legislators back on Beacon Hill is that Chancellor Duffey has earned an unusually good reputation for himself and the University, which may explain the recent impetus to obtain the estimated $35 million necessary for a new sports arena.

Meanwhile, cynics on campus look toward that amount of money and wonder about the extent to which this campus could finally be brought up to par physically. I guess we'll have to choose between dodging potholes and flaking walls and ceilings, or enjoying an on-campus hockey team and a larger facility for basketball games, concerts, and convocations.

* * *

Members of the UMass Republican Club are understandably disappointed by the rescheduling of an Accuracy in Academia debate until next semester. The AIA representative, who was to have debated Chancellor Duffey this week, had tentatively agreed to speak at the Republican Club rally scheduled for today.

Speaking of which, a Boston Phoenix article this week featured an AIA piece, which mentioned UMass AIA target Samuel Bowles, but not Duffey's previous television debate with an AIA rep. The article went on to paraphrase comments by Lee Csorba, a representative of the group, who sheepishly admitted an utter lack of response to a Boston College area solicitation for student monitors.

* * *

I continue to be encouraged by the calibre of speakers that UMass has been attracting lately, the most recent speaker being Tom Wicker from the New York Times. A gracious and tempered man, Wicker exuded an aura of reason and responsibility I didn't expect in a labeled liberal.

Larry Bouchie is a Collegian columnist.

Why emphasize the negative?

In response to Stephen Erickson's "mediocre" Collegian column, "No thanks, not needed," it is our opinion that his letter is not needed. Why must one emphasize the negative aspects of life, especially at this time of year? Surely we could compose a list a mile long of things that don't make us happy; but we won't. Rather we'd prefer to point out the positive. For instance;

-music
-the fact that we can celebrate the Holidays once again
-an education to open up our minds to the world
-sunsets
-modern medicine and its ability to prolong life
-freedom of choice
-ice cream
-a first snowfall
-getting unexpected mail
-being able to eat daily
-the unbiased nature of children
-love

For each of us, the list grows longer as it gets more personal. If we dwelled on the negative list it would only get longer; however it is also true of the positive. It's your world, you choose how to see it.

Mari Gadlin
Meg Garrity
Margie Kelley
Orchard Hill

Albert Collins warms crowd

By JONATHAN PERRY
Collegian Correspondent

Albert Collins and the Icebreakers did more than heat up a chilly winter's eve at the Iron Horse Cafe in Northampton Tuesday night. They set the place on fire.

Although the legendary bluesman and his six-piece touring band were two hours late for their scheduled 7 p.m. performance, the first of two shows, they quickly warmed up the crowd with a blistering opening jam that merely hinted at what was to come.

Upon joining the Icebreakers on stage, which was far too small, Collins drew quick forgiveness from a cramped, cheering audience as he served up his specialty: A generous helping of biting blues that cut through the air like an icepick.

Collins, whom Musician magazine has called "the most powerful blues guitarist in the world," certainly lived up to his billing. Backed by the Icebreakers, Collins displayed the trademark sound that stems from his minor-key tuning, pickless playing, and the capo that is permanently fastened halfway up the neck of his Fender Telecaster.

During the one and a half hour set, Collins combined his engaging flair for story telling, which is highlighted by his exaggerated gestures, facial expressions, and vocal characterizations, with a sometimes sneaky, sometimes stinging, guitar.

The Icebreakers also held their share of the audience's attention, most notably the hurricane horn-blowing section of Gabe Flemming (trumpet), Abb Lock (saxophone), and Chuck Williams, who was armed with two saxophones hung at each hip. While all three fired off wailing solos, Williams was the most dazzling, blowing both saxophones simultaneously.

Bass player Johnny B. Gayden and drummer Soko Richardson comprised the guts of the band, while keyboard player Leon Blue provided a classic example of blues keyboard when he could be heard.

Albert Collins

Gayden and Richardson did a superb job of anchoring Collins' shivering solos, but the axeman had a long rope attached to that anchor.

During "Mastercharge," a humorous, funky tune, Collins cheerfully waltzed through the audience with his guitar, a trail of cord following him, headed upstairs to the balcony, down again, and disappeared out the front door onto the street. Without missing a note.

His despairing vocal highlighted "Angel Of Mercy," while, as usual, his Telecaster did some talking of its own. Collins captivated a sympathetic crowd by first milking lingering notes from his guitar, then brought them to attention with savage chords and a flurry of notes that sliced, rather than swirled through the room. It was the biggest snowstorm yet for New Englanders.

ARTS

Coplin's MFA exhibit celebrates creativity

By
JENNIFER ACKERMAN
Collegian Staff

There is something a little out of the ordinary going on at Hampden Gallery in Southwest this week. Marilyn Coplin, a Fine Arts graduate student, is having a thesis exhibition of her work. What is so extraordinary about that?

It all started when Marilyn moved into the gallery on Monday. She has been living and doing her work there as part of her exhibit. The idea of inviting the viewer to share in the creative process is why she is temporarily residing at Hampden until Friday. That's not all though.

I got a chance to talk with Marilyn about her work, which was very exiting as her contagious enthusiasm kept her nearly bouncing off the walls.

She was bubbling over about the ideas represented in her work. Coplin is concerned with how to interpret nature with her own creative process. This process involved is the whole idea of the exhibition, which involves mythology, primitive and tribal symbolism, and imagery from nature all wrapped up in a fantastic mixed-media presentation.

The show is comprised of several major pieces, two wall paintings and three clay sculptures. There is a progression between the sculptures. The first one is a cluster of smooth bone-like shapes in a rectangular pool of water.

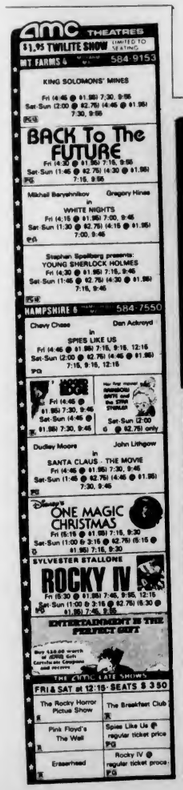
The second sculpture is highly textured from pressing against old tree bark. Marilyn also pointed out a few spots where there are magic symbols tucked away in the nooks and crannies.

The third part has a lot of energy. The artist describes this as "mountains trying to take flight...liberation from a primordial source to become airborne." This piece conjures up images of the natural erosion process—the effects of wind and rain on rock, and the artist is the creator of this erosion.

The progression from the first of these sculptures to the third is the process in which the imagination is liberated by the creativity of the artist.

The imagery of mountains and figures in flight are the inspiration for the wall paintings as well as the sculptures. The unfinished painting that I saw was full of energy with the same delicacy of the sculptures, but Marilyn was in the process of creating this part of the exhibit, and it wasn't complete.

The artist explained that she never really completes a work, so it was important to convey this in her exhibit. She sees art as a continuous creative process, and she often goes back to old work to add new ideas. Glorifying the process of creativity in a performance installation is an enlightening and educational experience for the viewer of the work, who is allowed to share with the artist rather than seeing only the finished piece.

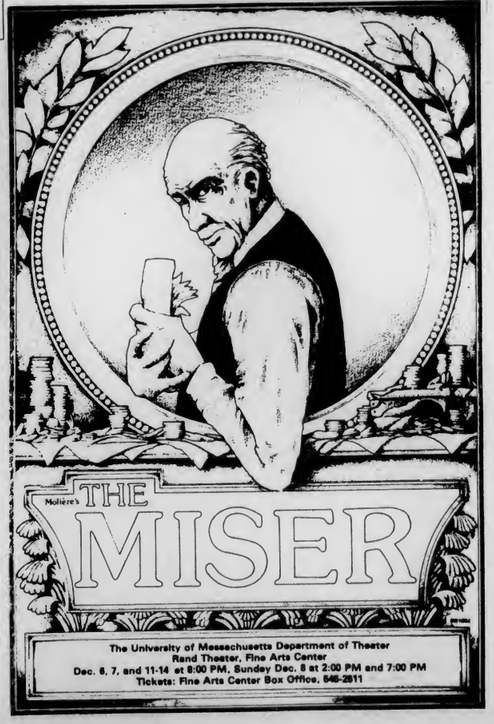


There will be a closing reception tonight from 5-7 p.m. If you stopped by to see Marilyn and her work during the week, go back to see what new things she has done since the beginning of her show. Stop by even if you haven't seen it yet—it is hard not to enjoy her work.

Marilyn Coplin adds color to works exhibited in her MFA Thesis show at Hampden Gallery this week. The closing reception is tonight from 5-7 p.m.

DONT BE A DISORIENTED YOUTH...
READ THE ARTS PAGE

AMHERST CINEMA



Friday - Saturday
Gregory's Girl	7:15
Experience Preferred But Not Essential	9:00
Sunday - Tuesday
The Desk Set	7:15
My Favorite Wife	9:00
Double Feature $3.00

30 AMITY ST. AMHERST 253-5426

Auditions
December 9th & 10th
7 P.M. in Hampden Dance Studio

Dance Class
Tu Th 2:30 - 4:00
for Dance Production on Pyramids
during Southwest
Week
Offering
2 CREDITS

For more info. call 546-9613

The University of Massachusetts Department of Theater
Rand Theater, Fine Arts Center
Dec. 6, 7, and 11-14 at 8:00 PM, Sunday Dec. 8 at 2:00 PM and 7:00 PM
Tickets: Fine Arts Center Box Office, 545-2511

RENT A WRECK
New & Used Cars
Trucks & Vans Also Available
North Amherst
Rent-A-Wreck
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880

James H. McManus
eating place
• OPEN
6 A.M.-3 A.M.
SUN.-THURS.
• OPEN 24 HOURS
FRI. & SAT.
CAMPUS PLAZA
(NEXT TO SUPER STOP & SHOP)
Rte. 9 • Hadley/Amherst
256-6889

SALE
Pre Xmas
25% Off
Everything
Lodestone
4th thru 14th

ARTS

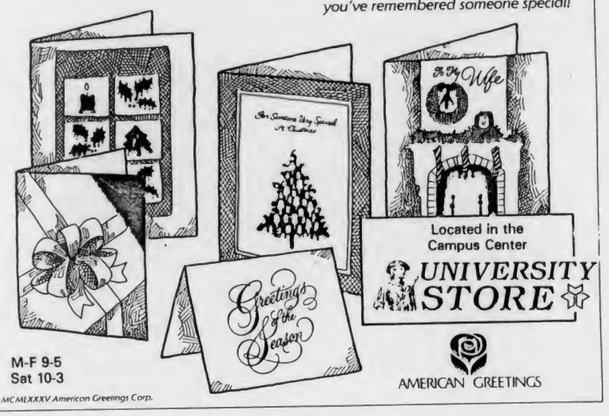
By DON LIPPER
Collegian Staff

SPIELBERG! SPIELBERG! SPIELBERG! I love that man and I don't care who knows it! To put it simply, he is what you might call...how shall I put it? God.

Great. Now that I've got that nice, healthy rant out of my system, I can tell you all about the new SPIELBERG movie. Young Sherlock Holmes is the story of what would happen if Holmes and Watson had met as teenagers. According to the fiction of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, Holmes and Watson first meet as middle aged men in A Study in Scarlet. According to Chris Columbus, who wrote the screenplay for this movie, as well as the screenplays for Gremlins and Goonies, Holmes and Watson meet at a prestegous public school in England.

Strange deaths are occuring all over England. Sane and steady men suddenly scream at unseen horrors and eventually kill themselves fleeing these phantoms from the unknown. Enter young Sherlock, a surprisingly emotional yet perceptively bright boy.

This movie is not just for Sherlock fans. It has many of the plot devices that are the trademark of a SPIELBERG film. Although my buddy Steve just produced the film, his influence on it is pervasive. We have an Egyptian death cult and many other references to the Indiana Jones movies.



One of the best things about this movie is that we get to see where Sherlock got the props that made him an archetype. But even better than that we get see why Sherlock became the man he became. By the end of the movie we see why Sherlock became cold and logical, why he rejected any romantic contact with women and why he got addicted to cocaine.

Barry Levinson, who directed Diner, slows down the breakneck pace of your normal SPIELBERG film and allows us to absorb a bit of that Victorian atmosphere. But unfortunately, like Robert Zemeckis in Back to the Future, the director's efforts are over shadowed by the producer's name.

Weekend Best Bets: If you're in a Holiday mood, Disney's One Magic Christmas starring Harry Dean Stanton (Repo Man, Paris, Texas) and Mary Steenburgen is supposed to be quite good.

That's All Folks.

Christmas Cards
...make the season merry, and show you've remembered someone special!

Located in the Campus Center
UNIVERSITY STORE
AMERICAN GREETINGS
M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3
© MCMLXXXV American Greetings Corp.

INTERNS WANTED
OPENINGS:
4 to 6

RESPONSIBILITIES:
1) create, design and instruct a one credit course in the area of health and fitness.
2) administration of the fitness testing program
3) training/fitness consultation

QUALIFICATIONS:
1) coursework and/or work experience in exercise physiology, kinesiology, nutrition, exercise prescription/testing, psychology, sport management, mechanical principles of motion
2) leadership qualities
3) desire to use and build upon your knowledge and expertise in an area within the fitness field
4) ability to work independently

APPLICATIONS:
available in B-30 BakerHouse in the Orchard Hill area. Phone: 545-2883

DEADLINE: Monday, December 16, 1985
INTERVIEWS: scheduled 16 Dec. thru 20 Dec.
DON'T WAIT! APPLY NOW!

Spirit Haus

Beer Specials
Swinkles. . .$2.99 6/pack
Grolsh. . .$3.95 6/pack
Bass Ale. . .$4.70 6/pack

Wine Specials
Harveys Bristol Cream. . .$8.49
Jean De pierre
French Sparkling Wines
Raspberry
Mimosa $3.99
Strawberry
Christmas Gifts
for everyone in the family gift wrapping available!

As usual many liquor specials in store

Spirit Haus Inc.
338 College St. Amherst, MA
256-8433 253-5384

Ivory's film Savages is off target

By JOE SHARTRAND
Collegian Staff

SAVAGES Starring Suzy Blakely Directed by James Ivory

There is nothing worse than a bad surrealist film. Idiot images, putrid pretentiousness and a senseless series of boring pictures are what make bad surrealism. James Ivory's Savages is one of these.

This sad excuse for a film begins with a sign that says, "The Mud People." A tribe of chalky, white people appear; humping, killing and acting like the average savage. They are about to perform a sacrifice on one of their members when suddenly a red croquet ball bounces past them. They pick it up as if it were something from heaven. They forget their sacrifice and go into the woods to explore, where they discover a deserted mansion that eventually civilizes them.

A surrealist film is the hardest kind to make, because each image has to be on target. Each image has to be funny, sad, or satirical. You can't be even slightly off in a surrealist film, or you blow the whole thing. Ivory's images are way off. His satire is not funny and uninspiring. His weird images don't even seem that weird, they just seem amateurish. For example, a dead man is rotting at the bottom of the pool and one of the savages, who is now civilized, goes diving down to the dead man to pick his pockets. This image is hardly funny, or thought provoking. It is just useless.

This whole film is useless, because it fails in its attempt at satire. Bunel's The Discreet Charm of the Bourgeoisie, which this film is fashioned after, is funny because of its weird images and excellent satire. Ivory only succeeds in boring the audience to death with his reaching for the weirdness and brilliance of Bunel.

Savages, in the end fails in surrealism because it is amateurish and sloppy. It uses uninspiring images that provoke no interest or thought, whatsoever. Ivory's monstrosity only provokes agony.

THE FINE ARTS CENTER
CONCERT HALL
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

JAZZ
with saxophonist
MICHAEL BRECKER
and the University Jazz Ensemble I
Jeff Holmes, director
and the Chapel Jazz Ensemble
David Sporny, director
Thursday, Dec. 12, 8 p.m.
Fine Arts Center Concert Hall

Also
Join Michael Brecker and combo for a mini-concert and rap session
Wednesday, Dec. 11, 8 p.m.
Hampden Theatre

Both events Free
Info: 545-2803

Family and friends aid Gleasman '89 in her quest for the Miss Firecracker crown in Beth Henley's The Miss Firecracker contest to be performed at Smith College Friday and Saturday and Dec. 10-13

NOTICE:

A coffeehouse will be held to raise money for Lord Jeffrey Inn workers layed off by Inn management in November. The event will take place at 7 p.m, Dec.13 at 16 Spring St in Amherst (across from the Inn).

Local musicians will include Lisa Gaughran, Sam Bowles, Ann Ferguson, Paul Newlin, Gerry Scoppettuolo, and Jonathan Stevens.

A minimum donation of $3 will be requested at the door. Tickets are also available in advance at Food For thought Books, in Amherst.

Coffee, tea and homemade baked goods will be available.

The event is sponsored by the Lord Jeff Workers' Benefit Association.

SPORT Style

Embroidered V neck Sweater
14.95
Assorted Colors
Photographer Dwayne Autery
M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3
UNIVERSITY STORE

FOUR SEASONS
Wines/Liquors

BEER SPECIALS
BUD & BUD LIGHT.....12 oz. cans.....$10.99
BUSCH.....12 oz. cans.....$8.99
HEINEKEN.....12 oz. cans.....$13.99
STROHS.....12 oz. cans.....$9.99
GENESEE BEER.....12 oz. btl.....$7.99
PIELS DRAFT.....12 oz. cans.....$6.99

SIX PACK SPECIALS
HERFORDER PILS....$3.99 SWINKLES....$3.25
DAB. $3.99 KILLIANS IRISH RED w/rebate. $2.75

LIQUOR & WINE SPECIALS
VODKA and GIN.....1.75 L.....$8.99
PEPPERMINT SCHNAPPS.....1.75 L.....$9.99
AMARETTO.....1.75 L.....$11.99
MALIBU RUM.....750 ml.....$6.99
RON ROBERTO RUM.....1.75 L.....$10.99
George Buboeuf.....$4.49
Jean Beoln.....$4.49
Louis Tete.....$4.49
Berringer White Zinfandel.....$4.99
Premiat Wines.....2 for $5.
NOUVEAU BEAUJOLAIS HAS ARRIVED
Route 9, Hadley 584-8174

THE SPOKE

A Drinkery to Meet, Relax and Enjoy

12 oz. Drafts 75¢
Pitchers $3.75

Spoke Long — Sleeve T's are in!

Beer Of The Month
Imported from Holland
GROLSCH $1.25

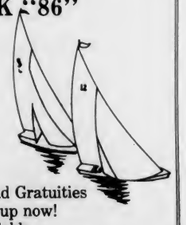
Spoke Drink of the Week -
Amaretto Sour $1.25

35 EAST PLEASANT, AMHERST, MA 01002

Sophia bookshop

For the Holiday Season
Books
Cards
Calendars
Gifts

103 North Pleasant Street
Amherst 253-5574



MONEY MOTIVATED?

If You Are Enthusiastic, Have A Strong Clear Speaking Voice and Have the Confidence to Prove What it Takes, Keep Reading This

We are a Major Industrial Tool Company Expanding a new office in Amherst, Mass. Telemarketing is the future successful road to sales in the 1980's, and we are growing rapidly. 3 shifts allow you to work around your schedule, and you can earn up to $10.00 per hour while training. There are still 25 positions available. Salary + Commissions + Bonuses. For an appointment, Call 7 AM-7 PM, Dave 413-256-4101

American Travel Services presents

SPRING BREAK "86"

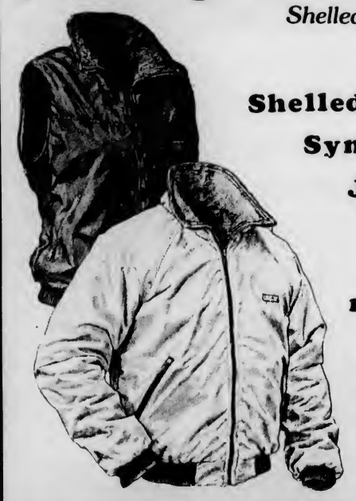
Ft Lauderdale
Hotel from $139.00
Air: New York $209. Rd Trip
Boston $228. Rd Trip
Holiday Inn Oceanside $209.

Nassau/Paradise Island
Hotel & Air from $329.
Pilot House Hotel $379.

All prices include Taxes and Gratuities
Don't be left out, sign up now!
Limited space available
For more information: call Rob 549-5303

SPORT Style

Polar Fleece Jackets 36.95



Assorted colors and styles

Photographer Dwayne Autery

Located in the Campus Center
M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3
UNIVERSITY STORE

patagonia®

Shelled Synchilla™

Shelled Synchilla Jackets

reg 98.00

SALE! $83.00

WILDWATER OUTFITTERS
93 Boltwood Walk
Amherst, MA 01002
413-253-7779

BLACK AFFAIRS

KWANZAA is an option to the traditional Xmas

By KIMBERLY A. BURGE
Collegian Staff

Many people believe that Christmas and Hanukkah are the only holidays celebrated in December. Kwanzaa is holiday that many black Americans celebrate as an alternative to the traditional Christmas.

Kwanzaa is the celebration of Nguzo Saba or The Seven Principles. The Seven Principles are: UMOJA (Unity), KUJICHAGUILA (Self-determination), UJIMA (Collective Work and Responsibility), UJAMAA (Cooperative Economics), NIA (Purpose), KUUMBA (Creativity), and IMANI (Faith). The concept for the holiday comes from the agricultural peoples in Africa who celebrated and gave thanks for the harvests at certain times during the year.

Over the past years, there has been some confusion about Kwanzaa. Dr. M. Ron Karenga, author of "KWANZAA: Origin, Concepts, Practice" and the creator of KWANZAA wrote that "KWANZAA is an Afro-American holiday, not a continental African holiday. There is no holiday on the African continent with the same symbols, practices, or principles."

The spelling of KWANZAA has also been a major source of confusion. KWANZAA is a derivative of the Swahilian word kwanza which means first. However, Karenga added an extra "a" for two reasons: 1) to represent an expression of black Americans values and 2) to distinguish the holiday from the word kwanza which doesn't convey the distinct identity and purpose of the holiday.

KWANZAA is celebrated from December 26-January 1. Karenga chose to celebrate KWANZAA during this time "To capitalize on the holiday spirit and orientation already in existence. This time marks the end of high Christmas prices and avoids crass commercialism and it gives Blacks an alternative to the existing holiday a chance to celebrate themselves and their history rather than simply follow the practice of the dominant society."

There are seven basic and two supplementary symbols of KWANZAA: mazao (crops), mkeka (mat), kinara (the candle holder), vibunzi (ears of corn), zawadi (gifts), kikombe cha umoja (the urity cup), and mishumba saba (the seven candles). The Nguzo Saba and the bendera (the national flag or standard) are the supplementary symbols.

Mazao represents the historical roots of the holiday, mkeka represents tradition, kinara represents the continental Africans, vibunzi represents our children and each family uses as many ears of corn as it has children, zawadi represents the seeds sown by the children and of the fruits of the labor of the parents, kikombe cha umoja represents the first principle which is unity, and mishumba saba represents the seven principles.

The lighting of the mishumaa in honor of the seven principles is a ceremony which is held during KWANZAA. One black candle is placed in the center of the kinara then three red candles are placed on the left and three candles are placed on the right. The black candle is placed in the middle because it represents black people in unity and unity is the central principle and it is lit on the first day because it represents the first principle.

On the second day, the red and green candles are lit alternately with the red candles representing struggle and the green representing the future.

Announcements

There will be a reception for Jamaican artist Glenwood Lawrence from 4 p.m.-8 p.m. today at the Augusta Savage Memorial Gallery located on the first floor of the New Africa House.

Lawrence is a painter, author, and composer whose works titled: "A Broom to Fly" will be exhibited until December 20th. His exhibit is sponsored by the University of Massachusetts Arts Council.

The 11th Annual "Battle of the D.J.'s" will be held from 10 p.m.-4 a.m. this Saturday at the Ameherst College Valentine Dining Complex.

Videos will be shown from 10 p.m.-11:30 p.m. and food will be served by Sister Yvonne. Admission is $4. This event is sponsored by the Straight Ahead Executive Committee.

DELANO'S

Fine Food & Spirits
Free Taco Bar 9 til it lasts
Monday and Tuesday Night
December Beer Special
KRONENBOURG
57 N. Pleasant St., Amherst

Ski

UMASS SKI CLUB
presents
WINTER PARK COLORADO
JANUARY 5-12 $425.00 per person

Your Trip Includes:
- Roundtrip jet flight Newark/Denver
- Roundtrip transfer from Denver to Winter Park
- 7 nights luxury condominum lodging at The Pines
- 5 days skiing at Winter Park and Mary Jane ski areas
- Welcome Party and mountain orientation
- Ski race with prizes
- All taxes and tips included

For more information contact:
UMASS SKI CLUB
or Tom Gerraty 549-5913; Dwayne Head 256-4287

"The best trip, the lowest priced!"

The Special Charm of One of a Kind Jewelry

Antique and unique styles available in a wide range of prices.

J. AUSTIN JEWELER

on the common, amherst, 253-3986
mon.-sat. 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

JUSTIN RYAN'S

GRIZZLY BEAR NIGHT

T-Shirts
Door Prizes

TONIGHT
FRIDAY DEC. 6th

$1.00 A BOTTLE

Christmas Wraps and Trims

Deck your gifts in the season's finest!

Located in the Campus Center
UNIVERSITY STORE
M-f 9-5
Sat 10-3
AMERICAN GREETINGS
MCMLXXXV American Greetings Corp.

Daily Collegian

Advertising that works!!

Call: 545-3500

Joe's Paradise

GOURMET FRIED CHICKEN

The crunchiest, crispiest, tastiest fried chicken and piping hot biscuits.

Single pieces or Paradise Pacs of up to 20 delicious pieces.

Also fresh pocket sandwiches, salads and desserts.

Eat in or take out orders

All fresh chicken prepared with natural ingredients, fried in pure peanut oil.

Downtown Amherst 31 Boltwood Walk (through the alley, next to Taco Villa).

253-7494

The Smith College Theatre Department presents

THE MISS FIRECRACKER CONTEST

a comedy by Beth Henley directed by P.J. Tone, AC

December 5*, 6, 7, 10*, 11*, 12 and 13
Theatre 14, Smith College
8:00 p.m.
General Admission: $4
Students and Senior Citizens: $2
*Dollar Nights
For information and reservations call 584-3023, weekdays 12:30-4:30
Tickets on sale in Seelye Basement
Handicapped accessible

• LPs • BLANKS • CASS • 45s

MAGS • IMPORTS

AL-BUM'S

50 Top 100 LPs $6.99

ALL CDs IN STOCK $12.99

DON'T FORGET WE

BUY • SELL • TRADE

USED LPs, CASSETTES & CDs

ALBUMS • 181 N. PLEASANT STREET • AMHERST • 253-7137

POSTERS • PINS • ACCESSORIES

SUNGLASSES

THE FINE ARTS CENTER
CONCERT HALL
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

JAZZ ALL STARS

Ray Brown, bass
Milt Jackson, vibes
Hank Jones, piano
Max Roach, drums
Stanley Turrentine, sax

Saturday, December 7, 8 p.m.
Tickets $13.11

CLEVELAND ORCHESTRA

Christoph Von Dohnanyi, Music Director

MOZART	Symphony No. 25
HARTMANN	Symphony No. 2
DVORAK	Symphony No. 7

Monday, December 9, 8 p.m.
Tickets: $20.18

• Gift Certificates Available •

Five College Students Half Price. Tickets available at Fine Arts Center Box Office, Springfield Civic Center and DATATIX Outlets
Call (413) 545-2511 or 1-800-243-4842

MASS. APPROVED INSPECTION STATION

RADIAL TIRE SALE

P155/80R13

$29.95

Includes Mounting plus MA State Tax

North Amherst Tire & Auto Center

"Full Service Tire Store"
78 Sunderland Rd., No. Amherst, MA
Across from Watroba's Store

549-4704

Most Major Credit Cards Accepted

NOW OPEN

Riverboat Village

APARTMENTS, SOUTH HADLEY.
1, 2 or 3 BEDROOM UNITS

BEAUTIFUL MODELS FURNISHED BY CHAP DELAINES & EPSTEIN FURNITURE CO

•Swimming Pool •Tennis Court •Club House •Shuffle Board Court

FINANCED BY MHFA
LEASED ON OPEN OCCUPANCY BASIS
LESS THAN 5% NON-HANDICAPPED

OPEN SEVEN DAYS A WEEK
10 AM - 4 PM

PHONE 532-9461
532-9462

CALL FOR DIRECTIONS

Riverboat Village
River Lodge Rd
So. Hadley, MA 01075

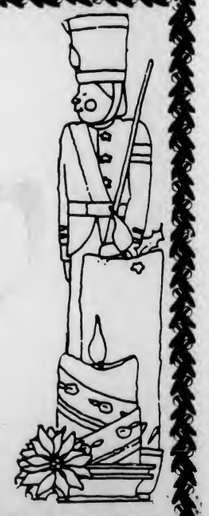
The Whately Inn

Quality Food Prepared To Order

Chestnut Plain Rd.
Whately
1-665-3044

Featuring Steve Kloc's Famous Broiled LIVE LOBSTER

Also Serving Louisiana Cajun Entrees



Also Steaks, Prime Rib, Seafood

DIRECTIONS: take 116 north to South Deerfield, south on route 5-10 1½ miles. Right on Christian Lane ¼ mile from center of town.

Open: Mon-Sat 5-10 pm Sun 1-9

UMASS GIFTWARE

Photographer Dwayne Autery

Located in the Campus Center

Open M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3

UNIVERSITY STORE

Doonesbury

BY GARRY TRUDEAU

BLOOM COUNTY

by Berke Breathed

Bat Brain

By Bill Dearing

GORDY

By Gorde

Freaker Patrol

By Dowe and O'Brien

Weather

Today: A little snow ending as flurries by late afternoon. Highs in the lower to middle 30s.

Tonight: Early flurries then clearing and cold. Lows in the teens and 20s.

Tomorrow: A few clouds and cold with highs in the middle to low 30s.

Menu

Friday, December 6

LUNCH
Chicken Cutlet Sandwich/Cranberry Sauce
Spanish Shrimp and Rice Casserole

BASICS LUNCH
Garbanzo Vegetable Stew
Chicken Cutlet Sandwich/Cranberry Sauce

DINNER
Meatloaf/Marinara Sauce
N.E. Style Scrod/Herb Crumb Topping
Eggs with Sharp Cheese Cold Plate

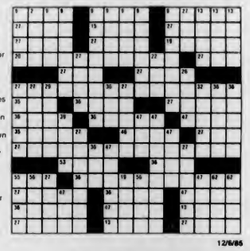
BASICS DINNER
Fiesta Rice and Cheese
N.E. Style Scrod/Herb Crumb Topping
Eggs with Sharp Cheese Cold Plate

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Edited by Trude Michel Jaffe

ACROSS

1 Sudan's neighbor
5 Pound down
9 ——— say (ha!)
14 Aerie, for example
15 General Bradley
16 One of the Sitwells
17 Sacred bull
18 Cognomen
19 At what place?
20 Optimist's sustenance?
23 Red or Ross
24 ——— dissent
25 Connections
27 Diner's basics
35 RR's in the city
36 Command to a canine
37 Navarro of the screen
38 Pen points
40 One kind of bath
43 Special performance
44 Easterner, in a way
46 Succulent plant
48 Tiny thing
49 Bite for Bumstead?
53 Zola title
54 Driver's need
55 Compass pt.
58 Sustenance for Maugham?
64 Topsoil
66 Thor's parent
67 Fellows
68 Forelimb bones
69 Bye-bye
70 Personification of love
71 Coin for 3 Down
72 So be it
73 Erik Bruhn, for one



DOWN

1 Fellow
2 Pueblo dweller
3 Rene's friend
4 Quit
5 Insurance policies of a sort
6 Nagpur nanny
7 Lansbury role
8 Magic word
9 Time for resolutions
10 Anglo Saxon letter
11 Competes
12 To be, Fr.
13 Frightless bird
21 Original ark-wright
22 Caboodle's companion
26 Unaccompanied man
27 Baccharite Var
28 Cherubini opera, 1794
29 The Diamond ——— as the Ritz Fitzgerald
30 P.I.
31 Entreaties
32 Muscat resident
33 Relating to the wind
34 Scythe handle
39 Cut
41 Menu phrase
42 Butta native
45 Ancient
47 Place in a Steinbeck title
50 Three ——— match
51 Sioux
52 Fixed in place
55 Thrall
56 Mosel feeder
57 Wagner's earth goddess
59 Cheese center
60 Location
61 Atmosphere
62 Rhone city
63 Being
65 Ear or hat

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

S	H	A	P	E		B	A	T	S		A	D	A	H
M	A	N	O	R		O	T	T	O		S	A	R	A
E	L	A	T	E		O	R	A	L		P	L	O	D
E	T	T	A		C	L	A	M		L	I	M	O
		T	H	E	A	P	P	L	E	C	A	R	T
S	P	O	O	R	S		L	E	A	S	T
L	U	R	E	S		B	R	I	N	D	E	R	O
E	R	A	S		E	L	A	N	D		P	A	I	L
Y	E	N		K	L	E	I	G		R	O	N	D	O
		G	I	N	A	S			N	A	S	T	E	R
T	I	M	E	S	O	U	N	S	H	I	N	E	S
R	O	A	S	T		T	O	N	E		I	V	A	N
O	R	D	U		A	N	N	I	E		A	B	E	L	E
I	D	E	E		A	R	E	A		C	L	E	A	T
S	E	S	S		A	S	S	T		T	E	R	N	S

12/6/85

12/6/85

EXAM ALERT!

A workshop to help you learn to manage time and stress as you prepare for exams.
Open to all students.
December 9
7 - 8:30 p.m.
Campus Center Rm. 803
Sponsored by Mental Health Division of UHS

Summit Leather

There's nothing like the appeal of leather in fashions, accessories and more.

Hadley, MA 586-2014

BELTS • BUCKLES • HATS • REPAIRS
WALLETS • BRIEFCASES • SHEEPSKINS
MOCCASINS • JACKETS • HANDBAGS

Now's the time to call...

North Amherst Motors
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880

Expert Repairs & Reconditioning

The Smith College Theatre Department presents

THE MISS FIRECRACKER CONTEST

a comedy by Beth Henley directed by P.J. Tone, AC

December 5*, 6, 7, 10*, 11*, 12 and 13
Theatre 14, Smith College
8:00 p.m.
General Admission: $4
Students and Senior Citizens: $2
*Dollar Nights
For information and reservations call 584-3023, weekdays 12:30-4:30
Tickets on sale in Seelye Basement
Handicapped accessible

Spread some Holiday Cheer send a friend a Collegian Holiday
Classified

Get your ad in the Special Holiday Edition on Dec. 11.
Come to Campus Center Room 113 from Dec. 2 to Dec. 6

Daily
— Collegian —

★ hoop

continued from page 20

but still has been getting 5.3 boards a game.

Having the top two rebounders being guards (Sutton and Brown) is a dangerous precedent for UMass to set this early in the season.

Hartford defeated New Hampshire 59-47 in its last outing. UMass was a 57-54 loser to that same UNH team in its second game. The Hawks, in their second year as a Divison 1 team, lost to Penn, 70-66 in their opener.

Hartford, under fifth-year head coach Jack Phelan, returns its leading scorer from 1984-85 in senior Ulysses Garcia.

Garcia, a charter member of the slow white guard's club, stands only six foot, but has scored 35 points in the two games Hartford has played this season. He had 12 against UMass last season. He's a good jump shooter that can hurt UMass if given the chance.

Garcia is joined by John Hulbert in the backcourt. Also small (6-1), Hulbert has scored 16 points in two games. The frontcourt of Larry Jenkins (6-3), Marvin Powell (6-6) and Mark Mitchell (6-7) is one of the few UMass will have a decided height advantage over.

Hartford's tallest player in fact, is 6-8 freshman Conan McPhernon, who hasn't played in two games despite his fierce sounding name.

Jenkins has scored nine points-per-game this season, Powell 7.5 and Mitchell, 4.5

"We have to keep up our intensity," said Smith.

Collegian photo by Derek Roberts

UMass coach Ron Gerlufsen talks strategy with captain Carl Smith. The Minutemen host Hartford tomorrow.

"We're on the verge of being there. The guys who were there last year remember what happened against Hartford last year and we want this game. It would be a big one for us to take."

MINUTEMEN MUTTERINGS: Chase has eight blocks this season. . .UMass opens at the Lobo Classic (December 27-28 at the Universitv of New Mexico) against Michigan State. .the Hawks will soon have two transfers eligible. Anthony Moye and Doug McCory came from UConn and Holy Cross respectively. . .UMass is a grim 42-of-68 (61 percent) from the line this season. . .the game is part of a doubleheader with the 5:15 p.m. women's game against Springfield.

SPORTSWEAR
Factory Outlet
Next to Super Stop & Shop
Route 9 Hadley, MA

All
N.F.L. Football
MLBB Baseball
50-75% OFF

Sweat Shirts
Reg. $32.00 NOW $15.

Beer Mugs
Reg. $17. NOW $4.00

NFL Telephones
Reg. $65.00 NOW $25.

Stadium Blankets
Reg. $32.00 NOW $10.

Wall Plaques
Reg. $14.00 NOW $4.00

Infant Wear
Reg. $22.00 NOW $9.99

Coffee Mugs
Reg. $8.00 NOW $2.00

Toddler NFL Wear
Reg. $13.00 NOW $6.99

NFL Back Packs
Reg. $18.00 NOW $5.00

Plus much, much more!

Located in the Campus Center
M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3
UNIVERSITY STORE

UMass, 2-0, on a roll

Swimmers host Springfield

By JOE ROBERTS
Collegian Correspondent

The University of Massachusetts men's swim team will try to keep its perfect record intact as it hosts Springfield College Saturday at 1 p.m. at Boyden.

UMass head coach Russ Yarworth said he expects the Minutemen, 2-0, to have the same tough meet against the Chiefs, 2-0, that he expected Wednesday night against Tufts.

"It's going to be close but we're the favorites. We're going to have to swim as well as we swam against Tufts," Yarworth said. "They have some strong freestylers and strong boards (divers)."

The two teams match up well with both teams' stong points pitted in the freestyle events. Drew Donovan will have a tough 100 freestyle opponent in Larry Jordan. Last year, Jordan placed second to Donovan at the New England meet.

Yarworth also said that this Springfield team is one that demands respect and can't be taken lightly. Being a battle between unbeatens, he said that whichever team is hot will win.

"If Springfield comes out and does to us what we did to Tufts then it will be interesting," Yarworth said, refering to his team's victory over Tufts.

"They (UMass) are swimming the way that we train to swim. In practice we train to decrease the splits so a swimmer is swimming faster at the end of a race. We did that against Tufts and we swam a smart meet. The swimmers see it working now and their confidence is growing," Yarworth said.

Sports Notices

Anyone interested in playing women's lacrosse this spring should attend a meeting on Tuesday at 5 p.m. in Boyden 153. If unable to attend, call coach Pam Hixon at 545-1942.

Intramural basketball officials are needed. Mandatory clinic will be held on Monday and Tuesday at 7 p.m. in Boyden 249. Basketball team managers meeting will be held at 6 p.m. on those days.

★ Trustees

continued from page 20

David C. Bischoff, dean of the school of physical education, supports the extra rink and is hopeful it can be worked into the plans before the Massachusetts State Legislature votes on the project in January.

Speaker of the House George Keverian (D-Everett) and vice chairman of the house Ways and Means Committee, Rep. William Mullins (D-Ludlow) have both voiced support of the plan along with Amherst rep. James Collins, who said he expects easy passage of the plan through the Statehouse.

The trustees and Bischoff are hoping for a $17.6 million share of the state's capital outlay budget with the remainder being raised through a bond issue and being paid off by a student fee.

That fee, $47 a semester, will not be billed to students until after the arena is completed, estimated by about 1990. The trustees approved the plan under the condition that the student fee was under $100 a year.

The lone trustee to vote against the plan was student trustee Daniel Burgess, the co-president of the Student Government Association. Burgess instead said that UMass was in need of study space.

But, as evidenced by the the fact that over 2,000 students were turned away from the first basketball game this semester at the 4,024-seat Curry Hicks Cage, a new building is badly needed.

"That showed the desperate need for a bigger arena on the campus," said Bischoff.

The new ice rink would also pave the way for ice hockey to return to UMass as a varsity sport for the first time in six years. Many feel that UMass, the largest state university in New England, would be able to field a successful team with the wealth of high school talent in the region.

The plans for turf and lights at the staduim, which would've opened the staduim for lacrosse, field hockey, soccer and intramurals, were scapped because the arena cost almost $7 million more than originally expected.

The tennis teams will return as NCAA Division 1 sports and the tennis courts at UMass will undergo renovations.

The arena plans, along with the recent success of the UMass athletic teams in most sports, would seem to indicate that UMass is on its way to becoming a respected athletic power in the nation, a position that due to the size of the school, should've been attained long ago.

SUPERIOR PIZZA
Simply Superior Pizza
FAST, FREE DELIVERY
17 Montague Rd.
North Amherst
549-0626
With any Large or Small Pizza, get second item FREE
Expires Dec. 21, 1985

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Come to Collegian Office CC 113 • 8:45 3:45 Mon Thurs. 8:45 2:30 Fri • Deadline is 2 days prior to publication day
Cash in advance • Phone number FREE

ACTIVITIES

Submit. . .

Celebrate Chanukah Sunday, 12/8, 5-7 pm make latkes - Earthfoods Kitchen, 7 pm - candlelighting, food, music, fun - Cape Cod Lounge. Sponsored by Hillel

Jesus is Lord. Come and worship with us! Teaching and fellowship. Sun in CC: see listing: Amherst Area New Testament Fellowship

Pre-Christmas Worship Celebration: "God is with us" led by Rev. Kevin Lewis, Sunday, December 8, 5:00 pm, James House Classroom, Southwest

Anyone interested in trying out to be a lifeguard. Test is on December 7 at 8:00 am at Boyden Pool

AUTO FOR SALE

Audi 1977 100LS 4 dr AT AC SR FM & Tape FWD great winter car in excellent mech shape good radials 20# mpg on regular best $1500 German car around 665-8217

1977 Chevy Malibu Classic new snows & brakes must sell to pay bills $1400 or best offer call 665-3921

1970 Volvo stwgn 4 speed great condition strong engine $1200/BO Lawrence 549-5698

Dodge Omni GLH 1984 25000 miles silver excellent condition wide tires & wheels AM FM radio cassette 4 speakers quick sale only $6250.00 549-3597 after 6 pm

1970 Cutlass w/rebuilt 350 runs good & clean; new trans new brakes, radials good, good spare, drive it away for $250 or BO call Mike * 6 pm 256-8788

1975 Dodge Dart dependable, standard, some rust $400 or BO Kathy 549-4600 ext 348

1969 Mustang midnight blue, 4 speed, toploader, headers and lots of other fun speed equipment $1200 or BO 323-6701

Chevy Malibu $650 firm 549-3591

1976 Pinto automatic runs well $500 or best offer 584-5742

Jeep 1979 CS-7 soft top low mileage runs great asking $3500 256-8056

79 Mercury Zephyr 22* mpg runs great; book value - $2200 - will sell at a loss $1500 or BO - must sell immediately! - Joe 549-6529

BUY ME!

1973 Buick LeSabre, full extras good tires runs great $350 Ken 665-4766

"CASH"

Cash for your baseball cards please call Mike 546-6105

$50 DOLLAR REWARD!

Lost wallet: Red nylon with IDs, bank cards and license. No questions asked. Call 256-6864 or drop off at Info Desk

ENTERTAINMENT

Rack-A-Disc Entertainment Agency for the best party this semester. DJ's, large screen video, rentals. 549-7144

Do you need bands for your party. Professional bands that didn't just get together yesterday. You name the sound and songs you want. We'll set up the band.

Different varieties from $150 call Steady Sounds 549-0385

Turn the Tables professional party/club D.J. 5 yr experience widest selection cal 24 hr. 586-9691

How to prevent nuclear war: a film shown at Earthfoods Friday 11:30-1:00

"Listen Up!" Governors Program Council presents five five bands! Pajama Slave Dancers and more! Wed. Dec. 11 S.U.B. pm

FOR RENT

Sneaderland, 1 bdrm apt. on busline, 420/month, everything included Avail. immediately! 665-3440, leave message

Next to UMass. Share apartment with woman and son. $200# Call 549-0024

Single room available all inclusive rent! Available to female or male Jan 1 call Sheryl 256-1645

University Womens Rooms available for Spring 86 semester home cooked meals & close to campus call for more information 545-0627

2 lrg rooms in N Amherst house 200$ util call AM PM 549-7515

One bedroom apt: Cliffside, on bus rte. $340/mo. all utl incl mod kitch, qun-sz. bed, laund, 7-Eleven call 665-7506 eves avail Jan 1

Large 1 br apt Southwood 365$ avail 1/1/86 lease 253-3634

To takeover lease Jan 1 9 Crestview Apts 1 bedrm call eves 549-6752

Two rooms in Belchertown for Intersession $200 includes heat 323-6701

2 b room Northwood Apt $370/m bus available Jan 1 665-3856 or 665-7783

1 or 2 rooms in house, North amherst, Pine St. busline, $173/mo, 549-6650, 549-0380

Room is house available for Spring semester, Jan-Aug across street from campus, walk to town, deck, washer dryer, big back yard, pets OK 250/month + utilities 549-6364 Lisa or Pat

Rooms available over Intersession Close to campus, walking distance, kitchen facilities call 549-3851, ask for John or Bill

For rent starting Jan 25 large room in house in Amherst Ctr call 549-5866

Large room for rent over break in Amherst Center call 549-5866

FOR SALE

Nikon Lens: Nikkor 135 MM F.2.5. A great Christmas gift. $75 John 256-8311

Stereo System: Onkyo TA-2033 cassette deck with dolby-C and Yamaha CR-450 receiver. Both in perfect condition! A great Christmas gift! $250 Call: John 256-8311

72 Olds Cutlass S orange, aluminum mags, good interior, strong rocket 350 eng, little rust, new heater core, battery, brakepads, asking $800 546-7131

Guitar Amplifier, crate, 2 12" Celestion speakers, 120W. Accutronix reverb parametric EQ, excellent condition $250 549-1536

Studded snowtires on Buick 14" reiegh rims white walls new 549-0385

Electric typewriter new 150 Robie skateboard fiberglass board wide wheels $0 call Mark 6-9521

Computer Terminal with modem $200 or BO Diane 549-1449

FOUND

An umbrella Monday night (12/2) IN THE Hatch call 546-1280 to identify

Found black mens watch. Monday in the pool room. Call David at 253-7454 and identify it.

Bicycle: expensive off-road type found on campus; positive ID nec. contact 253-2911

HELP WANTED

Merchandiser 20 hours per week $4 41/hr call between 8-5 noon or call 584-2050

OVERSEAS JOBS Summer, yr. round. Europe, S. Amer., Australia, Asia. All fields. $900-2000 mo. Sightseeing. Free info. Write IJC, PO Bx 52 MA1 Corona Del Mar, CA 92625

Jobs! $4.86/hr Intersession. Spring. Apply Telefund - Memorial Hall Basement

Jobs Florida - Hightech, Aerospace, Finance, & contact points. Send $7.95 Southeast Market Consultants Inc. Suite 4A, 74 Gulf Blvd., Irb Florida 33535

Put your car to work for you and make at least $7 per hour delivering pizza. Apply Superior Pizzeria 549-0626

Wine Mgr. - Up to 40 hrs. Knowledge of and enthusiasm for wine essential. Call Four Seasons Wines/Liquors, Hadley 584-8174

Responsible males wanted for work during spring semester in exchange for meals. For more information call 549-0627

HOUSEMATE NEEDED FOR SPRING

Rm-mate: (upper classman or grad-stnt) N. Amherst 4 bdrm house, own rm, incls king-sz bed, walk-in closet, prt, bath $250# per mth Jan-may 1986. Call Joe or leave msg. 549-7597

INSTRUCTION

Private Guitar Lessons experienced and patient teacher rock/pop/folk/blues improv., reading, theory, composition. Your home or my studio. Doug 549-4786

Intersession Bartending Courses 4 sections available sign up in Credit Free Workshops Room 111 Tower Library

LOST

Lost a Nikon automatic camera outside Crabtree in Northeast reward no questions asked contact at 6-5198 or 6-9378

Brown wallet sentimental and ID value Return to campus Ctr Info booth no questions asked

Lost blue knapsack w/books only. If found call Joey 549-2792 reward

MARVELOUS

U Look Marvelous bumper stickers $1 546-6313

MOVER

'Round Town Movers fast reliable cheap call Michael anytime 323-6780

PERSONALS

Ski Sugarbush! Hotel $149 call Ski Club now 545-3437

Jobs! $4.86/hour Intersession Spring Apply Telefund - Memorial Hall Basement.

Open House Celebrate the holidays at Kappa Kappa Gamma Sunday, December 8th 5:30-7:30 RSVP 545-0520 or 0521

Mathies - It's time to get worser. - Stormin

Seth: What IS worse than a hot fireman?

Dear Basic's Blonde: (with the Massachusetts hat) Why the glares? Do I know you from somewhere? RSVPSM

It's Cadet Jim Lewis's Birthday today. Everyone give him a pat on the back and wish him a happy one!

Happy Anniversary to us. Happy Anniversary to us, Happy Anniversary Liz and Ollie, Happy Anniversary to us. Smooch - Me

TO YOU Thanks for green graph paper that shed light on my soul 11-26

David - (TS) This is just to get your ATTENTION! The held back pledge

Happy 19th Birthday Pam! I hope you have a very special day Saturday Love and friends, Lynne

Liz, Happy three months you cute Little Snugglebunny! oooooobonnaaaaa!!!! I love you precious Ollie

Hey Trish - Let's dump these two goofballs and get together!

Dana - Bruce Springsteen eats quiche

Sean Nolan - Hey, wake up and smell the coffee. John Denver is washed up, you stupid Ninjer

Sandrah Your life will make such a nice trashy novel!! Beware

Troy A year and two love you always L.L.L.

Happy Birthday Ann Love Bruce

Happy Birthday Shakia' - Love and other indoor sports, 4th floor VMN

To the prettiest girl in East Bostos. Happy 20th Birthday! Love Dan

PROFESSIONAL TYPING SERVICE

Cases, papers, dissertations, theses, on-campus, dependable, outstanding quality, low rates, 584-7924

ROOM WANTED

Male looking for room for latersession near campus preferred Call Tom 6-6793 before 11:00 or after 7:00 pm

ROOMMATE WANTED

Apt to share pleasant reasonable ideally located in Amherst Ctr 774-2740

Huge double room, attached bath 300 ? ? minutes from campus; quiet clean. Call Mark 665-2529

Female roommate wanted to share Brittany manor apartment starting Jan 1 call evenings 256-8645

Female needed to share room in Brittany Manor apt Feb to June call 253-3766

Female roommate wanted. Share room in 2 bedroom apt on bus rt $98 ? util 665-2020

Female nonsmoking roommate wanted for townhouse. Extremely reasonable rent! Call 6-5770 6-5775

Roommate wanted for Brittany manor apt share with 2 seniors and 1 junior available now call Steve Dave or Rich phone 253-7312

Apartmentmate sought for December or longer if desired. Entire nonlease four room centrally located Noho apartment free by February, possible January. 200$ inclusive. Woman preferred 586-6176

1 or 2 female roommates wanted for B-Wine apt Feb 1 rent 138.75/mo heat incl 549-0637 Mary or Barb

Female roommate needed to share a room in Brittany manor Jan 1 on it is a newly renovated apartment and will have

'y three roommates call Robyn 256-1232

Two roommates wanted male or female in Southwood apt call Eric 256-1628

Female to share Brittany Manor apt Spring semester call 256-0996

Female roommate wanted for spring. Fall option. On bus route. Call Dara or Pete 256-1569

Echo Village fully furnished, on 2 bus routes, starting Jan/Feb 256-6909

Clean, quiet huge dbl rm for $110/mo plus utilities call 549-6398

Female roommate wanted for spring Brittany manor 253-7866 available Jan 1

Female roommate to share room in Brandywine apt call 6-6773

Female roommate wanted to share room in Brittany Manor beginning Jan or Feb call evenings 253-7857

1 bdrm is a 2 bdrm apt Northwood apts call Joe 549-6310

To share double room in Hadley farmhouse apt. quiet near bus rt nonsmoker preferred available Jan 1 586-7076

Female roommate wanted for Brittany Apt jan. to mid - call 253-2420

Female wanted for a room in quiet condo in Amherst Fields for spring call 256-1618

SAFE SUNTANS

Safe suntans is Bon Soleil's Christmas Specials: unlimited visits till 12/24 - only $29.00 or buy as many visits as you like for only $3 each, $2 for facial tanner. Gift certificates specials too. Free 15 min trial session 253-9454

SERVICES

COINS 123/121 tutoring 5.00 per hr. former 123/121 grader Alex 256-1239

Escort Service available 8 pm - 2:30 am everyday any where on campus. Play it safe call 5-2123 for an escort ANYTIME

Editing, Consultation. Ex-professor's specialty: dissertations, professional articles, books. 268-7772

Papers typed. 253-3634

SUSIE NEEDS HELP:

A blue clip-on key ring with four keys on it is lost. Please help me, I really need them back. If found, call Suzie at 549-0742. Reward!

TO SUBLET

2 bdrm apt busline avail Dec 25 price negg 253-2831

2 rooms available Jan 1 Swiss Village $215/mo utils incl on bus line call 256-8225

Reward! Take our 1 bed apt. avail. for Spring semester. $365 includes utils. call 665-4583 evenings

Nice bedroom in two bedroom apt in house. Other roommate is quiet, non-smoking Graduate student. Available January 1 rent negotiable 665-8194

Two bedroom apt in Northwood call 256-0028

Intersession - female only to share 1¼ Puffton Village own room call Jane 549-0187

Female to share room in Puffton for Intersession. Call evenings 549-5619

One bedroom in Townsendhouse Apts for Intersession call 549-6621

1 bdrm apt avail Wintersession Brandywine rent negg heat incl fully furnished on busline call 549-4177 keep trying

To sublet over intersession one bedroom (two people) in Puffton Village call 549-7575

2 room apt 5 min to campus, bus stop out door if lazy, super place, $ negot 256-1207

1 bedrm apt for Jan on bus rt, $200, util incl., Cliffside Apts Sunderland 662-3088

Female only Brittany Manor for January call 253-7357

Single bedroom in 4 bedroom apt in house avail Feb 1 - Aug 431. one eighth mile to campus, $242/mo (includes heat Must be a nonsmoker call Kathy at 549-6926 eves or early morn

TRAVEL

"Take a Break on the French Side!" Skibreak's January trip to Tignes/Val d'Isere in the French Alps includes RT air fare (Swissair), transfers, accommoda tions, skipass (116 lifts), slalom races cocktails for $746?? nights in resort Skibreak (203) 354-6059 Ted 546-4733

Need a piece? Trips to Florida spring break sign now save $25 before Dec 12 for more info 665-4187

TYPING SERVICE

QUALITY TYPING. Long or short projects. Will correct grammar, spelling, & punctuation. Meticulous proofreading. New IBM typewriter. 549-0367

TYPING & WORD PROCESSING

Next Day Service. Type-Rite 253-5111

VALUABLE EXPERIENCE

The Collegian is seeking correspondents in the Five Colleg area to report on the various goings on in the area. An excellent way to gain experience with a daily newspaper. For more information contact Anne McCrory or Tom Middleton at 545-3500

WANTED

Elementary Statistics text for Biometry 211! call Keith 253-2182

Quiet, neat female seeks a room on bus route for spring semester call 546-6363 nights prefer non-smoker

WANTED TO RENT

Take over lease in Jan of 4 person house or apt call 546-4474 or 546-7199

Responsible male senior seeks room in quiet, clean apt or house Spring semester. Call 546-5143 anytime

One or two bedroom apartment for Spring semester call 546-4963

SEX! Now that we have your attention, wanted, 2-3 bedroom apt for spring semester reward! call 247-5154

We want your 3 bdrm house or apt will take over lease in Jan call 546-1199 for your cash reward!!

1 bdrm apt in N Amherst begins Jan 1 call 549-6872 between 4-7

To take over 2 or 3 bedroom lease in January. Brandywine, Townehouse, Puffton, or area 546-6570 or 546-9662

Two seniors, nonsmoking students seek apartment in Amherst Ctr for Spring sem. call Ken at 1-732-9644 (collect)

Help! I need an apt or room to share in North Amherst. Spring semester Karen 253-7868

SPORTS

Slumping UMass needs a win

Massachusetts guard Lorenzo Sutton (left) scored 26 points against Connecticut on Wednesday. UMass hosts Hartford on Saturday

Hartford comes to Cage on Saturday

By PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts basketball teams finds itself needing a victory just five games into the season, hosting the University of Hartford tomorrow night at the Cage.

UMass, 1-3, has lost three straight games after winning its opener. The youthful Minutemen dropped a painful 78-70 overtime decision to the University of Connecticut on Wednesday.

Students, possibly believing that getting into the Cage was impossible after over 2,000 were turned away from the opener, haven't packed the Cage since. All three home games have been sellouts as far as tickets available for sale, but over 3,000 student seats are left open and are free with a UMass ID card. (See Box)

The Minutemen will be looking for support and would certainly be aided by a packed Cage, considered to be one of the toughest places to play by opposing teams.

Hartford, 2-0, beat UMass last season, 63-59 as junior point guard Carl Smith has slowed by a broken hand. Smith, who scored ten points and 11 assists against UConn, teams in the backcourt with sophomore Lorenzo Sutton, who has been playing the best hoop of his career.

Sutton is averaging 18.3 points-per-game and 5.3 rebounds while shooting 48 percent from the field and 81 percent from the line. He has also dished out 13 assists in four games.

Against UConn, Sutton had a career-high 26 and with little doubt is a key to any UMass victory.

That duo, along with freshmen David Brown (9.0 ppg), Sean Mosby (4.3ppg) and Joe Fennell (0.8 ppg) sparked UMass to a lead against UConn in the second half and the Minutemen seemed on the verge of the upset.

But a missed foul shot by Mosby with 13 seconds left led to a game-tying jumper by UConn guard Earl Kelley and the Huskies cruied to the victory in overtime.

"That was a tough loss," said Sutton. "But I think it'll make us want to play even harder against Hartford on Saturday. We really want a victory, we need on."

UMass has played hard, but without results. The young Minutemen (seven freshmen and a junior college transfer joined by three sophomores, two juniors and a senior) need a victory to restore their confidence and prepare them for their Atlantic 10 opener on Wednesday at the Cage against St. Bonaventure.

"Sure, we need a win, but we've been playing much better," said UM coach Ron Gerlufsen. "I didn't think two or three weeks ago that we would be able to be in a game with UConn, but we should've won, never mind just been in the game. I see us improving every day."

But there is still a way to go for UMass. The Minutemen's inside game has been weak. UConn hit the boards successfully against UMass and the Minutemen had few baskets from inside the paint.

Starting forward Duane Chase is a 6-6 freshman with maybe the best physical attributes of any UMass player. He can jump, run the court well and muscle his way inside, but he has shown this ability only in flashes.

Senior center Tom Emerson also needs to make his 6-10 frame more of a presence underneath the basket. He is getting only 2.3 rebounds a game in over 17 minutes of action a game. Brown, a forward, plays more of a third guard position and is often caught away from the basket,

continued on page 18

Attention hoop fans

Don't let the fact that the Cage is "Sold Out" for basketball games keep you from attending the games. There are only 1,052 tickets available to the general public and they are sold out, there are still plenty (3,000-plus) seats reserved for students and will not be sold. There hasn't been a line since the opener, geting in the Cage is easy. Saturday night, there's a doubleheader with the women at 5:15 and the men at 8 p.m. Be There!

Sports at a glance

UMass Schedule:
Saturday:
Men's Basketball: Hartford, Curry Hicks Cage, 8 p.m.
Women's Basketball: Springfield, Curry Hicks Cage, 5:15 p.m.
Men's Swimming: Springfield, Boyden Pool, 1 p.m.
Men's Gymnastics: at Syracuse, 1 p.m.
Men's Track: at BU Relays.
Sunday:
Women's Swimming: at Maine, 11 a.m.
Women's Track: at Connecticut, 11 a.m.

Women look for fourth straight

Red-hot Minutewomen to host Springfield tonight

By JOHN A. NOLAN
Collegian Staff

Riding a three-game winning streak, the University of Massachusetts women's basketball team hosts Springfield College in the first game of a doubleheader with the men's team tommorrow night at 5:15 p.m. in the Curry Hicks Cage.

With a victory over the Chiefs, the Minutewomen, 3-1, are looking to complete a sweep of its four game homestand in the Cage which began with a 70-61 win over Boston University. Rolling to easy wins in its last two outings, 85-64 over the University of Vermont and 80-49 over Dartmouth College, UMass coach Barbara Stevens said that team play and an aggressive attitude has been the key.

"Confidence does a lot. The last three games have been important, everyone is feeling great," Stevens said. "We have a higher level of confidence and when a team has that confidence, people tend to shoot a lot surer and straighter than without it."

Springfield, 2-2, is coming off a 71-51 loss to Southern Connecticut, Wednesday night in Springfield. Head coach Michael Theulen's team is led by 5-9 junior forward Michelle Busa (13.2 points-per-game and 7.7 rebounds-per-game), 5-8 freshman guard Shelley Antone (9.5 ppg.) and 5-11 junior forward Ellen Hill (9.0 ppg. and 10.5 rpg.). Patty Larkin, a 6-1 sophomore center patrols the middle, scoring 7.5 ppg. and pulling in 11 rpg.

Stevens said that Springfield, a Division II squad, cannot be overlooked because with UMass being one of the few Division I schools on its schedule, the Chiefs, 71-57 losers to the Minutewomen last year in Springfield, will be looking for an upset.

"The biggest thing for us is to get over the stigma of playing a Division II school," Stevens said.

MINUTEWOMEN MUTTERINGS: With her 22 point, 10-10 shooting against Dartmouth, senior forward Karen Damminger took over the team leadership in scoring with a 12.5 average. Damminger, hitting 21 of 27 shots, also leads the team in field goal percentage at .778. . . Senior guard Juanita Matthews' 12.3 scoring average is down from last week's 15.0 average which placed her seventh in scoring in the Atlantic-10. Her .938 free throw percentage placed her second. . .Sophomore center Sue Burtoft (11.3 ppg.), nursing a bruised elbow, is expected to play after missing one game. Her 10.0 rebounding average placed her in a tie for fourth according to last week's Atlantic-10 statistics. . .Freshman guard Christel Zullo's 5.3 assists-pre-game was fifth in the conference. . .UMass' 73.6 team scoring placed it third in the conference behind Penn State and St. Joseph's. After Tuesday's victory, the UMass average improved to 75.3.

Trustees scrap turf, reinstate tennis

By PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts Board of Trustees not only approved plans for a new arena at their meeting on Wednesday, they also scrapped a plan to put artificial turf and lights at McGuirk Alumni Stadium.

The Trustees did however, reinstitute men's and women's varsity tennis at UMass, saving the sport from being demoted to club status.

Men's and women's golf, men's and women's skiing and wrestling will still be cut to club sports next September.

The arena, a 9,000-seat multipurpose facility, has also been changed from the original plans.

Designed to have a main building with the seats and an ice surface that would be covered with a basketball floor, the building was also to have a separate ice rink to be used for practices, intramurals and free skating periods. The two rinks would have been connected by an administration building. The building with the practice rink would've also housed racquetball courts.

But due to the increased cost of the facility, an estimated $37 million, the pratice rink was cut from the plan.

continued on page 19

The Massachusetts Daily A REGISTERED STUDENT ORGANIZATION NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY

Collegian

Volume CXV, Issue 64 UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AMHERST (545-3500) Monday, December 9, 1985

Third rally at Student Union set for today

By JOEL P. COFFIDIS
Collegian Staff

A third student rally protesting the administration's attempt to gain more budgetary responsibility of the $88 annual student activity fee is scheduled for 12:30 p.m. today in front of the Student Union Building.

Friday at 5:15 p.m., after ending a second, four hour sit-in, more than 50 students announced their plans for today's rally by chanting "we'll be back, we'll be back."

The students are protesting the actions of Dennis Madson, vice chancellor for student affairs and Randy Donant, director of student activities, authors of a Nov. 19 memorandum outlining actions that give them greater input of the student funding allocation process.

Both Madson and Donant have said the actions are now in effect, but student government officials said they are conducting "business as usual" and sitting-in to defy the memorandum.

Today's rally is planned, student leaders said, because a stalemate exists, centering around how many students will meet with Madson in further negotiations.

Madson has agreed to meet with four Student Government Association officers: SGA co-President Stacy Roth, Senate Speaker John Ruddock, SGA Treasurer Dianne Rossi and Chairman of the senate Budgets Committee Jordan Rosner.

However, Students Advocating Rights Together (START), the larger organizing group, insists on allowing two other members, Joel Rabinowitz, senator, and Marc Kenen, a graduate student, to meet with Madson.

"This group START has asked us to be part of the negotiating team," Kenen said. "Joel and myself represent different constituencies and we are known to represent different political ideologies."

Madson, in an impromptu news conference Friday afternoon, said he was only willing to meet with the four SGA officers because "there is some rapport," between the four and himself.

He also said he will not meet with the six-student negotiating team because he is not familiar with Kenen and Rabinowitz.

Donant, in an interview after protesters marched by his office in the Student Union Building chanting for his resignation, said, "I feel badly about students getting arrested over this. I think there is a real tragedy in this."

Twenty-one students were arrested Thursday and charged with trespassing after they refused to leave Whitmore.

Bd. of Health studying wood stove control

By SHERYL JEAN
Collegian Staff

The Amherst Board of Health is considering regulating wood burning stoves in an effort to control the pollution they produce, after citizens complained of the health hazards at a public hearing last month, the town health director said last week.

"The main purpose of the hearing was to get comments on draft regu- lations and educate people on how to decrease pollution, not to make decisions," said Bettye Anderson Frederick, the director.

"Part of the regulations would include some kind of paper and pencil test to permit or license a stove operator," she said.

A licensing test is part of the project because there are some important educational facts that people should know before using a wood burning stove, Frederick said.

continued on page 5

INSIDE:

Lord Jeff workers continue protest.....3
Guatemalan discusses home country.....3
Minutemen down Hartford at Cage.....16

"People can leave the camps for one or two hours only if all their family members stay behind. Those who have no family cannot leave."
—Rigoberta Menchu, Guatemalan Indian author, speaking about her native country.

Collegian photo by Derek Roberts

FESTIVAL OF LIGHTS—An estimated 40 people sing after kindling the second light of the Chanuka menorah in front of the Student Union last night. The menorah was built by Rick Levin, a COINS major, and Jim Macrostie, production services employee at the FAC.

Vigil condemns oppression of Jews

By JOSEPH SHARTRAND
Collegian Staff

Local religious leaders leaders condemned the Soviet Union's oppression of the Jewish people and their heritage at a vigil at the Amherst Common.

Reverend James Clark of the Episcopal Church said: "I am deeply senstivie to my roots in Judaism. I have a passionate concern for the freedom and dignity of every human being."

The vigil composed of speakers, singers and dancers, drew a crowd of about 70 people. Speakers addressed the plight of Soviet Jews and many of the religious leaders offered prayers.

"Russia tries to impose one system on all people," said Rabbi Liander of Smith College's B'nai B'rith Hillel. "They are trying to stamp out our culture. We cannot be free while our brothers and sisters are enslaved."

"We dedicate ourselves to the struggle for freedom," Liander said in a prayer.

Signs in the audience included: "This year in Russia, it is still against the law to say, "Next year in Jerusalem," and "It's (Russia) a tough place to live. It's a tougher place to leave." A banner proclaiming the vigil hung behind the podium.

Tania Ockshteyn, also a speaker, came from the Soviet Union in 1974 and became a citizen in 1975. She spoke about the persecutions she had to endure as a Jew in the Soviet Union.

"When we were living in the Soviet Union, we knew we were loosing our present. We were deprived of our past and of our future," Ockshteyn said.

Ockseyn also said a Soviet official told her husband that he should change his last name to anything that did not sound Jewish if they wanted to survive in the Soviet Union.

"We came to the US in hopes of finding our past and present as Jewish people," she said. "Jews are held prisoner in Russia without knowing why."

David Skarinsky, an Amherst College student and former Soviet citizen, talked about the hardships of life in the Soviet Union and the adjustment to life in the U.S.

"In comparison (to Russia) you live in paradise," Skarinsky said before discussing his Soviet childhood.

"I was raised a true Soviet child, yet they rejected me because of my Jewish parents," he said. "On the first day of school in Russia, I was called a 'dirty Jew,' he said.

Skarinsky said that older Soviet citizens who move to the U.S. can have trouble learning a new language and making friends.

"When we left Russia we were stripped of our citizenship and became Jewish refugees," he said. "We (Soviet Jews) have not been integrated into Russian society," he said. "We want to leave Russia," he said.

Adam Curtis, one of the last speakers, visited Russia for ten days and commented on the general paranoia that he encountered from the Soviet citizens.

"If we saw anyone with clean clothes, straight, clean teeth and nice shoes, we knew they were KGB people," he said. The vigil ended with an appeal for money and signatures on a petition that will be sent to Soviet leader Michail Gorbachev.

Collegian photo by Marie Bull

Participants in yesterday's rally remembering Soviet Jews dance in the brief afternoon sunshine on the Amherst Common.

AP Laserphoto

ARRIVING TO VOTE—Vinicio Cerezo greets supporters as he and his wife, Raquel, arrive to vote Sunday in Guatemala's presidential election.

Firebombs may be cause of blasts

PARIS (AP)—Crudely made firebombs may have caused the explosions in two big department stores filled with Christmas holiday shoppers that injured 39 people, 12 of them seriously, authorities said yesterday.

This led to speculation that the attacks Saturday may have been the work of a disgruntled, or unstable, individual, rather than any known terrorist group.

Both Galeries Lafayette and Printemps, lavishly decorated for the Christmas season, were filled with shoppers when the attacks came shortly before 6 p.m.

The two stores are next to each other on the Boulevard Haussmann in the city's crowded, commercial ninth district, not far from the Paris Opera.

Dr. Francis Roy, who headed the rescue effort, said 25 people were treated and released following the blasts and 14 remained hospitalized yesterday all but two of them seriously burned.

Bonner's relatives plan treatment of heart ailment

NEWTON, Mass. (AP)—Yelena Bonner, worn out by her long-awaited trip to the United States, spent a quiet day with relatives yesterday making plans to see a doctor about her heart ailment and to call her husband, dissident Soviet physicist Andrei Sakharov.

"I slept very well," Mrs. Bonner told reporters yesterday as she posed for photographs with her three grandchildren on the front lawn of her daughter's home in this suburb west of Boston.

"Give us pictures. We send to our grandfather," Mrs. Bonner said in halting English, apparently referring to Sakharov. "I am very happy about my children, but I'm always worried about my husband."

Her son, Alexei Semyonov, said family members would try to book a call within the next several days to Gorky, a Soviet city closed to foreigners where Sakharov is living in internal exile. The family earlier had been told they would not be able to place a call before Dec. 16.

Mrs. Bonner, who has been living in exile with her husband, was given permission last month to travel to the West to seek medical treatment.

She is traveling on a three-month visa issued by Soviet authorities after she signed an agreement not to make detailed statements to the press during her trip.

Semyonov said family members were trying to set up a Monday appointment for Mrs. Bonner to see a doctor, who will then decide the hospital where she will be treated. He said yesterday the family had not selected the doctor.

Mrs. Bonner's children say she has suffered at least two heart attacks since 1983 and may need to undergo coronary bypass surgery.

The family has received invitations for treatment from five Boston-area hosptials, including Massachusetts General Hosptial, Brigham and Women's, and Beth Israel.

Semyonov said his mother brought a suitcase full of Russian books for his 2-year-old daughter, Alexandra, and her other grandchildren, Matvei Yankelevich, 12, and Anna Yankelevich, 10.

"The grandchildren are trying to sort out the books," said Efrem Yankelvich, Mrs. Bonner's son-in-law. "The positive emotions are very important for a heart patient." Semyonov agreed.

Today's Staff:

Night Editor	Andrew Wolff
Copy Editor	Jill Lang
Photo Technician	Neil Beckerman
Layout Technician	Leslie Goldstein
Production Supervisor	Matkins
Production	Paula Saucier, Dave Boardman, Andy Diskes, Nancy Rivers Mark Parker, Rob Catalano, Peter Bullis

Corrections: In a photo caption on page 3 of Friday's Collegian, Dean of Students William Field was incorrectly identified as being one of the administrators who have taken control of the Student Activities Fund.

M. Lynne Murphy is vice president of the University Democrats.

The Student Activity Fee is $88 per year.

National Student Exchange Program Information Meetings

Students interested in participating in the National Student Exchange Program for Fall 1986 are encouraged to attend an information session.

For students applying to restricted schools, this is your LAST CHANCE to pick up an initial application form.

Restricted schools are: Univ. of Hawaii/Manoa & Hilo; Univ. of So. Florida; Cal State Chico, Northridge & Sonoma; and College of the Virgin Islands.

Tuesday, Dec. 3* CC 805 3-4 pm
Wednesday, Dec. 4* CC 901 3-4 pm
Tuesday, Dec. 9 CC 803 3-4 pm
Wednesday, Dec. 10 CC 805 3-4 pm
 Last days to pick up initial applications for restricted schools.

FREE
Shampoo & Blow Dry
with any Haircut
$12.50 with coupon
Styles by Deborah
call 549-5610
expires 12/31/85

SALE
Pre Xmas
25% Off
Everything
Lodestone
4th thru 14th

Now's the time to call...
North Amherst Motors
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880
Expert Repairs & Reconditioning

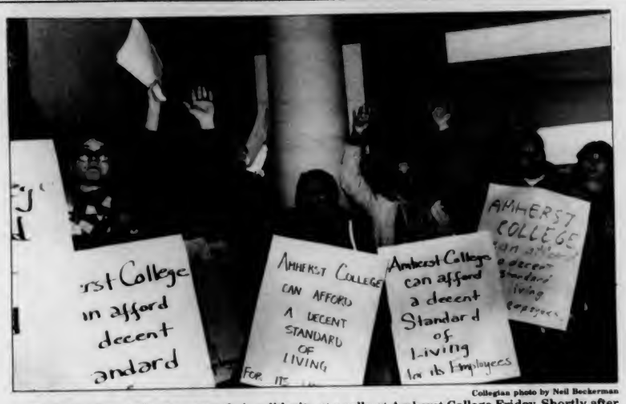
Are you denying yourself a better shot at grad school?

Okay, it may be too late to get a 4.0. But it's not too late to try to do better on your LSAT, GMAT, GRE, or MCAT. For that, there's Stanley H. Kaplan.

No one has prepped more students than Stanley H. Kaplan. Our test-taking techniques and educational programs have prepared over 1 million students.

So whatever grad school exam you're taking, call us. Remember, the person next to you during your exam might have taken a Kaplan course.

KAPLAN
STANLEY H. KAPLAN EDUCATIONAL CENTER LTD
The world's leading test prep organization.
358 N. Pleasant
549-5780
Intersession Classes Enrolling Now
MCAT GMAT GRE LSAT
FREE SPEED READING LESSON
at your convenience



FAMOUS NAME BRANDS WATCH SALE!

- BENRUS
- GRUEN
- TISSOT
- JULES JURGENSEN
- HELBROS
- CLINTON
- WALTHAM • DUFONTE by LUCIEN PICCARD
- HAMILTON-BUREN
- OTHER FAMOUS BRANDS

FEATURING: ANALOG QUARTZ • DIAMONDS - TWO • DIAMONDS - FOUR • DIAMONDS - SIX • MESH BRACELETS • FASHION LINK • SPORTS • NURSE-SWEEP SECOND • DRESS • AUTOMATIC DAY & DATE • AUTOMATIC CALENDAR • ALARM-CHRONOGRAPH-L.C.D. • POCKET WATCHES • ELECTRICS

YOUR CHOICE $ 39.95
Available at The Jewelry Counter
M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3
not all models are available

Located in the Campus Center
UNIVERSITY STORE

Collegian photo by Neil Beckerman

Lord Jeffrey Inn workers express their solidarity at a rally at Amherst College Friday. Shortly after this photo, workers held a moment of silence.

Group protests stalled talks

By TOM MIDDLETON
Collegian Staff

About 60 people sang labor songs and held a half-hour of silence inside the Amherst College administration building Friday to protest stalled contract negotiations at the Lord Jeffery Inn.

The group, composed of Amherst College faculty, staff, students and recently laid-off inn workers, is trying to put pressure on the college, which owns about 75 percent of the inn.

Union Representative Ron Traber said the union is pressuring the college because of its controlling interest in the Amherst Inn Company. "They're the ones who pay the piper," he said.

"We have already sent out an appeal for support from the college's alumni and we will start actively searching out union representatives to talk to college workers," Traber said.

The last negotiating session between union representatives and the inn's management was inconclusive, but another session is set for Wednesday, Traber said.

About 50 members of Local 217 were laid off Nov. 6 when the inn closed its restaurant and bar because of a lack of business and other unions refusing to deliver supplies. The union workers have been without a contract since Oct. 24.

The contract dispute centers around management's proposed two-tier wage and benefit plan. Under the plan, new employees would receive lower pay and fewer benefits.

According to Amherst Inn Company President Kent Faerber, inn employees are paid above the average for food service employees at other restaurants around the area. The inn has lost more than $500,000 in the last five years and a deficit of $200,000 is projected for the current fiscal year, Faerber said.

Argentine says economy hurt by political views

By DAVID SUMMERSBY
Collegian Staff

The depressed Nicaraguan economy is the result of the Nicaraguan revolutionary government's failure to obtain its capitalistic bourgeoisie support, an Argentine author said.

Carlos Vilas, in a lecture Friday in the Campus Center, said the bourgeois lacked confidence in the conditions for investment because "it (the economic system) is not from their point of view politically."

"You can't have the bourgeois as an arm of the economy if they are subordinate" in the political process, Vilas said.

Besides emphasizing public agrarian reform, which put the revolution in the hands of the peasant class, the Sandinista government neglected the short-term needs of the bourgeois private sector by actions such as formulating a price policy, he said.

According to Vilas, the bourgeois' strategy was to boycott the revolution. The government's goals of a trilateral class alliance between labor, the peasantry and the bourgeois to boost the economy never developed. The majority of the private sector since 1979 has become allied with the contra revolutionary forces.

"Fifty percent of the national budget goes to the war. Much of the coffee crop is ruined and the forestry and fishing industries are paralyzed."
—Carlos Vilas

"They (the bourgeoisie) had to realize consumption. The fact that the peasants have rice and beans means little to the bourgeois," Vilas said.

The Sandinista government knew that the bourgeois was an important investment force to stimulate the economy, but Vilas said that "in order to reproduce money through investments, the bourgeois must be the dominant class."

These were the "contradictions of a mixed economy; of the private sector versus the public," he said. "It's a peasant revolution, they are getting the things they demanded for."

But, as a consequence, the government's strategy to have national unity failed as has the economic recovery, Vilas said.

Vilas, who just finished a book called The Sandinista Revolution: National Revolution and Social Transformation in Central America, said economic problems since the onset of the revolution have been made worse by the war.

"Fifty percent of the national budget goes to the war. Much of the coffee crop is ruined and the forestry and fishing industries are paralyzed," he said.

Guatemalan author: Culture diminishing

By T.A. IACOVONE
Collegian Staff

Speaking to a capacity crowd Friday in the Red Room of Converse Hall at Amherst College, Rigoberta Menchu, a Guatemalan Indian author, spoke of her country and its people who live under a military government.

"First there was the militarization of the political and economic power, and second they implemented the militarization of the society," Menchu said. "Once the army supports the economic and political power, it is not at the service of the government, but part of it."

This has tremendous implications for the Guatemalan people, she said.

"Children are growing up in a militarized environment and there is a constant threat to our native cultures. For example, many of the traditional weavings are disappearing and the children are not learning how to weave. Many Mayan ceremonies are being lost one by one," Menchu said.

There are militarized centers in Guatemala that possess almost all the technical elements of concentration camps, she said.

"The United Nations defines 'concentration camps' (as places where) people are held and prohibited from leaving an area controlled by the military," she said.

But in Guatemala there is one difference, she said.

"People can leave the camps for one or two hours only if all their family members stay behind. Those who have no family cannot leave," Menchu said. "In practice, it produces the same result (as the Nazi concentration camps)."

Through this and other means, the government and military create a state of agony in its people, she said.

"There are 36 thousand missing persons in Guatemala since 1976," according to Menchu. "This maintains a permanent agony in the people because it's easier to think about loved ones who are dead than those who are missing because you always think that your missing loved one may still be alive."

Menchu is a member of the Guatemalan Opposition Group at the United Nations. She travels throughout Europe, Latin America and the United States, explaining the situation of the people whom she represents.

The people most uninformed about Guatemala are from the United States, even though there are many organizations in this country that do work in support of the exploited and oppressed Guatemalans, she said.

The greatest knowledge of Guatemala exists in Germany, Menchu said, where her book, Me llamo Rigoberta Menchu, has already reached its fifth edition. It has recently been translated into English as I, Rigoberta Menchu.

Student government video seeks student input

The University of Massachusetts Student Government Association (SGA) has come up with "many exciting ideas," including an "SGA video," as part of an effort to interest and involve students in student government.

According to Undergraduate Senate Speaker John Ruddock, the coordinator of the SGA Marketing Project, the video will be a "brief overview of various resources available to students" and is expected to be finished by next semester. The video, which will feature appearances of SGA members, will air on all of the Union Video Center monitors on campus.

The Marketing Project, which was initially designed by the administration last July, organizes small group discussions in residential areas. It also aims to create an information manual on the government association and Student Activity Trust Fund while developing a public discussion segment titled "State of the Association" on WMUA 91.1 FM.

"It's our wish to bring the students into the process of having a say of what goes on at school," Ruddock said. "It's going to be a lengthy project that I feel very excited about, considering we've been getting results already."

—ROB COHEN

Collegian photo by Neil Beckerman

Brian Villeneuve, left, freshman CASIAC major, Dan Buendo, center, freshman business major, and Scott Binding, freshman sciences major, shop for Christmas tree during the chilly weekend.

- New to Our Menu -
MEXICAN PIZZA
Crispy Flour Tortilla Chips covered with a Tangy Tomato Sauce, your choice of Toppings and lots of Melted Mozzarella Cheese. . .

TACO VILLA
...Offering Quality Mexican Foods
NORTHAMPTON 21 CENTER ST 584-0673 Bring Your Own Beer or Wine
AMHERST 41 BOLTWOOD WALK 256-8217 Beer & Wine Served
SPRINGFIELD 749 SUMNER AVE 788-0919 Bring Your Own Beer or Wine

GREAT GIFTS
Clothing Earrings
Stocking Stuffers
Posters Cards
Mugs Rugs Vases
Scarves Ornaments
Crystals Calendars
Stuffed Animals - Toys
Boxes, Tins, Jewelry
Candy Gloves Tea Sets
* * *
Cotton — Wool — Alpaca
Scarves, Sweaters, Slipper Socks
HOURS: Weeknights 'till 9 p.m. Dec. 6-23
Daily 10 A.M. to 6 P.M. Sun. 12-5
Great Gifts... Great Prices
THE MERCANTILE
Amherst Carriage Shops and Northampton (Next to Iron Horse)

SPORT Style
UMass Knit Hat or Gloves
6.95
Maroon and White
UMass Scarf also available

Photographer Dwayne Autery

M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3
Located in the Campus Center
UNIVERSITY STORE

DISTINGUISHED TEACHERS AWARD NOMINATIONS

DEADLINE: DECEMBER 20, 1985

IF YOU KNOW A FACULTY TEACHER OR TEACHING ASSISTANT/ASSOCIATE WHO IS TRULY OUTSTANDING AND DESERVES RECOGNITION, SUBMIT A NOMINATION IN WRITING WITH A BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF WHY YOUR NOMINEE DESERVES THE AWARD.

STUDENTS, FACULTY, AND ALUMNI MAY MAKE NOMINATIONS.

SUBMIT NOMINATIONS BY FRIDAY, DEC. 20th

TO: DISTINGUISHED TEACHING AWARDS COMMITTEE
GRADUATE STUDENT SENATE
919 CAMPUS CENTER
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS

★ Wood

continued from page 1

Earlier this fall the board proposed a $10 licensing fee for all wood burning stove owners, but the fee was not included in the latest proposal.

"It's basically all public cooperation," said Stephen Pilegi, assistant air pollution control engineer at the state Division of Environmental Quality Engineering (DEQE).

"The correct use of burning wood with clean, dry wood and not smouldering it will avoid high density smoke," he said.

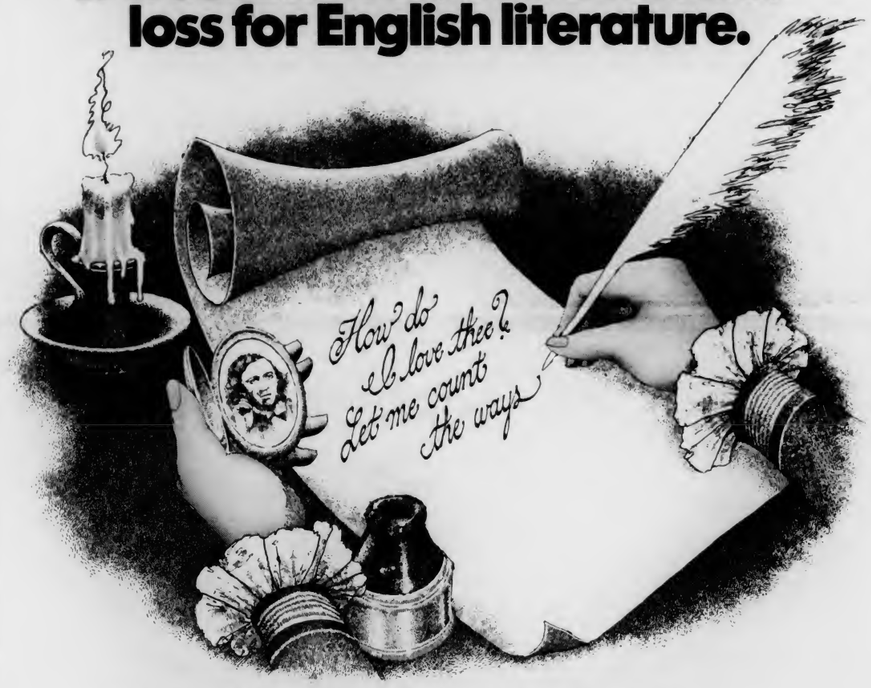
Pilegi said the board is considering requiring that all new wood burning stoves contain catalytic combusters. The combusters destroy many of the pollutants in the smoke and burns wood more cleanly.

Northampton regulates the smoke density from stoves at 40 percent. It can be under 20 percent if the wood is burned cleanly, Pilegi said, but smoke density can reach as high as 95 to 100 percent if burned incorrectly.

Most new wood burning stoves contain a built-in combuster that can decrease pollution to 13.6 percent and even 1.6 percent, depending on the type of combuster, said Connie Slattery, manager of Shawnee Precast Products in South Hadley.

People in this area are concerned about the pollution from stoves, Slattery said.

"Smoke (from wood burning stoves) has been tested and many of the chemicals were found to be carcinogenic (cancer causing)," Frederick said.



There have been many complaints and a lot of talk about the pollution in Amherst, she said.

"I think it's a statewide problem, but I don't think that regulations are very high on the state's agenda," Frederick said.

"There is a state regulation on the density of smoke from boilers, incinerators and such, but it doesn't specifically mention wood burning stoves," Pilegi said.

DEQE refers complaints about the pollution to local boards of health, he said.

If Elizabeth Barrett and Robert Browning had AT&T's 60% and 40% discounts, it would have been a terrible loss for English literature.

And of course, she wouldn't have had to restrict her feelings to a mere sonnet's length, either.

After all, you can always think of one more way to tell someone you love them when you're on the phone.

Let us count the ways you can save. Just call weekends till 5pm Sundays, or from 11pm to 8am, Sunday through Friday, and you'll save 60% off AT&T's Day Rate on your state-to-state calls.

Call between 5pm and 11pm, Sunday through Friday, and you'll save 40% on your state-to-state calls.

So when you're asked to choose a long distance company, choose AT&T. Because with AT&T's 60% and 40% discounts, you can satisfy your heart's desire without exhausting your means.

Reach out and touch someone.®

AT&T
The right choice.

© 1985 AT&T Communications

VALLEY BOOKS
Carriage Shops
Books at 40-80%
Off List Price
Thousands of new books
on every subject
Art Books, Kids Books,
History Books, Photography
Cooking, Wine and Drink
SAVE ON BOOKS FOR
CHRISTMAS
Mon-Fri 10:30-5;30 Sun 12-5
Sat 10-5 549-6062
Check, Visa or Mastercard

Letters
A library's purpose

I think we're all old enough now to realize what a college library is for. It is used for studying (although, once in a while you need to get books for research, but then again the Tower isn't exactly the best place for that). Since we are nearing the end of the semester, some of us need the quiet that the library as a study place has to offer. Well, now, we are finding that this is not the case. It seems as though the library has become quite the social hangout (and I don't just mean the ground floor, because that goes without saying).

But, my question is, "How do you go about asking people who are rudely conversing in the library to shut up?" Should you; 1) ask them to please be quiet and then, when you go back to your seat, wait for them to start gabbing again after giving you dirty looks,or 2) tell them to shut the &#*- up, or 3) just get up and find another spot?

Personally, I'm sick and tired of getting up to find another spot just so they won't be bothered. I guess these people just haven't been taught what a library is for. Does anybody have any other suggestions?

Sharon Spooner
Central

Show your gratitude

I am a senior graduating this December with a Communications degree. I would like to express my gratitude to April Tidlund for her knowledgable guidance and friendly manner. As a secretary for the communications department, April has mastered her job as a secretary and also knows the ins and outs of all classes in the communications field.

No matter how many papers she has piled on her desk, she is always willing to donate her assistance and advice to help from an organized direction for confused or lost students. Her overwhelming attributes to the communications department go much farther than her secretarial position. Her pleasant personality and her desire to help students expresses her concern and active involvement in the communications department.

I am sure there are other people like April in other departments who also deserve some gratitude. So what I am really trying to say to all seniors graduating is to take a moment to think about a special person who has helped you through tough times during your college years and show your gratitude.

Edie Arbetter
Amherst

Seminar on:
YOGA
MEDITATION
by Dada
Saruabhodananda
yogic monk & political activist
MONDAY DEC 9
UMass CC Room 805

16 Shopping Days
till Christmas
and only
2 days till the Collegian
Special
Holiday
Edition

THE SURVIVOR
A PLAY
The true story of 7 teen-agers who defied Nazis.
December 13 and 14 - 8 P.M.
Hampden Theater, Southwest
University of Massachusetts Amherst

- Written by Susan Nanus
- Based on the memories of Jack Eisner
- Directed by Marica Black

- Wheelchair Accessible FREE

Sponsored by SCERA,
Southwest Residential Arts Programming and the UMass Arts Council

Spring Break '86 in Ft. Lauderdale at the OCEANFRONT
HOLIDAY INN BEACH
$259.00 *

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT:
Go to the University Store for the
SPRINGER-VERLAG
PHYSICS SERIES SALE
SPECIAL DISCOUNT 25% (off publishers list price)
On Special Tables located in Tradebook Dept.
Limited Quantities

Store Hours:
M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3

Located in the Campus Center
UNIVERSITY STORE

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian
ED/OP

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted.

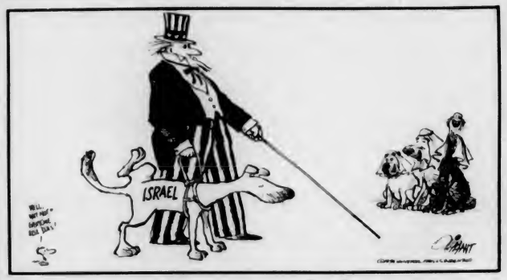
Founded in 1870

Executive Board—Fall 1985
Dode B. Levenson, Editor in Chief
Anne McCrory, Managing Editor
Larry Bouchie, Editorial Editor
Peter Soderberg, Production Manager
Elizabeth Young, Business Manager
Sherry Sharfman, Business Manager

Board of Editors—Fall 1985
Dode B. Levenson, Editor in Chief
Anne McCrory, Managing Editor
Tom Middleton, News Editor
Larry Bouchie, Editorial Editor
Renee Bacher, Arts Editor
Peter Abraham, Sports Editor
Derek Roberts, Photo Editor
Bethanne Mosakowski, Women's Issue Editor
Kimberly Burge, Black Affairs Editor

Students' turn to listen

Today marks the third time in one week that student leaders and members of registered student organizations will hold a rally condemning the administration's move to take control of the Student Activities Turst Fund, march to Whitmore, occupy its hallways, and decide whether or not to continue their protest by being arrested when the building shuts down at 5 p.m.



Enough is enough.

Holding rallies, marches, and sit-ins is effective to a point: after a four-day sit-in last spring, the administration agreed not to eliminate the Campus Center Board of Governors, as was planned. While the Department of Public Safety let the students wait that one out, 33 people were arrested one month later in the UMass Treasurer's Office after just one day; however, that protest yielded results too, as the trustees agreed to divest completely from companies operating in South Africa, the subject of that demonstration. The fact that officers are again arresting those who trespass by occupying Whitmore after it closes is a signal that the administration has had enough; since negotiation has been offered but not taken advantage of, it is easy to see why.

Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs Dennis Madson has agreed to negotiate with a team of four student government leaders, students who presumably represent the rest of us and who are held accountable for the administration of the SATF. These students, and the others who have spent their time sitting in Whitmore hallways to resolve the issue, are holding out for Madson to agree to admit two others to the student negotiating team—one a graduate student, the other a dormitory resident (the leaders all live off campus). They say that to give in to Madson's terms is to give him a predisposed edge in the negotiating process.

The fact that Madson issued his seven-point mandate for allocation of SATF funds and for control over professionally-staffed organizations as a "non-negotiable" document was wrong, but he has now agreed to listen to student input and to negotiate with students, and that offer should not be ignored. It is counter-productive to hold out negotiation for the sole purpose of admitting two more students to the discussion table when the other four (an SGA president, senate speaker, treasurer, and budgets committee chairman) should be more than qualified to resolve the issue. The protests have gotten the administration to listen—now it's the students' turn.

Unsigned policy editorials reflect the majority opinion of the Collegian Board of Editors.

Peacemakers and dreams

David Valade

Five years ago yesterday John Lennon was shot and killed outside of his home in New York City. While this was happening, I was watching Monday Night Football. The Patriots were playing Miami and, as usual, were losing. I learned of Lennon's death through the words of Howard Cosell. Somehow, a man so despised giving the news of the death of a man so loved by many shows the injustice that occurred outside the Dakota, across from Central Park, on that December night.

Less than a year later, Anwar Sadat was killed. Since the time these events occurred a question has plagued me. How can it be that people who work so hard for peace must die so violently? The same is true of Martin Luther King, Jr. All these men worked for peace. They all died violently. It leaves you to wonder, is there really good in the world.

"Imagine there's no countries it isn't hard to do nothing to kill or die for and no religion too imagine all the people living life in peace."

Somehow, though, I can't lose faith. In spite of the deaths of these men, in spite of the growing militarism in the world, I still believe that one day we will find peace—that we will find a way to stop senseless killings such as theirs. I can't give up the belief that their murders are just a way to slow down movements toward justice and peace. Somehow, they seem to represent a message of intimidation that is being sent, a message to scare people away from dissent, from questioning wrong.

If I've learned anything from the death of John Lennon, it is that when I believe something is wrong, I cannot accept it. Martin Luther King, Jr. died fighting for what he believed was right. Anwar Sadat put his life on the line and lost it because he believed in peace. We cannot allow ourselves to be intimidated into giving up what we believe is right. "You may say that I'm a dreamer but I'm not the only one I hope someday you'll join us and the world will be as one."

We haven't given up the dream that someday there will be peace. To achieve this dream doesn't require that each of us devote our entire life to his cause.If we each spend only a small amount of time working for a dream each day, then it will be realized. John Lennon, Martin Luther King, Jr., and Anwar Sadat gave their lives to the dream of peace. We have an obligation to see that their dreams don't die.

David Valade is a Collegian columnist.

Letters
SPD offers greater student voice

Why does Tim Harris (the former spokesman of the Radical Student Union) hate the voice of moderation? Students for Participitory Democracy is a group who's members come from all sides of the political spectrum (i.e. Democrats, Republicans, and Independents). SPD has taken up the question of whether MassPirg should be on the bill of students not because we are a "right-wing' or a "left-wing' organization but because we felt students should be informed on matters of critical student interest.

The last time MassPirg asked the students whether they wanted them on the bill was in 1981; five years ago. No student currently enrolled as a undergraduate has ever had anything to say in the matter. That is like Richard Nixon claiming he did not have to run for President the secomd time because he won the first time. But that is not the issue; the issue is fairness. Is it fair for MassPirg to be on the bill of students when all the other registered student organizations have to go through a budget process? Is it fair to the very idealistic first year student entering the University who do not even know what MassPirg does? It is very funny that an organization which claims to help consumers would received their funding in such a deceptive manner.

No matter how great the causes of MassPirg is, they are no different than any other campus organization. They should not receive special funding. If the students vote to keep MassPirg on the bill, then SPD has done its job; it has informed the students on a campus issue. But if the students vote to take the unfair fees off their bill then SPD has let the students have a greater voice in an issue. Unlike MassPirg, we do not fear a vote because either way it is a victory for the students.

Tony Rudy
Sylvan

Janitors occupy area for leisure

Concerning the Collegian article titled "BOG allots new space for bicycle co-op," I would like to clarify my statements which appeared (Dec. 6). I was quoted as saying "I don't want to see a bunch of fat old men sitting in there."

What I was actually referring to was that during their lunch hours, janitors continually occupy that area for leisurely purposes (eating, smoking, gambling). I was misquoted out of context. The area is student space which was previously allocated to the Ice Cream co-op. Janitors have enough space to hold coffee-lunch breaks, student space should not be lost because of this.

Gary Kaufman, member
Board of Govenors

The reporter stands by the original story in its accuracy as printed—Editor.

Letters
Brutalized by UMass cops

For those of you who don't know me, I'm a UMass student. Like every undergraduate on this campus, I get free legal advice from the Legal Services Office. Unfortunately, the University administration, which is seeking control of the Student Activites Trust Fund, has stated that it will not fund a vacated position for a staff lawyer. The primary reason? The University is the target of many of the law suits that LSO handles.

For those of you who still don't know who I am, I was at the first sit-in Thursday night demanding that the students' rights to this fund be maintained. I was also arrested and jailed. I was also brutalized by the UMass police.

If you still don't know who I am, I was in front of the SUB Friday telling the crowd how the police had tried to intimidate another student and myself. I told the crowd that now that I had been hurt, I had only two options for recourse. I could retaliate in kind, but I refuse to hurt another person. I could file charges through LSO against the police and, by doing so, call attention to the plight of the students, and keep in the public eye the violations of the UMass police, and maybe even see to it that the responsible person would be, if not removed from campus, at least parked behind a desk.

Though the punishment rarely fits the crime, it will help to prevent further violations by the police. Would you like to be walking across campus with a beer only to be stopped by the same police force that has been repeatedly violating the rights of the people that they are suppose to be protecting? Would RA's call the police to your dorm under these conditions? Their blanket intimidation tactics are notorious. If you were a woman arrested by these police, would you trust them? For those of you who still don't know me, I'll be at Whitmore demanding that student's rights be preserved.

John Peterson
Northampton

The Collegian welcomes letters, column, and cartoon submissions. Submissions should be mailed to the Editorial Editor at the Collegian, 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Mass. 01003, or they can be dropped off at the Collegian classified ad counter in the basement of the Campus Center. Due to the volume of mail received, individual replies cannot be made.

All letters submitted for publication must be signed and include the author's address and telephone number, which will not be published. Letters must be typewritten and double spaced at 67 characters per line. Column sumbissions hsould be between 40 and 60 lines. All submissions are subject to edition for clarity and length. —Editor.

DOVE
Secretarial Services

Fast, Accurate Typing of

- Resumes
- Term Papers
- Dissertations

79 South Pleasant St.
Amherst, Mass 01002
256-1335
253-7480

Yesterday & Today Records

Grateful Dead Psychedelic
Grand Opening
Punk Jazz
Blues

Top CASH PAID for USED:
Records Tapes
Stereos Guitars
Videos CD's

An Alternative Record Store
96 N. Pleasant St.
Amherst 253-9209

16 Shopping Days till Christmas and only 2 days till the Collegian Special Holiday Edition

SPORTSWEAR FACTORY OUTLET
Next to Super Stop & Shop
Route 9 Hadley, MA

WOOL SWEATERS
80% Rag Wool
20% Orlon
Value up to $40.
$11.99 each
2 for $19.99

All
N.F.L. Football
MLBB Baseball
50-75% OFF

SUPERIOR PIZZA
Simply Superior Pizza
FAST, FREE DELIVERY
17 Montague Rd.
North Amherst
549-0626
With any Large or Small Pizza, get second item
FREE
Expires Dec. 21, 1985

SPORT Style

Back in stock!

Polar Fleece Jacket
36.95
EMBROIDERED LOGO

Machine Washable

PLAIN JACKET
34.95

Photographer Dwayne Autery
A gift of warmth

Located in the Campus Center
Open M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3

UNIVERSITY STORE

ARTS

Anguish of Warsaw ghetto expressed in The Survivor

By GREGG ANDREW FALLON
Collegian Correspondent

Directed by Marcia Black

The problem of expressing the turmoil and anguish experienced by the Jewish inhabitants of the Warsaw ghetto during WWII is indeed a difficult one. This is what The Survivor, a play by Susan Nanus based on Jack Eisner's memoirs, attempts to do.

It is the story of five teenagers who, by illegal smuggling, clandestine meetings and eventually armed resistance, try to defy the Nazis. Their lot is desperate but they are very determined.

Amidst the humiliation, degradation and elimination of their people's traditions and ways of life, they persevere to the end, which in some cases is death.

The Survivor shows the gradual crumbling of Warsaw, the Paris of the East, from the beautiful, elegant city it once was, to nothing but the burnt out ruins of smoldering ghettos. Amidst the carnage, the children smuggle food to its inhabitants, risking their lives on every mission.

The actors, particularly Mark Andrew Bogosian, who plays the band's leader and organizer, show the determination, stubborness and desperation of their circumstances. The characters go through near breakdowns as most human beings would. They cry and they laugh and are strikingly human in the face of the inhumane atrocities they face daily.

The children's plan of action in the face of impending danger contrasts that of their parents who resign themselves to passive acceptance in the hope that they can continue to exist peacefully. They children know better and show this by trying to change their situations immediately through action.

The stage directions (by Marcia Black) are effective. The characters steal over the walls that surround Warsaw, hold black market deals in cafes and gather on rooftops. The dramatic lighting also adds to the production.

The subject matter of the play is so enormous that it cannot adequately express the feat and pain felt by the Jewish inhabitants of the ghetto. However, its attempts are noble and headed in the right direction. The Survivor is an emotionally intense play that demands a lot from the viewer as well as the cast.

The Survivor radiates emotion. It is well worth seeing solely for its educational and informational value if not for its worth as an excellent stage production.

Dracula: The Musical is enthusiastic but silly

By JOE SHARTRAND
Collegian Staff

Dracula: The Musical! is a silly little musical comedy presented by the UMass Theater Guild, that is brainless, but fun.

There are some slightly funny moments in this play, but most of the time it is just plain silly. For example, in the first act, the maid (Sue Zizza) answers the phone and finds out it is a wrong number. Later, when Dr. Sam Seward (James Fitzpatrick III) mentions the phone, an off-stage voice reminds us that there were no phones in that era, so a stagehand comes on stage and removes the phone. This kind of joke is not very funny and makes the characters and play seem phony and unrealistic. Characters and story should never be sacrificed for a cheap laugh.

The actors and actresses bring an enthusiasm to their parts that you can't help but enjoy. It's like

continued on page 11

Sue Zizza and David Upton star in "Dracula" playing at 8 p.m. Thursday through Saturday in Bartlett Auditorium.

MASS. APPROVED INSPECTION STATION
RADIAL TIRE SALE
P155/80R13
$29.95
Includes Mounting plus MA State Tax
North Amherst Tire & Auto Center
"Full Service Tire Store"
78 Sunderland Rd., No. Amherst, MA
Across from Watrobe's Store
549-4704
Most Major Credit Cards Accepted

THE FINE ARTS CENTER CONCERT HALL
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST
TONIGHT!

CLEVELAND ORCHESTRA
Christoph Von Dohnanyi, Music Director
Monday, December 9, 8 pm.
Tickets $20,18

The Whately Inn
Quality Food To Order
Chestnut Plain Rd.
Whately
665-3044
Featuring Steve Kloc's Famous Broiled LIVE LOBSTER
Also Serving Louisiana Cajun Entrees
Also Steaks, Prime Rib, Seafood
DIRECTIONS: take 116 north to South Deerfield, south on route 5-10 1½ miles. Right on Christian Lane ½ mile from center of town.
Open:
Mon-Sat 5-10 pm Sun 1-9

AMHERST CINEMA
Monday - Tuesday
The Desk Set 7:15
My Favorite Wife 9:00
Double Feature $3.00
30 AMITY ST. AMHERST 253-5426

THE FINE ARTS CENTER
CONCERT HALL
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

Jazz
with saxophonist
MICHAEL BRECKER
and the University Jazz Ensemble I
Jeff Holmes, director
and the Chapel Jazz Ensemble
David Sporny, director
Thursday, Dec. 12, 8 p.m.
Fine Arts Center Concert Hall

Also Join Michael Brecker and combo for a mini-concert and rap session
Wednesday, Dec. 11, 8 p.m.
Hampden Theatre

Both events Free
Info: 545-2803

Was it MRS. WHITE, COLONEL MUSTARD, MRS. PEACOCK, MR. GREEN, PROFESSOR PLUM, MISS SCARLET, THE BUTLER in the STUDY, THE CONSERVATORY, THE BILLIARD ROOM, THE KITCHEN, THE BALLROOM, THE DINING ROOM, THE LOUNGE, THE LIBRARY, THE HALL with the CANDLESTICK, THE REVOLVER, THE ROPE, THE KNIFE, THE LEAD PIPE, THE WRENCH?

Clue
IT'S NOT JUST A GAME ANYMORE

Opens Friday, December 13th
At A Theatre Near You.

Pssssst!....

Are You A
Secret Santa?

GIFTS
Under 50¢
Under $1.00
Under $2.00
Under $3.00
Under $4.00
Under $5.00

A Store Full of Holiday Gift Ideas!
Downtown Amherst
Daily 10-6, Sun. 12-5
FAGS

SAVE
MIDAS

MUFFLERS
THE ECONOMIZER MUFFLER
$24.95 Regular $29.95

INSTALLATION INCLUDED
The Economizer muffler from Midas fits most American-made cars and trucks. Your satisfaction with this product is assured.

Guarantee: The Economizer Muffler is warranted by Midas for one year from the date of installation and will be replaced free of charge if it fails during this period.

BRAKES
$59.95
Per axle (most cars) Regular $74.90
BRAKE SPECIAL

DISC BRAKES
- Free 4-Wheel brake inspection
- Replace pads with new guaranteed disc pads
- Resurface rotors
- Replace grease seals
- Inspect and repack wheel bearings
- Inspect calipers
- Inspect hydraulic system
- Lubricate caliper anchors
- Inspect fluid levels
- Add fluid if required
- Road test

DRUM BRAKES
- Free 4-Wheel brake inspection
- Replace shoes with new guaranteed linings
- Resurface drums
- Inspect wheel cylinders
- Inspect hold down springs
- Lubricate backing plates
- Inspect hydraulic system
- Readjust brakes
- Road test

Guarantee. Midas brake shoes and disc brake pads are warranted for as long as you own your American or foreign car, van or light truck (under 7,000 lbs.). If they ever wear, new Midas brake shoes or pads will be installed without charge for the shoes or pads or the labor to install the shoes or pads. Additional parts and/or labor required to restore the system to operational condition are extra.

FREE WRITTEN ESTIMATES
143 KING ST. JCT. RTES. 9 & 116 NORTHAMPTON HADLEY 586-4840 586-9991
Midas

Concourse Sale
25% Off
All Plush Animals

No purchase necessary
WIN
Buster the Bear
150.00 retail value
only 1 bear to be given away
Located in the Campus Center

Enter Today
Please print legibly.
University Store employees and their families are not eligible to enter
Drawing to be held on 12/13/85
Name
Address
City, State, Zip
Phone
1 entry per person

UNIVERSITY STORE

★ Dracula continued from page 9

LLoyd Rutledge's character, Boris Renfield, who is confined to Dr. Seward's asylum because of his "contagious enthusiasm". Whenever anyone mentions a state, he begins to sing a travelogue that everyone can't help but dance to. The performers have the same type of "contagious enthusiasm" for their parts as Boris does for the states. The performers' sincerity and energy makes the audience enjoy the characters, even if they are a little silly.

The songs that run throughout this play range from mediocre to pretty funny. The best song doesn't come till near the end, when Dracula is dispatched with the usual stake in the heart. This song is called "The Tippy-Tippy-Tap of Love" which is sung by Bubu Padoop (Heather Rubin) to her boyfriend Dr. Van Hesling as he pounds a stake into Dracula's heart.

While Dracula's heart is breaking, his moans accent the song with a comic touch. This love song is one of the funniest gags in the play, along with Renfield's travelogues.

Even though the jokes are sometimes too silly for comfort and the songs aren't really too exciting, the performances are admirable. These people are obviously sincere about their silliness and invest this play with ebullient energy. Dracula: The Musical? is not good comedy and only fair musically, but it is an enjoyable production. The actors and actresses are having so much fun that the audience can't help but enjoy them.

ARTS

UTOPIA SPAS
Student Special
1 HOUR TUB for ½ HOUR PRICE
an incredible savings
every Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday
Call for reservations 253-SPAS
175 University Drive, Amherst MA
(next to Stadium Liquors in the Price Chopper Mall)

nassau florida
$35
WILL HOLD YOUR BED
SPRINGBREAK
CALL NOW! 256-1261
COUNCIL TRAVEL SERVICES
79 SO PLEASANT ST AMHERST

You and Your Problem Drinking Parent
Facing the holidays and intercession can be especially difficult for students who have parents or relatives with drinking problems.
The University Health Services is offering a workshop which will cover:
- Identifying alcoholism or problem drinking patterns
- Alcoholism and family dynamics
- Common problems facing adult children of alcoholics
- Resources for help locally and in your hometown area
Date: Monday, Dec. 9, 1985
Time: 7:00-9:00 pm
Place: University Health Services, Room 302
Please register by calling Health Education at 549-2671, ext.181

NOW OPEN
Riverboat Village
APARTMENTS, SOUTH HADLEY.
1, 2 or 3 BEDROOM UNITS
BEAUTIFUL MODELS FURNISHED BY CHAP DeLAINES & EPSTEIN FURNITURE CO
•Swimming Pool •Tennis Court •Club House •Shuffle Board Court
FINANCED BY MHFA
LEASED ON OPEN OCCUPANCY BASIS
OPEN SEVEN DAYS A WEEK
10 AM 4 PM
PHONE 532 9461
532 9462
CALL FOR DIRECTIONS
Riverboat Village
River Lodge Rd
So. Hadley, MA 01075

Global Gifts of Creswell Gallery
arts, crafts and gifts of color
Carriage Shops
233 N. Pleasant St.
Amherst
10-5 Mon-Sat
549-6600
Secret Santa Gifts
African Artifacts
Cards
Cloths
Dolls
Jewelry
Posters
Pottery
Prints

EXAM ALERT!
A workshop to help you learn to manage time and stress as you prepare for exams.
Open to all students.
December 9
7 - 8:30 p.m.
Campus Center Rm. 803
Sponsored by Mental Health Division of UHS

HILLTOP HEALTH CLUB
INTERNS WANTED
OPENINGS:
4 to 6

RESPONSIBILITIES:
1) create, design and instruct a one credit course in the area of health and fitness.
2) administration of the fitness testing program
3) training/fitness consultation

QUALIFICATIONS:
1) coursework and/or work experience in exercise physiology, kinesiology, nutrition, exercise prescription/testing, psychology, sport management, mechanical principles of motion
2) leadership qualities
3) desire to use and build upon your knowledge and expertise in an area within the fitness field
4) ability to work independently

APPLICATIONS:
available in B-30 BakerHouse in the Orchard Hill area. Phone: 545-2883
DEADLINE: Monday, December 16, 1985
INTERVIEWS: scheduled 16 Dec. thru 20 Dec.
DON'T WAIT! APPLY NOW!

Governors' Program Council presents
'...LISTEN UP!'
PAJAMA SLAVE DANCERS
CIRCLE
Watch the Teeth Kate
THE IMAGE
Good Speed

6 Hours of Music
5 Live Bands
4 everyone
3 bucks a head
2 to tango
one hell of a time.....
WED. DEC. 11
S.U.B. UMASS
6-12pm
$3.50 at the door
$3.00
sponsored by GPC and Residental Ed. West

Monday Night FOOTBALL at the TIME OUT

Popcorn!! Unplugged Juke Box!!

RAMS v.s. 49ers
Don't Drink and Drive
Proper ID Required

let us do your wash-dry-fold and hand pressing
10-5 P.M. MON-SAT
SELF SERVICE
7 DAYS–7 A.M.-10 P.M.
549-1665

SPEEDWASH
Quality Laundry
11 Pray St.
Amherst, MA

RENT A WRECK
New & Used Cars
Trucks & Vans Also Available
North Amherst
Rent-A-Wreck
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880

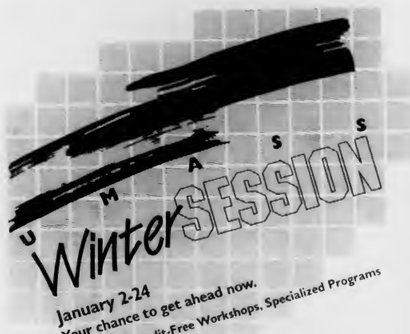
James H. McManus
eating place
• OPEN
6 A.M.-3 A.M.
SUN.-THURS.
• OPEN 24 HOURS
FRI. & SAT.
CAMPUS PLAZA
(NEXT TO SUPER STOP & SHOP)
Rt. 9 • Hadley/Amherst
256-6889

It's almost semester break, and we get BUSY, BUSY, BUSY! Don't wait 'til the last minute for your prescriptions... Come in as soon as possible! Better yet, PHONE in your refillable prescriptions and they'll be ready next day! Call 549-2611 ext. 165... or, wait 'til the last minute & bring WAR & PEACE with you!

Thank You! ... The Pharmacy Staff at U.H.S.

Christmas Boxed Cards

You'll find a special yuletide wish for everyone on your list.



Located in the Campus Center
UNIVERSITY STORE

M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3

AMERICAN GREETINGS

© MCMLXXXV American Greetings Corp.

January 2-24
Your chance to get ahead now.
Credit Courses, Credit-Free Workshops, Specialized Programs

Credit courses include Accounting, Public Speaking, Intro. to Mass Communication, Political Novel, Nutrition and People, French, History, Newswriting & Reporting, Managerial Behavior, Mechanical Engineering, Russian Culture, Advanced Federal Tax Procedures, Spanish, Wildlife Law Enforcement, and more.

Credit-free workshops include Beginning Calligraphy, Buying Real Estate, Writing Nonfiction to Order, Your Professional Image, Home Management, Time Management, Osteoporosis Prevention Exercise, How to Buy a Microcomputer, Chess, Cross-Country Skiing, and more.

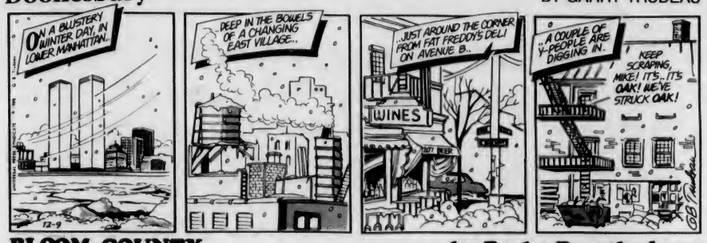
REGISTER NOW!
Records and Registration Office
Division of Continuing Education
University Library
8:30 a.m.-7 p.m., Monday through Thursday
8:30 a.m.-5 p.m., Friday

Call 545-2414 for more information.

DCE Division of Continuing Education
University of Massachusetts at Amherst

Miller HIGH LIFE Rock Series

Valentine Hall
Amherst College
Weds. Dec. 11 at 8:00 P.M.



Mike Crivelli Jerry Carrelly Bruce W. Smith Bob Elliott 'Young Neal' Vitullo Barry Cipriano

B. WILLIE SMITH
Miller MUSIC
PLAYED THE AMERICAN WAY
FLASH GROUP CONCERTS
5 College ID required

Doonesbury

BY GARRY TRUDEAU

WEATHER

TODAY: Partly cloudy, high 35 to 40

TONIGHT: Partly cloudy, lows in the teens

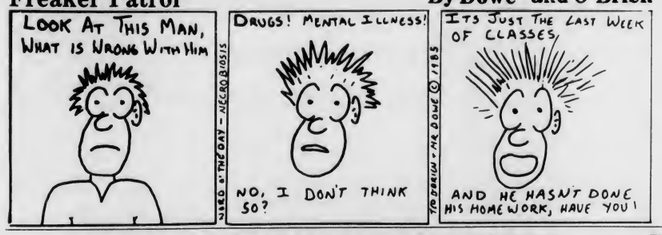
TOMORROW: Partly cloudy.

BLOOM COUNTY

by Berke Breathed

Bat Brain

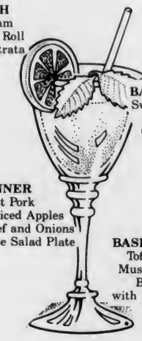
By Bill Dearing



GORDY

By Gorde

Freaker Patrol



By Dowe and O'Brien

Today's Menu

LUNCH
Deli Ham on Water Roll
Cheese Strata

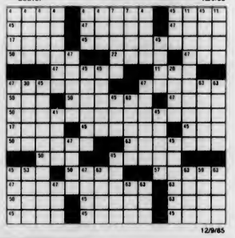
BASICS LUNCH
Swiss and Sprout Sandwich
Cheese Strata

DINNER
Roast Pork
Gravy, Spiced Apples
Braised Beef and Onions
Silver Palate Salad Plate

BASICS DINNER
Tofu Nut Loaf
Mushroom Sauce
Baked Cod
with Lemon Wedge

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Edited by Trude Michel Jaffe



ACROSS
1 Sound of thunder
5 Game of chance
10 Concerning
14 Rhine tributary
15 ——— a million
16 Type style: Abbr.
17 1492 caravel
18 "Alice in ———" source
20 Hippodrome
22 Architect Saarinen
23 Xenon, e.g.
24 Hardware store item
27 Pipe joint
29 Steal the show
32 Preferably
35 One way to stand
36 River in South Carolina
39 "Fame" star Irene
40 Belmont Stakes winner 1968
43 Therefore
44 Region in Somerset
45 Cube
46 Connects
48 Head cavities
50 Voices from the loft: Abbr.
51 V.I. Ulanov
52 Broadcast
54 Adjutant
57 Edge along
61 John Ford directed film: 1939
65 Interrogate
66 Stereo equipment
67 Boredom
68 Employer
69 Noble Italian family
70 Remains
71 Lab burner

DOWN
1 Village of Galilee
2 Place to hibernate
3 "Rule Britannia" composer
4 Butter or a sort
5 Heard from the herd
6 Yoko ———
7 Doctrine
8 Neap or ebb
9 Humdinger
10 Feel under the weather
11 Sceneshifters
12 Blue Nile source
13 Auto pioneer
19 Church list
21 Degrade
25 Plateau region of SE Ethiopia
26 Town near Tanglewood
28 Engrave
29 Tip over
30 Gloria ———
31 Playwright's skill
32 Enlist anew
33 A Ford
34 Comedienne Martha et al.
37 Sellers or Seaver
38 Irregular
41 Exclamation of surprise
42 Avifauna
47 Dress ———
49 Like a rare bird
51 Slants
52 Tennis great
53 "How sweet ———!"
55 Bakery worker
56 Finished
58 Do housework
59 Legal claim
60 Pound or Cornell
62 Give, to Robert Burns
63 Slice
64 Part of HRH

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

A	M	I	D		T	A	M	E	D		D	D	S
W	A	D	T		A	B	L	E		R	O	O	T
A	L	L	M	I	X	E	D	U	P		A	U	R	A
S	T	E		T	I	T	O		A	I	R	B	A	G
M	A	I	R	D	E	N		C	A	R	M	E	L
			U	R	G	E		S	T	I	R	A	T	E
A	C	H	E	S		L	I	K	E	N		D	O	E
M	O	A	S		P	A	I	R	E	D		T	I	N	A
E	L	L		T	O	P	E	R		D	O	P	E	S
R	A	F	T	E	R	S		S	P	I	N
		A	R	E	T	E	S		I	N	G	R	E	S
S	I	A	L	A	M		L	E	N	O		A	D	E
A	M	O	Y		O	V	E	R	T	U	R	N	E	D
R	I	A	S		N	O	R	S	E		E	T	N	A
D	E	I	F		S	N	E	E	R		A	S	S	N

12/9/85

12/9/85

Come see our wide selection of fine Christmas Cards and Decorations!

A·J·Hastings, Inc.
—Newsdealer and Stationer—
"Conveniently located in the center of Amherst"
45 South Pleasant Street
OPEN: Weekdays 5 a.m. to 9 p.m., Sundays, 5 a.m. to 1 p.m.

SUMMER EMPLOYMENT

Recruiters from Lowell National Historic Park will interview students for summer employment as Park Aides, Park Technicians, Laborers, Security Personnel at Lowell and other National Parks. The hourly rate will range from 5.49/hr-6.56/hr. Park Rangers will interview and assist in filling out applications on Wednesday, December 11th, Room 917 Campus Center, from 10 am - 4 pm. Additional information is available at the Student Employment Office, 239A Whitmore Administration Building.

STUDENTS INTERSESSION
$5.00 PER HOUR
Work Available all over New England
in your home area during Christmas Break
on campus information sessions
to be held on
Dec 12 & Dec 18 at Cc Room 904
10 am, 11 am etc
up and including 6 pm
For more information you may contact Student Employment Rm 239A Whitmore or call collect at 617-366-6473
RGIS INVENTORY SPECIALISTS
EOE

DELANO'S
FINE FOOD & SPIRITS
FREE TACO BAR
MON & TUES NIGHT
9 — till it lasts
DECEMBER BEER SPECIAL
Kronenbourg
Delanos will be closed Mon. night December 16 from 9 pm on
57 N. Pleasant St., Amherst

HIGH STYLE at Low Costs
Even college students can afford to look good at Marjon

also: Tanning and waxing

	start at
cuts	$8.00
perm	38.00
foiling	45.00
shampoo/cut/dry	14.00

Marjon Hair Design
Mountain Farms Mall
Rt 9
Hadley, Ma
586-4551

Ski
UMASS SKI CLUB
presents
WINTER PARK COLORADO
JANUARY 5-12 $425.00 per person
Your Trip Includes:
* Roundtrip jet flight Newark/Denver
* Roundtrip transfer from Denver to Winter Park
* 7 nights luxury condominum lodging at The Pines
* 5 days skiing at Winter Park and Mary Jane ski areas
* Welcome Party and mountain orientation
* Ski race with prizes
* All taxes and tips included
For more information contact:
UMASS SKI CLUB
or Tom Gerraty 549-5913; Dwayne Head 256-4287
"The best trip, the lowest priced!"

CARBUR'S
RESTAURANT & LOUNGE
At the Elmwood, Route 9, Hadley, MA (413) 586-1978

DON'T CRAM THE NIGHT BEFORE. . .
START NOW WITH A LITTLE HELP FROM YOUR FRIENDS!!
STORE HOURS:
MONDAY-FRIDAY 9-5
SATURDAY 10-3
Located in the Campus Center
UNIVERSITY STORE

UMass swimmers rout Springfield, 68-45

Donovan, Turner spark victory

By JOE ROBERTS
Collegian Correspondent

The University of Massachusetts men's swim team defeated Springfield College 68-45 at Boyden Pool on Saturday for their third win of the year (3-0) and including last year, their tenth consectutive victory in dual meets.

"We weren't too sharp. After the 1,000 free I knew we were tired. You can't swim two meets like that (Tufts meet on Wednesday) in a row," said UM coach Russ Yarworth. "We're right where we want to be right now, we're even thinking about going undefeated."

The Minutemen led throughout the meet, but Springfield stayed close. John Turner and Fred Marius needed to place first and second respectively in order to clinch the meet in the next to last event, the breaststroke.

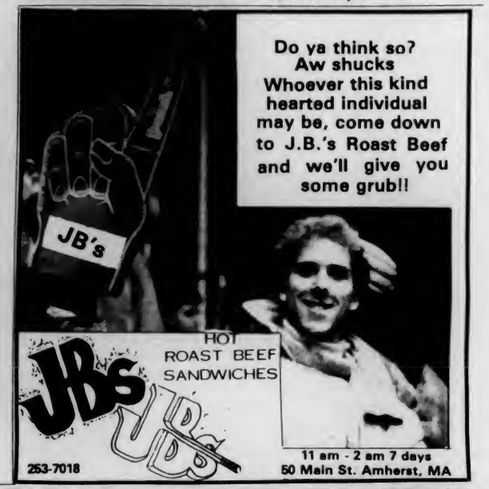
"I put Turner in that breaststoke because I felt we could win the meet right then. I knew we could put him in there but they (Springfield) didn't," Yarworth said. It was Turner's first try at the breaststoke this season.

Yarworth was saving Turner and Drew Donovan for the final relay but put them in other events earlier to keep the UMass lead. Donovan's 4:46.04 in the 500 freestyle was good enough for first place. That win put UMass up, 52-36 with three events left.

Springfield by placing first and second ahead of UMass' Pat Mullen shortened the lead to 53-44. Then Turner won the breaststroke.

Turner also broke his UMass record in the 200 backstroke to 1:57.02 and placed second in the 200 individual medley. Donovan broke the UMass record in the 50 freestyle with his 21.43 and won the 100 freestyle with a 48.15 as well.

Yarworth also singled out Paul McDonough.



"McDonough had a good meet. He cut five seconds off his best time," said the coach. McDonough won the 200 freestyle in 1:46.92, which was the closest event of the meet. The third place finisher Jim Flannery had a 1:47.34.

Mullen placed second in the one-meter event and third in the three-meter diving for UMass.

The Minutemen also won both relays. Marc Surette, Marius, Ed Burton, and Jeff Piaget teamed to win the 400 medley relay in 3:44.82. Piaget, Jim Kuhns, Flannery, and McDonough won the 400 freestyle relay in 3:16.24 by two hundreths of a second.

UMass, 3-0, will be in action again on Wednesday, swimming at the University of Lowell in a 4:30 p.m. meet.

Collegian photo by Neil Beckerman
Ed Burton and the University of Massachusetts men's swim team defeated Springfield College on Saturday.

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Come to Collegian Office CC 113 • 8:45-3:45 Mon - Thurs; 8:45 - 2:30 Fri • Deadline is 2 days prior to publication day
Cash in advance • Phone number FREE

ACTIVITIES

Submit. . .

See the comet Tuesday (if clear) at 7 pm by the pond. Telescopes will be run by ares astronomers.

UMass Outing Club - 7:00 pm final meeting - rm 917 CC rock climbing slide show all welcome!

AUDIO

BOSE 101 speakers. Like new. Info call 6-7917

AUTO FOR SALE

1970 Cutlass w/rebuilt 350 runs good & clean; new trans new brakes, radiah good, good spare, drive it away for $250 or BO call Mike ? 6 pm 256-8768

1975 Dodge Dart dependable, standard, some rust $400 or BO Kathy 549-4600 ext 348

1976 Pinto automatic runs well $500 or best offer 584-5742

Jeep 1979 CB-7 soft top low mileage runs great asking $3500 256-8066

79 Mercury Zephyr 22? mpg runs great, book value - $2200 - will sell at a loss $1500 or BO - must sell immediately! - Joe 549-4629

Is it true you can buy jeeps for $44 through the U.S. Government? Get the facts today! Call 1-312-742-1142 ext. 5931-A

"CASH"

Cash for your baseball cards please call Mike 546-6105

DEBBIE STEIN

You look up to me, even though its hard to believe. . .Though sometimes you'd rather I'd just leave. Even though I prefer males your S.S. is a female

ENTERTAINMENT

Rack-A-Diac Entertainment Agency for the best party this semester. DJ's, large screen video, rentals. 549-7144

Turn the Tables professional party/club D.J. 5 yr experience widest selection cal 24 hr. 586-9691

"Listen Up!" Governors Program Council presents five five bands! Pajama Slave Dancers and more! Wed. Dec. 11 S.U.B. pm

FOR RENT

Sanderland, 1 bdrm apt. on busline, 420/month, everything included. Avail immediately! 665-3440, leave message

Next to UMass. Share apartment with woman and son. $200? Call 549-0024

Single room available all Inclusive rent! Available to female or male Jan 1 call Sheryl 256-1645

One bedroom apt: Cliffside, on bus rte. $349/mo. all util incl. mod kitch, gym-ns bed, laund, 7 Eleven call 665-7696 aves avail Jan 1

To takeover lease Jan 1 9 Crestview Apts 1 bedrm call eves 549-6752

2 b room Northwood Apt $370/m bus available Jan 1 665-3856 or 665-7783

1 or 2 rooms in house, North amherst, Pine St. busline, $173/mo, 549-6650, 549-0380

Room in house available for Spring semester, Jan-Aug across street from campus, walk to town, deck, washer dryer, big back yard, pets OK 150/month + utilities 545-6364 Lisa or Pat

Rooms available over Intersession Close to campus, walking distance, kitchen facilities call 549-3831, ask for John or Bill

For rent starting Jan 25 large room in house in Amherst Ctr call 549-5866

Large room for rent over break in Amherst Center call 549-5866

One room available in Swiss Village. $215 per month - utilities are included. For Spring semester - starting January. Clean, quiet, on the busline. Cash reward call 256-1061

Brandywine 2 bedroom apt has 3 spots available Jan 1st. Must be at least one male. Call Ed 6-7:30 pm 549-4726

FOR SALE

Studded snowtires on Buick 14" releigh rims white walls new 549-0385

Electric typewriter new 150 Hobie skateboard fiberglass board wide wheels 50 call Mark 6-9821

Computer Terminal with modem $200 or BO Diane 549-1449

67 Volkswagon convertible excellent heat, stereo, snowtires. Recent clutch, brakes, tuneup. Warm and dry, reliable 500$ or best offer. Josh 549-7186 thanks

1983 Nighthawk 650 must sell will accept any reasonable offer call Allen 546-6876

10 speed bicycle good shape $45 call soon 546-8996

Double bed vy good cond $45 549-6541

FOUND

Bicycle: expensive off-road type found on campus, positive ID nec. contact 253-2911

GAMU

Happy Birthday - - Just wait until you see your present. Sorry it is not what you ordered. We love you the girld of 64 and Karen of course

HELP WANTED

OVERSEAS JOBS Summer, yr. round. Europe, S. Amer., Australia, Asia. All fields. $900-2000 mo. Sightseeing. Free info. Write IJC, PO Bx 52-MA1 Corona Del Mar, CA 92625

Jobs! $4-$6/hr! Intersession. Spring. Apply Telefund - Memorial Hall Basement

Jobs Florida - Hightech, Aerospace, Finance, & contact points. Send $7.95 Southeast Market Consultants Inc. Suite 4A, 74 Gulf Blvd., Irb Florida 33535

Put your car to work for you and make at least $7 per hour delivering pizza. Apply Superior Pizzeria 549-0626

Responsible males wanted for work during spring semester in exchange for meals. For more information call 545-0627

2 positions open in the famous Collegian Day Graphics Dept. Jobs entails the creation of ads for the paper. Art background helpful but not necessary. Flexible hours, fun folks, amazing experience. Apply between 9 am and 3 pm in room 105 CC.

INSTRUCTION

Private Guitar Lessons experienced and patient teacher rock/pop/folk/blues improv., reading, theory, composition. Your home or my studio. Doug 549-4786

Intersession Bartending Courses 4 sections available sign up in Credit Free Workshops Room 111 Tower Library

LOST

Lost blue knapsack w/books only. If found call Joey 549-2792 reward

Hay! Green plastic notebook lost on Dec 3 if found please call 546-6516

MARVELOUS

U Look Marvelous bumper stickers $1 546-6313

MOVER

'Round Town Movers fast reliable cheap " Michael anytime 323-6780

PERSONALS

Ski Sugarbush! Hotel $149 call Ski Club now 548-3437

Jobs! $4-$6/hour Intersession Spring Apply Telefund - Memorial Hall Basement

Dear Basic's Blonds: (with the Massachusetts hat) Why the glares? Do I know you from somewhere? RSVP5M

David - (TS) This is just to get your ATTENTION! The held back pledge

Liz, Happy three months you cute Little Snuggebunny! ooeeoobonkaboo!!!! I love you precious Ollie

Thanks for all the UStore ads Mr. Soderberg. Would you like to do them all the time? — Day Graphics

ATTENTION U.P.C. MEMBERS! It's happening! We are having a holiday party! Come to the U.P.C. Office in 406 Student Union for more information

Dear Lori: Congratulations on your early graduation. We are very proud of you and know you will always be successful. Love Mom, John, Jennifer

Doobs - You are a great friend and roommate. I'll miss you over -scation! Luv, Suz

Joe Pes Killer! Happy Birthday! Lets get drunk! Love, Me and Grips

"ACE" - Surprise! I never thought it could be like this. I'll miss you. I love you "Jill"

Marylynne, your Secret Santa loves you! Keep smiling! You are going to make a wonderful teacher someday!

B.D.W. Happy Belated Birthday! I hope you enjoy your present, a childhood. Its about time you had one! Sincerely, a fellow beautiful person

Happy Birthday Lal! Congratulations on turning legal for the second time. We'll try top last year. Love J, Sue, Laf, Bears, Pooh and all the other bears.

Fred - This past year and 8 mos has been great. I love you so. Lets keep the fire burning. Always, Heidy

To my baby boy, Eoet another Birthday Happy Belated Birthday I love you! Love, Booby, Gurchee, CF!!

Mary Jane, Since I saved 40-70% on your bracelet and necklace, I would like to buy you a beautiful piece of diamond jewelry. I can get a necklace, earrings or even a ring - any preference! Meet me Thursday at Golden Opportunity 13 N. Pleasant St. at Lodestone Love, Bruno

D-zane, The steaks are waiting and the wine is fine. I want to play the low music and light the dinner candles. Your Brandywine Admirer Ed XXOOX

Melissa Have a Happy Holiday. Clue: I live in Townehouse too, your Secret Santa

Happy 21st Birthday MK. Nunna called, she'll be in until 5. MK, Metawange is losing his grip! Love, Justine, Lisa, Lisa

Abbie Lynn, I miss you. When I see you on campus, it kills me. Give me a second chance. I love you, Michael Becky, Its me, neets. Should I have used Wally and the Beav? Now everyone will know! Oh well, sigh, it doesn't matter. It's OK.

TURBO, Mark I meant SHAVE!! SSS

To Margo, Heidi, Robin H., Robin W., Andrea & Beatrice: Congratulations on Initiation! We love ya, your sisters at SDT

Congratulations to the New Sisters of Sigma Kappa. You are a great bunch! Enjoy sisterhood!

PROFESSIONAL TYPING SERVICE

Cases, papers, dissertations, theses, on campus, dependable, outstanding quality, low rates, 584-7924

ROOM WANTED

Male looking for room for intersession near campus preferred. Call Tom 6-6798 before 11:00 or after 7:00 pm

Rooms/eublets needed Jan 5-18. Call the School for Body-Mind Centering 256-8615

ROOMMATE WANTED

Apt to share pleasant reasonable ideally located in Amherst Ctr 774-2749

Roommate wanted for Brittany manor apt share with 2 semors and 1 junior know you will always be successful. Love Mom, John, Jennifer

Female roommate needed to share a room in Brittany manor Jan 1 on ft in a newly renovated apartment and will have only three roommates call Robyn 256-1232

Two roommates wanted male or female in Southwood apt call Eric 256-1628

Femals to share Brittany Manor apt Spring semester call 256-0996

Echo Village fully furnished, on 2 bus routes, starting Jan/Feb 256-6809

Clean, quiet huge dbl rm for $110/mo plus utilities call 549-6298

Female roommate wanted for spring Brittany manor 253-7868 available Jan 1

Famale roommate to share room in Brandywine apt call 6-6773

Female roommate wanted to share room in Brittany Manor beginning Jan or Feb call evenings 253-7357

1 bdrm in a 2 bdrm apt Northwood apts call Joe 549-6310

To share double room in Hadley farmhouse apt quiet near bus rt nonsmoker preferred available Jan 1 586-7076

Female roommate wanted for Brittany Apt jan to May 31 - call 253-2420

Famals wanted for a room in quiet condo in Amherst Fields for spring call 256-1618

Three studious females looking for two housemates M/F to share huge sunny bedroom starting 12/21 in Amherst Center $130 each !. Only serious inquiries please. Must see!! 665-4692 Lisa or Jen eves

Looking for 1 or 2 roommates to share a luxury condominium in Amherst Fields. 1 bedroom available has fireplace, laundry room, any much more. For info call Harold 256-0912

2 females needed for 1 lg bdrm in house near town availa 1/1 on bus route call 253-2264 after 5 pm

Single available Puffton Village $144/mnth great location 549-2877 starting Jan 1

2 females wanted to share room in Puffton apt free Jan 1 call Caroline 549-2643

SAFE SUNTANS

Safe sustans le Bon Soleil's Christmas Specials: unlimited visits till 12/24 - only $29.00 or buy as many visits as you like for only $3 each, $2 for facial tanner. Gift certificates specials too. Free 15 min trial session 253-9454

SERVICES

COINS 123/121 tutoring 5.00 per hr. former 123/121 grader Alex 256-1239

Escort Service available 8 pm - 2:30 am everyday any where on campus. Play it safe call 5-2125 for an escort ANYTIME

Editing, Consultation. Ex-professor's specialty: dissertations, professional articles, books. 268-7772

Papers typed. 253-3634

SUSIE NEEDS HELP:

A blue clip-on key ring with four keys on it is lost. Please help me, I really need them back. If found, call Susie at 549-0742. Reward!

TO SUBLET

To sublet over intersession one bedroom (two people) in Puffton Village call 549-7578

Intersession 2 room apt 5 min to campus, bus stop out door if lazy, super place, $ negot 256-1207

1 bedrm apt for Jan on bus rt, $290, util. incl.: Cliffside Apts Sunderland 665-3068

Female only Brittany Manor for January call 253-7357

Single bedroom in 4 bedroom apt in house avail. Feb 1 - Aug 431. one eighth mile to campus, $242/mo (includes heat) Must be a nonsmoker call Kathy at 549-6923 eves or early morn.

One large bedroom in two bedroom apt available Jan 1 $290 mo call ed or Steve 253-9509

One bedroom in Townehouse available for Intersession - females preferred call 549-6621

Intersession only 2 rooms in Puffton apt 549-3809

TRAVEL

Need a piece? Trips to Florida spring break sign now save $25 before Dec 12 for more info 566-4187

TYPING SERVICE

QUALITY TYPING. Long or short projects. Will correct grammar, spelling, & punctuation. Meticulous proofreading. New IBM typewriter. 549-0367

TYPING & WORD PROCESSING

Next Day Service. Type-Rite 253-5111

VALUABLE EXPERIENCE

The Collegian is seeking correspondents in the Five Colleg area to report on the various goings on in the area. An excellent way to gain experience with a daily newspaper. For more information contact Anne McCrory or Tom Middleton at 545-3500

WANTED

Quiet, neat female seeks a room on bus route for spring semester call 546-6365 nights prefer non-smoker

WANTED TO RENT

Take over lease in Jan of 4 person house or apt call 546-4474 or 546-7199

SEX! Now that we have your attention: wanted, a 2-3 bedroom apt for spring semester reward! call 247-5154

We want your 2 bdrm house or apt will take over lease in Jan call 546-1199 for your cash reward!!

Two seniors, nonsmoking students seek apartment in Amherst Ctr for Spring semester call Ken at 1-732-0656 (collect)

Help! I need an apt or room to share - North Amherst. Spring semester Karen 253-7868

Couple with young child need small apartment for January only 549-0413

Responsible female student looking for quiet clean non-student household or a need for spring sem must know by Dec 1 Larri 549-4392

Male and female seeking housing for Intersession. If subletting please call 549-8036

SPORTS

UMass dumps Hartford, 72-65

Chase scores 15 as Minutemen snap losing streak, go to 2-3

By PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts basketball team proved several things on Saturday night.

The first being that they could beat Division 1 competition as the Minutemen handed the University of Hartford a 72-65 loss before 3,278 at the Cage.

The second being that they could win without sophomore guard Lorenzo Sutton scoring a lot of points (he had 12, one of five Minutemen in double figures).

And finally, the Minutemen proved that the highly-touted freshmen on this season's team are legitimate players, ones that in the long run are going to make UMass a very good team.

"This was an important win for us, one we needed," said UMass coach Ron Gerlufsen. "We got some good efforts from our players, especially the bench. I'm seeing a lot of progress from the team."

UMass, 2-3, snapped a three-game losing streak and prepared for Wednesday night's Atlantic 10 Conference opener at home against St. Bonaventure. Hartford fell to 1-3.

Freshman forward Duane Chase, one of the newcomers from who a lot was expected, came into his own against the Hawks, scoring a game-high 15 points on five-of-six shooting from the floor. He also had three rebounds and two blocked shots.

Another freshman, forward Joe Fennell had 14 points and five rebounds in 22 quality minutes of play. For Chase and Fennell, the game marked career-highs in scoring.

Junior captain Carl Smith had another solid night, scoring 10 points and dishing out 11 assists. Freshman guard David Brown continued his steady play, with 10 points. Freshman center Sean Mosby, despite missing on four attempts from the floor, hauled down 10 rebounds and blocked seven shots in a great defensive effort. We had four points from the line.

"It was a good team effort all around," said Smith. "This was a tough game to prepare for mentally after losing to UConn (78-70 in overtime last Wednesday). We showed a lot of desire when the game got close and proved we could play as a team. I feel very good about the St. Bonnie game, we're coming along."

The beginning of the game proved nightmarish for the Minutemen as Hartford scored the first 10 points and led 10-0 with 17:18 left in the first half. Gerlufsen wasted little time, yanking Brown, Chase and senior Tom Emerson out and inserting Mosby, Fennell and junior Ben Jones.

That trio, along with Smith and Sutton cut the lead to 12-10 on a pair of Mosby free throws with 13:37 left.

Chase then took over. The 6-6 Baltimore native stole a pass at halfcourt, was fouled on his attempted layup and made one foul shot to make it 16-13 with 10:52 left. Dana Middleton's two free throws made it 18-13 before a short hook in the lane by Chase cut it to three, 18-15.

UMass regained possession and Chase, taking a Smith feed, slammed home a dunk, inciting the crowd. He was fouled by Middleton and the free throw tied the game at 18 with 9:57 left.

Chase then blocked Hartford's next shot, knocking the ball to Smith who coasted in for an easy layup and UMass led for the first time, 20-18.

Hartford battled back, taking the lead 26-20, but Jones tied it at 28 with a layup and a Smith free throw, a pair of Fennell hoops and a pull-up jumper by Chase gave UMass a 37-33 lead at halftime.

The Minutemen never trailed from then on, but Hartford made it interesting, closing to within two, 58-56 on a Larry Jenkins' tip-in. But the Minutemen did something they hadn't done all season: they hit their free throws. Four of their next five to be exact to go along with a coast-to-coast drive by Sutton and the lead was back to a comfortable eight, 65-57 with the five point run.

Hartford resorted to frequent fouling in the later stages of the game, but Brown and Emerson connected on their attempts while Hartford's Mark Mitchell contributed by missing four of his last six shots from the stripe.

UMass, avenging last season's 63-59 loss to the Hawks, was 23-of-52 from the floor (44 percent) and a much-improved 26-of-35 from the line for 74 percent. The Minutemen also outrebounded the Hawks, 46-40 and took advantage of nine Hartford turnovers, scoring 18 points as a result of UH miscues. The Minutemen also ran the transition game well, scoring 18 points off the break.

Hartford, on the other hand, kept firm hold on their mason's union card with a 23-of-69 (33 percent) effort from the floor. They were a better 61 percent from the line, but clanged it up to a 10-for-20 tune in the second half. Mitchell had 14 points to lead the visitors and Ulysses Garcia contributed 13 and six assists.

MINUTEMEN MUTTERINGS: The game was televised on Channel 3 in Hartford. . .the UMass student station, WMUA, failed to show for the game. . .it was a good day for the A-10 as Rutgers, Duquesne and Temple all posted victories. . .Sutton, after two games, was seventh in the league in scoring. . .Smith is averaging 7.4 assists-per-game. . .the blue-and-red Hartford Hawk was soundly-booed. . .Faces in the crowd: Holy Cross coach George Blaney and former UM players Horace Neysmith and George Ramming. . .Gerlufsen used a season-low nine players. . .The Hempel watch: Big John has yet to get double figures for St. John's this season with a season-high of six.

UMass (72) Duane Chase 5-6 5-8 15, Joe Fennell 4-8 6-6 14, Lorenzo Sutton 5-9 2-2 12, Carl Smith 4-11 2-3 10, David Brown 3-7 4-8 10, Sean Mosby 0-4 4-4 4, Tom Emerson 1-2 2-2 4, Ben Jones 1-3 0-0 2, Matt Ryan 0-2 1-2 1. Totals: 23-52 26-35 72.

Hartford (65) Mark Mitchell 4-7 6-9 14, Ulysses Garcia 3-13 7-8 13, John Hulbert 5-8 0-0 10, Dana Middleton 3-5 2-3 8, Larry Jenkins 3-2 1-2 7, Vincent Johnson 3-6 0-2 6, Marvin Powell 2-7 1-2 5, Keith Jones 0-2 0-0 0, Jeff Hagan 0-0 0-0 0. Totals: 23-69 19-31 65.

UMass (2-3) ..... 37 35 - 72
Hartford (1-3) ..... 33 32 - 65

Fouled Out: Hulbert, Garcia, Middleton and Mosby. Total Fouls: UMass—24, Hartford—30. Rebounds: UMass—46 (Mosby 10), Hartford—40 (Jenkins 10). Assists: UMass—17 (Smith 11), Hartford—12 (Garcia 6). Technicals: None. Attendance: 3,278.

Collegian photo by Michelle Segall

University of Massachusetts freshman forward Duane Chase (right) shoots over Hartford's Jeff Hagan on Saturday night at the Cage. UMass won, 72-65.

Collegian photo by Michelle Segall

Chase and fellow freshman David Brown (right) celebrate the Minuteman victory. UMass is now 2-3 on the season.

Minutewomen roll to victory, 69-35

Lewis, Matthews lead UMass

By JOHN A. NOLAN
Collegian Staff

Senior guard Juanita Matthews and sophomore forward Tara Lewis each scored a game-high 10 points to lead a balanced attack by the University of Massachusetts women's basketball team as the Minutewomen humiliated Springfield College, 69-34, Saturday night in the Curry Hicks Cage.

UMass head coach Barbara Stevens was not pleased with her team's performance despite the positive outcome. Stevens was quick to criticize her team, citing tentative and careless play in what was a sloppy performance.

"We will always take a win over a loss, but we take tonight's win with a grain of salt," Stevens said.

The win was the fourth straight for UMass, 4-1, and completed a four game homestand in which the Minutewomen rolled over Boston University, University of Vermont, Dartmouth College and Springfield. UMass, which hits the road on Thursday to play the University of Connecticut and then travels north to the University of New Hampshire on Saturday, has two games remaining on its New England schedule before entering Atlantic 10 conference play in January.

In the first half, Matthews sparked the Minutewomen to a quick 6-0 lead, sandwhiching a pair of hoops around a jumper by senior guard Barbara Hebel. Springfield, which seemed posed for a blowout, suddenly responded, knotting the score at six. Creating many of its 22 turnovers, UMass found itself trading bad passes with the Maroons and squandering opportunities to bury them early.

"We sat back and allowed them to attack on us," Stevens said. "The intensity just wasn't there in the first fifteen minutes. Even at the half it was still a game. I hope our play was the result of our competition in that it was more mental than physical."

Leading 29-15 at the half, UMass came out determined to put the Maroons away in the second half. After Springfield's Ellen Hill cut the lead to twelve, 29-17, the Minutewomen ran off 12 straight points to extend their lead to 24 points, 41-17. The Maroons closed to 22 with 9:32 remaining but could get no closer as UMass, sparked by junior center Kelly Collins who came off the bench with 10 minutes remaining to score nine points and grab five rebounds, scored the next 13 points to lead 60-25.

MINUTEWOMEN MUTTERINGS: Stevens said that despite the team's poor showing she said she did see good individual performances. Receiving the majority of her praise was Collins, who Stevens said was very effective in her nine minutes which Stevens said were of high quality. Guards Christel Zullo and Mary Marquedant combined to dish out 13 assists.

The Massachusetts Daily A REGISTERED STUDENT ORGANIZATION NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY

Collegian

Volume CXV, Issue 65 UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AMHERST (545-3500) Tuesday, December 10, 1985

Whitmore protesters under fire

Protesters face possible suspension

By STEVE HIGGINS
Collegian Staff

About 18 University of Massachusetts students who participated in a sit-in at Whitmore Building on Thursday have recieved letters informing them they will face possible suspension from the University for their actions.

Dean of Students William Field said letters were mailed Saturday to the students, stating that they will be notified of a hearing date for violations of the Code of Student Conduct.

One of the letters sent to a student who participated in the protest states that the student "interfered with the work of employees" in the building and "encouraged students who were outside the building to hammer on the doors of the building and to cause damage to the building." The student is accused of raising costs to the University for "overtime payments to employees, additional cleaning and maintenance" and for damage to the building.

The letter alleges violation of the following conduct codes:

• a safety and environmental health code which prohibits 'physical assaults or interference' and states that a person participating in 'mass disturbances' may be 'liable to separation from the university'

• a code which prohibits 'damage or destruction' of University property

photo by John Peterson

UMass student Kathy Offenhartz (center) is led away from Whitmore yesterday after being one of four students arrested in student demostrations.

The students occupied Whitmore Building Thursday in protest of the actions of Dennis Madson, vice-chancellor of student affairs, and Randy Donant, director of student activities, who issued a memorandum Nov.19 calling for measures which would give them greater control of the student budget allocation.

"I feel it (the letter) is totally unjustified," Clare Bouzan, a UMass student accused of the code violations said, "We had a right to do what we did."

An estimated 23 students have been arrested during three sit-ins at Whitmore since Thursday. The alleged violations come in addition to the arraignments scheduled for the students in Hampshire District Court.

4 students arrested at sit-in

By TOM MIDDLETON
Collegian Staff

Four University of Massachusetts students were arrested yesterday for trespassing at the Whitmore Administration Building in the third day of sit-ins over control of Student Activities Trust Fund expenditures.

Two students refused to pay a $15 bail fee and were transported to the Amherst town jail while the two others paid the fee and were released on personal recognizance, according to University police. About 30 students chanted and banged on doors and dumpsters as University police handcuffed the four and put them in police cruisers.

A total of 23 students have now been arrested in the three days of sit-ins. The protestes are in reaction to Vice-Chancellor for Student Affairs Dennis Madson's assertion that the student activities budget for fiscal year 1987 will determined by Director of Student Activities, Randy Donant.

The budget for FY 87 will be drawn up this spring and is usually determined by the Undergraduate Student Senate and passed on to Madson, Chancellor Joseph Duffey and University President David Knapp for review and recommendations.

Madson told student leaders he would meet with the co-presidents, treasurer, senate speaker and chairman of the

continued on page 3

Worker falls through the roof

Frightens woman taking a shower

By CARYN BOWERS
Collegian Correspondent

A man repairing a roof in Townehouse Apartments fell through the roof yesterday morning disrupting a woman taking a shower.

"I couldn't believe it!" said Tiana Ohanesian of 72 Townehouse. "As I wiped the soap from my eyes I saw a pair of worn-out blue jeans and two Timberland hiking boots dangling in front of my face."

Ohanesian said she screamed and ran from the bathroom. On her way out she said she heard the man say, "Oh sorry," as he was pulled up by his chuckling partners.

Ohanesian and her roomates said they heard loud noises and banging at 7:30 that morning, two hours before the incident occurred.

"It sounded like an airplane was taking off from over my head,"said roomate Lisa Skirboll. "I had no idea what was going on."

The construction company, Young Roofers of Northampton, was making repairs on the roof's rotted decking. "This roof needed immediate attention, and the work had to be done this year. It just couldn't wait," Townehouse manager Judy Johnson said.

Johnson said that the construction company was unable to set a permanent working date because the weather this time of year is so unpredictable. The workers need two full days to do the job, she said.

All four women residing in the apartment said they were angry that they had not been notified that construction to their roof would take place.

"That much annoyance at such an early hour is unfair without warning," said one woman.

Johnson said she had no idea that the workers were even coming. "I found out at 8 a.m. that they were here and working," she said.

"I saw . . . two Timberland hiking boots dangling in front of my face. — Tiana Ohanesian

Johnson said the same company had done repairs on another Townehouse building last spring, and did a very successful job.

Townehouse was built in 1968, and until now, none of the buildings' roofs have ever been completely replaced. The decision to rebuild was reinforced by ineffective vent pipes in the ceiling and rotted decking, problems that were recognized more than a month ago, Johnson said.

"We are replacing this roof with better quality materials than it was originally designed with," she said.

Townehouse residents will awaken to the same sounds at 7:30 a.m. again today, but the inconvenience and aggravation will end tomorrow, when the construction is over.

Johnson said all tenants should feel safe to take showers, and not to fear unexpected visitors while doing so.

"There's absolutely no way it could happen again," she said.

Judiciary to decide on referendum question

By SUSAN EATON
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts Student Judiciary will meet tonight to decide whether a referendum question involving the funding for two student groups will take place Wednesday and Thursday.

The referendum question asks if the optional $2 fees which provide funding for the Massachusetts Public Interest Research Group (MASSPIRG) and State Student Association fo Massachusetts (SSAM), should be eliminated from each semester's bill.

"There are clear violations here," said Student Attorney General Scott McCracken. "We (the Attorney General's Office) will do everything we can to nullify this referendum."

McCracken said that in his opinion the referendum violates both laws laid down by the state, and SGA by-laws as stated in the Constitution.

"The by-laws state specifically that the (Undergraduate Student) Senate must set the times and dates for referendum questions," said SGA Parlimentarian Paul Wingle. No dates were set for this specific referendum question by the senate.

Rather, it was "tacked on" to another referendum question asking if students supported a $12 fee increase in the Student Activities Trust Fund Fee (SATF), Wingle said.

Proponents of the optional fee question are members of the recently formed Students For Participatory Democracy, who charge that the fees are "unfair" in that all other Registered Student Organizations (RSO'S) must go through a formal budget process.

MASSPIRG advocates and lobbies for legislation which will provide environmental protection. SSAM is a non-profit student advocacy organization whose primary purpose is to advocate and lobby for high quality education at a low cost. Both groups are non-profit, non-partisan organizations.

McCracken and Wingle said Students for Partcipatory Democracy are in violation of a proposed state law of State Senator John Olver (D-Northampton) which says, "The continuation of the said waivable fee on the student tuition bill may be subject to

continued from page 3

Inside:

Regents look for Duff replacement.....3
SATF increase debated.....5
Garber elected to Lax hall-of-fame.....12

"I'd rather pay for it."
Leslie Nakajima — instead of getting the Collegian's free coffee

S. African gov't drops treason charges

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — The government dropped treason charges against 12 of 16 leading antiapartheid activists yesterday, including a 66-year-old black woman who called the action a victory against white-minority rule.

The trial of the other four will continue. If convicted, they could be hanged.

Police said five more people were killed in rioting against apartheid, which has taken about 900 lives in nearly 16 months. Nearly all the victims have been black.

Government spokesmen did not say why the charges were dropped, but Priscilla Jana, a defense attorney, said: "The state's case was so weak it just had to collapse."

Albertina Sisulu, considered the "grandmother" of the black rights movement, said: "This has been a victory for us, and in the future it will encourage us to go on with the struggle."

She spoke to reporters at Jan Smuts Airport after the freed activists returned from Natal Province, where the trial was being held.

The prosecution withdrew the charges as the trial began its eighth week. Many observers view it as the nation's most significant civil rights case in a generation, and the government has said the trial might last 18 months.

AP Laserphoto

Twelve of 16 top anti-apartheid activists celebrate in Druban yesterday after the South African government withdrew treason charges. The activists were accused of supporting an outlawed guerilla group.

Today's Staff

Night Editor Gerry deSimas
Copy Editor Kathy Hart
Layout Technician Peter Soderberg
Photo Technician Scott Maguire
Production Supervisor Norm Achin
Production: Karlin Isele, Kelly Sieger, Leslie Nakajima, Conor Plunkett and Ken Levinson.

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian (USPS #58), a Registered Student Organization at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, is published Monday through Friday excluding holidays, exam and vacation periods. Content is determined solely by the Collegian Board of Editors without prior approval from University administrators, faculty or staff. Operations are funded solely by advertising and subscription revenue. Subscriptions and advertising rates are available at 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Mass. 01003, (413) 545-3500. Postmaster: send address change to the above address.

GET PAID
FOR FEMINIST ORGANIZING
JOB OPENING - SPRING 86
COORDINATOR
WOMEN'S LEADERSHIP PROJECT
QUALIFICATIONS
* Undergraduate - preferably with at least one year remaining
* Some experience in feminist organizing and knowledge of women's issues on campus
* The ability to network with diverse groups of people
10 HRS $3.35
Applications are available in Student Union 415 or 420.
DUE FRIDAY DECEMBER 13th.

GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY
Seduce Her
with Cool Diamonds. . .
Make Her Melt
with Hot Gold. . .
Charm Her
with Sweet Silver. . .
40-70% off
for
YOU
Golden Opportunity
13 N. Pleasant St., Amherst
at
Lodestone

15 Shopping Days
till Christmas
and only
1 day till the Collegian
Special
Holiday
Edition

JOBS FOR INTERSESSION

The following college bookstores will be hiring extra help during intersession. For further information, call the manager at:

Bentley College Bookstore 617-891-6499

Bridgewater State College Bookstore 617-697-7460

Framingham State College Bookstore 617-872-3658

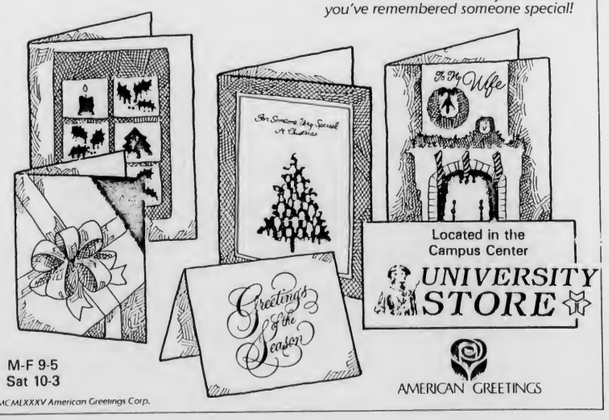
Salem State College Bookstore 617-745-5300

Worcester State College Bookstore 617-754-3448

Dissident's family angry with KGB movies

NEWTON (AP) — A relative of Andrei Sakharov said yesterday the Soviets apparently have released more misleading "KGB home movies" showing the dissident in good health to counter conflicting statements Sakharov's wife, Yelena Bonner, might make while seeking medical treatment in the United States.

Efrem Yankelevich said the tapes probably were similar to those released last summer that the Soviets said showed Sakharov eating when the world had believed he was on a hunger strike.



Yankelevich who is married to Mrs. Bonner's daughter, said the tapes released yesterday could have used the same technique of splicing unrelated strips of film to get a desired effect.

"We hope we will be able to learn more about the actual situation after talking to him on the phone, but I'm getting sick and tired of these KGB home movies," Yankelevich said.

Yankelevich also confirmed in an interview with The Associated Press that Mrs. Bonner would try to take her 85-year-old mother home with her when she returns to Gorky, where she and her husband live in internal exile.

During the interview, Mrs. Bonner, 62, passed through the room and greeted a reporter, but did not comment on the latest films.

Christmas Cards
...make the season merry, and show you've remembered someone special!

Located in the Campus Center
UNIVERSITY STORE
M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3
AMERICAN GREETINGS
MCMLXXXV American Greetings Corp.

Collegian photo by Scott Maguire

AMHERST HOLIDAY CHEER — Christmas lights brighten up the Amherst Common last night in downtown Amherst as finals and the Christmas break draw closer.

UMass students befriend disabled

By RHONDA SWAN
Collegian Staff

Each semester, for the past 14 years, about 200 University of Massachusetts students have given their time and friendship to the residents of the Belchertown State School.

These students are members of the Boltwood Project, a registered student organization at UMass. The project provides recreational programs for developmentally disabled adults.

Although the project has members from all of the five colleges, 90 percent are UMass students, according to Kathy Johnson, coordinator for the project. Students in the program may take it for either one or two university credits. They are required to committ three hours of their time one evening a week to the program.

According to Johnson, the program provides an "opportunity for them (the residents) to have fun. They are able to develop a friendship with the students," said Johnson.

The program provides these adults with sports and various arts and crafts activities in addition to community trips. One of these trips may be to a restaraunt in Amherst.

In addition, the students participate in a therapeutic horseback riding program with the adults which takes place at the school's farm. During the day, the residents are involved in job and educational programs. The Boltwood Project gives them a chance to enjoy their leisure time, said Johnson.

According to Johnson, one of the future goals of the project is to expand and provide services to the community at large. She added that the project recruits for volunteers at the begining of each semester and any student interested should apply. The program does provides transportation.

★rally

continued from page 1

budgets committee of the Student Government Association at the first sit-in Thursday. At that time, student leaders agreed to meet with Madson only if a graduate student and an on-campus resident were present in addition to the five.

Yesterday, Madson met with SGA Treasurer Diane Rossi at a previously scheduled meeting and reasserted his previous offer. "The five student leaders are the group that I have a working relationship with," he said yesterday. If, after initial meetings the five student leaders wanted to bring in other students, Madson said he would consider the idea.

After the meeting Rossi said, "We more or less exchanged thoughts. I think it was positive that we had a chance to sit down and talk."

Madson and Donant released a memorandum Nov. 19 stating that they intend to control the allocation of about $1.5 million of the $1.75 million student activities budget paid out of the Student Activities Trust Fund. The trust fund, paid for by the $88-a-year student activities fee, had a $120,000 deficit at the end Fiscal Year 1985. For the current Fiscal Year 1986, $75,000 had to be borrowed from reserves to fund operations.

Student leaders held a referendum in order to raise the activities fee by $12 but students voted against the increase. Supporters of the increase had hoped the extra revenue would alleviate current deficits.

A second referendum scheduled for tommorrow and Thursday will again put the question of a fee increase to students. If 15 percent of the undergraduate student body votes, the refedrendum will be binding.

However, the proposed fee increase would still have to be approved by the University Board of Trustees.

Collegian photo by Michelle Segall

John Ruddock (right), the speaker of the Undergraduate Student Senate, speaks at the beginning of yesterday's rally at the Student Union before proceeding to Whitmore Administration Building.

★referendum

continued from page 1

reauthorization by an official student referendum every two years." This procedure was approved by the University of Massachusetts Board of Trustees this Fall.

SSAM Chairman Barry Wray pointed out that SSAM held a referendum question regarding their funding in the spring and received a 6-1 vote in favor of funding by the waivable fee.

"The law written by Olver was directly associated with attacking this problem of student referendum problems relating to funding issues. This is in direct violation of that law," Wray said. He said that bringing the referendum question up at the very end of the semester was "unethical," in that "it does not provide enough time for the students to become educated on the issue in either direction."

Brian Darling and Tony Rudi, members of Students For Participatory Democracy, said that they considered the referendum question to be a survey which would provide the Undergraduate Student Senate with student opinion concerning the issue. They also said that members of MASSPIRG and SSAM were trying to slip through "loopholes."

MASSPIRG chairman, Shawn Baird said his organization will run a "legal and constitutional" referendum question next semester to solicit opinions on their funding procedure.

Replacement of Duff to be discussed

By STEVE HIGGINS
Collegian Staff

The Massachusetts Board of Regents of Higher Education is expected today to discuss appointment of an interim Higher Education Chancellor to replace John B. Duff when he leaves in January.

Duff, who is leaving his position to become the Commissioner of the Chicago Public Library System, was reprimanded by the regents in October for "inappropriate action' stemming from allegations that he illegally solicited campaign funds from regents board members. The reprimand followed a statement by the board that they "found no indication of a practice of political solicitation."

A search for a new permanent Higher Education Chancellor may begin today with the appointment by the regents of a search committee for candidates. The committee would be comprised of regents, but will include representatives from trustee boards of the state schools of higher education, school presidents and a member of the state Student Advisory Committee.

Last week, members of the state House of Representatives approved a bill calling for the appointment of a student to the Board of Regents, which was passed by the state senate in October.

The bill, which is now in the clerk's office of the state senate, is expected to be signed by the Governor by the end of the month. A student regent may be appointed to the board by July 1.

At today's board meeting, regents are also expected to approve requests for the appointment of two community college presidents.

The regents are meeting today at the Northern Essex Community College in Haverhill.

Trash can fire remnants found

Bike rider injures leg when hit by a car

By JEANETTE DeFORGE
Collegian Staff

The remnants of a trash can fire was discovered Sunday morning in the trash room on the second floor of Patterson House, University of Massachusetts police said.

A janitor found charred paper and a circular scorched area on the floor in the shape of a trash can. The building was not evacuated and there was no damage done, police said.

In other police reports:

A 21-year-old student received minor visible injuries when she was hit by a car, driven by a 23-year-old woman, while riding her bicycle Thursday afternoon at the intersection of Clark Hill Road and Infirmary Way. The student was taken to the University Health Services where she was treated and released, police said.

A woman reported she had injured her calf after she was struck by a car Friday evening. She didn't know she was hurt until an hour after the accident and was treated at the University Health Services, police said.

A 19-year-old man was arrested and charged with leaving the scene of a property damage accident, driving while intoxicated and operating without a license in possession late Saturday night on the University Apartments Access Road. He was seen by a foot patrol officer striking a parked car, police said.

Two men were issued trespassing notices late Saturday night after police answered a call to break up a fight in Mackimmie House, they said.

Residents of Washington Tower reported a man was exposing himself late Friday night, police said.

A 24-year-old woman was arrested Sunday night on Massachusetts Avenue and charged with operation after suspension of license, concealment of identification to avoid prosecution, driving an uninspected vehicle, and on default warrants from Springfield, police said.

A handbag containing "varying ID's" was found on the south side of Brooks House, police are investigating to find out where the cards came from, they said.

A 25-year-old man was arrested late Friday night and charged with malicious property damage of over $100 when he was seen breaking the windshield of a car parked in lot 49, police said.

A 23-year-old student was arrested early Sunday morning on North Pleasant Street and charged with operation after suspension of license, operation an unregistered, uninsured vehicle, attaching plates, and having no inspection sticker, police said.

A Royal Beta Typewriter and an AM/FM cassette player valued over $300 were reported stolen Saturday afternoon from Pierpont House, police said.

A 1975 Audi valued at $800 was reported stolen Friday afternoon from parking lot 22, police said.

ARE YOU PREGNANT
& IN NEED OF HELP?
Birthright Can Help
• FREE PREGNANCY TESTING
- Same Day Results -
Services that are Free, Confidential, Caring & Helpful
549-1906
Amherst
Carriage Shops
Upper Level

Change your tires NOW . . .
$4.99 per pair
Alignment and balancing available
North Amherst Tire & Auto Center
Full Service Tire Store
78 Sunderland Rd., No. Amherst, MA
549-4704

James H. McManus eating place
• OPEN
6 A.M.-3 A.M.
SUN.-THURS.
• OPEN 24 HOURS
FRI. & SAT.
CAMPUS PLAZA
(NEXT TO SUPER STOP & SHOP)
Rte. 9 • Hadley/Amherst
256-6899

SALE
Pre Xmas
25% Off
Everything
Lodestone
4th thru 14th

DON'T CRAM THE NIGHT BEFORE. . .
START NOW WITH A LITTLE HELP
FROM YOUR FRIENDS!!
STORE HOURS:
MONDAY-FRIDAY 9-5
SATURDAY 10-3
Located in the Campus Center
UNIVERSITY STORE

Graduating in December??
You are invited. . .

The Alumni Association cordially invites you to a reception in honor of your upcoming graduation from the University of Massachusetts at Amherst.

Please join us December 10th at 4:00 p.m. in Memorial Hall.

Light refreshments and entertainment will be provided.

Please feel free to invite a guest.

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian

ED/OP

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted.

Founded in 1870

Executive Board—Fall 1985

Dode B. Levenson, Editor in Chief
Anne McCrory, Managing Editor
Larry Bouchie, Editorial Editor
Peter Soderberg, Production Manager
Elizabeth Young, Business Manager
Sherry Sharfman, Business Manager

Board of Editors—Fall 1985

Dode B. Levenson, Editor in Chief
Anne McCrory, Managing Editor
Tom Middleton, News Editor
Larry Bouchie, Editorial Editor
Renee Bacher, Arts Editor
Peter Abraham, Sports Editor
Derek Roberts, Photo Editor
Bethanne Moskos, Women's Issue Editor
Kimberly Burge, Black Affairs Editor

Fee increase an answer

Tomorrow and Thursday are the days to finally settle the issue of whether students will consent to a $12 increase in their $88 yearly student activities fee during yet another referendum on the matter.

A first vote, you may recall, was held in late October, but because only about 3 percent of the student body turned out for it — a 15 percent turnout is necessary for it to be considered valid and binding — it's being held again. The first time, students voted against the proposed fee hike.

Student government leaders are still saying they need the increase to balance the student activities budget and eliminate the deficit that mismanagement of funds has created. At this point, they no longer have control over how all of the money is allocated, but their commitment to gaining student support for a fee increase is part of their effort to regain control of the Student Activities Trust Fund.

It is interesting, however, that our student leaders are so quick to suggest a fee increase when their own interests are at stake, while they pride themselves on rallying support against any increase in tuition or other fees when these moves have been initiated by the administration. Indeed, in a referendum this semester concerning the proposed building of a sports arena, in which about 6 percent of the student body participated, 50 percent of those voting said they would support the project and would pay $50 or more a year for it. Yet SGA co-President Dani Burgess, who sits as our student member on the board of trustees, still decries that cause, and doesn't support the latest arena plan that would have students pay $47 per semester for the building only once it was completed and open for use.

As for the current fee referendum, we urge students to vote against an increase. Vote "no" because throwing money at a financial problem that arose from mismanagement gives little impetus for better management in the future. Vote "no" because we are told that this solution is aimed to resolve the deficit problem for (just) two years, and what happens then? Vote "no" because there are many registered student organizations that already go without SATF funding and remain viable through their own fundraising efforts — showing films, renting out their equipment, sponsoring vendors on the Campus Center Concourse. Vote "no" because in times of tight financial circumstances, other RSOs should be expected to do the same.

It is time to show the Student Government Association once and for all how students really feel about this issue. That means getting out to vote — on both this question and another concerning the funding of the Massachusetts Public Interest Group and the State Student Association of Massachusetts, assuming it is not struck from the ballot this time around for alleged technical violations — and showing some unity. Whether you are for or against a fee increase, this is our chance to be heard by our elected student leaders.

Unsigned policy editorials reflect the majority opinion of the Collegian Board of Editors.

Support the fee increase

Guest/Wingle

As assistant to the SGA co-presidents, I've been hearing a lot of talk about the student government, flying paperwork and people, the "us"es and the "they"s, Randy Donant, and the trust fund based on the Student Activities Fee. The number of differing opinions alone is confusing. Yet I am not confused (not even about the stance this paper chose to take on the referendum vote tomorrow and Thursday) and here's why.

When I got the job of assistant, I did not expect what happened when September rolled around. The first Monday after the residence halls opened was the last day I even tried to get work done in my office. Instead, I answered questions about the SGA and the SATF, gave directions to various trust fund agencies, and tried to look like I wasn't trying to smile.

The important thing here is that the SATF serves UMass students in ways we want it to serve us, as opposed to the ways the rest of the University wants it to serve us. I think all of this conflict comes down to that difference of opinion. The SATF and the SGA are being attacked by our administrators, not because there are financial problems (there are), but the administration is listening to UMass President David Knapp's dream of UMass as the best public school in the Northeast.

The problem with this dream is it doesn't have space for things UMass is already known for; a campus governed by it's *entire*community,a place where people respect each other, where students get the education they want...This is what SGA people in Boston, UCLA, and even Hawaii think we have. On the bus back from Thanksgiving, I listened to four Amherst College students talking about this battle. They thought we should raise the fee because, as they saw it, we students wouldn't be able to solve the SGA and SATF problems, if we students weren't in control. And even they could see that we won't keep control if the fee increase loses. The issues here isn't $12, it's who will control the structures of student input on campus.

— your turn, Paul —

Registered Student Organizations. You probably belong to one. It may be the Outing Club or it may be the Distinguished Visitors Program. You may be a member of the Radical Student Union or you may be a UMass Republican. You may eat at Greenough, Kennedy, or the Sub, snackbars which, like other student-run businesses, receive support from the Economic Developement Office. It you do belong to an RSO, or if you benefit from the services some of them provide, then you should be concerned about the state of the SATF. This fund, which provides students with everything from free legal services, through LSO, to help in finding rental housing, through the Off Campus Housing Office, is in trouble.

The fee which supports the trust fund hasn't been increased in six years. This presents a dilemma. The professionals who sustain student activities through their work have cost of living increases mandated in their contracts. This is a strain on the fund. The University takes $70,000 directly off the top of the fund to alleviate the "partial costs" of maintaining it. This is a strain on the SATF. In addition to these burdens, there is inflation. Office supplies and support materials cost more than they did six years ago. The request that students vote to up the fee is not a rash or unreasonable one. What other University charge can claim to have gone so long without having been raised?

The most important aspect of the SATF is that is it student money (sorry, Randy Donant). It is our money to allocate as we see fit. It gives us social niceties like concerts and it helps educate us through groups like the Peacemakers and the Hunger Task Force. The trust fund is what gives us power. It makes the University unique and it helps us to maintain our diversity. It makes your life at UMass a little better. If it weren't for the work of the SATF supported Committee on Public Policy, with the help of the State Student Association of Massachusetts, you'd be paying higher tuition bills. That is a tangible example of how the work funded through the SATF positively affected your wallets and pocketbooks. Please realize that without a fee increase, all this good work is threatened as administrative charges and mandated salary increases take their toll on the bill.

Alex Guest is the assistant to the SGA co-presidents and Paul Wingle is the assistant to the SGA speaker.

Letters

Support MASSPIRG's means

As student leaders at UMass, we feel it is important to express our opinions on issues that affect the student body. Tomorrow and Thursday, a referendum will be held concerning the $2 waivable fee which supports the Massachusetts Public Interest Research Group.

MASSPIRG is known for its work protecting the environment and consumers, and most recently for its efforts to relieve local and world hunger. Since its founding 15 years ago, MASSPIRG has been supported by an overwhelming majority of students through a number of petition drives and referenda sponsored by the PIRG chapter itself. This spring another referenda will be run so that students can again reaffirm their support for MASSPIRG.

The referendum question that you will be voting on tomorrow and Thursday has been initiated by a group of individuals who intend to eliminate UMassPIRG by eliminating the waivable fee. In any case, we want to clarify that a "no" vote on the question pertaining to MASSPIRG is a vote not to remove the waivable fee, and therefore is a vote in support of MASSPIRG. We strongly encourage all students to vote "no" and support MASSPIRG.

Donald Cassidy, co-chair, SGA Public Policy Committee
Clare Bouzan, co-chair, SGA Public Policy Committee
M. Lynne Murphy, assistant, SGA co-presidents
David Martin, spokesperson, Commuter Area Government
Dana Grossblatt, president, Hillel
Robert Chernick, treasurer, Hillel
Karen Schiller, secretary, UMass Hunger Task Force
Dianne Rossi, treasurer, SGA
Dani Burgess, co-president, SGA, and student trustee
John L. Ruddock, speaker, SGA
Gayle Wintjen, former chair, SGA Academic Affairs Committee
Karen-Karina Gray, vice chair, BOG, and secretary, SAFA

Collins tired of 'Harris-ment'

In response to Tim Harris's column ("Energy expended for what?" Dec. 6), I am not, nor have I ever been, a member of Students for Participatory Democracy. Although I agree with their position on unfair fees, I am not on their membership list, nor have I signed their petitions. Harris seems to believe that I am a member of every group he doesn't agree with. His "Harris-ment" is not appreciated.

Bill Collins
Southwest

Necessry spirit of compromise

It is time that someone asked a crucial question about what's going on in the SGA. When does an issue no longer become a concerted student effort, but rather a hodgepodge of confusing ideas with no distinct parameters? I am among the original members of the coalition known as START, and I was a member for the sole reason that I believed (and still believe) that what Randy Donant and Vice Chancellor Madson did was wrong.

They do not have the right to decide for us how we can spend our money. We all know that. The question now is how do we deal with them? After three rallies and three sit-ins, we haven't gotten anywhere. From the very start, I was against illegal actions, and while I showed my support for those who were willing to get arrested (and indeed spent quite a bit of time in Whitmore myself), I do not think that mere repetition will "force" the vice chancellor to "deal" with us. We have to be more creative. And, we have to talk to the vice chancellor.

If he'll only speak to the SGA leaders, then that's a start. In fact, it was my idea that we include an on-campus person in the negotiations, because none of the SGA leadership mentioned lives on campus. I am willing to sacrifice the on-campus member (and said so to the group at Whitmore) if that was the only way to get into Madson's office to talk to him. The spirit of compromise is necessary here. I encourage the SGA leadership to recognize this fact and use it.

The next most important thing to deal with is the running of the SGA. We are not perfect, and even if we are being wronged, we cannot stop functioning as the representative body for the students here. If the actions we take to remedy the foul play by Madson and Donant force us to slow down the work done by the SGA and its committees (and there is quite a bit of work done) then we have to review the importance of our priorities, and put them in order. I urge the SGA to consider what it is doing, and make these considerations known to other organizations represented in START.

Michael Cerrato, president
Northeast Area Government

Collegian columnst Rusty Denton's weekly piece will appear in Thursday's edition.

Due to Collegian editorial policy, letters or columns regarding tomorrow and Thursday's student referenda will not be printed on those days of student voting — Editor.

HELP DECIDE HOW TO SPEND YOUR $$

VOTE

in the SATF/Concert, Reserves Referendum in the Hatch, DCs, New Africa House & Newman Ctr.

WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY

Don't let the administrators decide, vote!

CONCERTS $50,000
FINANCE $50,000
EQUIPMENT $35,000
STABILIZATION $15,000

For more information, call the SGA Rents & Fees Hotline 545-0343

SPORT Style

Mesh Football Jersey

13.95

Photographer

Dwayne Autery

Located in the Campus Center

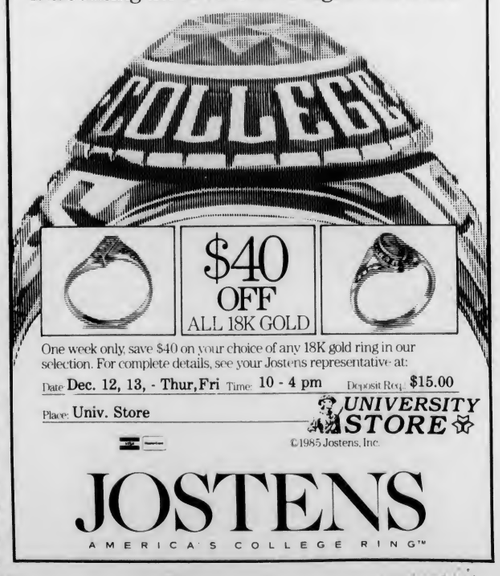
Hours: M-F 9-5 Sat 10-3

UNIVERSITY STORE

SPORT Style

UMass Winterwear Now Available

Photographer Dwayne Autery



Located in the Campus Center

M-F 9-5 Sat 10-3

UNIVERSITY STORE

Best Savings Yet!

Introducing the lower cost of higher education.

One week only, save $40 on your choice of any 18K gold ring in our selection. For complete details, see your Jostens representative at:

Date Dec. 12, 13, - Thur, Fri Time 10 - 4 pm Deposit Req. $15.00

Place Univ. Store

UNIVERSITY STORE

©1985 Jostens, Inc.

JOSTENS

AMERICA'S COLLEGE RING™

BLACK AFFAIRS

Sanctions are seen as smokescreen to problem

By Dr.MANNING MARABLE
Special to the Collegian

(Editor's Note: Dr. Manning Marable teaches political sociology at Colgate University.)

Four months ago, President Reagan imposed limited sanctions against South Africa in what was clearly a weak and opportunistic maneuver to undermine the anti-apartheid movement abroad and in the United States.

Reagan's Executive Order prohibited U.S. loans to the apartheid government, the sale of computers to the military, police, and other "apartheid enforcing agencies," and established an advisory committee "to provide recommendations to encourage peaceful change in South Africa." In a rhetorical flourish, Reagan added a few sentences of stern condemnation against the regime which he had staunchly defended previously. "The system of apartheid means deliberate, systematic, institutionalized, racial discrimination denying the black majority their God-given rights," Reagan asserted. "We believe it's wrong. We condemn it. And we're united in hoping for the day when apartheid will be no more."

Neither Reagan's cosmetic sanctions nor the creation of the U.S. Corporate Council on South Africa, which lobbies for the gradual change in the apartheid system, were viewed as credible responses to the crisis in South Africa. U.S. Civil Rights Commissioner Mary Berry spoke for millions of Black Americans by observing: "Instead of standing on the side of justice, Reagan has chosen to issue a figleaf, a smokescreen behind which the dirty business of apartheid can continue."

The leader of national anti-apartheid protests, Transafrica executive director Randall Robinson, noted, "The South African govenment will be pleased, no doubt, that President Reagan remains a de facto ally of that vicious regime."

Politically, both the Reagan administration and U.S. multinational corporations were pressured to take measures which they found distasteful yet necessary. Hundreds of national protests against apartheid, particularly on college campuses this year were a contributing factor. In the first six months of 1985, for example, U.S. universities voted to sell $57 million in South African stocks.

What few critics discussed were the underlying assumptions made by Reagan concerning the precise political character of the apartheid regime. Most Americans perceive South Africa as a version of the U.S. South prior to the civil rights movement of the 1950's and 1960's- a "Jim Crowed," racially segregated society which maintains the basic characteristics of other Western democracies. Reagan declared, "South Africa is not a totalitarian society. There is vigorous opposition press. And every day we see examples of outspoken protest and access to the international media that would never be possible in many parts of Africa, or in the Soviet Union."

The racist apartheid regime of South Africa cannot be reformed gradually out of existence. It will only be eradicated when the majority of its people are empowered politically and economically, and weak sanctions will not promote the transition to democracy.

Announcements

Omega Psi Phi Fraternity Inc. will hold an interest meeting for all those interested in pledging the fraternity at 9:30 p.m. on Wednesday in Memorial Hall.

The Institute for Advanced Studies in the Humanities is sponsoring a synopsium titled: "Does Art Have A Function Today?" The speakers include James Baldwin, Leonard Baskin, and Martin Green.

The synopsium will be held at 8 p.m. tonight in the Campus Center Room 163 and will be moderated by Richard O'Brien, executive vice chancellor at the University of Massachusetts.

FREE
Shampoo & Blow Dry with any Haircut
$12.50 with coupon
Styles by Deborah
call 549-5610
expires 12/31/85

SOCIAL HOUR
this Friday
4:30 - 6:30
at Chequers
University Drive
JOIN US
Sponsored by the 25+ Club

MASS. APPROVED INSPECTION STATION

Gas Saving Tune-up
4 Cyl. $34.95
6 Cyl. $39.95
8 Cyl. $44.95

Lube, Oil & Filter
$17.99
Includes up to 5 quarts of 10-30 oil and safety check

North Amherst Tire & Auto Center
Full Service Tire Store
78 Sunderland Rd., No. Amherst, MA
Across from Wahlcbs's Store
549-4704

It's almost semester break, and we get BUSY BUSY BUSY! Don't wait 'til the last minute for your prescriptions... Come in as soon as possible! Better yet PHONE in your refillable prescriptions and they'll be ready next day! Call 549-2611 ext. 165... or, wait 'til the last minute & bring WAR & PEACE with you!

Thank You! ... The Pharmacy Staff at UHS.

HOLIDAY TRAVELERS COLLEGE STUDENTS...

RENT A CAR WITH CASH!

Try Our WEEKEND SPECIALS
Credit Cards Accepted.
Daily Rate $18.95
Unlimited Miles

FRI.-MON. NOON 700 MILES FREE... $50.00
FRI.-TUES. NOON 900 MILES FREE... $65.00
FRI.-WED. NOON 1,000 MILES FREE $80.00

CALL THE OFFICE NEAREST YOU:
★PAYLESS CAR RENTAL CORP. OF MASS. 782-7191
180 BOSTON RD., SPRINGFIELD, MA

★ECONO CAR OF LATHAM, 875 Albany-Shaker Rd., Latham, N.Y. (518) 783-7304
★ECONO CAR OF ALBANY, 466 Central Ave., Albany, N.Y. (518) 438-2681
★ECONO CAR OF SCHENECTADY, 1320 Stanley St., Schenectady, N.Y. (518) 372-0421
★PAYLESS CARS RENTALS OF SYRACUSE, 58 So. Bay Rd., Syracuse, N.Y. (315) 453-3821
Also Passenger Vans, Cargo Vans, Mini Vans. Call Today

TUESDAY
R-RATED HYPNOTIST

World Famous Frank Santos

Ⓡ Rated Hypnotist Comedian

Radically Different Ridiculously Funny
Richly Entertaining Recklessly Risque

One Show Only! 10:00 PM

JUSTIN RYAN'S

Rte. 9, Amherst
corner of University Dr.
256-1059

Christmas Candles

Holiday candles for a festive touch... or as gifts of cheer and warmth.

Located in the Campus Center

UNIVERSITY STORE

M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3

AMERICAN GREETINGS

© MCMLXXXV American Greetings Corp.

ARTS

Jazz All-Stars jam in concert

JAZZ ALL-STARS
Fine Arts Center, UMass
Saturday, December 7

By GLENN SIEGAL
Collegian Correspondent

When we who live in the upper Pioneer Valley, recount the multitude of reasons why the place is so special, one of the reasons that should appear near the top of the list, is the opportunity to hear Max Roach play the drums at regular intervals throughout the year.

An adjunct professor of music here at the University, Max Roach was at it again this past Saturday, performing with The Jazz All-Stars, in the annual benefit concert for the Fletcher Henderson Memorial Scholarship Fund.

In the persons of pianist Hank Jones, vibraphonist Milt Jackson, bassist Ray Brown, tenor saxophonist Stanley Turrentine and Roach, the All-Stars brought over two hundred years of combined professional experience to bear on the Fine Arts Center Stage. Like fine wine, these masters are smooth, distinctive instrumentalists, who improve with age.

Whether romping through Parker's "Little Benny" or walking on Jackson's classic blues "Bags' Groove," the quintet moved as one organism, with a sense of time as easy as it was precise.

In describing the rhythm section of Jones, Brown and Roach, words like subtle and elegant come to mind, unsurprising given their success accompanying singers Ella Fitzgerald and Abbey Lincoln, among others. So it was especially rewarding to hear these unobtrusive musicians each step out and perform individually.

Ray Brown chose to play Jobim's "Black Orpheus", stating the lovely theme with a strumming flamenco technique. Someone from the hushed audience began to snap their fingers as the bassist broke into a funky walk. Encouraged by Brown's wide grin and own finger popping, more of the crowd joined in until he returned to the original melody.

The vehicle Hank Jones selected for his solo improvisation was "Oh What a Beautiful Morning". Having begun his career in the 1930s with such early greats as Hot Lips Page and Andy Kirk, Jones has seen the jazz piano through a number of stylistic changes. He opened the piece playing slightly dissonant chord clusters, then released the tension with sumptuous major chords.

First scurrying up and down the keyboard pecking at notes, then "locking hands" in the best barrel house tradition, Jones finished the history lesson as it began with the melody embedded in those dense chords. His peers were applauding as they returned to the stage.

Max Roach played his solo with mallets, producing a deep almost ancient sound, set against his sizzling highhat cymbal. Twenty-five years after establishing himself as the premiere drummer in jazz, Max Roach demonstrated again on Saturday why he is still tops.

Milt Jackson, who many feel has been constrained by his long association with The Modern Jazz Quartet, showed his relaxed ability to improvise at any tempo.

Stanley Turrentine turned in a credible performance on his feature, Jerome Kern's "Yesterdays," but one might have wished for some of the "soulful" gritiness he achieved while in the organ/sax combos of Shirley Scott and Jimmy Smith.

As we have become inured to hyperbole in this age of advertising, the term all-star has lost some of its luminescence. But on Saturday evening, its meaning was perfectly captured by five living legends of the jazz tradition.

Nicke Plakias and Ruth Cullinane appear in Moliere's "The Miser" now playing at 8 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday in The Rand Theatre.

What if you don't get into the grad school of your choice?

Of course, you may get into another school, but why settle? Prepare for the LSAT, GMAT, GRE, MCAT or any grad school entrance exam with the best test prep organization— Stanley H. Kaplan.

For nearly 50 years, Kaplan's test-taking techniques have prepared over 1 million students for admission and licensing tests of all kinds. So call. Why go to just any grad school, when you can go to the right one?

KAPLAN
STANLEY H. KAPLAN EDUCATIONAL CENTER LTD.
The world's leading test prep organization.

Intersession Classes Enrolling Now
MCAT, GMAT
GRE, LSAT
Take advantage of our FREE SPEEDREADING LESSON at your convenience

RENT A WRECK
New & Used Cars
Trucks & Vans Also Available
North Amherst Rent-A-Wreck
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880

The Special Charm of One of a Kind Jewelry
Antique and unique styles available in a wide range of prices.
J. AUSTIN JEWELER
on the common, amherst, 253-3986
mon.-sat. 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

GREAT GIFT IDEA
Special Holiday Gift Boxes sent UPS
Party Platters,
Wide Variety of possible
Secret Santa/Undercover Rabbi
presents
THE CHEESE SHOP
79 Main Street, across from Plumbleys
Imported Cheeses Coffee Beans
Bulk Tea Fresh Pasta
Delicious Giant Cookies and other Baked Goods
Gourmet Groceries
Daily until 6; Saturday until 5; Sundays 9-1
We are next to C & C Liquors!!

THE FINE ARTS CENTER
CONCERT HALL
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST
JAZZ
with saxophonist
MICHAEL BRECKER
and the University Jazz Ensemble I
Jeff Holmes, director
and the Chapel Jazz Ensemble
David Sporny, director
Thursday, Dec. 12, 8 p.m.
Fine Arts Center Concert Hall
Also Join Michael Brecker and combo for a mini-concert and rap session
Wednesday, Dec. 11, 8 p.m.
Hampden Theatre
Both events Free
Info: 545-2803

Doonesbury BY GARRY TRUDEAU

BLOOM COUNTY by Berke Breathed

Bat Brain By Bill Dearing

GORDY By Gorde

Freaker Patrol By Dowe and O'Brien

Weather

Today
Partly sunny. Highs 40 to 45 degrees.

Tonight
Cloudy, light snow after midnight, low 30s.

Tomorrow
Light snow in the morning turning to rain. Temperatures ranging from 30-40.

MENU

LUNCH
French Dip Sandwich
Eggs Foo Yung/Duc Sauce

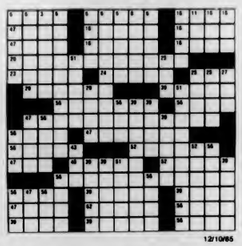
BASICS LUNCH
Humus Vegetable Pocket Sandwich
Eggs Foo Yung/Duc Sauce

DINNER
Ham and Cheese Florentine
Baked Ziti

BASICS DINNER
Cheese Mushroom Fondue Bake
Baked Ziti

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Edited by Trude Michel Jaffe



ACROSS
1 Physics Nobelist 1944
5 Armadillo
10 Ravel
14 The Terrible
15 Righteous
16 Henry or Clair Boothe
17 1978 Stallone film
18 In agreement
19 Zone
20 Electioneer, in a way
23 Rural overpass
24 Hornets' creations
25 Theater show off
28 Join the armed forces
30 ——- a leg (hasten)
32 Obscure
36 Blue pencil
37 Dupicitous
40 Depose
41 Commemorative tablets
42 One of the media
44 The final syllabie
47 Abbr. indicating an alias
48 With dispatch
52 Having a single element
54 Restrain argumentation
56 Direction, at sea
59 Choose
60 Ancient theaters
61 Emulate the eagle
62 "John Brown's Body" poet
63 Sheet music direction
64 Producer of fine Oriental rugs
65 Irregular
66 Hill makers

DOWN
1 Rock fissures
2 Emulate Earhart
3 —— the sun
4 Thinkers
5 Oriental nurse
6 Promise
7 Faced the day
8 Carries on
9 Alaskan
10 Hassle
11 Capek's classic
12 Neiman's thrill
13 Certain vote
21 Pond, in Stuttgart
22 Material on an ed.'s desk
25 Mary ——, little ~
26 Related
27 Shea regular
29 Make a mistake
30 "—— rude awakening
33 Resin component. Abbr.
34 Episodes
35 Jewish month
37 Gloom
38 Yachting, perhaps
39 "—— drink and be merry."
T Jordan
40 Price control org.
43 —— Paolo
45 No win racehorse
46 Put a stop to
49 West Point freshman
50 Luther or Larry
51 General Comb. form
53 Literature Nobelist 1923
54 Drove
55 Cigar end?
56 Inquire
57 Ed Asner role
58 Corn spike

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

C	L	A	I	P		L	O	T	I	O		A	S	T	O
A	A	R	E		O	N	E	I	N		T	A	L
N	I	N	A		W	O	N	D	E	R	L	A	N	D
A	R	E	N	A		E	R	R	O		G	A	S
			U	B	O	A	T		T	E	E
U	P	S	T	A	G	E		R	A	T	H	E	R
P	A	T		S	A	N	T	E	E		C	A	R	A
S	T	A	G	E		C	O	A	C	H		O	U	T	Z
H	U	F	F		E	N	N	U	I		S	E	E	R
E	S	T	E		R	E	S	I	S		E	T	N	A

12/10/85

12/10/85

15 Shopping Days till Christmas and only 1 day till the Collegian Special Holiday Edition

CLASSICAL JAZZ REGGAE BLUES
#1 IN THE VALLEY!
DYNAMITE RECORDS
Maxell XLII 90 $2.00
TDK SA90 — $2.00
New, Used,
Buy, Sell and Trade
584-1580
THORNES MARKETPLACE
150 MAIN ST NORTHAMPTON
ROCK FOLK JAZZ ROCK SOUL CLASSICAL SOUL

NOW OPEN
Riverboat Village
APARTMENTS, SOUTH HADLEY.
1, 2 or 3 BEDROOM UNITS
BEAUTIFUL MODELS FURNISHED BY CHAP DeLAINES & EPSTEIN FURNITURE CO
•Swimming Pool •Tennis Court •Club House •Shuffle Board Court
FINANCED BY MHFA
LEASED ON OPEN OCCUPANCY BASIS
OPEN SEVEN DAYS A WEEK
10 AM - 4 PM
PHONE 532 9461
532 9462
CALL FOR DIRECTIONS
Riverboat Village
River Lodge Rd.
So. Hadley, MA 01075

THE HUNGRY U

WE ARE NOW OFFERING FREE
DELIVERY TO UMASS 6 DAYS A WEEK!*
TRY OUR HOMEMADE PIZZA, SUBS, SALADS AND OTHER SPECIALTIES! * STARTING DEC.3rd
Our Thick Crust Is Made Fresh Daily
With Our Special Homemade Sauce.
We Offer A Wide Variety Of Toppings Delivered Hot To Your Door.
Deliveries Made:
Tue., Wed., Thur. 4:30-1:00 am
Fri., Sat. 4:30-2:00 am
Sun. 4:30-1:00 am
Closed Monday
55 University Dr., Amherst
Minimum $3.00 549-5713

$1.00 OFF! ANY LARGE PIZZA
Expires Dec. 14 (*) With This Coupon
Not Valid With Any Other Special Offer

National Student Exchange Program
Information Meetings
Students interested in participating in the National Student Exchange Program for Fall 1986 are encouraged to attend an information session.

For students applying to restricted schools, this is your LAST CHANCE to pick up an initial application form.

Restricted schools are: Univ. of Hawaii/Manoa & Hilo; Univ. of So. Florida; Cal State Chico, Northridge & Sonoma; and College of the Virgin Islands.

Tuesday, Dec. 3* CC 805 3-4 pm
Wednesday, Dec. 4* CC 901 3-4 pm
Tuesday, Dec. 9 CC 803 3-4 pm
Wednesday, Dec. 10 CC 805 3-4 pm
* Last days to pick up initial applications for restricted schools.

Le Boudoir
Intimate Fashions
wishes all gentlemen Happy Holidays and cordially invites them to attend the Valley's original
Gentlemen Only Night
Thursday, December 12th 6-10 p.m.
Give her a gift
that's truly romantic...
Soft Silk Teddies, Pajamas, Robes,
Camisoles & Tap Pants
Matching Bras & Bikinis, Garter Belts
Stockings, G-Strings...
Night Gowns, Dance Wear, Loungewear, and much more
Refreshments Served
Come join us!
Carriage Shops, Amherst 549-6915
HOLIDAY HOURS: Mon.-Sat. 10-6
...Fri. 'til 9 ...Sun. 12-5

STUDENTS
INTERSESSION
$5.00 PER HOUR
Work Available all over New England
in your home area during Christmas Break
on campus information sessions
to be held on
Dec 12 & Dec 18 at Cc Room 904
10 am, 11 am etc
up and including 6 pm
For more information you may contact Student Employment Rm 239A Whitmore or call collect at 617-366-6473
RGIS INVENTORY SPECIALISTS
EOE

WHERE HILLS TURN TO MOUNTAINS
Why conquer hills when you can challenge a mountain. Just over the border is Mount Snow with 12 lifts (1 gondola, 5 triple chairs, 6 double chairs), 57 trails, 1700 feet of vertical and 80% snowmaking.
THE SHORTEST DRIVE TO BIG MOUNTAIN SKIING LOCATED IN EASY TO REACH SOUTHERN VERMONT ON VT. 100
LODGING: (802)464-8501
SKI REPORT: (802)464-2151
Mt. Snow has by far the most skiing in southern Vermont. 30 trails will be open this week. The 6-pack offers college students 6 days of skiing for only $15. per day any Tues., Wed., or Thurs. during the season. And it's only a little over an hour to Mt. Snow. Call 802-464-8501 for information. We've got the snow, let yourself go.
Mount Snow
VERMONT

SPORT Style
Hooded Sweat
16.95
Grey
White
Navy
Maroon
Located in the Campus Center
M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3
UNIVERSITY STORE

SPORTSWEAR
FACTORY OUTLET
Next to Super Stop & Shop
Route 9 Hadley, MA
WOOL SWEATERS
80% Rag Wool
20% Orlon
Value up to $40.
$11.99 each
2 for $19.99
All
N.F.L. Football
MLBB Baseball
50-75% OFF

UM track rolls on

The University of Massachusetts track teams continued their indoor seasons over the weekend as the women's team lost to the University of Connecticut, 85-55, and the men's team competed in the Southern Connecticut Invitational.

Despite the loss, the women's team performed well, according to head coach Kalakeni Banda, as it qualified 13 for the New England's and five for the Eastern Championships.

For the Minutewomen, Barbara Cullinan placed first in the 600 dash with a 1:28.6. UM took the top two spots in the 55 with freshman Pam Hughes taking first in 7.0 seconds (tying the school record) and Kayla Morrison just .3 behind. Sue Goldstein took second in the 800, while Sara Kitchell was second in the 1000.

Morrison took first in the 200 in 26.2 followed by Wendy Marshall and Joyce Baten. UM also took the mile relay as Sonja Vaughn, Kris Bates, Goldstein and Cullinan had a 4:09.2. Hughes set a new school record with a second place long jump of 18-12 1/2. Kari Fleischmann, Marshall, Hughes and Morrison took the 200 relay in 1:34.1, Kitchell and Julie Ott placed second and third in the 1,500, Kim Baten took second in the 55 hurdles, and Vaughn was second in the 400.

The men got strong performances from the long distance events as Steve Page took the mile in 4:17.7, followed by Renardo Flores just .3 seconds behind. Paul Stanislawzyk took first in the two-mile in 8:58.0 followed by John Panaccione and Pete O'Leary.

Craig Moburg took first in the 600 in 1:14.2 while Rawle Crichlow was fourth. Ted White was third in the 800, Rod Malcolm placed third in the high jump, and Ferdi Adoboe and Bob Jett took second and fourth in the triple jump. Mike Johnson, Keith Williams, Jim McDonald and Moburg combined for a 10:47 second place finish in the distance medley relay.

IM football champs go south

The 1985 Intramural flag football champions, Ball State, are raising money to compete in the national intramural championships in New Orleans starting December 28.

Ball State (Kevin Rocha, Al Mennino, Bill Plante, Will Dillion, John Cahill, Steve Ondrick, Mark Pelosky, Mike Morril, Mark O'Hara, Mat Matos and Bruce Smith) will represent UMass among 60 teams from across the nation with the championship being at halftime of the Sugar Bowl in the Superdome on Jan. 1.

The team is trying a variety of ways to raise the money to attend the championships, a double elimination tournament. They will receive the proceeds from Justin Ryan's this Friday night and have also got help from the Time Out and Barsie's in town. The UMass Alumni Association has also helped out with some money.

Ball State, 28-1 over the last three seasons including 9-0 this year in sweeping to the UMass title, has been practicing in preparation for the games and hopes to fly down to the tourney.

"We need all the help we can get," said Rocha, a senior running back. "We'd appreciate whatever anyone can do for us. We're looking forward to going down there are hopefully doing well."

— PETER ABRAHAM

Sports Notices

Anyone interested in playing women's lacrosse for the University of Massachusetts this spring should attend a meeting tomorrow at 5 p.m. in Boyden 153.

If unable to attend this meeting, contact UMass coach Pam Hixon at her office in Boyden, or all 545-1942 during the day. But, if at all possible, interested candidates should make every effort to attend the meeting.

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Come to Collegian Office CC 113 • 8:45-3:45 Mon - Thurs; 8:45 - 2:30 Fri • Deadline is 2 days prior to publication day
Cash in advance • Phone number FREE

ACTIVITIES

See the comet Tuesday (if clear) at 7 pm by the pond. Telescopes will be run by area astronomers.

DVP - Distinguished Visitors Program outside proposal meeting tonite at 7 pm CC903 - all proposal defendants must attend!! DVP members be there at 6:30 pm

Last Armenian Club meeting of this semester Wednesday 12/11/85 important information!! New people always welcome (check schedule for room).

Baha'i Fireside - an informal introduction to the Baha'i Faith. Topic will be world peace 7:30 pm, Dukes room

Now's the time, a Spring Arts Festival, seeks volunteers. Meeting is on December 11 at 4:00 in Room 902 CC

Come to a free lecture: Reversal of Aging through the Maharishi Technology of the Unified Field 12/11 7:30 pm Campus Center 905.

Imagine! Create! Submit! Spectrum Magazine

APARTMENT FOR RENT

Available for Intersession and/or Spring '86 - space in Brittany Manor apartment - rent $147.00 per month call 256-0866

AUDIO

BOSE 101 speakers. Like new. Info call 6-7917

AUTO FOR SALE

1975 Dodge Dart dependable, standard, some rust $400 or BO Kathy 549-4600 ext 348

1976 Pinto automatic runs well $500 or best offer 584-9742

Jeep 1978 CS-7 soft top low mileage runs great asking $3500 256-6056

79 Mercury Zephyr 22? mpg runs great, book value - $2200 - will sell at a loss $1500 or BO - must sell immediately! - Joe 549-6529

"CASH"

Cash for your baseball cards please call Mike 546-6105

ENTERTAINMENT

Rack-A-Disc Entertainment Agency for the best party this semester. DJ's, large screen video, rentals. 549-7144

Turn the Tables professional party/club D.J. 5 yr experience widest selection call 24 hr. 586-9691

FOR RENT

Sunderland, 1 bdrm apt. on busline. 420/month, everything included. Avail immediately! 665-3440, leave message

Next to UMass. Share apartment with woman and son. $200? Call 549-0024

Single room available all inclusive rent! Available to female or male Jan 1 call Sherri 256-1645

One bedroom apt: Cliffside, on bus rte. $540/mo. all util incl. mod kitch, gun-st. bed, laund, 7-Eleven call 665-7586 eves avail Jan 1

To takeover lease Jan 1 9 Crestview Apts 1 bedrm call eves 549-6752

1 or 2 rooms in house, North amherst, Pine Bl. busline, $175/mo, 549-6650, 549-0380

Room in house available for Spring semester, Jan-Aug across street from campus, walk to town, deck, washer dryer, big back yard, pets OK 250/month + utilities 549-6364 Lisa or Pat

Rooms available over Intersession Close to campus, walking distance, kitchen facilities call 549-3821, ask for John or Bill

For rent starting Jan 25 large room in house in Amherst Ctr call 549-5866

Large room for rent over break in Amherst Center call 549-5866

One room available in Swiss Village $215 per month utilities are included. For Spring semester starting January. Clean, quiet, on the busline. Cash reward call 256-1061

Brandywine 2 bedroom apt has 2 spots available Jan 1st. Must be at least one male. Call Ed 6-7130 pm 549-4726

Own room in Brittany, Jan 1st. 180/mo. heat & hot water incl. 256-0783

Two bedroom Townehouse for rent Jan 1 Beautiful! 665-4692 Jen or Lisa

2 bedroom Colonial Village 1 room available in Jan lease available Feb 1 call 256-0693

Apt for rent second sem. 2 bd 10 min from camp. call 665-3571

Room for 1 or 2, central location call 253-3932 Paola/Isabel

Room available 1/1 for nonsmoking female, house in North Amherst, $190/ 549-4132 leave message

1 room in 2 bdrm Sudrind apt - sublet or take lease - 1/27/86 - 8/31/86 188/month + elec 665-7629 nights

FOR SALE

Studded snowtires on Buick 14" reliegh rims white walls new 549-0385

Electric typewriter new 150 Hoise skateboard fiberglass board wide wheels 50 call Mark 6-9321

Computer Terminal with modem $200 or BO Diane 549-1449

67 Volkswagon convertible excellent heat, stereo, snowtires. Recent clutch, brakes, tuneup. Warm and dry, reliable 500$ or best offer. Josh 549-7185 thanks

1983 Nighthawk 450 must sell will accept any reasonable offer call Allen 546-6876

10 speed bicycle good shape $45 call soon 546-8996

Double bed vy good cond $45 549-6541

Soft contact lenses most daily wear lenses $18.00 to $25.00 each. Extended wear lenses $30.00 to $48.00. Lowest prices on contact lens solutions heat units $12.95 Amherst Optical Shoppe 253-5412, 256-6403

Skis for sale Dynastar Acryglass ex condition 200 cm w/bindings 360r Tyrolon $160 or BO call 546-7954

HELP WANTED

Jobs! $4.$6/hr! Intersession. Spring. Apply Telefund - Memorial Hall Basement

JOBS FLORIDA - Hightech, Aerospace, Finance. List of firms, locations, & contact points. Send $7.95 Southeast Market Consultants Inc. Suite 4A, 74 Gulf Blvd., Indl Florida 33535

Put your car to work for you and make at least $7 per hour delivering pizza. Apply Superior Pizzeria 549-0626

Responsible males wanted for work during spring semester in exchange for meals. For more information call 545-0527

3 positions open in the famous Collegian Day Graphics Dept. Jobs entails the creation of ads for the paper. Art background helpful but not necessary. Flexible hours, fun folks, amazing experience. Apply between 9 am and 3 pm in room 106 CC.

Job Opening Women's Leadership Project coordinating spring 86 10 hrs wk $5.35 deadline 12/13 applications SUB 415 or 420 get paid for feminist organizing!

Wine Mgr. - Up to 40 hrs. Knowledge of and enthusiasm for wine essential. Call Four Seasons Wines/Liquors, Hadley 584-8174

INSTRUCTION

Private Guitar Lessons experienced and patient teacher rock/pop/folk/blues improv., reading, theory, composition. Your home or my studio. Doug 549-4786

Intersession Bartending Courses 4 sections available sign up in Credit Free Workshops Room 111 Tower Library

LOST

Lost blue knapsack w/books only. If found call Joey 549-2792 reward

Hey! Green plastic notebook lost on Dec 3 if found please call 546-6516!

Gold and diamond bracelet. Boyden Gym/Parking Lot or Stop & Shop/McManus Parking Lot. $50 reward. 545-1309 584-0689

Lost black wallet full of ID's on Allen St. call Christine 549-3631

Lost pair of men's black ski gloves lost in Thompson Hall Hallway on Dec 4 Wednesday please return Call 546-6791 or 546-6799 it would be appreciated

MARVELOUS

U Look Marvelous bumper stickers $1 546-6313

MOVER

"Round Town Movers fast reliable cheap call Michael anytime 323-6780

MUST SELL

1977 Red Chev Camaro good condition 4 extra tires AM/FM stereo. $700 call PM 549-0402

PERSONALS

Ski Sugarbush! Hotel $149 call Ski Club now 545-3437

Jobs! $4.$6/hour Intersession Spring Apply Telefund - Memorial Hall Basement

ATTENTION U.P.C. MEMBERS! It's happening! We are having a holiday party! Come to the U.P.C. Office in 406 Student Union for more information

Dear Lori: Congratulations on your early graduation. We are very proud of you and know you will always be successful. Love Mom, John, Jennifer

Joe Pen Killer! Happy Birthday! Lets get drunk! Love, Me and Grips

A new social institution has been created - graphics tena time, a time for good taste and sounding thoughts.

Congratulations Mardee Chris Ann Donna and Ann for your acceptance into the order of Omega love the sisters and pledges of Chi Omega

Congratulations to the new brothers of Sigma Phi Epsilon! We love you! Your Gorman Sisters

Demetri: Since freshman year abd still waiting!

MLT - I'm psyched to spend pre-Christmas with you - we'll both need it by then! Love your buddy

Dawn: Her is the moment you've been waiting for. So how does it feel to be the recipient of a personal. Good luck with finals and enjoy the rest of the year - a good friend? Peter H

Green Eyes - I think you're beautiful. Next semester I'll miss you more than you can imagine. Well, you know what they say. "If you love someone set them free. . . " I love you baby. Jeff

Happy Birthday Scaty Baby! It's been awesome communicating with you. Have fun. Love Mary Desperately Seeking Danny!!! Guess Who???

Greenhead (414) It's Christmastime. . .so cover your neck, 'cus Crazy Eddie and ODE-A are coming to town!

PROFESSIONAL TYPING SERVICE

Cases, papers, dissertations, theses, on campus, dependable, outstanding quality, low rates, 584-7924

RIDE WANTED

Ride wanted to Toronto before Xmas share $ call Camilla 549-7515

ROOM WANTED

Male looking for room for intersession near campus preferred. Call Tom 6-6793 before 11:90 or after 7:00 pm

Rooms/rabbits needed Jan 5-18. Call the School for Body-Mind Centering 256-8615

ROOMMATE WANTED

Apt to share pleasant, reasonable ideally located in Amherst Ctr 774-2740

Female roommate needed to share a room in Brittany manor Jan 1 on It is a newly renovated apartment and will have only three roommates call Robyn 256-1232

Two roommates wanted male or female in Southwood apt call Eric 256-1628

Echo Village fully furnished, on 2 bus routes, starting Jan/Feb 256-6809

Clean, quiet huge dbl rm for $110/mo plus utilities call 549-8596

Female roommate wanted for spring Brittany manor 253-7868 available Jan 1

1 bdrm in a 2 bdrm apt Northwood apts call Joe 549-6310

To share double room in Hadley farmhouse apt quiet near bus rt nonsmoker preferred available Jan 1 586-7076

Female roommate wanted for Brittany Apt jan to May 31 - call 253-2420

Female wanted for a room in quiet condo in Amherst Fields for spring call 256-1618

Three outgoing females looking for two housemates M/F to share huge sunny bedroom starting 12/21 in Amherst Center $130 each ! Only serious inquiries please. Must see!! 665-4692 Lisa or Jen eves

Looking for 1 or 2 roommates to share a luxury condominium in Amherst Fields. 1 bedroom available has fireplace, laundry room, any much more. For info call Harold 256-0912

2 females needed for 1 lg bdrm in house near town availa 1/1 on bus route call 253-2294 after 5 pm

Single available Pufftон Village $144/mnth grad location 549-2877 starting Jan 1

2 females wanted to share room in Puffton apt free Jan 1 call Caroline 549-2643

Female to share room in Colonial Village apt $100 + util on bus route start Feb. 1 253-5618

1 or 2 roommates needed to share 1 bdrm in 2 bdrm Squire Village apt immediately 665-2219

Quiet Graduate student seeks same to share two bedroom house in Sunderland. Total rent less than $300 665-8194

Two bedrooms available Feb. 1 in Noho apt. male or female apt is one min walk to bus and Downtown Northampton 187.50 per mo + utilities apt is a huge townhouse on Graves Ave 584-5016

SAFE SUNTANS

Safe suntans in Bon Soleil's Christmas Special: unlimited visits till 12/24 - only $29.00 or buy as many visits as you like for only $3 each, $2 for facial tanner. Gift certificates specials too. Free 15 min trial session 253-9454

SERVICES

COINS 123/121 tutoring 5.00 per hr. former 123/121 grader Alex 256-1239

Escort Service available 8 pm - 2:30 am everyday any where on campus. Play it safe call 5-2123 for an escort ANYTIME

Papers typed. 253-3634

TO SUBLET

To sublet over Intersession one bedroom (two people) in Puffton Village call 549-7578

Intersession 2 room apt 5 min to campus, bus stop out door if lazy, super place, $ negot 256-1207

One large bedroom in two bedroom apt available Jan 1 $290 mo call ed or Steve 253-9509

One bedroom in Townehouse available for intersession - females preferred call 549-8621

Intersession only 2 rooms in Puffton apt 549-3809

Wanted apt for rent during Intersession prof Brandywine call 6-7970

Room available in Amherst Center over January. $150 or lower. Great location ask for Dave 256-6812

Wintersession apt available to 2 (1 m, 1 f preferred negotiable) in 2 bedroom furnitany. $140 each includes heat. Bus route, laundry facilities. Sheri 256-6059 | 1:30 pm

Cliffside apt 1 bdrm $340/mo starting Jan 1 call Kathy, eves 665-8752

TRAVEL

Need a piece? Trips to Florida spring break sign now save $25 before Dec 12 for more info 665-4187

"Take a Break on the French Side!" Skibreak's January trip to Tignes/Val d'Isere in the French Alps includes RT airfare (Swissair), transfers, accommodations, skipass (116 lifts), slalom races, cocktails for $740/7 nights in resort. Skibreak (203) 354-6069, Ted 546-4733

TYPING SERVICE

QUALITY TYPING. Long or short projects. Will correct grammar, spelling, & punctuation. Meticulous proofreading. New IBM typewriter. 549-0367

TYPING & WORD PROCESSING

Next Day Service. Type-Rite 253-5111

VALUABLE EXPERIENCE

The Collegian is seeking correspondents in the Five Colleg area to report on the various goings on in the area. An excellent way to gain experience with a daily newspaper. For more information contact Anne McCrory or Tom Middleton at 545-3500

WANTED

Quiet, neat female seeks a room on bus route for spring semester call 546-6363 nights prefer non-smoker

WANTED TO RENT

SEX! Now that we have your attention, wanted, a 2-3 bedroom apt for spring semester reward! call 247-5154

We want your 2 bdrm house or apt will take over lease in Jan call 546-1199 for your cash reward!!

Help! I need an apt or room to share in North Amherst. Spring semester Karen 253-7868

Responsible female student looking for quiet clean non-student household or apt need for spring sem must know by Dec 10 Larri 546-4392

Male and female seeking housing for intersession. If subletting please call 546-8036

SPORTS

A crowd pleaser:

Sean Mosby drawing fans

By PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

Of the seven freshmen on the University of Massachusetts basketball team this season, Sean Mosby arrived with the least fanfare.

". . .averaged nine points, eights rebounds and 3.5 blocked shots. . .also lettered in football. . .played on undefeated state championship team as a junior." are the highlights about Mosby in the UMass press guide. Compared to the various All-America, All-State, All-County and All-League awards given to his fellow rookies, Mosby's credentials paled in comparison.

But the 6-7 center, a product of basketball-rich Camden High in New Jersey, has proven to be the most popular of the new Minutemen among UMass fans. Several signs bearing his name have appeared at the Curry Hicks Cage while UMass fans have applauded his every effort. Not bad for a kid who didn't even start in high school.

Mosby doesn't exactly turn away from the attention, punctuating his good plays by jabbing his fist in the air or clapping his hands as he runs downcourt. The transition to college basketball, it would seem, has been an easy one for Sean.

"I love what's happening, I'm playing well and the fans seem to like me," said Mosby after UMass won its last game, 72-65 over Hartford on Saturday night at the Cage.

"I haven't started much in my career, and I don't really expect to start here," he said. "I just want to contribute anyway I can and help us win games. That's my only goal."

He accomplished that against Hartford, turning in a great defensive effort that included seven blocked shots, 10 rebounds and four points (all from the line).

For the season, he is averaging 4.2 points-per-game, 5.0 rebounds and 2.0 blocks. Comfortable with the ball for a big man, Mosby has made only one turnover and even has two assists.

"Sean is a consistent player for us, he adds a lot to the team off the bench," said UM coach Ron Gerlufsen. "I saw a lot of potential in him when we recruited him. With all the talent at Camden, he kind of got overlooked, but we're glad to have him."

Gerlufsen has played Mosby an average of 22 minutes a game, the fifth-most on the team. Mosby has been on the floor for the end of all of UMass' close games, including against Connecticut, a game he would just as soon forget.

Mosby missed a free throw in the final 13 seconds with UMass up by two. UConn got the ball, tied the game, and won in overtime.

"I felt badly after that game, but other than that one time I've felt pretty good about my play. I will feel more comfortable in that situation next time. I hope I have a chance to make up for that mistake."

"I don't have the natural ability some other players have, so I have to work a little harder and that's OK with me," said the art major. "It's been that way in basketball for a long time with me."

Collegian photo by Michelle Segall

Freshman center Sean Mosby (42) has been impressive this season for the University of Massachusetts basketball team.

Coached by Clarence Turner at Camden, Mosby led South Jersey in rejects as a senior, despite not starting. Against Hartford, Mosby showed his shot-blocking talent, swatting away two straight chances by Larry Jenkins, much to the please of the hyped-up Cage crowd. When he fouled out with 36 seconds to go, we went to the bench accompanied by a standing ovation.

"They way I figure it, a blocked shot is real important to winning, it means the other team can't score two points and maybe we have a fast-break," said Mosby. "Defense can turn a game around,"

Other players may run up the big numbers, get the all-something awards or receive more acclaim. All Sean Mosby wants is to win, with some good old-fashioned hard work. That's the way it's been his whole career and he's not going to change now.

Swimmers split last two meets

Women beat Springfield

By FRED NADEL
Collegian Correspondent

During the past week, the University of Massachusetts women's swim team has had its ups and downs. On Thursday, the squad swamped Springfield College, 88-52 at Boyden Pool. But on Sunday the team travelled to Orono got swamped by Maine, one of the best teams in New England, 109-31.

The women came together Thursday, after two disappointing losses, to squash Springfield. Springfield was without its best swimmer, but according to UMass coach Bob Newcomb, the Minutewomen swam well enough that they could have beat Springfield at full strength.

The Minutewomen led from start to finish. In the first event, the medley relay, co-captain Sue Freitas came back in the last 50 yards to touch out the Springfield swimmer by .15 seconds.

In the next event, the 1000 yard freestyle, UMass' Kris Henson and Maura Skelly placed first and second with times of 11.02.81 and 11.36.56 respectively. This was the first time Skelly swam this event and Newcomb was very pleased with her initial performance and expects much greater things from her.

Skelly also swam to a first place in the 200 IM.

Massachusetts, 2-3 on the year, won 10 of the 16 events against the Chiefs. Henson swam to three victories, Lori Carrol won two races, while co-captain Allison Uzzo, Michelle Leary, and Patty Pike also captured victories for the Minutewomen.

The meet was a major turnaround over a year ago. Last season Springfield beat UMass by the same margin, 36 points, as this year's UM win. After this meet Newcomb said there will be " more exciting things to come from this team."

Sundays meet against the Black Bears of Maine was anything but exciting. When asked about the meet Newcomb simply stated, "It was disappointing." Newcomb gave his swimmers the chance to swim events they normally did not swim. The plan backfired resulting in a crushing 109-31 loss.

UMass' powerful duo of Kris Henson and Allison Uzzo placed first and second, respectively in the meet's second event, the 1000 freestyle. This tied the score at 7-7, but this was as close as UMass would get.

Newcomb cited the performances of Carrol, Freitas, Leary and diver Jean Cowen as outstanding.

The meet wasn't a complete loss, Newcomb said. The New England Championships will be held in Orono this year, and "this meet gave the team an opportunity to get used to the pool, and used to the trip to Maine."

SWIMMING STROKES. . .The team heads down to Florida to train in Pompano beach for ten days starting December 27. . . The next meet for the Minutewomen is Amherst College on January 14. . . Look for transfer student Kelly Henson to emerge in the lineup after intersession.

Garber elected to lacrosse Hall of Fame

Veteran UMass coach, four others named

By PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

University of Massachusetts lacrosse coach Dick Garber has been elected to the United States Intercollegiate Lacrosse Hall of Fame.

Garber, who will coach UMass for the 32nd season this spring, was voted the honor at the USILA convention this past weekend. The only coach the UMass varsity has ever known, Garber has a a career record of 249-123-4.

"It's a great honor, certainly one I didn't expect," said Garber. "It's nice to know that people have recognized what we've done here at UMass with the program. I consider it as much a reflection on the program as on myself."

Garber, a 1950 graduate of Springfield College and native of Harrisonburg, Va., will be inducted along with four players in January when the United States team for the World championships will be announced. The Hall-of-Fame is at Johns Hopkins University in Maryland.

The winningest active lacrosse coach in the nation, Garber practically invented fast-break lacrosse as his UMass teams have always been known for their run-and-gun style. He also originated the 3-3 offensive set, a staple of all high school and collegiate teams.

"It's very humbling and very exciting," said Garber. "I never thought about it before. It seems like just yesterday that I started coaching. It's a great feeling."

The sport of lacrosse has been improved with Garber's efforts. He has served as chairman of the North-South game for seven years, president of the New England lacrosse association and, for four seasons, coach of the North-South game. He has also served on numerous All-American selection boards.

Garber was awarded the Francis Kraus Award as the college coach-of-the-year in 1969 for UM's 10-0 season. He also received the USILA Morris Touchstone Award as Division 1 national coach-of-the-year in 1976 for a 10-3 season. He is one of three active coaches to win 200 games. UMass has been ranked nationally 12 of the last 14 seasons with four national tournament appearances since 1976. UMass has been New England champions nine times, most recently in 1984.

"The thing I look back on the most is the close relationship the players have had, when they were here and even when they leave," said the coach. "The players keep in touch with each other and the Gorilla Club (a team booster organization) evens gives us money despite the fact they are organized just to retain old ties with each other."

"I've had a great time coaching the team, it's a honor to be elected to the Hall of Fame. I sincerely appreciate being so honored. I can remember when we were just learing to throw and catch the ball when the team started back in the 50's. We've come a long way." said Garber.

Congratulations coach, you deserve it..

UM class of 1990?

Lacrosse on recruiting trail in New York

The UMass lacrosse team is in the midst of recruiting season and has its eye on eight players from upper New York state.

"This is a great group of young players that we would really like to have," said UMass coach Dick Garber. "They would add a lot to the team in the future."

UM assistant coach Guy Van Arsdale listed the following players as high on the recruiting list:

Josh Dennis, an attackman from Ithaca High, Greg Burns, a attackman from J.D. High in Syracuse, Tony Pavlik, a midfielder from Corning High who is also an excellent football tailback and Steve Vaikness, a midfielder from West Genesee High in Camillus.

Paul DiBello, a middie from North Syracuse High, Jacques Monte, a middie with great face-off talent from Fairport High, Tim Soudan, another talented middie from Fairport and Jamie Bergan, a middie from West Genesee complete the list of highly-sought players UMass is seeking.

All eight have visited UMass and will make their decisions in the spring as to where they will attend college. A variety of national powers are competing with UMass for the players.

"These players have great physical ability," said Van Arsdale. "They have the chance to come in and contribute right away to the team. Hopefully, we will be able to land some of them."

"We have a lot of players from the upper New York state area," said Garber. "And we'd like some more. That area produces outstanding talent and without question, this is the finest group that has even visited UMass since I've been here."

UMass opens its season on March 16, playing at the Air Force Academy. The home opener in April 5 with the University of New Hampshire.

COLLEGIAN HOLIDAY SPECIAL

SEE HOLIDAY GIFT GUIDE—PAGE 15

Christmas Wrap and Trims

Discover the distinctive wrappings that make gift giving a joy!

MC MLBXXV American Greetings Corp.

Joe's Paradise

GOURMET FRIED CHICKEN

The crunchiest, crispiest, tastiest fried chicken and piping hot biscuits.

Single pieces or Paradise Pacs of up to 20 delicious pieces.

Also fresh pocket sandwiches, salads and desserts.

Eat in or take out orders

All fresh chicken prepared with natural ingredients, fried in pure peanut oil.

Downtown Amherst 31 Boltwood Walk (through the alley, next to Taco Villa)

253-7494

SALADS SUBMARINES SYRIANS

the sub

11 A.M. TO 2 A.M. / 7 DAYS

33 E. PLEASANT ST., AMHERST / 549-5160

Expires 12/20

Free 16 oz. Soda with your purchase of a whole sub

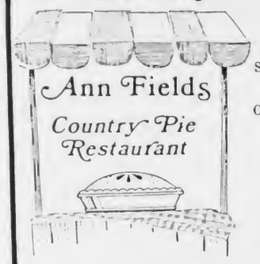
* In store promotion only

OLIVE our customers have their choice of black olives to top off their sub.

TIME OUT

T-Shirts Available

TIME OUT



Great Holiday Gift!!

Long & Short Sleeve Shirts

Seasons Greetings!!

37 N. Pleasant St.

Our Pies Say

401 Russell St (Rte 9)
Hadley 584-0311
(adjacent to Howard Johnson's Motor Lodge)

'Happy Holidays'

A Family Restaurant & Take Home Pie Shop

Serving Breakfast, Lunch & Dinner

Full Menu

• Full Liquor License

Open 7 am to 10 pm Sun thru Thurs to 12 pm Friday and Saturday

GIFT CERTIFICATES AVAILABLE

coupon coupon

$1.00 Off Any Lunch or Dinner

FINALS BREAK

(excluding specials) minimum $4.00 purchase expires 1/28

coupon coupon coupon coupon

Bob & Tishmo - Everybody must get stoned! I wish you both all the drugs & sex a person could want!!" Merry merry! Love KT

Norm - I never would have made it through this semester without you. You're the best part of my week! PJ

To a special guy from Shirley MA Santa Claus is on his merry way. Hopefully this year you'll be more than happy to greet him! Merry Christmas! Love your Christmas Angel. P.S. Yes Dave, this one's for you!

John Petrocelli and Bill McKenna - you guys are the best! Hope you have a great Christmas! Love Christine Hey Millah! What do you get when you add a BMW, a wardrobe, a diamond, tickets to Miami, new skiis, a fur coat, a stereo, and a TV? Chanuka!

Pam Have a Happy 19th Birthday and a Great Christmas! I'll get copies of the survey for you! JN

Hey BooBoo Who cares what the Ranger says! Good luck on finals. Happy Holidays. Love Yogi

To 2 South Field Thanks for a great semester! Happy Holidays! Good luck on finals! Luv ya, Ellen Neil - The uno night, did you ever wash that lipstick out? We know who really came in 2nd! Alan darling, rendez-vous in SW? Much love, A.

234 Have a super time over the holidays! I will miss you all! ""

Rob H. - Merry Xmas and Happy B-day babe!... Teddy?" Love you! Mel

Sue - To the spice of MSG - we wouldn't be flavorful w/o you! Merry Xmas. M & G

Kim - Meeting you in New York was the best thing to happen to me thus semester. You're special. Love, Bob

To the 6th floor, Happy Holidays! Have a good Intersession! Beware of unexpected guests. Love, Kathy, Mollywit & the Saucy Wench

Stephen, Pam & Peter To a terrific bunch of friends! Merry Christmas! Love Yvonne

Mari, You're a great roommate! Merry Christmas love Yvonne

M. Shepard - Merry Xmas. I'll be thinking of you. I really luv you. G. (Merry Christmas 3N Field too)

What? What? Have a cheesy Xmas Mielcarz in Leach. I love you dearly and am so happy we have become partners in love and crime. Have fun up the butt and if it feels good...do it. Wygant Gweenith - Happy Holidays! We love ou' S & M.

KA Mold, Missed ya this semester. Merry Christmas! Love Karyn

Apt 2G, Di, Sharyn and Caroline, you guys are the greatest. Have a great Intersession. Get psyched for skiing love, Janet Gopher, Good luck on your finals! We are definitely getting together over Intersession. How about another ski trip to WV? Love, Janet Cory Whitehead: Congratulations on conquering UMass! Good luck in your new adventures!" Karen

To my moldy roommate Merry Christmas! Love Scrapped It

Dead head! Your Mom was right about your guitar! Merry cXmas. Love Packrat

To the "Better Half" of the awesome foursome: We love you guys! Have a fantastic Christmas - miss us! We'll miss you (and even the blond roots!) Love, K & M

17th Floor Coolidge: Happy Holidays! Love, Lisa

Merry Christmas

Hey Suzy Q, Liz JH LP JO CG Thanx for always listening and for making my first semester on RR St awesome. Esp. Sue & Liz thanks for breaking me in...ya know what I mean? I luv you guys luv Beth

6 South Grayson You guys are the best!! Good luck on your finals and go nuts over break!! Love ya, Laura

Beth Foley To a great roommate take care next semester I will miss you Leona

Suz, Les, and Greenie - Stay tuned for another episode of "vacation" "Canadian style!" Merry Christmas!"

Peace and Gator - Excuse me dears, can I talk to you for a minute? OK great! Merry Christmas! You be alright. I love ya! Madonna (333)

Teddybear - Haffenreffer Merry X-mas!! Love, Santa Ron (and Moe, Ezekiel, Peep and Peter)

To everyone that I have ever hugged have a wonderful holiday and the best new year! Love andhugs Pattie

Hey Jingles! Have a berry Merry Christmas. Jo good hoop! Luv the Littlest Jingle

Jack - Congratulations! and thank you for going straight ahead! Love, Nancy

Brian, Merry (2nd) Christmas. Snugglebunny!! Thanks for always being there and most of all...I love you!!! Susan

Jim - How do you wrap a heart full of love? Lynne

BR MD HG Thanks for being such great friends Dallas

Jim Ellis !! How could I forget you!! Have a great Christmas Kitty

260 Puffton - I hope everyone in the family has a super holiday! Love always, Double Stuff

Elissa, Paula, Bonnie, Jill, Amy, Debbie, Stacey, Have a great holiday and make sure you all come back as crazy as you left! Love Sil

Chris, Courtney, Deane, Rich and Jon, Merry Christmas! Love your favorite Scootie (ha,ha) Kath and Bren

Happy Birthday and Merry Christmas 'Noelle! You're a super person! Love Pam

To Deanna Have a wonderful X-mas and hang in there! Love ya, Jill

To 3rd Floor Coolidge - have a great Christmas - I'll miss you! Love, Jill

Dear Julia, Happy 20th plus ten days! Merry Christmas you freaker! Have fun in that obscure foreign country. Oh Ray Vwah, Mon Sewer Dowe'

Ted, Consider this your Christmas present from me! I chose it because it was so cheap. Its the first anniversary of JUlia's party so keep those trash barrels handy! Merry Christmas! Now you can help me relocate to exciting Sunderland. Love and kisses, Joe Split!

Suzanne Stainman! Happy Holidays and good luck on finals coo-coooo! Get psyched for break. A little of this maybe? Love Janet

John Kinsley! Get psyched for Intersession ace your finals and then go wild w-or d love your #1 Redhead

Attention: Stacey Joe Steve Ellen Liz Jayne!! I love you all!! Have a great holiday!! Kitty

Zarb. You sure know how to cheer someone up! Merry Xmas Luv Bags

JOHN McKEOWN - Hope you have a very, Merry Christmas! A Fan

Dave, Have a Happy Hanukkah! You're a great friend wahoo love Yvonne

KT are you okay? Call for help, we did. We know Chaka! With love BL and LN

Leah of Leach Happy Holidays - Snopal

Secret Santa's!! Steve's hat Gift Certificates! Remind your loved ones Ice Cream is the most fun you can have with your clothes on!!

Kim, Maryanne, Sharlene, Chrissy, Amy, Tricia, Sharon, Karen, Barbara, Susan S. and 167E Brittany Manor, - We hope all of you have a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year! See you over Intersession! Love Renny and Julie

RIDE - We really are "building this city" in the "perfect way" and I feel great because together we are "alive and kicking" and "I just can't get enough"! Have a safe, happy, holy Christmas- here's to Moscow 1988 -- Julia

To the women of 4H Brandywine - It has been a great semester partying with you guys and all your friends. You really had me going in circles - but at least I found an apartment. Love Bruce

To my Randy Bear, Merry Christmas, all my love, Cheri

Hey Giovanna! Happy 21st! Love, Sushi

To Tim C - It's good to know there are nice guys out there, even if they are from the Islands and think they love desert women. Happy Holidays! From your friend the devil

To Jennifer and Lisa of 22 Lake Road East: good luck with finals and have a very happy holiday! Love ya, Stace

Rhod - Have a great new year. God knows we deserve it! It is going to be a great 1986. Luv ya! Brenda Pucannasburger, Merry Christmas, Happy Chanukah. Don't have to many latkes! You are a great kid, but please tell me that it finally happened! Luv ya Bagel!

Kith, Chele, Squeech, P.P., E.M., & Kev, Hey u guys I miss u! Lets do something special before we leave. Luv all of u! Love Bith

Happy Holidays to the sisters of Phi Mu! It was a rough semester but we made it through together. I love you all! Lisb, Tars

Sil, Hope your holidays are happy ones! Thanks for everything... you're a one in a million friend. get ready for next semester...you're stuck with me! Love always, Katrina

Hey L.N. (I'm taking the) Blairnold (D.C. that), Wesson & John - toast's up!!! You guys are truly great! Hopefully I won't have the opportunity to miss you next semester. Take care of yourselves, you men keep eating! Blair my regards to Michelle (ha!), call me, I'll be dealing with Marcia. Wes, to the Germans! They made it interesting. Though the Swiss are superior! Merry, Merry! Love ya, K.T. P.S. - Lonely, depressed?" Call Blair at 546-4979. (I know you did it, woman!) P.S.S. - L.N., Chaka, Chaka Kahn

Carl, bring down 2 friends to J.B.'s Roast Beef today (12/11) or Thurs (12/12) you will each receive A Free Big One, Reg. Fries and Large Coke!!

Turn left at College Drug and J.B.'s will be about 7 stores down on the left.

JBs

253-7018

11 am - 2 am
7 days
50 Main St.
Amherst, MA

It's MEXICAN FIESTA MONTH at Carbur's! Featuring BBQ Ribs, Chili, Nachos, Mexican Pizza, Tostadas, Chicken Chimichenga & Burrito Pie!

CARBUR'S

RESTAURANT & LOUNGE

At the Elmwood, Route 9, Hadley, MA (413) 586-1978

STADIUM LIQUORS

Amherst Mass

wishes everyone a Happy and Healthy Holiday

Good Luck on Finals

Don't forget Crabtree & Evelyn this year for terrific stocking stuffer ideas!

Mon-Wed 10-6
Thu & Fri 10-8
Sat 10-5
Sun 12-5

CRABTREE & EVELYN

71 N. Pleasant St.
Amherst 253-9561

THERMALITES by

WOLVERINE BOOTS

available in Amherst only at

BOLLES SHOES

8 Main St., Amherst 253-5598

Sale $60 Sale $55.20 Sale $55.20

VOTE

TODAY and TOMORROW

IN THE NEWMAN CTR, NEW AFRICA HOUSE, DCs AND THE HATCH

SPRING CONCERT $50,000

FINANCE RESERVES $50,000

EQUIPMENT $35,000

STABILIZATION $15,000

DON'T LET ADMINISTRATORS DECIDE THE BUDGET FOR YOU — VOTE!

COLLEGE DRUG

9-9 weekdays/9-6 Sat/9-3 Sun

4 Main Street, Amherst. Phone 253-2523

Polo
Gray Flannel
Pierre Cardin
Givenchy

10% OFF

Miss Dior
Perfumes by Querlain
Givenchy
Dioressence
Opium
Anais Anais
Tatiana

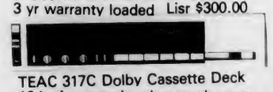
ON ALL PERFUMES AND COLOGNES IN STOCK!!

Only with this coupon expires 12/20/85

adirondack music

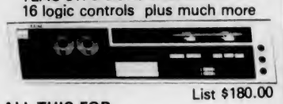
Presents

The Incredible Pre-Christmas Sale with Specials on the Very Best in Home and Car Electronics



SYSTEM SPECIALS

Nikko/Jano/System



Nikko NR1000
70 watt/ch receiver
3 yr warr
Quartz tuner
plus mich more. . .loaded!!
Jamo P270 1 bow loudspeakers
5 year warranty
Buy the top of the line receiver at $499.95
and receive the top of the line speakers FREE!

Scott/TEAC

Scott 349RA 40 w/ch receiver
3 yr warranty loaded Lisr $300.00

TEAC 317C Dolby Cassette Deck
16 logic controls plus much more

List $180.00

ALL THIS FOR $199.95

NIKKO/JAMO

Nikko NR320 Receiver
28 w/ch, 3 yr warranty
The Best Low Priced Receiver in the World!
Nikko ND550 Cassette
Dolby, soft touch operations
Nikko NP 550 Turntable semi-automatic
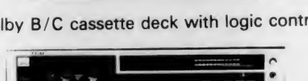
Jamo 3 way Loudspeakers

$399.95
a $950.00 value!



Audio Specials

Sony PSLX410 fully automatic direct drive turntable with $50 value cart — A $230 value — $99.95

All ADVENT LOUDSPEAKERS prices Reduced. . . A truly fantastic combination

Dual 620Q fully automatic direct drive turntable w/Ortofon cart. — $149.95

TEAC 317 Dolby Cassette Deck with 10 logic vu meters and more

A $180 value — $74.95

TEAC 417 Dolby B/C cassette deck with logic controls output control

plus all the goodies A $235.00 val. — $94.95

TEAC 518 Dolby B/C & DBX Noise Reduction Loaded!!! — A $300 value — $124.95

TEAC 555 Dolby B/C auto reverse cassette deck loaded!!! — $159.95

STOCKING STUFFERS

Allsop Video Cleaners VHS & Beta $9.95	Bally Astronvision Game TV video game arcade sold elsewhere for 79.95 $9.95 * new	Bally Video Cartridges $20 value 99¢	Sharp QT15 AM/FM/Cass (mono) Boom Box $175 val. ½ price $37.50	Super Walkman Speicals

The Store That Has Everything On Sale!!!

OPEN SUNDAYS

15 East Pleasant St. Amherst

MC/Visa/Check add 3% all items

Limited Quanity subject to prior sale

Special Holiday Hours
Mon-Fri 10-7 pm
Sat 10-6
Sunday 12-5

Personal FM Stereos $9.95

The Massachusetts Daily A REGISTERED STUDENT ORGANIZATION NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY

Collegian

Volume CXV, Issue 66 UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AMHERST (545-3500) Wednesday, December 11, 1985

Collegian photo by Paul Desmarais

PAVING THE WAY—Lenny Wrona, driving, and Mel Thomas operate a tarring machine on a bus stop along Mass Ave. yesterday.

Fee referendum termed confusing

By JOEL P. COFFIDIS
Collegian Staff

The referendum question asking student approval for a $12 annual increase of the Student Activities Fee, scheduled for today and tomorrow, may cause confusion, student government officials said yesterday.

The present activities fee, which is $88 per year per student, goes toward the Student Activity Trust Fund (SATF). The trust fund is the Student Government Association's vehicle in providing resources, programs and services to the campus community.

The possible confusion lies in the explanation that is listed after the question, said Bill Collins, spokesman for Students for Government by Referenda, an 11-member group that opposes the fee increase.

The question reads: Do you support a $12 SATF fee increase, which shall be spent as follows: Concert Fund: $50,000; Finance Reserves: $50,000; Capital Equipment: $35,000; Stabilization: $15,000.

"The student government in their publicity and the question itself are trying to deceive people," Collins said. He cited the four listings printed after the question on the ballot, as the deceiving part.

Joe Sparks, co-chair of the Rents and Fees Committee, said the four listings are on the ballot because with the approved fee increase, those four can be guaranteed. He said his committee listed them on the ballot and advertising literature, but that the committee is unbiased as to how the vote should go.

"We basically want people to vote," Sparks said. "If they don't think the spring concert is worth it, than I respect that."

Sparks said some students will probably be confused but he thought he would be able to post information on what the four accounts on the ballot are, so voters would know what their purpose is.

However, Karen Morvay, co-chair of the Governmental Affairs Committee, said no such information will be posted unless it's at least 50 feet away from the ballot boxes.

Students can vote today and tomorrow from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Newman Center, Hatch and New Africa House, and from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. at Hampshire, Worcester, Franklin and Berkshire dining commons.

A similar fee increase question, held Oct. 29, failed and was not binding because only about 3 percent of the required 15 percent voted.

SGA tribunal stops questions

By JOEL P. COFFIDIS
Collegian Staff

Students voting today and tomorrow on a referendum will only consider the fee increase question, after a Student Government judiciary tribunal issued an injunction last night invalidating the questions concerning the funding of two student groups.

The two questions, involving the Massachusetts Public Interest Research Group (MASSPIRG) and the State Student Association of Massachusetts (SSAM), have been removed from the ballot.

The referendum questions were to ask if the optional $2 fees which provide the group's funding, should be eliminated from each students' semester bills. The tribunal ruled on SGA Attorney General Scot McCracken's findings that the Undergraduate Student Senate did not approve the time and date of the questions. SGA by-laws, according to McCracken, require these parameters in order for a referendum to be validated.

The two questions were to appear on the bottom half of a standard piece of paper, and the ruling prompted Governmental Affairs Committee members to cut 3,000 ballots in half, prior to today's vote which starts at 11 a.m..

Michael Ferrigno, executive director of SSAM, said he is happy with the verdict but cautioned that students must not disunite over the issue, particularly with bigger issues facing students.

Brian Darling, co-chair of the Governmental Affairs Committee and co-sponsor of the funding questions, was subpoenaed to attend, but did not attend because he said there was no basis for the hearing.

Responding to McCracken's impetus behind the hearing, Darling said he planned to appeal the verdict.

Baldwin: art a savior

Symposium held

By REBECCA THATCHER
Collegian Staff

In an age of destructive pragmatism, art must play a crucial role if civilization is to be saved from catastrophe, writer James Baldwin said in the Student Union Ballroom last night.

"People are so far gone in self-delusion that they have not the remotest idea of what art is because they have dismissed the possibility of what art can be," said Baldwin, who spoke as part of a symposium on the function of art sponsored by the Institute for the Advanced Study of the Humanities

The purpose of the artist is to keep alive the possibility of change so that people can raise their children to believe in themselves, Baldwin said, adding, "no society can do that without the example of the poet."

continued on page 5

Collegian photo by Paul Desmarais

Author and teacher, James Baldwin.

Sit-ins at Whitmore cease

By TOM MIDDLETON
Collegian Staff

Student leaders announced yesterday that they will no longer organize sit-ins at the Whitmore Administraion Building this semester. The leaders represent a coalition of student groups protesting proposed changes in Student Activities Trust Fund control.

Concerning the group's future plans, Student Government Association Treasurer Diane Rossi said, "Our future strategy is a petition and letter drive which will be sent to Chancellor Duffey."

"Although we have numerous supporters," Rossi said, it is not possible to continue the sit-ins at Whitmore. "We will be back," she added.

Vice-Chancellor for Student Affairs Dennis Madson agreed to meet with five SGA officers to discuss his Nov. 19 memorandum outlining plans for taking control of $1.5 million of the $1.75 million SATF.

But the coalition insisted that two other students be allowed to meet with Madson in addition to the original five. Madson refused, stating that he has been dealing with just the five SGA officers this semester.

Discussions between coalition members and administrators have since centered on Madson's refusal to meet with the seven students proposed by the coalition. Yesterday, the University Mediation Project, at the request of students, agreed to work with Madson and coalition leaders to solve the impasse. However, Madson refused the offer. Madson has agreed to meet with students, but not to negotiate control of the SATF budget for Fiscal Year 1987.

Inside:

Bonner gets a checkup.....2
Students protest renovations.....3
Holiday Special.....13-16
Hoop team meets the Bonnies.....24

"I've been thinking about this game for a long time."
—Captain of the basketball team Carl Smith

WORLD/NATIONAL

Bonner begins test

BOSTON (AP)—The wife of Soviet dissident Andrei Sakharov underwent the first day of medical tests yesterday to determine what to do nest about her heart condition, a spokesman for Massachusetts General Hospital said.

Yelena Bonner left the Newton home of her daughter, Tatania Yankelevich, at 7:30 a.m. for the first battery of tests at the Boston hospital. Spokesman Martin Bander said the tests would take a few days and doctors would announce Friday what treatment she required.

The family declined to comment on the tests.

Mrs. Bonner came to Massachusetts via Italy last week on a three-month medical visa that was granted in late November, six months after Sakharov began a hunger strike to pressure authorities into letting her leave.

Mrs. Bonner's son-in-law, Efrem Yankelevich, said Monday she would try to take her 85-year-old mother, Ruth Bonner, home with her when she returns to Gorky, the city west of Moskow where she and her husband live in internal exile.

AP Laserphoto

Yelena Bonner, left, wife of Soviet dissident Andrei Sakharov, walks with her daughter Tatiana Yankelvich in Boston yesterday between meetings at Massachusetts General Hospital.

Marcos regime faces protests

Manila, Philippines (AP)—Thousands of students and workers shouting 'Revolution' marched to the President Ferdinand E. Marcos' palace where he was meeting party leaders Tuesday to discuss potential running mates for the February special election.

The 4,000 marchers waved red flags and chanted slogans praising the insurgent communist New People's Army as part of their protest against alleged human rights abuses and U.S. support of Marcos' government.

Nearly 30,000 people, mostly farmers and students, held similar protests in the central Philippine cities of legaspi, Bacolod and Iliolo.

No violence was reported in any of the rallies. The Philippine News Agency said three demonstrators in Iloilo were arrested for distributing allegedly subversive leaflets but were later released.

In Manila, security guards placed barbed wire across a bridge less than 500 yards from Marcos' palace, preventing marchers from reaching it.

The marchers held a rally at the foot of the bridge and burned effigies of Marcos and President Reagan.

The ralliers were organized by Bayan, a militant nationwide group of workers,students and peasants which has organized many previous demonstrations. In the Tagalog language, Bayan means country.

Argentine military purged

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—With sentences passed on senior military leaders who presided over the 'dirty war' in which 9,000 people disappeared or were tortured, political and human rights leaders are demanding justice for those who carried it out.

"There have to be more trials of military leaders now," human rights leader Emilio Mignone said yesterday. Cases are pending against hundreds of other officers.Carlos Grosso, a member of Congress from the opposition Peronist Party, said: "Now it remains that, without stridency or political manipulation, they proceed with all of the other pending cases."

On Monday, a civilian court found five former members of ruling military juntas, including two ex-presidents, guilty of human rights charges from the abduction, torture and disappearance of suspected leftists in the late 1970s. Four other former junta members were acquitted.

The court ordered life imprisonment for former President Jorge Videla and Emilio Mesera, a former navy commander.

Today's Staff

Night Editor	David Summersby
Copy Editor	Kelly Sieger
Holiday Editor	BethAnne Moskov
Layout Technician	Ansel Zinter
Photo Technician	Paul Desmarais
Production Supervisor	Ansel Zinter
Production	Sonya Sabels, Gary Brennan Mark Parker, Nancy Rivers, Tony Beugless
Day Graphics	Many Thanks! Beth Bazinet, Jim Podesky Kathy Wheeler, Larissa Potapchuck, Ruth Devine Betty Anne Murphy, Norm Achin, Martha Connors

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian (USPS permit #68), a Registered Student Organization at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, is published Monday through Friday excluding holidays, exams and vacations periods. Content is determined solely by the Collegian Board of Editors without prior approval from University administrators, faculty or staff. Operations are funded solely by advertising and subscription revenue. Subscriptions and advertising rates are available at 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Mass. 01003, (413) 545-3500. Postmaster: send address changes to the above address.

CAROL'S HEAD QUARTERS
Former Employees of LORDS & LADIES
Carol, Sandy and Ingrid
A Full Service Salon
Manicures - Cellophane Colors - Perms
Reasonable Rates Walk-Ins
115 Russell St, Rt. 9, Hadley, MA
1-413-584-9948
Student Discount w/valid ID

HANDMADE ORNAMENTS at
The Old Mill
65 Montague Rd.
Route 63
1 mile north of UMass
NORTH AMHERST MASSACHUSETTS 01059

YOUR ONE STOP CHRISTMAS SHOP

WILDWATER OUTFITTERS
93 Boltwood Walk
Amherst, MA 01002
413-253-7779
SWEATER SALE!

Come in and see the Valley's largest selection of sweaters!
$10.00 Off on all SWEATERS with this coupon
WILDWATER OUTFITTERS
93 Boltwood Walk
Amherst, MA 01002
413-253-7779

ROYAL CRANE ORIENTAL FOOD MARKET
360 College St., Amherst
Rte 9 East 253-5658
with a large variety of AUTHENTIC ORIENTAL
• Open 10-8; Sat. open 9-8
• Fresh Produce • Sauces & Spices
• Noodles • Frozen & Canned Goods
• Cooking Implements & Supplies
• Homemade take-out food
• New items arriving every week
• Gourmet foods at everyday prices
• Asian cookbooks at Publisher's prices
• Large Indian Inventory
Decorative Oriental Tableware and accessories for Christmas giving
Exotic imported mink blanket ($110-130)
Homemade Bedspread from Korea ($110-150)

Grads OK anti-Star Wars motion 'in spirit'

BY SEAN CASEY
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts Graduate Student Senate voted last night to endorse "in spirit" a motion calling the Strategic Defense Initiative (SDI) unfeasible, and then agreed to circulate a letter to graduate students asking them to pledge not to accept money for SDI-related research.

The petition has already been circulated on at least 20 campuses across the country including the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and other research-oriented institutions, said John Hayes, executive officer of the senate.

Although the motions to support and circulate the letter had formerly been a single motion, the senate voted to consider them separately after some senators said that they did not agree with every point in the letter. For this reason, the motion was changed to say that the senate agreed "in spirit" with the letter.

The letter is targeted mainly at science and engineering graduate students, since they are the most likely students to be involved in SDI research.

Also last night, many senators signed letters condemning the actions of Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs Dennis Madson and Student Activities Director Randy Donant to gain administrative control of the Student Activities Trust Fund (SATF).

Alex Zucker, chairman of the Campus Center Board of Governors and an "informal representative" of Students Advocating Rights Together (START), addressed the senate, which last week passed a motion supporting the coalition's actions.

Zucker said that Donant used an alleged $92,000 deficit in the SATF to justify his actions, but that this deficit was actually $6,000.

Zucker added that the deficit is "not the students' fault" because the interest from the SATF was "funnelled off to the President's (UMass President David Knapp's) office" and that the Legal Services Office had said this was illegal.

Zucker added that "we are not suing anyone right now," but said that the action was "illegal management of trust funds."

Hayes said that Dean of Students William Field is "playing very dirty" in his efforts to punish students arrested at the sit-ins.

Collegian photo by Paul Desmarais

PLAYTIME—Mark, right, 10, and Meaghan, 6, swing around a streamer by North Pleasant Street yesterday.

Students protest lounge closing

By DAN MILLER
Collegian Staff

To protest the renovation and overnight lockup of a lounge on the third floor of Webster House, some of the floor's residents occupied the lounge for more than two hours yesterday afternoon.

Residents of the dormitory said they objected to the unannounced renovation of their lounge into a temporary model of three-bed rooms for 132 athletes who will stay in the Orchard Hill Residential Area during intersession.

University Housing Services plans to allocate room space in each Orchard Hill dormitory lounge to the Athletic department during intersession, according to Sandy Anderson, operations manager of the Orchard Hill/Central Area Housing Services.

"It's a fee-for-service proposition,' Anderson said. "Housing services is always looking for a way to defray costs."

Webster House resident Jon Mori said that last week coaches looked at the east lounge on the third floor of Webster, but weren't convinced that the lounges were suitable as rooms for athletes during intersession.

Housing services workers then began refurbishing the lounge as a model bedroom, while seven students sat in the lounge with typewriters and books.

"We always go in here to do papers until all hours of the night," Mori said. "I don't see why they should keep us out of here so the coaches can come up here and look at it and approve of it. We wouldn't mind so much if it was the beginning of the semester, but now we've got a lot of work to do."

Workers started to bring a bureau and three matresses up to the lounge but the elevator was broken, so the furniture was stored on the first floor of the dormitory.

Workers were able to install poles, on which athletes would hang their clothes, and coaches are expected to look at the model room tomorrow.

Teams due to stay in Amherst during intersession include men's and women's basketball, gymnastics, track, skiing and swimming.

"We're talking about scholarship athletes here," Anderson said. "You can't just role out a sleeping bag and expect them to live there for the next five weeks."

The lounge will be open for student use today.

Collegian board appoints new editors

Eight new members of the Collegian Board of Editors have been appointed for the spring semester by the current board in order to fill vacancies left by outgoing members.

Ian Polombaum, returning from a six month co-op with the Boston Globe foreign news desk, has been named managing editor of the Collegian and will serve as chairman of the Board of Editors. Other editors appointed for the spring semester are Joel Coffidis, news editor; Chris Allen, black affairs editor; John Yonce, women's issues editor; Michelle Segall and Paul Desmarais, photography co-editors, and Kelly Sieger and Jen Ackerman, arts co-editors.

"'Working with Ian will be a particularly strong challenge because of his high expectations and his dedication to the newspaper," Coffidis said of Polumbaum. "I'm looking forward to it."

Yonce, who has worked at the Collegian for six semesters, brings his experience to the women's issues desk. "I hope I can continue the strong tradition of the women's issues desk in covering issues of importance to all University women," he said.

—DODE B. LEVENSON

Help for finals stress

Faculty members have received a letter from Vice-Chancellor for Student Affairs Dennis Madson containing a list of offices offering help to students during the final weeks of school.

The letter states that stress and anxiety may become acute as final exams approach. "Students experiencing unusual stress may appear highly agitated or listless, seem especially fatigued or depressed, or generally behave in an unusual manner," the letter states.

The following offices are listed as offering help to students facing high stress or anxiety:

Bilingual Collegiate Program, Wilder Hall; CASIAC, E-20 Machmer; Committee for the Collegiate Education of Black and Other Minority Students, New Africa House; Communication Skills Center, 73 Bartlett Hall; Continuing Education Advising Office, 113 Tower Library; Counseling and Career Development Services, 123 Berkshire House; Dean of Students Office, 227 Whitmore; Everywoman's Center, Wilder Hall; Foreign Student's Office, 239 Whitmore; Mental Health, 127 Hills North; Veterans Assistance and Counseling Services, Fraternity and Sorority Park, Career Center.

—TOM MIDDLETON

Collegian photo by Derek Roberts

TROMBONE JAM—Members of the UMass band do their thing at a men's basketball game last

Comet in sight

This week is one of the best times to view Halley's comet because it is approaching the sun, and the small moon allows it to be seen clearly

The comet can be viewed from the Amherst College observatory tomorrow, when the Snell Street facility is open to the public from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

A talk on Halley's comet will be given at 7:30 p.m. Friday, at the observatory on the roof of Smith College's McConnell Hall by Suzan Edwards, assistant professor of astronomy at Smith. Following the talk, visitors will be instructed on how to spot the comet, using the observatory telescope or their own binoculars.

The Amherst College observatory will also be open to the public Monday, December 16 and Thursday, December 19 during the same hours.

Computer lecture today

Professor of electrical engineering and computer science at the Univeristy of Michigan John F. Hayes will lecture at 3:30 p.m. today in Joseph S. Marcus Hall (formerly Engineering Building East).

Professor Hayes, a leading authority in fault-tolerant computing and computer architecture, will speak on "Fault Simulations in VLSI Logic-Circuits." The lecture will focus on understanding faults or disruptions in machine logic.

Hayes' lecture is the first in the six-part Analog Devices Distinguished Lecture Series sponored by the University of Massachusetts department of electrical engineering and Analog Devices, Inc.

AIDS victim speaks out

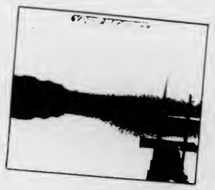
Actor and entertainer David Summers, a victim of Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS), will speak on the disease at 7 p.m. tomorrow in Campus Center room 101.

A question and answer period following Summers' lecture will be led by Summers and Dr. Paul Berman of the University Health Services.

In the last 18 months, Summer has appeared on three television networks, the Phil Donahue Show, the Cable News Network and the British Broadcasting Corporation.

Summer will also meet informally with students in the Lesbian, Bisexual and Gay Alliance at 4 p.m.

"HERE'S LOOKIN' AT YOU 1986"



CHOOSE FROM A WIDE VARIETY OF 1986 CALENDARS AND DATEBOOKS FOR A LOVED ONE OR A FRIEND

"GREAT GIFT IDEAS. . ."

(ON SPECIAL DISPLAY TABLES LOCATED IN THE TRADEBOOK DEPT.)

STORE HOURS:
MONDAY - FRIDAY 9 am - 5 pm
SATURDAY 10 am - 3 pm

LOCATED IN THE CAMPUS CENTER

UNIVERSITY STORE

Collegian photo by Paul Desmarais

PLANT CARE—Glen Newton, an environmental design major, looks over a bunch of pointsettia plants in the French Hall Greenhouse yesterday.

★ Baldwin

continued from page 1

Noting that art had been crucial to the survival of his community in Harlem, Baldwin said he had grown up poor but the term had not meant worthless.

"We knew...that the weapons we had - weak as they seemed - were from our ancestors: the turn of speech, the beat, the ability to get from one night to the next," he said.

Noted graphic artist and sculptor, Leonard Baskin, saying he was "shipwrecked in the alien medium of words," asserted that artists have played many different and important roles in our society.

"There is no need to invoke their names because they are the bedrock of our civilization," Baskin said.

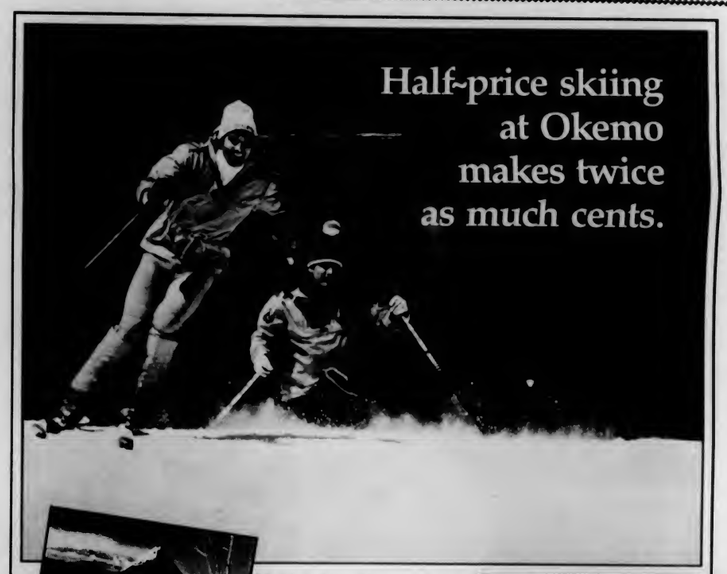
He said the strictures of class and money have tended to predispose and determine with "deadly inevitability" whether people listen to classical music, involve themselves with the "obtusity of Weber, or rock with zinc buffalo."

University of Massachusetts professor of English literature and judaic studies Jules Chemetsky quoted the German philosopher Theodore Adorno as saying, "after Auchwitz, all art is crap." But he said he remained hopeful as "we approach the end of this wretched century."

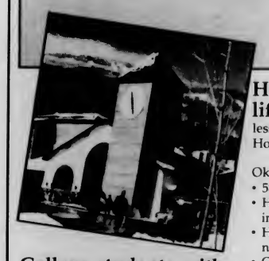
Though art is controlled and used by corporations and patronage and is debased in the mass media, achievements are still gained "against the grain," Chemetsky said.

HIGHENOTES
Balloon Delivery Service
$5.00 OFF
with this ad expires 12/31/85
On All Deliveries
Attention Dorm Students
ask about
$1.50 Holiday Helper
Special
CALL to order 549-1430
2nd Floor Carriage Shops
233 N. Pleasant , Amherst

YVONNE'S
CARRIBBEANA RESTAURANT
Luncheon Specials
with Super Island Vegetarian and Regular dishes
Prices from $2.50 and up
50¢ DRAFT BEER
with all lunches
Route 9, Hadley
586-4389
Lunch Hours 11:30-3:00 pm Monday - Friday
Dinner Hours 5:00-10:00 pm Every Night



Happy Holiday



The Whately Inn
Quality Food To Order
Prepared
Chestnut Plain Rd.
Whately
Featuring Steve Kloc's Famous Broiled LIVE LOBSTER
Also Serving Louisiana Cajun Entrees
Also Steaks, Prime Rib, Seafood
DIRECTIONS: take 116 north to South Deerfield, south on route 5-10 1½ miles. Right on Christian Lane ½ mile from center of town.
Open:
Mon-Sat 5-10 pm Sun 1-9

Now's the time to call...
North Amherst Motors
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880
Expert Repairs & Reconditioning

TCYP has openings for the following positions:
FOSTER CARE -mature individuals and families to provide a stable environment for needy adolescents.
RELIEF STAFF - to provide respite hours to youths in foster care. Situations vary according to need.
ADVOCATES - willing to share living accommodations with young adults needing orientation into independent living situations.
Stipends, training and support are available for all openings. For further information, call S.J. Vanasse at Tri-County Youth Program, 16 Armory St., Northampton, 586-5210.

College students with valid ID's are eligible for Okemo's Special College Discount at the Okemo Mountain Lodge. Condominiums surrounding the Base Area feature full kitchens, fireplaces, telephones and cable color TV. Ski-in, ski-out accomodations conveniently located to all mountain facilities.

Half-price discount on lift tickets mid-week
lesser discounts weekends and Holiday periods 12/25/85–1/1/86, 2/15– 2/21/85.

Okemo has:
- 58 trails and slopes
- Has the fourth highest vertical drop in Vermont
- Has eight major lifts including a new 4-passenger chairlift.
- Covers over 60% of its skiable terrain with snowmaking.
- Receives an annual snowfall of over 12 feet.
- Is the only Eastern ski resort with a major town at its base.
- Has a 4½ mile novice trail from the summit.
- Has two of the steepest gladed areas in the Northeast.

Half-price skiing is twice the fun.
Write or call for more information:
Lodging Service . . . 802-228-5571
Snow Reports 802-228-5222
General Information 802-228-4041

OKEMO
Okemo Mountain RFD 1, Box CA, Ludlow, Vermont 05149

OUR BEST TO YOU!

Dual

Dual CS-505 turntable with walnut base, Ortofon OM-10 cartridge and two free audiophile LP's

$249

B&W

B&W DM-100 speakers

$218/pair

Other speakers by B&W, Boston Acoustics, AR, Celestion, Synthesis, Castle, Acoustat, Fried and Spica

STARTER SYSTEM

Onkyo TX-27 receiver and TA-2017 cassette deck with Dual CS-530 turntable, Ortofon OM-5E cartridge and Boston Acoustics A-60 speakers

$639

CARVER

Carver DTL-100 compact disc player with Digital Time Lens

$650

Dual

Dual CS-514 semi-automatic turntable with cartridge

$99

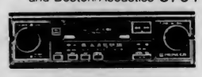
ONKYO

Onkyo TA-2044 three-motor cassette deck including calibration

$199

SONY.

Sony D-5 Deluxe Walkman compact disc player



$229

Other Sony CD players from $299

PIONEER

Pioneer KPA-350 Supertuner III auto-reverse cassette deck with music search and Boston/Acoustics C704 speakers

$219 Installed

Under $99

Compact discs (over 500 titles in stock), audiophile LP's, Disc-washer record care accessories, Sony Walkman's, Monster Cable high-definition speaker cable and Interlinks

ONKYO

Onkyo TA-2056B three-head cassette deck with real-time counter

$340 including calibration

SONY.

Free remote control (regularly $40) with Sony STR-AV460 45-watt receiver

$270

All systems fully-pre-tested and backed by Sound & Music's factory-authorized service and installation departments. Two-week post holiday return privilege.

Sound & Music

90-92 King St. (Rte 5), Northampton • Mon-Sat 10-5:30, Thu 'til 9

VISA, MasterCard, American Express • Open Sundays 12-5 • 584-9547

David Huddleston (left) and Dudley Moore (right) star in "Santa Claus, the movie," one of the Christmas movies now playing at local theatres.

Wednesday's Cutting SPECIAL

Women. . . . .$12 reg. $18

Men. . . . .$10 reg. $16

LORD'S & LADY'S HAIR SALONS

The Hampshire Mall • 586-7913

The Sweet Shoppe

WE HAVE THE LARGEST ASSORTMENT OF STUFFED ANIMALS AND PUPPETS IN THE AREA.

COME IN AND SEE OUR LARGE SELECTION OF CHRISTMAS STUFFED PIECES & CERAMICS.

authorized Dakin dealer

Great Gift Ideas...

GIFT BASKETS FILLED WITH CHEESE, SAUSAGE, HAM, PATE, CRACKERS AND CANDY

FIGURINES

CHOCOLATE NOVELTIES

• Layaways Available
• We Ship Anywhere

HAMPSHIRE MALL, HADLEY
584-7004

It's so Easy...

with Extended Holiday Shopping Hours:

Daily 10-10; Sundays 12-6

Photos with SANTA ONLY $1.99

Photo Hours: Daily 2-8 PM.
Saturday 11-9 Sunday Noon 'til Closing

VISIT THE GIFT CERTIFICATE BOOTH FOR...

Hampshire Mall Gift Certificates
Good for any store in the mall

Gift Wrapping
That special touch for all your gifts

Free Hampshire Mall Gift List
Great gift ideas for everyone on your list

ROUTE 9 HADLEY

Hampshire Mall

AmHErst CINEMA

Comic Relief
Wednesday - Saturday

Safety Last	7:00
General	8:30
City Light	9:45

30 AMITY ST. AMHERST 253-5426

Jonathan Reid

Buy one suit at $150.00 and get the SECOND $150.00 SUIT

FREE ! !

located at Hampshire Mall in Hadley

Summit Leather

There's nothing like the appeal of leather in fashions, accessories and more

Hadley, MA 586-2014

BEES ▲ BUCKLES ▲ HATS ▲ REPAIRS

WALLETS ▲ BRIEFCASES ▲ SHEEPSKINS

▲ MOCCASINS ▲ JACKETS ▲ HANDBAGS ▲

ARTS

One Magic Christmas: movie with a message

By Thomas Harrington
Collegian Staff

During this time of year, a lot of movies, many of them good, proclaim and celebrate the magic of Christmas, but shy away from seriously exploring the emotions behind the jubilation. One Magic Christmas is an exception, and its strange mixture of drama and fantasy is entertaining, though often unsettling.

Mary Steenburgen plays the mother of a struggling family in a depressed town, and she is sick to death of hearing about Christmas and Santa Claus, especially from her out-of-work husband (Gary Basabara) who still keeps talking about buying lots of presents when they can't afford them.

Then a Christmas angel (Harry Dean Stanton) enlists the secret aid of her daughter to help Steenburgen recapture the spirit of Christmas, and when a personal tragedy strikes the family, Santa himself is called in for help.

What is most striking about this "holiday" picture is how seriously it takes the problems of Christmas time. The mother's cynicism is no mere case of the Bah Humbugs, but despair and fatigue with a holiday she no longer understands. Likewise, there is something desperate in her husband's need to believe in the same things she rejects.

Even the fantasy elements are heavily handled. Stanton is undoubtedly the grimmest looking angel in film history, and though he tries his best to make things come out well for the family, he is not sure that they will. Jan Rubis' quiet, hardworking Santa Claus utters nary a Ho-Ho-Ho, and despite his magical powers, its clear that he cannot make Christmas bright alone. He has to have people help and believe in him.

It's this last point that saves Magic Christmas from being a downer. It's not economic prosperity that Santa and the Angel offer (they simply can't give that), but hope, and it's this hope that revitalizes the family in the end, even though their future remains in as much doubt as ever.

Still, though the ending made me feel good, I have to admit it was a bumpy ride most of the way. As much as it wants to put a new perspective on Christmas, the film often falls back on standard cliches—Steenburgen's Scrooge of a boss, for instance—to tell its story.

In her central role, Mary Steenburgen has to convince the audience that a grown woman can be taught to believe in Santa Claus and she succeeds admirably. Gary Basabara is equally good at playing a man who is a dreamer, but not a fool.

Stanton gives the best performance as an Angel who is also a lonely, tragic figure. Jan Rubis is the most believable movie Santa I've ever seen. He is not a jolly elf, but a good person with a little magic at his command. His German accent and grey beard also make him distinctive.

The real irony of this film is, that despite its 'G' rating and suitability for family film, it is not really a children's film. One Magic Christmas is a movie about and for adults, and its final message is that adults, more than anybody, should believe in Santa, because he needs them the most.

Pleasant St. Theater
Midnight Shows Friday and Saturday
A NEW COMEDY
AMATEUR HOUR
SNEAK PREVIEW
American Premiere Here with cast and film-makers present
2" Pleasant St. Northampton 586-0935

The Smith College Theatre Department presents
THE MISS FIRECRACKER CONTEST
a comedy by Beth Henley directed by P.J. Tone, AC
December 5*, 6, 7, 10*, 11*, 12 and 13
Theatre 14, Smith College
8:00 p.m.
General Admission: $4
Students and Senior Citizens: $2
*Dollar Nights
For information and reservations call 584-3023, weekdays 12:30-4:30
Tickets on sale in Seelye Basement
Handicapped accessible

The legend of Santa Claus

Santa Claus the Movie
Starring Dudley Moore, John Lithgow, David Huddleston
Directed by Jeannot Szwarc
Hampshire Mall Theaters

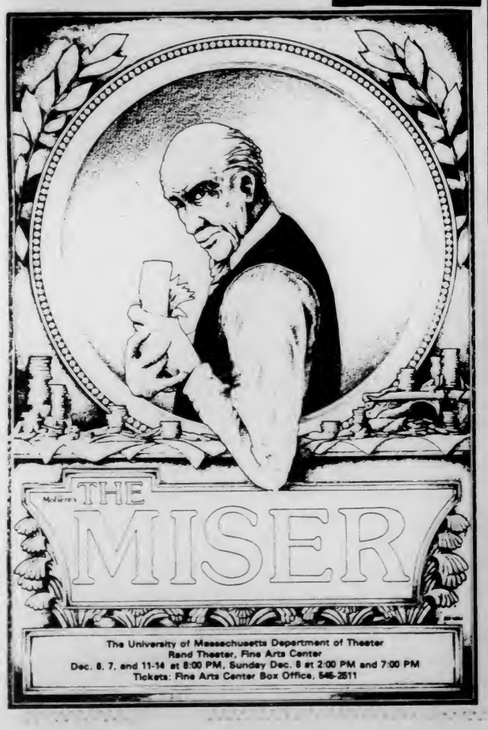
By KELLY SIEGER
Collegian Staff

As in all Christmas movies, Santa Claus has its message, and a little exposure to generousity and selflessness will put everyone in the holiday spirit.

Santa Claus opens with a childless couple handing toys out to the village children. As they make their way home through a blizzard, their reindeer die and they themselves succumb to sleep. Claus awakens to find himself surrounded by brightly-clothed elves who take him, his wife, and his reindeer to a beautiful factory. Thus the legend of Santa Claus begins.

Patch, a modern elf whose assembly line toy production fails, decides to leave Santa's haven and prove himself in the real world. He falls in with an evil toymaker who tries to clean up his image by exploiting the creative elf.

In the same city, on the other side of the tracks is a poor, homeless orphan named Joe. Santa, with his eternal love for children everywhere, befriends Joe and rekindles holiday spirit in the boy.



Children will enjoy this fairy tale, which gives us a believable enactment of the Santa Claus legend. Full of reindeer, elves, toys and cheer, kids will revel in this adventure of Santa Claus.

For adults, the outstanding cast outshines the predictable plot and saves this movie. Dudley Moore—in a role that was specifically written for him—plays the ambitious elf Patch to a 'T.' John Lithgow is greed incarnate as the nefarious toymaker B.Z. Christian Fitzpatrick, who plays Joe, and Carrie Kei Heim, who plays Joe's new friend (and B.Z.s niece), are two young actors whom we'll be seeing a lot of in the near future. And finally, in the starring role we have David Huddleston—whose looks and voice bear an uncanny resemblence to Burl Ives—who gives us a Santa who is a legend but still has the feelings of a mortal.

Children and adults alike will appreciate the special effects. Director Jeannot Szwarc, who was responsible for Jaws II, and Supergirl, brings his knowledge of the special effects industry to Santa Claus. Having the largest budget ever allotted to a Christmas movie, Szwarc is given the freedom he desires, filming scenes four and five times in order to combine effects and spending over $2 million on Santa's stupendous headquarters.

These effects are very successful in relating the origins of Santa. The first half hour of the movie are the most enjoyable of the two hours. Once in the real world however, we see no illusions. The only thrill we get is the flying expertise of Santas eight (minus Rudolph) reindeer.

Santa Claus, the movie is a worthwhile holiday film. The mediocre script is balanced by the special effects and the wonderful casting.

The University of Massachusetts Department of Theater
Rand Theater, Fine Arts Center
Dec. 8, 7, and 11-14 at 8:00 PM, Sunday Dec. 8 at 2:00 PM and 7:00 PM
Tickets: Fine Arts Center Box Office, 545-2511

AmHErst CINEMA
Are YOU ready for our 24 Hour Science Fiction Marathon
starting Sat. Feb. 15, 1986
at 12:00 Midnight
see Eraserhead
The Thing
Hardware Wars
Star Trek II and III
and 13 more films
PLUS our famous Trivia Contest
and lots of prizes!
All 24 hours for just $6.00
30 AMITY ST. AMHERST 253-5426

ARTS

Understanding Leon Golub: his life and his art

LEON GOLUB: Existential/Activist Painter by Donald Kuspit, Rutgers University Press

By Charles Francis Carroll
Collegian Correspondent

Anyone who is interested in political art knows the work of Leon Golub. Even though Golub has been a political art stalwart for more than thirty years and is the foremost American political artist of the later half of the Twentieth Century, he is largely unknown to the greater art public. But now, Golub is finally receiving the public's attention.

To understand Golub better and to appreciate him more you might like to look up a recently published book about him by Donald Kuspit LEON GOLUB: Existential/Activist Painter. A superb book, both in respect to the quality of the illustrations and the quality of the text.

Although admittedly a friend of Golub's, the author, Donald Kuspit, makes expert reference to tradition providing a broad historical overview before presenting his psychological insights and social analysis as a basis for his criticism of Golub.

Linking Golub's approach to his work to Carravaggio's 'destruction of painting' and Courbet's 'cult of ugliness,' Kuspit asserts that for Golub it is ugliness which makes his painting real to the viewer–not to suggest that Lean Golub's painting is ugly, rather to explain that the beauty of Golub's painting is not the idealized beauty, for example, of Renoir.

Kuspit traces Golub's development with four essays corresponding roughly to four stages in the artist's growth and shows that Leon Golub is a complex man and painter caught between Classicism and Modernism and successfully merging the two eras. He states, 'In the Renaissance, regression to antiquity was liberating...For Golub, regression to antiquity announces a new dark age... Golub's canvas is a lens to an unidealized view of the world, not a glamorized or glorified view of humanity, but an unbattering view of humanity as corrupted and dominated by power.

Leon Golub, activist painter, in his studio.

Book Review

Golub renders a 'tragic sense of life,' a modern sensibility which rose from the painting of Gauguin and Van Gogh and can be seen, either implicitly or explicitly, in Analytical Cubism, German Expressionism, Abstract Expressionism, and especially in the New Humanism. Its pre-Modern origins are in Goya and others.

The brutality of both the subjects and the style of Golub's paintings challenges the viewer by drawing us into the work, and sharing with us the experience of the painting.

Thus, Golub's return to Classicism is undercut by a primitive style and political relevance which makes him thoroughly Modern and very contemporary. Unlike many other artists, Golub is not an 'anachronism.' The bottom line is that Golub is an art activist shose expressive renderings of mercenaries, soldiers, police, despots, etc. force us into an intimate awareness of a dark side of human nature that is often ignored, denied, or kept at a distance. There is an urgent sense of foreboding in Golub's painting.

NoHo theatre premiers film

Film director Sanford Singer will appear at the Pleasant St. Theater Dec. 13 and 14.

By DON LIPPER
Collegian Staff

NORTHAMPTON—New York film director Sanford Singer announced yesterday that Northampton's Pleasant Street Theatre will show the American premiere of his latest film Amateur Hour. The theatre will hold two sneak previews of the film Friday and Saturday night at midnight. The director, producer, co-writer and actor Adam Nathan will all be on hand to hear questions and comments from the audience in a discussion session after the film.

Director Singer said that he had searched the northeast for a community in which to release his film. Singer said he selected Northampton because of the "sophisticated" yet fun-loving atmosphere of the five college area.

Singer, who has directed The Misfit (an adaptation of a Flannery O'Connor story) and most recently The Body Politic, says his latest film Amateur Hour, "is a comedy about Paul and Donna, two kids from the America's Heartland who seek stardom at a fourth-rate cable network in the big city."

Through a series of ridiculous events, the couple become television's hotest new terrorists and cause the cable company's rating to skyrocket. According to Singer, "Amateur Hour is about television, terrorism and frozen asparagus". You'll have to see the film to understand what he means.

Singer says his audience can "expect a funny movie. They can expect a slightly off the wall comedy. They can expect to be entertained," Singer said.

THE FINE ARTS CENTER
CONCERT · HALL
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST
Jazz
with saxophonist
MICHAEL BRECKER
and the University Jazz Ensemble I
Jeff Holmes, director
and the Chapel Jazz Ensemble
David Sporny, director
Thursday, Dec. 12, 8 p.m.
Fine Arts Center Concert Hall
Also
Join Michael Brecker and combo for a mini-concert and rap session
Wednesday, Dec. 11, 8 p.m.
Hampden Theatre
Both events Free
Info: 545-2803

THE UMASS MUSIC THEATRE GUILD
DRACULA
THE MUSICAL!
Dec. 12, 13, 14
8 p.m. Bartlett Auditorium
TICKETS ON SALE
at Fine Arts Center, at door
$3.00 General Public
$2.00 Students
A UMass Music Theater Guild Production

JOBS FOR INTERSESSION

The following college bookstores will be hiring extra help during intersession. For further information, call the manager at:

Bentley College Bookstore 617-891-6499

Bridgewater State College Bookstore 617-697-7460

Framingham State College Bookstore 617-872-3658

Salem State College Bookstore 617-745-5300

Worcester State College Bookstore 617-754-3448

Letters

Something new for CATE Guide

When the UMass Course And Teacher Evaluation Guide began, it was met with great opposition. It was called unfair, unprofessional and useless. As time went on, some of CATE's methods changed, but its questionable reputation remained intact. One of the major complaints was (and is) that the response rates are so low that the evaluations are nearly meaningless. We at CATE and Academic Affairs agree that the best way to improve the guide is to increase the response rates.

Previously, evaluation forms were distributed by a bulk mailing process. Five forms were sent to each student with the expectation that they would fill them out and send them back to Academic Affairs for compilation. Complication arose when not enough students took the time to complete this process. This year, we would like to try something new. The surest way to get students to fill out the forms (not to be confused with departmental evaluation forms) is to distribute them in the classrooms. Unfortunately, implementing any new method at this University takes time and effort. There are literally thousands of courses to be evaluated. These are the main reasons why there were no CATE forms distributed this semester. By next semester, though, the support and organization necessary to begin work on the "new" CATE will exist.

Obviously, the guide will not have a new, more credible reputation overnight. But we would like to make this the year that strides are taken toward improving CATE and making it what it should be: a fair and undeniably useful guide beneficial to both students and faculty alike.

Our intention is to prevent any professor from falling victim to a low response rate. In order to prevent this, we ask professors and student alike for their cooperation, so we may soon reach our goal.

Sally Phalon
CATE coordinator

Le Boudoir
Intimate Fashions

wishes all gentlemen Happy Holidays and cordially invites them to attend the Valley's original

Gentlemen Only Night
Thursday, December 12th 6-10 p.m.

Give her a gift that's truly romantic...
Soft Silk Teddies, Pajamas, Robes, Camisoles & Tap Pants
Matching Bras & Bikinis, Garter Belts
Stockings, G-Strings
Night Gowns, Dance Wear, Loungewear, and much more
Refreshments Served
Come join us!

Carriage Shops, Amherst 549-6915
HOLIDAY HOURS: Mon.-Sat. 10-6
...Fri. 'til 9 ...Sun. 12-5

家湖園南
Hunan Garden Restaurant
MANDARIN/SZECHUEN CUISINE
"The BEST Chinese Food"

Boneless Bar-B-Q Spare Ribs
Small $2.80 or Large $4.60

Luncheon Specials
From $2.25 served 11 a.m. -3 p.m.

New Buffet & Sunday Brunch
Buffet Served 5-8 Mon.-Thurs.
Brunch Served Sunday 11:30-3
ALL YOU CAN EAT $5.25
1) Beef with Fresh Mushrooms
2) Chicken Fingers
3) Chicken Wings
4) Chinese BBQ Pork
5) Broccoli in Oyster Sauce
6) Sweet & Sour Chicken
7) Pan Fried Rice
8) Pan Fried Noodles with Chicken
9) Pan Fried Kentucky
10) Hot + Sour Soup

Luncheon Specials & Take-out Service
Full Cocktail Menu
Sun.-Thurs. 11:30 a.m.-10 p.m.
Fri. & Sat. 11:30 a.m.-11 p.m.

10 Belchertown Road at Rte. 9, Amherst
256-0252

Concourse Sale
25% Off
All Plush Animals

No purchase necessary
WIN
Buster the Bear
150.00 retail value
only 1 bear to be given away

Located in the Campus Center

Please print legibly.
Enter Today
University Store employees and their families are not eligible to enter
Drawing to be held on 12/13/85
Name
Address
City, State, Zip
Phone
1 entry per person

UNIVERSITY STORE

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian

ED/OP

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted.

Founded in 1870

Executive Board—Fall 1985

Dode B. Levenson, Editor in Chief
Anne McCrory, Managing Editor
Larry Bouchie, Editorial Editor
Peter Soderberg, Production Manager
Elizabeth Young, Business Manager
Sherry Sharfman, Business Manager

Board of Editors—Fall 1985

Dode B. Levenson, Editor in Chief
Anne McCrory, Managing Editor
Tom Middleton, News Editor
Larry Bouchie, Editorial Editor
Renee Bacher, Arts Editor
Peter Abraham, Sports Editor
Derek Roberts, Photo Editor
Bethanne Moskov, Women's Issue Editor
Kimberly Burge, Black Affairs Editor

The long wait

Elizabeth Luciano

You know what they say about the Holy Roman Empire; it was neither holy, nor Roman, nor an empire. Well, the Hatch's Speedie (sic) Cheeseburgers face a similar dilemma. They aren't speedy, and I've never hung around long enough to find out whether they were actual cheeseburgers, or unreasonable facsimiles.

Thus, I break an almost-semester-long silence to offer the following guide for the fast-food friend: What To Do While You Wait for a Speedie Cheeseburger.

Hum every single top 40 crap tune. Dance. Do a John Travolta routine, spinning on your spine and your skull. Worry that you've split your pants. Be relieved when you haven't.

Figure out how many more people you have to buy presents for. Figure out how many people have to buy presents for you. Try to decide whether it's better to give than to receive. Decide you like both.

Count all the dots on a television set. Lose count at 19,995 and start over.

Count all the UMass residence. Lose count at 38 and start over.

Count all your fingers and toes. Make it to 20. Be psyched.

Memorize the batting averages of the 1964 New York Yankees.

Memorize all of Shakespeare's sonnets.

Memorize your brother's birthday.

Try to figure out a new way to tie your high-tops. Lace the sneakers and stuff the ends inside. Yuck. That looks stupid. Nobody wears them like that. You want to be different, but not that different. Re-tie your shoelaces.

Write a letter to your grandmother.

Write a letter to your Congressional rep.

Write a letter to Santa.

Pick your teeth to see whether you're getting any cavities.

Say "Hi" to that blond from your Food Science class. What a fox. Realize the fox saw you picking your teeth. Act like you didn't do it; maybe they'll think they were imagining things.

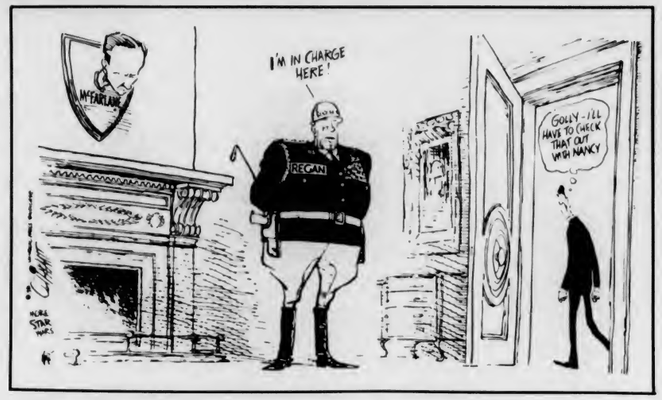
See if you can name all the "bird" sports teams; Let's see...there's the Cardinals, the Orioles, um, not the Dolphins, really...uh, the Blue Jays, right?...and the Eagles. You know there's another one. What the hell is it? Try to imagine a sports page in front of you...oh, yeah. The Seahawks. And the regular Hawks, from Atlanta. Yeah, that's it. Realize you need a Velamint. Try not to breathe.

Realize you forgot to hand in your paper this morning. Try not to sweat.

Realize you have to go to the bathroom. Do some more dancing.

Realize you've been waiting for eons.

Say you don't want a Speedie Cheeseburger, after all.



Say you're not as hungry as you thought.

Say you're leaving.

Walk away.

Elizabeth Luciano is a Collegian columnist.

Due to pressing academic concerns, Stephen Erickson's column will not appear this week.—Editor

Letters

Ready to respond to specific SGA proposals

The recent debate over the administration and control of the Student Activity Trust Fund is unfortunate. The debate wastes energy and fosters adversative feelings over a question which has a clear, factual answer. The University Board of Trustees has the legal authority to administer this institution. They establish all fees and delegate to the chancellor of each campus the authority to operate the campuses consistent with the mission of the university. Given this structure, it follows that final authority for all expenditures from trust funds, including those from the mandatory Student Activities Fee, lies with the campus administration, and ultimately, with the University Board of Trustees. The fact of this authority has been reaffirmed on many occasions by different University officials, including University attorneys, senior administrators, and the trustees themselves.

Students obviously play a vital role in determing the best use of student activities monies. Their active participation in the past has enabled us to develop an outstanding set of SATF-supported programs and services for students on the Amherst campus. Student governance groups have a primary responsibility to initiate recommendations concerning the day-to-day activities of this trust fund. Nonetheless, final legal authority for managing the SATF rests with the administration and the University Board of Trustees.

An anticipated operating loss in the SATF has created the current situation. The administration stands ready to respond to specific Student Government Association initiated recommendations and proposals that would eliminate this situation. Furthermore, the Director of Student Activities and his staff are prepared to work with student leaders to eliminate this problem and avoid future fiscal problems. Action must be taken. It is important to note that the funds budgeted for basic student activities this year will be maintained for next year. Specifically, the monies for the Distinguished Visitors Program, Union Program Council, Pioneer Valley Transit Authority, and area governments, as well as the $252,810 spent for other Registered Student Organizations and activities will be available both this year and next.

Every member of this academic community can share in the pride of being associated with the University of Massachusetts at Amherst. This is an excellent university whose continued improvement has been recognized in recent books, editorials, and both national and regional media. Our success is built on good work, dedication, and cooperation among all elements of this community: students, staff, and faculty. The quality of student life on campus is a major source for the reputation we enjoy. That quality of life is greatly enhanced by the programs and services provided by the Student Government Association, through both the Undergraduate Student Senate and area governments.

Students on this campus deserve to have a strong student government and activities program. We call on the elected student leaders to work with the student body and the administration to this end.

Joseph Duffey
Chancellor

Dennis L. Madson
Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs

Needed: rebirth of Peace on Earth

Charles Francis Carroll

The message of "Peace on Earth, Goodwill to All," will be heard sometime over the holiday season by each of us, but I wonder how many will stop to think about what these words mean.

The kids will play with their Rambo dolls and the family will go out to the movies to see the reruns of "Star Wars," while real Rambos kidnap and kill innocent people in the name of freedom and the real star wars is started in the name of peace (according to Carol Rosin).

Peace on Earth...has there ever been a time in the history of the world when we have been so far from it? Even children who believe in Santa Claus do not believe in peace. The thought of war, particularly nuclear war, haunts us all. But many of us do not, cannot think about it: the thought of nuclear war is so gruesome. This must be why some people can give their siblings toy missile launchers or video games which mimic nuclear maneuvers. They have become so numb to the real consequences of war that they revel in its fantasy on Christmas morning. Still, there are others among us who do think about war, some who are preparing for it, and others who are seeking non-violent alternatives.

Today, the Rev. Mamoru Kato, a Japanese buddhist monk whom you may have seen walking in Amherst, chanting, and beating a drum, is in Panama, with several hundred people from around the world. They are walking through Panama, Costa Rica, Nicaragua, Honduras, El Salvador, Guatamala, and Mexico on a peace pilgrimage to Mexico City, in the hope of spreading the message of peace throughout this war-torn area of the world. I pray that none of them are shot by our "Freedom Fighters."

Perhaps, Benjamin Franklin said it best when he wrote that "there never was a good war or a bad peace."

We must examine the rhetoric of war rather than be persuaded by its self-justification in the name of nationalism. As Hegel so aptly perceived, each side justifies itself, each side sees itself as good. The Soviets view themselves in terms of "the good of the people." And we, if we listen to our President, see ourselves as no less than "The Chosen People." Henry Steele Commager, the historian, addressed this issue on U.N. Day just one month ago: "At no time in our history have we been so consumed with hostilities, with hatred (for the U.S.S.R.), and the other side of that coin...is a war, with spiritual arrogance at the homefront."

We have our Freedom Fighters; we have our Peacekeepers; and now we have our "peace initiative," or SDI—"Star Wars"—system. Are these terms not a blasphemy? When Jesus said, "Blessed are the peacemakers," do you think he meant the MX missile? A number of self-proclaimed preachers claim this is exactly what Jesus meant: we should smite down our enemy, and so the enemy of God, even if it means the destruction of the world, e.g., "Kill a commie for Christ." However, it strikes me that the only fundamental thing about this brand of fundametalism is that it is fundamentally wrong. Having been raised a Catholic, I know that this is not the spirit of Christmas. And as a human being, I know this from every source, decent and sacred. It is not "secular humanism" that threatens humanity, but the "spiritual arrogance" of militarism "with God on our side," to quote Adolf Hitler.

Why, I ask, would anyone resort to the ultimate violence against humanity, a nuclear war, in the name of Christ?

In an unpublished essay, "War as Santa," the poet Robert Francis concludes that "war today, like Santa Claus, has something for just about everybody in his big bag...The restless have a socially approved outlet for their restlessness. The bored have a perfect antidote for boredom. And lovers of violence can be violent with the blessing of both Church and State."

Let us celebrate these holidays by giving birth to a new basis for life so that we may continue living, so that someday we will have a holiday when there is "PEACE ON EARTH"; lest we become our own worst enemy who, as Melville so eloquently rhymed, 'in the name of Christ and Trade... Deflower the world's last sylvan glade.'

Charles Francis Carroll is a member of the Collegian staff.

adirondack music

The Best For Christmas Sale. . .

Loudspeakers

Advent - Baby's the very best in a conventional two way loudspeaker A $250 value new at. . .$169.95 pair

OHM - E2 two way loudspeaker with a five year warranty A $350 value $99.95 pair

Home Electronics

Parasound - EQ25S dual five band graphic equalizer cheapest way to improve any system A $120 value $19.95

Scott - PS99 fully automatic linear tracking turntable a fantastic turntable for anyone $ave $99.95

Parasound - TT6700 semi automatic turntable complete with $70 ellipitcal cart a $200 value $49.95

Auto Sound

EPI - LS81 two way auto speaker fits any car an amazing speaker for even the purists A $150 value $69.95

EPI Auto Stereo Receivers at ½ Price

EPI - LSR 12 AM/FM/ST/Cass features auto reverse separate bass treble controls four way fader plus much more $119.95

EPI - LSR32 AM/FM/ST/Cass electronic tuning bass/treble controls key off eject plus much more $199.95

Panasonic - 668 AM/FM/ST cass "a well appointed machine" buy unit at our low price and we'll include a pair of 6x9 triaxials @ $99.95

MISC. (Walkman; Boom Boxes; Clocks etc.)

Sony - TCS350 stereo recording Walkman built in condensor mike	and much more	$69.95
Sony - FM stero Walkman seen elsewhere @ 45.00	our price	$19.95
Sharp - QT12S AM/FM/ST/cass boom box	a $150 value	$69.95
Sony - Dream Machine clock radio		$24.95
Famous Brand 36 cassette storage cabinet		$9.95

Special Holiday Hours
Mon-Fri 10-7 pm
Sat 10-6
Sunday 12-5

The Store That Has Everything On Sale!!!
15 East Pleasant St. Amherst
MC/Visa/Check add 3% all items
Limited Quanity subject to prior sale

NIKKO SPECIAL
NR320 - 28 watt/ch 3 yr warr
plus much much more
ND550 Dolby Cassette Deck with soft touch operation
A $400. value the hohoho price of $149.95

International Holidays

By BETHANNE MOSKOV
Collegian Staff

Editors note: the information used in this story was supplied by Andrea Kandal and Susan Allen.

Along with cold winds and snowy skies, the month of December marks the beginning of the holiday season. For the predominately christian nation this means Christmas. However, this is not the only Holiday observed during this festive season.

Hanukkah, which began at sundown, December 7, is the Jewish celebration. Although not the most important of the Jewish Holidays, it is an enjoyable celebration for all ages (related story).

Epipany and Dia De Los Tres Reyes or Three Kings Day, is celebrated on January 6 in the Armaenian church as well as the Latino community. It commemorates the nativity and the baptism of Christ, and both occasions mark Christ's "appearance" among men, the former being the starting point of his human life, the latter the starting point of his public life.

This day also marks the visit of the three wisemen; Casper, Melchior and Balthazar, to see the newborn Jesus and bring him gifts. Included in the celebration is the occasion when, many years later, Jesus turned water into wine and threw money changers out of the temple at the Miracle of Cana. Interesting enough, Epiphany has been celebrated as a holiday and a day for gift-giving much longer than has Christmas.

Kwanza, which was developed in the United states in the 1960's as part of the development of Afro-American culture, begins on December 26 and runs thru January 1st. Based on the timeless tradition of harvest celebrations in Africa, Kwanza means "first", as in first fruits of the harvest. The community comes together to celebrate the benefits and pleasure of living in a close knit society.

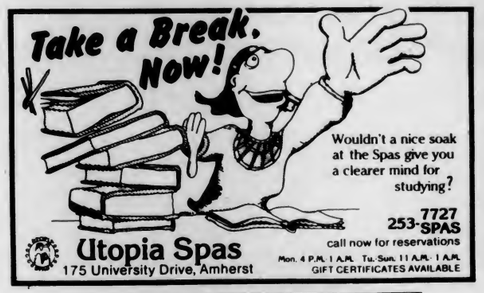
The holiday is a celebration of the Nguzo Saba (seven principles) on which society is based. These include Umoja (unity), Kujichagulia (self-determination), Ujima (collective work and responsibility), Ujamaa (co-operative economics), Nia (purpose), Kuumba (creativity), and Imani (faith).

Candles are lit, one for each of the seven principles which families attempt to dedicate themselves to these principles for the coming year. The tradition behind the holiday involves the cleansing of the mind and body through fasting, making affirmations

continued on page 14

Jews celebrate festive holiday

By ILANA LEVENSON
Collegian Staff



Hannukah a Jewish holiday that coincides closely on the calendar with Christmas, is really a minor holiday despite the fact that advertisers in the United States portray it as a major holiday.

Hannukah is a celebration of the successful conclusion of Judah Maccabees' war against the Syrians that ended with the Jews reclaiming the Holy Temple in Jerusalem. However, when the Jews went to rekindle the ritual menorah oil lamp, there was only enough for one day. The oil unexpectedly lasted for eight days, a miracle.

Although there is a tradition of parents giving children gelt, a small amount of money, it has been severely commercialized because of its timing with Christmas.

An example of the advertisers role in the commercialization of Hannukah is visible by opening a newspaper and looking at the ads for special Christmas/Hannukah gifts. They present the ads for holiday gifts as though the importance of gift giving is

continued on page 14

Holiday Special

Collegian photo by Derek Roberts
FLOATING FREE—A lone decorated Christmas tree floats merrily on its way across a still lake.

Collegian photo by Neil Beckerman

THIS IS WHAT I WANT FOR CHRISTMAS—Maegan Hughes, art major '88, sits on Santa Claus's lap at the Hampshire Mall. Instead of asking for a bike or game, she asked for someone 6'2", tall, dark and handsome.

I would like to thank the following people for thier help on this issue: Ilana Levenson, Anita Roye, Becky Thatcher, Ansel Zinter, Peter Soderberg, and Jeanett DeForge. A special thanks goes to Steve Higgins for his support.
—BETHANNE MOSKOV

See review of "Santa Claus, the movie" on pg. 8

★ Holidays

continued from page 13

and reading up-lifting poems, books as well as singing songs about Afrikan and Afrikan-American peoples.

Celebrations in the hall may include songs, dances and stories from the Afrikan-American heritage. A dinner may be prepared as well as decorations in the colors red, representing the blood of the Afro-American people that is not shed in vain, green, representing the land, and black for the color of the Afro-American race.

Christmas, which is one of the holiest days of Christianity and takes place on December 25, commemorates the birth of Christ 1,985 years ago. Unfortunately the religious meaning of Christmas sometimes gets lost with all the commercialization of the holiday. With store displays, advertising, Christmas music everywhere, even the school calenders revolve around it. Unfortunately for non-Christians this can be both offensive and oppressive.

Some of the historical roots of Christmas include the story behind the Christmas tree which comes to us from 18th century Europe. Farmers would go wassailing, or drinking to the trees. After the farmers were intoxicated on hot cider and liquor soaked cakes, they would stagger to the nearest orchard, thrust portions of cake and cider on the branches of the largest tree then sing. This was thought to provide luck and improve the harvest.

Santa Claus comes from the traditional Northern European St. Nicholas, the patron saint of children, who would visit the children once a year while they slept. He would leave them gifts if the children had been good or lumps of coal if they had been bad.

The holiday season is enjoyable for all ages, from many different religious backrounds. It is a time to celebrate with friends and relatives, and involves a varity of different festivals which should all be remembered.

★ Hannukah

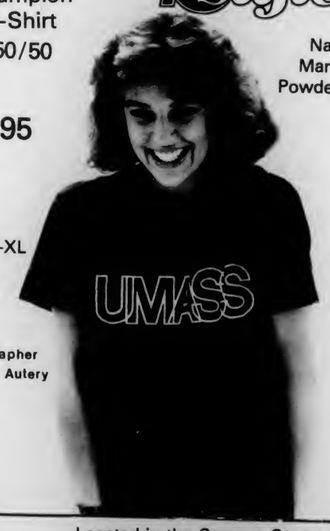
continued from page 13

interchangeable for the two holidays.

The story is significant and its remembrance is important to Jews because it reiterates the constant struggle to openly observe their religion. The story mentions nothing about costly gifts from department stores. Nor does it mention anything about 'Hannukah bushes', a creation by certain members of the American Jewish population in an attempt to integrate the holiday with Christmas.

Christmas, on the other hand, is the most important holiday to those religions that celebrate the birth of Christ. Some American Jews celebrate Hannukah is now celebrated with hints of Christmas, and are completely unaware of the real reasons that they are purchasing gifts for their loved ones and friends. Like many other things that come to America, Hannukah has become Americanized.



VOTED BEST DINNER
UNDER $4
and BEST NACHOS
in the best of the valley poll 1985

TACO VILLA
...Offering Quality Mexican Foods

NORTHAMPTON 21 CENTER ST 584-0673 Bring Your Own Beer or Wine
AMHERST 41 BOLTWOOD WALK 256-8217 Beer & Wine Served
SPRINGFIELD 749 SUMNER AVE 788-0919 Bring Your Own Beer or Wine

STUDENTS
INTERSESSION
$5.00 PER HOUR
Work Available all over New England
in your home area during Christmas Break
on campus information sessions
to be held on
Dec 12 & Dec 18 at Cc Room 904
10 am, 11 am etc
up and including 6 pm
For more information you may contact Student Employment Rm 239A Whitmore or call collect at 617-366-6473
RGIS INVENTORY SPECIALISTS
EOE

SPORT Style
Champion T-Shirt 50/50
6.95
Navy
Maroon
Powder Blue
S-M-L-XL
Photographer Dwayne Autery

Located in the Campus Center
M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3
UNIVERSITY STORE

Gifts and shopping

Different gift ideas to suit everyone's needs

'Change the world'

By REBECCA THATCHER
Collegian Staff

Since everyone knows at least one social change activist and is probably wondering what kind of present they would like for 'winter solstice', here is an anotated list of the perfect gifts for those who are seeking to change the world.

First of all, for the gift that keeps on giving, there are many suitable magazine and newspaper subscriptions. The Guardian, an excellent radical weekly published in New York City, provides news and opinion with especially good labor coverage. In These Times, an independent socialist weekly in Chicago, has correspondents throughout the world and prints analysis and articles from a socialist perspective.

Off Our Backs, a fact-filled feminist monthly printed in Washington, is an inspiring journal on the women's movement.

Two highly recommended magazines are The Nation and Mother Jones. The Nation is a reader's magazines,—it has basically no graphics—but is filled with leftist news and analysis by prominent academics and commentators. Alexander Cockburn's press criticism which runs every other week is so good, it is worth the price of the subscription alone.

Mother Jones is the Time Magazine of the Left. It's filled with great photos and graphics, is well written, and has lots of easy-to-read articles, along with many tidbits of information. And Mother's investigative reporting is often fascinating reading.

If your gift recipient does not already have Capital, Volume 1 to display prominently on the bookshelf (and of course never read), then Karl Marx's magnum opus is certainly the first priority.

Robin Morgan's anthology of the world women's movement is definitely a must, and unlike Capital it is readable.

Also highly recommended is the recently published anthology of James Baldwin's work, Price of the Ticket. Balwin's talent and insight make him one of the most important writers of our time.

For fun and fast paced holiday reading, Marge Piercy's Fly Away Home, Braided Lives, Woman on the Edge of Time, and Vida all combine exciting plots with feminist political wisdom.

Every woman, self-proclaimed feminist or not, should own The New Our Bodies Our Selves This huge book, (which is available at a discount at the Everywoman's Center) contains tons of crucial information on topics that range from sexuality to cancer to the politics of health care.

Food For Thought Books in Amherst carries all of the above material as well as great posters, bumper stickers and buttons.

Collegian photo by Marie Bull

HOLIDAY SHOPPER—An unidentified student decides on which shirt to buy on the Campus Center concourse. The concourse is one of many places to purchase holiday gifts.

Post-holiday shopping saves

By ROBERT JAMES
Collegian Correspondent

I'm always searching for a bargain.

It seems the days surrounding Christmas are just full of them.

For example, there are the sales the day after Thanksgiving. This year I had to work on the Friday after Thanksgiving. One of my bosses was really upset that we had to work on this day. She was upset because she felt that she was missing out on all the sales. "How come Nancy gets the day off and I don't?" She kept saying. Why was she so upset?

The reason why Lee was so upset was that she thought she was missing out on a bargain. If I thought I was missing out on a bargain I would be upset too. But I know something Lee doesn't. There aren't any bargains until after Christmas.

On the day after Christmas, CVS marks down all chocolate Santas 50 percent. Ten days later they are marked down 75 percent. When they are marked down this low is when I buy. You see, if you buy chocolate Santas at full price you are paying something like $10 to $20 a pound for cheap chocolate. It isn't worth it.

If you want to spend that kind on money on chocolate why not get Godiva. (Incidentally, Godiva is owned by Campbell's Soups, did you know that?) To tell you the truth, I don't even think Godiva chocolate is worth $10 to $20 a pound. I'll stick with the tomato soup at two cans for 89 cents.

I remember seeing men's boxer shorts with little Santas all over them last Christmas for about $10 a pair. This summer I saw them in Filenes. They were 99 cents. Whoever owns the rights to the Santa logo must charge a huge licensing fee with these incredible prices.

The Trivial Pursuit mugs that sold for $4.50 apiece last Christmas were selling this summer for about $1.50.

Here is my suggestion, go into any store and pick out a lot of overpriced gifts you would like to give to your family and friends. Write down what you want to purchase for whom, buy a bag of green construction paper, a bag of red construction paper, and some crayons, (glitter is optional). Go home and get ready for what I call "econo-Christmas."

Instead of buying Christmas cards this year, make them. it's not that difficult. If you are really uncoordinated and messy, like me, they will look truly chic. You know how good those Unicef cards made by little children look? Your cards will look even better.

Once you have made a bunch of cards (and don't hesitate to use Santa's logo, I'm sure the F.B.I. won't catch you using a copyrighted logo without paying a royalty), the savings can begin. Take a stack of index cards and write the following message: 'I didn't wont your present to get smashed in the mail, and since I won't be home until the 25th, here is an I.O.U. for a Christmas gift".

You can be generous, you're paying wholesale prices. Don't give your Aunt Mary one lonely Don Johnson mug, get her the whole 'Miami Vice' collection. Your buddy Ralph does deserve the 1986 Madonna calendar.

While you're at it, why don't you get your younger brother the Rambo bedsheets, throw in a towel too. You can afford it.

Now you have the idea, go wild! In the process of going wild you will be doing your part to fight the crass commercialism of Christmas.

Free gifts better

By BETHANNE MOSKOV
Collegian Staff

The onset of the holiday season for students brings with it, finals, Frustration, and fatigue. With all this in mind who has time to think about choosing the right gift for that someone special. So in an effort to solve some of your shopping dilemmas, here are a few ideas and tips for the wise and sensible shopper.

First, the shopper must find a store to fit his or her budget. Now since most of us broke by this time of the year stores like Neiman-Marcus, and Sak's Fifth Avenue are a bit out of reach. However, there are many ways to alleviate your financial crunch and turn those pennies into million dollar gift ideas.

Food is always a big hit. How about going to the local supermarkets and instead of eating all those free food samples, bring them home. Then you can put them together in a gift package of assorted goodies for your friends off the meal plan. One suggestion, do try and steer away from the frozen foods. Melted ice cream tends to ruin chunks of havarti cheese on a toothpick.

Speaking of ice cream if you know someone who has a real frozen desert fetish, how about going to one of the fancy ice cream shops in town and getting samples of all the different flavors. Then you can combine them in a pint container, wrap it up and give it to your friend.

If you know someone who has just moved into a new residence there are an array of gifts that will make their place seem more at home. On any given day on the Campus Center concourse there are usually representatives from various branches of the Armed Services giving out free posters. Who wouldn't be thrilled to have a United States Marines poster on their wall?

Do you have many intellectual friends? Well just imagine the look on their faces when you present them with the ideal gift, a life time subscription to the Collegian.

What about your friends who are lonely and don't receive much mail? Probably the most fitting gift for these people would be to sign them up for every junk mail and free catalog mailing list. This way they will be happy not only during the holidays but year-round. Even a Valley Advocate personal would brighten anyone's day.

And how about the animal lover in your life? What would make them happier than to receive a lucky pink rabbit's foot. With finals coming the extra luck might help them more then an all-night study session.

I'm sure all you males are trying to come up with a true token of love for your girlfriend. Well stop worrying, because every female would love to have an autographed pinup of Slim Whitman.

For you ladies, remember all those teeth that you put under your pillow as a child for the tooth fairy to take? Well why not string them together to form an attractive chain for your boyfriend to wear around his neck.

Last but not least, the hardest people to buy for are your parents. I'm sure all those shaving kits you gave your father, and the plastic flower arrangements that you gave your mother when you were young, last Christmas, are still sitting on the shelf of their closet. Well this year try something unique, how about giving them a grandchild.

Local Shops

By KATHY HART
Collegian Staff

Holiday shopping can be fun and fulfilling, but when you have no idea what you are looking for, this joyful task turns into a tedious chore.

So when you are about to give up and buy that boring tie or the first sweater that looks like it might fit, put it down and think again. There are many unique gift ideas in the Amherst area, just waiting to be discovered. All it takes is a little thought.

Close to home is the Campus Center Concourse, where you can find anything from earrings to t-shirts to homemade maple syrup at tables set up by individual sellers.

And if someone on your list enjoys a cuddly stuffed animal, they are available on campus for 25 percent off.

According to the manager of one Amherst store, "watches are what's happening this year. Everyone is wearing sports watches." The store offers a wide selection of watches, along with thousands of toys for the child, or even the adult on your shopping list.

Another popular item this year are bear feet slippers. "They are great fuzzy slippers with claws in the front that look like bear claws," said the manager of another Amherst store. The store also offers "lots of toys and gift ideas for under $1" for the Secret Santa shoppers, he said.

One Amherst store is offering 25 percent off everything in stock until Dec. 14, and, according to a store salesperson, there are many holiday ideas there.

"We have lots of gloves, scarves, and headband sets that are very popular this year," she said.

And if you're really short of money this year, why not take a picture on Santa's lap and send it home to mom or dad? An envelope to send it off in only costs an extra five cents.

For the person who has everything, how about a holiday gift certificate? They are offered for restaurants, clothes, hot tubs, and even tans.

If all else fails and you're over 21, many area liquor stores are offering specials on alcoholic beverages.

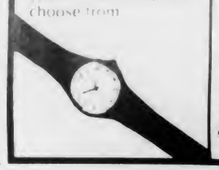
GIFTS

Find it at Faces

A Store-full of Holiday Gifts!

COFFEEMAKERS
By KRUPS CHEMEX & MELITTA

CLOCKS
A fine group of contemporary & Art Deco quartz table & wall clocks



MOO
Wonderful ceramic Holsteins
Butter dish, salt & pepper, creamer, cookie jar & pitcher

TOYS
Lots of great toys

WATCHES
Sport & dress watches
More than 30 styles to choose from

ACCESSORIES
Mittens, socks, hats & scarves

EARRINGS
Silver, gold, brass, enamel ...

A Store-full of Holiday Gift Ideas!

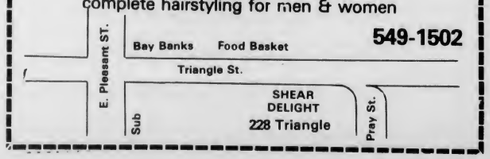
Downtown Amherst
Daily 10-6, Sun. 12-5

FACES

Happy Holidays!

THE SPOKE
A Drinkery to Meet, Relax and Enjoy

12 oz. Drafts 75¢
Pitchers $3.75



Spoke Long — Sleeve T's are in!

Beer Of The Month
Imported from Holland
GROLSCH $1.25

Spoke Drink of the Week -
Amaretto Sour $1.25

35 EAST PLEASANT, AMHERST, MA 01002

WED., THURS. and FRI. SPECIAL
HAIRCUT
$6.95
with Laurie
with this ad/coupon
Expires 12/27/85
at SHEAR DELIGHT
complete hairstyling for men & women

SPORT Style

UMass Mickey or Cheers T-Shirt
7.95

Photographer Dwayne Autery

Located in the Campus Center
M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3
UNIVERSITY STORE

— LIVING —

'Coming out': gay students discuss experience

By NANCY KLINGENER
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts is a good place to be openly gay, to "come out of the closet," mainly because of the University's size and liberal atmosphere, according to gay students on campus.

"I think it's really scary for a lot of people to come out," especially since the issue of Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS) has become prevalent in the media, said Bob Brigham, 25.

"It's really frustrating to keep it inside, to lead a double life," John Arnold, a member of the Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual Counseling Collective. "People have this idea that it's going to be miserable, but it's not. There are so many people here that it does make it pretty easy (to come out)."

Arnold's first act in the coming out process was to go to a Peoples Gay Alliance (now the Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual Alliance) dance at the end of his sophomore year. He said that he left the dorm in secret so that people wouldn't know where he was going; he decribed the experience as "nerve-wracking," and "a big step."

Arnold said that he told his parents he was gay before going to the dance. Going to the dance was "trying to make a lifestyle out of it," he said. He divided the coming out process into three stages: coming out to himself as the "I think stage,"; coming out to himself as the "I'm pretty sure,"; and the stage he is in now as "I am."

Arnold said that the hardest people to come out to are friends from high school who never met anyone who was gay.

"To me, coming out means not lying anymore. I'm a lot more comfortable with myself," said Mark, a 21-year-old senior."UMass is a very aware community. The social awareness has enabled me to look at being gay in a positive light."

The University is a "potentially easier place to come out," according to Felice Yeskel, co-director of the Program for Gay, Lesbian, and Bisexual Concerns. "I think the non-discrimination clause on this campus provides some safety and security," although "a lot of the same issues faced by people are the same no matter where they come out,"she said.

Mark was a student at the UMass for three and one-half years before telling his friends and family that he is gay. He said he waited both because he wasn't ready to to talk about it, and because he felt that he might be persecuted while living in the dorms. "I think it's a really liberal place, but there's oppression everywhere," he said.

Two fears, a fear of not being accepted by one's friends and a fear of reprisal (harassment or discrimination) are major reasons that people do not come out, said Yeskel.

"My friends are supportive because they know me, but if they didn't know me, I don't think they would be," Mark said.

Arnold said that he has never had to give up a friendship because he came out to a friend, and added that "friendship isn't worth anything if it (being gay) matters."

Many feel that the atmosphere in the dorms are not conducive to coming out. "I wouldn't have come out while I was living in the dorms. No way. It would have been frightening," said Mark. Curtis advised that gay students "feel out the floor" before coming out to people. "You don't walk onto the floor and scream, 'Hey, I'm gay,'" he said.

Brigham requested that his address and telephone number not be printed in the student directory because, he said, even though he's out everywhere, he doesn't want to be harassed in his own room. "It just takes one person to ruin your life for you," said Arnold.

Forty-four point six percent of gay, lesbian, and bisexual respondents reported that they had been the victims of verbal threats or harassment on the UMass campus, in a report titled "The Consequences of Being Gay: A Report on the Quality of Life for Lesbian, Gay and Bisexual Students at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst." Yeskel prepared the report last year for the Office of the Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs.

Another issue involved in coming out is fear of rejection by parents, and especially relevant to students is the fear that a cutoff of financial support may ensue. Many students may hesitate to tell their parents that they are gay if it could possibly result in being forced to withdraw from school, Yeskel said.

The University is a good place for students to come out because "there would be places where they could go where they could be assured of some support," Yeskel said. Many, however, see a lack of effort by the University to provide services for gay, lesbian, and bisexual students.

Mark said that when he decided to come out, he went to Mental Health Services and "talked to a homophobic psychiatrist who told me I wasn't gay." He said that although groups like the Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual Counseling Collective provide an important service in peer counseling, he doesn't feel that there is anybody on campus professionally qualified to provide counseling to gay men, lesbians, or bisexuals.

When Brigham first arrived on campus, he looked for pamphlets outlining support services for gays, lesbians, and bisexuals, he said, but found only one for a student-run group, and no information from the administration. "Either you're behind your commitment or you're not," he said. "I think the University feels constrained to disassociate themselves from that issue as much as possible."

PRE FINALS UMASS BLAST
Tonight - Dec. 11th at CHANGES
dance club
Sponsored by PETE
and RUNGIE
Don't Miss It!
Pearl Harbors $1.25
Kamikazes $1.25
Rt. 9 Amherst 256-8284

WHOEVER THOUGHT READING COULD BE SO MUCH FUN!

BOOKS on CASSETTE

(on special display located in tradebook department)

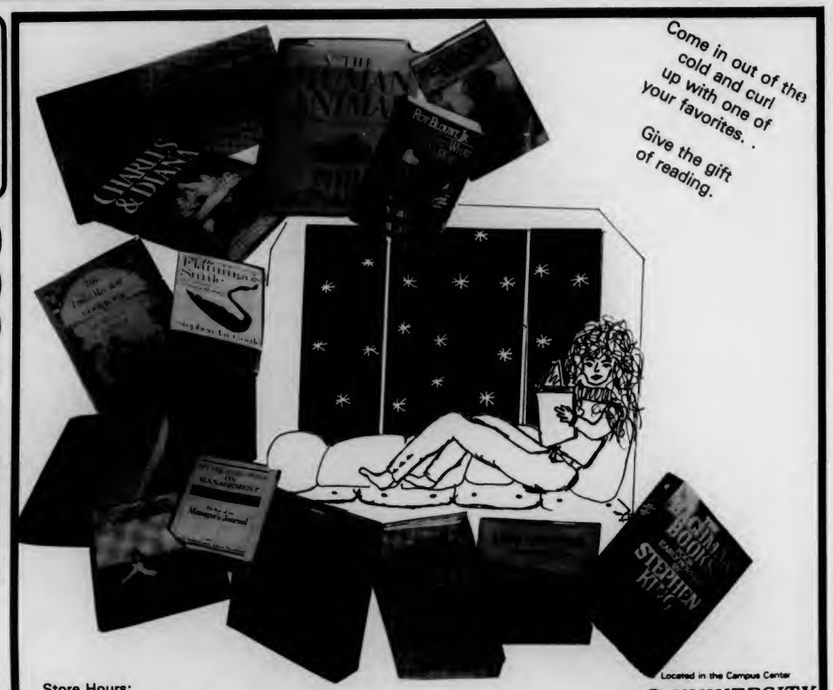
Listen in your car or anywhere you are.

"Great Stocking Stuffers"

Store Hours:
Monday-Friday 9 am - 5 pm
Staurday 10 am - 3 pm

Located in the Campus Center
UNIVERSITY STORE

UMass Ski Club
Bush Bash
SUGARBUSH VALLEY
Jan. 19 - 24



YOU NEED A VACATION
SIGN-UP NOW
UMass Ski Club
430 Student Union
For more info
call 545-3437
Final payments due Dec. 15th

RENT A WRECK
New & Used Cars
Trucks & Vans Also Available
North Amherst
Rent-A-Wreck
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880

SALE
Pre Xmas
25% Off
Everything
Lodestone
4th thru 14th

FREE
Shampoo
& Blow Dry
with any Haircut
$12.50 with coupon
Styles by Deborah
call 549-5610
expires 12/31/85

SOCIAL HOUR
this Friday
4:30 - 6:30
at Chequers
University Drive
JOIN US
Sponsored by the 25+ Club

DISTINGUISHED TEACHERS AWARD NOMINATIONS

DEADLINE: DECEMBER 20, 1985

IF YOU KNOW A FACULTY TEACHER OR TEACHING ASSISTANT/ASSOCIATE WHO IS TRULY OUTSTANDING AND DESERVES RECOGNITION, SUBMIT A NOMINATION IN WRITING WITH A BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF WHY YOUR NOMINEE DESERVES THE AWARD.

STUDENTS, FACULTY, AND ALUMNI MAY MAKE NOMINATIONS.

SUBMIT NOMINATIONS BY FRIDAY, DEC. 20th

TO: DISTINGUISHED TEACHING AWARDS COMMITTEE
GRADUATE STUDENT SENATE
919 CAMPUS CENTER
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS

JANUARY
WinterSESSION
January 2-24
Your chance to get ahead now.
Credit Courses, Credit-Free Workshops, Specialized Programs

Credit courses include Accounting, Public Speaking, Intro. to Mass Communication, Political Novel, Nutrition and People, French, History, Newswriting & Reporting, Managerial Behavior, Mechanical Engineering, Russian Culture, Advanced Federal Tax Procedures, Spanish, Wildlife Law Enforcement, and more.

Credit-free workshops include Beginning Calligraphy, Buying Real Estate, Writing Nonfiction to Order, Your Professional Image, Home Management, Time Management, Osteoporosis Prevention Exercise, How to Buy a Microcomputer, Chess, Cross-Country Skiing, and more.

REGISTER NOW!
Records and Registration Office
Division of Continuing Education
University Library
8:30 a.m.-7 p.m., Monday through Thursday
8:30 a.m.-5 p.m., Friday

Call 545-2414 for more information.

Division of Continuing Education
University of Massachusetts
at Amherst

'TIS THE SEASON
FOR THE
T.O.C.
at the
Top Of the Campus restaurant
enjoy affordable, fine dining
OPEN STUDENT RATES CLOSED
m-f: 11:30-2:00
t-th: 5:00-9:00
f-s: 5:00-9:30
meal exchange
15% disc. w/ I.D.
Dec. 21
Dec. 25

SPORTSWEAR
FACTORY OUTLET
Next to Super Stop & Shop
Route 9 Hadley, MA

WOOL SWEATERS
80% Rag Wool
20% Orlon
Value up to $40.
$11.99 each
2 for $19.99

All
N.F.L. Football
MLBB Baseball
50-75% OFF

VALLEY BOOKS
Carriage Shops
Books at 40-80%
Off List Price
Thousands of new books
on every subject
Art Books, Kids Books,
History Books, Photography
Cooking, Wine and Drink
SAVE ON BOOKS FOR CHRISTMAS
Mon-Fri 10:30-5:30
Sat 10-5
Sun 12-5
549-6052
Check, Visa or Mastercard

HOLIDAY TRAVELERS COLLEGE STUDENTS...
RENT A CAR WITH CASH!
Try Our WEEKEND
SPECIALS
Credit Cards Accepted.
Daily Rate $18.95
Unlimited Miles
FRI.-MON. NOON
700 MILES FREE... $50.00
FRI.-TUES. NOON
900 MILES FREE... $65.00
FRI.-WED. NOON
1,000 MILES FREE $80.00
CALL THE OFFICE NEAREST YOU:
★PAYLESS CAR RENTAL CORP. OF MASS.
180 BOSTON RD., SPRINGFIELD, MA
782-7191
★ECONO CAR OF LATHAM, 875 Albany-Shaker Rd., Latham, N.Y. (518) 783-1364
★ECONO CAR OF ALBANY, 466 Central Ave., Albany, N.Y. (518) 438-2401
★ECONO CAR OF SCHENECTADY, 1220 State St., Schenectady, N.Y. (518) 372-0421
★PAYLESS CARS RENTALS OF SYRACUSE, 50 So. Bay Rd., Syracuse, N.Y. (315) 455-5821
Also Passenger Vans, Cargo Vans, Mini Vans...Call Today

SPORT Style
"Teddy" Sweatshirts
11.95
12.95
Photographer Dwayne Autery
Located in the Campus Center
Open M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3
UNIVERSITY STORE

Ski Mount Snow, Vermont for $15 per day.

Purchase a MOUNT SNOW 6-PAC for $90 and enjoy six days of big mountain Vermont skiing on any Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday (non-holiday) throughout the 1985-86 ski season.

Why conquer hills when you can challenge a mountain? Located in easy to reach southern Vermont, Mount Snow boasts 12 lifts (a summit gondola, 5 triple chairs, 6 double chairs), 57 trails, 1700 vertical feet and 80% snowmaking.

Purchase a 6-PAC at the Season Pass Office with a valid college picture I.D. The 6-PAC is non-transferable.

Mount Snow VERMONT

For more information call (802)464-8501. For the latest ski report call (802)464-2151.

Mount Snow Ski Resort
Mount Snow, Vermont 05356

Christmas Wraps and Trims

Deck your gifts in the season's finest!

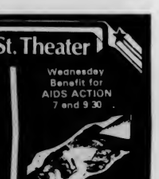
Located in the Campus Center

UNIVERSITY STORE

M-f 9-5
Sat 10-3

AMERICAN GREETINGS

© MCMLXXXV American Greetings Corp.



Pleasant St. Theater

"A WINNER! A sagely funny comedy...both heartfelt and sophisticated. Ruben Blades is a screen natural." —Vincent Canby, THE NEW YORK TIMES

RUBEN BLADES
6, 8, 10 pm (also at 4 pm Sat and Sun)
Thurs-Tues
No "Crossover" on Wed

Wednesday Benefit for AIDS ACTION 7 and 9:30

...THE FIRST DRAMATIC MOVIE ABOUT AIDS

Film-Maker present on Wednesday only after 7 and 9:30
Thurs-Tues at 5:30, 7:30, 9:30

47 Pleasant St. Northampton 586-0935

HEAVY METAL

THIS BUD'S FOR YOU.™

BUDWEISER®/KING OF BEERS®/ANHEUSER BUSCH, INC./ST LOUIS

Dayton Tires

SNOW TIRES

POLYESTER SNOW TIRES (White Walls)	Size	Price
	A78-13	38.00
	E78-14	46.00
	G78-15	49.00

RADIAL SNOW TIRES (White Walls)	Size	Price
	P155/80 R13	47.00
	P185/80 R13	55.00
	P195/75 R14	58.00

ALL SEASON RADIALS (White Walls)

Size	Price
P155/80 R13	47.00
P185/80 R13	55.00
P195/75 R14	58.00

CREDIT 90 DAYS TO PAY No interest — credit established in minutes

SAVE 10% Additional Off with purchase of a set of 4 tires

MASS. APPROVED INSPECTION STATION
Michelin Tires Also Specially Priced

North Amherst Tire & Auto Center
"Full Service Tire Store"
78 Sunderland Rd., No. Amherst, MA
Across from Watrobа's Store
549-4704

Doonesbury

BY GARRY TRUDEAU

BLOOM COUNTY

by Berke Breathed

Bat Brain

By Bill Dearing

GORDY

By Gorde

Freaker Patrol

By Dowe and O'Brien

Weather

Today: Mostly cloudy, a chance of mixed rain and snow in the afternoon, high in the mid-30s. Chance of precipitation 50 percent.
Tonight: Snow likely, possibly mixing with freezing rain at times, low around 30. Chance of precipitation 60
Tomorrow: Snow likely mixed with rain or freezing rain at times, high 30 to 35. Chance of precipitation 80 percent.

MENU

LUNCH
Cavetelli Supreme
Hot Corned Beef on Rye

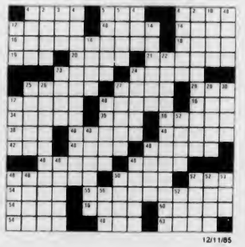
BASICS LUNCH
Shrimp Salad Roll
California Quiche

DINNER
Turkey Divan
Fried Fish/Tartar Sauce

BASICS DINNER
Barley-Soybean Casserole
Fried Fish/Tartar Sauce

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Edited by Trude Michel Jaffe



ACROSS
1 Thailand, once
5 Roulette play
8 Rhyme scheme
12 Roo's mother
13 District
15 Word on the wall
16 Items on a cantina menu
18 Fleming et al
19 Moslem title
20 Starchy root
21 Baghdad's river
23 Bruhn of the ballet
24 Eggs' accompaniment
25 Class or case
27 Kismet
28 Well-chosen
31 Decorous
32 Violin's ancestor
33 Nettle
34 Knuckle ball, e.g.
35 Time frame
36 Cellist's need
38 Ex-ring king
39 Bids a club
41 Upstanding
42 —— Plaines III
43 Soviet press agency
44 Poker ploy
45 Stone pillar
47 Metal fabric
48 —— Song Comin On
50 Sound recording
51 Command res.ect
54 Adriatic wind
55 Wine cellar stock
58 Lye feature
59 —— klopne Nachtmusik
60 Airborne boxes
61 Peter Pan pirate
62 Dance step
63 Geraint's lady

DOWN
1 Joined the chorus
2 Atahualpa's subject
3 Cartoon complaint
4 Gourmet greeter
5 —— Mountains, Mo
6 Pigeon's extinct relative
7 Genetic factor
8 Pedro's pal
9 Hollandaise-type sauces
10 Years, to Nero
11 Harry's missus
12 New Zealand parrot
14 Homestead
17 Hiding place
22 Frozen dessert
23 DeMille specialty
24 Bakery items
25 Serviceable
26 Place to buy 24 Down
27 Nonflowering plants
29 The —— Is Right
30 Scout's shelter
31 Miner's nail
32 Pee Wee
37 Part of HOMES
40 Grand house
44 Harsh sound
46 Act coy
47 Key pie ingredients
48 Sacred bird
49 Take shape
50 Actor Andrews
51 Con
52 Garden growth
53 Salami has one
56 With it
57 Type of rummy

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

R	A	B	I		A	P	A	R	A	F	R	A	Y
I	V	A	N		M	O	R	A	L		L	U	C	E
F	I	S	T		A	T	I	O	N		A	R	E	A
T	A	K	E		W	E	S	T	U	M	P
S	I	L	L		E	N	E	S			H	A	M
E	N	L	I	S	T				S	H	A	K	E
			E	C	L	I	P	S	E		E	D	I	T
M	A	C	H	I	A	V	E	L	L	I	A	N
O	U	S	T		P	L	A	Q	U	E	S
P	R	E	S	S			U	L	T	I	M	A
A	K	A		A	P	A	C	E		B	U	N	A	R	Y
		H	O	L	D	O	N	E	S	F	I	R	E
A	L	E	E		E	L	E	C	T		O	E	I	A
S	O	A	R		E	N	E	I	D		R	E	S	T
K	U	N	D		E	R	O	S	E		A	N	T	S

12/11/85

CLASSICAL JAZZ REGGAE BLUES ROCK SOUL FOLK JAZZ ROCK SOUL CLASSICAL

#1 IN THE VALLEY!

DYNAMITE RECORDS

Maxell XLII 90 $2.00
TDK SA90 — $2.00
New, Used,
Buy, Sell and Trade
584-1580

THORNES RECORDS

150 MAIN ST. NORTHAMPTON

NOW OPEN

Riverboat Village

APARTMENTS, SOUTH HADLEY.
1, 2 or 3 BEDROOM UNITS

BEAUTIFUL MODELS FURNISHED BY CHAP DELAINES & EPSTEIN FURNITURE CO.
•Swimming Pool •Tennis Court •Club House •Shuffle Board Court

FINANCED BY MHFA
LEASED ON OPEN OCCUPANCY BASIS

OPEN SEVEN DAYS A WEEK
10 AM 4 PM

PHONE 532-9461
532-9462

CALL FOR DIRECTIONS

Riverboat Village
River Lodge Rd.
So. Hadley, MA 01075

Global Gifts of Creswell Gallery

arts, crafts and gifts of color

Carriage Shops
233 N. Pleasant St.
Amherst
10-5 Mon-Sat
549-6600

Secret Santa Gifts

- African Artifacts
- Cards
- Cloths
- Dolls
- Jewelry
- Posters
- Pottery
- Prints

LAST CHANCE

Whether your tanning for Christmas or SPRING BREAK

Join now with a friend and get you tan for ½ price

10 sessions/$20

if you bring in this ad

THE BEST PRICE YOU'LL SEE ALL YEAR

Le Bon Soleil 264 N. Pleasant St, Amherst 253-9454

Lorraine Livoni
NATURAL HEALING
therapeutic massage, guided relaxation, and self-care information
12 year professional;
Amherst office
for appointment
(413)665-7577

James H. McManus eating place
• OPEN 6 A.M.-3 A.M. SUN.-THURS.
• OPEN 24 HOURS FRI. & SAT.
CAMPUS PLAZA
(NEXT TO SUPER STOP & SHOP)
Rte 9 • Hadley/Amherst
256-6889

UNWANTED HAIR?
Have it removed the Electronic Way!
Call NEW REFLECTIONS
586-8371
No Needles, No Pain, No Hair

Steve's
A first name in ice cream.™

Why ice cream by any other name isn't Steve's.

Because we make our ice cream fresh daily on the premises in old fashioned churns. And then if you like, we hand blend the mixins of your choice–everything from fresh fruit and crushed cookies to nuts and candy–to create The Mixin, the ice cream sensation that leaves the others cold!

Bedazzling gifts!
A stunning collection of holiday accessories for men and women. Gathered for you.

For Her–faux jewels fit for royalty . . .

silky lingerie that smoothes over her skin . . .

Every Gift You Want– ALL IN one STORE

soft leather gloves in rich colors . . .

a bright leather belt sparked with rhinestones.

Chona

Open 'til 9 weeknights starting Dec. 2

And at Chona Men–royal paisley in regal colors adorns neckties, scarves, suspenders, socks–even boxer shorts.

CHONA MEN CONTEMPORARY FASHION FOR MEN

Bedazzle with a gift from Chona.

CHONA & CHONA MEN • THORNES MARKETPLACE NORTHAMPTON • 584 7803

Governors' Program Council presents

'...LISTEN UP!'

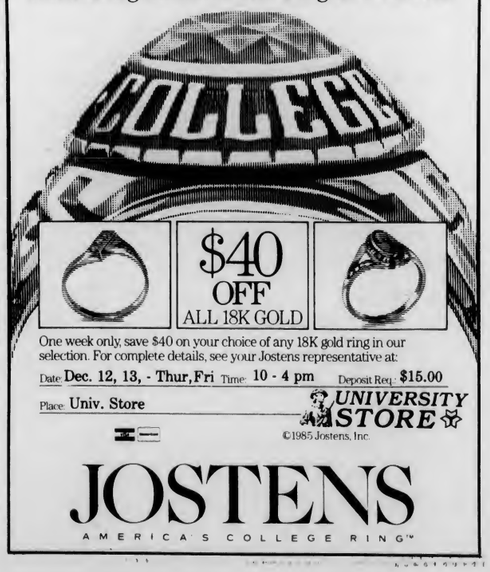
PAJAMA SLAVE DANCERS

CIRCLE THE IMAGE

Watch the Teeth Kate

Good Speed

6 Hours of Music
5 Live Bands
4 everyone
3 bucks a head
2 to tango
one hell of a time.....



WED. DEC. 11
S.U.B. UMASS
6-12pm

$3.50 at the door

$3.00 sponsored by GPC and Residental Ed. West

Best Savings Yet!

Introducing the lower cost of higher education.

One week only, save $40 on your choice of any 18K gold ring in our selection. For complete details, see your Jostens representative at:

Date: Dec. 12, 13, - Thur, Fri Time: 10 - 4 pm Deposit Req.: $15.00

Place: Univ. Store UNIVERSITY STORE

©1985 Jostens, Inc.

JOSTENS
AMERICA'S COLLEGE RING™

★basketball — continued from page 24

backcourt combos in the conference.

"Without a doubt, they are playing great basketball," said Gerlufsen. "But the frontcourt is coming around and showing signs of being a good unit."

At center, UMass has started 6-9 Tom Emerson in every game, but the lone UMass senior has split time with Sean Mosby, a 6-7 freshman that plays much bigger. Mosby has 5.0 rebounds a game and has blocked 10 shots.

The forwards will see two freshmen, Duane Chase and David Brown, start. Brown, in reality another guard in the UMass offense, is averaging 9.2 ppg and 4.8 rpg. Chase, a 6-6 power forward, has played much better as of late after a slow start. Following his 15 point effort against Hartford, he's up to 8.0 ppg and 4.0 rebounds. He too has blocked 10 shots.

But the play of two reserves keys the UMass froncourt. Freshman Joe Fennell (3.4 ppg) and junior Ben Jones (4.2 ppg) have played well off the pines along with Mosby.

"Joe and Ben have been impressive, they've earned their playing time in practice and they're making the most of it," said Gerlufsen. "But there are several other players that are close to seeing more action."

Included among those are sophomore Will Hicks (2.3 ppg in three games) and swingman Matt Ryan (0.6 ppg in five games). Guard Mike Mundy has also looked impressive at times, but also a bit out-of-control. He and Ryan need to come on to relieve Smith and Sutton of the 35-plus minutes-a-game they've had to play a game.

"Those guys can't keep that up all season," said Gerlufsen. "We're coming right along as a team as far as the bench goes, but we still have a lot of progress to make."

Tonight's game is an important one for UMass. A victory for the Minutemen would prove much to both themselves and their fans. Those facts and the others mentioned make it a can't miss event.

St. Bonaventure at Massachusetts

Where: The Curry Hicks Cage, 7:30 p.m. (3,000 students seats available, free with ID card).

The Teams: UMass is 2-3, St. Bonaventure is 3-1.

Atlantic 10 Records: This is the league opener for both teams.

Season Series: UMass leads 5-4.

Last Season: UMass won two games, 69-53 at the Springfield Civic Center and 59-56 at St. Bonaventure.

Expected Starters: UMass—F Duane Chase, 6-6, 8.0 ppg., David Brown, 6-4, 9.2 ppg., C Tom Emerson, 6-9, 4.0 ppg., G Carl Smith, 5-10, 10.8 ppg., Lorenzo Sutton, 6-2, 17.0 ppg. St. Bonaventure—F Barry Mungar, 6-8, 19.5 ppg., Albert Middleton, 6-3, 6.7 ppg., C Pat Allen, 6-9, 5.7 ppg., G Elmer Anderson, 6-2, 13.0 ppg., Doug Turner, 6-1, 10.7 ppg.

Key Reserves: UMass—Joe Fennell, 6-6 F, 3.4 ppg. Ben Jones, 6-6 F, 4.2 ppg and Sean Mosby, 6-7 C, 4.2 ppg. St. Bonaventure—Darren Quinlan, 6-4 F, Rocky Llewllyn, 6-6 F.

The Prediction: UMass 66, St. Bonaventure 61.

MINUTEMAN MUTTERINGS: Sutton and Smith are the only two Minutemen to have over three attempts from the line and be shooting over 69 percent. Both are over 80 percent. . .St. Joseph's University, missing all-star Maurice Martin, lost to West Viginia in Morgantown, 72-45 on Monday night. . .Martin is out with a knee injury while guard Jim Owens has been lost for the season with an injury. .

UMass hoping for full house at final home game of semester

The biggest mystery of the current men's basketball season is why University of Massachusetts students haven't turned out since the season opener.

After a full house of 4,024 showed up at the Curry Hicks Cage for the opener Nov. 23 against Merrimack (over 1,000 were turned away), there hasn't been close to a sellout.

In the last game, only 3,278 showed up to see the Minutemen beat Hartford, 72-65. Against Connecticut, a old rival for UMass, only 3,406 showed for an exciting 78-70 overtime game that UM dropped.

Why? Students may think that games are sold out. Untrue. The games have been sold out for the general public, but over 3,000 student seats are left open to students who show up at the game with a valid UMass ID card.

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS

Come to Collegian Office CC 113 • 8:45-3:45 Mon - Thurs; 8:45 - 2:30 Fri • Deadline is 2 days prior to publication day
Cash in advance • Phone number FREE

ACTIVITIES

DVP - Distinguished Visitors Program outside proposal meeting tonite at 7 pm CC303 - all proposal defendants must attend!! DVP members be there at 6:30 pm

Imagine! Create! Submit! Spectrum Magazine

Fashion Marketing Club meeting Thurs!!! Elections!

Adult Children of Alcoholics: strategies for the holidays, dealing with parents and alcohol. Thurs Dec 12 7:30-9:30 UHS 304

Union Video Center presents: "Improper Conduct" tonight at 7:00 pm in the Hatch. It's free, so come on down!

Free Introductory Lecture: The Maharishi Technology of the Unified Field and the Reversal of the Aging Process tentatively room 905

"Christmas: A Children's Story or an Adult Challenge?" Join Rev. Esther Hargis for discussion, Thursday, 12:15-1:15 pm in 428 Student Union

AFGHANI 100% WOOL SWEATERS

Only $15 in the Concourse Wed & Thurs also Kenya bags - $15 grown - $5 leather socks - $8 and lots more. Ask for Paul for special deals

222, 22 AND CREW

Happy Holidays to Jeff, Chrissy, "The Duke", Jon and Midge, Jim, Pat, Doug and a few ps's like Whitey, Justin, Gail, Steph, Judy and Mike. Enjoy snow and keep in touch. Love Leslie

APARTMENT FOR RENT

Available for intersession and/or Spring '86 - space in Brittany Manor apartment rent $147.00 per month call 256-0866

AUDIO

BOSE 101 speakers. Like new. Info call 6-7917

AUTO FOR SALE

1976 Pinto automatic runs well $500 or best offer 584-5742

Jeep 1978 CJ-5 7 soft top low mileage runs great asking $3500 256-6056

79 Mercury Zephyr 22? mpg runs great, book value $2250 - will sell at a loss $1500 or BO - must sell immediately! - Joe 549-6529

1976 Pontiac Ventura custom hatchback PS/PB/AT, 6-cyl, snow tires, $450 evenings 665-8289 Janet

1976 Ford Mustang $600 or best offer call ASAP Mary 546-8769

CAROL-A-GRAM

Send a Christmas Carol to a friend. Members of Band / KKPsi will carol anywhere on campus or on Frat row for 2 dollars call 665-3518 or 548-5410 by Thursday evening Merry X-mas

"CASH"

Cash for your baseball cards please call Mike 546-6105

EEL SKIN WALLETS

Great X-mas Gifts for the men in your life, unique boxer shorts Both must be seen. 549-4853 or 549-7848

ENTERTAINMENT

Rack-A-Disc Entertainment Agency for the best party this semester DJ's, large screen video, rentals. 549-7144

Turn the Tables professional party/club DJ. 5 yr experience widest selection cal /4 hr. 586-9691

FOR RENT

Sunderland, 1 bdrm apt. on busline. $420/month, everything included. Avail immediately! 665-3440, leave message

Next to UMass. Share apartment with woman and son. $200! Call 549-0024

One bedroom apt: Cliffside, on bus rte. $340/mo. all util incl. mod kitch, qua-tz. bed, laund. 7-Eleven call 665-7596 eves avail Jan 1

Room in house available for Spring semester, Jan-Aug across street from campus, walk to town, deck, washer dryer, big back yard, pets OK. 250/month + utilities 549-5364 Lisa or Pat

Rooms available over Intersession Close to campus, walking distance, kitchen facilities call 549-3831, ask for John or Bill

For rent starting Jan 25 large room in house in Amherst Ctr call 549-3866

One room available in Swiss Village. $215 per month - utilities are included. For Spring semester - starting January. Clean, quiet, on the busline. Cash reward call 256-1061

Own room in Brittany, Jan 1st. 180/mo heat & hot water incl. 256-0783

Two bedroom Townehouse for rent Jan 1 Beautiful! 665-4692 Jen or Lisa

2 bedroom Colonial Village 1 room available in Jan lease available Feb 1 call 256-0693

Apt for rent second sem. 2 bd 10 min from camp. call 665-3571

Room for 1 or 2, central location call 253-3932 Paola/Isabel

Room available 1/1 for nonsmoking female, house in North Amherst, $195 549-4132 leave message

1 room in 2 bdrm Sunderland apt - sublet or take lease - 1/27/86 - 8/31/86 188/month + elec 665-7629 nights

1 rm in lovely Sunderland apt 145/mo incl heat call 665-8930

One bedroom in two bedroom apt $155/mth includes everything - on major bus route call Chris 665-3225 ASAP move in Jan

2 bedroom townhouse available Cliffside Apts Jan 1; Pool, tennis court, terrific neighbors! Call 665-2265 after 6 pm

1 bedroom in 3 bedroom apt available Jan 1. Close to town and campus. $225/mo + utilities. Call Donna at 549-7692 after 6 pm

Two rooms for rent in Swiss Village for next semester call 256-6633

One bedroom apt Brandywine apt Amherst $420 a month inc. available Feb 1st call after 11 pm 549-2726

House on beach available starting January 1st. 3 miles outside of Amherst Robyn or Melanie 323-7079

1 bedroom for 1 person in Swiss Village $215/mo all utils included call John 256-6625

Warm 3 bedroom apt in Belchertown 9 mi from schools on bus route $625 $208 ea. heat included take over lease until Sept. 323-6701

FOR SALE

Studded snowtires on Buick 14" relegh rims white walls new 549-0385

Computer Terminal with modem $200 or BO Dane 549-1449

67 Volkswagon convertible excellent heat, stereo, snowtires. Recent clutch, brakes, tuneup. Warm and dry, reliable 500$ or best offer. Josh 549-7185 thanks

1963 Nighthawk 450 must sell will accept any reasonable offer call Allen 546-6876

10 speed bicycle good shape $45 call soon 546-8996

Double bed vy good cond $45 549-6541

Skis for sale Dynastar Acrylgass ex condition 200 cm w/bindings 360r Tyrolon $160 or BO call 546-7964

Cheap Stereo Yamaha R-300 30-watt stereo receiver with EPI TE100 speakers. High quality and great sound for slow price. 300 or BO 546-4141

For sale 85 Dynastar Course Slaloms 200 cm with Tyrolia 390RD's used just one season $225. Boots Solomon 10 $70 call Nick 549-5901

Kneisel Skis, Marker bindings, Raichle boots 10½, poles. Will break up. $125 must sell 6-8537 Matt

High power graphic equalizer booster 75 w/ch/ch1 7 chnls $80 6-8037 Matt

FOUND

At 4C Brandywine 12/4/85 Friday night I picked up someones coat and I think you have mine. Very important I get it back. It is a dark blue coat, ¾ length. My coat had a rhinestone pin on the lapel. Please call Janene or Wendy at 549-5983 preferably at night

HAPPY BIRTHDAY NOELLE

Hope you have a terrific 22nd B-day! Have fun with Jerry! I know you will. Enjoy! Love, Sherry

HELP WANTED

Jobs! $4.86/hr! intersession. Spring. Apply Telefund - Memorial Hall Basement

JOBS FLORIDA - Hightech, Aerospace, Finance. List of firms, locations, & contact points. Send $7.95 Southeast Market Consultants Inc. Suite 4A, 74 Gulf Blvd., IRB Florida 33535

Put your car to work for you and make at least $7 per hour delivering pizza. Apply Superior Pizzeria 549-0626

Responsible males wanted for work during spring semester in exchange for meals. For more information call 545-0527

Job Opening Womens Leadership Project coordinating spring 86 10 hrs wk $3.35 deadline 12/13 applications SUB 415 or 420 get paid for feminist organizing!

Wine Mgr - Up to 40 hrs. Knowledge of and enthusiasm for wine essential. Call Four Seasons Wines/Liquors, Hadley 584-6174

Summer Counselor Jobs apply * 101 Berkshire House Deadline 12/20.

Orientation counselor positions available 101 Berkshire House. Deadline 12/20/85

Personal Care 8:30-1:30 6 days 5-7 pm, 2 nights 10-8 am interview 253-7387

INSTRUCTION

Private Guitar Lessons experienced and patient teacher rock/pop/folk/blues improv., reading, theory, composition. Your home or my studio. Doug 549-4786

intersession Bartending Courses 4 sections available sign up in Credit Free Workshops Room 111 Tower Library

LOST

Lost blue knapsack w/books only. If found call Joey 549-2792 reward

Gold and diamond bracelet. Boyden Gym/Parking Lot or Stop & Shop/McManus Parking Lot. $50 reward. 545-1309 584-0689

Lost black wallet full of ID's on Allen St. call Christine 549-3631

Lost pair of men's black ski gloves lost in Thompson Hall Hallway on Dec 4 Wednesday please return. Call 546-6791 or 546-6799 It would be appreciated

Gold "Bra"-Link Bracelet on Friday Dec 6. Very important to me. Please return for large reward. Call Julie at 546-4133

Glasses with brown plastic frame in brown case. Reward. Rick 546-7977

Lost 6 keys on hoop on path to Lot 44 from N.O.P.E. call 6-4979

MARVELOUS

U Look Marvelous bumper stickers $1 546-6313

Congratulations Jon! Good luck with Alpha Chi Rho, it will be the best fraternity on campus! Merry Christmas, too!! Love, Nance.

MOVER

Round Town Movers fast reliable cheap call Michael anytime 323-6780

MUST SELL

1977 Red Chev Camaro good condition 4 extra tires AM/FM stereo. $700 call PM 549-0462

PERSONALS

Ski Sugarbush! Hotel $149 call Ski Club now 549-3457

John: $4.86/hour Intersession Spring Apply Telefund - Memorial Hall Basement

Dear Lori: Congratulations on your early graduation. We are very proud of you and know you will always be successful. Love Mom, John, Jennifer

Melissa - Now you can no longer say you've never gotten a personal! Cheer up, things can only get better! Joyeux Noel, love Betty Ann

Xmas idea - Two Lhasa Apso small dogs need a home. If any interest okease call heidi 256-8906 or 256-0971 Tom

Help save funding for your group! Vote yes on SATF fee increase Dec 11, 12

Student Activities Trst Fund is student money vote yes on Weds, Thurs, Dec 11, 12 to keep it in Student Control!

Help save funding for your Registered Student Organization! Vote yes on SATF fee increase Dec 11, 12!

Help save Spring Concerts! Vote yes on SATF fee increase! Dec 11, 12

Don't let the Administration tell you what to do with your money! Help Save Spring Concerts and other student activities. Vote yes on SATF fee increase Dec 11, 12

Eliot N. - I like your style!!! You've got class! - Your Secret Admirer! (Curious?)

HIPERTT – Grow up! Your "girlfriend"

Meryl - Happy Birthday, hope virtually nowhere love Chris and Mike

Will Sweeney: You're the "object of my desire," the general of MacDonalds military, the smoothest frosting on the cake, and especially an 11 in my book! Love always Satan P.S. Get out of bed, and have a Merry Christmas!

Ed Curley: I think I want you. Go to Barnes 12/12 I'll be the one hanging from the chandelier with no clothes on

To Kim P and Anita C I'll miss you Merry Xmas Love Maria

Surprise Billy! Good luck on finals! I love you! Love, Pam Chuck - Rome will be a blowout. I want full details when you get back. I'll miss you. Love, Anita

JOE NOBREGA - Happy Birthday baby brother! What would I do without you?! Love always, your sister Nina

To P.A.F. Roses are red, Violets are blue, We tried to watch Frosty, Now how 'bout a party fro two? Love, your not-so-secret admirer

Alison - Sorry you can not come to Florida w/me but your always in my mind love ever MS

Congrats to the new sisters of Gamma Sigma Sigma - we love you all. Also congrats to our engaged sister! Love, Cathy

Congratulations to the new sisters of Phi Mu! We love you guys! Love, your new family

Alison - Happy Birthday Thanks for being there when we needed you. Love, the SMGhosters

2208 JQA - Steve Happy 20th Birthday! Love Joanne

REPO MAN
starring Emilio Esteves
Thur Dec 12
S.U.B.
at 5 pm 1:50 7, 9, 11 2.00
sponsored by Lambda Chi Alpha

Happy Birthday Karen! Hope your day is special love Stephanie

RIDE WANTED

Ride wanted to Toronto before Xmas share $ call Camilla 549-7515

UVM/Burlington, VT area leave after finals Evenings 665-8989 Janet

Ride wanted to the West Coast (any city in CA) share the expenses, call Frank 546-1041, leave the message

RIDERS WANTED

To Florida December 18 or 23 from Long Island non-smoker, please call mark 546-8393 or Eric 549-6541

ROOM WANTED

Rooms/sublets needed Jan 5-18. Call the School for Body Mind Centering 256-0615

Help, female looking for room for Intersession near campus preferred call Jacqueline 546-6306 eves or early morning keep trying

ROOMMATE WANTED

Apt to share pleasant reasonable ideally located in Amherst Ctr 774-2740

Female roommate needed to share a room in Brittany manor Jan 1 on it's a newly renovated apartment and will have only three roommates call Robyn 256-1232

Two roommates wanted male or female in Southwood apt call Eric 256-1628

Echo Village fully furnished, on 2 bus routes, starting Jan/Feb 256-6809

Clean, quiet hogy shi ruu for $110/mo plus utilities call 549-6396

Female roommate wanted for spring Brittany manor 253-7866 available Jan 1

Tv share double room in Hadley farmhouse apt quiet near bus rt nonsmoker preferred available Jan 1 586-7076

Looking for 1 or 2 roommates to share a luxury condominium in Amherst Fields. 1 bedroom available has fireplace, laundry room, any much more. For info call Harold 256-0912

2 females needed for 1 lg bdrm in house near town avails 1/1 on bus route call 253-2284 after 5 pm

Single available Pafftoo Village $144/mnth great location 549-2877 starting Jan 1

2 females wanted to share room in Puffton apt free Jan 1 call Caroline 549-2643

Female to share room in Colonial Village apt $106 + util on bus route start Feb 1 253-5618

1 or 2 roommates needed to share 1 bdrm in 2 bdrm Squire Village apt immediately 665-2219

Quiet Graduate student seeks same to share two bedroom house in Sunderland. Total rent less than $300 665-8194

Two bedrooms available Feb. 1 in Nohomet, male or female apt is one min walk to bus and Downtown Northampton 187.50 per mo + utilities apt is a huge townhouse on Graves Ave 584-5016

Walk to school - room available ½ mile from campus in North Amherst. One or two people wanted to live with 4 males $175 month. Available 1/86 but move in after finals! Call now! 549-6570

1 or 2 people to fill 1 bedroom in 2 bedroom Brit. manor apt call 256-1378

Female roomate/housemate wanted for a deluxe double in a Main St house very close to town. 256-1223

Large bedroom, quiet N Amherst neighborhood, prefer older student 200+ after six 549-7516

male roommate wanted for spring semester in 2 bedroom Brandywine apt call 6-8 pm Ed 549-4726 also have positions available for Wintersession

Roommates needed for a Brandywine apartment call 549-4902 (Tami)

Female roommate wanted for spring semester call Betsy 253-3371

Female roommate needed to share large room in excellent apt. Must see! Crown Pt across from Jr's, beginning Feb 1 253-5406

Huge Room: 7 minutes to campus pvt bath quiet avail Jan 1 300/mo + call mark 665-2529

Female roommate wanted for Brittany start Jan/Feb $140/mo call 256-6645

Southwood apt - one room available one or two people/male or female call Alan or Brian nights 253-3353

SAFE SUNTANS

Safe suntans in Bon Soleil's Christmas Specials: unlimited visits till 12/24 - only $29.00 or buy as many visits as you like for only $5 each. $2 for facial tanner. Gift certificates specials too. Free 15 min trial session 253-7454

SERVICES

Escort Service available 8 pm - 2:30 am everyday any where on campus. Pay if safe call 5-2123 for an escort ANYTIME

Papers typed. 253-3634

Professional typing. Fast, accurate, conscientious. 665-7602

TO SUBLET

To sublet over Intersession one bedroom (two people) in Puffton Village call 549-7578

Intersession 2 room apt 5 min to campus, bus stop out door if lazy, super place, $ negot 256-1207

One large bedroom in two bedroom apt available Jan 1 $290 mo call ed or Steve 253-9509

One bedroom in Townehouse available for Intersession - females preferred call 549-6621

Intersession only 2 rooms in Puffton apt 549-3809

Wanted apt for rent during Intersession pref Brandywine call 6-7970

Room available in Amherst Center over January $150 or lower Great location ask for Dave 256-6812

Wintersession apt available to 2 (1 m, 1 f preferred negotiable) in 2 bedroom Brittany. $140 each includes heat. Bus route, laundry facilities. Sheri 256-6069 11:30 pm

Cliffside apt 1 bdrm $340/mo starting Jan 1 call Kathy, even 666-8752

To sublet - Intersession, one bedroom in Townehouse apartments call John 549-7799

To sublet: one bedroom apt Puffton starting Jan 1 new carpet & paint respond by Dec 19 call 549-2825

TYPING SERVICE

QUALITY TYPING. Long or short projects. Will correct grammar, spelling, & punctuation. Meticulous proofreading. New IBM typewriter. 549-0367

TYPING & WORD PROCESSING

Next Day Service. Type-Rite 253-5111

VALUABLE EXPERIENCE

The Collegian is seeking correspondents in the Five Colleg area to report on the various goings on in the area. An excellent way to gain experience with a daily newspaper. For more information contact Anne McCrory or Tom Middleton at 545-3500

WANTED

Quiet, neat female seeks a room on bus route for spring semester call 546-6363 nights prefer non-smoker

Local Sorority seeks mature woman as a housemother free room and board Grad student or older. Please contact Kelly 256-6687

WANTED TO RENT

We want your 2 bdrm house or apt will take over lease in Jan call 545-1199 for your cash reward!!

Help! I need an apt or room to share in North Amherst. Spring semester Karen 253-7868

Responsible female student looking for quiet clean non-student household or apt need for spring sem must know by Dec 10 Lorri 546-4392

Male and female seeking housing for Intersession. If subletting please call 546-8026

One or two bedroom apartment for the spring semester. Call 546-4963

Large bedroom in house on bus rte in S Amherst Feb 1 - Aug 30 $172.50/mo + util Mark 256-0084

Happy 21st Dave Welcome to adulthood May you and I bake many racks of biscuits together. Your FFL the big D

SPORTS

Title chase begins for UMass

St. Bonaventure in Cage for Atlantic Ten opener tonight

By PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

Collegian photo by Michelle Segall

University of Massachusetts freshman forward Joe Fennell and the Minutemen take on St. Bonaventure tonight at 7:30 in the Cage.

The University of Massachusetts basketball team dives into its Atlantic 10 Conference schedule at 7:30 p.m. tonight, hosting St. Bonaventure at the Curry Hicks Cage.

"I've been thinking about this game for a long time," said UMass captain Carl Smith. "We have a team that can do very well in the conference and that makes the game very important to us. It's one we want to win."

UMass, 2-3, is coming off of a 72-65 victory over the University of Hartford on Saturday. The Bonnies are 3-1, losing Saturday at Missouri, 67-53.

Doors will open at the Cage shortly past 6 p.m. for the game. UMass students have over 3,000 seats reserved for them, available for free with an ID card shown at the door. This is the last home game of the semester.

"We really want a good crowd for the game," said UMass coach Ron Gerlufsen. "The Cage can be a tough place to play in for the opposing team, but so far it hasn't really been that. We need the students."

And UMass deserves the fans. Despite its losing record, the youthful Minutemen have played well. Down by 18 to Boston University, the Minutemen dropped a tight 73-67 decision. Against powerful Connecticut, UMass lost in overtime, 78-70.

The Minutemen have also proven exciting in the early going. Freshmen Sean Mosby and Duane Chase have got the fans on their feet with their shot-blocking ability. Chase also also caused sparks with several crushing dunks. In the open court, almost every UMass player is capable of throwing down a jam, making UMass worth the short trip to the Cage.

Last season, UMass beat the Bonnies in both games they played. Winning 59-56 and 69-53, UMass used the Bonnies as a stepping stone to A-10 respectability last year as UMass tied for fourth in the league.

With the loss of point guard Alvin Lott (11.9 points-per-game) and forward Rob Samuels (13.8 ppg) to transfer and graduation respectively, St. Bonaventure had several big holes to fill this season.

Those gaps seemed to be plugged as the Bonnies rolled undefeated through their first three games, all against schools with no chance of winning. Fairmont (WV) State College, St. Mary's (MI) College and California State College of Pennsylvania probably couldn't put togther an all-star team and beat the Bonnies and predictably fell to defeat.

However, St. Mary's put up a good fight, losing 78-71 and a game later, St. Bonaventure lost at Missouri, so little can be predicted about their strength.

Forward Barry Mungar (19.5 ppg, second in the A-10 and 10.0 rebounds a game, tops in the league) leads the Bonnies. A 6-8 Canadian, Mungar is the key to stopping the Bonnies.

"We'll try and play him like we played (George Washington's) Mike Brown (an All-American center) last season," said Gerlufsen. "We'll play him close with a man and help out with the guards when he gets the ball. But they still have some solid players outside of him."

At the other forward, 6-3 Albert Middleton (6.7 ppg) of Boston joins Mungar. The center is 6-9 Patrick Allen (5.7 ppg). The guards will be Elmer Anderson (13.0 ppg and 8.2 assists, tops in the conference) and Doug Turner (10.7 ppg), both 6-1.

Like St. Bonnie, a lot of UMass' scoring strength lays with the guards. Sophomore off-guard Lorenzo Sutton leads the Minutemen with an 18.0 average, scoring the double figures in all five games with a high of 26. He also leads the team in rebounds at 5.6 a game and is shooting a team-high 84 percent (11-of-13) from the line.

Smith, the point guard, has settled into his team leadership role, scoring 10.8 ppg and dishing out 7.4 assists-per-game, including 22 in his last two games. The duo are without question one of the top

continued on page 23

Banda, 7 players honored

By GERRY deSIMAS
Collegian Staff

The reigning women's soccer New England champion, the University of Massachusetts, had four first-team selections, the most of any team, on the New England Women's Intercollegiate Soccer Association (NEWISA) All-New England team.

Sixth year UMass coach Kalekeni Banda, who led the Minutewomen to their third straight Final Four and a 15-0-0 regular season mark, was named New England NEWISA coach-of-the-year.

Banda was also named the National Soccer Coaches Association of America New England coach-of-the-year, putting him in the running for national coach-of-the-year honors.

UMass was 16-1, losing to eventual champion George Mason, 3-0, in the NCAA semi-finals, and finished third in the nation for the third year in a row.

Sophomore fullback Debbie Belklin and sophomore midfielder Kristen Bowsher along with freshmen foward Beth Roundtree and goalie Jan Holland were tabbed first team selections on the NEWISA poll.

UMass' senior fullback Sue Bird, sophomore midfielder Carolyn Micheel and sophomore fullback Chris Schmitt were named to the second team as the three-time New England champs had more second team selections than any other team.

Connecticut had three first-team selections while Brown and Boston College had two each on the first-team.

UMass swimmers at Lowell

Undefeated Minutemen expect easy victory over chiefs tonight

By JOE ROBERTS
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts men's swimming team, undefeated this season at 3-0, will visit Lowell University this afternoon what is expected to be an easy victory.

"There's no way we're going to lose, it's like the football team playing Westfield

Collegian photo by Neil Beckerman

UMass men's swimming coach Russ Yarworth leads his team against Lowell tonight.

State," said UMass coach Russ Yarworth. "We can afford to swim some off events and have some fun. Yesterday (Monday), everyone picked the events they wanted to swim in (because) we don't need our best line-up. There's no pressure," Yarworth said.

The team has been working very hard Yarworth added and he is just looking for his swimmers to swim a smart meet with good splits. "We'll practice before (right before) the Lowell meet. We can get away with it against them," the coach said. "This is what is called hell week. It's the week before finals. They come to practice knowing they're going to crawl back afterwards," Yarworth said.

Yarworth looked past the strongest swimmers on the team and talked about the whole. "It's easy to see the headliners but everyone is doing well. The freshman are coming along," he said.

Tonight, the coach will also get a chance to see some newcomers in individual events. They have been swimming in relays for much of this season..

After the meet tonight, UMass will train until December 21. The Minutemen then take off a week for Christmas and on December 27 they'll travel to Pompano Beach to train for ten warm days in sunny Florida. By the time they work up a good tan, they will come back and prepare for a meet against Northeastern on January 11.

In the home stretch of the season, the Minutemen will be looking to attain their goal of an undefeated season. At the begining of the season, Yarworth talked of a goal of being undefeated, now that UMass has defeated two of their toughest foes (Tufts and Springfeild) the goal looks realistic.

"Williams will be tough, it depends on how hard we want to work," Yarworth said. He feels his team could get better even though they're undefeated. "You can always improve. Your best time becomes your starting point and you work to improve. As a team, the attitude can always improve and practice attendence can get better too. I only had twelve people at practice this morning (Tuesday). No one is ever giving 100 percent, but this team comes close," Yarworth said.

Some individuals have been working hard. Peter Chouinard has had his best times individually, but he hasn't been showcased in the meets. Yarworth said of him, "He could be ready to score some points for us next year. He has a great attitude." Yarworth also signaled out some others. "Jim Kuhns has been tremendous. He has backed up Donovan (Drew) with good times in the sprints where we used to be weak, now we are strong. . .Rick Bishop had a real good meet on Saturday. He will surprise some people at the New Englands, but he has a ways to go. Mostly he needs to increase his confidence in his shoulders because he just came off surgery."

Yesterday, Yarworth was still talking about Saturday's meet against Springfeild. "Some people came through when others didn't. We have so much depth. Bishop did well when Payson (Chris) wasn't feeling so well and McDonough (Paul) came through when Jim Flannery wasn't up," the coach explained.

The Massachusetts Daily A REGISTERED STUDENT ORGANIZATION NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY

Collegian

Volume CXV, Issue 67 UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AMHERST (545-3500) Thursday, December 12, 1985

Senator taken from meeting

By BETHANNE MOSKOV
Collegian Staff

Student Government Association Senator Bill Collins was removed from the Undergraduate Senate meeting last night by the University of Massachusetts Police following a ruling of disorderly conduct by senate speaker John Ruddock.

The senate was amending the standing constitution when Ruddock notified Campus Center security to help quiet down the meeting. However, instead of campus security, UMass police later came into the meeting, signaled out Collins, and requested him to leave. This move by the speaker sparked argument and debate from the senators present.

"I shouldn't have been against the fee (Student Activities Trust Fund fee increase) because obviously the speaker didn't agree with my opinion so he called the police and had me removed," Collins said. "His reasons were purely political".

Ruddock, who was not available for comment after the meeting, explained to the senate that he called security because he feared a physical threat was imminent.

According to Dianne Rossi, senate treasurer, Ruddock requested that campus security walk around the meeting in hopes that the presence of a security guard would be effective in quieting down the senators. Ruddock, however, had nothing to do with informing the UMass police to come to the meeting, Rossi said.

"John had called order repeatedly and no one was listening. He had no idea that security had informed the police to come to the meeting", Rossi said.

After Collins was pulled from the meeting, his student I.D. was taken and he was questioned by the Police (photo page three). Following an I.D. check the police discovered that Collins had been withdrawn from the University in November and wanted to arrest him for trespassing. Rossi told the Police this wasn't nessecary and that Collins could return to the meeting.

Following the incident, senator John Crowley requested that Ruddock step down from his post for the night, allowing Rossi to take the meeting over. Collins returned to the meeting for only a brief moment.

Jorden Rosner, chair of finance for the SGA, said that Ruddock's actions were unnessecary and out of line.

"I want to see his (Ruddock's) resignation called for. It is quiet obvious that the speaker doesn't have the capabilities to run a productive meeting", Rosner said.

Commuter area senator and budget committee member Seth Kaplin said that Collins needed to be removed because his behavior was disruptive to the meeting.

"SGA meetings are a public forum where people should be allowed to express their ideas. However, Bill Collins is continually disruptive. Tonight was the last staw", Kaplin said.

In other matters the Senate voted unanimously to amend the constitution, in a vote with less than 40 senators participating.

Collegian photo by Michelle Segall

STEPPING LIGHTLY — Psychology major Kelly White emerges from a cloud of steam as she walks back to Central Residential Area yesterday.

Index

S. Africa viewed.....3
New AIDS epidemic?.....8
Fall photo-reflection.....13

"A repetition of issues."
—a 25-year UMass Student Government Association employee on the future of the SGA.

U.S. education slights minorities

By STEVE HIGGINS
Collegian Staff

American higher education was never the 'promised land' for minorities because education systems are set up to reinforce the values of a society's majority, speakers said at a forum yesterday in the Campus Center.

"The basic thrust of university, elementary and secondary school education has been to reinforce the notion that this is the best of all possible worlds," John Bracey, professor of Afro-American Studies at the University of Massachusetts said.

Bracey said that although education was important to blacks in his Washington D.C. neighborhood in the 1950s, the segregated schools provided the blacks less educational opportunity than whites.

"If the white schools were using the fifth edition (textbook), we had the fourth edition," he said, "Schooling was separate but unequal."

But despite the opposition, the black community considered education "the major issue in black political and intellectual life," Bracey said.

"Everybody was encouraged to go to school as long as you could and as much as you could," he said.

Though Russian Jews who came to America in the nineteenth century were well prepared for jobs in the industrial economy and had better educational opportunities than in Russia, it was almost a century before they were accepted by the educational community, another speaker said.

Because the Jews were bound by the socialist ideology when they came to New York , they were able to exert pressure on behalf of education for themselves, Meyer Weinberg, director of the Horace Mann Bond Center said.

But it was almost 'out of the question' for a Jew to become an educational administrator, Weinberg said.

'In higher education, Jews were a rarity before World War I,' he said.

Elevator repairs delayed

To start after finals

By KATHY HART
Collegian Staff

Construction on the Tower Library's elevator system may not begin until finals are over, thereby eliminating possible problems it could cause to students, a University of Massachusetts library official said..

"My guess is that the work will not begin until finals are over," George Wright, the deputy associate director of libraries at UMass said. "It is really in the hands of the contractor."

Wright said the construction, which was to begin Monday "will not start as soon as predicted" due to a delay in getting supplies and equipment.

The Tower Library is getting a "totally new elevator system," which will make them "much more efficient and responsive," according to Wright.

If construction begins during finals week, three of the five tower library elevators will be shut down.

"If they start, there will be problems," said Wright. "There will be long waits and full cars."

Despite the inconveniences caused by possible elevator repairs, students will find all of the popular campus study areas open during finals week, many with extended hours.

On Sunday, Dec. 15, the Tower Library and Goodell will be open from 10 a.m. to midnight. Monday, Dec. 16 through Friday, Dec. 20, both will be open from 8 a.m. to midnight. Saturday, Dec. 21, both will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Goodell Library has the capacity to seat 500, while the tower holds between 1,300-1,400 people.

The reading room in the Campus Center Concourse will be open during finals week from 8 a.m. to 1 a.m., and seats about 50 people.

Study space has been reserved in the Campus Center during finals week for students, according to Jane Podlensni, senior clerk of scheduling for the Campus Center. Listings of the rooms available each day will be located outside of the elevators on every floor.

Worcester, Franklin and Berkshire dining commons will be open from 8 p.m. to midnight for students to study in starting Saturday, Dec. 14 through Saturday, Dec. 20, according to Josephine Keeley, the acting director of food services.

" These three dining commons will be open or four hours in the evening, and free coffee will be available," said Keeley. "Everyone will also get a treat, a brownie or cookies, which will be periodically put out."

If you like to study in a busy atmosphere close to food and beverages, the Newman Center, the Hatch and the Coffee Shop, though not extending their hours, will be open their regular hours during finals week. The Newman Center is open daily from 7 a.m. to 10:30 p.m. The Coffee Shop in the Campus Center is open from 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. and is not open on the weekend. The Hatch is open seven days a week from 8 a.m. to midnight.

And for the very late studier, the Amherst College Library will be open now through Tuesday, Dec. 17 from 8 a.m. to 2 a.m. On Wednesday, Dec. 18, it will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., and on Thursday and Friday, Dec. 19 and 20, it will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

WORLD/NATIONAL

Deficit bill approved

WASHINGTON (AP) -- The Senate gave 61-31 approval yesterday to a novel bill designed to wipe out the nation's $200 billion deficits by 1991.

A rebellious House, meanwhile, side tracked far-reaching tax overhaul legislature -- possibly dooming President Reagan's top legislative priority for the year.

The Senate vote came despite allegations that the landmark budget balancing plan was "unthinking, unnecessary, unwarranted and perhaps unconstitutional," and sent the measure to a waiting House for final action.

The plan, attached to a measure raising the debt limit above $2 trillion, would require defense and domestic program cuts of $11.7 billion early next year as a down payment on the deficit.

In the House, the 223-202 vote to bottle up the most sweeping change in the tax laws in a lifetime was sparked by Republicans acting in defiance of President Reagan's wishes.

House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., said the vote showed Republicans had "turned their backs on the man who had brought them victory and pride,' but said Democrats were ready to try again with the tax bill if Reagan could produce enough GOP votes to assure success.

The president responded by dispatching top aids to the Capitol and summoning recalcitrant GOP lawmakers to the White House.

"The president said to me, 'I hope you will not let me down," said one visitor, Rep. William Carney, R-N.Y.

Reagan himself appeared before reporters and television cameras and said, "We do not believe that after all our good-

Republican leaders insisted the stunning vote was not a defeat for the president, but O'Neill, D-Mass., had another interpretation.

"Today, with glee in their faces, Republican congressmen voted to humiliate the man who had led them to victory," he said.

O'Neill added, "If the president really cares about tax reform, then he will deliver the votes. Otherwise, Dec. 11 will be remembered as the date that Ronald Reagan became a 'lame duck' on the floor of the House."

The drama on taxes and the balanced budget plan unfolded on the House and Senate floors as leaders of the two houses began negotiations on a mammoth, catch-all spending bill needed to replenish federal coffers for the current fiscal year by Thursday at midnight. In early manuevering, the Senate agreed under administration pressure to drop a $55 million emergency job training program for Vietnam Veterans.

In a separate room in the sprawling Capitol complex, meanwhile, lawmakers labored to draft long-term farm legislation.

Senate Majority Leader Robert Dole told reporters there was "still a glimmer" that Congress could close up shop by the end of the week, even though Reagan was holding out veto threats for any spending or farm measure that he deemed too costly.

Lawmakers had long ago given up hope of enacting tax overhaul legislation this year. They had settled instead on a strategy of moving a bill through the House and postponing Senate consideration until next year.

Ferraro declines run for senate

NEW YORK (AP) -- Geraldine Ferraro, the former Democratic vice presidential nominee, announced yesterday she will not run for the U.S. Senate next year against Republican incumbent Alfonse D'Amato. She blamed a still-incomplete federal investigation of her congressional financial reports.

"There was only one factor in this decision," the former three-term congresswoman said at a news conference. Had the U.S. Justice Department investigation been completed, "I would have been a candidate," she said.

Ferarro's decision not to enter the race capped months of speculation and left the field open for a Democratic challenger to D'Amato, who leads in polls. She was the most prominent Democrat known to be considering the race.

"It is with great reluctance that I have concluded not to be a candidate for the United States Senate," Ferraro told reporters. But, she said: "This is a final and unequivocal decision."

Gov. Mario Cuomo said: "What she's really saying is, I think, that, 'Our whole family went through an awful lot of harassment, an awful lot of pain and apparently it's not over."

Staff

Night Editor Steve Higgins
Copy Editor Nancy Stern
Layout Tech Conor Plunkett
Photo Tech Michelle Segall
Production Supervisor Conor Plunkett
Production: Karlin Isele, Kelly Sieger, Rob Catalano, Leslie Nakajima, Peter Soderberg, Ken Levinson, Dan Remillard.

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian (USPS permit #58), a Registered Student Organization at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, is published Monday through Friday excluding holidays, exams and vacations periods. Content is determined solely by the Collegian Board of Editors without prior approval from University administrators, faculty or staff. Operations are funded solely by advertising and subscription revenue. Subscriptions and advertising rates are available at 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Mass. 01003, (413) 545-3500. Postmaster: send address changes to the above address.

AP Laserphoto

PROTEST BEHIND BARBED WIRE- Loyalist leaders approach a barbed wire barricade surrounding Stormont Castle near Belfast Wednesday. the Loyalists were protesting against a meeting at the castle between British and Irish Ministers, to implement the recent Anglo-Irish Accord.

Marcos to run with former critic; opposition forms united ticket

MANILA (AP) - The opposition united behind Corazon Aquino as its presidential candidate yesterday and Ferdinand E. Marcos chose as his running mate a former foreign minister whom he fired last March for criticizing him.

Marcos, who has been president for 20 years, and Aquino, who blames Marcos for her husband's assassination in 1983, will face each other in a special presidential election Feb. 7. Benigno Aquino was the president's main political foe.

Doubts remain about whether the election will take place. A Supreme Court hearing on its constitutionality is set for next week, and some opposition leaders speculate that Marcos may influence the court to call it off.

Aquino, 52, and the other leading opposition candidate, former Sen. Salvador H. Laurel, 56, settled a political dispute and showed up at the National Election Commission offices an hour before the midnight filing deadline.

They changed the presidential candidacies both had registered and filed for president and vice president, with Mrs. Aquino changing her affiliation to represent Laurel's party. About 200 supporters applauded and cheered them on.

"This is the ticket that scares the daylights out of Marcos," said Homobono Adaza, an opposition member of the National Assembly.

Marcos, 68, chose Arturo Tolentino, 75, as his vice presidential candidate and political successor. Tolentino, fired as foreign minister for criticizing the president's policies, has said he believes the election is illegal.

The president scheduled the vote 13 months ahead of time as a means of demonstrating his popularity to critics - notably his main ally, the United States. The constitution provides for a special election only if the president dies, is disabled or impeached or if he resigns before it is held, which Marcos has refused to do.

Delegates to a convention of the ruling New Society Movement cheered the choice of Tolentino louder and longer than any portion of the president's speech, which outlined his program and accused his opponents of supporting communist terrorism.

The Phillippines faces a growing communist insurgency, and the United States has urged that the military be reorganized to deal with it.

SALE
Pre Xmas
25% Off
Everything
Lodestone
4th thru 14th

WHY KEG BEER TASTES BETTER THAN COOKED BEER.

Ask most beer drinkers, and they'll likely agree: nothing tastes better than beer from a keg.

Ever since the days of Frederic Miller's original Plank Road Brewery, keg beer has always been fresher. That's because it isn't cooked to preserve it like most bottled and canned beers.

Well, now there's a beer that delivers that same fresh draft taste in a bottle. A beer specially cold-filtered instead of cooked, so it tastes like it was drawn straight from the keg.

Plank Road Original Draught. Keg beer in a bottle.

PLANK ROAD
Original Draught ™

©1985 Miller Brewing Co. Milwaukee, WI

RENT A WRECK
New & Used Cars
Trucks & Vans Also Available
North Amherst
Rent-A-Wreck
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880

Collegian Photo By Michelle Segall

DOWN TO EARTH ART- Senior Amherst College art major Bob Hepner works on his portfolio in front of Humphries Hall on Snell Street.

SGA office manager to retire

Collegian photo by Michelle Segall

SGA Office Manager Eunice Konieczny.

By ANITA ROYE
Collegian Staff

After 25 years of answering phones, filing agendas, and aiding students and staff, Eunice Konieczny, office manager of the Student Government Association office in the Student Union Building, is retiring at the end of January.

Over the span of 25 years, Konieczny said the "atmosphere has become more political in the office," adding that she has learned how to stay neutral in all of the SGA debates and conflicts.

"It's been a lot of excitement," Konieczy said. She recalls that the sixties were an especially memorable time at the SGA office.

"There were a lot of strikes back then, and the office was taken over by student leaders from neighboring colleges, (when it was) the regional headquarters." Konieczny said that time was especially tense in the office.

Because people fail to learn from the previous mistakes of others, Konieczny said she views the future of the SGA office as being "a repetition of issues."

The best part of her job, she said, has been working with students. Besides offering technical advice, she was always willing to help with a personal problem.

Michael Cerrato, student senator and president of Northeast Area Government, said Konieczny "remembers where everything is in the office." Cerrato described Konieczny overall as "wonderful", and an "office mom."

"The calm spot of the day," is the way Chris Alibrandi, student coordinator for the Student Center for Educational Research and Advocacy described working with Konieczny. Alibrandi added that Konieczny is "understanding and genuine, and that's what I'll miss most."

Debbie Piltch, director of SCERA, said that 'without Eunice's help, I never would had made it here in my first six months." Piltch summed up everyone's feelings by adding that Konieczny "will be very much missed."

Konieczny said she is looking forward to retirement and traveling with her husband to Florida soon and later to Alaska.

Collegian Photo By Derek Roberts

Undergraduate Student Government Association Senator Bill Collins shows his student identification card to a Univeristy of Massachusetts police officer following his removal from last night's senate meeting. After checking Collins' student status, police discovered he had been withdrawn from the University since November.

Prof cites distortion

By NANCY KLINGENER
Collegian Staff

The media has given the American public a false impression that turmoil is rocking white South Africa, according to a University of Massachusetts professor who recently returned from a two-week stay in South Africa.

"South Africa is not coming apart," political science professor Karl Ryavec said. American TV has presented a misleading picture, and many whites live in South Africa without apparent concern about the violence in the townships, he said.

"What you see on TV is occurring only in the black townships. The white areas are completely free of revolutionary violence," Ryavec said.

In the city of Johannesburg, the only indication that the nearby black township of Soweto even exists is the occasional whiff of coal smoke, he said.

All blacks have to leave the cities at night, and those allowed in to work, mostly women, are carefully cleared, Ryavec said. "They filter out all the arms and bombs before they get to Jo'burg," he said.

Ryavec returned Dec. 7 from a trip paid for by the South Africa Foundation, which is unaffiliated with the South African government. Ryavec was one of 11 people on the trip, who were brought in because, he said, "they want to get people there, people they do not think are radicals, to see the situation."

Other members of the group included the head of the school board from Little Rock, Arkansas and a woman who had been an assistant to former President Carter.

Ryavec compared South Africa to Russia, saying that, "in both countries, you have an elite unabashedly and sincerely living a great myth," and "they are very resentful and fearful of the outside world, but also determined not to be ordered about by that outside world."

United States firms pulling out of South Africa has very little effect on their economy, Ryavec said, because American investments are quickly replaced by West German, British, and Japanese businesses. He said that those countries have always had more industry in South Africa, and that the reaction of the international financial community has more effect on them than American businesses withdrawing.

Noted scientists receive tenure

The department of Computer and Information Science at the University of Massachusetts received the green light from the Board of Trustees last week to offer appointments of full professors with tenure, the University's top faculty position, to two "world famous" scientists.

Dean of the Faculty of Natural Sciences and Mathematics, Frederick Byron, said the appointments, if accepted, would "greatly strengthen the capabilties of the program."

The scientists being recruited are Arnold Rosenberg, a theoretical mathematician at Duke University in North Carolina, and Robin Popplestone, a specialist in robotics and artificial intelligence at the University of Edinburgh in Scotland.

Tenure, a life-time guarantee of employment, is usually given after seven years of work, based on the merits of a faculty member's research, teaching and publications. Byron said offers of tenure to outside professors were granted "only to people who have established very major reputations." —LESLEY CLARK

Trees cut, stolen

Two cedar trees were reported cut down and stolen Tuesday morning from the area next to Hampden Dining Commons. "They were probably used for Christmas trees," a University of Massachusetts police officer said.

In other police reports:

A 63-year-old man was issued a trespassing notice, arrested and charged with being a disorderly person, Tuesday afternoon in the Campus Center Concourse. He is being held on $1000 bail, police said.

The cage on the first floor of Totman Physical Education Building received minor damages in an attempted break-in Tuesday. The cage contained sports equipment, nothing was taken, police said.

—JEANETTE DeFORGE

TRADER FRED'S

LABELS FOR LESS

BRING IN ONE CAN OF FOOD FOR THE NEEDY
WE'LL TAKE 10% OFF YOUR PURCHASE

Ladies and Mens
SWEATERS
Buy one for our low regular price get the second for ½ price
- 10% not honored on sweaters
- higher price prevails

☐ Mens Oxford Shirt & Silk Tie Special "Great Gift Idea" $14.99 set

☐ Mens Angel Flight 100% Cotton Shirts Reg. $24 SPECIAL... $9.99

☐ Mens Quilted Flannels Reg. $24 Our Price $14.99 SPECIAL... $12.99

☐ Herman Survivor Waterproof Boots Reg. $85 OUR PRICE... $49.95

☐ KENYA BAGS.... Great Gift Item $14.99

LADIES

☐ Gitano Ladies Floral Print Slacks Reg. $36	OUR PRICE $19.99
☐ Forenza Denim Jeans Reg. $36	OUR PRICE $16.99
☐ Unleaded Jeans Reg. 36.00	OUR PRICE $15.99
☐ Oversized Shaker Knit Sweaters Reg. $32	OUR PRICE $15.99

Mens Angel Flight & McGregor WOOL SWEATERS
assorted styles & colors
Reg. $32 SPECIAL $14.99 not included on ½ price sale

MEN

☐ Heavyweight Chamois Shirts	$14.99 or 2 for $25
☐ Zepplin Reg. $28 Oversized Fashion Shirts	OUR PRICE $14.99
☐ Zepplin Reg. $28 100% Cotton Canvas Slacks	OUR PRICE $12.99
☐ Town & Country Long Sleeved Printed T's Reg. $16	OUR PRICE $9.99 2 for $18

Remember...If you didn't buy it at Trader Fred's you paid too much!

48 North Pleasant St.
Basement Store below Steve's

Hours: 9:30 - 9:00 Daily

La Cazuela

Pearl Street

TONIGHT
Thursday Dec 12th

Direct from the Stevie Ray Vaughn Tour
JOHNNY COPELAND
The Texas Twister
only $6.00 at the door
plus
Bill & Lisa from WMUA

Wednesday Dec. 18th
Boogie Christmas Party with EIGHT TO THE BAR

Thursday Dec 19th
THE DEL FUEGOS
plus
Enigma Recording Artists
THE OUTLETS
Tix $7.00 in advance

10 PEARL STREET NORTHAMPTON, MA 413 584-7771

UMass Ski Club
Bush Bash
SUGARBUSH VALLEY
Jan. 19 - 24

YOU NEED A VACATION
SIGN-UP NOW
UMass Ski Club
430 Student Union
For more info
call 545-3437
Final payments due Dec. 15th

SPORT Style

V-Neck Sweater
14.95
Embroidered Logo

Photographer Dwayne Autery
M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3

Located in the Campus Center
UNIVERSITY STORE

EVEN BEFORE YOU PACK UP, YOU COULD PICK UP THE AMERICAN EXPRESS CARD.

Who says you can't take it with you? After four years of college, you've got a lot of things. And one more could be the American Express® Card.

Because if you're a senior and you've accepted a $10,000 career-oriented job, you could get the American Express Card.

That's it. No strings. No gimmicks. (And even if you don't have a job right now, don't worry. This offer is still good for 12 months after you graduate.)

If it sounds like the Card is a little easier for seniors to get right now, you're right.

But this is a way that American Express can show that we believe in your future. And as you graduate and go up the ladder, we'd like to come along.

The Card is great for business. It can help you begin to establish your credit history. And, in a little less serious vein, the Card can be a lot of fun. Use it for vacations, for a night on the town, or just a little shopping.

So call 1-800-THE-CARD and ask to have a Special Student Application sent to you. Or look for one on campus.

The American Express Card. Don't leave school without it.℠

© 1985 American Express Travel Related Services Company, Inc.

VALLEY SPIRITS
Rte. 116, Sunderland

BEER SPECIALS
Masters III. . . . .$4.29 6-pk.
Labatts. . . . .$3.69 6-pk.
Bud Kegs. . . . .$40.00 ½
$23.00 ¼

CHAMPAGNE SPECIALS
L. Roederer nv Brut. $14.99
2 for $25.00
Codorniu Brut Clasico. $4.99
George DuBoeuf Beaujolais Village. $5.49

Polygraphs ordered

WASHINGTON (AP) – In the wake of spy scandals, President Reagan has ordered that lie detector tests be given to government employees, ranging all the way up to Cabinet secretaries, with access to highly secret information.

Even as the president's action – taken Nov. 1 but kept secret – was disclosed yesterday, Secretary of State George P. Shultz was described as being opposed to using lie detectors, whose reliability has been questioned and are viewed by some as an invasion of privacy.

Would Shultz submit to a lie detector test? "I can't answer," said State Department spokesman Charles Redman. "I don't know."

"As a matter of principle, he is against the idea," said a State Department official who declined to be identified. The official said Shultz – now traveling in Europe – has held that view for a long time, and opposes the use of lie detectors not only on himself but on others.

White House spokesman Larry Speakes said he did not know how many people would be required to take the tests, but the Los Angeles Times, which first revealed Reagan's decision, said that up to 10,000 people could be affected, including 4,000 people at the State Department.

Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., denounced Reagan's "sudden secret order" as "contrary to the cautious approach to polygraph tests that everybody else has taken in both houses of Congress and at the Department of Defense."

Speakes said the tests "will be applied to a selective number of officials who have highest levels of access to classified information, especially communications security and other compartmentalized information."

Compartmentalization is a procedure under which a person with a security clearance is permitted to see only those secrets which are pertinent to his work so if such a person became a spy he would not be able to give a foreign power the whole picture.

"The test will be mandatory for people who have to obtain clearances for such sensitive information," Speakes said. Thus, it would include government contractors as well as employees.

"This doesn't include everybody with security clearances but it includes the highest level," Speakes said of the number likely to be required to take polygraphs.

People who already have security clearances for highly secret information would be subject to randomly administered lie detector tests from time to time, Speakes said.

Bermuda. Where to find the class when class is out.

Bermuda College Weeks. March 2 to April 5, 1986.

This spring, come relax on long pink beaches next to a soothing ocean.
Or explore the inroads and inlets of our quaint island by moped.
Appreciate a quiet... miles and miles from clutter and crowds.
Or dance madly to the vibrant music of local steel and calypso bands.
Leave school far, far behind you.
Or come party with your friends on our complimentary cruises and enjoy lunches at our most luxurious hotels.
Come bask in the leisurely pace of our beautiful island.
Or swim, sail, snorkel, play golf and tennis to exhaustion.
Come celebrate in style. Or drink in our sophisticated atmosphere.
It's all here, in Bermuda this spring. Call your travel agent for details.

Bermuda. Now

NOW OPEN
Riverboat Village
APARTMENTS, SOUTH HADLEY.
1, 2 or 3 BEDROOM UNITS
BEAUTIFUL MODELS FURNISHED BY CHAP DeLAINES & EPSTEIN FURNITURE CO
•Swimming Pool •Tennis Court •Club House •Shuffle Board Court
FINANCED BY MHFA
LEASED ON OPEN OCCUPANCY BASIS
FAMILY HOUSING FOR FISH AND APPEL
OPEN SEVEN DAYS A WEEK
10 AM 4 PM
PHONE 532-9461
532-9462
CALL FOR DIRECTIONS
Riverboat Village
River Lodge Rd
So Hadley MA 01075

CLASSICAL JAZZ REGGAE BLUES ROCK SOUL FOLK JAZZ ROCK SOUL CLASSICAL
#1 IN THE VALLEY!
DYNAMITE RECORDS
Maxell XLII90 $2.00
TDK SA90 – $2.00
New, Used,
Buy, Sell and Trade
584-1580
THORNES MARKET PLACE
190 MAIN ST. NORTHAMPTON

GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY
Seduce Her
with Cool Diamonds. . .
Make Her Melt
with Hot Gold. . .
Charm Her
with Sweet Silver. . .
40-70% off
for
YOU
Golden Opportunity
13 N. Pleasant St., Amherst
at
Lodestone

"We wish you peace and joy, now, and in the coming year."
This is the message translated into 23 languages.

In a world of conflict, we must remember that the power to change tomorrow is in each of us now. If we are racist, intolerant and narrow-minded, then our world of tomorrow can not expect to be any better. Let's all work for a better tomorrow, today.
Human kindness, it doesn't hurt.
Jose Tolson — Linda Velasquez

African Students Association, Asian Student Association, AHORA/Bilingual Collegiate Program, Commuter Area Government, Dean of Students Office, Hillel, Office of Third World Affairs, SCERA, Student Activities Office, and the United Christian Foundation, extends

A Multi-Cultural Holiday Message

Paid Advertisement

Desejamos Lhes Paz e Alegria Agora e Durante o Próximo Ano
PORTUGESE

آرزی شادی وصلح در سال نو
IRAN

אנו מאחלים לכולכם אושר ושלום,
עתה ובשנה החדשה הבאה עליכו לסובה
HEBREW

Siningowenela Uyuyo Nozolo Ngoku Nakwizesha Elizayo
SO. AFRICA: XHOSA

हम सब आप लोग के लिए
इस साल और हमेशा, सुख और शान्ती
आहते है।
HINDI: NATIONAL LANGUAGE OF INDIA

தமிழ்நாடும் உலகம் புத்தாண்டில்
அனைத்தும் மகிழ்ச்சியும் கொண்டு
மலர்க.
TAMIL: SO. INDIA

አዲሱ ዓመት የሰላምና የጸጥታ ዘመን
እንዲሆንላችሁ ምኞታችንን እንገልጻለን
AMHARIC-OFFICIAL ETHIOPIAN LANGUAGE

We Wish You Peace and Joy, Now, and Thru-out the Coming Year.
ENGLISH SPEAKING COUNTRIES

PEACE ON EARTH

Sinifisela Injabulo Nokuthula Manje Nakunyaka Ozayo
SO. AFRICA: ZULU

CHÚC CÁC BẠN MỘT NĂM MỚI BÌNH AN, THỊNH VƯỢNG VÀ HẠNH PHÚC VIETNAM

نتمنى لكم السلام والسعادة الآن وخلال العام القادم
ARABIC

ನಿಮಗೆ ನಿಮಗೆ ಮತ್ತು ಮುಂದೆ
ಶಾಂತಿಯಿಂದ ಮತ್ತು ಸಂತೋಷದಿಂದ
ಹಾಗೂ ಸುಖದಿಂದ ಇರಲಿ.
KANNADU: SO. INDIA

사랑해에 복많이 받으세요
KOREA

Les Deseamos Paz y Alegria Ahora y Durante el Ano Nuevo
THE SPANISH SPEAKING COUNTRIES

Con L'Augurio Di Pace E Di Felicita' per L'Anno Venturo
ITALIAN

Nous Vous Souhaitous Une Très Heureuse Année 86 Remplie De Joie Et De Paix.
FRENCH

Życzę pokoju, radości, Teraz i w roku przyszłym
POLISH

Wir Wunschen Euch Frieden und Freude, Jetzt, Sowie im Kommenden Jahr!
GERMANY

Καλή Χρονιά με Ειρήνη και Χαρά
Τώρα και την Επόμενη Χρονιά GREEK

恭賀新年
平安快樂
年年如意 CHINESE

Мы желаем вам мира и радости, сейчас и в будущем году.
RUSSIAN

Keruelotsa Boitsholo Lekagiso Janong Lekametla Elang
SO. AFRICA: TSWANA

Tunakutakiani Heri Na Fanaka Nyema Leo Na Muaka Hu Jao
KI SWAHILI

新しい年が
平和と喜びに 満ちた年でありますように JAPANESE

CHANUKAH

Chanukah has significance historically and seasonally. Historically, Chanukah reminds us of the time when the Macabees, Jewish guerilla warriors, fought for their religious and national freedom against the Syrian-Greek Hellenists around 165 B.C.E. The word Chanukah literally means "rededication" and refers to the act of the Macabees rededicating the Temple in Jerusalem which had been desecrated by the Syrian-Greek soldiers of Antiochus.

Seasonally, Chanukah, like Christmas and other winter solstice holidays, falls at the darkest time of the year. However, unique to the Jewish calendar is the balancing of the two elements which keep time - the sun and the moon. Chanukah comes when the sun nears its lowest point in the southern hemispher and when the moon approaches its new monthly cycle. Thus, Chanukah comes at the darkest time of the year as determined by the balancing of both the sun and moon.

Chanukah is called the "Festival of Lights." The legend of Chanukah is that after the Macbeen victory, the Jews returned to the Temple to restore it and light the "menorah" or candelabrum. They found only a small container of oil. They lit it in the spirit of hopefulness and, miraculously, the little oil remained lit for eight full days.

CHANUKAH
CAMPUS ACTIVITIES

Saturday December 7 and 14
Candlelighting at 5:30
Sunday, december 8 through
Friday, December 13 -
Candlelighting at 4:00
The Menorah and candle lighting will be in front of the Student Union.

Rabbi Saul Perlmutter
Hillel

KWANZAA

What is this thing called Kwanzaa? Who originated it and why? When are the activities and concepts of Kwanzaa practiced?

In the nineteen years that Kwanzaa has been practiced in America, the holiday has gained acceptance and significance from African-Americans. This widespread acceptance of Kwanzaa offers African-Americans both a celebration of cultural heritage and a recognition of political achievements. Thus, Kwanzaa is now a cultural and political tredition of African-Americans, celebrated from December 26 -January 1, of each year.

Kwanzaa was created by Dr. M. Ron Karenga, not as an imitation of Christmas but instead as an alternative to Christmas.

The Kwanzaa celebration is a very exciting and colorful event, centering around the "Seven Principles" known as NGUZO SABA in the Swahili language. The Seven Principles were developed in order to reinstate a sense of pride in African-Americans, as well as resurrect their buried history. These Seven Principles are UMOJA (unity), KUJICHAGULIA (Self-determination), UJIMA (Colective Work and Responsibility), UJAMAA (Cooperative Economics), NIA (Purpose), KUUMBA (Creativity), and IMANI (Faith).

Each day of the Kwanzaa celebration, one of the Seven Principles is observed. For example, on each day of Kwanzaa the question asked is, "HABARI GANI" (What is the news)? The answer will be UMOJA (Unity), which is the first principle of the first day of the celebration. The second dya the answer is KUJICHAGULIA (Self-determination) which is the second principle and so on into the seventh day of Kwanzaa. Each day of Kwanzaa a candle is lit representing each of the Seven Principles.

Sherwood Thompson, Director
Office of Third World Affairs

CHRISTMAS

On December 25th Christians around the world celebrate the birth of Jesus Christ. The first evidence of Christmas being celebrated goes back to the fourth century A.D. in Rome. The date was originally linked with the winter solstice, and it was probably chosen in opposition or contrast to that feast which was widely celebrated at that time. The time of year Jesus was actually born is unknown.

The season of Advent is a time to reflect on the meaning of Christmas which goes deeper and farther than the parties and tinsel and the exchange of presents, which are the usual ways we celebrate the Christmas season. To the eyes of faith, the wonder and marvel of this new born babe is that through the birth of Jesus, God has entered the material world of time and death in which we all live, and become one with us. In a world of loneliness and searching and even terror, Christmas speaks to us of hope -- that a God of love is involved in our world and in our lives. Not that God comes to rescue us like Rambo, but rather God comes to us in a baby to show us how to face the lonliness and searching and even terror with love.

Rev. Esther Hargis
United Christian Foundation

THREE KINGS DAY
(Dia delas Reyes Magos)

The tradition of Three Kings Day is celebrated in many countries like Puerto Rico, Santo Domingo, Spain, Mexico, South and Central America. According to the Bible, three kings from different parts of the world followed a star to Jerusalem in search of the "King of Kings" which they had heard would be born there.

The three kings named Gaspar, Melchior and Balthazar brought the baby Jesus gifts of myrrh, frankencense, and gold. Arriving in Bethlehem on what is now January 6th the baby was already 8 days old.

Today in Puerto Rico the holiday activities include what is known as "Aguinaldos" which generally means Christmas carols. Neighbors and friends gather in front of your house and sing and play music. You invite them in for food and drink, after which they continue to the next home.

For Three Kings Day the children fill boxes with grass (food for the camels of the Kings) and place them under their beds as well as give them to their Aunts and Uncles. The next morning, January the 6th, the children find presents laid out around the little boxes.

Linda Velasquez
AHORA/Bilingual Collegiate Program

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian

ED/OP

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted.

Founded in 1870

Executive Board—Fall 1985

Dode B. Levenson, Editor in Chief
Anne McCrory, Managing Editor
Larry Bouchie, Editorial Editor
Peter Soderberg, Production Manager
Elizabeth Young, Business Manager
Sherry Sharfman, Business Manager

Board of Editors—Fall 1985

Dode B. Levenson, Editor in Chief
Anne McCrory, Managing Editor
Tom Middleton, News Editor
Larry Bouchie, Editorial Editor
Renee Bacher, Arts Editor
Peter Abraham, Sports Editor
Derek Roberts, Photo Editor
Bethanne Mosko, Women's Issue Editor
Kimberly Burge, Black Affairs Editor

Scrutinizing proposals

Roth/Burgess

The mult-purpose sports facility proposal for the University of Massachusetts at Amherst is yet another political issue that we, as your representatives, are confronting. The structure is designed to house an interchangeable basketball/hockey facility. Initially, a second ice rink and a number of squash courts were planned, but due to financial difficulties these "extras" have been eliminated. Essentially this structure provides a very large hall for basketball and hockey games, concerts, and convocations.

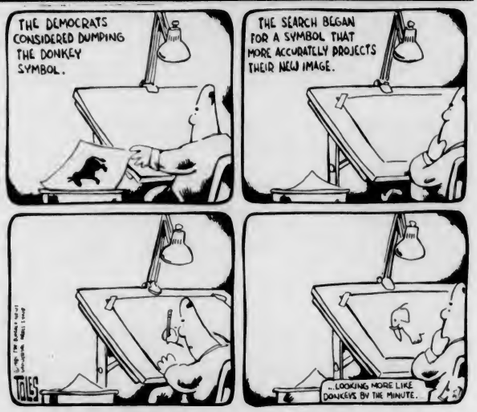
There are many significant problems with the proposal, the most important being that students will bear the brunt of the financial burden. The facility will cost 37 million -- truly a huge sum of money by anyone's standards.

Initially, administrators had the audacity to propose that students pay for practically the entire project, which would have been $160 per student, per year, for 24 years. However, due to a small but significant outcry by students and faculty, planners saw the irresponsibility of that plan and came up with a less extreme proposal. The new plan calls for a smaller and less versatile facility and it is contingent upon the Massachusetts Legislature providing half of the cost. Trouble is, students are still paying too much. Future students will be asked to pay about $100 a year, for one, $37 million structure.

Everyone knows that education costs have outpaced inflation dramatically, and we feel that $100 a year is too much to ask. University fees keep going up, tuition is consistently increasing and UMass, intentionally or not, is making itself more and more inaccessible to economically disadvantaged populations.

Also, despite a misleading policy editorial printed in Tuesday's Collegian, students at UMass voted overwhelmingly against the $100 or more alternative. Indeed only 56 students voted for the $100 annual fee, in stark contrast to the 183 students who said they could only support the structure at $50 a year. 223 students said only $20 a year. While 294 students approved the initial $160 a year for the project, the strongest inclination was the 300 students who said that the structure should only be built if funding was secured anywhere but from students. Our office feels hurt by false insinuations and manipulative data presentations made by the editorial writer.

There are many other flaws in this project as well. For instance, one of the stated objectives is that this will provide a larger space for concerts so as to enable us to book better talent for a lower price. We're told that this is a 9,000 seat facility, twice the capacity of the Cage -- exciting, right? Wrong! When one looks at the fine print they discover that for a concert the seating capacity is only 5,000 -- not much larger than the Cage after all.



A larger space for basketball games is something that we certainly could use, except that during the hockey season most of the basketball games will still have to be held in the Cage, since the hockey team will have priority to play in the new facility on conflicting nights.

Campus priorities are another central issue. We feel that the $17 million generated by student arena fees could be much better spent on other areas such as; providing adequate study, housing, class, and office space, general education, saving the five sports teams, maintenance of the dormitories and other University structures that are falling apart, adequate TA salaries and providing decent laboratory equipment.

The concept of a hockey team and a multi-purpose sports arena is fine, however the bottom line is money and priorities. To us, spending $37 million to prioritize this structure is entirely inappropriate. Students aren't alone in this perspective, we've heard sympathetic sentiments that have been made by members of the president's staff, the chancellor's staff, the vice-chancellor's staff, and the faculty. It's time to evaluate the fundamental strengths and weaknesses of this project and clarify its base of support given the tremendous impact it will have on this campus.

Do well on your finals, have a great break, and we'll see you in February.

Stacy Roth and Dani Burgess are the SGA co-presidents.

New epidemic: Afraids

Reed Ide

In the Oct. 14 edition of THE NEW REPUBLIC, the editors of that magazine identified and wrote about a new epidemic. They call this new disease AFRAIDS (Acute Fear Regarding AIDS). And, they say, a recent NEW YORK TIMES/CBS poll shows that this disease has infected nearly half the American population.

Consider: 47 percent of the respondents in the poll believe that AIDS can be contracted from a shared drinking glass; 28 percent believe it can be contracted from contaminated toilet seats. These statistics are disturbing because they indicate a widespread disregard for the fact that this disease cannot be transmitted by casual contact. The average incubation period of the AIDS virus in adults is two years, which means that a person who shows the symptoms of full-blown AIDS has carried the virus for that amount of time before anyone realizes it.

During that period, countless people have sipped from the same drinking glass, have tasted food from the same fork, have sat on the same toilet seat as the person with AIDS. The number of AIDS cases in this country now exceeds 15,000. Not one of the family members of those people (other than sexual partners and chidren infected in the womb) has developed AIDS symptoms in the six years we know the disease has been present in this country.

Yet they mythology surrounding AIDS continues to grow. People historically have feared what they cannot see, what they cannot understand. Such fears require visible targets, easy scapegoats. In the case of AIDS, gay people are such easy targets. They have been the targets of people's repressed sexual fears, anxieties, and guilt for centuries. Because gay men are currently in a high-risk group for this sexually transmitted disease, they have become convenient repositories of our culture's collective fear.

At the University of Massachusetts, where intellect and rational thinking are the guiding forces of our experience, we find the persistent voice of such irrational and displaced fear is our constant companion;

-- Gay people cannot study in the libraries here without being subjected to grafitti calling for their extermination as carriers of AIDS.

-- Gay people cannot expect to attend classes without being exposed to professors, instructors, and teachers who feel a perfect freedom to articulate the private fears of their psyches to students. This Monday, I received a complaint of such anti-gay "teaching" from a student in a German class.

At University Health Services, a program of education has begun on issues surrounding AIDS. An evening symposium on the disease, a risk reduction brochure for gay and heterosexual people, and a TIPS phone line are elements of the program we have seen recently. These are laudable endeavors. Yet, some within Health Services continue to provide insensitive and frightening counselling to gay men concerning the HTLV-3 antibody test, in spite of a strongly stated position that the HTLV-3 test is useless as a diagnostic tool. Nevertheless, the University provides us all with the best opportunity available to come out of our closets, be we heterosexual, bisexual, or homosexual. Upon these few acres of land sits an institution which does claim to aspire to high ideals, an institution which encourages us to act above our fear. AIDS is a disease that affects all of us. The increasing numbers of cases in the heterosexual population worldwide give lie to the idea that this is a "gay disease." The plain truth of the matter is that we are all at risk and that risk continues to increase. By insisting on an atmosphere of investigative freedom in which we can examine our individual fears, we can begin the process of coming to terms with those fears.

AFRAIDS is a crippling disease of the mind and of the spirit, one we must fight as strongly as we fight the AIDS virus. Education is our strongest vaccine, our certain cure. Tonight, the University's Program for Gay, Lesbian, and Bisexual Concerns is bringing David Summers to campus to speak at 7 p.m in Room 101 of the Campus Center. Summers is an actor-entertainer who is also a person with AIDS. He is a person who speaks to every person. By refusing to sacrifice his humanity to a retrovirus, he stands as an example to all of us, for we all stand face to face with AFRAIDS in this crisis. He will be joined by Dr. Paul Berman of University Health Services.

Berman is well-versed in the medical aspects of AIDS, and has shown a strong commitment to eradicating the myths and misinformation which surround this disease.

The Program for Gay, Lesbian, and Bisexual Concerns invites everyone to attend this event because we recognize that our concerns are the concerns of everyone. AFRAIDS is an epidemic we can stop today.

Reed Ide is a UMass student and is co-director of the University's Program for Gay, Lesbian and Bisexual Concerns.

Letters

Present or dispute facts, please

Regarding the column concerning the absence of black student participation on the campus -- I have been waiting for such a comment, and did not wish to write it myself. I will, however, quite loudly, second the motion or sentiments expressed by the Collegian staff member ("The absence was noted," Dec. 6).

While I do feel a certain degree of separateness is not unhelpful (to identity), the aforementioned abscence is nothing short of a disgrace, in my considered opinion.

But identity reinforces tradition, does it not? So, at the time when brother Mike Guess went to trial (early April of this year) and there was no representation from the black student community, my hackles were raised, and suspicions already aroused. So, lack of participation in the START rally does seem uncomfortably conclusive proof that there is great apathy among the black student population. Although no longer a student, I am black and want to join in urging black students to "realize that student issues are their issues, too."

There's always another rally, and there's still time to correct bad impressions. I do not always approve of what I see as a somewhat conservative tone in the Collegian, but I do endorse this view.

Jacqueline Harris
Northampton

Just find a better place to study

I'm sure Sharon Spooner isn't the only person upset with the noise level in the libraries. However, since I've been successful at finding quiet space, I thought I'd share my strategy. Here are my suggestions.

First of all, try not to be so critical. Be creative. Please remember that libraries are not the only places to study. Have you ever spent time in the Everywoman's Center, or the Newman Center, or an empty room in the Grad Tower, or on a piece of floor in a corridor? Maybe you'd be happier in an art gallery, or in a DC between meals, or upstairs at the Campus Center Hotel, or in the Music Room in the Campus Center Concourse. There are so many quiet places that an innovative student can use as study space. And many of them don't even resemble libraries. Good luck.

Sandra Pucillo
Northeast

Christ and Christmas....

Rusty Denton

It is one of life's little ironies that Christmas is about the last thing anyone has time for during December finals. It is perhaps more ironic that Christmas is celebrated at all among people who claim to understand the inner workings of the cosmos. Somehow, God has been written out of our science, and yet every Chrismas, we celebrate the tradition that God, Creator of the universe, Mastermind of history, Keeper of souls, and Judge of the earth, chose to take on the humble form of an orthodox Jewish baby and live in a despised region of military-occupied Israel.

There are many other things about Christ which should offend modern minds. For one thing, He called everyone a sinner, unworthy of God. For another, he went so far as to tell a non-Jew that only the Jews knew whom it was that they worshipped. Moreover, Jesus claimed that His life is the only acceptable price to buy freedom from guilt and damnation under God's (Jewish) Law. Some would call that intolerant.

If those statements are not the fundamental truths of the universe, then they are far worse than intolerant. And if they are the truth, then the earth is in trouble. In trouble, because the only "peace on earth" proclaimed at Jesus' birth was to those few individuals with whom God was pleased. Jesus said, "Do not think that I came to bring peace on the earth," because friends and families would split over Him and over statements He made such as "No one comes to the Father (God) but by me." Jesus said elsewhere that only a few people would accept the rigors of God's ways, that most people would follow the easy path straight to hell. Hard to believe, isn't it, that most Americans celebrate the birthday of this man?

That's changing. Slowly, but steadily, more people are celebrating the winter solstice or Kwanzaa instead of Christmas. Maybe the national holiday should be called Giftmas instead; the commercial sector would love it. There have been times when I've wondered myself if I really wanted Jesus Christ busting in on a good time every Christmas. The answer I've arrived at is a resounding "yes," not because I'm a party pooper, but because I discovered that my image of Christ was narrow and small.

The Christ I have come to know is a person who knows my innermost needs, my vanities, my failings, and my hurts. He is someone who is not fooled by a pious facade. I have come to admire His patience and mercy and courage and I worship Him. There is not a single Biblical promise which I have ever found to fail. Christmas has come to represent for me a time of gratitude for the peace and joy and love I found after "discovering" a relationship with Jesus.

Not everybody wants to know about Christ or about Christmas. I know that. But I don't know anyone who doesn't want peace of mind, happiness, and the certainty of being loved. And I don't know anyone who doesn't have an abiding interest in God, as long as He's more than a political or psychological concept.

I can say that he is much more than a concept. Even today, works done in the name of Jesus defy scientific and psychological explanation, as I can testify from first-hand experience. The New sin to follow Him.

There was a time when I resented that, but now I really do worship God as Creator of the universe, Mastermind of history, Keeper of souls, and Judge of the earth. I rejoice in every claim that Christ made, and I am thankful for the love of God in my once-despised life.

Merry Christmas.

Rusty Denton is a Collegian columnist.

Letters

Unfair administrative sanctions

I'm sure that a lot of students have been reading about what has been going on with the battle to regain control of the SATF. Many people are aware that 25 students were arrested for trespassing after they refused to leave the Whitmore Administration Building when it was officially closed.

What many people do not know about is the harassment that the University is putting these students through. Certainly it was expected that we would be arrested for trespassing. When one participates in civil disobedience, one must expect legal recourse.

What these 25 people did not expect was a letter from the Dean of Student's Office threatening them with suspension. All of these students were told that they were being held responsible for the banging on Whitmore doors by people on the outside of the building. It is ridiculous to hold these students responsible for the actions of others. These students are also being held responsible for the overtime pay of employees, the amount of which is yet to be determined.

In his letter to the students involved, Dean of Students William Field stated, "A finding of guilt on some or all charges may result in separation from the University by Expulsion or Dismissal..." Dean Field bases his charges on the Code of Student Conduct. In his editorial letter in the Collegian (Dec. 3), Dean Field stated, "There is no established set of rules governing the procedures of the SGA..." due to the fact the "there exists no Trustee approved SGA Constitution and By-Laws." Therefore, he claims, "The 'rules' thus are whatever the group in authority decides they are." If Dean Field chooses to use that reasoning, he has no grounds for his charges, since there is no Trustee approved Student Code of Conduct.

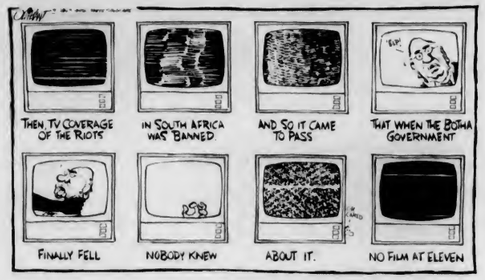
In addition to these attempts at group intimidation, there have also been actions taken against individuals. For example, as a direct result of being arrested for trespassing, my resignation from my Student Security job was demanded. It is disheartening that an arm of the Department of Public Safety has presumed me to be guilty before my trial.

Not only will the administration not negotiate with the group of people that START has chosen, but they also want to stop students from protesting against the unfair administrative sanctions that have been proposed -- by using various scare tactics against these students.

Joel Rabinowitz
member START

Coverage of Hillel's activities

I want to express my thanks to the Collegian for its excellent coverage of Hillel's recent activities. Especially through your stories on Chanukah, you have made a significant contribution to heightened understanding and appreciation of diversity on campus.



There were a few inaccuracies in connection with the picture of the Kosher Dining Commons mural contest (Collegian, Dec. 5), however, that I would like to clarify. 1) John R. Moebes' entry was the contest winner by then, and no longer simply one of the many fine designs submitted. Congratulations John! 2) The contest had three judges: Herb Paston, UMass Art Department, Marion Whalen, manager of the Kosher Dining Commons, and myself.

I would like to add my thanks to Herb and to Marion for judging and for helping to see the contest through all its stages; to Josephine Keeley for her support; to Marie Cappadona for suggesting the mural contest in the first place; to John and the other students who participated in this contest; to the Arts Council for making funding available; and to the Collegian for bringing the contest to the attention of the campus community.

Good luck on exams and happy holidays!

Rabbi Saul Perlmutter
B'nai B'rith Hillel at UMass

Due to pressing academic concerns, Peter Dow's column will not appear this week -- Editor.

What to do about injustice

Deborah Kutenplon

I vividly remember one evening in Colombia when I was an exchange student there during high school. I was sitting with my host sister at the outdoor tables of an American-style restaurant when I noticed a mother and her two young daughters looking over at us from the stret. The mother carried a badge of the poor -- a sack of used newspapers collected from trash cans for a few pennies recycling money.

The woman stood quietly and looked. Though her stare was not aggressive, nor angry, I felt at that moment the distance between our two lives, and wondered how long it had been since she and her children had eaten a good meal.

I felt the strongest urge to offer the woman my hamburger or, better yet, to ask the little group to sit down and order them a meal. But I did not. I was too embarrassed in from of my friends -- all native-Colombians used to the blatant poverty of their home. I was too embarrassed in front of the woman, also, knowing that it would not have been enough once the unfairness of poverty and wealth had been acknowledged with a meal, how could I have gone back to my comfortable bed knowing the woman and her children would sleep on the streets?

So I did nothing, kept quiet, and the chance was lost. The woman walked on. I could not finish my hamburger.

Why should I have been embarrassed? I guess because we are not supposed to notice poverty; it isn't polite.

I am so greatly encouraged by the people who have not been embarrassed to notice, especially by the rock musicians who have used their prestige to raise money for famine victims. These folks with the strange hairdoes, fast lifestyles, and occassionally grating music have made it again respectable, even fashionable, to care. Don't think that message is lost on the millions of kids who idolize rock stars.

When I read about the famines, I think of that woman looking quietly on as I sat with my plate full of food. I think of the United States as myself, plate piled high, and most of the rest of the world, including populations within the U.S., as the woman. But the picture is even worse than it looks because on that plate are bananas, pineapple, sugar, meat, and coffee; it is not merely that we don't share, but that we ourselves have made these people poor by exploiting their labor and land to buy our overabundance cheaply.

It's not only a question, then, of sharing a bit of our excess, laudable as that is. It's a question of whether we are willing to become poorer, to live more simply and conscientiously so that others may live at all.

Become poorer?! Now that's a radical suggestion. Isn't that going a little too far? Just for a moment, though, let's stop being polite. People are dying because we are as wealthy as we are. Is it so radical to suggest that this is wrong?

I read recently a true story of a scene in Africa: three very hungry children sharing one bowl of food. There were only two spoons, and the chilren patiently took turns, sharing equally. Apparently their culture teaches them that if they worry only about feeding themselves, there will never be enough. If they concentrate on taking care of each other, there will be enough; no one will become wealthy, but no one will need to be either. The world must learn from these children.

Deborah Kutenplon is a Collegian columnist.

Letters

An update on a recent topic

I wanted to thank the Collegian for its front page Nov. 22 article regarding my talk about the independent black trade union movement in South Africa. I wanted to write in to add an update, as well as offer a correction to the otherwise informative article.

First the update. Two weekends ago (Nov. 30-Dec. 1), several of the independent black unions formed a new, 500,000 member strong federation known as the Congress of South African Trade Unions. Though this new federation does not include most of the unions associated with CUSA (the Council of Unions of South Africa), and will thus have to face the real issue of relating to those unions which come out of a "Black Consciousness" tradition, the formation of this new federation is a monumental development in the anti-apartheid stuggle in South Africa/Azania. Those of us in the United States who have supported the struggle for democracy and national liberation in South Africa should express our strongest support for this development.

Secondly, I wanted to offer a correction to the article's final statement to the effect that I said that a major problem in the union movement in the USA is that the leadership is maintained by intellectuals. My actual statement must have been misunderstood. What I was attempting to convey is that the union movement in the U.S. is dominated by bureaucrats who are to a large extent out of touch and resistant to the needs, demands, and general concerns of the rank-and-file. To that extent we here in the U.S. have much that we can learn from the efforts of our brothers and sisters in South Africa/Azania in their efforts to build true union democracy and workers' control.

Again, thank you very much for the coverage. I hope that this note clarifies my point.

Bill Fletcher, Jr.
Boston

Alas, WMUA failed to cover game

I would like to respond to something printed in Monday's Collegian. In that issue, a reporter informed the UMass community that WMUA failed to show for the basketball game last Saturday night. NBC wasn't there either, but he didn't say anything about them. Nowhere is it written that WMUA must cover every Minuteman basketball game.

I don't owe any explanation, but here it is anyway. On Saturday from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m., WMUA held their annual polkathon. This is a very important event at the station because it raises much-needed funds. WMUA could not afford to pre-empt this fund raiser just to carry a game that was already on television and commercial radio.

Finally, just so that there's no confusion, WMUA will not be broadcasting the men's swim meet against Northeastern on Jan. 11.

Joe Pesaturo
Sports Director, WMUA

ARTS

live wire

by Peter Wissoker

Yes this is the last Live wire for the semester. So a little bit of Live Wire trivia for you. Live Wire has been around for years, written by various people. So, now some more trivia. No one knows how it got its name. The Martha and the Vandellas song? 'Don't touch me...I'm a real Live Wire'? Big week. No sleep. So why not go out and relax.

Every night does not have something to do, but maybe that's for the best.Tonight's a good night. Johnny Copeland is at Pearl Street. Copeland has played a UMass a number of times and he always really good. In case you don't know, he's one of the main promoters of Texas blues, and a good one at that.

Anderson, Eric will be playing the Iron Horse tonight. Anderson is one of the up and coming folk singers of about ten years ago and is still reported to be good, as it were.

Saxaphonist Michael Brecker honors UMass of all places with a visit tonight to the Fine Arts Center. Circle will be playing tommorrow night in the Hatch for free and fun.

The Thompson Twins will be playing with OMD Saturday at the New Haven Collesium if you're in the neighborhood.

How about a short Boston interlude. The Roches will be playing at the Berklee Performance Center on Wednesday. Last time I saw them around Christmas they sang a few carols, something to look forward to I guess.

Everyone has not heard of Alix Chilton, yet you've probably heard him or someone who has been influenced by him(R.E.M. or the dB's). At any rate he will be playing at the Iron Horse on Saturday night. At the Northampton Center for the Arts on Sunday Steven Schoenberg, comrade of George Winston spinnign some winter seasonal melodies. You think I'm kidding?

At the the Iron Horse on Monday comedian Emo Phillips, who will be on Miami Vice tommorow night, will come and tell some jokes. There's a pretty entertaining interview with him in this week's, dare I say it? Yes. It's in the Advocate. Well, Well. Decode this week's secret message. Sorry I haven't been getting much sleep.

Del Fuegoes will be at Pearl Street next Thursday. They should be good and they too will probably play some rockabilly christmas songs. That should be a really good show.Opening up for them will be the Outlets. Have a nice vacation.

The Del Fuegos, will be appearing Dec. 19 at Pearl St.

Alex Chilton will be playing Dec. 15, 8:30 p.m. at the Iron Horse.

Pleasant St. Theater
Midnight Shows Friday and Saturday
A NEW COMEDY
AMATEUR HOUR
SNEAK PREVIEW
American Premiere Here with cast and film-makers present
27 Pleasant St. Northampton 586-0935

SALE!
FRI./SAT./SUN.
DEC. 13, 14, 15
HAND CRAFTED WOOL SWEATERS
Imported from Peru
Reg. $38.95
Now $24.95
. . . a colorful selection of unique designs and patterns
A Store-full of Ideas
Downtown Amherst / Daily 10-6, Sun. 12-5
FACES

1986-87 FINANCIAL AID FORMS

Financial Aid Forms for the 1986-87 Academic Year will be mailed to all on-campus residents (except graduating seniors and graduate students) on Thursday, December 12, 1985.

All off-campus residents and graduate students should pick up their Financial Aid Forms at Financial Aid Services, 243 Whitmore Administration Building, starting the week of December 16, 1985 from 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

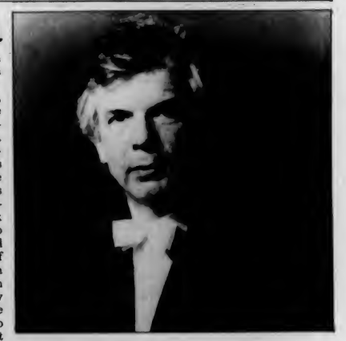
Any senior graduating January 1987 should also pick up a Financial Aid Form at Financial Aid Services.

ARTS

Hot show by Cleveland Orchestra

By MIKE GERVASI
Collegian Correspondent

Last Monday night at the Fine Arts Center, Christoph Von Dohnanyi and the Cleveland Orchestra played a hot show to an enthusiastic FAC audience.



Dohnanyi, the fiery conductor, is the orchestra's sixth music director. He has studied at the Musikhochschule in Munich, Florida State, and the Berkshire Music Center, and has held such positions as Musical Director and Conductor of the Frankfurt Opera, Artistic Director and Principal Conductor of the Hamburg State Opera, as well as his present appointment as Musical Director and Conductor of the Cleveland Orchestra.

His experience as well as that of the players was evident right away as they treated the audience to some serious, dramatic music. They started off with Mozart's Symphony No. 25 in G Minor, K. 183, and uncharacteristically dark, aggressive piece, more than his basic lounge lizard stuff. Their performance of it was successful in communicating the ranges of emotion emcompassed in this work, from the heavy, strangely serious mood of the Menuetto to the tender, personal feeling of the Andante.

They also played the piece with the precision that it demands; the different voices echoing phrases with great attention to detail, the balance centered where it belonged. All this was done naturally revealing great preparation.

The same cannot be said of their second piece, Hartmann's Adagio (Symphony No. 2). It is also a dark, ominous piece and the group did a good job with certain aspects of it. At one point, the low strings played a haunting melody imperceptable underneath the rest of the sound, which made the audience feel a powerful attraction that they didn't really notice. However, the orchestra never seemed to be very comfortable with it. The precision they achieved in the first piece was lost to a certain extent.

After the intermission, though, the ensemble came back aggresively with Symphony No. 7 in D minor, Op. 70 by Dvorak. Another uncharacteristically ominous and powerful piece, the group explored all its nuances with a total command of them. The work ranged from passionate to lush and sweet and ended with a violent explosion of sound that resulted in a standing ovation from an audience that was very geared up. Here again, the group's preparation led to an attention to detail that put them very much in control of a violent piece that might have gotten away from lesser talents.

Christoph Von Dognznyi directs the Cleveland Orchestra.

favorite tastes

Pleasant St. Theater
"A WINNER! A sagely funny comedy both heartfelt and sophisticated. Ruben Blades is a screen natural!" Vincent Canby, THE NEW YORK TIMES
CROSSOVER DREAMS
RUBEN BLADES
6, 8, 10 pm (also at 4 pm Sat and Sun)
Thurs Tues
No Crossover on Wed
27 Pleasant St. Northampton 586-0935
Wednesday Benefit for AIDS ACTION 7 and 9:30
BUDDIES
...THE FIRST DRAMATIC MOVIE ABOUT AIDS
Film-Maker present on Wednesday only after 7 and 9:30
Thurs-Tues at 5:30, 7:30, 9:30

FREE
Shampoo & Blow Dry with any Haircut
$12.50 with coupon
Styles by Deborah
call 549-5610
expires 12/31/85

MASS. APPROVED INSPECTION STATION
Gas Saving Tune-up
4 Cyl. $34.95
6 Cyl. $39.95
8 Cyl. $44.95
Lube, Oil & Filter
$17.99
Includes up to 5 quarts of 10-30 oil and safety check
North Amherst Tire & Auto Center
"Full Service Tire Store"
76 Sunderland Rd., No. Amherst, MA
Across from Wallrabe's Store
549-4704

The Special Charm of One of a Kind Jewelry
Antique and unique styles available in a wide range of prices.
J. AUSTIN JEWELER
on the common, amherst, 253-3986
mon.-sat. 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

AMHERST CINEMA
Are YOU ready for our 24 Hour Science Fiction Marathon
starting Sat. Feb. 15, 1986
at 12:00 Midnight
see Eraserhead
The Thing
Hardware Wars
Star Trek II and III
and 13 more films
PLUS our famous Trivia Contest
and lots of prizes!
All 24 hours for just $6.00
30 AMITY ST. AMHERST 253-5426

Molière's THE MISER
The University of Massachusetts Department of Theater
Rand Theater, Fine Arts Center
Dec. 6, 7, and 11-14 at 8:00 PM, Sunday Dec. 8 at 2:00 PM and 7:00 PM
Tickets: Fine Arts Center Box Office, 545-2511

EARN MONEY FOR COLLEGE
LOADERS & UNLOADERS

$8/hr • PART-TIME EVENINGS & EARLY MORNING HOURS

We offer steady employment, paid vacations and health benefits. Interviews will be held every Wednesday. 9am—1pm

UNITED PARCEL SERVICE
120 Wayside Avenue
West Springfield, MA 01089

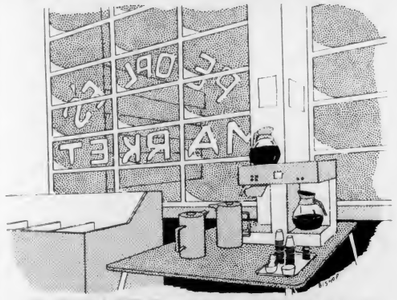
THEY'RE STILL WAITING. . .

It's not too late to apply for a spring co-op position! Some of the employers and the majors they are seeking for spring include:

WESTVACO -- Mktg
IBM -- Journalism; English
FIDELITY INVESTMENTS Acctg; Finance
EXCLUSIVE RUG CO. Mktg
GENERAL FOODS Food Science; Chem.
NEW ENGLAND ELECTRIC EE; ME; IE; COINS
GTE -- IE
REGENCY RESORTS -- HRTA

To learn more about these and other exciting co-ops, call the Office for Cooperative Education in the Career Center 545-2224. Last info session--December 18.

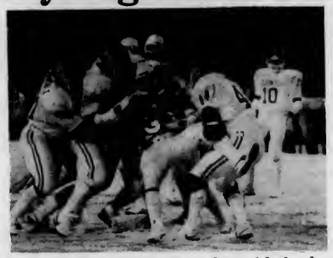
OFFICE FOR COOPERATIVE EDUCATION
University Career Center 545-2224



Wednesday's Cutting SPECIAL
Women. . . . .$12 reg. $18
Men. . . . .$10 reg. $16
LORD'S & LADY'S HAIR SALONS
The Hampshire Mall • 586-7913

James H. McManus eating place
CAMPUS PLAZA (NEXT TO SUPER STOP & SHOP) Rte. 9 • Hadley/Amherst
256-6889
CONVENIENT to CAMPUS!
• BREAKFAST SERVED ANY TIME
• OPEN 6 A.M.-3 A.M. SUN.-THURS.
• OPEN 24 HOURS FRI. & SAT.
• BEER & WINE SERVED 'TIL MIDNITE
• PLENTY OF PARKING

Open during Intersession!



JANUARY can be a cold and lonely month on campus. Come in, say hello, and warm up with your favorite coffee.

People's market
Students working for Students

Why Fight Crowds?

Keep your account open and avoid the hassle of long lines next semester

- Just $5 for a savings account or $25 for a checking account
- We accept mail in deposits
- Please fill out change of address forms to get January's statements

* Coming Soon *
* Automatic Tellers *

UMASS CREDIT UNION
Student Union Bldg. 545-2800 Member NCUA

Flashback '85

Collegian photo by Derek Roberts

Collegian photo by Derek Roberts

Collegian photo by Brian Guarnotta

Collegian photo by Derek Roberts

Collegian photo by Derek Roberts

Collegian photo by Michelle Segal

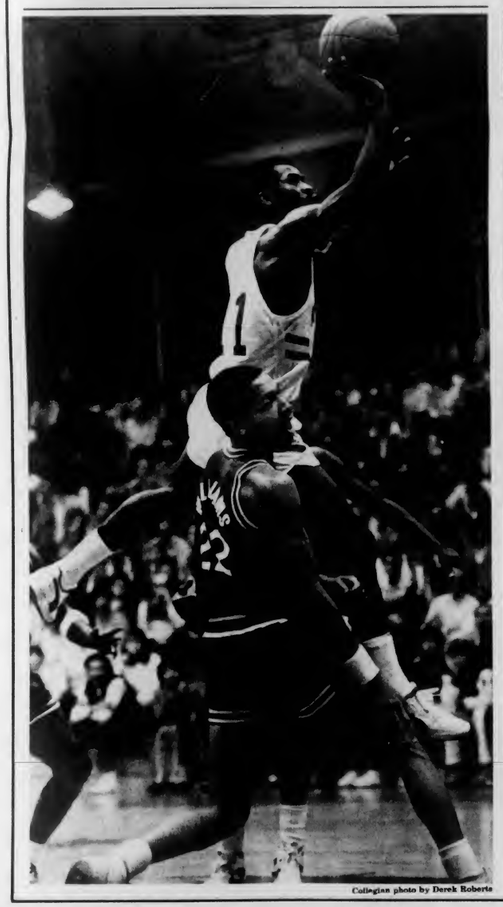
Collegian photo by Neil Beckerman

Collegian photo by Maria Ball

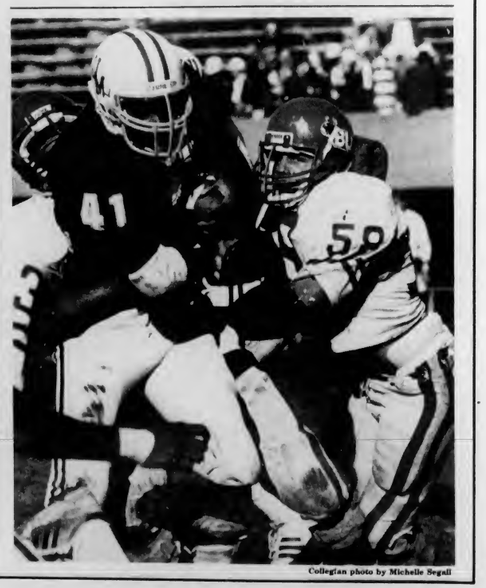
Collegian photo by Michelle Segal

Collegian photo by Scott Maguire

Background photo by Scott Maguire



Collegian photo by Neil Berkenstein



Collegian Photo by Paul Desmarais

SPORTS

Collegian photo by Derek Roberts

On the upper left, Lisa Griswold heads downfield in field hockey. Above, Michelle Powers of the nationally-ranked women's soccer team heads a pass. To the lower left, Lorenzo Sutton lofts a jumper while below, tailback Kevin Smellie busts through the line.

Collegian photo by Michelle Segall

ARTS

Here are some short reviews before the end of school. Because of their length detail has been omitted.

DONE WITH MIRRORS (Geffen)
Aerosmith

Most Aerosmith fans were looking forward to the resurrection of one of the true rock 'n' roll bands of the seventies. Much less pretentious then many of their peers, Aerosmith had it all. And then they became popular. At any rate, this new album sounds like the old Aerosmith. At first. But most of the subtlty and humor of the thing is gone. The discussion here centers around the word power. And the feeling that Aerosmith seems to have is that the way to powermusic is through powerful lyrics. Sorry but some of the songs on this album are just too much. It's a shame. I was really looking forward to it too, secretly.

Movie Review

ASTRA(Geffen)
Asia

Yuck. Greg Lake and Steve Howe have left the band. John Wetton has joined. This is a grab bag of cliches, the worst of all possible worlds.

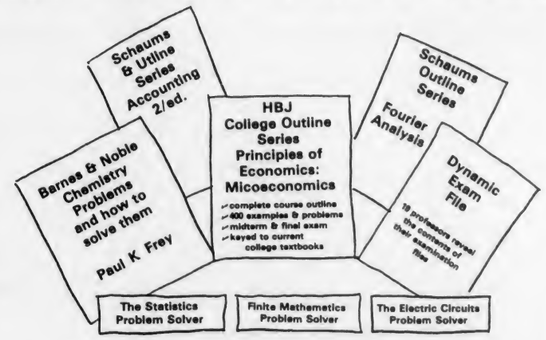
Depeche Mode

(CATCHING UP WITH (Sire)
Depeche Mode

It's kind of weird to see new wave bands having greatest hits albums coming out but there is some advantage to it. Catching Up With Depeche Mode is a really nice album. It provides a first time listener with a good overview of the band as well as showing the way Depeche Mode has matured and evolved, which is actually really interesting. They have gone from a serious avant-garde new wave band to an entertaining rhythm ensemble in just a few short years. Songs like 'Blasphemous Rumors' show just how easily politics, nihlism and music can all blend together without any problem. Actually, this album is more listenable than most of their previous albums whatever that means.

SONGS TO LEARN AND SING (Sire)
Echo and the Bunnymen

Songs to Learn and Sing while also a greatest hits album, well a collection of singles, same difference, is the story of a band which started out as entertainment and now thinks of itself more as a guiding light of rock culture, or atleast David Bowie. As the songs get lusher, the catchy melody disappears, we're looking at a new wave transition here. Good? Bad? Depends what you like. The stuff on the first side is good, catchy, England early 80's. The second side shows the Bunnymen's conversion to the school of Bowie, some works well, some does not. It also sounds alot like Shriekback.

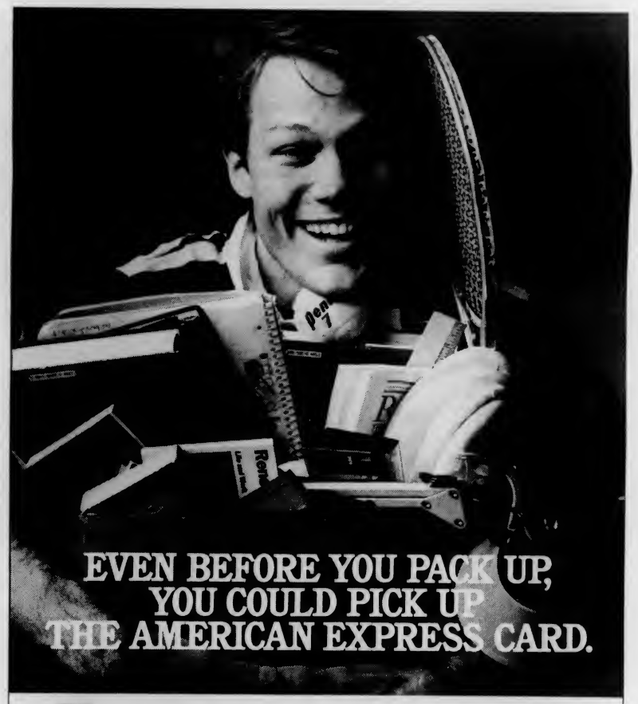


MISHIMA (Nonesuch)
Philip Glass

This album reflects the latest changes in Glass' music; away from the electronics and more towards a more traditional, in the modern sense of the word, classical sound. Yet, although the majority of the music is performed by a string quartet there is this great passage centered around a guitar part that sounds like it's off a Stray Cats album. In fact the main shortcoming of the album is that the guitar player,or the drummers, or anyone except the string quartet some of whom are quite good are not credited. Mishima is one of the more interesting things Glass has put out, lately. Considering how prolific Glass has been recently this work is surprisingly fresh. It may be the same old scales but they're not boring yet.

THE DESERT MUSIC (Nonesuch)
Steve Reich

Conducted by Michael Tilson Thomas, an old friend of Reich's, The Desert Song is a collection of poems by



continued on page 18

DON'T CRAM THE NIGHT BEFORE. . .
START NOW WITH A LITTLE HELP
FROM YOUR FRIENDS!!

STORE HOURS:
MONDAY-FRIDAY 9-5
SATURDAY 10-3

Located in the Campus Center
UNIVERSITY STORE

EVEN BEFORE YOU PACK UP,
YOU COULD PICK UP
THE AMERICAN EXPRESS CARD.

Who says you can't take it with you? After four years of college, you've got a lot of things. And one more could be the American Express® Card.

Because if you're a senior and you've accepted a $10,000 career-oriented job, you could get the American Express Card.

That's it. No strings. No gimmicks.

(And even if you don't have a job right now, don't worry. This offer is still good for 12 months after you graduate.)

If it sounds like the Card is a little easier for seniors to get right now, you're right.

But this is a way that American Express can show that we believe in your future. And as you graduate and go up the ladder, we'd like to come along.

The Card is great for business. It can help you begin to establish your credit history. And, in a little less serious vein, the Card can be a lot of fun. Use it for vacations, for a night on the town, or just a little shopping.

So call 1-800-THE-CARD and ask to have a Special Student Application sent to you. Or look for one on campus.

The American Express Card. Don't leave school without it.℠

© 1985 American Express Travel Related Services Company, Inc.

★Record Review — continued from page 17

William Carlos Williams set to music by composer Steve Reich. Reich is one of the modern composers of the sixties who succeessfully crossed over to small groups of progressive music listeners. This piece for chorus, orchestra, and drums is a series of rhythymic studies, qu??and worth checking out, if you are interested in hearing something very different than what you are used to.

OLD WAYS (Geffen)
Neil Young

Got to hand it to Neil Young, he's done it again. This time it's country music. The down home kind. The kind where alla the harmonies are a little bit off and the music's a little bit hokey. but who can resist this Neil Young guy? On Old Ways he goes as usual a bit too far and it works, but then I really like Trans too. This album has Neil singing with Willie Nelson and Waylon Jennings with crack Country musicians like Hargus 'Pig' Robbins. As usual his personality steals the show. I know he voted for Reagan but he also was one of the only people on Live Aid to sing about hunger.

The University Jazz Ensemble I will perform tonight at 8 at Hampden Theatre.

HANDMADE ORNAMENTS at

65 Montague Rd.
Route 63
1 mile north of UMass
NORTH AMHERST
MASSACHUSETTS
01059

YOUR ONE STOP CHRISTMAS SHOP

JOBS FOR INTERSESSION

The following college bookstores will be hiring extra help during intersession. For further information, call the manager at:

Bentley College Bookstore 617-891-6499

Bridgewater State College Bookstore 617-697-7460

Framingham State College Bookstore 617-872-3658

Salem State College Bookstore 617-745-5300

Worcester State College Bookstore 617-754-3448

Located in the Campus Center
Open M-f 9-5 Sat 10-3

UNIVERSITY STORE

CHINESE KITCHEN
FAST FOOD RESTAURANT
興旺樓
Eat In or Take Out Hours
Sunday Noon to 10 PM
Mon-Sat 11:30 AM to 10 PM

Pu-Pu Platter $12.00

Try Our Luncheon-Dinner Specials
Only $1.49 before 3 PM, $1.90 after 3 PM

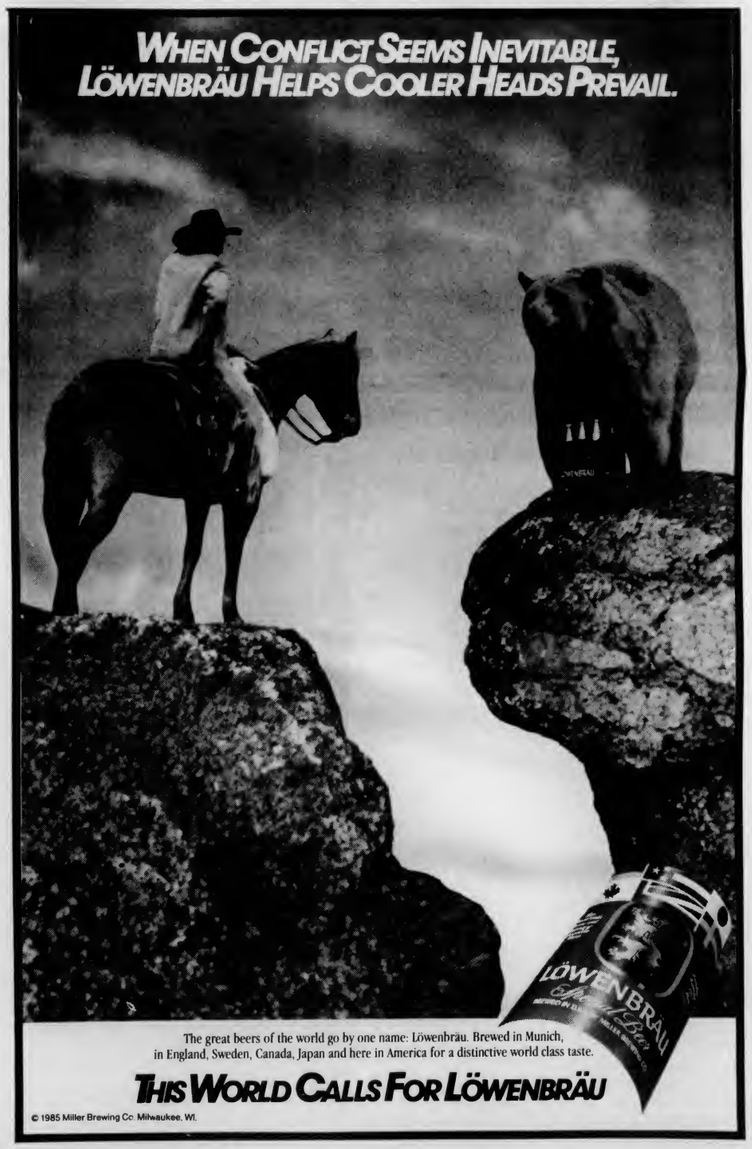
2 LOCATIONS:
430 Russell St (Rt 9) Hadley 253-2571
150 King St, Northampton 586-8220

UTOPIA SPAS

CHRISTMAS IS ALMOST HERE AND THIS IS A GREAT GIFT IDEA!

SEND A HOT TUB THRU THE MAIL

TO: NAME_____
ADDRESS_____
_____
FROM: NAME_____
ADDRESS_____
TELEPHONE_____
VISA/MC/AMEX #_____



Send check, money order or VISA/MC/AMEX to:
UTOPIA SPAS
175 University Dr.
Amherst, MA 01002
(413) 253-7727

Tub for 2 people for ☐ 1 hour ($22.00) ☐ ½ hour ($14.00)
We'll mail it to you or for you, if you like!
Or stop by and pick one up!

Change your tires NOW . . .
$4.99 per pair
Alignment and balancing available
North Amherst Tire & Auto Center
"Full Service Tire Store"
78 Sunderland Rd., No. Amherst, MA
549-4704

Beer with us!
Choose from our bounty of more than 80 varieties of imported beer!
We won the Valley Advocate's "Best Beer Selection" award - 1982!
Our selection now is EVEN BETTER.
We now feature our own brand of low priced LIQUORS as well as our super selection of WINES at very affordable prices.
Plus BULMER'S CIDER
BILLI'S
BEVERAGES
Beer—Wine—Liquor
SUNDERLAND • 665-2727
We welcome your empties!

The great beers of the world go by one name: Löwenbräu. Brewed in Munich, in England, Sweden, Canada, Japan and here in America for a distinctive world class taste.

THIS WORLD CALLS FOR LÖWENBRÄU

© 1985 Miller Brewing Co. Milwaukee, WI.

ARTS

Dancing in White Nights saves mediocre plot

Mikhail Baryshnikov, Gregory Hines and Isabella Rossellini star in a Hackford and Gilmore's production of "White Nights."

WHITE NIGHTS
Produced by Taylor Hackford
Starring Makhail Baryshnikov, Gregory Hines, and Isabella Rossellini

By HERB RAMY
Collegian Staff

Taylor Hackford, who directed the the enormously successful An Officer and a Gentleman, gives us a mediocre offering at best in White Nights.

The plot revolves around Nikolai Rodchenko (Mikhail Baryshnikov), a ballet dancer who had defected to the West eight yearts before the

continued on page 21

Bruno's
- Quality Pizza - Subs -
256-0222
FREE DELIVERY
Sun. - Wed. 4 pm to 2 am
Thurs. - Fri. - Sat. 4 pm to 3 am

SPORTSWEAR
Factory Outlet
Next to Super Stop & Shop
Route 9 Hadley, MA
All
N.F.L. Football
MLBB Baseball
50-75% OFF
Sweat Shirts Reg. $32.00 NOW $15.
NFL Telephones Reg. $65.00 NOW $25.
Wall Plaques Reg. $14.00 NOW $4.00
Beer Mugs Reg. $17. NOW $4.00
Coffee Mugs Reg. $8.00 NOW $2.00
Stadium Blankets Reg. $32.00 NOW $10.
Infant Wear Reg. $22.00 NOW $9.99
Toddler NFL Wear Reg. $13.00 NOW $6.99
NFL Back Packs Reg. $18.00 NOW $5.00
Plus much, much more!

Sport Style
Polar Fleece Jackets 36.95
Assorted colors and styles
Photographer Dwayne Autery
M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3
Located in the Campus Center
UNIVERSITY STORE

ARTS

★ White Nights

continued from page 20

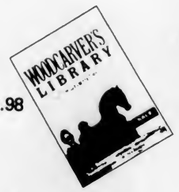
the action of the film takes place. Enroute to Tokyo his plane crashes in Siberia, and he is once again in the hands of the Soviet Union. The Soviets have an ex-United States citizen who has defected to them (Gregory Hines), watch over Rodchenko and try to convince him to dance for them once again. The movie's excitement is provided when these two men become unlikely friends and try to escape back to the West.

On of the film's major problems is the character Raymond Greenwood played by Hines. Through no fault of his own, the character is unbelievable and difficult to relate to. Greenwood is supposed to have defected to the Soviet Union while fighting in Vietnam as a form of protest. He disagrees with U.S. foreign policy, and is tired of this country's racist attitudes. All of this is stated in one scene while the drunk Greenwood remembers his past.

While it is true that there have been those who have defected to the Soviet Union, Greenwood's reasons aren't explained well enough to make his situation believable.

This movie also falls into the trap that many movies do when depicting citizens of the U.S.S.R. We are supposed to believe that almost everyone wants to leave the Soviet Union, and would if only given the chance. The few who are reluctant to leave feel this way because of family ties, and not for any loyalty to their country. Hines' character does defect to the Soviet Union, but he is living a miserable existence in a small Siberian town. Taking this viewpoint makes the film even less realistic, and becomes tiring towards the end.

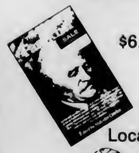
While the picture suffered from these problems, it also had its good points. The acting of Baryshnikov was one such good point. He seemed at ease in front of the camera. Part of this probably stems from the fact that the character he played resembled him closely. (Baryshnikov is of course a Soviet defector).



Hines also does a very fine job with what he is given to work with. Unfortunately he is not given enough.

Gregory Hines plays an American defector with Isabella Rossellini in White Nights.

Levi's
* JACKETS
* CORDS
* 501's
* FLANNEL SHIRTS
GIFT IDEAS!
Saturday Clothes
DOWNTOWN AMHERST 253-9729
Open 7 Days - Thurs. 'til 8



FUNNYBONES
Cocktail Lounge
Rt. 9 Hadley
Dec. 12th Thursday
UMass Favorites
The Llamas and The Steadies
Dec. 13th Friday 5:00-9:00
Xmas Part with Just George Direct from Cape Cod
Dec. 13th Friday 9:00 - 1:00
Top 40 Band Syren
Dec. 14th Saturday 9:00 - 1:00
MissingLink

A SPECIAL VALUE THIS HOLIDAY SEASON. . .
$7.98

$9.98

$4.25
$8.98

$14.98

$8.98
$4.98

$5.95

$6.98
(on special sale tables located in Tradebook Dept.)
Store Hours:
Monday-Friday 9 am - 5 pm
Saturday 10 am - 3 pm
Located in the Campus Center
UNIVERSITY STORE

Looking For SECRET SANTA
GIFTS?

Come to
THE COUNTRY SHOP

* Great stocking stuffers
* Christmas ornaments
* Gifts in all price ranges

178 North Pleasant St. 256-0929
Open: Mon-Sat 9:30-5:30; Sun 12-5

Christmas
Boxed Cards

You'll find a special yuletide wish for everyone on your list.

Located in the
Campus Center
UNIVERSITY STORE

M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3

© MCMLXXXV American Greetings Corp.
AMERICAN GREETINGS

Yesterday &
Today Records

Grateful Dead Psychedelic
Grand Opening
Punk Jazz
Blues

Top CASH
PAID for USED:
Records Tapes
Stereos Guitars
Videos CD's

An Alternative
Record Store
96 N. Pleasant St.
Amherst 253-9209

A STEVEN SPIELBERG
FILM
The Color
Purple

Alice Walker's Pulitzer Prize Winning Story

It's about life. It's about love. It's about us.

WARNER BROS. Presents A STEVEN SPIELBERG Film THE COLOR PURPLE Starring DANNY GLOVER
ADOLPH CAESAR • MARGARET AVERY • RAE DAWN CHONG and Introducing WHOOPI GOLDBERG as Celie
Director of Photography ALLEN DAVIAU Production Designer J. MICHAEL RIVA Music QUINCY JONES
Based upon the novel by ALICE WALKER Screenplay by MENNO MEYJES Executive Producers JON PETERS and PETER GUBER
Produced by STEVEN SPIELBERG • KATHLEEN KENNEDY • FRANK MARSHALL and QUINCY JONES
Directed by STEVEN SPIELBERG
Read the Pocket Book
FROM WARNER BROS.
A WARNER COMMUNICATIONS COMPANY
© MCMLXXXV Warner Bros. Inc. All Rights Reserved

SHARE THE JOY FRIDAY, DECEMBER 20th AT A THEATRE NEAR YOU!

Psssst!....

Are You A
Secret Santa?

GIFTS
Under 50¢
Under $1.00
Under $2.00
Under $3.00
Under $4.00
Under $5.00

A Store full of Holiday Gift Ideas!
Downtown Amherst
Daily 10-6, Sun. 12-5
FACES

Arts Lines

Need to vent off some finals stress? Nothing can be more relaxing than seeing a play, listening to a concert or just viewing some paintings. There are so many events going on now in the Five-College Area that it may be difficult to study. TONIGHT

Broken Roses is a comedy appearing now through Saturday, at 8 p.m. at the Little Theater in Northampton. The UMass Musical Theater Guild is putting on the musical comedy Dracula, The Musical? also through Saturday, at Bartlett Auditorium, UMass. Tickets are $2 and $3. Jazz fans: saxophonist Michael Brecker will solo with the University jazz ensemble tonight at the Hampden Theatre in Southwest, admission is free. TOMORROW

The Survivor plays for its second week at 8 p.m. in Hampden Theatre. SATURDAY

At 8 p.m. at the Fine Arts Center, Jomandi Productions will perform Voices in the Rain, about past and present day relationships between black men and women.

SUNDAY

The UMass Chorale will perform a vesper concert at 4 p.m. at the First Congregational Church in South Hadley. No admission.

NEXT WEEK

Tuesday, the Dept. of Communications will be giving a screening of student films and videos at 7 p.m. in South College.

Susan A. Diachisin will exhibit her paintings until Dec. 15 at Wheeler Gallery, UMass.

From Wed. Dec. 11 through Jan. 5, Dana Salisbury will show her paintings and sculpture at the Northampton Center for the Arts.

The Essex Quartet, a graduate string quartet, will perform on Thursday, Dec. 19, 8 p.m. at Bezanson Recital Hall in the Fine Arts Center. The program includes Haydn, Bartok, and Debussy. No admission.

And presents under the tree...for Her

Elegant Sterling Designs
Make it the Women's Shop for the holidays
House of Walsh
32 Main St., Amherst 253-3361 Mon.-Sat. 9-5:30

Sale
25% Off

URBAN OUTFITTERS
AMERICAN CELEBRATIONS IN NATURAL FIBERS

Lodestone
13 North Pleasant Street
Amherst, MA 01002
48 Main Street
Brattleboro, VT 05301

SURE RENT-A-CAR
Good reliable rentals at a better than fair price.
CARS, TRUCKS, VANS
Low Daily & Wknd. Rates
50 Russell St., (Rte. 9)
Hadley, Ma.
tel 584-2319
Just over Coolidge Bridge

TONIGHT AT CHANGES
Dance Club

FLORISTS TRANSWORLD DELIVERY
FTD
SINCE 1910

Give Santa a break... let us deliver
an FTD gift bouquet!

Send the warmth of Christmas
to Family and Friends with the "Candle Glow"
Bouquet or "Holiday Cheer" Sleigh

KNOWLES FLOWER SHOP
172 N. Pleasant St. 253-3805

...HAPPY HOLIDAYS...
Pearl Harbors $1.25
...GOOD LUCK... with ...FINALS...
Kamikazes $1.25

Rt. 9 Amherst 256 9254

SUPERIOR PIZZA

Simply Superior Pizza

FAST, FREE DELIVERY

17 Montague Rd.
North Amherst

549-0626

With any Large or Small Pizza, get second item

FREE

Expires Dec. 21, 1985

THE HUNGRY U

WE ARE NOW OFFERING FREE DELIVERY TO UMASS 6 DAYS A WEEK!*

TRY OUR HOMEMADE PIZZA, SUBS, SALADS AND OTHER SPECIALTIES! * STARTING DEC.3rd
Our Thick Crust Is Made Fresh Daily
With Our Special Homemade Sauce.
We Offer A Wide Variety Of Toppings Delivered Hot To Your Door.

Deliveries Made:
Tue., Wed., Thur. 4:30-1:00 am
Fri., Sat. 4:30-2:00 am
Sun. 4:30-1:00 am
Closed Mondsy

55 University Dr., Amherst
Minimum $3.00 549-5713

$1.00 OFF! ANY LARGE PIZZA
Expires Dec. 14 (*) With This Coupon
Not Valid With Any Other Special Offer

ROYAL CRANE ORIENTAL FOOD MARKET

360 College St., Amherst
Rte 9 East
253-5658

with a large variety of
AUTHENTIC ORIENTAL

• Open 10-8; Sat. open 9-8

• Fresh Produce • Sauces & Spices
• Noodles • Frozen & Canned Goods
• Cooking implements & Supplies
• Homemade take-out food
• New items arriving every week
• Gourmet foods at everyday prices
• Asian cookbooks at Publisher's prices
• Large Indian inventory

Decorative Oriental Tableware and accessories for Christmas giving
Exotic imported mink blanket ($110-130)
Homemade Bedspread from Korea ($110-150)

Celebrate Christmas at RVC
Amherst's own Specialty Department Store

Unique Christmas Gifts For The Discriminating Shopper

Unusual Gifts • Clothing • Unique Jewelry at the triangle, Amherst
10-5:30, Mon.-Sat.
1-5 Sun.
"free parking in the rear of store"
MC, VISA, AMEX
• Free Gift Wrapping

Enjoy a cup of "good cheer" while you browse.

SPORT Style

Knit Hat or Gloves

6.95

Maroon and White

UMass Scarf also available

Photographer Dwayne Autery

M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3

Located in the Campus Center
UNIVERSITY STORE

HELP DECIDE HOW TO SPEND YOUR $$

VOTE

in the SATF/Concert, Reserves Referendum in the Hatch, DCs, New Africa House & Newman Ctr.

WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY

Don't let the administrators decide, vote!

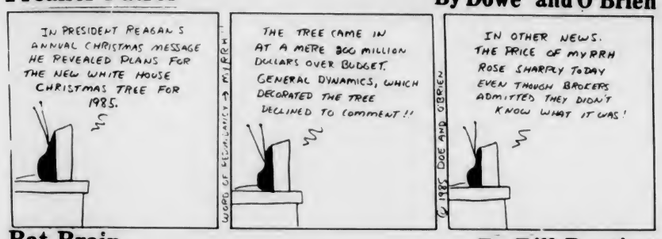
CONCERTS $50,000
FINANCE $50,000
EQUIPMENT $35,000
STABILIZATION $15,000

For more information, call the SGA Rents & Fees Hotline 545-0343

Doonesbury

BY GARRY TRUDEAU

Weather



Today: Cloudy, drizzle possibly turning to wet snow or sleet. Highs near 40

Tonight: Heavier drizzle or sleet. Lows 30-35

Tomorrow: Breezy, cold with a chance of rain. High's in the mid to upper 30's

Freaker Patrol

By Dowe and O'Brien

Bat Brain

By Bill Dearing

GORDY

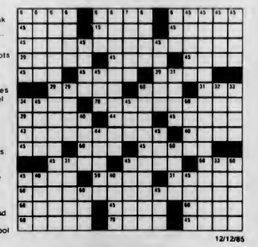
By Gorde

MENU

Lunch
Cavatelli Supreme
Hot Corned Beef on Rye
Basics Lunch
Shrimp Salad Roll
California Quiche
Basics Dinner
HOLIDAY DINNER
Stuffed Baked Eggplant
Breaded Chicken Breast Steaks
Whole Cranberry Sauce
Dinner
HOLIDAY DINNER
Rib Roast of Beef/Au Jus
Breaded Chicken Breast Steaks
Whole Cranberry Sauce

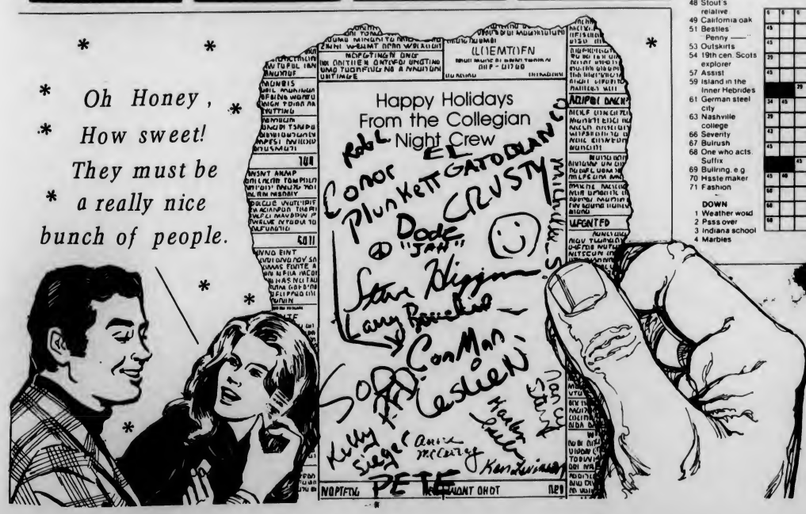
DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Edited by Trude Michel Jaffe



ACROSS
1 Excite
5 Sundry Abbr
9 Hajj destination
14 Arm bone
15 Poet's preposition
16 Family member
17 Wichita Falls university
20 That is: Lat
21 Conductor Akiro ——
22 Cupid
23 German article
24 Sea dogs
26 Bay
28 Harem members
30 Final: Abbr
31 Function
34 See 22 Across
36 Penances
39 Drum of a sort
41 —— Wiedersehn
42 Suns
43 Movement
46 Bacchanalian cry
47 WWII front
48 Stout's relative
49 California oak
51 Besties Penny ——
53 Outskirts
54 19th cen. Scots explorer
57 Assist
59 Island in the Inner Hebrides
61 German steel city
63 Nashville college
66 Severity
67 Bullrush
68 One who acts Suffix
69 Bullring, e.g.
70 Haste maker
71 Fashion

DOWN
1 Weather wood
2 Pass over
3 Indiana school
4 Marbles
5 NYC's Met
6 Highway system
7 Guns for Tommy
8 Blind feature
9 Error Prefix
10 Register
11 Worcester school
12 Roman statesman 234-139 B.C.
13 Overwhelms
18 Miss Kett
19 Stately
25 Menu words
27 "Don't throw bouquets ——"
29 Therefore
30 Like a raging river
32 Manche dept town
33 To be, to 12 Down
34 Talented
35 Hypothetical
37 Yes, to Rene
38 Knievel
40 Arabian suitsnate
44 Vegetable acid
45 Egg concoction
50 Censor's sound
52 Kitchen garb
53 Doldrum
55 Fabulist
56 —— nous
57 Another name for Shiva
58 Mideast ruler
60 Inaugural act
62 ERA, for one
64 Saver's letters
65 Gas Prefix



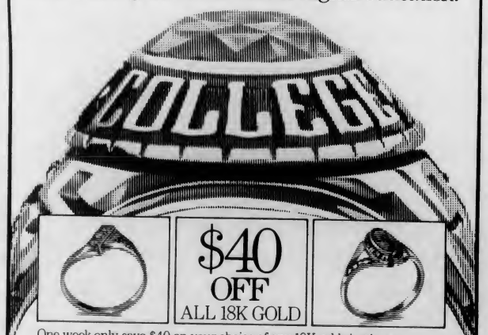
ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

S	L	A	M		O	D	D		A	B	A	B
K	A	N	G	A		Z	O	N	E		M	E	N
E	N	C	H	I	L	A	D	A	S		H	A	N	S
A	G	A		H	A	R	D		P	I	L	G	R	I	M	S
			E	R	I	K		B	A	C	O	N
	U	P	P	E	R		R	A	T	E		A	P	T
S	T	A	T	I	O		R	E	B	E	C		I	N	E
P	I	T	C	H		E	R	A		B	E	S	I	N
A	L	I		O	P	E	N	S		E	R	E	C	T
D	E	S		T	A	I	S		R	A	I	S	E
		S	I	E	G	E		L	A	M	E
L	E	G	E	N	D	A	R	Y		O	I	S	C		A	W	E
B	O	R	A		C	H	A	M	P	A	G	N	E		S
L	A	I	S		E	I	N	E		K	N	I	T	T	E	R	S
S	W	E	E	P		P	A	I	S		E	N	I	L	O

12/12/85

Oh Honey, How sweet! They must be a really nice bunch of people.

MONEY MOTIVATED?



If You Are Enthusiastic, Have A Strong Clear Speaking Voice and Have the Confidence to Prove What it Takes, Keep Reading This

We are a Major Industrial Tool Company Expanding a new office in Amherst, Mass Telemarketing is the future successful road to sales in the 1980's, and we are growing rapidly. 3 shifts allow you to work around your schedule, and you can earn up to $10.00 per hour while training. There are still 25 positions available. Salary + Commissions + Bonuses. For an appointment, Call 7 AM-7 PM, Dave 413-256-4101

Best Savings Yet!

Introducing the lower cost of higher education.

One week only, save $40 on your choice of any 18K gold ring in our selection. For complete details, see your Jostens representative at:

Date: Dec. 12, 13, - Thur, Fri Time: 10 - 4 pm Deposit Req.: $15.00

Place: Univ. Store

UNIVERSITY STORE

©1985 Jostens, Inc.

JOSTENS
AMERICA'S COLLEGE RING™

INTERSESSION JOBS TODAY and TOMORROW

Thursday Dec. 12 and Friday. Dec. 13

A representative from Stratton Resort will be on campus to interview students for temporary, full time work between Dec. 21st - Jan 5th.

We're paying $50 per day, providing free transportation daily, and free skiing tickets for everyone who works for us during this period. Please contact Bernice Stratton in the Student Employment Office (239A Whitmore) for details on location and interview times.

Stratton has jobs in the food and beverage, housekeeping, lifts, parking and customer service departments.

Stratton Corp. is an Equal Opportunity Employer

STUDENTS INTERSESSION $5.00 PER HOUR

Work Available all over New England
in your home area during Christmas Break
on campus information sessions
to be held on
Dec 12 & Dec 18 at Cc Room 904
10 am, 11 am etc
up and including 6 pm
For more information you may contact Student Employment Rm 239A Whitmore or call collect at 617-366-6473

RGIS INVENTORY SPECIALISTS

EOE

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Come to Collegian Office CC 113 • 8:45-3:45 Mon - Thurs; 8:45 - 2:30 Fri • Deadline is 2 days prior to publication day
Cash in advance • Phone number FREE

ACTIVITIES

Imagine! Create! Submit! Spectrum Magazine

Social Hour Friday 4:30-6:30 at Chequers University Dr. Join us Sponsored by the 25 plus Club

Chanukah Party for Grads, older undergrads and working folks Friday 12/13 7 pm Jewish Community of Amherst. Hillel, 545-2526 for information

Southwest Residents - Get Involved! Weekly Southwest Assembly meeting tonight, 7:00 pm in Hampden's Southside Room. All are welcome

AFGHANI 100% WOOL SWEATERS

Only $15 in the Concourse Wed & Thurs also Kenya bags - $15 gloves - $5 leather socks - $8 and lots more. Ask for Paul for special deals

APARTMENT FOR RENT

Available for Intersession and/or Spring '86 - space in Brittany Manor apartment rent $147.00 per month call 256-0866

AUDIO

BOSE 101 speakers. Like new. Info call 6-7917

AUTO FOR SALE

1976 Pinto automatic runs well $500 or best offer 584-5742

Jeep 1979 CS-7 soft top low mileage runs great asking $3500 256-8056

79 Mercury Zephyr 22⁸ mpg runs great, book value - $2200 - will sell at a loss $1500 or BO - must sell immediately! - Joe 549-6529

1975 Pontiac Venture custom hatchback PS/PB/AT, 6-cyl, snow tires, $450 evenings 665-8289 Janet

1976 Ford Mustang $600 or best offer call ASAP Mary 546-8769

1976 Chevy Malibu good condition $650.00 firm call Meredith 549-3591

His and Hers Xmas Special; Two good running cars for $1500— '76 VW bus (no rust but bumped nose) and '70 VW Rabbit (dented door). Combined value $2,000. Phone: 546-9318 or 253-5291

CAROL-A-GRAM

Send a Christmas Carol to a friend. Members of Band / KKPs will carol anywhere on campus or on Frat row for 2 dollars call 665-3518 or 545-3410 by Thursday evening Merry X-mas

"CASH"

Cash for your baseball cards please call Mike 546-8105

EEL SKIN WALLETS

Great X-mas Gifts for the men in your life, unique boxer shorts Both must be seen. 549-4853 or 549-7548

ENTERTAINMENT

Rack-A-Disc Entertainment Agency for the best party this semester. DJ's, large screen video, rentals. 549-7144

Turn the Tables professional party/club D.J. 2 yr experience widest selection call 24 hr. 586-9691

FOR RENT

Sunderland, 1 bdrm apt. on busline, 420/month, everything included. Avail. immediately! 665-3440, leave message

Next to UMass. Share apartment with woman and son. $200/ Call 549-0024

One bedroom apt: Cliffside, on bus rte. $340/mo. all util incl. mod kitch, qun-sz. bed, laund, 7-Eleven call 665-7596 eves avail Jan 1

Room in house available for Spring semester, Jan-Aug across street from campus, walk to town, deck, washer dryer, big back yard, pets OK 250/month + utilities. 549-6864 Lisa or Pat

Rooms available over Intersession Close to campus, walking distance, kitchen facilities call 549-3831, ask for John or Bill

For rent starting Jan 25 large room in house in Amherst Ctr call 549-5866

One room available in Swiss Village. $215 per month - utilities are included. For Spring semester - starting January. Clean, quiet, on the busline. Cash reward call 256-1061

One room in Brittany, Jan. 1st. 180/mo. heat & hot water incl. 256-0783

Two bedroom Townehouse for rent Jan 1. Beautiful! 665-4692 Jen or Lisa

2 bedroom Colonial Village 1 room available in Jan lease available Feb 1 call 256-0693

Apt for rent second sem. 2 bd 10 min from camp. call 665-3571

Room for 1 or 2, central location call 253-3932 Paola/Isabel

Room available 1/1 for nonsmoking female, house in North Amherst. $190/ 549-4132 leave message

1 room in 2 bdrm Sndrlnd apt - sublet or take lease - 1/27/86 - 8/31/86 188/month ⁵ elec 665-7629 nights

1 rm is lovely Sunderland apt 145/mo incl heat call 665-3930

1 bedroom in 3 bedroom apt available Jan 1. Close to town and campus. $225/mo.⁵ utilities. Call Donna at 549-7692 after 6 pm

Two rooms for rent in Swiss Village for next semester call 256-6633

One bedroom apt Brandywine apt Amherst $420 a month inc. available Feb 1st call after 11 pm 549-2726

Room in beach available starting January 1st 5 miles outside of Amherst Robyn or Melanie 325-7079

1 bedroom for 1 person in Swiss Village $215/mo all utils included call John 256-6625

Warm 3 bedroom apt in Belchertown 9 mi from schools on bus route $625 $208 ea. heat included take over lease until Sept. 323-6701

Almost new 3 bedroom apartment 1½ bath in 2 family home. Lovely country setting near Rte 47 move in Dec 24 550/mo tel 665-2995 eves 367-9427

One bedroom apt in town on bus route great location! 5 min walking distance from campus take over lease by January call 256-1668 Guillermo

I rm Swiss Village bus in $215 month util. included 253-8225

Single rooms for rent at local Fraternity call 545-2117

FOR SALE

Computer Terminal with modem $200 or BO Diane 549-1449

67 Volkswagon convertible excellent heat, stereo, smoothies Recent clutch, brakes, tuneup. Warm and dry, reliable 500$ or best offer. Josh 549-7185 thanks

1963 Nighthawk 450 must sell will accept any reasonable offer call Allen 546-6876

10 speed bicycle good shape $45 call soon 546-8996

Skis for sale Dynastar Acryglass ex condition 200 cm w/bindings 36or Tyrolos $160 or BO call 546-7964

Cheap Stereo Yamaha R-300 30-watt stereo receiver with EPI TE100 speakers. High quality and great sound for slow price. 300 or BO 546-4141

For sale 88 Dynastar Course Slalome 200 cm with Tyrolia 390RD's used just one season $225. Boots Solomon 10 $70 call Nick 549-5031

Kneisel Skis, Marker bindings, Raichle boots 10½, poles. Will break up. $125 must sell 6-8037 Matt

High power graphic equaliser booster 75 w/ch/ch/ 7 chnls $80 6-8037 Matt

Must sell portable electronic typewriter like new best offer 549-5939

Must sell Ford Granada 1976 exc cond low mileage best offer 549-5939

Soft Contact Lenses most daily wear lenses $18.00 to $25.00 each. Extended wear lenses $30.00 to $48.00. Lowest prices on contact lens solutions heat units $12.95 Amherst Optical Shoppe 253-5412, 256-6403

Refrigerator $80, bookcase $20, rug $10. call 6-4232 (evening)

FOUND

At 6C Brandywine 12/6/85 Friday night I picked up someones coat and I think you have mine. Very important I get it back It is a dark blue coat, to length. My coat had a rhinestone pin on the lapel. Please call Janene or Wendy at 549-5983 preferably at night

HELP WANTED

JOBS FLORIDA - Hightech, Aerospace, Finance. List of firms, locations, & contact points. Send $7.95 Southeast Market Consultants Inc. Suite 4A, 74 Gulf Blvd., IRB Florida 33535

Responsible males wanted for work during spring semester in exchange for meals For more information call 545-0527

Job Opening Womens Leadership Project coordinating spring 86 10 hrs wk $3.35 deadline 12/15 applications SUB 415 or 420 get paid for feminist organizing!

Wine Mgr. - Up to 40 hrs. Knowledge of and enthusiasm for wine essential. Call Four Seasons Wines/Liquors, Hadley 584-8174

Orientation counselor positions available 101 Berkshire House. Deadline 12/20/85

Personal Care 8:30-1:30 6 days 5-7 pm, 2 nights 10-8 am interview 253-7387

Campus Representatives wanted to sell Spring Break trips to Bermuda, Bahamas, Florida & more. Highest commissions paid plus free travel. Call 800-251-8747 (nationwide) 800-341-8747 (Mass only)

Firefighter Amherst Fire Department, Amherst, Massachusetts. The Town of Amherst, Massachusetts is seeking qualified candidates for present and future vacancies for Firefighter in the Amherst Fire Department. One vacancy exists and the eligibility list will be in effect for approximately two (2) years. Candidates must be U.S. citizens, high school graduates, (or equivalent), and 19 years of age. Send for approved application form and complete announcement (including required qualifications and selection procedure) to: Town Manager's Office, Town Hall, Amherst, MA 01002. All applicants must be received in the Town Manager's Office by 4 p.m. on January 31, 1986. Amherst is an equal opportunity employer and encourages women and minorities to apply

Last Chance summer counselor jobs 101 Berkshire House deadline 12/20/85

INSTRUCTION

Private Guitar Lessons experienced and patient teacher rock/pop/folk/blues improv., reading, theory, composition. Your home or my studio. Doug 549-4786

Intersession Bartending Courses 4 sections available sign up in Credit Free Workshops Room 111 Tower Library

INTERSESSION SUBLET

One room (two people) in Brittany cable TV, bar, universal and more! 100/mo call now 256-1412

KITTEN

Very cute, loveable tabby kitten needs a home ASAP please call Susan 323-4361

LOST

Lost blue knapsack w/books only. If found call Joey 549-2792 reward

Gold and diamond bracelet. Boyden Gym/Parking Lot or Stop & Shop/McManus Parking Lot. $50 reward. 545-1309 584-0689

Gold "Bar"-Link Bracelet on Friday Dec 6. Very important to me. Please return for large reward. Call Julie at 546-4153

Glasses with brown plastic frame in brown case. Reward. Rick 546-7977

Lost 6 keys on loop on path to Lot 44 from N.O.P.E. call 6-4979

I lost my keys in the Thurs Bot 100 exam 546-8942

MARK KENNEDY

Happy 21st Birthday - I'm glad we're spending it together - I love you, Amy

MARVELOUS

U Look Marvelous bumper stickers $1 546-6313

MOVER

'Round Town Movers fast reliable cheap call Michael anytime 323-6780

MUST SELL

1977 Red Chev Camaro good condition 4 extra tires AM/FM stereo. $700 call PM 549-0462

PEOPLE'S MARKET

To warm your heart on those cold days of Winteressoin, be sure to stop by the People's Market for some hot java and other wonderful food! We'll be open starting January 2, 1986. (Located in the Stu. Union around the corner from the Post Office).

PERSONALS

Ski Sugarbush! Hotel $149 call Ski Club now 545-3437

Dear Lori: Congratulations on your early graduation. We are very proud of you and know you will always be successful. Love Mom, John, Jennifer

Xmas idea - Two Lhasa Apso small dogs need a home. If any interest okease call heidi 256-8906 or 256-0971 Tom

Help save funding for your group! Vote yes on SATF fee increase Dec 11, 12

Student Activities Trst Fund is student money vote yes on Weds, Thurs, Dec 11, 12 to keep it in Student Control!

Help save funding for your Registered Student Organization! Vote yes on SATF fee increase Dec 11, 12!

Help save Spring Concerts! Vote yes on SATF fee increase! Dec 11, 12

Don't let the Administration tell you what to do with your money! Help Save Spring Concerts and other student activites. Vote yes on SATF fee increase Dec 11, 12

Elliot N. - I like your style!!! You've got class! - Your Secret Admirer! (Curious?)

HIFERTT — Grow up! Your "girlfriend"

REPO MAN
starring Emilio Estevez
Thur. Dec. 12
S.U.B.
at 5 pm 1.50 7, 9, 11 2.00
sponsored by Lambda Chi Alpha

Michael - Today's the last day to meet the Graphics family. Get down here!! We're not quite as rude as you've heard

Ed Curley, are you coming? This is no joke!

To the best roommates - Wendy and Cindy have a crazy Birthday! We love ya! From the best roommates - Dawn and Megan

Jim H. I've been eyeing you from across the cafeteria. Lets get together and let this lust "Hatch" into something orgasmic

Chris H. I've been watching you and lust you so! But when will the other side of your hair grow back? Secret Admirer

Berta - Congratulations on getting Stouffer's! Thanks for always being there for me this semester! I'll miss you lots. Love always Sheryl

Nick, You've been a great friend. Good luck in Italy. We'll miss you! Hugs-n-kisses -the girls

John and Bob, Do the sombo! Love Pigs and Bunnies

NANCY ZEBE of Chi Rho Congratulations on your upcoming graduation! Good news: McDonald's is hiring and a motel in Palmer is running escape weekends for under ten dollars!

Dear Iffy, Do foreigners really make better lovers? Since we're living separate lives in a small town I don't know if we'll ever find out. Love, the Other Woman P.S. Honet, this is good coffee

Berg, Bubba, Harry, Mac, Rick, Tay, Tom, Z Congrats on not getting arrested this semester, but don't forget there's always next semester. Good luck on finals and remember we love you. Rachel, Sheryl, Kim and Eli

Gloria, Good luck back home. We will miss you. Love, Tito y Chendo

Lil cat - Thanx for being such a great friend - I love you! I'm going to miss you over Intersession. Merry X-mas! Laura

Rambo Brothers! Gary, Scott, OLS, Tim Let's go ramboing one last time! Friday night see you then. James

Attention: Lisa, Donna and Chris. Thanks for a fun semester. I will miss you guys! (you too Justin) Merry Christmas. Love Ellen

Jay C. — The hayride was lotsa fun!! Thanx! You're a great cook (sorry you got burned) Hee' Hee' Love, - Cath

RIDE WANTED

Ride wanted to Toronto before Xmas share $ call Camilla 549-7515

UVM/Burlington, VT area leave after finals. Evenings 665-8989 Janet

Ride wanted to the West Coast (any city in CA) share the expenses, call Frank 546-1041, leave the message

Martha's Vineyard Help! I need a ride home - 19th or 20th will share expenses Please call 6-4396

RIDERS WANTED

To Florida December 18 or 23 from Long Island non-smoker, please call mark 546-8393 or Eric 549-6541

ROOM WANTED

Rooms/sublets needed Jan 5-18. Call the School for Body-Mind Centering 256-9615

Help, female looking for room for Intersession near campus preferred call Jacqueline 546-6306 eves or early morning keep trying

ROOMMATE WANTED

Apt to share pleasant reasonable ideally located in Amherst Ctr 774-2740

Two roommates wanted male or female in Southwood apt call Eric 256-1628

Female roommate wanted for spring Brittany manor 253-7868 available Jan 1

2 females needed for 1 lg bdrm in house near town availa 1/1 on bus route call 253-2284 after 5 pm

2 females wanted to share room in Puffton apt free Jan 1 call Caroline 549-2643

Female to share room in Colonial Village apt $105 * util on bus route start Feb. 1 253-5618

1 or 2 roommates needed to share 1 bdrm in 2 bdrm Squire Village apt immediately 665-2219

Quiet Graduate student seeks same to share two bedroom house in Sunderland. Total rent less than $300 665-8194

Two bedrooms available Feb. 1 in Noho apt. male or female apt is one min walk to bus and Downtown Northampton 187.50 per mo * utilities apt is a huge townhouse on Graves Ave 584-5016

Walk to school - room available ½ mile from campus in North Amherst. One or two people wanted to live with 4 males $175 month. Available 1/86 but move in after finals! Call now! 549-6570

1 or 2 people to fill 1 bedroom in 2 bedroom first manor apt call 256-1378

Female roommate/housemate wanted for a deluxe double in a Main St house very close to town. 256-1253

Large bedroom, quiet N Amherst neighborhood, prefer older student 200/ after six 549-7515

male roommate wanted for spring semester in 2 bedroom Brandywine apt call 6-8 pm Ed 549-4726 also have positions available for Winteressoin

Roommates needed for a Brandywine apartment call 549-4902 (Tami)

Female roommate wanted for spring semester call Betsy 253-5371

Female roommate needed to share large room in excellent apt. Must see! Crown Pt. across from Jr's, beginning Feb 1 253-5406

Huge Room: 7 minutes to campus pvt bath quiet avail Jan 1 300/mo * call mark 666-2529

Female roommate wanted for Brittany start Jan/Feb $140/mo call 256-8645

Southwood apt - one room available one or two people/male or female call Alan or Brian nights 253-3353

Male roommate needed to share 1 room in Brittany immediately 546-5144

Male roommate wanted for Brittany manor apt Jan to May 31 call 256-1041

Roommate wanted for one bedroom in a two bedroom apartment 197.50/mo inclusive call Jeff 665-4991

One or two roommates wanted for well furnished Brittany Manor apt starting Jan/Feb call Dan or Tom 256-1624

Female roommate wanted for NY 1 room hotel in Manhattan for month of Jan call Carmen 256-0203

SERVICES

Escort Service available 8 pm - 2:30 am everyday any where on campus. Play it safe call 5-2123 for an escort ANYTIME

Papers typed. 253-3634

Professional typing. Fast, accurate, conscientious. 665-7652

SUBLET WANTED

Winteressoion sublet wanted. Single room with kitchen priv. call Greg 546-5502 late

TO SUBLET

Intersession 2 room apt 5 min to campus, bus stop out door if lazy, super place, $ negot 256-1207

One largy bedroom in two bedroom apt available Jan 1 $290 mo call ed or Steve 253-9509

Intersession only 2 rooms in Puffton apt 549-3809

Wanted apt for rent during Intersession pref Brandywine call 6-7970

Room available in Amherst Center over January. $150 or lower. Great location ask for Dave 256-6612

To sublet - Intersession, one bedroom in Townahouse apartments call John 549-7799

To sublet: one bedroom apt Puffton starting Jan 1 new carpet & paint respond by Dec 19 call 549-2625

Winteressoion room for one or two on bus route, cable 253-3515

Jan sublet North Hadley $125 option to take lease 586-9542

Single available Amherst Centar $160/month quiet grt location (Hallock St) call 253-7149 from 9-12, 10-7 Jan 1, Feb 1

Single bedroom in 4 bedroom apt in house available Jan 25 - Aug 31, one eqt5th mile to cmapus, $242/mo (includes heat) must be a non-smoker call Kathy at 549-6925 eves or early morn

Female for intersession Main St $175 heat incl 253-9304

TRAVEL

"Take a Break on the French Side!!!" Skibreak's January trip to Tignes/Val d'Isere in the French Alps includes RT airfare (Swissair), transfers, accommodations, skipass (116 lifts), slalom races, cocktails for $740!! nights in resort Skibreak (203) 354-6069 Ted 546-4733

Ski Purgatory! Supersaver RT airfare must sell! Hartford/Denver $224 Den/Durango $150 depart 1/14 return 1/22 247-5340 eves

TYPING SERVICE

QUALITY TYPING. Long or short projects. Will correct grammar, spelling, & punctuation. Meticulous proofreading. New IBM typewriter. 549-0367

TYPING & WORD PROCESSING

Next Day Service. Type-Rite 253-5111

VALUABLE EXPERIENCE

The Collegian is seeking correspondents in the Five Colleg area to report on the various goings on in the area. An excellent way to gain experience with a daily newspaper. For more information contact Anne McCrory or Tom Middleton at 545-3500

WANTED

Quiet, neat female seeks a room on bus route for spring semester call 546-6363 nights prefer non-smoker

Local Security seeks mature woman as a housesmother free room and board Grad student or older. Please contact Kelly 256-6887

WANTED TO RENT

We want your 2 bdrm house or apt will take over lease in Jan call 546-1199 for your cash reward!!

Help! I need an apt or room to share in North Amherst. Spring semester Karen 253-7868

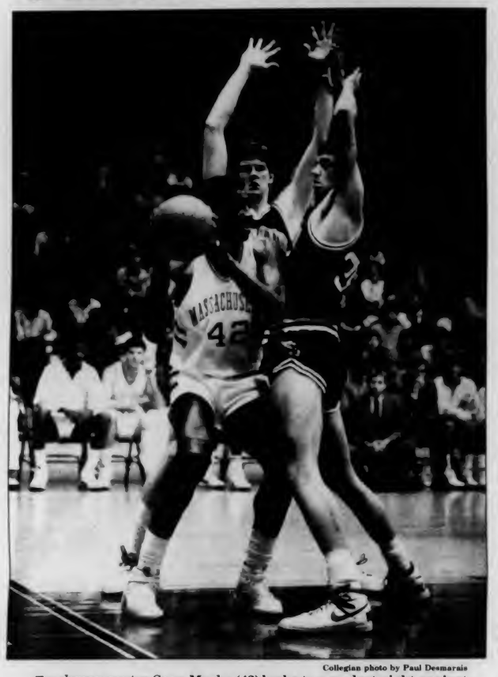
Responsible female student looking for quiet clean non-student household or apt need for spring sem must know by Dec 10 Larri 546-4392

One or two bedroom apartment for the spring semester. Call 546-4963

Large bedroom in house on bus rte in S Amherst Feb 1 - Aug 30 $172.50/mo * util Mark 256-0084

Couple with young child need suitable space for January only 549-0412

Help! Mature, neat, studious but fun male senior seeks room is nice apt/house for spring semester. Jack 546-8178



WINTERSESSION SUBLET Northampton before noon call Todd 546-7399

WATCH OUT U-PENN

Congratulations Deena Best of Luck at UOP - you deserve it! from the person who you became very close to, and lives ya, from Ms. Burak's english class! Here is to many roadtrips! Luv me

SPORTS

UMass falls short again, 78-77

Collegian photo by Paul Desmarais

Freshman center Sean Mosby (42) looks to pass last night against St. Bonaventure in the Cage. UMass lost, 78-77.

Bonnies hold on in A-10 opener

By PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts men's basketball team can no longer use its youth as an excuse, they lost a game they should have won last night.

The Minutemen fell to 2-4 on the season, losing their Atlantic 10 Conference opener, 78-77 to St. Bonaventure University before 3,380 at the Curry Hicks Cage as Bonnie forward Barry Mungar had a career-high 31 points.

UMass never led in the game, but has several chances in the final minute to win, missing on all of them. All four of UMass' losses have been games the Minutemen had golden opportunities to win, but failed to.

Trailing at one point by 14, 54-40 with 18:01 left in the game, the Minutemen rallied to within one, 75-76 with 13 seconds left, but came up short again.

The game's final minute was a hectic one as St. Bonaventure, 4-1, kept UMass in the game with a series of missed one-and-one free throw chances.

Trailing 76-71 with 2:55 left, UMass freshman Joe Fennell made the second of two free throws. A jumper by sophomore guard Lorenzo Sutton (15 points) cut it to 76-74 a little more then a minute later. The Bonnies' Elmer Anderson then missed a one-and-one with 1:29 left and UMass had a chance to tie.

But Fennell missed an easy layup, forcing David Brown to foul Albert Middleton with 59 seconds to go. The Bonnie guard missed and UM's Sean Mosby (19 crowd-pleasing points and nine rebounds) rebounded and UMass again had a chance to tie.

Brown threw up an airball and Fennell quickly fouled Anderson with just 39 seconds to go. He too missed, Carl Smith grabbed the rebound and for the third time, UMass had a chance to tie.

Sutton rimmed a jumper before Duane Chase missed another easy layup. Mosby grabbed the rebound and on the way up, was hacked by Anderson with 13 seconds left.

Mosby, who earlier this season missed a crucial free throw that could've beat Connecticut, missed the first of his two free throws off the front of the rim, but made the second and UMass trailed, 76-75.

Chase fouled Anderson, wasting just three seconds, and the junior (who entered the game at 72 percent from the line) missed again and Sutton led the break downcourt with time running out.

Sutton pulled up, neglecting to use UM's final time out, and passed to Chase. The freshman bobbled the ball, regained possession, but travelled with three seconds left, turning the ball back over to the Bonnies.

Mungar was fouled with a second left and made both three throws for a 78-75 lead. UMass called timeout and managed to get the ball to Fitzhugh Tarry who hit a short jumper as the buzzer sounded.

"It's very frustrating to lose like this again," said UMass coach Ron Gerlufsen. "We're not doing the things we have to so to win and it's costing us. We can't use youth as our excuse any more. We should've called time out when the break was stopped, but we didn't. That's a mistake of youth I guess., but we still shouldn't make it."

Smith agreed with his coach, talking minutes after the team had a closed door meeting after the game without its coaches, the captain questioned the attitude of his team.

"This team thinks it's too cool," said Smith. "And when you're cool, you don't want to get dirty and you need to get dirty to win basketball games."

"I've been playing ball for 16 years, we all have, youth's no excuse, we have to play with intensity." said Smith. "I think we tell ourselves that it's OK to lose because we're young. I won't say what I think that is."

In the first half, UMass was lucky to trail only 48-40 as Mungar ruled the inside, scoring 20 points as UMass trailed 11-2 early. The second half saw UMass start slowly again, falling behind by 13 before increased intensity got them back in the game.

For UMass, Brown had 10 and Fennell nine. The Bonnies won the game at the line, hitting 28-of-43 foul shots as UMass, with 28 field goals, had three more that the visitors.

MINUTEMAN MUTTERINGS: Faces in the crowd: A-10 commissioner Charlie Theokas. . .the newly-formed Sean Mosby fan club sold "Mister Mosby's Mob' pins for $1. Kyle Moleski and Greg Rothman are officers in the club. . .the officials called a tight game, whistling the teams for 53 fouls. . .UM was 80 percent from the line. . .This was the first time the Bonnies beat UMass in the Cage since 1980. . .UMass won two games against the Bonnies last season. . .Middleton is the brother of Hartford's Dana Middleton, who played against UMass on Saturday night. . .the Minutemen are at Northeastern on Saturday.

UMass (77) Sean Mosby 7-10 5-6 19, Lorenzo Sutton 6-15 3-3 15, David Brown 4-9 2-3 10, Joe Fennell 3-5 3-4 9, Carl Smith 1-1 4-4 6, Duane Chase 1-6 3-5 5, Mike Mundy 2-5 1-1 5, Wilbert Hicks 2-4 0-0 4, Fitzhugh Terry 1-1 0-0 2, Ben Jones,1-1 0-0 2, Tom Emerson 0-0 0-0 0. Totals: 28-57 21-26 77.

St. Bonaventure (78) Barry Mungar 8-16 15-18 31, Doug Turner 5-7 2-2 12, Elmer Anderson 4-8 4-8 12, Albert Middleton 3-8 0-1 6, Patrick Allen 2-4 2-2 6, Sam Graham 2-2 1-4 5, Radcliffe Llewellyn 1-9 2-4 4, Tom Boney 0-2 1-2 1, Darren Quinlan 0-1 1-1 1. Totals: 25-57 28-43 78.

UMass (2-4)	40 37 - 77
St. Bonaventure (4-1)	48 30 - 78

Fouled Out: Fennell Total Fouls: UMass - 30, St. Bonaventure - 23. Rebounds: UMass - 37 (Mosby, 9), St. Bonaventure - 38 (Mungar, 6). Assists: UMass - 16 (Smith, 7), St. Bonaventure - 14 (Turner, 6). Technicals: None. Attendance: 3,380.

Women's hoop on road at Connecticut

By JOHN A. NOLAN
Collegian Staff

Coming off a four-game sweep of New England opponents, the University of Massachusetts women's basketball team travels to Storrs, tonight at 7:30 p.m. to battle the University of Connecticut in what could be its toughest test of the young season.

For the Minutewomen, 4-1, the game will be its first visit to enemy territory since their 76-66 season-opening loss at the University of Maine. Playing, and pounding, its last four opponents before friendly crowds at the Cage, UMass head coach Barbara Stevens knows her team is going to be pushed.

"Now is the time to learn to play on the road," Stevens said. "They're on a roll so this will be our biggest test since Maine. We'll be facing a team that is confident and has jelled as a unit."

The Huskies are off to the best start in the team's 11-year history sporting a 6-0 record under first-year head coach Geno Auriemma. Senior center Peggy Walsh leads Auriemma's high-powered, 73.7 points-per-game offense scoring 19.7 ppg., adding 15.2 rebounds-per-game while blocking 2.5 shots-per-game. Last week's Big East Player of the Week, the 6-2 Walsh followed up that honor by being named MVP of UConn's Finast Gold Court Tournament in which the Huskies defeated Marist College and Atlantic-10 conference power George Washington.

Walsh will have a two-inch height advantage over UMass sophomore center Sue Burtoft (10 ppg., 10 rpg) but Stevens isn't worried about trying to stop the big center.

"We have a mismatch against Walsh but we have 15 fouls to waste on her," she said, referring to UMass' added depth in guarding Walsh. "Being three against one at center will help us."

Stevens said the key for the Minutewomen will be their superiority in depth over the Huskies, saying that while UConn generally uses only a couple of players off the bench, she has the luxury of playing all 12 of her players.

"I consider the bench extremely important to the success of our team. We're going to bring a pressing defense, run the transition, and try to wear them down with fresh players coming off the bench," Stevens said.

UMass is led by seniors Juanita Matthews (11.8 ppg.), forward Karen Damminger (11.6 ppg.) and Burtoft. Sophomore forward Tara Lewis (9.4 ppg.), seniors Barbara Hebel (6.2 ppg.) and Jerrie Bernier (6.0 ppg.) give added depth to the Minutewomen.

MINUTEWOMEN MUTTERINGS: UMass is averaging 74.0 ppg. and with only three players scoring in double figures, Stevens said that the inability to pinpoint any one player as being a star is a tribute to the quality of team play that has been demonstrated . . . The UMass defense is allowing an average of 56.8 ppg. and is forcing 25.4 turnovers-per-game. . .UMass is shooting 48.2 percent from the field, 62 percent from the foul line, averages six more rpg. than opponents and is 4-0 defending its home court.

Women's soccer notebook

Recruiting starts-up

By GERRY deSIMAS
Collegian Staff

The press clippings from the successful 16-1 University of Massachusetts women's soccer 1985 season aren't three weeks old yet and New England coach-of-the-year Kalekeni Banda and assistant coach Carl Beal are already bringing in recruits for the 1986 season.

Athletes can't sign letters of intent until April 1 but several top-flight candidates have expressed interest in UMass and have applied for admission.

One of the best looks to be Ellen Weinberg, a top halfback from Dallas, Texas. She's a member of the Southern Regional team and has UMass as her top choice. "One of the top players in the country," Banda said.

Beth Morgan, a halfback from Cinninnati, has also expressed strong interest in the school along with Lisa Telk of Denver, yet another halfback interested in the Minutewomen.

UMass returns nine lettermen next year and has only to replace fullback Sue Bird and halfback Jamie Watson. Banda has some propsects in the Virginia area including two goalies, one of which plays the field, as well.

Banda said that UMass starting goalie Jan Holland told him, "to go out and find the best one (keeper) you could find. I like to be challenged."

Sports at a glance

UMass Schedule:

Today: Women's Basketball: at Connecticut, 7:30 p.m.

The Massachusetts Daily — A REGISTERED STUDENT ORGANIZATION — NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY

Collegian

Volume CXV, Issue 68 UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AMHERST (545-3500) Friday, December 13, 1985

Collegian photo by Maria Bull

BRIGHT LIGHTS, SMALL TOWN—Soon all UMass students will be able to sit back and relax as Senior chemical engineering major Carol Warner does in South Deerfield center last night.

Gay activist discusses AIDS

By LESLEY CLARK
Collegian Staff

Gay activist David Summers, who was diagnosed with Acquired Immune Defiency Syndrome 22 months ago, spoke to a near capacity crowd last night in the Campus Center.

"I go to about one funeral a week," Summers said. "I am very fearful."

Summers, 33, was diagnosed with Kaposi's sarcoma (a form of cancer, which sometimes indicates AIDS) in Feb. 1984. "The news turned my world upside down. I thought my life was over."

He said, however, that he became "determined to speak publicly and dispell the myths, counteract the hysteria and humanize AIDS. Having AIDS has empowered me to defend the rights of gays and lesbians everywhere."

Public misconceptions and paranoia about AIDS must change if any progress is to be made, he said.

Summers said his mother visited him in New York after his diagnosis but returned home to Houston four days later. He said she wrote him a letter telling him not to come home or tell his brothers about the disease because "he'd make everyone uncomfortable."

"I have a serious disease, probably fatal," Summers said, reading from the reply he sent his mother. "I did not choose to be gay. I am not ashamed. I do not feel I am being punished by AIDS.

"To think I will pass AIDS along...is thirteenth century hysteria. I will not tolerate second class citizenship because I am gay.

"When I was at my lowest, physically, spiritually and mentally, my gay family came to my rescue," he said.

"AIDS is just the tip of the iceberg," Dr. Paul Berman of the University Health Services said after the speech. "A very large percent of the population carries the virus. (i.e. people may carry the virus but not exhibit symptoms of AIDS)"

Berman said the government began to spend more money on AIDS research after the death of Rock Hudson, but that "you can bet they're not going to stop making B-1 bombers to finance medical research."

Summers, an off-Broadway actor, who said he has "always been a gay activist" is a founding member of People with AIDS coalition, a New York based support group.

His speech was sponsored by the University of Massachusetts' Program for Gay, Lesbian and Bisexual Concerns.

Collegian photo by Maria Bull

AIDS activist David Summers speaks at the Campus Center last night

Students cope with stress differently

By REBECCA THATCHER
Collegian Staff

University of Massachusetts students offered a variety of suggestions to keep from being overwhelmed by work during finals week, in an informal survey conducted in the Campus Center.

"I've learned to take one subject at a time. It's the only way to do it, don't think of everything you have to do at once," said Jodi Cohen, 21, a senior majoring in marketing and economics.

Many students mentioned the importance of finding a person with whom to study.

"It's important to find someone to commiserate with," said Laurie Woolrich, 22, an English major. She also said working at a local bookstore provided her with a good release.

Drinking, not taking things so seriously, and participating in other activities were all offered as ways to keep yourself from becoming suicidally stressed.

"I don't work, I get plenty of sleep, I eat reasonably well when my budget allows it and I don't do well in my classes," said Drew Flint, 20, a theater major.

And then there's the philosophy that when the going gets tough, the tough go shopping.

"I buy earrings." said Priscilla Page, 22, an animal science major.

Expert advice came from psychology major Flavia Smith, 21, a student from Brazil.

Eating well improves your endurance, she said. "A good spaghetti dinner can be psychologically enhancing."

Most important, she added, is not procrastinating.

"Don't think about it, don't philosophize, don't criticize, just do it." Smith said.

One student said video game playing increases during exam week because it is a good way to "get rid of tension."

"I don't know if it works, but it feels good," said Craig Lant, a 22-year-old pre-COINS major.

Students vote for $12 increase in activity fee

Decision is non-binding

By JOEL P. COFFIDIS
Collegian Staff

A referendum question held yesterday and Wednesday asking if students support a $12 Student Activity Trust Fund fee increase was approved, but the vote is non-binding since less than the required 15 percent voted.

About 10 percent of the undergraduate student population voted, with almost all the votes counted last night. Not including absentee ballots cast, 1,013 students approved the fee increase, while 784 opposed it.

A binding vote result would have been directly sent to the vice chancellor and later to the University Board of Trustees. Since there was too small a turnout, senators counting the votes last night said the Undergraduate Student Senate will have to render the results binding next seinester in order to see them acted upon.

"All in all, I'm extremely pleased with how the election went," said Karen Morvay, co-chair of the Governmental Affairs Committee, who supervised the election. "However, for whatever reason—apathy, not enough information concerning the issue, et cetera, there was only about a 10 percent voter turnout."

Joe Sparks, the co-chair of the Rents and Fees Committee and sponsor of the fee referendum question, said, "The students have spoken."

"This provides invaluable information for the Rents and Fees Committee for the SATF fee review hearing during the second week of classes next semester," Sparks said.

The fee review hearing will take place at the start of next semester, Sparks said, where SGA members will examine the state of the funding and make policy decisions based on this election result.

In addition to the fee increase, a non-binding referendum concerning the funding of the Massachusetts Public Interest Group and the State Student Association of Massachusetts, will be sent out to students early next semester.

The question will ask students if they approve of the current funding methods of the two groups, which consists of an optional fee listed on students' semester bills.

"We're very happy that students will finally get to vote on this issue," said Brian Darling and Tony Rudy, whose group, Students for Participatory Democracy organized the question.

START, Madson to meet

Five members of Students Advocating Rights Together (START) are scheduled to meet with Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs Dennis Madson Monday to discuss possible negotiations concerning the management of student fees.

The meeting, called in response to the administration taking more responsibility of the Student Activity Trust Fund, will involve the four Student Government Association officers and chair of the SGA Budgets Committee.

"Despite the lack of cooperation on the part of the vice chancellor to compromise on a negotiating team, START, in seeking to fulfill the needs of the student body, has agreed amongst itself to authorize these people to represent these needs to the vice chancellor," said John Ruddock, Undergraduate Student Senate Speaker and one of the team members.

"On this issue, we are prepared to put forth a unified voice to the campus administration," Ruddock said.

Jordan Rosner, chair of the senate Budget Committee, said all the group's members on this issue have put their "politics and differences aside."

—JOEL P. COFFIDIS

Inside:

Plane crash kills 258.....2
Bethanne Moskov on all-nighters.....11
Women's hoop loses.....24

Stress and depression are normal reactions when "time is short and work is long" —Psychologist Simon Keochakian on finals, story page 5.

WORLD/NATIONAL

AP Laserphoto

The wreckage of a DC-8 which was carrying U.S. servicemen lies on the ground outside Gander, Newfoundland yesterday. All aboard the plane were killed.

258 US soldiers die in plane crash

GANDER, Newfoundland (AP) - A DC-8 charter full of U.S. soldiers returning from the Middle East crashed and exploded yesterday near Gander International Airport, killing all 258 aboard and scattering gifts and weapons across snow-covered woods.

Families and friends learned of the disaster as they assembled for a brass-band welcome at the headquarters of the 101st Airborne Division at Fort Campbell, Ky., but carried on with plans for a Christmas music concert as a tribute to the dead.

Airport employees recalled hearing the exuberant Americans singing carols as they crowded into the duty-free shop.

"Just about every one of them bought some little thing to take back home," said cashier Cunthis Goodyear. "They were just so happy to be going home."

Cause of the 6:45 a.m. 5:15 a.m.EST crash remained under investigation, but the White House said preliminary reports showed no indication of sabotage or an in-flight explosion in history's eighth-worst aviation disaster.

The charred cock pit voice and fight recorders were recovered and will be taken to Ottawa for analysis, said Peter Boag of the Canadian Aviation Safety Board, who was directing the investigation.

The charter flight operated by Arrow Air of Miami carried members of the 101st Airborne who were being rotated home after six months service in the multi-national peacekeeping force in Egypt's Sinai peninsula.

Military authorities said it might take a day or two to notify all the next-of-kin, and as long as a week to positively identify remains.

CBS television showed debris smoldering in the snow beneath tall evergreens in sparse, hilly woods where the plane went down about a half-mile from the runway near Gander Lake.

Airport manager John Pitman said the aircraft carried 101,000 pounds of fuel on takeoff.

Roads to the airport were blocked and emergency vehicles with yellow lights flashing stood by as shivering rescue workers searched in vain for survivors. Smoke lingered in the air hours after the crash.

BC administrators guilty of embezzlement

CAMBRIDGE (AP) - A former Boston College housing director pleaded guilty yesterday to embezzling $35,000 from the school's housing account and from a student-run sub shop.

Richard E. Collins, 40, of Dedham was given a two-year suspended sentence to the Billerica House of Correction and six years of probation by Middlesex Superior Court Judge Richard S. Kelley.

Collins agreed to repay Boston College the $35,000 and an additional $15,000 for investigation costs incurred by the college.

A co-defendant, David Mitchell, 30, of Westwood, the former business manager of the college's housing department, pleaded guilty last Oct. 28 to embezzling $34,514 from the housing fund. Authorities said he used some of the funds to finance his Marblehead restaurant.

Mitchell also received a three- to five-year suspended sentence at the state prison in Walpole, three years of probation and was ordered to repay the amount embezzled plus $15,600 in investigative costs and $3,750 in court costs.

The prosecutor, Lawrence Dugan, told Kelley that Collins, a 14-year BC employee, embezzled thousands of dollars from the sub shop, which students opened in 1976. The shop's profits were to be rebated to the student body, Dugan said.

According to Dugan, Collins engaged in a double-dipping scheme by billing the college from 1979 to 1984 for expenses that the school had already paid.

Kelley said he felt the most effective punishment was "to strike at the pocket-book" rather than to impose a jail sentence.

Contadoras suspend talks

CARTAGENA, Colombia (AP) - The Contadora group has suspended negotiations on a peace agreement for Central America for five months at Nicaraguan's request, Colombia's foreign minister said Saturday.

Nicaragua officially proposed the suspension on grounds that new governments which take office in Guatemala and Honduras in January and in Costa Rica in April could change policy toward the negotiations, the Colombia foreign minister, Augusto Ramirez Ocampo, told The Associated Press.

He spoke during a meeting of the General Assembly of the Organization of American States.

"Contadora depends on the political will of each and every one of the five Central American countries and if one of them thinks that the effort should be postponed, it is very clear that the process is interrupted," Ramirez Ocampo told the AP.

He said the suspension comes at a time when the United States and Nicaragua are in a "deep confrontation...that damages are deteriorates the process of negotiation."

The Nicaraguan request was preceded by an "insinuation" by Costa Rica that negotiations on a craft

Interim funding approved

WASHINGTON (AP) - Congress, unable to agree on a multi-billion dollar funding measure for the full fiscal year, whisked through a stopgap bill yesterday needed to tide many federal agencies over for the weekend and prevent disruption of government services.

of the tax laws—the top item on President Reagan's second-term domestic agenda. Even so, Rep. Richard Gephardt, D-Mo., told reporters, "The bill's not dead yet, but the patient is on the table dying."

tions Committee, saying that the alternative could be the "furloughing of federal employees" if the federal till ran dry."

With the end of the congressional session clearly in sight, House and Senate negotiators also made headway on a compromise long-term bill and labored

A compromise bailout for the Farm Credit System also was on a short list of year-end legislation.

Weary lawmakers looked forward to the end of the session as Reagan, acting without ceremony, signed landmark legislation designed to force a balanced budget by 1991.

Today's Staff

Night Editor ..... John Yonce
Copy Editor ..... Jim Patriquin
Layout Technician ..... Bethanne Moskov
Photo Technician ..... Maria Bull
Production Supervisor ..... Bethanne Moskov
Production ..... Pam Marchand, Laura Bell, Amy Constant, Paula Saucier

Correction:

Undergraduate Student Senator Bill Collins has not been withdrawn from the University as was reported in yesterday's Collegian.

AP Laserphoto

BIG TREE—The U.S. National Christmas tree is lighted in the Ellipse near the White House in Washington last night.

Collegian photo by Derek Roberts

The Christmas tree belonging to UMass employee Russell Myette floats on the Connecticut River.

Christmas tree in river

Father and son float tree with lights

By JEANETTE DeFORGE
Collegian Staff

Travelers crossing the Calvin Coolidge Bridge in Northampton may see Christmas Tree lights in a very unusual place, on a tree that seems to be floating on the Connecticut River below.

"The only time (the Christmas tree) has its true beauty is when it is lit at night," said Russell Myette, who has been putting a tree on the river for the past five years.

Myette, a maintenance supervisor at the University of Massachusetts Physical Plant, and his 23-year-old son James, put two steel anchors in the river two days ahead of time so they can settle the float. They slide the tree down an embankment by their house and bring it out to the middle of the river with a power boat.

"There is a total of 800 feet of wire including the underground and the wire on the tree," Myette said.

The Christmas tree is about 1000 feet south of the Coolidge Bridge. It measures 18 feet out of the water and has 325 light bulbs on it, Myette said.

"The only problem we have is with the wind, the light bulbs are (often) broken from knocking together," Myette said. He or his son have to change 10 to 12 bulbs every other day.

"About five years ago my son and I wanted to do something different," he said explaining how the tradition began. "The first tree was stuck in the ice, but the river hasn't frozen over since."

Myette said they have expanded their holiday activities. "This year we put a 12 foot tree on a trailer, towed it behind a van and went around to nursing homes," he said. A group of Christmas carollers accompany them, he said.

The tree is lit 5 a.m to 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. to midnight.

BOG wants Donant to leave board

By PATRICK JOHNSON
Collegian Staff

The Campus Center Board Of Governors voted last night to request that the Director of Student Activities resign his seat on the board, and to ask a board member to apologize for the use of a heterosexist slur during a meeting.

Because of the disciplinary action of the two motions, non-members of the board—including members of the press—were excluded from the meeting during debates on those motions.

Student Activities Director Randy Donant has held the position of a non-voting member on the board since the beginning of this semester. The call for his resignation comes following of his attempt to take charge of the Student Activities Trust Fund.

According to board chairman Alex Zucker, Donant requested the meeting be closed.

Donant said before the meeting he has yet to decide about resigning. He did not stay at the meeting long enough to hear the result of the vote, leaving because of prior committments after answering questions for 15 minutes. The vote for his resignation was 10-8 with two abstentions.

The Board also voted 13-4 to demand that member Chris Walsh submit a written apology to the board and to Undergraduate Senate Speaker John Ruddock. In last week's meeting Walsh became involved in an argument with Ruddock and said to him,"I don't like faggots."

In other board bits: the board voted unanimously to approve their fiscal 1987 budget of $139,000 for administration and programming in the Campus Center. The new budget, according to Treasurer Fran Hegeler, is $1,500 less than the current budget. "How's that for fiscal responsibility?" asked Zucker.

Guatemalan calls for support

By REBECCA THATCHER
Collegian Staff

United States students should take a stand against the violent right-wing dictatorship in Guatemala, a Guatemalan refugee who identified himself as Felipe said last night in the Campus Center.

"You have to pressure your government, by publicly denoucing the atrocities of the Guatemalan government. This would carry a great deal of weight," said Felipe, speaking through an interpreter.

Felipe condemned the U.S. and Israeli support of the government in Guatemala; which he said was waging a brutal, genocidal war against its Indian population.

The government of Guatemala receives military aid because it insists that it is fighting against a communist insurgency, he said. The resistance is simply poor people who want to end the extreme poverty of the masses, he said, citing the statistic that 2 percent of the people of Guatemala own 70 percent of the land.

"The real challenge comes from the people who want food not philosophy, peace not polemics," the former teacher and catechist said.

He said he and his family were forced to leave their country because he had participated in a literacy program which was seen as subversive by the government because the government "supports the illiteracy."

In many countries the army defends the interests of the rich, he said, but in Guatemala,"the army is the rich."

The Nov. 3 election in Guatemala will not change anything, he said, is was just part of a program to legitimate the military dictatorship.

"Those candidates who were given an opportunity to run did not represent the people and those who did represent the people are six feet under," he said, then asked, "How is it possible to hold elections when through the streets of Guatemala blood is running?"

Collegian photo by Steve Higgins

WAITING FOR RIKKI—Senior English major Barry Safchik reads the Collegian while waiting for his girlfriend in Bartlett Hall yesterday. Today is the last publishing day of the semester, and the Collegian wishes Happy Holidays to all.

Thieves sometimes take from scouts

By JEANETTE DeFORGE
Collegian Staff

Most people choose a Christmas tree that has fresh needles that haven't fallen off and a tree that is the perfect height so as to not leave a mark in the ceiling.

Other people just take these same trees without paying.

In the center of Amherst, across the street from the Pub, Boy Scouts from Amherst and Pelham sell Christmas trees, and every year some are stolen.

"We haven't had any thefts (of Christmas trees) this year, but it has been a problem in the past," said Robert Joyce, the Chief of Police at the University of Massachusetts

"Over the past years we usually loose 10 to 15 trees (valued at $500) a season. But it's hard to say because we don't keep a close count on them," said Peter Otten, assistant Scout Master for Troop 504 in North Amherst. "We run on trust of people," he said. The trees are left unattended and unguarded all day until 4 p.m. and all night after 9 p.m.

"The (Amherst) police are good about watching the trees," Otten said. Stealing a tree is larceny under $100 and punishable by less than a $200 fine.

They have chased one thief and stopped another this year, he said.

"It's up to the judge to order (the criminal) to pay restitution, and in the past they have seen fit to do that," said David Jankowski, a lieutenant of the Amherst Police.

"We usually make about $3000 for the troops," Otten said.

"It's kind of easy to take a tree, but you have to be really desperate to steal Christmas trees from boy scouts," he said.

Photo by Libby Hubbard

Art professor Fredrick Becker

Art teacher retiring after 17 years

This semester was Fredrick Becker's last as a professor at the University of Massachusetts.

Becker, who is retiring after 17 years with the University, has taught art for the past 40 years. He began his career as an artist drawing caricatures of customers in a nightclub, and later became an apprentice of the great printmaker Stanley William Hayter. Both Hayter and Becker were a part of the intensely creative period of the 1940s which was centered in New York.

Becker recently had a show of his work, with his wife Jean Morrison and fellow UMass professor Jerry Kearns. He said he also plans to have a show in the upcoming year.

Becker said he has enjoyed his 17 years with UMass. "The students have been very responsive, and the faculty is active and encouraging."

Becker is known to his students as an interesting teacher filled with information. As one student explained, "You learn from Fred just by talking to him."

—MARK PARKER

Prof. working with poly

By CHRIS MARAK
Collegian Correspondent

University of Massachusetts associate professor of polymer science David Tirrell is researching a revolutionary new way for patients to receive medication involving the introduction of microscopic packets into the bloodstream.

By studying the behavior of naturally occurring polymeric membranes in the human nerve cells, Tirrell said he hopes to develop ways for medication to navigate through the bloodstream and position itself at the doorstep of infected or cancerous cells.

"Polymer travel through the bloodstream is possible because the polymers would attract to the affected cells which are a different temperature than the blood."

Tirrell, a 1978 doctoral graduate of UMass, has spent the past 11 years since he was a senior undergraduate student at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, directing his work on the synthesis of polymers, which are often referred to commercially as plastics. Polymers are large molecules consisting of many individual units linked together in long chains often elaborately shaped.

"The billions of dollars spent for research in the past for new ways to deliver conventional drugs has not paid off because of the lack of control of the compound," Tirrell said. When it is ingested it does not specifically reach its target instead it ends up all over the body."

Collegian phot by Scott Maguire

PRECISION COUNTS—Senior economics major Brett Maxwell creates a teapot in the campus Center Craft Shop earlier this week.

Committee developing biotech program

By JOE SHARTRAND
Collegian Staff

In an effort to gain more grants from private corporations, a seven-member committee is developing a biotechnology program for the University of Massachusetts.

"As we increase the amount of research in biotechnology then the money will increase in grants," said George Agrios, committee chairman.

The research committee is comprised of representatives from the departments of Food and Natural Resources, Microbiology, biochemistry and engineering.

"The committee's purpose was to prepare a proposal for the provost and to re-evaluate the current status of biotechnology," committee member John Nordin said.

The committee prepared a seven-page report on biotechnology outlining proposals which aim to develop a program to foster cooperation with private corporations, similar to programs at the State department of agriculture and the State office of economic development, Agrios said.

"There is approximately $100,000 alloted for each new faculty member as he is hired for the biotechnology program," he said. This is just to start the new faculty members out, Agrios said. After the initial funds they will have to get money for research from their own grants. Members who are doing research in biotechnology now are using their own grant money, Agrios said.

"New faculty will be expected to cooperate with private industries like Monsanto company (a chemical company) and "fizer company (which produces anti-bodies)," he said.

Group forming to help women handle disease

By REBECCA THATCHER
Collegian Staff

An organization to help women cope with endometriosis, a disease that is sometimes debilitating, will be formed this weekend at the Everywoman's Center.

Sharon Zalewski, a public health graduate student, said a Western Massachusetts chapter of the national Endometriosis Association will be formed with two goals. These goals will be to serve as a resource and a support network for women with endometriosis, and to promote education about endometriosis among health care providers and the general public.

Endometriosis is a painful disease which occurs when some of the tissue which usually lines the uterus escapes into the body cavity, according to the Boston women's health book Our Bodies, Ourselves.

The tissue commonly develops in the pelvic area and causes extreme pain when it goes through the monthly cycle of blood build up an shedding.

Since there is no way for the blood to leave the body, the build-up causes internal bleeding, inflammation, and the formation of cysts and scar tissue.

Many women who have had the disease complain of problems with unsympathetic and uninformed doctors who send them home with aspirin and advice for ways to overcome the "psychosomatic" monthly pain.

"Doctors tend to think patients with chronic pain need to see a pschyologist," writes Julia Older in the book, Endometriosis.

Zalewski said the chapter is being formed because 30 or 40 women expressed interest after the vice president of the national organization spoke in a series on women's health last February.

No purchase necessary
WIN
Buster the Bear
150.00 retail value
only 1 bear to be given away

Enter Today

Please print legibly.
University Store employees and their families are not eligible to enter
Drawing to be held on 12/13/85
Name
Address
City, State, Zip
Phone
1 entry per person

Located in the Campus Center

UNIVERSITY STORE

Collegian Photo by Derek Roberts

IS IT OVER? –The good folks who kept it all glued together, your Board of Editors for Fall '85. "What a long strange trip it's been."(Front row first, L to R) Tom Middleton, news, Bethanne Moskov, women's issues, Renee Bacher, arts, Anne McCrory, Managing Editor, and Kim Burge, black affairs. BACK ROW: Larry Bouchie, Editorial Editor, Dode B. Levenson, Editor in Chief, and Derek Roberts, photography. Not pictured (but there in spirit), Peter Abraham, Sports Editor.

Stress is normal during finals

By SHERYL JEAN
Collegian Staff

Just around the corner lurks that feared finals week and in anticipation, students are developing acute signs of stress.

Typical warning signs of stress include increased anxiety and irratibility, depression, having a hard time sleeping, and abuse of food, alcohol and drugs, said Mary Aubrey, coordinator of the counseling program at the Everywoman's Center.

"We look at stress in the context of the person because it's an outward manifestation of something operating within," said Simon Keochakian, a staff psychologist at the Counseling and Career Developing Center in Berkshire House.

Stress and depression are normal reactions when "time is short and work is long," Keochakian said.

Students are more prone to high stress during finals week because they are worrying about exams and papers and about going home for the holidays, Aubrey said.

"Some annual reports indicate an increase of counseling needs during this time of year," said Trey Williams, special assistant to the vice-chancellor of student affairs. In November, a letter was sent to faculty members from the vice chancellor's office listing centers where students can go for stress counseling during finals.

The number of people coming in for counseling sometimes decreases around this time of year because students are preoccupied with studying, Keochakian said.

"It's important to maintain a sense of structure during this chaotic time of year," said Natercia Teixeira, assistant director for cunsultation and education at Mental Health Division of the University Health Services.

Eating well, getting enough sleep and exercise can help alleviate the stress, Teixeira said. Exercise is the physical outlet for releasing tension and stress, she said.

To avoid stress people shouldn't save all their work until the last minute, but try to set up organized study schedules, Aubrey said.

"You should remember to be compassionate with yourself in this time of difficulty," Teixeira said. It's important to be around other people for support, she said.

UMass Ski Club
Bush Bash
SUGARBUSH
VALLEY
Jan. 19 - 24

YOU NEED A VACATION
SIGN-UP NOW
UMass Ski Club
430 Student Union
For more info
call 545-3437
Final payments due Dec. 15th

SALE
Pre Xmas
25% Off
Everything
Lodestone
4tn thru 14th

James H. McManus
eating place
• OPEN
6 A.M.-3 A.M.
SUN.-THURS.
• OPEN 24 HOURS
FRI. & SAT.
CAMPUS PLAZA
(NEXT TO SUPER STOP & SHOP)
Rt. 9 • Hadley/Amherst
256-6889

OOPS!
Now's the time to call...
North Amherst Motors
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880
Expert Repairs & Reconditioning

GIFTS
Find it at Faces
A Store-full of Holiday Gifts!

COFFEEMAKERS
By KRUPS, CHEMEX & MELITTA

CLOCKS
A fine group of contemporary & Art Deco quartz table & wall clocks

MOO
Wonderful ceramic Holsteins
Butter dish, salt & pepper, creamer, cookie jar & pitcher

TOYS
Lots of great toys

WATCHES
Sport & dress watches
More than 30 styles to choose from

ACCESSORIES
Mittens, socks, hats & scarves

EARRINGS
Silver, gold, brass, enamel ...

A Store-full of Holiday Gift Ideas!
Downtown Amherst
Daily 10-6, Sun. 12-5
FACES

IMPORTANT RESIDENCE HALL INFORMATION

It is important for all students planning to live in the residence halls for the Spring 1986 semester to remember the following important policies and procedures. please read this information carefully and be sure you understand and are aware of each of the following obligations:

1. SPRING SEMESTER BILLS ARE DUE JANUARY 3, 1986. As always, financial obligations MUST be met by all students who wish to retain their assignments for the upcoming semester. Failure to clear your bill by the indicated January 3rd due date will immediately cancel your residence hall assignment for the Spring. If you lose your assignment for failing to pay your bill, YOU WILL BE REQUIRED TO REMOVE YOUR BELONGINGS FROM YOUR ROOM DURING INTERSESSSION, prior to the beginning of the Spring Semester.

2. RESIDENCE HALLS CLOSE for the fall semester on Saturday, December 21, 1985 at 2:00 p.m. Make certain that you TURN IN YOUR KEY and follow all other indicated "check-out" procedures to avoid any unnecessary inconvenience or charges.

3. RESIDENCE HALLS OPEN for Spring 1986 Semester on Sunday, January 26, 1986 at 12:00 noon. NO ONE WILL BE ALLOWED TO RETURN TO THE RESIDENCE HALLS EARLY. Thank you.

BLACK AFFAIRS

Editor's decision to leave was difficult one

By KIMBERLY A. BURGE
Collegian Staff

As the semester draws to a close, for personal and academic reasons, I've decided to leave my position as Black Affairs editor at the Collegian. This decision was a hard one for me to make, but I believe it is the right one.

Working on the Collegian has been a frustrating, time-consuming, yet rewarding experience. I've learned quite a bit about writing, editing, and layout from being the editor of the Black Affairs page. If you want to gain experience working on a daily newspaper, then the Collegian is definitely the place to work.

I've worked on the Collegian for 1 1/2 years. I started out as a correspondent doing little stories such as going to lectures, attending journalism conferences, and talking to practically every person on campus. By second semester of my freshman year I had been promoted to the associate editor of the Black Affairs page and I learned how to write and count headlines and do layout. This semester I was the editor and did a little bit of everything.

Working for the paper is very time consuming, especially for an editor. You have to think of story ideas, questions, interview people, write and edit the story, and finally, layout the page. An editor can't leave until their page is done and we have to leave a number where we can be reached in case there is a problem with our page. It is every page editor's nightmare to be called in the late evening or early morning and told to return because someone lost your story!

Being an editor is a full-time job and encompasses a lot of responsibility. My paycheck wasn't nearly enough to cover all the hours, frustrations, and people that I deal with. Practically all of my free was spent living, breathing, and thinking about the Collegian. My friends told me that I should have moved into the Collegian newsroom because I was in here all the time.

My academic and social life changed drastically. I didn't have much free time to relax or socialize with my friends and what little time I did have I studying and catching up with my schoolwork. There is always the danger of your grade point average falling below 2.0 when you become an editor.

The one thing I could look forward to were the Sunday board of editors meetings. These meetings were mandatory for all editors and we missed one without consent from the editor-in-chief, half our pay was docked. There have been many Sundays when I've wanted to stay in my room, but being a college student, I needed all the money I could get, so I made sure I attended every one!

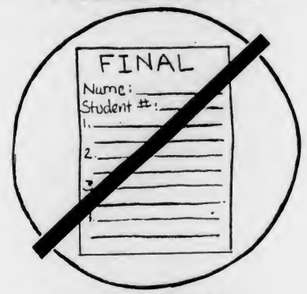
However, working here hasn't been all bad. There have been some definite advantages: I have a file filled with clips for my resume, I've gained some valuable experience, made new friends and important connections, had dinner with Maya Angelou, and attended very big concerts for free!

I would like to congratulate my successor Chris Allen on his appointment to the position of Black Affairs editor. I hope he keeps pushing Black Affairs forward in a positive direction and learn as much from his experiences that he will have as much as I learned from mine.

I would like to thank all the people who supported me and read my page. I wish everyone a Merry Christmas and a Happy Kwanzaa!

Navy Gold:
Forged in a Tradition of Excellence

Because the Officers wearing it are the best in the world at what they do ... they have to be



It takes a special breed of aviator to meet the challenges of Naval Aviation. Strong, dedicated professionals who can control the world's most sophisticated aircraft. There's no room over the oceans for aviators that are second-best.

Beneath the surface pulses a unique environment few will ever challenge. Only an uncompromised standard of excellence earns a submariner his dolphins. The Navy's Nuclear Propulsion Officers wear them.

To find out if you're qualified, see the Navy Representative that will be in the Campus Center on December 5, 1985 or call collect (518) 462-6119.
Minority Students Encouraged to Apply

Navy Officers Get Responsibility Fast.

Final Exam Week
JUSTIN RYAN'S
FINAL EXAM

BUSTER
5o cent drinks
no cover
All Night All Week

DELANO'S

FINE FOOD & SPIRITS
FREE TACO BAR
MON & TUES NIGHT
9 — till it lasts
DECEMBER SPECIAL
Kronenbourg
Delano's will be closed Monday night Dec. 16 from 9 on 57 N. Pleasant St., Amherst

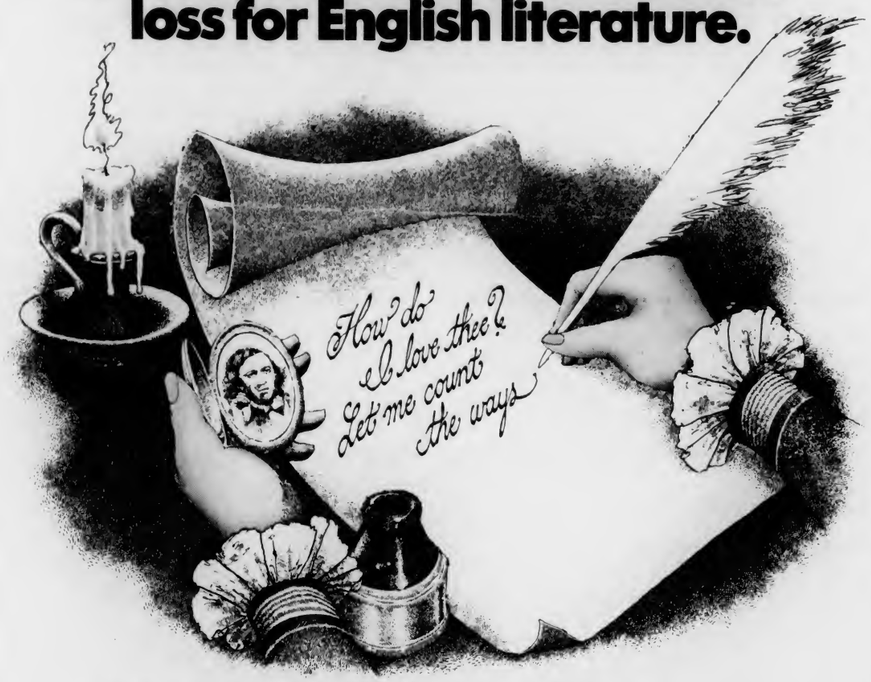
Films

By DON LIPPER
Collegian Staff

Director Stanford Singer's latest film, Amateur Hour is having its American premire tonight at midnight at Northampton's Pleasant Street Theatre.



In a recent interview, Singer said that the financial dangers involved in independent filmmaking have forced many young directors to create more conventional movies. Singer said he believes the role of the independent is to take those risks. But he warns, such a course is not for the timid. "It's a difficult thing to do because you're really walking a tightrope. But it's a challenge I've set for myself. That's what I hope independent filmmaking is all about, is that you take a little more freedom. You don't have to make a film that is universal. It's a choice." Singer said.

Singer said he believes that when many independent filmmakers try to create more Universal or Hollywood type films, that they are not really fufilling the role of the independent. Singer said "that's the role of independent film to take in those gray areas and fill in the gaps. My concern with independant film these days is that its trying to be mini-Hollywood types. Which is fine, but you really can't compete. If you want to make a Hollywood type film, you make a Hollywood type film. That's the luxury of indpendent filmmaking, is that you can take a chance, you can take a step to the side. And having things more and more offbeat." Singer said.

FREE
Shampoo & Blow Dry with any Haircut $12.50 with coupon
Styles by Deborah
call 549-5610
expires 12/31/85

RENT A WRECK
New & Used Cars
Trucks & Vans Also Available
North Amherst
Rent-A-Wreck
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880

If Elizabeth Barrett and Robert Browning had AT&T's 60% and 40% discounts, it would have been a terrible loss for English literature.

And of course, she wouldn't have had to restrict her feelings to a mere sonnet's length, either.

After all, you can always think of one more way to tell someone you love them when you're on the phone.

Let us count the ways you can save. Just call weekends till 5pm Sundays, or from 11pm to 8am, Sunday through Friday, and you'll save 60% off AT&T's Day Rate on your state-to-state calls.

Call between 5pm and 11pm, Sunday through Friday, and you'll save 40% on your state-to-state calls.

So when you're asked to choose a long distance company, choose AT&T. Because with AT&T's 60% and 40% discounts, you can satisfy your heart's desire without exhausting your means.

Reach out and touch someone.®

AT&T
The right choice.

© 1985 AT&T Communications

"Liberty means responsibility. That's why most men dread it." — George Bernard Shaw

Next year it's all up to you. Only you can decide to start an insurance program now. The longer you wait, the more it costs. Find out how easy it is to begin our college plan, chosen by more seniors than any other.

Call the Fidelity Union Life Field Associate in your area
RONALD J. NATHAN AGENCY
20 Gatehouse Rd., Amherst, Ma.
Tel: 256-6351

Fidelity Union Life

VALLEY BOOKS
Carriage Shops
Books at 40-80% Off List Price
Thousands of new books on every subject
Art Books, Kids Books, History Books, Photography
Cooking, Wine and Drink
SAVE ON BOOKS FOR CHRISTMAS
Mon-Fri 10:30-5:30 Sun 12-5
Sat 10-5 549-6052
Check, Visa or Mastercard

Don't Miss Monday Night Football
at the
TIME OUT
Popcorn!! Unplugged Juke Box!!

Pats vs Dolphins
37 N. Pleasant St.
Proper ID Required
Don't Drink and Drive

EARN MONEY FOR COLLEGE
LOADERS & UNLOADERS
$8/hr • PART-TIME EVENINGS & EARLY MORNING HOURS
We offer steady employment, paid vacations and health benefits. Interviews will be held every Wednesday, 9am—1pm
UNITED PARCEL SERVICE
120 Wayside Avenue
West Springfield, MA 01089

THE HUNGRY U
WE ARE NOW OFFERING FREE DELIVERY TO UMASS 6 DAYS A WEEK!*
TRY OUR HOMEMADE PIZZA, SUBS, SALADS AND OTHER SPECIALTIES! * STARTING DEC.3rd
Our Thick Crust Is Made Fresh Daily
With Our Special Homemade Sauce.
We Offer A Wide Variety Of Toppings Delivered Hot To Your Door.
Deliveries Made:
Tue., Wed., Thur. 4:30-1:00 am
Fri., Sat. 4:30-2:00 am
Sun. 4:30-1:00 am
Closed Monday
55 University Dr., Amherst
Minimum $3.00 549-5713
$1.00 OFF! ANY LARGE PIZZA
Expires Dec. 14 (*) With This Coupon
Not Valid With Any Other Special Offer

Student Note & Printing Service
JOBS
STUDENT NOTE SERVICE
The Student Note Service is now accepting applications for the spring semester.
If you are a responsible, efficient notetaker, have previously taken a large (200 student) lecture class, received a grade of "B" or better in it, and possess some typing skills,
WE WANT YOU!
APPLY IMMEDIATELY!
401 STUDENT UNION BUILDING
545 — 2271

SALE!
FRI./SAT./SUN.
DEC. 13, 14, 15
HAND CRAFTED WOOL SWEATERS

Imported from Peru
Reg. $38.95
Now $24.95
. . . a colorful selection of unique designs and patterns
A Store-full of Ideas
Downtown Amherst · Daily 10-6, Sun. 12-5
FACES

Letters
Nicaraguan atrocities unreported

Not much is heard these days about the war in Nicaragua. Our newspapers and television networks are silent. What news exists is highly critical of the Sandinista government for its recent imposition of a State of Emergency inside Nicaragua. The Reagan administration claims that this State of Emergency proves the Sandinistas are totalitarian. The Sandinistas claim it is necessary to clamp down on a "fifth column" of contras who plan to bring terrorist tactics to Nicaragua's cities.

Today I received a letter from a close American friend of mine who has been traveling inside Nicaragua for the past two months on an academic scholarship. My friend is temporarily living with a Nicaraguan family in Esteli, in the northern part of the country. Following are excerpts from her letter, which was dated Oct. 27:

"Most of the Nicaraguans I've talked with think that the State of Emergency should have been announced earlier. I haven't spoken with anyone here who doesn't believe it's necessary. The simple fact is that the Nicaraguans are getting tired of having their friends and relatives tortured and murdered....

"John, I've seen the mangled bodies of the victims of contra ambushes—one just ten miles north. Two civilian women were raped, had their reproductive organs cut out while they were still alive, and then were murdered. A 26-year-old man who works for the Ministry of the Interior had his eyes cut out, his throat slit with his tongue pulled through, his testicles ripped off—all while he was alive—before our "freedom fighters" decapitated him. I saw his body, unaltered by cosmetics and embalming, two days after he was found. His friend managed to run away after he'd witnessed the event, completely out of his mind.

"Last night there were ten minutes of machine-gun fire around 11 p.m. in the streeet in front of my house....And the $27 million [in U.S. aid to the contras] is just arriving...Things are bad here...people are dying every day."

That is the news from Nicaragua. It is the news of a terrible war in Central America, financed and directed by our own government.

Eight thousand Nicaraguans, including hundreds of children, have died at the hands of the contras. I hope you who are reading this will ask yourself seriously whether this is how you want your tax dollars to be spent.

John Sanbonmatsu
Amherst

Treatment of our student offenses

Yes, indeed this is another article pertaining to the Student Activities Trust Fund. However, a philosophical approach needs to be taken over this issue. I feel it is necessary to take a look at the measures that the University has now taken against these protesters in regard to society's standards for punishment.

Exerting political freedom is a freedom that our society has valued indeed. People who have acted upon principles and causes have often been treated more leniently than those who have been arrested for such crimes as stealing, vandalism, or rape. These are the true criminals. Our legal system is also qualified enough to recognize the difference between arrests that are violent and infringe upon the rights and liberties of other citizens and ones that represent political beliefs, and more importantly, their political freedom.

However, quite paradoxically, I look toward past experiences over the course of four years here to recognize that the warning letters of suspension, that the student protesters have now received, are blatant examples of a lack of respect for student representation, and more solemnly the right to stand for a cause. Namely, the right to control our money. More than that, this is certainly a case of treating students, who simply protest and exert a freedom, as if they were the real offenders and breeders of trouble on this campus. Perhaps, the University should reevaluate its reasons for punishment.

In speaking with Professor John Brigham of the Political Science Department and also Chairman of the University-wide Disciplinary Board, he can be quoted as saying "in the last five years, only four or five students have been suspended from this University," and those suspensions were the result of setting fires on this campus. Do we need more evidence? As a former resident assistant in Washington Tower, I witnessed many acts of vandalism and outright violations of another's freedom, and these students were not issued letters threatening suspension.

It is quite obvious at this point that violating a code of picketing, or banging on the doors of Whitmore, are not nearly as threatening to the environment of this campus as setting a fire. They certainly do not merit the same degree of disciplinary measures. The fact of the matter is, four of five suspensions in the last five years for setting a fire, shows how seldom students are suspended. Clearly, this is a case of the administration's unjust way of handling student protesters. Strangely enough, the administration can tolerate acts of vandalism, etc., yet it can't tolerate civil disobedience. Funny, but our society works reversely!

Ellen Breslin, chairwoman
SGA Academic Affairs

DONNA, LESLIE
STEPHANIE & WENDY
Congratulations!
We love you all!
and UMass won't be the same without you guys.
Good Luck - we'll miss you,
but not too much - because we'll see you every weekend next semsester - right?
- MICH & DEB -

• LPs • BLANKS • CASS • 45s
MAGS • IMPORTS • SUNGLASSES
AL-BUM'S
50 Top 100 LPs $6.99
ALL CDs IN STOCK $12.99
DON'T FORGET WE
BUY • SELL • TRADE
USED LPs, CASSETTES & CDs
ALBUMS•181 N. PLEASANT STREET•AMHERST •253-7137
POSTERS • PINS • ACCESSORIES

NOW OPEN
Riverboat Village
APARTMENTS, SOUTH HADLEY.
1, 2 or 3 BEDROOM UNITS
BEAUTIFUL MODELS FURNISHED BY CHAP DELAINES & EPSTEIN FURNITURE CO
•Swimming Pool •Tennis Court •Club House •Shuffle Board Court
OPEN SEVEN DAYS A WEEK
10 AM - 4 PM
PHONE 532-9461
532-9462
CALL FOR DIRECTIONS
Riverboat Village
River Lodge Rd.
So. Hadley, MA 01075

The Music Everyone Wants
This CHRISTMAS

JAMES TAYLOR
THAT'S WHY I'M HERE
including:
Everyday/Song For You Far Away
Going Around One More Time
That's Why I'm Here
5.99 LP or cassette

PAUL YOUNG
THE SECRET OF ASSOCIATION
including:
Everytime You Go Away
I'm Gonna Tear Your Playhouse Down
Everything Must Change
Tomb Of Memories/Soldier's Things
5.99 LP or cassette

SADE
PROMISE
including:
The Sweetest Taboo/Is It A Crime
War Of The Hearts
Never As Good As The First Time/Fear
5.99 LP or cassette

THE BEST OF ELVIS COSTELLO AND THE ATTRACTIONS
including:
Alison/Radio, Radio/Accidents Will Happen
Everyday I Write The Book
The Only Flame In Town
5.99 LP or cassette

LISA LISA AND CULT JAM WITH FULL FORCE
including:
I Wonder If I Take You Home
You'll Never Change/This is Cult Jam
Can You Feel The Beat
All Cried Out
5.99 LP or cassette

BIG AUDIO DYNAMITE
THIS IS BIG AUDIO DYNAMITE
including:
The Bottom Line/Medicine Show
BAD/E = MC²
5.99 LP or cassette

THE CLASH
CUT THE CRAP
including:
This Is England/We Are The Clash
Dirty Punk/Are You Red..y
5.99 LP or cassette

CLARENCE CLEMONS
HERO
including:
You're A Friend Of Mine (Duet With Jackson Browne*)
The Sun Ain't Gonna Shine Anymore
I Wanna Be Your Hero/Temptation
*Appears courtesy of Elektra/Asylum Records
5.99 LP or cassette

. . .is at For the Record
At Amherst's most complete record store, you'll find something for everyone in our comprehensive selection of LP's and Cassettes, 45s, 12" Dance records and new Compact Discs, too.

FOR THE RECORD

Located in Faces
downtown Amherst
256-6134
Open Mon-sat
10-9
Sun 12-5
until Christmas

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian

ED/OP

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted.

Founded in 1870

Executive Board—Fall 1985
Dode B. Levenson, Editor in Chief
Anne McCrory, Managing Editor
Larry Bouchie, Editorial Editor
Peter Soderberg, Production Manager
Elizabeth Young, Business Manager
Sherry Sharfman, Business Manager

Board of Editors—Fall 1985
Dode B. Levenson, Editor in Chief
Anne McCrory, Managing Editor
Tom Middleton, News Editor
Larry Bouchie, Editorial Editor
Renee Bacher, Arts Editor
Peter Abraham, Sports Editor
Derek Roberts, Photo Editor
Bethanne Moskov, Women's Issue Editor
Kimberly Burge, Black Affairs Editor

Come on, you can do it!

Bethanne Moskov

At the beginning of every semester I always promise myself that I am going to keep up with my work, study hard, and make dean's list. The first few weeks of school I usually do keep up with everything and try to study on a relatively regular basis. However, my activities and social life soon get in the way and before I know it, it is the end of the semester and I have three months of work to do in a week. This is when the inevitable happens.

I give up all thoughts of sleep and cram as much information into my weary brain as I can. I begin to exist on coffee, candybars and Hatch bagels in the fading hope that I can somehow salvage my faltering cum.

And then come the exams.....

Last week my string of all night study sessions began. I got home at about 1 a.m. which is when I sat down to begin studying for my exam to take place later on that morning. At 8 a.m. I sat down in a cold room in Morrill Science Center, a fresh cup of coffee in my hand, and went to work on my exam.

I started to read the first question when my eyes began to lose focus, so I blinked a few times to clear my head. I tried to begin writing when my head began to bob. The exam took on the image of a large white fluffy pillow and I couldn't resist temptation. The last time I remember looking at the clock it said 8:20.

Feeling a bit cramped, I began to readjust myself to get more comfortable, when my professor tapped me on the shoulder to awaken me from my slumber. I looked at the clock again and it said 9:40, already ten minutes into my 9:30 class.

I panicked. Dire courses of action ran through my mind when I remembered that I had to at least pass the exam to even think of getting above a C for the class.

Does this sound at all familiar? Professors always warn us that we should get a good night sleep before an exam. But let's be serious, how many students do you know that would go to bed early before an exam instead cramming in a few extra study hours?

As far as my exam goes, I have learned, after three and a half years of college, that losing sleep over an exam isn't worth it. I have also discovered, unfortunately the hard way, that pulling "allnighters" doesn't pay off and only causes a lot of unwanted stress, the biggest enemy facing students these days.

Stress should not be viewed as a dirty word. University Health Services offers a varity of pamphlets on how students can alleviate stress (of course they emphasize not to stay up all night to study). And let's face it, the only students responsible enough to read those pamphlets are the ones who keep up with their work and don't let themselves get behind, thus avoiding a lot of stress.

So with finals begining on Monday, what are the students who have procrastinated all semester to do? Hang in there, stick it out and remember when its all over you can look back at this and laugh. Also, try not to get too emotionally worked up over nothing. With all this in mind think of it this way, you have about a week and a half and you'll be home celebrating the holidays with your friends and family. Just hang in there for the next nine days and then you can relax. Come on, you can do it! It's not worth it to burn yourself out now. Take some time out, when you are studying, to unwind, and no matter what happens on one exam try not to let it effect your other finals. Just hang in there.

And who knows, maybe next semester will be the one that I keep up with my work and don't fall behind.

Bethanne Moskov is a member of the Collegian staff.

Random Notes

Larry Bouchie

The latest twist with the Board of Regents of Higher Education comes from this week's Boston Globe report on a recent audit of the regents' computer network. Completed Nov. 6, the audit was previously withheld while the Board's staff investigated the report. According to the Globe story about the audit, computer funds were overspent for three consecutive years, resulting in a $3 million deficit.

This month, Chancellor Duff's press aide, Estelle Shanley, wrote a letter to the Globe editor admonishing reporter Steve Curwood's continuing embarassing revelations about the regents. Shanley opined that Curwood should instead concentrate on the positive accomplishments of the regents. The state assistant attorney general has not yet released the results of a probe of improper political fund-raising by Duff and Shanley.

* * *

Though Dean of Students William Field has sent letters threatening expulsion, dismissal, and/or restitution assesments for arrested START protestors, it is hard to imagine that Chancellor Duffey would actualy allow a student to be ejected from the University for participating in a sit-in. Duffey has himself been arrested while protesting.

As for restitution (for overtime, cleaning, maintenance, and "damages to property"), who will be so bold as to actually come up with a figure? Then again, the best way to hurt students is to hit them where it counts—their wallets. My informed opinion is that in addition to enduring criminal charges, the students involved will be offered University probation if they plead guilty during University hearings. But, what will happen to those who choose to plead not guilty to any charges?

* * *

I must rally beside my colleague Bethanne Moskov in urging students to keep their heads and spirits up while the end-of-semester crunch is on. Just think, only one more week of late nights, quick meals, and library sessions and we will all wrap up another semester. I know I can....I know I can.....I know I can.....

* * *

I can't believe that this happens every year, but it does. Whenever the boy scouts set up their Christmas tree lot downtown, some people get the bright idea to steal a tree at night, and then walk home with it. As if the Amherst cops won't notice a walking tree at night, right? Who's kidding who? Police officers in this town can spot a false identification card at 50 yards. Do yourself a favor—don't get intoxicated and begin your Christmas shopping outdoors, at night, downtown, at the tree lot.

* * *

It's been a great semester at my (no longer new) job. Nothing makes you completely realize how many angles there are to any issue or story until you read every letter to the editor. Now that's an education. Happy Holidays to everyone, especially the entire Collegian staff, all of whom make this page possible

Larry Bouchie is a Collegian columnist.

Letters
Slammers and student security

We, the security coordinators of the Union Program Council, are sad. Apparently Heidi Lu is a "safe" slam dancer and we failed to recognize her as such. Perhaps Heidi Lu would like to work with UMass Department of Public Safety to form a Safe Slammers Certification Program (SSCP). Certified safe slammers could be identified by a forehead stamp and a color coded wrist band. Then the job of preventing "dangerous" slamming would be easy for security. Certified safe slammers could dance and enjoy the show, and dangerous slammers could be prevented from causing injury.

Determining who is causing a problem with their dancing at any concert is difficult. We're sorry if Lu feels that she was unjustly singled out. We invite her to join UPC for an upcoming show. Perhaps then she can understand the difficulties presented to volunteer student security at concerts on this campus.

David E. Chapman
Damon B. Riley
UPC Security Coordinators

Letters
Outrage over newly elected editor

We are OUTRAGED at the fact that a man was elected as women's issues editor. The women's issues desk was established in 1978 when women took over the Collegian for 12 days. These women fought to gain a vote for women at the Collegian. In this society all too often women are not allowed to speak, women are silenced, and men speak for women. We have gained the right to speak for ourselves and will not let this right be abridged.

WE DEMAND THAT THE BOARD OF EDITORS RECONSIDER THIS DECISION.

Monika Giacoppe Clare Bouzan
Debra R. Kenn Gayle C. Wintjen
Laura B. Gottschalk Paula Jabloner
Dianne C. Rossi Deborah M. Kocsis
Lisa Trocki
Jamis Hart Celeste M. Friend

The Collegian Board of Editors has unanimously decided not to reconsider this decision. The new Women's Issues editor was unanimously chosen for the position because he was the most qualified applicant. In addition, he is not the first male Women's Issues editor in the history of the Collegian. The Board would also note that discrimination or harassment on the basis of gender is sexism.

HOLIDAY TRAVELERS COLLEGE STUDENTS...
RENT A CAR WITH CASH!
Try Our WEEKEND SPECIALS
Credit Cards Accepted.
Daily Rate $18.95 Unlimited Miles
FRI.-MON. NOON 700 MILES FREE... $50.00
FRI.-TUES. NOON 900 MILES FREE... $65.00
FRI.-WED. NOON 1,000 MILES FREE $80.00
CALL THE OFFICE NEAREST YOU:
★PAYLESS CAR RENTAL CORP. OF MASS. 782-7191
180 BOSTON RD., SPRINGFIELD, MA
★ECONO CAR OF LATHAM, 875 Albany-Shaker Rd., Latham N.Y. (518) 783-1384
★ECONO CAR OF ALBANY, 466 Central Ave., Albany, N.Y. (518) 438-2661
★ECONO CAR OF SCHENECTADY, 1720 State St., Schenectady, N.Y. (518) 372-0421
★PAYLESS CARS RENTALS OF SYRACUSE, 56 So. Bay Rd., Syracuse, N.Y. (315) 455-5821
Also Passenger Vans, Cargo Vans, Mini Vans. Call Today

Letters
The church and state

Christmas is a time of year for joyous feelings, the spirit of "to give is better than to receive" and good, warm donations of love to all (or most) people. Though I admit, it has become secularized with the past few decades, it is nonetheless still *Christ*mas—the celebration of the birth of a religious figure. Chanukah, which coincidently tends to fall around the same time of year (and has also become secularized), is the celebration of the few defeating the many for a religious cause. No articles representing either of these two religious events should be on display in public buildings.

I fully agree with the display of religious articles from private homes or private institutions, but a public display of such items is not at all in accordance with the separation of church and state. This is a public institution; UMass does receive funds from the State Legislature.

I feel disgusted when I walk through the Campus Center and see the Christmas and Chanukah decorations. The worst part of it is the bells on the CC doors—they have to make sure to pound the spirit of the season into as many of my senses as possible.

It does not even matter who paid for the decorations, whether it be religious organizations or university funds (our taxes), the fact remains that they should not be there in the first place.

I have been called "Scrooge" by some people and told to "get into the spirit of the season" by others, but these people seem to forget that "the spirit of the season" is fully based on religious ideas. Even though it has evolved into a "who can buy the most expensive present" season, this came about as a direct result of religious beliefs.

The First Amendment states clearly that people have the freedom to practice their religion; but displaying the objects thereof in public buildings is a direct violation of the separation of church and state.

In 1947, Justice Hugo Black was quoted as saying,"(The) wall between church and state must be kept high and impregnable." I believe that this wall is substantially lowered with the display of religious articles in public places. In a more general sense, the purpose of the Bill of Rights is "To protect minorities...and to post some things as off limits to majorities regardless of how sincere and morally motivated the majority might be," (Boles, Donald E., The Bible, Religion and the Public Schools, Iowa State University Press, 1965).

Let's work to keep religion and state separated, for it is one of the very foundations upon which the United States was founded.

Thomas Kashin
Sylvan

SUPERIOR PIZZA
Simply Superior Pizza
FAST, FREE DELIVERY
17 Montague Rd.
North Amherst
549-0626
With any Large or Small Pizza, get second item
FREE
Expires Dec. 21, 1985

Sophia bookshop
For the Holiday Season
Books
Cards
Calendars
Gifts
103 North Pleasant Street
Amherst 253-5574

STADIUM LIQUORS
Amherst
Mass
Merry Christmas & Happy Hannukkah from your Friends at Stadium Liquors
Gene, Sandy, Mike & Jodi Sojka
Edward Traceski
Scott Mallory
Mike Skroski
Richard Bernstein
Rob Hayes
John Dedian
John Latinski
Dan Frazier
Pete Dzenowski
Mike Kelly
Tom Swanecamp
Dana Smith
Rick McGaffigan
and MAX!!
Friends don't let friends drive drunk

NUMMO NEWS
Connected with the Collegian for the sole purpose of distribution.
December 13, 1985 Volume 14 Issue 5

Collegian photo by Michelle Segall

SGA Tresurer Dianne Rossi speaking at rally in front of Student Union Building on Thursday.

UMass Students arrested in Sit-in at Whitmore

By CHRIS ALLEN
Nummo News Staff

Twenty University of Massachusetts students were arrested on Thursday at the Whitmore Administration Building after they staged a sit-in which stemmed from the use of students funds activities.

The arrest resulted from a rally outside the Student Union Building which attracted over 200 people, protesting a November 19 memorandum issued by Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs Dennis Madson and the director of the Student Activities Office, Franklin Donant.

The memorandum outlining regulations for the Student Activities Trust Fund (SATF) was issued in response to a $120,000 deficit at the close of fiscal year 1985. Donant and Madson said they wrote the memo because the $1.75 million fund administered by the Student Government Association (SGA) has been in deficit for two years. Composed of $88 annual activities fees, this fund is paid by all undergraduates. The deficit last year was about $90,000, an unofficial source told Nummo News.

The memorandum also included a stipulation that all SGA funded operations which include full-time staff line-items would be determined by Donant. The protesters said that they felt that some of the student advocacy groups, which are funded by the Students Activities Trust Funds, were in jeopardy. The Trust Fund also pays the staff of student organizations and student government. Madson said that the students had used 50 percent of a reserve fund this year to pay for current expenses. Sixty seven student organizations including the Legal Services Office, the Off-Campus Housing Office and Nummo

continued on page 6

Scientist links AIDs to Africa

By DONNA HENRY
Nummo Staff

A group of Boston Scientists have suggested that an apparently innocuous variation of the dangerous Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS) virus has been found in the inhabitants of West Africa. This has led them to believe that AIDS is originated from Africa.

Dr. Myron Essex of the Harvard School of Public Health has been closely following up on the AIDS issue. He told scientists at the International Symposium on AIDS in Africa that the virus appeared to be very similar to a monkey virus which is reported as regnant in the African green monkey.

According to Essex, the monkey virus also known as STLV-111, has long been acclimated to ape-like creatures without causing harm to them, and by ways of biting and scratching, has made it's way into humans within the past few decades.

Evidence of the new virus became knowledgeable to Essex and his colleagues when blood samples from prostitutes in Sengal and Dakar, who showed no symptoms of AIDS, were brought in. With this discovery, scientists has been given new hope in finding a cure for the most feared disease, AIDS, which has taken the lives of many people, including the late actor Rock Hudson.

The idea that AIDS originated from Africa has angered many African scientists. Many of them protested Essex's findings by issuing a statement declaring that the Synposium "did not show any conclusive evidence that AIDS originated from Africa." They argued that AIDS is a global problem and not an African problem alone.

Never the less, there seems to be many cases of AIDS reported in a number of African countries. Some of these countries include Zaire, Rwanda, Zambia and Uganda. Also, it has been reported that a possible 10% of the Central African Population are infected with this monkey virus, which is related to AIDS.

AIDS, which was once noted as a homosexual disease, is now believed to be spreading mainly among heterosexuals, through intercourse with more than one partner. The disease is also said to be present in the saliva, but has been given little to no recognition because transmission of AIDS through the saliva is not considered as dangerous as its transmission through sexual intercourse or blood transfusions.

Whether or not AIDS does originate from Africa tends to be a debatable issue. However, answer to the question of how this deadly disease was transmitted from Africc remains unanswered.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

"The height by great men reached and kept were not attained by sudden flight, but they, while their companions slept,
were toiling upwards through the night."

University Computing Center oasis for graduates

By CHRIS ALLEN
Nummo Staff

Over 40 percent of the students at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst take some computer experience with them when they graduate, according to Judy Smith, newly-named acting director of the University Computing Center (UCC).

That experience takes many forms. It may be as simple as word processing or as exotic as digital image analysis. The geography student probably will have used a computer-created map and the math major has no doubt used a computer to solve a wide range of problems.

The UCC, which has provided the University's computer service since computers were introduced on campus in 1961, handles computer use for academic research and instruction. Acting Director Smith is replacing Conrad Wogrin, who is now acting chairman of the computer and information science department.

Smith is no stranger to the UCC. She has been on campus since 1967 when she began work as a systems programmer in the University's Computing Center. She was part of the small team that developed the original University time-sharing plan/UMASS (Unlimited Machine Access from Scattered Sites). Since 1982, she has been associate director for support services at the UCC, with responsibilities for planning, developing, maintaining a enhancing the University's computer services.

"We try to respond to the needs of the university faculty, staff and students. We are here to provide services."

The UCC has greatly expanded since the nascent days of 1961. The system now has over 450 terminal access ports, through which users can gain access to the University's main computer. Students or faculty with personal computers con gain access to the system as well. Smith estimates that more than 10,000 students will use the University's computers this year. In 1982-83, the UCC issued 16,175 computer accounts.

Smith explained that the UCC is a centralized computing service which is designed to avoid costly duplication of equipment and expertise. Rather than have each of the University's nearly 100 departments set up separate computer service for its own needs, the UCC provides service to all departments. This is not at the total expense of freedom, however, as a deportment may hire its own programmer for its specific needs, rather than rely on UCC personnel.

"We try to respond to the needs of the University faculty, staff and students," Smith said of the UCC mission. "We are here to provide services."

With its variety of clients, it is not unusual to have more than 300 people using the UCC main computer ot the same time. According to Smith, "We have use on the computer 24 hours a day."

Smith said the next big project for the UCC may involve more extensive cabling of the campus. Currently, many of the 450 access ports do not provide the full range of computer services they could if the campus cable system were more comprehensive. Smith would like to see more

"I will be the coordinator of computing service on the campus," Abbott said of his new position. "I will be working very closely with Judy. She will be reporting to me."

Smith will serve as acting director of the UCC ot least through June. The University is currently involved in a serch for a director, and Smith said she hopes to make her octing position more permanent. She was a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Ohio State Univesity and received her M.S. in mothematics there in 1966. She is a resident of Shutesbury.

Nummo News Photo

Essence Magazine recently celebrated its 15th anniversary as the nation's only Black women's lifestyle magazine, To commemorate this occasion, luncheons held in seven cities across the nation were designed to recognize Black, women who have triumphed against the odds and made outstanding contributions to society. Sandra McNeil, (right), president and founder of Special market services, Inc., was honored for her contributions to the field of business at a luncheon in Chicago recently.

Research at UMass shows data on firearm

By CHRIS ALLEN
Nummo Staff

There are 35 to 60 million guns in America. According to research recently completed by University of Massachusetts at Amherst sociology professors James D. Wright and Peter H. Rossi, there is a surprising lack of data on the use of these guns in crime and the people who use them.

Prior to their report, "The Armed Criminal in America", Wright and Rossi contend there was a virtually complete absence of evidence on the important issues involved in the matter of firearms and crime -- on where, how and why criminals acquire, carry and use guns.

Wright and Rossi interviewed 1,874 felons incarcerated in prisons in 10 states, looking to answer two basic questions: What roles do firearms play in the lives of violent criminals? How do criminals obtain their firearms? They learned that, for the "hard-core" criminal, security, if not happiness, is a warm, large gun probably stolen, corried at all times and not solely for use in committing a crime. The gun, Wright says, is primarily a tool for survival.

"Most of the guys in this or any other sample of felons do not wake up in the morning with the idea in mind that they are going to go out and commit an armed robbery," Wright said. "They wake up in the morning with the idea that their lives are very dangerous, the environments they inhabit are very violent."

"So their choice of weapons is not, 'Well, I'm going out for a serious armed robbery today so I'll take the .357.' It's that, I'm going out on the street once again to survive and so I will take the best equipment I have with me into that contest.' "

The lives that they lead are such that when an opportunity to commit is there, they want to be prepared for it."

Being prepared means the criminal is usually well-armed with large, well-made firearms. "Quite contrary to the conventional assumption of at least some previous research, we did not find much enthusiasm among the sample for small, cheap, saturday night special-type handguns," Wright said. "The preference was very much for relatively large, well-made big caliber firearms."

Theft is the usual means of acquisition of these guns, Wright said. Only one in six handguns obtained by men in the survey was bought in conventional, retail transactions with licensed firearms dealers. The rest were stolen directly or obtained either in swaps, trades or cash purchases with friends, associates, drug dealers or other black market sources. Controlling that illicit trade, Wright said, may be next to impossible.

"So long as we allow anyone to own firearms for whatever reason, we create a class of legitimate owners from whom firearms can be stolen. And until we figure out some way to shut off the supply to the criminal market through theft, then there's not much we're going to do to prevent them from getting the guns they want."

Another finding may have implications for any move to ban small-caliber handguns. Wright said that criminals, faced with the loss of handguns, would escalate rather than retreat. When asked what they would use if handguns weren't available, 75 percent of the felons said they would carry sawed-off shotguns or some similar weapon. "If we enacted a policy which required some of these men to carry bigger rather than smaller handguns, we would almost certainly cause the rate of death through crime to increase," he contends.

This is true, Wright says, even though the average criminal does not carry a gun mainly to shoot someone. "These men do not commit gun crimes, for the most part, because they sort of get off on inflicting violence or pain and suffering on other people," he said. "The point of carrying a gun is to make the victim shut up and do what the criminal wants and to get out of the situation with a minimum of hassle."

Wright agrees it is the hard-core criminal's own activities which are mainly responsible for creating the dangers of his environment. His victims are traditionally people like himself (poor, relatively young, male, non-white and living in the city), some of whom also carry guns out of fear of being victims. This dangerous environment is almost exclusively urban, Wright says.

"That's not to say it doesn't exist in the small towns and suburban areas, but it's an overwhelmingly urban problem. Twenty percent of the armed robbery that occurs in the United States occurs in Manhattan, for example".

Continued on page 7

Editorial

NUMMO NEWS

Serving the University community since 1975

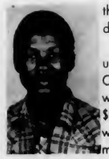
C.Ron Allen
editor-in-chief

Chris Allen
production manager

Chris Allen
Photography Editor

David D. Moore
business manager

Anita Almeda
secretary



Donna Henry
managing editor

Chris Allen
News Editor

Maureen J. Dyer layout editor

Christopher Allen sports editor

Michael Thelwell
faculty advisor

I'd like to start this column by saying "keep those cards and letters coming in, folks." But I can't say that, because as of yet, I haven't gotten any. That old devil, student apathy, has struck again.

What o shome that UMass students should be so uncaring about their own newspoper. As George Clinton would say, "Free speech is too expensive to waste." In the case of NUMMO, free speech is worth $11,000(thats NUMMO'S budget this year). If you want to protect this sizable investment, drop a line, make a call or whatever.

After all, a paper is no better than the people who read it.

With this public service announcement out of the way, let's get to some good stuff.

New Orleans based Black Collegian magazine has a very interesting issue on the stands concerning "careers in money." The fields of banking, insurance, accounting and investments and securities are examined for their job content and their employment opportunities. Reading this issue may be the straw that finally convinces some of your "undetermined" students to go to the school of Business(where major in all of these fields are available).

The field of public accounting seems especially promising. Of the 180,000 CPA's (Certified Public Accountants) in the U.S., about450 are Black- thats 1/2 of 1/2 of 1 percent. Of that figure, black women were 11 percent. The Massachusetts Daily Collegian's "my role model" approach to examining careers fills the issue with many real accounts of black folks in the business field. These provide a realistic appraisal of exactly what is necessary to "make it" in the "real world" and are as informative as the job descriptions themselves.

Black collegian is an excellent magazine. Besides doing stories on careers, they also cover such topics as black art, theatre, fashion and compus news from black communities in black and white colleges.

Although there may not be another black newspaper in the Valley you can still get involved. There are more than 4 newspapers published on the UMASS campus; over 15 newspapers in the Pioneer Valley, all of whom has vacancies for Third World employees. Black AM stations BMCP and WMUA eagerly awaits your participation.

As I'm always saying; get involved.Support your Black and other Third World medias. Preserve NUMMO News. It won't cost you anything to seek information on earning your own money.

C.Ron Allen

Staff - David Affonseca, Chris Brown, Hollis Cotton, Creese, Hope Jones, Yvonne Morgan, Patricia Odum, Russell, Marion Tinsley, Carla Tucker, Wilma Tynes, Wigham and Deneice Williams.

NUMMO NEWS is a Third World Student Weekly at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst.

Our offices are located at 103 New Africa House. Telephone numbers are (413)545-0061 and 545-0062.

Unsigned editorals represent the view of this paper. They do not necessary reflect the views of the student body, faculty or administration. Signed editorals, columns, reviews, cartoons and letters represent the personal views of the authors.

Editorial

What is this thing we call blackness?

C.RON ALLEN

Heard a lecture by an instructor the other day and I thought that I would share it with you. The sister was rapping something heavy about. . .'those Blacks.'

I wish somebody would tell us when and how we have come to be known as 'those Blacks.' Indeed the way the term is used, one would think it correct, Cronkite uses it in reporting the evening news, the Post and Herald print it everyday, why? Even some of us call each other 'those Blacks.'

Ever since we've been in America, Black people have been referred to by any of a number of names; spooks, coons, midnights, niggers, darkies, colored, negroes, gals, boys, sambos, niggas, jungle bunnies, spades...and today, 'those Blacks.'

So what's wrong with the term? What makes . incorrect?

From a grammatical standpoint, 'Black' is an adjective. A proper adjective, if you will. As a proper adjective, it should modify a noun or the like - i.e., Black people, not 'Blacks; Black women, not 'Blacks'; Black men, not 'Blocks.'

In a sense, it is disrespectful to refer to a human being in an inhumane manner. In fact, it is downright demeaning. We deserve the same respect as other people of color - the Red man is not called the Reds; nor is the Yellow man called the Yellows. Or is it the popular trend to refer to people os the adjective that describes them? Indeed, in that case, we have fat people who should be called the fats, and skinny people who should be called the skinnies, and of course ignorant people to be called the ignorants.

We suspect the term 'Blacks' probably oringinated in white folks vocabulary. Indeed it is not uncommon of them to make a practice of cutting peoples names short. If your name is Robert, they call you Bob. Your name is Richard, they call you Dick. Your name Charles? They call you Chuck, and you better look out because they just might call you Charlie. Not to mention Chris instead of Christopher.

Older Black folk say when a man refuses to call you by the name you ask him to call you, he is disrespecting you in the lowest sense. And indeed, we have never asked to be called 'those Blacks.'

Perhaps, Malcolm foresaw it when he insisted we be called "Afro-Americans." Perhaps Dubois foresaw it when he insisted we be called "Black Folk" or "Negroes". Perhaps, they knew all too well of the 'Call-em-what-you-wanna' syndrome that exists in this country. (Interestingly enough, in America's mother country, England, 'Blacks' is used to refer to those who are chimney sweepers.) There is no such thing as a people called 'those Blacks' or just plain 'Blacks' for that matter. Anyone who insists on calling us by this term is showing disrespect; is demeaning us in the lowest sense.

We ore Black people. We ore of the Black race. And, perhops we'd better start spreading the word fast...

UNITED WE STAND...BUT ARE WE REALLY?

STUDENTS OF COLOR,

Why can't we get together without fighting with each other any more? Why is it so difficult? Ever since the semester began, Blacks seems to be finding it very difficult to party, eat, or walk to their classes without being either verbally insultive or physically abusive to one another. Everyone is blaming each other...

"It's the fraternity. Once you are in it, you're no longer a part of one people; black people. Instead, you're either an Iota, a Q, a Sigma, a Kappa, or whatever else have you."

There seems to be more a sense of separatism than that of unity" says another.

"It's the Q-Dogs," one expressed, "ever since they have established themselves on campus, we haven't been able to party in peace. Just look, they always have to be involved in a fight...one way or another."

"Yea, they're talking about building up the black community...Shit!...building my butt! If this is their idea of Unity and building up a community, I would not like to witness them actually destroying it!"

What do I have to say about this outrageousness? Well what these people have stated above is correct. It is a disgrace to see our young black men fighting over the pettiest things...a crying shame. But listen children (since that's the way you're acting) it's not too late to shape up and start acting more civilized towards each other. There is still hope.

DONNA HENRY

HAPPY KWANZAA
MERRY CHRISTMAS
& a
HAPPY CHANUKAH

HAVE A PROBLEM? MAKE USE OF THIS COLUMN

OPINIONS LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

I om deeply dismayed about the surrounding events concerning the UMass-Merrimack game on 23 November 1985. I was one of the 1000 plus students standing outside the newly renovated Curry Hicks building. I arrived outside the Cage at 6:30pm and from that time to 7:15 I was pushed, my feet were stepped on, my pants were soiled and I also pushed back.

I was surrounded by yelling, screaming students that oll had the same primary goal of seeing their home team win in their welcome back to the Cage. Amid all of the pushing and shoving the atmosphere among students was friendly.

The problem and hostility was directed towards those responsible for a large number of students who were uninformed that the game was allegedly sold out. We did not find out the game was allegedly sold out until after 7pm. That was when two UMass policemen informed us of that rumor in a loud and physical manner.

Now getting back to the issue of the game being allegedly sold out. How could the game be sold out when the more than 1000 students, including myself had already paid their athletic fee at the beginning of the semester. After being so impolitely informed by the police that the game was allegedy sold out, I left the side door and walked around to the front entrance.

When I arrived at the front entrance I witnessed a score of season ticket holders entering a sold out game. I thought to myself, how could this be? I and those other 1000 plus students that had just been refused admittance into the game could not get in while many older adults casually flashed a ticket to enter as though it were a gold card! In addition, season ticket holders have the option to pay or not to attend the game. Students must pay and in Saturday's game could not attend the game in reference to the 1000 plus. In effect each one of those 1000 plus students already possessed a season ticket in the form of their student I.D. card. I profess that there will be some drastic changes made to ensure this situation does not arise again.

David D. Moore

I was angered at the thought of those ticket holders getting ahead in priority to my peers that were pushing each other for more than one hour. The university obviously made money on that game by turning back students that already paid the athletic fee to gain additional monies by charging outside sources for tickets. In economic terms they practiced the "double counting" theory.

I personally feel that ticket holders should be admitted after students to ensure that we,students whopaid our fee get a chance to enjoy what we paid for.

Dear Editor,

upon reading the last two issues of Nummo News this semester, I was moved to say a word or two which I think will benefit future issues. Recently I have been enjoying Nummo News issues because of the inspirational message therein, and moreover it has been an eyeopener.

If you want to know about Black people's history, about health, sports and world news, Nummo is there to serve you. To come to the point, on reading through the past issues I found out that more emphasis was put on our last Black Leaders Martin Luther King Jr., Paul Robeson, Marcus Garvey and Charles Drew. Many columns were used to cover the history of these people.

I think that it is a good idea to learn about our militant leaders, how they devoted their sweat and lives for our protection but it is another thing to learn to fend for our lives and the future of our children. Everything should be measured moderately. And how are we going to achieve our objective? One, we can continue to write about living Black leaders we want our children to emulate. And secondly, if we start to think right, talk right and walk right our problem will be solved.

Moreover, it will be nice if Nummo writers can keep close to the current news such as UFO (the unidentified foreign objects) that are pouring from around the globe. This type of news will interest not only the American students but other ethnic groups. This will keep them from saying, "I don't care for Nummo News, the negro's paper. All it contains is Black history and Black editorals. It is too militant."

Chernor Mosley.
Amherst

DISGUSTING...UTTERLY DISGUSTING! That's just one of the many words, that comes to mind, to describe what happened outside the Curry Hicks building, at the opener of the Men's Basketball season on the evening of November 23rd;

Many UMass students who pay both student activity and athletic fees should have had first priority, but were actually barred from the entrance of the Cage by Campus police.

What else can I say? I am outraged at the fact that we, the paying customers where treated as trespassers. I am truly appalled and extremely upset especially because season ticket holders were allowed to enter. I ask you, "Am I not ,a season ticket holder, along with the other undergraduates who pay athletic and student activity fees?

As a student at this university, I would like to have answers to these questions.

(1) Where the hell does our student activity and athletic fees go?

(2) Why should we have to pay $4.00 to get in when we have already paid through our fees?

(3) Who deserves top priority to watch a game in the Cage,"season ticket holding" students or "others"?

(4) Inorder for me to see a home game, must I become an usher or waterboy/girl?

(5) And finally, "What's up Wally? Where were you when we needed you?...the cops referred us to you...Were you inside sitting in my seat?

In closing, just a word of advice to our law enforcing figures on campus - the UMass police - "you can catch more flies with honey than you can with vinegar." Think about it!

Dear Editor,

I am writing in concern of the opening of the Curry Hicks Cage on Saturday November 23, 1985 for the UMass-Merrimack basketball game. Since I am a freshman, I chose to arrive at the game early so that I could obtain a good viewing seat. I also wanted to be among the first to enter the Cage.

To my surprise as I walked up the pathway along with my friend, we witnessed a mass of students all gathered around a few small entrances. We looked in amazement as the crowd eagerly awaited the opening of the Cage doors. By 6:45 p.m., we were well within the crowd. We thought that we had moved up but actually we were still in the same spot and the crowd had increased. However, there was excitement, laughter, and conversation among the thousands of students who patiently awaited the opening of the Cage doors.

Suddenly the crowd began to squeeze closer together, obviously the doors had finally opened. But along with the opening of those doors came the screams of pain, yelling and harsh words towards the once friendly speaking neighbors. My friend and I were separated and I was eventually lifted about an inch off of the ground as the crowd progressed into the Cage. It was a truly terrifying experience indeed to be within such a wild atmosphere. People were kicking and pushing one another. I was completely immobile for about fifteen minutes, when I did enter the door of the Cage, I was backwards - not by choice either.

I concluded that the crowd had indeed gone through a type of metamorphosis, from an excited, seemingly harmless group of crowded students, to an angry mob of warriors. And the battle did not end at the opening of the gates either. After catching my breath inside the Cage and waiting for my friend, we had to run through the gym and find seats. As we walked along the gym floor the seats were filling up extremely fast. Eventually, we did find seats and yes, the battle, for us, at least, had finally ended.

Inspite of all of the pain and anguish I went through to watch the first basketball game of the season, it was not even worth it, but the excitement was definitely there. I am hoping that future games will be controlled in a much better manner.

Yvette Russell

Dear Editor,

I am OUTRAGED over the events of November 23, 1985. On that evening I and over 1000 other students stood eagerly outside the Cage, waiting to cheer our home Mens basketball team in its season opener.

Everyone was in a friendly mood and when the Campus police verbally ordered us to move back, we obliged. Even as they moved through the crowd and physically man-handled some people, we took it in stride. But the last straw came when the Campus police demanded that we (the students) move back in order to allow ticket holders (non-students) to pass. Thus, we were told the game was sold out.

This absolutely makes my blood boil. How can NON-STUDENTS, who aren't required to pay the STUDENT activity and athletic fees, get into this game? Every semester I and the other UMass students are literally forced to support our home teams even if we don't attend a single game! Yes, this is true and what is more unbelievable is the fact that outsiders, who do not pay for "EVERY" game, take precedence over those who do.

I understand that many of the Universities sports events and activities are open to the public, but the hierarchy must consider one thing. Without their loyal subjects (students), would their actually be a kingdom?

Maureen Dyer

THIS ISSUE'S STAFF
Production Manager Chris Allen
Copy Editor Donna Henry
Layout Chris Allen, Maureen J. Dyer
Typesetting Wilma Tynes, Donna Henry, Maureen J. Dyer, Chris Allen
Photo Editor Chris Allen

RUN-DMC... the rap phenomena

By CHRIS ALLEN
Nummo News Staff

Run-DMC had the crowd asking for more. Number one rap group, performed at Pearl Street, Norhampton on December 4.

One of the hottest new music acts in the entertainment industry today, Run-DMC,has scarcely had time to draw a breath since the release of their celebrated debut album c year and a half ago.

This past July they were the only rap act to play the Live-Aid benefit concert in Philadelphia. In August they were The first rap act ever to play Dick Clark's "American Bandstand" and in September they rapped the rules on MTV's Second Annual VideoMusic Awards Show (a funtion performed last year by Cyndi Lauper). Looking ahead, the trio will be featured on the all-star "Sun-City" anti-apartheid record, alongside. Bruce Springsteen, Pat Benatar, Peter Townsend and Miles Davis. In addition the group will star in "Krush Groove," the full-length movie version of the story of their careers, directed byu Michael Schultz, distributed by Warner Bros., and co-starring Sheila E., Kurtis Blow, and the Fat Boys.

These achievements follow such other milestones as having been the first rap group to earn a gold record award from the Record Industry Association of America(R.I.A.A) for "Run-DMC." One of the rare acts to generate popular and critical acclaim in equal measure, Run's "Run-DMC" then went on to wind up on the 1984 Ten Best lists of "New York Times" and the "Los Angelas Times," as well as in "Rolling Stone's" 1984 Top 100.

"King of Rock," their second album, released in January of this year, also quickly earned a gold record and is now on its way to platinum status(for one million copies sold).

Their triumphs on records aside, Run-DMC is also known as one of the most powerful visual acts in the country today. The group has been an MTV favorite since the release of their first video, "Rock Box," in the summer of 1984. They were guests of legendary rocker Lou Reed on an MTV "Rock Influences" special in the fall of 1984, the subject of an MTV "Liner Notes" profile this past March, and the stars of a half-hour MTV special entitled "Run-DMC Live From the Ritz" at the end of June.

Another indication of their primacy as performers is that Run-DMC headlined the pioneering New York City Fresh Festival II for the second time this past summer over such estimable colleagues as Whodini, the Fat Boys, and Grand Master Flash. A package tour in the style of the old Motown Revues, the Fresh Festival has been instrumental in bringing rap from New York to the rest of the country. Fresh Fest II played arena-sized venues in over 50 cities. The crew is also very big in England, as attested to by the "New Musical Express" cover story devoted to them this past March.

Finally as the "Los Angeles Times" noted in June: "Unlike many rappers, Run-DMC makes music that's laced with a strong social conscience." The crew has demonstrated their concern in songs like "It's Like That," "Hard Times" and "You're Blind;" in public service award winner done on behalf of the New York State Department of Health); and in morale-boosting performances at Columbia and Princeton Universities this past spring, by invitation of the students on strike in protest of their respective alma mater's investment in South Africa.

The trio of 20-year-olds have been friends since childhood. They grew up within blocks of each other in middle-class Hollis-Queens, New York. Rappers Ru(Josp immons) and DMC(Darryl McDaniels) were classmates at St. Pascal's Catholic School through the eighth grade. Run and deejay Jam Master Jay(Jason Mizell) became friends in the fourth grade as teamates on St. Pascal's basketball team, and later went on to Andrew Jackson High School together.

By 1977 12-year-old Run was deejaying for Kurtis Blow, the King of Rap, who was(and still is) managed by Run's Brother Russell Simmons. It wasn't long before Run also began grabbing the mike on occasion. One of his earliest raps went like this: "DJ Run, son of a gun/Always plays music and has big fun/Not that old, but that's all right /Makes all other emcees bite all night."

Run brought back tapes of his performances with Kurtis to DMC, and the two of them would practice at home, Run rapping while DMC deejayed, then DMC rapping while Run Deejayed. Jay, meanwhile, had played bass and guitar in bands from the of 13, and then switched over to turntables in high school as the deejay of a neighborhood crew called Two-Fifths Down.

The crew graduated high school in 1982, at which point Russell agreed for the first time to produce a record for them "It's Like That/Sucker M.C.'s" was released by Profile Records in March of 1983. It was an immediate sensation, and was followed in December of that year with "Hard Times/Jam Master Jay" which was in addition to the release of the "Run-DMC" album in May of 1984 followed by "Rock Box/30 Days" and finally, "Hollis Crew."

With mainstream acceptance so close, Run-DMC could've opted to get soft on their second album(released in January of this year), but they didn't. The dominant tone was best expressed in the title track: "Every jam we play we break two needles/There's three of us, but we're not the Beatles." Produced, like "Run-DMC," by Russell Simmons and Larry Smith, "King of Rock" was dedicated to the results of what critic Greg Tate descrebed as "a staged confrontation between hip-hop and heavymetal."

The group's third album slated for Christmas release, is being produced by Russell Simmons and Rick Rubin. Rubin is also a member of the Beastie Boys and Russell's partner in Columbia/Def Jam Records, a label devoted to what the partners describe as contemporary teenage music.

In sum, it's Run-DMC's adventurousness, in addition to their intelligence, strength, and sense of humor that has taken them so far in such a short time. Or, as the guys themselves explain in "King of Rock": "It's not a trick or treat,and it's not an April Fool It's all brand new, never ever old school."

A broom to fly... still flying in Gus. Sav. Gallery

Nummo News Service

On December 2, 1985 the Augusta Savage Memorial Gallery opened its doors with the exhibition entitled "a broom to fly", works by Mr. Glenwood Lawrence.

Lawrence a native of Jamaica is currently visiting in the area. His exhibition of 40 works will include over 20 watercolours, along with an array of allegorical oils, acrylics and pen and ink drawings comprising the theme. Promising to be an exciting and imformative as the artist himself,

This awardwinning artist is one of Jamaica's foremost watercolourest and has been cited in reviews as "much to praise and admire." Traveling and exhibiting throughout Europe and the United States is a common practice for this energetic young artist. Recently when asked about his "award winning formula" by the Miami Herald he was quoted as saying "I work in it and sit in it and live in it. And then I close my eyes and paint it."

A multi-faceted and multi-talented Glenwood Lawrence puts no limits on his creativity. Currently this artist, author, composer and musican is collaborating with his publisher in London, awaiting the final press of his two most recent singles and is in the process of recording an album entitled "Searching for Dad."

All of this for one person mayh sound to the pessimist as a bit much however all quite true. The Augusta Savage Memorial Gallery invites you to come and partake of all that is Glenwood Lawrence. A reception to meet the Artist was held on Friday the 6th of December from 4pm-6pm in the gallery.

The exhibition will continue until December 20.

Peace Corps workers relate experience working abroad

By CHRIS ALLEN
Nummo News Staff

Surviving the "me-generation" and yuppies, the Peace Corps continues to thrive 25 years after its seed was planted in an October 1960 John F. Kennedy campaign speech. Over 100,000 people have held the "toughest job they ever loved" and more are on the way.

The Peace Corps is especially alive and well at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, which last year trailed only Stanford and Michigan State among American universities delivering Peace Corps workers belongs to students Lisa Sammet and Leona Lavallee.

Both women served in the Peace Corps in West Africa. While they held different positions (Sammet was a teacher in the Ivory Coast. Lavallee worked an on teacher in the Ivory Coast. Lavallee worked on costruction projects in Tongo.),they share positive feelings about the Peace Corps and hope to spread those feelings while recruiting.

Sammet and Lavallee face the same obstacles Peace Corps recruiters have faced since the first volunteers flew off to Ghana in 1961: Prospective volunteers are notoriously leery of what awaits them. They fear for their health and ask questions like, "Will I live in a mud hut?" Then there is the problem of willing students deemed unqualified because the Peace Corps prefers workers who possess skills in areas such as farming, engineering or medicine.

"I want someone who has skills," Liso Sammet says of what she is looking for in a voluteer. "The Peace Corps needs skilled people."

Lack of skills, however, does not automatically disqualify a person with a bakground in the humanities who may have a place in community service or education programs. The Peace Corps considers attitude as much as aptitude.

"The Peace Corps is not a vacation program. I want people who understand that," Sammet says. "I'm really looking for people who have three qualities: flexibility, adaptability and a sense of humor. Sure, it's important to have a skill. But if they don't have those three qualities to begin with, they're not going to make it in the Third World."

The recruiters entered the Peace Corps from different backgrounds. Pittsfield native Sammet is a 1975 University off Massachusetts graduate with a degree in English. She has a master's degree in library science from the University of Rhode Island and worked as a teacher and librarian before entering the Peace Corps. She is pursuing a second bachelor's degree in international agricultural development.

Lavallee, from Woonsocket R.I.,has an associate's degree in enviormental science from Berkshire Community College. She worked for a renewable energy company and served with Operation Crossroads to Africa before her two-year stint in the Peace Corps. She is working on a bachelor's degree in agricultural development.

In the peace corps, Sammet taught English in the Ivory Coast town of M'Bahiakro. She tought five classes a day to high school-level students, aged 12 to 22. With classes that averaged 65 students, it was a far cry from her previous teaching experience in Great Barrington. "I don't have much sympathy for teachers who complain about large classes," she says.

Lavalle oversaw several construction projects in Togo. She described her role as a "logistic person"and proudly displays pictures of one of the two elementary schools she helped build.

The two recruiters have a great deal of enthusiasm for the Peace Corps and both say it was by far the most meaningful experience of their lives. "Seeing all these great jobs come through here, "Lavallee says of the material she receives at the University Peace Corps office, "I get excited. It brings back so many memories. I'd really like to go back to Africa.

Sit-in... continued from page 1

News are funded by the SATF.

A delegation of six representing the students offered to meet with Madson to discuss the issue, but Madson refused, offering only to meet with student leaders, who were elected to positions in the Student Government. The offer was turned down by the demonstrators.

The students had six demonds which they said they were unable to present to anyone during the demonstration.

Some of these demonds included: A call from the administration to hire a legal fourth attorney for the Legal Services Office, which represents students interest in a variety of legal matters. A demand that Donant resign "forthwith." A call for recognition by the administration of the SGA's authority to control the program, personnel and budget of The Student Activities Trust Fund, The Graduate Students' Fee and those organizations financed by the Trust Fund.

Student Senate Speaker John Ruddock said that the Board of Trustees and Massachusetts General Laws say that the Student Government has ultimate control of the Funds.

About 3 p.m., a group of about 50 students occupied the office of the Dean of Students, William Field, the University's switch-board office and the corridor outside Madson's office. Visible through an office window, a police officer was present inside Madson's locked office.

One of the protesters, M. Lynne Murphy said that he thinks it is important to give the administration the message that they cannot continue to ignore students. "We want to negotiate, and they are being totally unmoving." Murphy said.

Chanting and carrying signs reading: "Madson, the Miser," and "Denny remember stealing is a crime," and "We give an inch; they take our Trust Fund", the protesters were told to leave the building at 5 p.m. or face charges of trespassing.

The press was also instructed to leave at 5 p.m., when the daily business hours ended. The students who remained in the building opted to be arrested,UMass police Chief Robert G. Joyce said. Students peacefully left the building in police custody. Three of these students were arroigned in the Hampshire District Court in Northompton while the other students are expected to be orrigned next week. The three who were arraigned on charges of trespassing are John A. Peterson of Northampton; Douglas A. Calvin of Amherst and Thomas W. Concannon of Northampton.

Among the other students , who are expected to be called before a court to answer to an indictment this week are John C. Hayes, Alex J. Zucker, Timothy J. Kress, Patricia M. McGarry, Christine M. Alibrandi, and Caroline Murray, all of who are residence of Amherst, and Jordan A. Rosner, of Sunderland. A pre-trial conference is set for the three arraigned students on January 22, 1986. A second demonstration on the the issue took place on Friday, however no arrest were nade. The protesters left the building chanting, "We'll be back."

From the staff of Nummo News

BLACK HISTORY CORNER

As history has shown, in order for talented African-American writers to receive national acclaim, they had to be a superb artist. In the late nineteenth century, Paul Lawrence Dunbar emerged as one of the nations finest writers. Dunbar, an African-American, indeed was a superb literary artist.

Dunbar began to write and develop his poetry before age 6. The son of a former slave, Dunbar learned to read and write from his self-educated mother.

When his father died, Dunbar was only twelve, but proved to be enough of a man to work two jobs and graduate in the top of his high school class.

Following graduation, the best job that Dunbar could find was that of an elevator operator. Having served as editor of his white schools newspaper didn't seem to mean much at the time. After his tasks were reduced to menial labor, the optimism of many black youngsters, who admired Dunbar's talents had been shattered. They saw that even exceptionally gifted black folk were restrained in the world by white society.

The torch of Dunbar's ambition to be a writer carried him through the dark times, and in 1896, his talents - along with the strengths in his hopes and dreams - overcome America's prisons of racism. Dunbar received national acclaim with the publication of a collection of his poetry, "Lyrics of a Lonely Life".

Dunbar was an extremely unique poet in that he had two clear contrasting styles; apart from his poetry in literary english, he also wrote poems in dialect form. An example of his poetry in dialect is exhibited in his poem, "A Death Song", where Dunbar writes, "Lay me down beneaf de willers in de grass..." His literary english style is found in "We wear the Mask"; "we wear the mask that grins and lies, it hides our cheeks and shades our eyes;"

Paul Lawrence Dunbar's contributions to American literature and African-American poetry reflect the superb artist that he was. His poetry, though he has long passed away, still vibrantly rings with an awesome power of its own. Among his many commendations is Dunbar High School which is located in Washington, D.C.

C.RON ALLEN

Show pulled from Boston radio

...demeaning to black people.

By CHRIS ALLEN
Nummo Staff

A Boston radio station has concelled a run of the Amos 'n' Andy show after receiving complaints thot the program was demeaning to blacks, portraying them as dumb and incompetent.

George Schweitzer, a communications vice president with the CBS Broadcast group, said CBS cancelled a television run of Amos 'n' Andy in, 1966 because of complaints from the NAACP. He said the tapes had not been released since.

"We have no intention of releasing those tapes" Schweitzer commented, "but we're aware of many pirated versions, which are dfficult to keep track of."

CBS controlled rights to the 78 original Amos 'n' Andy video episodes from the 1950's as well as the radio programs aired from the 1920's through the 1940's, added Schweitzer.

Asked if he was aware of the history of complaints generated by the Amos 'n' Andy show, Kindler said, "Every single program on radio and television is offensive to someone."

News Radio WEEI-AM 590 pulled the show after several runs in WEEI's Radio Classic Series.

William Kindler, station manager said WEEI was responding to its audience. "Since beginning the radio classics in June, so many listeners requested that WEEI broadcast this popular show, we decided to schedule it for November. Even though the response generally has been favorable, however, we do not want those offended to feel that our community-minded station is insensitive to their concerns."

WEEI a CBS affiliate, may hove broadcasted the show in violation of its network's copyright control of both radio and television versions of the program, which a CBS spokesman said has not been authorized for broadcast since the mid 1960's.

Kindler declined to comment to Nummo News when asked whether the station would continue the progrom despite its controversal nature, as an earlier published report said.

Kindler said WEEI obtained the Amos 'n' Andy tapes from a reputable distributor who presumably obtained all necessary clearances for broadcast. He declined to state the distributers name.

firearms... Continued from page 2

So,beyond avoiding New York, what can be done about the guns and crime problem? Wright says frankly the solutions are not self-evident from his study, although he sees potential in mandatory sentencing for criminals who use guns to commit crimes. He also thinks harsher penalties for gun theft might be helpful. Ironically, those two solutions would put more people in prison, thereby oggravating another societal woe; lack of prison space.

"No study of this sort has ever been done," Wright said of his report, done for the U.S. Justice Department's principal research arm, the National Institute of Justice. "We've never really had a comprehensive portrait of the armed criminal in America. Now that we hove one, I think it falls to other people who are more sophisticated than I am, to take that portrait and say, 'OK, now that we know this, what can we do about the problem?'

"Perhaps the answer is there's not a whole lot we can do," he admits. "But if that's the answer then I guess that's at leost worth knowing so we can stop wasting our efforts and go on to something else."

Omega Psi Phi gears up for 75th Anniversary Diamond Jubilee

By CHRIS ALLEN
Nummo Staff

Over five hundred chapters of Omega Psi Phi Froternity, Inc. conducted annual awards programs in observance of the Omega National Achievement Week, November 17-23, 1985.

The theme of this year's Omega Achievement Week observance was "Toward the 1990's Uplifting As We Climb Through Education and Economic Development."

It is during that period that local chapters of the Omegas, at home and abroad, honored their respective choices for "Omega Man of The Year" and "Omega Citizen Of The Year." Most chapters also cite others also for outstanding service to their communities during the 1985 year.

The names of the local "Omega Man" and "Citizen Of The Year" honorees was then submitted by their sponsoring chapter to its District for nomination as posssible "District Omega Man Of The Year" and "District Citzen Of The Year" Honors during the Spring 1986 District Conferences. There are presently eleven active District in the Fraternity.

The District "Omega Man" and "Citzen" honorees was nominated by their District for the very prestigious National "Omega Man Of The Year" titles. Presentations will be made at the 75th Anniversary Diamond Jubilee Grand Conclave in Washington, D.C. to be held July 26- August 1, 1986.

Some of the past "National Omega Men Of The Year" have included the Rev. Jesse Jackson, NAACPer Dr. Benjamin Hooks, and the Urban League's Vernon Jordan.

Omega Psi Phi Fraternity also sponsors a National Essay Contest for college bouond high school seniors as part of the National Achievement Week Observance.

Four scholarships are awarded to the winners. The deadline for essays this year was November 23, 1985.

The Omega Psi Phi Fraternity's National Achievement Week Observance was the idea of Omega man Dr. Carter G. Woodson, the "father" of the Black History movement.

The Omega Psi Phi Fraternity was founded in 1911 at Howard University in Washington, D.C. It is the first national fraternity founded on a black college campus. Dr. Moses C. Norman, of Atlanta, Georgia, is the current Grand Basileus of the Fraternity. The National Achievement Week Chairman is Dr. Adam E. McKee, D.V.M., or Rockville, Maryland.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The management and staff of BMCP would like to wish all a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.
Lester High, Marc Elliot Giles, Louis Alfred, Denise Burger, Sharon Jackson, Lauren Gumes, Lauressa Johnson.

Peace Amongst all the Greeks
From Phi Beta Sigma

MERRY CHRISTMAS
to the entire Nummo News staff.
Also to Eric, Merlyn, Renita, and to all the CVSA members.
From Anita Auta Almeida
Secretary

Wishing you all the best and brightest joys of the Christmas Season.
From Third World Caucus

Attention all interested students. Positions available for next semester at Nummo News in Photography, Layout, News writing and Production. For more imformation please call or stop by Nummo News Office located at 103 New Africa House, 545-0061 (0062). Workstudy and Non-workstudy positionbs available.

DITTO
From Ros. & Jean
Afro-Am Department

Now Forming!!!
Western Massachusetts
National Endometriosis Association
First meeting to plan:
*Organization of chapter
*Support Network
*Educational events
*Discussions
Sunday December 15th, 3:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m.
Everywoman's Center
Wilder Hall, UMass Amherst
For more imformation call:545-0883

Warm greetings and best wishes for a Merry Christmas and a very happy New Year
From Intramurals Department

SPORTS

Minutewomen topped Springfield to make it four in a row

Collegian photo by Derick Roberts

Senior forwar Jaunita Matthews doing her thing against Boston University earlier in the season. Matthews was top scorer along with Sophmore forward Tara Lewis scoring ten points in the game on Saturday at the Cage.

By CHRIS ALLEN
Nummo News

The University of Massachusetts Women's Basketball team made it four in a row when they trounced Springfield College 69-34 in the first game of a double header in the cage Saturday evening. The easy victory boosts the UMass womens record to 4-1, including four straight homecourt wins.

Senior guard-forward Jaunita Matthews was explosive in the saturday game. She contributed 10 points to the total and shared the team top scoring title with sophmore forward Tara Lewis. Matthews is averaging 12.3 ppg and Coach Barbara Stevens believes the junior college transfer is coming into her own this year.

As a team, the Minutewomen have improved their shooting considerably over the past year and are currently making almost 50% of their shots.

Susan Burtoft, who leads the Minutewomen in rebounding this season, matched her seasons average in the game with 10.

UMass' point production is up to 76 points a game, which is well above last years average.

Springfield came into the game with a 2-3 record, Senior forward Ellen Hill led the Chiefs and brought a 13.2 point, 10 rebound per game average into the game. Robin McLeod paced the Cheifs with 10 points while Patty Larkin snatched 7 rebounds.

Defensively, UMass is holding teams to 62.5 points a game which is about the same as last season. It is an area that Cooch Stevens would like to see continued improvement.

"Obviously I'm feeling very good about our performance, especially the last three games," Stevens said at the last game before this victory. "were pretty satisfied so far but we know the competition's going to get tougher." UMass shot 28 of 59 from the floor for a .475 mark compared to Springfield College's 14 of 52 for .270. The minutewomen also out rebounded their opponents 50-31.

Cooch Stevens and her Minutewomen visited University of Connecticut last night where they were defeated.

Freshmen shines for Minutemen

By CHRIS ALLEN
Nummo News

Collegian Photo by Derick Roberts

Forward Joe Fennell caught in action doing what he likes best.

It was a nail biting finish when the University of Massachusetts basketball team was edged by St. Bonaventure on Wednesday night in the Curry Hicks Cage.

Trailing by as many as 14 points the minutemen managed to finish with a close score of 78-77.

In a game which could have been UMass', personality differences seemed to be the major problem for the defeat. Although the Bonnies led the scores throughout the game, that did not mean that they were the better team.

Despite UMass' lack of aggressiveness the team was plagued by a bout of fouls, most of which seemed unintentionally. Freshman forward Joe Fennell who has proven to be a master of the game played like a teacher. Fennell made some long passes which has been UMass' primary aid in winning this season.

At one point freshman center forward Sean Mosby along with classmate Dwane Chase, put on a "Wednesday Night Live Show" with Chase making a superb dunk and Mosby depriving the Bonnies of the ball over the rim.

Barry Manning St. Bonaventure's 'Big Bird' played as if he was practicing on his home court. Almost every shot he made was sunken in the net. He contributed 31 points while teammate Doug Turner and St. Bonnie's best foul shooter Guard Elmer Anderson bagged 12 points each. Anderson missed the first of three-one and-one before the final buzzer.

Mike Mundy, Wilbert Hicks and Fitzhugh Tarry were brought into the final home game of the semester. Mundy went on a goal chase from he was introduced into the game, scoring within his first five minutes on the court. Hicks contributed 4 fouls and 4 goals while making his debut this season for UMass was Tarry, the man responsible for pushing UMass score from 75 to 77. Tarry hit a jumper on the buzzer with the assistance of Chase. An estimated 3,380 left the Cage realizing that in the final moments...it could have been anybody's game.

All he wants for Xmas

Los Angeles Laker Magic Johnson checks his teeth after being hit in the mouth by an opponent recently. Johnson had to be taken out of the game.

Letters

Listen to the advice...

I would like to clarify, to fellow students, the situation that the Student Government Association is in, as I see it. The SGA is experiencing a financial crisis as a result of ignoring accumulating deficits and inefficient budgeting.

The money that has been mismanaged is the money that we pay every year to the Student Activities Trust Fund. We each pay $88 in the form of a Student Activities Fee, or $1.7 miillion collectively. Most of this money is already "fixed cost" or rather, committed in the fiscal budget to the SGA-funded operations which include enrollment based allocations, mandated costs, payroll, and the reserves. On a bigger scale it includes: the Economic Development Office, the Legal Services Office, the Office of Third World Affairs, SCERA, Student Activities Office, the Union Video Center, the Off-Campus Housing Office, WMUA, and the Student Senate Office. Once these fixed costs are budgeted for, the SGA is left with $252,810 to allocate.

In past years the SGA has over-allocated this money and cut into other budgets (the "fixed costs"), thus causing the deficits. The SGA has continuously borrowed from the reserves or tried to raise fees in order to pay back their debts. The SGA has been warned many times as this "cyclical financial disintegration" has approached us. Because student leaders come and go every year in office, things get put off. The SGA only deals with the short term and now we have a crisis that must be dealt with. We stand to lose many student services unless the problem is corrected.

Randy Donant, director of Student Activities, has developed a list of actions to be taken that will make the crisis more manageable and allow both SGA leaders and administrators to deal with the problem now and provide for a long term solution. Randy Donant has recommended that students do not vote by referendum for a $12 fee increase this year, because it will not solve the problem. A fee increase at this point will allow the SGA to put off the problem again rather than coming up with a viable long term solution.

Until the SGA faces its responsibilities, it does not have the right to criticize a professional for taking the lead, as if to protect its pride. Rights include responsibilities. When the SGA has taken the responsibility of solving its financial problems then maybe it will have the right to criticize professionals.

Donant was hired to work for students. His recommendations benefit the students and attempt to solve the SGA's financial dilemma. Calling for Donant's resignation won't solve any problem. It only symbolizes a rejection of the much needed stabilization regarding the SGA budgets.

In my opinion, the SGA is blind to the situation it is in and it will remain so until it begins to listen to the advice of the professional staff who have been hired to provide a continuity to student groups, such as the SGA.

I urge fellow students to follow this issue and know the facts so that when it comes time to vote you'll know what it is you are voting for. I hope you will vote against a fee increase which will force the SGA to deal with this financial crisis.

Katherine L. Newell
Amherst

Pearl Street
Miller High Life
presents
Thursday Dec. 19th
THE DEL FUEGOS
plus Enigma Recording Artists
THE OUTLETS
Rock n' Roll Christmas Party
10 PEARL STREET NORTHAMPTON, MA 413 584-7771

FUNNYBONES
Cocktail Lounge
Rt. 9 Hadley
Dec. 13th Friday 5:00-9:00
Xmas Part with Just George Direct from Cape Cod
Dec. 13th Friday 9:00 - 1:00
Top 40 Band Syren
Dec. 14th Saturday 9:00 - 1:00
MissingLink

• COMBO DINNERS •
Six different platters with combinations of our most popular entrees served with Spanish Rice and Refritos. . .4.05 - 4.85
. . .Bring Your Appetite!
TACO VILLA
...Offering Quality Mexican Foods
NORTHAMPTON 21 CENTER ST 584-0673 Bring Your Own Beer or Wine
AMHERST 41 BOLTWOOD WALK 256-8217 Beer & Wine Served
SPRINGFIELD 749 SUMNER AVE 786-0919 Bring Your Own Beer or Wine

15th ANNUAL BUSH BASH
UMASS SKI CLUB
SUGARBUSH VALLEY
SKI & PARTY WEEK
JAN. 19-24
TRIP INCLUDES:
5½ DAY LIFT TICKET SUN - FRI
5 NIGHTS LODGING HOTEL OR CONDO
ENTERTAINMENT: FREE BEER & WINE PARTIES
HOT TUB PARTIES. LONG UNDERWEAR PARTIES
TURTLE RACES. FREE BEER & WINE PARTIES
FREE BEER & WINE PARTIES NASTAR RACES
SUGARBUSH COUPON BOOK. ECT. ECT.
HOTEL PACKAGE (TAX INCLUDED) ONLY $149
CONDO PACKAGE (TAX INCLUDED) ONLY $199
LAGNAF 86
Vermont Drinking Age is 18 yrs.
FOR MORE INFO 545-3437 430 STUDENT UNION
Finals Week Office Hours:
Mon - Fri 10 am to 2 pm
MORE SPACE IS AVAILABLE!!
SIGN-UP NOW!!!

FOUR SEASONS
Wines/Liquors
BEER SPECIALS
BUSCH ..... cans $8.99
BUD LIGHT ..... cans $10.99
HEINEKEN ..... bottles $13.99
UTICA CLUB ..... bottles $6.50
Lots more in store specials
LIQUOR SPECIALS
VODKA and GIN $8.99
RUM $10.99
MALIBU RUM $6.99
PEPPERMINT SCHNAPPS $8.99
Monday, December 16
Annual "Champagne Tasting"
call store for details
Lots of gift sets and ideas available
Wine Gift Sets - some already wrapped
Beer Sets
Liqueur Gift Sets
Large Selection of Nips for Stocking Stuffers
Route 9, Hadley 584-8174

ARTS

Michael Douglas and Kathleeen Turner star in "Jewel of the Nile."

By DON LIPPER
Collegian Staff

Finals. Don't even talk to me about finals. There's only one thing you can do in a situation like this. Movies. Movies until you drop.

There are two new movies at the malls, and the American premire of an off-beat comedy in Northampton. Jewel of the Nile is the sequel to Romancing the Stone. Once again we find romance novelist Joan Wilder (Kathleen Turner) and her adventurer/lover Jack Colton (Michael Douglas) caught up in another incredible comic adventure. Danny DeVito (Louie from TV's Taxi) reprises his role as Ralph their arch-foe. Ralph, so it seems, didn't get caught by the police in the last movie and is still after the big emerald from Romancing. Joan, poor thing, is plagued with writer's block, when suddenly she gets an offer to write the autobiography of an Arab prince and the couple are wisked away on "the wildest adventure of their lives."

Clue: The Movie is an all-star murder mystery farce based on the popular board game. Starring Eileen Brennan (Private Benjamin), Tim Curry (last seen as Dr. Frank N. Furter in The Rocky Horror Picture Show), Madeline Kahn, Chirstopher Lloyd (Back to the Future), Michael McKean (Lenny, of Lenny and Squiggy fame), Martin Mull, Leasley Ann Warren, this movie was filmed with three different endings. Whodunit becomes a matter of Whereyouseeit.

Aside from those two new movies, the picture at the malls is still basically the same. Young Sherlock Holmes is an adventure mystery, produced by Steven Spielberg and written by Chris Columbus (the same guy who wrote the screenplays for Gremlins and Goonies). The movie asks the question what would have happened if Holmes and Watson had met as teenagers instead of middle aged men, as they did in the books.

Directed by Barry Levinson, the movie allows the audience to absorb more of the atmosphere of the times than

continued on page 16

To Sherry
Laurie
Penny and Doreen
We appreciate all that you have done for us.
The Men in Brandywine

AMHERST CINEMA
Friday 12/13 - sat 12/14
Safety Last at 7; General at 8:30
City lights at 9:45
Sun 12/15 - Tues 12/17
Unfaithfully Yours 7:00
Bringing Up Baby 9:00
Cary Grant and Katherine Hepburn
Weds 12/18 - Sat 12/21
Sweet Dreams 7:00
Coal Miner's Daughter 9:00
30 AMITY ST. AMHERST 253-5426

Pleasant St. Theater
Midnight Shows Friday and Saturday
A NEW COMEDY
AMATEUR HOUR
SNEAK PREVIEW
American Premiere Here with cast and film-makers present
27 Pleasant St. Northampton 586-0935

GOOD LUCK WITH FINALS
SEE YOU NEXT SEMESTER!
Student Note & Printing Service
CLOSED
STUDENT UNION 403
LAST DAY TO PICK UP NOTES IS WEDS. DEC. 18

HUNDREDS OF CREDIT COURSES.
CREDIT-FREE WORKSHOPS.
UMASS
SPRING
SPRING CATALOGS HAVE ARRIVED!
Pick up your copy
Division of Continuing Education
University Library, Southeast Entrance
Or call 5-2414 for more information.

ARTS

The Miser production is witty and has philosophical message

By MARGOT WIATROWSKI
Collegian Correspondent

Webster's dictionary defines a miser as "one who hoards money and lives in wretched surroundings," and the Rand Theater's production of Moliere's The Miser has illustrated that definition quite colorfully.

Mr. Harpagon, the miser, is played by Harry Mahnken, who exudes stinginess and the nastiness expected of such a scrooge. The ingeneous set and scenery add to the atmosphere with charming cobwebs gathering everywhere, papers scattered in and around Harpagon's balcony study, and even a secret lock to get up to the balcony—which nobody but the miser himself seems to have access to.

The dusty, musty house comes complete with a crew of bumbling servants, headed by the banjo playing cook/coachman Master Jack (played by Nick Plakias), and a hilarious spinster housekeeper portrayed by Ruth Cullinane, who add to the madcap silliness by seeming to be everywhere and doing everything except what they're supposed to.

Money isn't the only thing Harpagon scrimps on. He is also insistent on marrying his two children into positions that appear convienient for fast cash. Elise, the daughter, played by Katherine A. Gibbens, is the not-so-typical little rich girl who wants to marry her father's man servant, Valerie.

David Spencer is wonderful as the love-lorn butler, who seems conniving at first, but indeed turns out to be sincere. The situation is not improved by her brother Cla[illegible]'s infatuation with a "poor Irish girl" (who has a bizarre accent), played by Susan O' Brian. Richard DesRochers does a splendid job in bringing the sporty and dashing young Clay to life.

The Miser displays a number of rather unique costumes, most of them belonging to a flapper named Frosine, who acts as a matchmaker to the miser, Mr. Harpagon. However, you know how flappers can be.

Katherine Gibbens, Ruth Cullinane, Meighan and Nick Plakias in "The Miser" at the Rand Theatre.

Frosine helps the young Harpagons in their plights of love, unbeknownst to their father. Meighan Gerachis is a convincing con-artist, and almost gets away with a grand plot to snow Mr. Harpagon.....almost.

This philosophical parody really sets your mind to thinking, and you should be prepared for quite a few surprises, people literally popping out of the woodwork, and even a crime or two!

The Miser is playing now until Saturday at the Rand Theatre at UMass.

A special good bye to Renee Bacher from the Arts Desk—Au revoir!

AMHERST CINEMA
Are YOU ready for our 24 Hour Science Fiction Marathon
starting Sat. Feb. 15, 1986
at 12:00 Midnight
see
Eraserhead
The Thing
Hardware Wars
Star Trek II and III
and 13 more films
PLUS our famous Trivia Contest
and lots of prizes!
All 24 hours for just $6.00
30 AMITY ST. AMHERST 253-5426

Molière's
THE MISER
The University of Massachusetts Department of Theater
Rand Theater, Fine Arts Center
Dec. 6, 7, and 11-14 at 8:00 PM, Sunday Dec. 8 at 2:00 PM and 7:00 PM
Tickets: Fine Arts Center Box Office, 545-2511

NEW
Spring 1986
Performance Art/Dance Course
AUDITIONS for KINETIC ENVIRONMENTS
Hampden Theatre - Dec. 17 and Jan. 14, 4 pm
Hampden Dance Studio - Jan. 30 & Feb. 6, 4 pm
For info, contact Aria Edry
545-2803/4

★ Films

continued from page 14

most Spielberg movies. But Steve has become so identified with the movies he produces, that in this one the actors who play Holmes and his girlfriend even look Steve and his girlfriend, Amy Irving. There is a scene in the film where Holmes must frantically search for a gold statue and when he finally finds it, a crowd of boys cheers wildly. I couldn't help but think how this paralleled Steve's own search for another gold statue, the Oscar. The action moves very quickly, with many internal references to almost every other Spielberg film. If you have a checklist, see how many of them you can spot.

Spies Like Us starring Chevy Chase and Dan Ackroyd as bumbling intelligence agents sent on a suicide mission as decoys to draw all the enemy fire away from the real agents. Well, of course, Chase and Ackroyd actually succeed in thwarting nuclear holocaust to everyone's amazement. Most critics have felt that this movie just doesn't work. The jokes, they say are predictible and just plain unfunny for most of the movie.

On Friday and Saturday night at midnight, Northampton's Pleasant St. Theatre will be show the American premire of Amateur Hour.

Julie Hanlon stars in "Amateur Hour," premiering at the Pleasant Street Theatre.

Jessica Lange plays singer Patsy Cline in "Sweet Dreams."

The Whately Inn
Quality Food Prepared To Order
Chestnut Plain Rd. Whately
Rte. 116 Exit 3041
Featuring Steve Kloc's Famous Broiled LIVE LOBSTER
Also Serving Louisiana Cajun Entrees
Also Steaks, Prime Rib, Seafood
DIRECTIONS: take 116 north to South Deerfield, south on route 5-10 1½ miles. Right on Christian Lane ¼ mile from center of town.
Open: Mon-Sat 5-10 pm Sun 1-9

MASS. APPROVED INSPECTION STATION
RADIAL TIRE SALE
P155/80R13
$29.95
Includes Mounting plus MA State Tax
North Amherst Tire & Auto Center
"Full Service Tire Store"
78 Sunderland Rd., No. Amherst, MA
Across from Watroba's Store
549-4704
Most Major Credit Cards Accepted

YOUR TEXTBOOK ALTERNATIVE

As a customer of the Jeffery Amherst Bookshop, you're acquainted with our reputation for personal, professional service. We invite you to give yourself that same convenience when it comes to ordering texts. Consider the advantages:

- we order the quantities you request — we won't cut your estimate
- computerized ordering
- regular written reports on the status of your order
- prompt response to title queries
- immediate reporting on publisher out-of-stocks
- desk copy loans from store stock

But we do more than make your life easier. Consider the advantages for your students when they buy books at the Jeff:

- 10% off all non-course books
- 10% off all school supplies
- a serious committment to stocking used texts—a crucial factor in student budgets
- access to all our class lists —a valuable reference for student planning
- free, fast special ordering
- payment by charge or check - with no ID hassles
- longer, more convenient hours —we're open Sundays year-round... and extra hours during rush

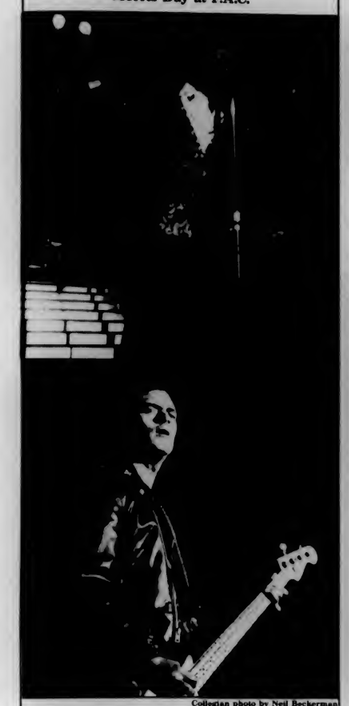
Every shopper is concerned with value—and since you have a choice, why not choose the professional service, the efficiency and ease of ordering your texts with the Jeffery Amherst Bookshop.

Jeffery Amherst Bookshop
55 South Pleasant Street, Amherst
253-3381 253-3870

INTERSESSION JOBS TODAY
Friday. Dec. 13

A representative from Stratton Resort will be on campus to interview students for temporary, full time work between Dec. 21st - Jan 5th.

We're paying $50 per day, providing free transportation daily, and free skiing tickets for everyone who works for us during this period. Please contact Bernice Stratton in the Student Employment Office (239A Whitmore) for details on location and interview times.



Stratton has jobs in the food and beverage, housekeeping, lifts, parking and customer service departments.

Stratton Corp. is an Equal Opportunity Employer

MONEY MOTIVATED?
If You Are Enthusiastic, Have A Strong Clear Speaking Voice and Have the Confidence to Prove What it Takes, Keep Reading This

We are a Major Industrial Tool Company Expanding a new office in Amherst, Mass Telemarketing is the future successful road to sales in the 1980's, and we are growing rapidly. 3 shifts allow you to work around your schedule, and you can earn up to $10.00 per hour while training. There are still 25 positions available. Salary + Commissions + Bonuses. For an appointment, Call 7 AM-7 PM, Dave 413-256-4101

Morris Day at F.A.C.

Collegian photo by Neil Beckerman
Dec Dec of the Ramones at the S.U.B

Ray Charles at Pearl Street

Collegian photo by Scott Maguire
Gordan Gano of the Violent Femmes, at the Blue Wall

Lone Justice at the S.U.B
Collegian photo by Derek Roberts

Collegian photo by Michelle Segail
Paul Young performs at F.A.C.

Fall '85 Concert Highlights

SPORT Style

UMass Knit Hat or Mittens 6.95

UMass Scarf 8.95

Photographer Dwayne Autery

Located in the Campus Center
M-f 9-5
Sat 10-3
UNIVERSITY STORE

1986-87 FINANCIAL AID FORMS

Financial Aid Forms for the 1986-87 Academic Year will be mailed to all on-campus residents (except graduating seniors and graduate students) on Thursday, December 12, 1985.

All off-campus residents and graduate students should pick up their Financial Aid Forms at Financial Aid Services, 243 Whitmore Administration Building, starting the week of December 16, 1985 from 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Any senior graduating January 1987 should also pick up a Financial Aid Form at Financial Aid Services.

THE SPOKE

A Drinkery to Meet, Relax and Enjoy

12 oz. Drafts 75¢
Pitchers $3.75

Spoke Long — Sleeve T's are in!

Beer Of The Month Imported from Holland GROLSCH $1.25

Spoke Drink of the Week -
Pine Cone Southern Comfort & Amaretto with Pineapple Juice $1.50

35 EAST PLEASANT, AMHERST, MA 01002

L A G B A S oh boy!

Polly wants some Nachos!

It's MEXICAN FIESTA MONTH at Carbur's! Featuring BBQ Ribs, Chili, Nachos, Mexican Pizza, Tostadas, Chicken Chimichangs & Burrito Pie!

Margueritas...$1.25
Santo Pablito Muchacha...$1.25
(St. Paul Grl By the bottle!)
Sombreros...$1.25

CARBUR'S
RESTAURANT & LOUNGE
At the Elmwood, Route 9, Hadley, MA (413) 586-1978

HANDMADE ORNAMENTS at

65 Montague Rd.
Route 63
1 mile north of UMass

YOUR ONE STOP CHRISTMAS SHOP

The Voice of the Pioneer Valley PRESENTS...

ARMY-NAVY SURPLUS AND ART-PRINT/POSTER !SALE!

Genuine Military Clothing and Accessories, U.S. and International Wool Pants $10-20
Camo Pants, Shirts, Vests, Jackets, etc
And Lots More

LOW LOW PRICES

Large Selection of Posters and Prints
Framed Prints $15
Unframed Posters
Great Gift Ideas
Down Sleeping Bags $25-30

PLUS! ↳ OFFICIAL NFL CLOTHING AND ACCESSORIES!

DEC. 16-20
Student Union Ballroom

UMASS GIFTWARE

Photographer Dwayne Autery

Located in the Campus Center

Open M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3

UNIVERSITY STORE

Business Office

Business Staff
ELIZABETH YOUNG, SHERRY SHAREMAN, Business Managers:
Associate Business Manager: Steve Rubin
VICKI SILVA, Finance Manager
Associate Finance Manager: Vanessa Roth
PAUL H. LESSER, Advertising Manager:
Assistant Advertising Manager: Melissa Forman
Assistant Advertising Manager: Kathy Kelly
CRAIG NAUGLE, Circulation Manager
KAREN HOLLAND, Subscription Manager
JIM RISTUBEN, Business Coordinator
MAUREEN MAJEROWSKI, Bookkeeping Manager
CATHY CHILSON, Front Desk

Ilana Levenson
Alan Willcox
Andrew Stone
DRIVERS:
Tom Gill
Dave Britain
Rich Smalanskas
Tom Chang
Mike Berman
Mike Donahue
Mark Marchand
Stefano Sodi
Jen Ackerman
Christine Joyce
Jean Leavitt
Julie Meiselman
Bethanne Murphy
Andrea Pugsley
Jennifer Saccone

Advertising Staff:
Nancy Warhaftig
Jon Cohen
Michele Montaigne
Maureen Crowley
Robin Engel
Stacey Wiederlight
Jeff Hammond
Mark Rodman
John Kennedy
Robin Leifer
Shawn Steponate
Lisa Taraboi
Beth Vendice
Debbie Stein
Liz Janney

LAST CHANCE to go on the Midsemester trip to

ISRAEL

January 5-19 (extra week option)
THE EXPERIENCE OF A LIFETIME
Discover Israeli Life and Culture.
Visit major cities
and a development town.
Call now while places are still available.
Hillel 5-2526 Student Union 302

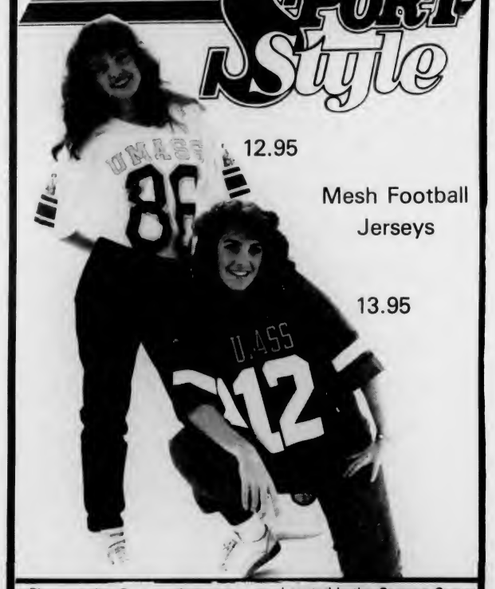
65 Montague Rd.
Route 63
1 mile north of UMas

Seasons Greetings from your one stop Christmas Shop

UMASS WinterSESSION

January 2-24
Your chance to get ahead now.
Credit Courses, Credit-Free Workshops, Specialized Programs

Credit courses include Accounting, Public Speaking, Intro. to Mass Communication, Political Novel, Nutrition and People, French, History, Newswriting & Reporting, Managerial Behavior, Mechanical Engineering, Russian Culture, Advanced Federal Tax Procedures, Spanish, Wildlife Law Enforcement, and more.



Credit-free workshops include Beginning Calligraphy, Buying Real Estate, Writing Nonfiction to Order, Your Professional Image, Home Management, Time Management, Osteoporosis Prevention Exercise, How to Buy a Microcomputer, Chess, Cross-Country Skiing, and more.

REGISTER NOW!
Records and Registration Office
Division of Continuing Education
University Library
8:30 a.m.-7 p.m., Monday through Thursday
8:30 a.m.-5 p.m., Friday

Call 545-2414 for more information.

DCE Division of Continuing Education
University of Massachusetts at Amherst

SPORT Style

12.95
Mesh Football Jerseys
13.95

Photographer Dwayne Autery Located in the Campus Center

M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3

UNIVERSITY STORE

DODE B. LEVENSON, Editor in Chief

Managing Editor Staff
ANNE, McCRORY, Managing Editor
Associate Managing Editors:
Andrew Wolff
Gerry deSimas
David Summersby
Steve Higgins
John Yonce
COPY EDITORS
Jill Lang
Kathy Hart
Kelly Sieger
Nancy Stern
Jim Patriquin
LIBRARIAN
Heather Hanlon
COMIX ARTISTS
Gorde
Mike Dowe and Ted O'Brien

News Staff
THOMAS W. MIDDLETON, News Editor
Associate News Editor, Joel Loffidis
Associate News Editor, Lesley Clark
Associate News Editor, Steve Higgins
Pamela Burrell
Greg Brown
Sean Casey
Dan Miller
Patrick Johnson
Chris Marak
Andrew Wolff
Nancy Klingener
Brion McAlarney
Chris Poon
Robyn Ruggiero
Jim Finkle
Anita Roye
Sheryl Jean
Rhonda Swan
Joseph Tigan
Jill Lang
Jeanette DeForge
Ilana Levenson
Joseph Shartrand
Susan Eaton
T.A. Iacovone
Rita Murphy
Phil Serafino
Joe Shartbrand

more staff on comics page

Women's Issues Staff
BETHANNE MOSKOV, Women's Issues Editor
Associate Women's Issues Editor, Susan Eaton

Black Affairs Staff
KIMBERLY A. BURGE, Black Affairs Editor
Associate Black Affairs Editor, Rhonda Swan
Lisa Riddick
L. Ron Allen

Production Staff
PETER SODERBERG, Production Manager
Associate Production Manager, Nancy Rivers
Kelly Sieger
Mat Atkins
Ansel Zinter
Conor Plunkett
Tony Benugless
Mark Parker
Paula Sancier
David Boardman
Leslie Nakajima
Norman Achin
Amy Constant
Naomi Goldberg
Leslie Goldstein
Bethanne Moskov
Gary Brennan
Robert Catalano
Ken Levinson
Itaru Kato
Jon Maimon
Lynne Smiley
Pam Marchand
Andy Diskas
Karlin Isele
Laura Bell
Pamela DiSalvo
Sonja Sabels

Systems Staff
MAT ATKINS, Systems Manager
Assistant systems manager, Adam Lavine
Itaru Kato
Daniel Carbeneau
Peter Bullis
Daniel Sobel
Ken Levinson

Photography Staff
DEREK ROBERTS, Photo Editor
Maria Bull
Brian Guarnotta
Scott Maguire
Neil Beckerman
Michelle Segall
Paul Desmarais

NOW FROM ENGLAND...
The remarkable female contraceptive "The Film"

VCF®
Vaginal Contraceptive Film

- Available in England for more than 10 years.
- Tried and tested among hundreds of thousands of women.
- None of the mess and bother of foams, jellies and diaphragms, the loss sensitivity of condoms.
- Contains one of the safest, most effective non-hormonal spermicides available without prescription.
- One of the easiest, most discreet, effective vaginal contraceptives available!

SAVE $1.00 $1
on VCF Vaginal Contraceptive Film

MR. RETAILER: We will redeem this coupon for $1.00 plus 8¢ for handling when submitted as part payment providing terms of this offer have been complied with by you and the consumer for one package of VCF Vaginal Contraceptive Film. Any other use specifies fraud. Any sales tax must be paid by consumer. Invoices showing purchase of sufficient stock to cover coupons must be shown on request. Coupons may not be assigned or transferred by you. Cash value 1/20 of one cent. For payment, mail to Apothecus Inc., P.O. Box 225, Great Neck, NY 11022. Void where taxed, prohibited or restricted by law. Offer expires March 31, 1986.

$1 STORE COUPON $1

SPORTSWEAR Factory Outlet
Next to Super Stop & Shop
Route 9 Hadley, MA

All N.F.L. Football MLBB Baseball 50-75% OFF

Sweat Shirts Reg. $32.00 NOW $15.
NFL Telephones Reg. $65.00 NOW $25.
Wall Plaques Reg. $14.00 NOW $4.00
Beer Mugs Reg. $17. NOW $4.00
Coffee Mugs Reg. $8.00 NOW $2.00
Stadium Blankets Reg. $32.00 NOW $10
Infant Wear Reg. $22.00 NOW $9.99
Toddler NFL Wear Reg. $13.00 NOW $6.99
NFL Back Packs Reg. $18.00 NOW $5.00

Plus much, much more!

Doonesbury

BY GARRY TRUDEAU

BLOOM COUNTY

by Berke Breathed

Freaker Patrol

By Dowe and O'Brien

GORDY

Gorde

Bat Brain

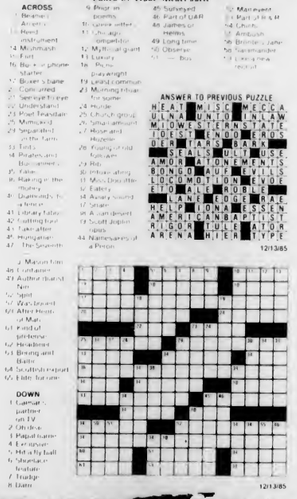
By Bill Dearing

Weather

Today: Snow, with sleet and freezing rain maybe mixed in. Highs in the 30s to lower 40s.

Tonight: Windy, with snow or mixed rain and sleet. Lows in the 20s.

Weekend outlook: Windy with rain and snow showers tomorrow. Fair and cold Sunday through Tuesday, highs mostly in the 20s.



Happy Holidays and Good Luck on Finals from Thursday night staff: John, Deathanne, Jim, Paula, Amy, LaBell, and Maria.

Hey Tom M.
I'm going to miss you!
Love, Deathanne

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Edited by Trude Michel Jaffe

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

H	E	A	T		M	I	S		M	E	C	C	A
U	L	N	A		U	N	T	O		I	N	L	A	W
M	O	W	E	R	S		T	E	A	N	A	T	I	E
	J	O	E	S		S	N	O	D		E	R	O	S
	O	R		T	A	R	S		B	A	R	K
		S	E	A	S		O	C	T		O	S	E
	A	M	O	R		A	T	O	N	E	M	E	N	T	S
	B	O	N	G	O		A	U	K		E	L	L	S
	L	O	C	O	M	O	T	I	O	N		E	V	O
	E	P	O		A	L	E		M	O	B	I	L	E
		E	L	A		E	D	G	E		R	A	C	E
	H	E	L	P		I	N		N	E	S	S	E	N
	A	M	E	R	I	C	A	N		A	P	I	S	T
	R	I	C	O		T	U	L	E		A	T	O	R
	A	R	E	N	A		W	H	I	T	E		P	E

12/13/85

Arts Staff

RENEE BACHER, Arts Editor
Associate Arts Editor, Jen Ackerman
Kelly Sieger
Don Lipper
Herb Ramy
Brad Verter
Peter Wissoker
Adam Brightman
Charles Francis Carroll
Dan Calnan
Anne Cheney
Debbie Fisher
Brian Guarnotta
Sue Izzo
Elizabeth Luciano

Day Graphics

Beth Bazinet
Martha Connors
Norm Achin
Ruth Devine
Larissa Potapchuk
Jim Podesky
Kathy Wheeler
Mad Dog Rice
Beth Ann Murphy
Faye Darling

Editorial Staff

LARRY BOUCHIE, Editorial Editor
Associate Editorial Editor: Rob Skelton
Columnists:
Dave Valade
Mary Cresse
Rusty Denton
Stephen Erickson
Peter Dow
Deborah Kutenplon
Herb Ramy
William Spain
Bill Cole
Dave Duggal!
Ron Berutti
Aram Tabachman

Sports Staff

PETER ABRAHAM, Sports Editor
Associate Sports Editor: John A. Nolan
Gerry deSimas
Roger Chapman
Bryan Buenzel
Joe Roberts
Fred Nadel
Phil Sayles
Ed Hayward

★ basketball continued from page 24

MINUTEMAN MUTTERINGS: UMass rallied from a 14-point deficit to within one, only to lose against the Bonnies on Wednesday night. UM captain Carl Smith said that the reason the Minutemen fell sort, "is because we expended so much energy in coming back that we didn't have it at the end. It was more mental than physical. We made stupid mistakes we shouldn't of. We'd be better off starting the game with the scoreboard saying we are down by 12 and then taking those points away at the end. We only play hard when we're down, and by then it's too late"

The Minutemen failed to hit the offensive boards, getting just 10 second-chance shots off. . .the Bonnies on the other hand had 18 offensive boards. "We didn't want the ball as badly as they did," said Smith. "It's a matter of concentration, not physical talent."

UMass has been plagued by slow starts. They fell behind 11-2 to the Bonnies and allowed the first six points of the second half. . .freshman guard Mike Mundy played well off the bench in the first half, igniting the UM offense with several pretty passes and two baskets. In the second half, however, the speedy rookie lofted several airballs and was pulled after a few minutes. . .Sophomore guard Lorenzo Sutton is averaging a team-high 16.7 points. He has scored in double figures in all six games, the only Minutemen to do so. . .senior center Tom Emerson played a season-low three minutes, starting the game in the pivot but being pulled after UM's slow start. . .freshman Sean Mosby subbed in and played 31 minutes of good basketball with 19 points and nine rebounds. Mosby, a 6-7 crowd-favorite (Mr. Mosby's Mob is the official fan club name) also has 22 blocks on the season. . .UM shot 80 percent from the line and is up to 69 percent on the season, better than the national average. . .freshman Duane Chase, who continues to shine in some games and disappear in others, has shaved his head. . .Smith took only one shot against the Bonnies.

Freshman forward Fitzhugh Tarry saw his first action of the season, playing in the game's final second and hitting a shot at the buzzer. At his current scoring rate (two points per minute played), Fitz would average 120 points a game or 2,400 for the rest of the regular season. Or maybe not. Mosby is shooting 58 percent from the floor, a team best. . .sophomore guard Matt Ryan didn't play for the first time this season. . .the UMass "Rage in the Cage" band has done a good job getting the crowd going. . .Happy Holidays all from the sports staff.

UM swimmers romp over Lowell

By JOE ROBERTS
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts men's swim team (4-0) easily handled host Lowell University, 72-41 Wednesday night.

UMass won nine of thirteen events with a lot of their best swimmers swimming in different events then usual or not swimming at all. "We weren't mentally prepared for the meet, because we had a hard practice before it. We wanted to get the meet out of the way," Minutemen coach Russ Yarworth said.

Drew Donovan, John Turner, Paul McDonough, and Jim Kuhns teamed to win the 400 medley relay in 3:49.69. Mark Waters then won thr 1000 freestyle in 10:36.78 followed by Paul Dreher's 11:42.Turner won the 1000 freestyle in 1:52.38 followed by Paul Hartnett's 1:55.93. After those first three events UMass could afford to lose the next one, because they led 19-6.

Greg Hannenian and McDonough placed second and third respectively in the 50 freestyle with times of 23.1 and 23.29. Kuhns followed that up with a 2:12.2 in the 200 individual medley, good enough for second.

UMass won six of the last seven individual events. Patrick Mullen won the one-meter and three-meter events. Donovan won the 200 butterly in 1:56.38. Ed Burton won the 100 freestyle in 50.5 and McDonough won the 200 backstroke in 2:06.65. Fred Marius won the 200 breaststroke in 2:21.68.

Happy Holidays from Sports

GREAT GIFTS
Clothing — Earrings — Stocking Stuffers — Posters — Cards — Mugs — Rugs — Vases — Scarves — Ornaments — Crystals — Calendars
Stuffed Animals - Toys
Boxes, Tins, Jewelry
Candy — Gloves — Tea Sets
* * *
Cotton — Wool — Alpaca
Scarves, Sweaters, Slipper Socks
HOURS: Weeknights 'till 9 p.m. Dec. 6-23
Daily 10 A.M. to 6 P.M. Sun. 12-5
Great Gifts... Great Prices
THE MERCANTILE
Amherst Carriage Shops and Northampton (Next to Iron Horse)

STUDENTS INTERSESSION $5.00 PER HOUR
Work Available all over New England in your home area during Christmas Break on campus information sessions to be held on Dec 12 & Dec 18 at Cc Room 904
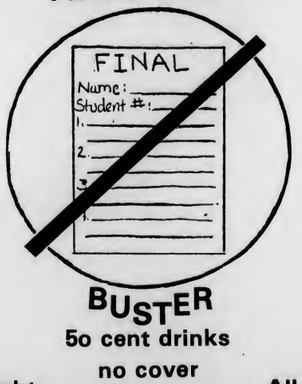
10 am, 11 am etc
up and including 6 pm
For more information you may contact Student Employment Rm 239A Whitmore or call collect at 617-366-6473
RGIS INVENTORY SPECIALISTS
EOE

C & C LIQUORS
61 Main St., Amherst Next to Town Hall
FOR FREE DELIVERY OF $20 MINIMUM ORDER. (OFF UMASS CAMPUS)
Dial 253-3091
All Prices In Store Cash Only



Coors & Coors Light
12 pk. $5.99 +dep.

Du Boeuf Nouveau Beaujolais Villages
$3.99 net 750 ml

Sutter Home Sparkling White Zinfandel
750 ml $6.25

Kahlua
$11.49 750 ml

Bud • Bud Light Miller Lite
suitcases
$11.99 ea. + dep.

Final Exam Week
JUSTIN RYAN'S FINAL EXAM

BUSTER
5o cent drinks
no cover
All Night — All Week

AUTO FOR SALE

1976 Pinto automatic runs well $500 or best offer 584-5742

79 Mercury Zephyr 229 mpg runs great, book value - $2200 - will sell at a loss $1500 or BO - must sell immediately! - Joe 549-6529

1976 Ford Mustang $600 or best offer call ASAP Mary 546-8769

1976 Chevy Malibu good condition $650.00 firm call Meredith 549-3591

His and Hers Lease Special: Two good running cars for $1500— '76 VW bug (no rust but bumped nose) and '70 VW Rabbit (dented door). Combined value $2,000. Phone: 546-9518 or 253-5291

1970 Volvo 4 speed strong great body strong engine $1200 BO Lawrence 549-5898

BLUE DOLPHIN

You know I like the way you B. Y. M.!! How long has it been since your D.D.? Lets take a walk - but at a nice place. Mr. Tom Reservation, or Puffers Pond? But don't forget, I have an 8:00 class. The semester is finally over (no bonus). Have a good break! See you soon - Turkey

BOARD OF EDITORS '86

Tom, Anne, Kim, Larry, Pete, Renee, Bethanne, Sue & Derek. You were the Board that had VDT's & all its problems. You handled it swimmingly. I'm gonna miss you Renee, Bethanne & Derek! I'm sure I'll see plenty of Anne, Tom & Kim next sem. Thanx for everything! Dode

BUSH BASH

More space available
Vondo $199
Hotel $149
Join the party
for more info contact
UMass Ski Club 430 Student Union
545-3437 or M-F 10-2 pm

CAROL-A-GRAM

Send a Christmas Carol to a friend. Members of Band / KKPsi will carol anywhere on campus or on Frat row for 3 dollars call 665-3518 or 545-3410 by Thursday evening Merry X-mas

"CASH"

Cash for your baseball cards please call Mike 546-6105

CHANGES

IT ALL BEGAN. . .the White Russian Party, the Red Stuff, Vodka straight up -such a pretty color; dancing fools; College Pizza, we're going to check the car - where is the car!!!! Were we good last night. . . I don't remember! No teeth. . .my woman!

COLLEGIAN STAFF

I get to shake hands, accept awards & accept compliments all because you do such a great job. You write, edit, type, paste-up, sell ads, with such dedication. I am probably the luckiest guy in the world. It has been a joy to represent you this semester & I promise next sem. will be even better. Dode

WANTED TO RENT

One or two bedroom apartment for the spring semester. Call 546-4963

Large bedroom in house on bus rte in S Amherst Feb 1 - Aug 30 $172.50/mo + util Mark 256-0084

Help! Mature, neat, studious but fun male senior seeks room to nice apt/house for spring semester. Jack 546-8176

WINTERSESSION SUBLET Northampton before noon call Todd 546-7399

Room wanted male looking for room immediately call 253-5222 after 7 pm

Female roommate wanted to share rm in Lantern Cts apts Sunderland inexpensive quiet on bus rte 665-8413

WOMENS SOCCER

Congrats on superb season - your all great players and people - have great holiday and good luck next fall - Gerry D

DESERTERS

Tom, reece, Anne, Bethanne, Kim, and Derek – Thanks for leaving me, Dode and Pete high and dry. Didn't we shower often enough? Good luck next semester and for the rest of your lives. We were the best board yet! I'll miss working with all of you. No, really. Seriously. I'm being honest. Trust me. - Larry

DODE

I hope you pass all your classes. You are a decent lovaber. Have a new Hannukah. Yo ssta. Luna

EEL SKIN WALLETS

Great X mas Gifts for the men [illegible] Hotel [illegible] Join the party [illegible]

INTERSESSION

[illegible] Intersession only [illegible] 549-3491

Wanted apt for [illegible] preferably Brandywine call 6-7970

To sublet - Intersession, one bedroom in Townehouse apartments call John 549-7790

To sublet; one bedroom apt Puffton village Jan 1 new carpet & paint reasonable Dec 19 call 549-7625

Winters [illegible] room for one or two on bus route, c. [illegible] 53-3515

Jan subl. [illegible] Hadley $125 option to take lease [illegible]

Single available Amherst Center $160/mnth quiet grt location (Hallock St) call 253-7149 from 9-12, 10-7 Jan 1, Feb 1

Single bedroom in 4 bedroom apt in house available Jan 25 - Aug 31, one eighth mile to cmapus. $242/mo (includes heat) must be a non-smoker call Kathy at 549-6925 eves or early morn

Fesnale for intersession Main St $175 heat incl 253-3934

Sunderland, 1 bdrm apt. on busline, $20/month, everything included. Avail immediately! 665-3440, leave message

Next to UMass. Share apartment with woman and son. $200/ Call 549-0024

Room in house available for Spring semester. Jan-Aug across street from campus, walk to town, deck, washer dryer, big back yard, pets OK $50/month + utilities! 549-6364 Lisa or Pat

One room available in Swiss Village. $215 per month - utilities are included. For spring semester starting January. Clean, quiet, on the busline. Cash reward call 256-1061

Own room in Brittany. Jan 1st. 180/mo. heat & hot water incl. 256-0783

Two bedroom Townehouse for rent Jan 1 Beautiful! 665-4602 Jen or Lisa

2 bedroom Colonial Village 1 room available in Jan lease available Feb 1 call 256-0603

Apt for rent second sem. 2 bd 10 min from camp. call 665-3571

Room for 1 or 2, central location call 253-3932 Paula/Isabel

Room available 1/1 for nonsmoking female house in North Amherst, $190/ 549-4132 leave message

1 room in 2 bdrm Sedrlnd apt - sublet or take lease 12/15to 8/31/86 188/month + elec 665-7629 nights

1 bedroom in 3 bedroom apt available Jan 1. Close to town and campus. $225/mo + utilities. Call Dennis at 549-7692 after 6 pm

Two rooms for rent in Swiss Village for next semester call 256-6633

One bedroom apt Brandywine apt Amherst $420 month inc available Feb 1st call after 11 pm 549-2726

House on beach available starting January 1st 2 miles outside of Amherst Robyn or Melanie 323-7079

1 bedroom for 1 person in Swiss Village $215/mo all utils included call John 256-6625

Warm 3 bedroom apt in Belchertown 5 m from schools on bus route $625 $250 ea. heat included take over lease until Sept. 323-6701

Almost new 3 bedroom apartment 1½ bath in 2 family house. Lovely country setting near Rte 47 move in Dec 24 550/mo tel 665-2564 eves 367-9427

One bedroom apt in town on bus route great location 5 min walking distance from campus take over lease by January call 256-1668 Guillermo

1 rm Swiss Village bus in $215 month util included 253-8225

Single rooms for rent at local Fraternity call 545-3117

Single rooms for rent at local Fraternity call 545-3117

Spacious 1 bdr apartment on bus rte 375 month Jan rent call free 665-3667

Cliffside Apt 1 bdrm $340/month incl. all utilities starting Jan or Feb call Kathy 665-8762

Wanted to rent: 35mm adjustable camera for Wintersession course Lit 256-1232

One bedroom apt, Cliffside, Rte 116, Sunderland, 350/month, everything included, avail Jan 1st, on bus rte call 665-8459

FOR SALE

Computer Terminal with modem $200 or BO Diane 549-1449

67 Volkswagon convertible excellent heat, stereo, snowtires. Recent clutch, brakes, tuneup. Warm and dry, reliable 500$ or best offer. Joan 549-7186 thanks

1983 Nighthawk 450 must sell will accept any reasonable offer call Alex 546-6876

Skis for sale Dynastar Acrylglass ex. condition 200 cm whindings 360 Tyrolea $160 or BO call 546-7964

Cheap Stereo Yamaha R-300 30-watt stereo receiver with EPI TE100 speakers. High quality and great sound for slow price 300 or BO 546-4141

Kneissl Skis, Marker bindings, Raichle boots 10½, poles. Will break up. $125 must sell 6-8437 Matt

High power graphic equalizer booster 75 wts/chnl 7 chnls $80 6-8037 Matt

Must sell portable electronic typwriter like new best offer 549-5939

Must sell Ford Granada 1976 exc cond low mileage best offer 549-5939

MCAT complete study course; 38 cassette tapes & over 1000 pages study material Biology, Chemistry, Physics & Reading reviewed. $350. call 253-3031

WANTED

Local Sorority seeks mature woman as a housemother free room and board (grad student or older. Please contact Kelly 256-6667

FOUND

An umbrella in Machmer Call 323-5800

HAPPY 24th BIRTHDAY

[illegible] Have [illegible] Love [illegible]

Love [illegible] Scott Kallin offered [illegible] as a Surf Manufacturing Engineer at Framingham McDonalds. Congratulations! Love Sara

Want Spring Break money, free homecooked meals! Don't you hate the 1s?! Contact Jim 6-2150

INSTRUCTION

Private Guitar Lessons experienced and patient teacher rock/pop/folk/blues improv., reading, theory, composition. Your home or my studio. Doug 549-4786

Intersession Bartending Courses 4 sections available sign up in Credit Free Workshops Room 111 Tower Library

INTERSESSION SUBLET

One room (two people) in Brittany cable TV, bar, universal and more! 100/mo call now 256-1412

ANNE

It was great having an ME who didn't yell at staff in public. Would you make sure Ian doesn't follow the O'Connell tradition? Seriously, you were a great boss and the closest person I ever allowed to be my boss Kick ass, next semester, at the paper and academically. - LB

JULIE LEAVITT, TRIVIA QUEEN

I arrah, Do you believe you slept thru the hole semester and now it's your birthday? Run DMC #1, hot buns, I love you guys, dirty knees, BRUCE. . .I drank the whole keg! The jeep, rolling in the fields, make them stronger! We'll have to celebrate your B-day with Lemon Merengue Pie! BY THE WAY, WHAT BEING WAS SOUGHT. . .OTTO. . .Love ya, All us LOBS

KIMBERLEY McPHILLIPS

Once upon a time. . .Love ya to bits, I'm sick. "Camping Out", mustache man, N Pleasant St. it's the shoe, Her's in my rehabilatative class, I'm fine, seductive eyes, I love triangles

KITTEN

Very cute, loveable tabby kitten needs a home ASAP please call Susan 323-4361

LA BOUCHE

Larry - We've shared so much this semester. . .ashtrays, trips for coffee, ideological discourse. You've been a great neighbor both at home and in the office and a great friend. Thanks for everything. Anne

LIZ YOUNG

When are we gonna go out? U no who

LOST

Lost blue knapsack w/books only. If found call Joey 549-2792 reward

Gold and diamond bracelet. Boyden Gym/Parking Lot or Stop & Shop/McManus Parking Lot. $50 reward. 545-1309 584-0689

Gold "Boo" Link Bracelet on Friday Dec 6 Very important to me Please return for large reward Call Julie at 546-4133

Lost 4 keys on hoop on path to Lot 44 from N.O.P.E. call 6-4979

I lost my keys Monday 546-8942

MARVELOUS

U Look Marvelous bumper stickers $1 546-6313

MARY ANNE McCARTHY

This is your life. . .ch-ch-changes, bushpuppies, Bartlett 65, The Nine, "Goddess of the Moon" thing! Cute sure, head's up, Schnappe, I got some fluff! I hate to tell ya, but the light was out!

MELLY

3 is QUITE a nice number indeed!!! Prepare for next semester. Many more laughs next semester your Co-FB

MOVER

'Round Town Movers fast reliable cheap call Michael anytime 323-6780

MUST SELL

1977 Red Chev Camaro good condition 4 extra tires AM/FM stereo. $700 call PM 549-0462

2N

Julie, Lori, Karee, Marie, Margy - Thanks for a fun semester! We will have to get together in January - fer sure! Jules - don't forget our movie date - and the rest of you guys I'll probably see you on New Years Eve. As for you Margy be good!!! Luv ya all, Julie P.S. Quiet please

NEW BOARD '86

C. Ron, Ise, Joel, Kellykins, Jen, Peal, Michelle & Johe - What a PLETHORA of talent we have! Get primed for the best semester ever. Enjoy your break while you can. - Dode

ON THE AIR!

Perfect Wave with Mr. Andrew
Fridays 6-9 pm
WSYL 105.1 FM
Punk. . .Progressive. . .New . Old . and Fun

PEOPLE'S MARKET

[illegible]

To warm your heart on those cold days of Wintersession, be sure to stop by the People's Market for some hot java and other wonderful food!! We'll be open starting January 2, 1986 (located in the Student Union around the corner from the Post Office).

[illegible]

PERSONALS

Ski Sugarbush [illegible] $149 [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] Intersession sublet [illegible] Jan [illegible] 549-3491

Wanted apt for [illegible] preferably Brandywine call 6-7970

To sublet - Intersession, one bedroom in Townehouse apartments call John 549-7790

To sublet; one bedroom apt Puffton village Jan 1 new carpet & paint reasonable Dec 19 call 549-7625

Winters [illegible] room for one or two on bus route, c. [illegible] 53-3515

Jan subl. [illegible] Hadley $125 option to take lease [illegible]

Single available Amherst Center $160/mnth quiet grt location (Hallock St) call 253-7149 from 9-12, 10-7 Jan 1, Feb 1

Single bedroom in 4 bedroom apt in house available Jan 25 - Aug 31, one eighth mile to cmapus. $242/mo (includes heat) must be a non-smoker call Kathy at 549-6925 eves or early morn

Fesnale for intersession Main St $175 heat incl 253-3934

Sunderland, 1 bdrm apt. on busline, $20/month, everything included. Avail immediately! 665-3440, leave message

Next to UMass. Share apartment with woman and son. $200/ Call 549-0024

Room in house available for Spring semester. Jan-Aug across street from campus, walk to town, deck, washer dryer, big back yard, pets OK $50/month + utilities! 549-6364 Lisa or Pat

One room available in Swiss Village. $215 per month - utilities are included. For spring semester starting January. Clean, quiet, on the busline. Cash reward call 256-1061

Own room in Brittany. Jan 1st. 180/mo. heat & hot water incl. 256-0783

Two bedroom Townehouse for rent Jan 1 Beautiful! 665-4602 Jen or Lisa

2 bedroom Colonial Village 1 room available in Jan lease available Feb 1 call 256-0603

Apt for rent second sem. 2 bd 10 min from camp. call 665-3571

Room for 1 or 2, central location call 253-3932 Paula/Isabel

Room available 1/1 for nonsmoking female house in North Amherst, $190/ 549-4132 leave message

1 room in 2 bdrm Sedrlnd apt - sublet or take lease 12/15to 8/31/86 188/month + elec 665-7629 nights

1 bedroom in 3 bedroom apt available Jan 1. Close to town and campus. $225/mo + utilities. Call Dennis at 549-7692 after 6 pm

Two rooms for rent in Swiss Village for next semester call 256-6633

One bedroom apt Brandywine apt Amherst $420 month inc available Feb 1st call after 11 pm 549-2726

House on beach available starting January 1st 2 miles outside of Amherst Robyn or Melanie 323-7079

1 bedroom for 1 person in Swiss Village $215/mo all utils included call John 256-6625

Warm 3 bedroom apt in Belchertown 5 m from schools on bus route $625 $250 ea. heat included take over lease until Sept. 323-6701

Almost new 3 bedroom apartment 1½ bath in 2 family house. Lovely country setting near Rte 47 move in Dec 24 550/mo tel 665-2564 eves 367-9427

One bedroom apt in town on bus route great location 5 min walking distance from campus take over lease by January call 256-1668 Guillermo

1 rm Swiss Village bus in $215 month util included 253-8225

Single rooms for rent at local Fraternity call 545-3117

Single rooms for rent at local Fraternity call 545-3117

Spacious 1 bdr apartment on bus rte 375 month Jan rent call free 665-3667

Cliffside Apt 1 bdrm $340/month incl. all utilities starting Jan or Feb call Kathy 665-8762

Wanted to rent: 35mm adjustable camera for Wintersession course Lit 256-1232

One bedroom apt, Cliffside, Rte 116, Sunderland, 350/month, everything included, avail Jan 1st, on bus rte call 665-8459

FOR SALE

Computer Terminal with modem $200 or BO Diane 549-1449

67 Volkswagon convertible excellent heat, stereo, snowtires. Recent clutch, brakes, tuneup. Warm and dry, reliable 500$ or best offer. Joan 549-7186 thanks

1983 Nighthawk 450 must sell will accept any reasonable offer call Alex 546-6876

Skis for sale Dynastar Acrylglass ex. condition 200 cm whindings 360 Tyrolea $160 or BO call 546-7964

Cheap Stereo Yamaha R-300 30-watt stereo receiver with EPI TE100 speakers. High quality and great sound for slow price 300 or BO 546-4141

Kneissl Skis, Marker bindings, Raichle boots 10½, poles. Will break up. $125 must sell 6-8437 Matt

High power graphic equalizer booster 75 wts/chnl 7 chnls $80 6-8037 Matt

Must sell portable electronic typwriter like new best offer 549-5939

Must sell Ford Granada 1976 exc cond low mileage best offer 549-5939

MCAT complete study course; 38 cassette tapes & over 1000 pages study material Biology, Chemistry, Physics & Reading reviewed. $350. call 253-3031

WANTED

Local Sorority seeks mature woman as a housemother free room and board (grad student or older. Please contact Kelly 256-6667

FOUND

An umbrella in Machmer Call 323-5800

HAPPY 24th BIRTHDAY

[illegible] Have [illegible] Love [illegible]

Love [illegible] Scott Kallin offered [illegible] as a Surf Manufacturing Engineer at Framingham McDonalds. Congratulations! Love Sara

Want Spring Break money, free homecooked meals! Don't you hate the 1s?! Contact Jim 6-2150

INSTRUCTION

Private Guitar Lessons experienced and patient teacher rock/pop/folk/blues improv., reading, theory, composition. Your home or my studio. Doug 549-4786

Intersession Bartending Courses 4 sections available sign up in Credit Free Workshops Room 111 Tower Library

INTERSESSION SUBLET

One room (two people) in Brittany cable TV, bar, universal and more! 100/mo call now 256-1412

EXEC BOARD

For the first exec board ever we did great! Friday afternoons perfect for everyone! Great! 3 hour meetings! No problem. Bouch-man, my Annie, Shar, Ladeeb & Luxembourg - Sure we ha' marathon sessions, but weren't they FUN? I'll see you over break - Dode

Happy Birthday Cliff! 505 Brown December 18th from a friend!

Nancy! Happy Birthday! Don't do anything I wouldn't do! (how many bad things can — do in one day?) I love you! Steph

To all my friends: You have made my time in UMass a wonderful experience. I am enjoying this place more now than ever before. Thank you, and enjoy the Holidays, Ken (Jersey) Godt Nytar

Dear Paolo - It has been the most wonderful 3 months of my life.
I love you. Happy Anniversary!
Hurry back. All my love, Caren

Jerri-Lynne, Hey Fayge Jr. Happy 21st Enjoy! Love Jodi

Jay baby, Happy 21st. Love you lots. Get psyched to relax! Love always Jodi

Paul B. - Violets are blue roses are red you can call me anything but related to Ted. - Your secret pal

Flirt: Happy 18th Birthday Judy! You're the greatest! Party it up! Love always, Gadget

Dave S. Yes, I'll have your baby but only if I'm at the top of the list good luck with finalz! Love John's Little Sis

Carol McD: Thanks for being such a good friend good luck with finals don't panic we'll do some serious shopping during January

Happy Birthday Ellen! Have a great f*ck love, Suzanne

Thanks to Leslie, Jes, Sean, Laura, and Brace; Kenny Ranger Rick - The Czech - Cheesy Banana, "The Wop", "The Mick", Jeff and Jan, 24, Miss Day Wear, Karen, Tomended, Various Wellesleyites, and even the Heeb, and especially Georgia. It's been a great semester. Le Boeuf, "25"

Happy Birthday John! I love you with all my heart. Friday has finally come, so get ready for a wild Birthday! All of my love, Janice

Chris: Congratulations!! One more week and you are out! I will miss you, but the last two years were the best. Thank you, I love you, Margo

Pammy & Billy: Thanks for a great semester! I love you both! Your Roommie

T.K. Bon Voyage je t'aime unconditionally be free

Freddybear - Now is your chance to meet me! Be at Munchies Friday at 6:30. Love Jess

Cindy Lee - So how long have you had this "goddess of the Moon" thing? Cute sure, but Goddess? And we all know what kind of huntress you are, heh, heh. Merry Christmas to you and all the Wilsons. Love always, Scott

"No-Perks" get a clue If you're not too busy tween 12/22 and 1/1 come play in the snow with me! Can we melt all the snow or just a little-bit? (We'll change those night habits into morning habits wink-wink)

 HOPE ARMSTRONG *****
Congratulations and best wishes to you and Brian!!! May your lives together be happy and long!!! Love, Teddy Bear, Bunny Feet, and Esther Nazie Dazie and Rachie Bachie, two wild and crazy roommates. It's been a great semester - get psyched to party in Jan. Love ya lots - The Steak and CA!

Mother Mary were you getting nervous! You are a nasty red head! But I love you anyways Sandrah

Day Graphics or Maggots or Rude Girls you really are cool - Sod

Our Queen We have an idea. Why don't you take all the money you've been saving for the wedding and spend it on presents for us! Love, Day Graphics

To all those who put up with me. . .and made this my best semester ever: Rochelle, Karen, Denise, Joel, Jordan, Shari, Brian, Joselyn, Joe, Scott & Bill (thanks for being a good friend & a rarely lax Southwest President). . . Happy Holidays - Eric

Roberta Congratulations on grad and stouff from all of us at 16 Tracy. I'm so happy about you Bedford and Glen. Soon to be tan too. Love you Dan

Happy Holidays, Dan, Mak, Joanne, Rose, Mary Anne, Nut, Bri, Slim . . next time tickets in advance . go HTFD, GB, UM. JEKS

JQA, I'm out . go Kahunas, I'll watch you suppose its time to get a job, eh? Don't believe you've been great fun Mak. Bri, Slim, Nut. JEKI

Cory Whiteford. Congratulations on conquering UMass! Good luck in your new adventures. Karen

Tom M. You have been a swell texas editor! Thanks for your patience. Dale

SOD - You're all right! Love [illegible] Rude Girls, Maggots et al

Big Nose Happy B-day. Did [illegible] that stuff yet? Love L & B

Mouse - You're the best roommate I [illegible] 2 weeks. Love [illegible]

Jon [illegible]

Emma Montreux [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] Love [illegible]

[illegible] Love [illegible]

[illegible] Love [

SPORTS

Women's hoop falls at UConn, 62-59

By ROB ROSE
Collegian Correspondent

STORRS, CT - The University of Massachusetts women's basketball team had its four game winning streak snapped by the University of Connecticut last night, 62-59.

The Minutemen, 4-2, led by as many as 15, 41-26 with 18:15 to go in the game before going down to defeat. Connecticut rans its record to 7-0, the best start in the team's history.

UMass, who has lost both its games on the road, had a 35-24 lead at halftime as Karen Damminger and Barbara Hebel combined for 18 points.

UConn center Peggy Walsh, the Huskie's main scoring threat, was held to just six first half points as UM center Sue Burtoft did a good defensive job on her taller opponenent.

But the second half saw UConn chip away at the UMass advantage. Leading by 14, 48-34 with 14:15 to go after a Hebel jumper, UMass seemed in control. But soon the Minutewomen were sent reeling.

UMass failed to score a field goal for the next six minutes, managing but a free throw by Damminger and with 8:30 to go UMass' lead was sliced to nine, 51-42.

The combination of UMass turnovers and better Connecticut shooting took its toll and with 5:33 left the game was tied at 55 as Jill Brumbaugh hit a free throw.

Two more Brumbaugh free throws and UConn held its first lead, 57*55 with 4:54 to go.

UMass fought back and with 1:33 left, retook the lead on a Jerrie Bernier free throw, 59-58.

But UConn forward Lori Kulo caught fire, scoring the rest of the Huskie points on a 17-footer and a short jumper. UMass had the ball with 1:09 left trailing by one, 60-59 but turned it over.

UMass was hurt by the absence of its leading scorer, Juanita Matthews, with a sprained ankle suffered in Tuesday's practice. The senior played only three minutes in the first half. UMass was led by Hebel with a season-high 15 and Damminger with 13 and six rebounds. Burtoft added 11 before fouling out. Rebecca Kucks also played a strong game with four points, seven rebounds, three steals and a block. Sophomore forward Tara Lewis, who started for Matthews, added nine.

UConn got 18 from Walsh and 12 from Kulo. UMass was 26-of-57 from the floor and seven-of-13 from the line. The Huskies were 25-of-62 and 12-of-18. Freshman Christel Zullo had nine assists for UMass.

Collegian photo by Paul Desmarais

Sophomore guard Lorenzo Sutton (11) goes over St. Bonaventure forward Tom Boney. The Minutemen are at Northeastern tomorrow.

Intersession preview

UMass teams get little vacation

By PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

The various University of Massachusetts' athletic teams will have a busy Intersession this season.

All of the UMass winter teams will be in action during the break after taking time off for finals and the holidays.

The men's basketball team will play at Northeastern University on saturday and then not again until they travel to the University of New Mexico for the Lobo Classic on Dec. 27-28.

UMass will open the tourney against an excellent Michigan State University team and then face either the winner or loser of the New Mexico/Kent State matchup.

In January, the Minutemen will venture out of the Campus Center Hotel to face George Washington at the Cage on the fourth and Penn State away on the sixth. They will play two games at the Springfield Civic Center, facing Rhode Island on the 11th and Duquesne on the 23rd. Other away games will include at Rutgers on the 16th and at St. Joseph's on the 18th.

On Jan. 25, West Virginia will be at the Cage, providing a good game for students to come back for. Holy Cross will also be at the Cage, on the 27th.

The UMass women's basketball team will play at New hampshire on saturday and then await the LaSalle University Tournament on Dec. 27-28. January will see the women play Penn State at home on the fourth, at URI on the 7th, homer against Duquesne on the 9th and against West Virginia at the Springfield Civic Center on the 11th in a doubleheader with the men's team. A three-game road trip starting the 16th will see the women at Teple, St. Joe's and Penn State. Rutgers provides the opposition at home on the 25th (another doubleheader).

The men's swimming, women's swimming, gymnastics and track teams all play a bulk of their schedule during the break.

The men's swimming team, undefeated at 4-0 this season, will be at Northeastern on January 11 them home on the 15th and 18th against Amherst and Williams. On the 25th the Minutemen will be at Rhode Island.

The women swimming team, 2-3, will be home against Amherst on the 14th and again at Boyden Pool on the 18th against Williams.

The 21st will see the women at Boston College before they return home on the 25th to face the Huskies of Northeastern.

The women's gymnastics team opens its season on January 18 at home against Connecticut. On the 21st, they're at Northeastern before hosting Maryland and Rhode Island in tri-meet on the 25th.

The men's gymnastics team, 1-0 on the season after beating Lowell, will be home against Navy on the 18th of January and at Springfield on the 26th.

The men's track team also has finals off and after the holidays will be very busy. On January 11, they are scheduled to face a variety of competition at the Boston University Invitational. The 19th will see UMass at the Yale Invites and the 25th will be the Greater Boston Track Club meet.

The men, under veteran coach Ken O'Brien, will depend on their strong distance runners in the meets as will be looking to develop athletes in the field events. The UMass sprinters, led by Rawle Crichlow, have also been strong.

"We need to score our points in the running events, especially the distances," said O'Brien. "At big meets, we can do well with just a few key placings in events we are strong in."

The women's track team, 0-1 on the season, will also be at the BU and Yale meets as well as the GBTC Championship. Several freshmen have been impressive in the early going for coach Kalekeni Banda.

"These kids are great," said the coach, who doubles as women's soccer mentor. "We have a lot of potential and I'm looking forward to the big meets in January to see how we look."

Schedules for these teams and the baskteball teams are available at the ticket office in Boyden. If you're going to be on campus during the break, take in a game and support your favorite team. With the students home, they'll need the fans.

Sports Notices

WOMEN'S SOCCER SUPPORTERS: The New England champion UMass women's soccer team will hold its banquet at Chequers Restaurant on Saturday. For information, call coach Kalekeni Banda at 545-4343.

WRESTLING CLUB: All members should contact the officers for details about January and the first meet of the season in February against Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

Basketball notebook

Still-smarting UM faces Northeastern

By PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts basketball team will have to shake off its tough loss to St. Bonaventure quickly as it faces a tough Northeastern University team in Boston on Saturday night.

The Minutemen fell to 2-4 on the season, dropping a tough 78-77 decision to the Bonnies as the Cage in their Atlantic 10 Conference opener.

The Minutemen, once again, failed to play with intensity for the full 40 minutes and lost a game they should of won.

Against Northeastern, a powerful member of the ECAC North Atlantic Conference, the Minutemen can not afford even a minute of lackadasical play.

The Huskies are led by junior forward Reggie Lewis. Tabbed as one of the best small frontcourt players in America, Lewis averaged 24.1 points and 7.8 rebounds-per-game last season, leading the Huskies to a 22-9 record.

This season, Lewis is averaging 23.8 points and 7.8 points as NU is 2-2, beating Vermont and Cornell while losing to Maryland and Providence College.

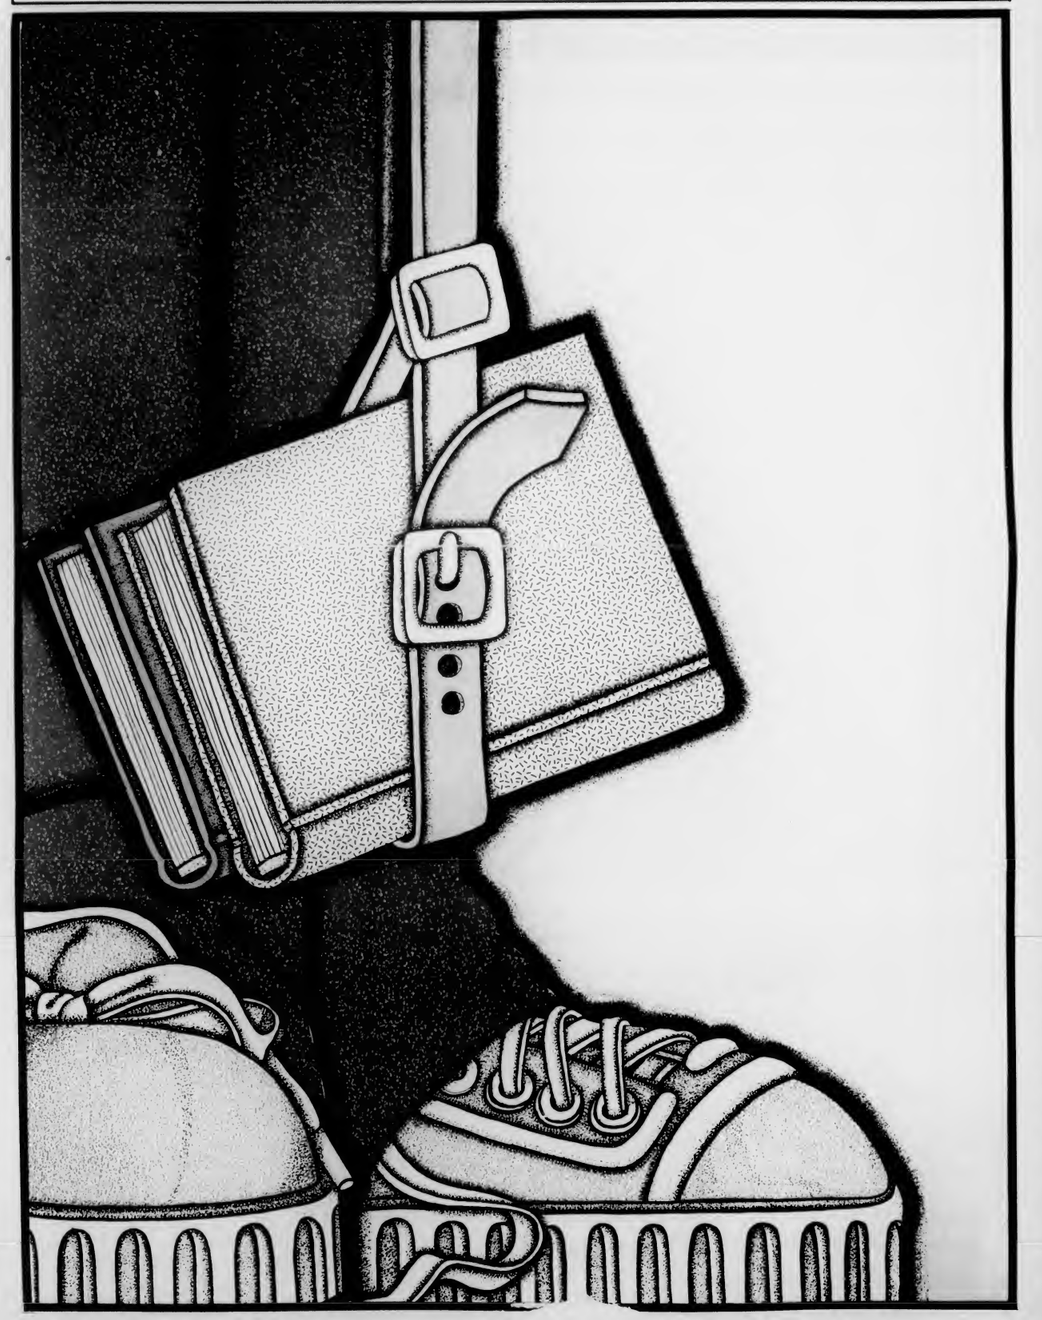
The Huskies haven't played since last Saturday when they beat Cornell, 55-51. Both losses have come on the road against good teams. Sophomore guard John Williams is second on the team in scoring with 9.5 points-per-game.

UMass beat NU last season, 67-66. Since the series began in 1922, UM holds a 29-13 lead. NU had won four straight before losing last season.

Stop Lewis, and with little doubt, you stop Northeastern.

"This will be a tough game for us, one that would be a good one to take, especially since it's in there place," said UMass coach Ron Gerlufsen after the Bonnie game.

The game is scheduled for 4:30 p.m.



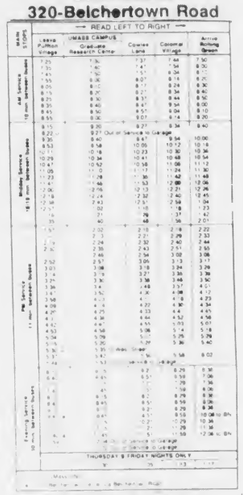
continued on page 22

Sports at a glance

UMass Schedule:
Friday:
Men's Volleyball: at Springfield College, 7:30 p.m.
Saturday:
Men's Basketball: at Northeastern, 4:30 p.m. Women's Basketball: at New Hampshire, 4 p.m.

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY COLLEGIAN

BACK TO SCHOOL-SPRING 1986

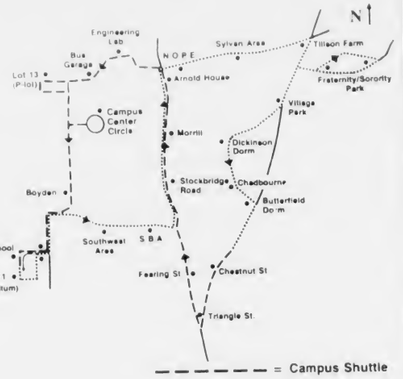


SCHEDULE INFO: 586-5806

Northbound
360-North Amherst

Southbound
320-Belchertown Road

380-Sunderland



330-South Amherst

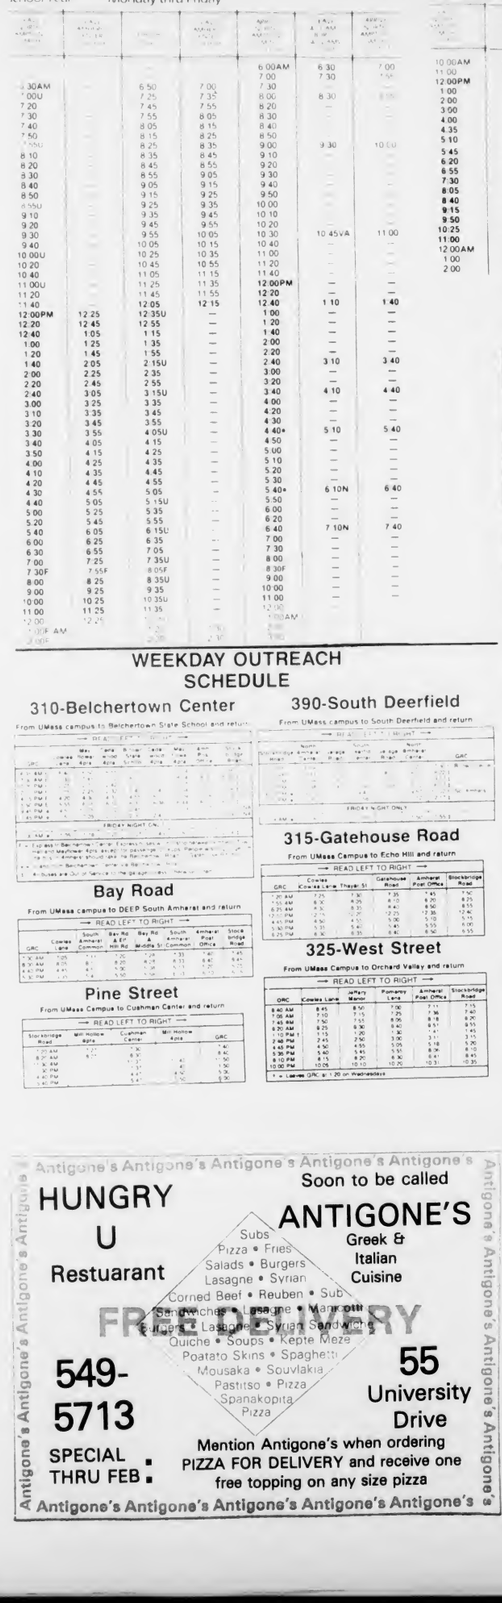
350-CAMPUS SHUTTLE / 340-ORCHARD HILL

(COUNTER CLOCKWISE) (CLOCKWISE)

= Campus Shuttle

= Orchard Hill

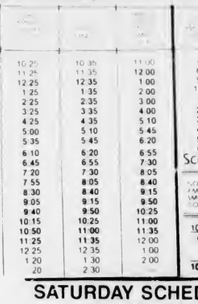
● = bus stop



→ READ LEFT TO RIGHT →

MAIN STOPS	ORCHARD HILL (counter-clockwise)					CAMPUS SHUTTLE (clockwise)
	(P-lot) Lot 13 •	Graduate Research Center	Fearing Street	Butterfield Dorm	Fraternity/ Sorority Park	Sylvan •	Graduate Research Center	(Stadium) Lot 11	Campus Center - Circle	(P-lot) Lot 13 •
AM and Midday Service 21 minutes between buses	7:24	7:27	7:32	7:35	7:40	—	7:10	7:17	7:22	7:24
	8:05	8:08	8:13	8:17	8:22	7:43	7:45	7:52	7:57	7:59
		8:29	8:34	8:38	8:43	8:25	8:27	8:36	8:41	8:44
	8:47	8:50	8:55	8:59	9:04	8:46	8:48	8:57	9:02	9:05
	9:08	9:11	9:16	9:20	9:25	9:07	9:09	9:18	9:23	9:26
	9:29	9:32	9:37	9:41	9:46	9:28	9:30	9:39	9:44	9:47
	9:50	9:53	9:58	10:02	10:07	9:49	9:51	10:00	10:05	10:08
	10:11	10:14	10:19	10:23	10:28	10:10	10:12	10:21	10:26	10:29
	10:32	10:35	10:40	10:44	10:49	10:31	10:33	10:42	10:47	10:50
	10:53	10:56	11:01	11:05	11:10	10:52	10:54	11:03	11:08	11:11
	11:14	11:17	11:22	11:26	11:31	11:13	11:15	11:24	11:29	11:32
	11:35	11:38	11:43	11:47	11:52	11:34	11:36	11:45	11:50	11:53
	11:56	11:59	12:04	12:08	12:13	11:55	11:57	12:06	12:11	12:14
	12:17	12:20	12:25	12:29	12:34	12:16	12:18	12:27	12:32	12:35
	12:38	12:41	12:46	12:50	12:55	12:37	12:39	12:48	12:53	12:56
	12:59	1:02	1:07	1:11	1:16	12:58	1:00	1:09	1:14	1:17
	1:20	1:23	1:28	1:32	1:37	1:19	1:21	1:30	1:35	1:38
PM Service 14 minutes between buses	1:41	1:44	1:49	1:53	1:58	1:42	1:42	1:51	1:56	1:59
	—	1:58	2:03	2:07	2:12	2:01	2:03	2:12	2:17	2:20
	2:09	2:12	2:17	2:21	2:26	2:15	2:17	2:26	2:31	2:34
	2:37	2:40	2:45	2:49	2:54	2:29	2:31	2:40	2:45	2:48
	2:51	2:54	2:59	3:03	3:08	2:43	2:45	2:54	2:59	3:02
	3:05	3:08	3:13	3:17	3:22	2:57	2:59	3:08	3:13	3:16
	3:19	3:22	3:27	3:31	3:36	3:11	3:13	3:22	3:27	3:30
	3:33	3:36	3:41	3:45	3:50	3:25	3:27	3:36	3:41	3:44
	3:47	3:50	3:55	3:59	4:04	3:39	3:41	3:50	3:55	3:58
	4:01	4:04	4:09	4:13	4:18	3:53	3:55	4:04	4:09	4:12
	4:15	4:18	4:23	4:27	4:32	4:07	4:09	4:18	4:23	4:26
	4:29	4:32	4:37	4:41	4:46	4:21	4:23	4:32	4:37	4:40
	4:43	4:46	4:51	4:55	5:00	4:35	4:37	4:46	4:51	4:54
	4:57	5:00	5:05	5:09	5:14	5:03	5:05	5:14	5:19	5:22
	5:11	5:14	5:19	5:23	5:28	5:17	5:19	5:28	5:33	5:36
	5:25	5:28	5:33	5:37	5:42	5:31	5:33	5:42	5:47	5:50
	5:39	5:42	5:47	5:51	5:56	5:45	5:47	5:56	6:01	6:04
	5:53	5:57	6:02	6:05	6:10	5:59	6:01	6:10	6:15	6:18
Evening Service 40 min. between buses	6:33	6:37	6:42	6:45	6:50	6:13	6:15	6:23	6:28	6:31
	7:13	7:17	7:22	7:25	7:30	6:53	6:55	7:03	7:08	7:11
	7:53	7:57	8:02	8:05	8:10	7:33	7:35	7:43	7:48	7:51
	8:33	8:37	8:42	8:45	8:50	8:13	8:15	8:23	8:28	8:31
	9:13	9:16	9:21	9:24	9:29	8:53	8:55	9:03	9:08	9:11
	9:51	9:54	9:59	10:02	10:07	9:32	9:34	9:41	9:46	9:49
	10:29	10:32	10:37	10:40	10:45	10:10	10:12	10:19	10:24	10:27
	11:07	11:10	11:15	11:18	11:23	10:48	10:50	10:57	11:02	11:05
	11:45	11:48	11:53	11:56	12:01	11:26	11:28	11:35	11:40	11:43
	12:23	12:26	12:31	12:34	12:39	12:04	12:06	12:13	12:18	12:21
	1:01	1:04	1:09	1:12	1:17	12:42	12:44	12:51	12:56	12:59
						1:20	1:22	1:29	1:34	1:37

• = At Lot 13: bus sign change to ORCHARD HILL at Sylvan; bus sign change to CAMPUS SHUTTLE



02/3 NORTHAMPTON/HADLEY/AMHERST/WILLIAMSBURG

School Year Monday thru Friday

02/3 NORTHAMPTON/HADLEY/AMHERST/WILLIAMSBURG

School Year Saturday

School Year Sunday

NORTHAMPTON (MAIN) HOLIDAY	AMHERST CENTER	UMASS CAMPUS	AMHERST CENTER	WILLIAMSBURG
10:30AM	10:55	11:05	11:30	NO SUNDAY SERVICE
every hour until	every hour until	every hour until	every hour until	↓ ↓ ↓
10:30PM	10:55	11:05	11:30	TO WILLIAMSBURG

WEEKDAY OUTREACH SCHEDULE

310-Belchertown Center

From UMass campus to Belchertown State School and return

390-South Deerfield

From UMass campus to South Deerfield and return

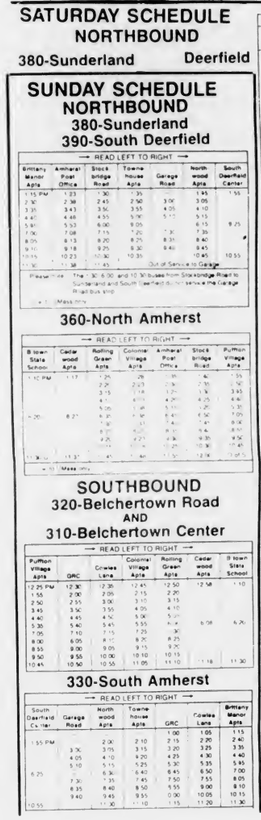
315-Gatehouse Road

From UMass Campus to Echo Hill and return

Bay Road

From UMass campus to DEEP South Amherst and return

325-West Street



From UMass Campus to Orchard Valley and return

Pine Street

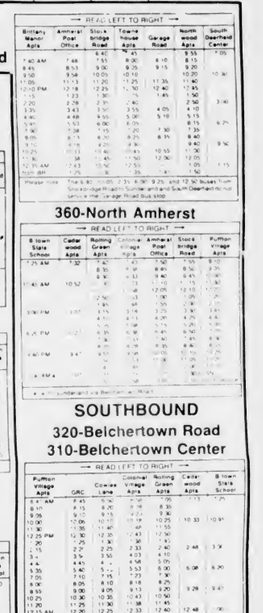
From UMass Campus to Cushman Center and return

SATURDAY SCHEDULE
NORTHBOUND

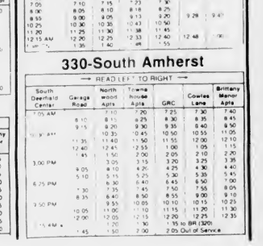
380-Sunderland Deerfield

SUNDAY SCHEDULE
NORTHBOUND
380-Sunderland
390-South Deerfield

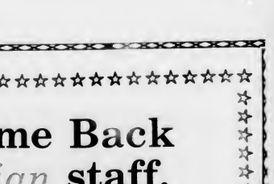
360-North Amherst



SOUTHBOUND
320-Belchertown Road
AND
310-Belchertown Center



330-South Amherst



360-North Amherst

SOUTHBOUND
320-Belchertown Road
310-Belchertown Center

330-South Amherst

Wickles FinePrint

COPIES

THESIS SPECIAL!

7¢ (ACID FREE)

☆ SAME DAY SERVICE ☆ QUALITY COPIES

AMHERST STORE ONLY WITH THIS COUPON

Wickles FinePrint

AMHERST
1 Boltwood Walk
256-0148

The Upper Crust

free delivery

PIZZA SUBS GYROS GELATO

71 N. Pleasant
Downtown Amherst
253-9739

Antigone's Antigone's Antigone's Antigone's Antigone's

HUNGRY U Restaurant

Soon to be called

ANTIGONE'S

Greek & Italian Cuisine

Subs • Pizza • Fries • Salads • Burgers • Lasagne • Syrian • Corned Beef • Reuben • Sub Sandwiches • Lasagne • Manicotti • Burgers • Lasagne • Syrian Sandwiches • Quiche • Soups • Kepte Meze • Potato Skins • Spaghetti • Mousaka • Souvlakia • Pastitso • Pizza • Spanakopita • Pizza

549-5713

55 University Drive

SPECIAL THRU FEB.

Mention Antigone's when ordering PIZZA FOR DELIVERY and receive one free topping on any size pizza

Antigone's Antigone's Antigone's Antigone's Antigone's

Welcome Back Collegian staff, readers and advertisers . . .

From New England's Largest College Daily

COVER DESIGN BY PETER SODERBERG

MONEY MOTIVATED?

If You Are Enthusiastic, Have A Strong Clear Speaking Voice and Have the Confidence to Prove What it Takes, Keep Reading This

We are a Major Industrial Tool Company Expanding a new office in Amherst, Mass. Telemarketing is the future successful road to sales in the 1980's, and we are growing rapidly. 3 shifts allow you to work around your schedule, and you can earn up to $10.00 per hour while training. There are still 25 positions available. Salary + Commissions + Bonuses. For an appointment, Call 7 AM-7 PM, Dave 413-256-4101

NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY

COLLEGIAN

RSO-UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS-AMHERST 113 CAMPUS CENTER 545-3500 VOLUME CXVI ISSUE 1

INSIDE

- Rep. James G. Collins is in the running for John Duff's old seat. Page 3.
- Task forces from START and Whitmore will negotiate over control of student funds. Page 5.
- "Struggle for Food" is struggling. Page 3.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 28, 1986

Alcohol will return this semester

Collegian photo by Michelle Segall

The bar in the Top of the Campus lounge will be repopulated soon.

Drinks will flow again

By TOM MIDDLETON
Collegian Staff

The sale of alcohol will resume in the Campus Center within the next three weeks, as the University applies for alcohol liability insurance, according to University officials.

UMass-Amherst will apply to a pool of private insurers set up by the state to secure liability insurance for the whole campus, said John L. DeNyse, vice-chancellor for administration and finance.

"Our application will be for total campus coverage; it's the only thing that makes sense. We need to have that flexibility," he said.

"Two weeks to a month may be a reasonable time period. Our problem is figuring out how much alcohol we will sell," DeNyse said. Because the drinking age rose to 21 last summer and no alcohol was sold on campus last semester, calculating sales for the coming year are difficult, he said.

The University stopped providing alcohol last semester after an unsuccessful search for a new insurance policy forced the school to settle for a policy with its previous insurer, Imperial Casualty and Indemnity of Omaha, which excluded coverage for accidents due to alcohol sold by UMass.

Director of Auxiliary Services Ashoke Ganguli said the Campus Center lost about $150,000 in alcohol sales last semester because of the lack of insurance. Because Campus Center Catering Services cannot serve alcohol, UMass is currently running a shuttle service to area restaurants for members of business conferences in the Campus Center.

Once alcohol liability insurance is secured, alcoholic beverages will be sold in the Top of the Campus, the Hatch and by Catering Services, but not in the Blue Wall, Ganguli said. "The old days of the Blue Wall with the beer drinking brought a bad image to us. I think students' attitudes [towards drinking] are changing," he said.

DeNyse said, "There are three premium schedules out there and we will naturally go for the maximum amount of coverage." He estimated the cost of the new alcohol liability insurance at 25,000 per year.

UMass Insurance Manager Donald Madsen said the premium for maximum coverage would be about $50 for every $1000 in retail alcohol sales.

Because of recent court decisions awarding large sums to plaintiffs in liability suits, many insurers have stopped selling liability insurance or have increased their premiums dramatically. In response, the state set up a pool of private insurers called the Joint Underwriters Association to provide alcohol liability insurance for public and private institutions.

The association began operating Nov. 1 and can process applications for insurance within a week, according to Linda Bentley, legal counsel for the state insurance commissioner.

$24m project for polymers makes gains

By IAN POLUMBAUM
Collegian Staff

A $24 million polymer research center planned for the University of Massachusetts is a few steps closer to reality with the approval last month of $10 million in federal support for the project and the impending release of $6 million in state bonds that were set aside for it in 1983.

Officials say they envision a 100,000-square-foot building on campus, to be completed by the end of 1990.

US Rep. Silvio Conte, R-Pittsfield, who pushed the federal funding through the House of Representatives by attaching it to a catch-all spending bill, has expressed hopes of securing more US money this year. Conte could not be reached by phone last week, but his Washington office said the spending cuts mandated by the Gramm-Rudman deficit-reduction law may make that "difficult, if not impossible."

Chris Whitcomb, Conte's press secretary, also said that since the $10 million comes from a "National Defense Stockpile Fund," it will be subject to the 4.9 percent spending cut Gramm-Rudman mandates for the Pentagon, meaning the polymer center will actually receive just over $9.5 million from Washington.

Another Conte aide, who asked that his name not be used, said the money is not considered a military appropriation, but falls into a "defense" category because polymers are considered potential replacements for materials currently imported from southern Africa and the Soviet bloc.

UMass Chancellor Joseph D. Duffey is also seeking more state support for the center as part of his continued lobbying on Beacon Hill. Edwin L. Thomas, the head of the University's polymer science and engineering department, said state officials have hinted that the project will receive $500,000 annually beginning in Fiscal Year 1987.

However, Thomas added that he holds more hope for the remaining $8 million — needed to bring the total to $24 million — to come half from Washington and half from corporations that work with polymers. He said UMass would look to companies for contributions mainly in the form of laboratory equipment.

Gov. Michael S. Dukakis has proclaimed Thomas' department the foundation for one of five "Centers of Excellence" in the state for different types of scientific research. Last October he established the Massachusetts Centers of Excellence Corporation, appointing a polymer science board of directors which includes Conte, UMass Polymer Research Institute director Richard Stein, and seven others from business, government and academia.

But Thomas, while expressing enthusiasm for the project, pointed out that since the $6 million bond was approved three years ago, "Centers of Excellence so far hasn't given us any money." He also warned against expecting the center to spur a huge surge in Western Massachusetts'

continued on page 7

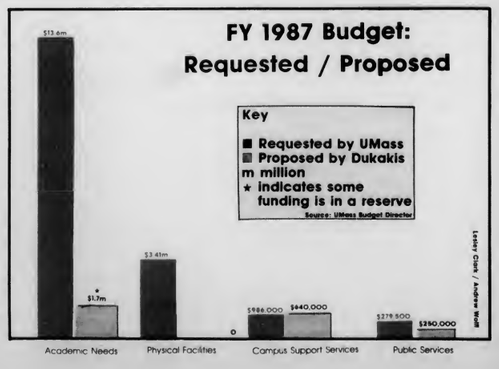
Dukakis' '87 budget: 'shell game' for UMass

By ANDREW WOLFF
Collegian Staff

Nearly two weeks after Gov. Michael S. Dukakis delivered his higher education budget recommendation to the state Legislature, University officials have expressed disappointment that the governor has slighted academic programs in favor of allocating money for equipment purchases.

Also, according to one UMass budget official, Dukakis has constructed this year's higher education budget request so it appears the University will receive more, while in reality it is only subject to a minimal increase.

"It's a shell game," said the official, Budget Director Paul Page.



Dukakis has requested that the Legislature increase the University's base budget for fiscal 1987 by $2.5 million over last year's $146.2 million, a 1.7 percent raise.

Money from the base budget is used to cover basic campus costs such as salaries, utilities, maintenance and some physical improvements.

In addition, the governor has asked the Legislature to allocate $3.7 million to the state Board of Regents of Higher Education. 59 percent of that, or $2.2 million, would go toward purchasing library books; 26 percent, or $975,000, for matching student aid; and 15 percent, or $564,000, toward the disadvantaged students program.

A third part of Dukakis' request was for

continued on page 11

'Great Peace March' drew them together

By IAN POLUMBAUM
Collegian Staff

They are a 23-year-old University of Massachusetts senior, a 71-year-old graduate student and veteran of the antinuclear movement, a carpenter from Thorndike and a Northampton activist born in Illinois. They did not know each other before a week ago; what brought the four of them together is that this spring they will all take part in a 255-day, 3,235-mile hike across America in the name of nuclear disarmament.

In the recreation room of the Ann Whalen senior citizens' apartment project in Amherst Center, they met last Sunday for the first time, embraced and listened to each other tell a reporter why they chose to join the Great Peace March, which beginning March 1 will take 5,000 people — walking 15 miles a day and camping out each night — from Los Angeles to Washington, D.C.

A common vision of a world without nuclear weapons spurred Mary Wolcott, Phyllis Rodin, Hank Rivers and Liz Kozeniewski to plan to abandon jobs, homes and daily lives for most of a year. But they expressed varied personal motivations and thoughts on the march.

"I think of this as something romantic — as a wagon train in reverse, from west to east," said the carpenter, Rivers, 58, who is also on the Unitarian Church governing board for the Pioneer Valley area. He added, "I've been active in seeking peace ... for my whole adult life."

"We are going to live together in a mobile city," exulted Rodin, 71, an animated woman who says her neighbors in the Amherst building view her "like a kid" because of her energy. She has become well known in the area, as one of the oldest graduate students at UMass — in future studies — and for her brisk daily walks around town in a brown sweatsuit emblazoned, "PRO-Peace March." The event is being organized by a California-based group, People Reaching Out for Peace.

Rodin has had ample activist experience, from the early days of the British-based Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament in the 1950s to her current work with the Gray Panthers, a senior citizens' advocacy group, Amherst Town Meeting and local peace groups. She has also seen traumatic effects of war first-hand, as a psychotherapist treating soldiers and civilians in Europe after World War II and radiation victims in Hiroshima in 1966.

"I'll get to know 4,999 people who are training themselves for leadership in this country," she said. "The kind of leadership that can think beyond war is lacking. There are a lot of people who are disillusioned."

Wolcott, an art major who plans to join the group somewhere in the Rocky Mountains after getting her UMass degree in May, said the march "has to do with making people more intelligent about the [peace] movement.

"There's no reason to give up just because there are opposers," she said, referring to skeptics who might regard PRO-Peace as either naive about Soviet aims or wishful thinkers who don't realize President Reagan and other world leaders have no real desire to get rid of all atomic weapons.

Collegian photo by Michelle Segall

Phyllis Rodin, 71, is gearing up for a cross-country trek.

"It's very important to be visible — to show how many people are thinking of the same goal." Visible they will be. PRO-Peace plans to hold forums and rallies in each of the 37 major cities and hundreds of towns the march will pass through — reaching 65 million Americans, according to organizers. The marchers hope to be greeted in Washington on Nov. 15 by a disarmament rally hundreds of thousands strong.

Rivers and Rodin, who had to pass stress tests in order to join the group because they are over 55, credited UMass Chancellor Joseph D. Duffey with sparking their interest in the march. Duffey invited them to hear a speech on campus last October by PRO-Peace's executive director, longtime Democratic organizer David B. Mixner.

Welcome Back

TIME OUT
Proper I.D. Required
Please Don't Drink and Drive
37 N. Pleasant St.

BELL'S Pizza
The Quality Goes In
Before The Name Goes On
65 University Drive Amherst
549-1311 253-9051

James H. McManus eating place
CAMPUS PLAZA
(NEXT TO SUPER STOP & SHOP)
Rte 9 • Hadley Amherst
256-6889

"Come in and be our guest. Enjoy good food at family prices."

CONVENIENT to CAMPUS!
• BREAKFAST SERVED ANY TIME
• OPEN 6 A.M.-3 A.M. SUN.-THURS.
• OPEN 24 HOURS FRI. & SAT.
• BEER & WINE SERVED 'TIL MIDNITE
• PLENTY OF PARKING

It's a better movie than 'Blazing Saddles' or 'Young Frankenstein'. -Rolling Stone
Wednesday, January 29th
in Campus Center Auditorium
Time: 5:00, 7:00, 9:00, 11:00
Price: $1.00 at 5, $1.50 at 7, 9 and 11
MONTY PYTHON AND THE HOLY GRAIL
FROM CINEMA 5

Collins among contenders to replace Duff

By PHIL SERAFINO
Collegian Staff

A local state representative with a long history of involvement in Massachusetts education is one of several candidates to succeed John B. Duff as chancellor of the Board of Regents of Higher Education.

Rep. James G. Collins, D-Amherst, a 1968 University of Massachusetts graduate, said in a recent telephone interview that he definitely expects to be nominated for the position. The board's search committee convened for the first time Jan. 8 and has begun advertising for the job. Candidates can either be nominated for the position or may apply for it until March 15.

Others whose names have been mentioned as candidates for the job include state Senator John W. Olver (D-Amherst), David Bartley, the president of Holyoke Community College, and Joseph D. Duffey, chancellor of UMass. Bartley said he would not accept the job if chosen by the search committee, and Duffey said he did not expect to be a candidate for the job.

Collins said he is interested in the $65,000-a-year post because "the very survival of this state's economy depends on our ability to improve education and accessibility to higher education."

The 15-member Board of Regents was created by the state Legislature in 1980 to oversee the state's 29 institutions of higher education.

Collins has received support from House Speaker George Keverian, regent J. John Fox and others, who reportedly pushed for his immediate hiring. After meeting with Gov. Michael S. Dukakis, however, the search committee decided to go ahead with a full search.

The main challenge Collins sees in the job is to raise funds for higher education. "There is a lot of potential there that is not developed now. It is becoming clear to business leaders how important education is," Collins said.

He also said that he sees "a harsh system of educational inequality" in Massachusetts, with poverty preventing many young people from getting an education. By 1994, Collins said, "we are going to experience up to a 43 percent decline in the number of 18-year-olds as compared to 1979, and more of them will have grown up poor."

Former Chancellor Duff, in his last meeting with the board, suggested funding for research and graduate education be increased at UMass-Amherst, Southeastern Massachusetts University and the UMass Medical Center in Worcester.

Collins responded, "If we think one-dimensionally, in terms of research, we will be looking backwards, not forward ... We must never lose sight of the fact that we must engender and foster first-rate low-cost education."

"Then we must work on our graduate and research capacity so we can work closely with the private sector to be the incubator for economic development in Massachusetts," Collins said. The last of his main priorities would be to develop the community service role of the state's campuses.

He also said education for older students would be a high priority due to the anticipated decline in the number of young people in the state.

Collins, who was elected to the Legislature in 1972, served on the House Education Committee for twelve years and was chairman of it for two years. He currrently serves on the House Ways and Means Committee.

While at UMass, Collins was a member of the Undergraduate Student Senate for four years and president of the senate and the student body during his senior year.

Why the seat is open

The search for a new chancellor to head the state Board of Regents of Higher Education was precipitated by former Chancellor John B. Duff's resignation in order to accept a $100,000-a-year position as director of the Chicago Public Library.

The Board of Regents reprimanded Duff last October for soliciting campaign contributions from the regents. At the time, Duff denied directly soliciting contributions but accepted responsibility for a letter sent by his press aide asking five regents to buy $100 tickets to a fundraiser for George Keverian, speaker of the House of Representatives.

Also, an audit of the regents' computer network last November found that $2 million had been misappropriated by the use of dummy invoices, and that bills had never been sent to the continuing education departments of some state and community colleges for use of the computer network.

Duff attended his last meeting as chancellor on Jan. 14, when he presented suggestions to the board for the future of the state college system and summarized the accomplishments of his four-year tenure. He advised that research and graduate education funding be increased at state colleges and universities, particularly at UMass-Amherst and Southeastern Massachusetts University. He also suggested merging UMass-Boston with the Massachusetts College of Art, and criticized the Dukakis administration for interfering with the work of the regents.

Duff was appointed as the first chancellor of the board in 1981.

— PHIL SERAFINO

Collegian photo by David Britain

Swimmers now face a $100 fine if they dive off this rock ledge at Puffer's Pond. Story, page 5.

Arthur Musgrave dies; was professor 39 years

Arthur B. Musgrave, a University of Massachusetts professor for 39 years and former Collegian faculty advisor, died at his Amherst home Jan. 19 after a long illness. He was 75.

Mr. Musgrave was the first professor at the University to teach journalism. In 1960, he transferred to the English department, where he taught writing courses until last year. While involved in journalism, he sought to steer the program from job training towards social research into the workings of the press.

His son Alan Musgrave, a Boston attorney, said Mr. Musgrave was interested in media criticism and in gaining a "systematic understanding of attitudes and changes in the press."

"He always wanted the college press to be an absolutely free press," said his son. Mr. Musgrave believed that any well-educated person could learn the mechanics of newswriting in six months of on-the-job training. As faculty advisor to the Collegian, he placed students here and on summer internships at other New England newspapers.

Mr. Musgrave joined the faculty in 1946, after earning a Neiman Fellowship in journalism at Harvard. He had been a reporter and editor at daily papers in Baltimore and Houston during the 1930s and worked as a science writer at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology through the early 1940s.

He was one of the lobbyists responsible for having the campus' status changed from college to university in 1947. He was the school's director of publications at the time.

He was born in Quincy Sept. 18, 1910, and was educated at Johns Hopkins University and Boston University. He received a doctorate from the University of Minnesota. He is survived by his wife, the former Barbara Stewart; his son, Alan; a daughter, Lynn Criner of Tacoma Park, Md.; two brothers, Frank of Toledo, Ohio, and T. Benson of Baltimore; a sister, Miriam Herring of Washington, D.C., and a grandson.

Memorial services will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday in Grace Episcopal Church, 16 Spring St., Amherst. Donations in his memory can be made to the Hampshire County Hospice, 7 Denniston Place, PO Box 1204, Northampton, 01061.

— JON STRYMISH

For next fall's entrants, no C, D, E cores

By LESLEY CLARK
Collegian Staff

Students admitted to the University this semester are the last group subject to the existing core requirements, as a new set of more stringent course guidelines, titled General Education, takes effect this fall.

Norman Aitken, associate provost for undergraduate education, said the plan will be implemented as intended, despite receiving zero funding in Gov. Michael S. Dukakis' budget request.

Aitken said the University had requested $1.2 million for implementation of the plan, which includes, for the first year, 18 new faculty members, 43 graduate teaching assistants and laboratory renovations.

"Obviously this limits our ability to implement the plan," Aitken said. "But the University is committed to the plan. We'd only be delaying the process of improving undergraduate education if we didn't proceed."

The current core requirement system came under fire almost five years ago when it was criticized for being too vague and not providing students with a well-rounded education.

The new plan, designed by the General Education Council and passed by the Faculty Senate last May, will replace the C, D and E core requirements with specific courses in areas called "analytical reasoning," "physical world and biological world," and "social world."

Students will also no longer be allowed to take any required courses pass/fail.

James Wright, the council's chairman, said in an interview last week that the council's major concern was to develop a curriculum that would give students knowledge of their own societies as well as others, an appreciation of science and the arts and the ability to reason mathematically and quantitatively.

He said that unlike the current core system, the general education plan, "provides a coherent philosophy behind each required course.

Wright, a sociology professor, said that under the existing plan 1200 courses satisfy the core requirement. Under the new plan roughly 400 courses will satisfy requirements.

"The core system was perceived as a vast, uncontrolled smorgasboard of courses from which students could pick at will," Wright said. "Many students traveled the path of least resistance, satisfying math and science requirements without ever taking a math or science course."

One aspect of the plan which mandates that every student must take at least one science course with a laboratory section was postponed indefinitely at the last senate meeting, Wright said.

The plan also requires a teaching assistant for every 50 students. Aitken said this would be difficult to do with the lack of funding. The plan's requirements include two courses in analytical reasoning, the new math requirement. The first level may be satisfied through a competency examination. In addition, there will be six social world requirements.

In the biological and physical world, three courses, including one in each area, will be required.

FS & N 101's future is uncertain

The future of Food Science 101 remains in question as the Collegian goes to press.

A possible casualty of General Education, the course, Struggle for Food, was denied designation as satisfactory to fill a science requirement by a subcommittee of the General Education council in December.

The course is the single largest "E" core, attracting about 800 students each semester.

Council chairman James Wright did not specify why the course was turned down, but said any courses which had been rejected could be resubmitted.

Wright said the council recommended 202 courses for General Education designation, out of 349 proposals it received.

He said several courses were rejected because their material was outside "the purview of general education. Many courses were too narrowly focused or highly specialized."

Most proposals were turned down because of technical problems, Wright said. "Proposals were hastily written and did not designate areas in which they would fall."

F.J. Francis, who teaches Food Science 101 with Fergus Clydesdale, said he would resubmit the proposal.

"We may not have put enough detail in our proposal," he said. "But I don't see any problems [in getting the course reinstated as a requirement] once we have spelled out more clearly what the course demands."

Francis said the course had been accused of "not providing students with an adequate challenge," but that he hoped to counter the criticism by implementing a discussion section and writing assignments.

Wright said new requirements necessarily involve changing the courses that fill them.

"If all the courses which satisfy cores were passed, General Education would simply be a new name for an old plan."

— LESLEY CLARK

Choosing a long distance company is a lot like choosing a roommate.

It's better to know what they're like before you move in.

Living together with someone for the first time can be an "educational" experience.

And living with a long distance company isn't any different. Because some companies may not give you all the services you're used to getting from AT&T.

For instance, with some companies you have to spend a certain amount before you qualify for their special volume discounts. With some others, voice quality may vary.

But when you choose AT&T, there won't be any surprises when you move in. You'll get the same high-quality, trouble-free service you're used to.

With calls that sound as close as next door. Guaranteed 60% and 40% discounts off our Day Rate—so you can talk during the times you can relax. Immediate credit for wrong numbers. Operator assistance and collect calling.

So when you're asked to choose a long distance company, choose AT&T. Because whether you're into Mozart or metal, quality is the one thing everyone can agree on.

Reach out and touch someone.®

AT&T
The right choice.

©1985 AT&T Communications

SGA trying to salvage fund control

By JOEL P. COFFIDIS
Collegian Staff

Student government leaders last week said they expect to form a cooperative task force with the University administration within a month to examine the issue of control over student fund allocation.

Six members from Students Advocating Rights Together, a group formed by student protesters in late November, will meet during the next two weeks to form the task force. The protests began in response to the actions of Dennis L. Madson, vice-chancellor for student affairs, and Randy Donant, director of student activities, who issued a memorandum Nov. 19 calling for measures which gave them greater control of the student budget allocation.

Dani Burgess, campus co-president and START member, said the students and administrators each have agreed to form their own version of a task force. When both sides

"I'm more than cautiously optimistic," Williams said. "We have to get something done."

The agreement to form the task force was reached during December after four sit-ins occurred outside Madson's office in Whitmore Administration Building. Twenty-two students were arrested and charged with trespassing during two of the sit-ins when they allegedly refused to leave the building at closing time.

The protests and sit-ins were spurred by a memo from Madson and Donant Nov. 19 stating their intent to take responsibility for $1.5 million of the $1.75 million student activities budget. The trust fund, paid for by the $88-a-year student activities fee, had a $120,000 deficit at the end of Fiscal Year 1985. For this year, $75,000 was borrowed from reserve funds.

The SGA held a referendum on whether to increase the annual student fee by $12. Students voted against the fee hike in November, and repeat vote in December failed to draw the required 15 percent of the student body. The increase, its supporters said, would have covered any deficits for the current year.

finish forming groups, Burgess said, one task force will be created from the two versions.

The purpose of the task force, Burgess said, "is to try to research the short and long term issues within the SGA-SATF (Student Activity Trust Fund). START is going to develop for the charge and composition of the task force."

Stacy Roth, also SGA co-president, said she is optimisticabout the plan but uncertain when the negotiating team will be selected.

"There's a close understanding that both sides have certain goals to achieve through this process," Roth said. "I hope we can do it in a reasonable amount of time."

Trey Williams, assistant to Madson, said he and two others will meet to form the administrative task force.

Collegian photo by Michelle Segall

The College of Engineering's satellite disc.

Satellite link is used as a video classroom

By PATRICK JOHNSON
Collegian Staff

The College of Engineering at the University of Massachusetts has recently begun broadcasting courses via satellite to companies across the country as part of a national program.

Harvey Stone, the college's director of special programs, said UMass has become a part of the National Technological University, "which is a combination of 20 schools across the country that will together send engineering courses by satellite for people in industry to take for their master's degrees."

Each company involved in the program pays $1000 for each course in which an employee is enrolled, Stone said. "The key is it is important for engineers to stay abreast of their field, with so many advancements being made." Another important aspect is that one instructor can teach up to 5,000 people at once, he said.

"We send out course materials beforehand. The materials are no different from materials for courses on campus. At the graduate level, tests are usually take-home, or if the instructor wants a proctor the company will supply one," Stone said.

The satellite dish which makes all this possible has been in place in front of Marston Hall since last October. UMass shares a satellite with five other schools: University of Maryland, University of Minnesota, University of South Carolina, University of Arizona and Colorado State University.

The equipment used in the program is similar to that of any television station, Stone said. "The technology involved is not fancy stuff. It's complex, but not crazy," he said. "It's like HBO [Home Box Office]. We send it up and whoever wants it gets it."

Unlike HBO, the engineering department does not scramble its signal to prevent unauthorized people from intercepting it, but it will do so in the near future, Stone said. Until then, Stone does not seem worried. "In order to intercept our signal, a person would have to know where we [the signal] are, and we don't broadcast that information. They'd have to search the entire spectrum, and then they'd be bored silly once they found us."

Puffer's: no diving

Diving off the rocks at Puffer's Pond, a warm-weather rite for thousands of students over the years, has been banned by the Amherst Conservation Commission, which says it wants to keep the pond a safe family recreation area.

"The ban is effective immediately; caretakers will be on duty from May 1 to the end of September," said Peter Westover, conservation director. He said violators are subject to a fine of up to $100.

"No one's been seriously hurt and we have had a good safety record. With this diving ban, we want to keep it that way," Westover said.

"If there is no compliance from some people, then we will call the police," said Jean Kavanagh, chairwoman of the conservation commission.

"If the area is to stay safe, then diving must be banned," Kavanagh said. "We would need three or four lifeguards to make it safe for diving and we don't want to change the pond."

The seven-member commission voted unanimously Jan. 8 to outlaw leaping into the water off the 15-foot rock ledge. Walking on the dam at the North Amherst Pond had already been restricted.

The commission is also thinking about improving the parking areas and draining the pond to remove silt, Kavanagh said.

— JOE SHARTRAND

Daily Collegian Advertising that works!! Call: 545-3500

JOB OPENINGS
Student Janitorial Positions
are available immediately
in the Orchard Hill Central Area
work study and non work study
$3.65 per hour
Must be able to work weekends.
Complete application forms in
B-1 Baker

Styles by Deborah

Introduces
CAROL GARDNER
Styles By Deborah is pleased to announce that Carol Gardner has joined its staff of skilled cosmetologists. Carol, formerly of Regency Hairstylists, has been in the area for four years. She will be available for appointments beginning January 27. Carol looks forward to seeing her old friends and welcoming new ones.
For your appointment call
549-5610
65 University Drive, Amherst • 549-5610

Spirit Haus

Amherst area's largest selection of imported and domestic wine and liquor.
• In store wine tasting every Saturday 12-5 pm
• Cold Kegs • Ice
• Returnable bottles and cans welcome
OPEN 10 am - 11 pm
253-5384 or 256-8433
Rt. 9 East Amherst

UNIVERSITY PLACEMENT SERVICE — SPRING RECRUITING SCHEDULE

This list contains RESUME DUE DATES THROUGH FEB. 19. Resumes for open schedules may be turned in at the Whitmore sign-up desk from 9:00-3:00 Mondays & Tuesdays and at the University Career Center any day for pre-screened schedules. The Whitmore desk will also accept resumes for pre-screened schedules. Schedules will apppear in the COLLEGIAN every 2 weeks during the Spring semester. Last minute changes will be posted at the University Career Ctr., Whitmore sign-up desk and Campus Center Assistance desk. NEXT SCHEDULE WILL APPEAR ON FEBRUARY 13!

To use this schedule:

1. Select the companies with which you will request an interview.
2. If pre-screened(P) submit 2 resumes by the due date; resumes may go to the University Career Ctr. or Whitmore Sign-up desk(Mon-Tues 9:00-3:00)
3. If open(O) submit 1 resume on one of the due dates; these resumes MUST GO TO THE WHITMORE SIGN-UP DESK
4. Each resume should be stamped with the information needed; stamps are available at the Whitmore sign-up desk and the University Career Center.
5. A * next to the company name means you MUST INDICATE YOUR SCHEDULE PREFERENCE ON YOUR RESUME WHEN YOU HAND IT IN.
6. Two weeks before the interview date the final schedule will be posted at the University Career Center, Whitmore sign-up desk and the Campus Ctr. Assistance desk. IT IS YOUR RESPONSIBILITY TO VERIFY YOUR APPOINTMENT TIME. If no list has been posted by 2 weeks before the interview date, you should check daily, since we add completed schedules for pre-screened companies as lists of selections are received from those companies.

Additional information on positions, locations, schedules etc. at the University Career Center and at the Whitmore Sign-up desk.
VISA CODE; P=Permanent Resident Visa: C=U.S. Citizenship

INFORMATION SESSIONS

If the Information Session is held the night before the interview date, attendance is required by students on the interview schedule. When held a few weeks before the interview date, these Information Sessions are usually for all interested students. Unless otherwise noted all Information Sessions are at the University Career Center.

ORGANIZATION	VISIT DATE	INFORMATION SESSION DATE	TIME
Scientific Atlanta	February 4	February 3	7:00pm
General Mills	February 24	February 5	7:00pm
Teradyne	February 6	February 5	7:00pm
Procter & Gamble/Sales Management Open to all students, especially those who submit a resume for pre-screening.	February 26	February 6 Campus Center 917	5:30pm
Filenes	February 12	February 10	7:00pm
Gillette	February 12	February 11	7:00pm
Metropolitan Life Insurance	February 12	February 11	7:00pm
Norfolk Naval Shipyard	February 13	February 12	7:00pm
United Technologies	February 19	February 18	7:00pm
Bloomingdale's	February 21	February 20	7:00pm
Lechmere	February 21	February 20	7:00pm

ENGINEERING

MAJORS	DEGREES	ORGANIZATION	POSITIONS	VISA	VISIT DATE	RESUME DUE DATE
EE	BS/MS	Motorola/Govt. Electronics Group	5-month Engr Training Program/ Scottsdale & Tempe AZ	C	Feb 26	Jan 28 'P'
EE,CSE	BS	Casher Assoc	Programmer Analyst	P	Feb 27	Jan 29 'P'
EE,CSE, ME,IE	BS/MS	* Data General		P	Feb 27	Jan 29 'P'
EE,CSE	BS w/3.0 GTE Communications Systems			P	Feb 27	Jan 29 'P'
EE	BS/MS/PhD	Lawrence Livermore National Laboratories		C	Feb 27	Jan 29 'P'
EE,ME	BS/MS	Northrop	Engr in Pico Rivera,CA	C	Feb 27	Jan 29 'P'
EE,ME	BS/MS	McDonnell Douglas Astronautics Co.	Huntington Beach,CA	C	Feb 28	Jan 30 'P'
EE,ME,IE	BS/MS	A T & T	AT&T Tech/Network Sys. Bell Labs, AT&T Communications	P	Mar 4,5	Feb 3 'P'
IE,ME	BS	Raytheon-RI & MA	IE/Quality Assurance	C	Mar 3	Feb 4 'P'
IE,ME,Mfg	BS:top1/3	Raytheon	Mfg. Mgt Development	C	Mar 3	Feb 4 'P'
EE	MS/PhD	Sandia Nat'l Labs		C	Feb 14	Feb 3,4 'O'
IE	BS	* Teradyne	Mfg Engr-Boston	P	Feb 6	Feb 3,4 'O'
ME,IE,Mfg w/3.0-4.0	BS/MS	Texas Instruments Nat'l & Control ONLY STUDENTS WHO HAVE NOT INTERVIEWED WITH MATERIALS AND CONTROLS		P	Feb 19	Feb 3,4 'O'
EE,ME,Mfg	BS/MS	* United Technologies/Carrier		C	Feb 18,20	Feb 3,4 'O'
EE,CSE	BS/MS	* United Technologies/Hamilton Standard		C	Feb 18,20	Feb 3,4 'O'
EE,CE	BS/MS/PhD	* United Technologies/Korden Systems		C	Feb 18,20	Feb 3,4 'O'
ME,EE	BS/MS	* United Technologies/Pratt & Whitney		C	Feb 18,20	Feb 3,4 'O'
CSE,EE ME,IE	BS/MS/PhD	* Digital Equipment		P	Mar 4	Feb 4 'P'
All Engr	BS	Factory Mutual	Loss Prevention Consiltnt	C	Mar 5	Feb 4 'P'
EE,CSE	BS/MS	Hanscom AFB/Electronic Systems Div		C	Mar 6	Feb 5 'P'
EE	BS/MS	Honeywell		P	Mar 6	Feb 5 'P'
EE	BS/MS	Prime Computer	Hardware	P	Mar 7	Feb 6 'P'
EE	BS	Frequency Sources	Microwave Engineering	P	Mar 7	Feb 6 'P'
ChE,EE,ME	BS	Campbell Soup Co.	Package Engineers	P	Mar 10	Feb 7 'P'
IE	BS	Reed Plastics		P	Mar 10	Feb 7 'P'
EE	BS/MS	Viewlogic Systems		P	Mar 10	Feb 7 'P'
CSE,EE	BS/MS/PhD	CNR Inc	Software Engineer	C	Mar 11	Feb 10 'P'
EE,IE/OR	BS/MS/PhD	Alpha Tech		C	Mar 11	Feb 10 'P'
EE,ME,CSE	BS/MS	Avco	Wilmington MA	C	Mar 11	Feb 10 'P'
ME	BS/MS/PhD	Torrington	Res/Prod/Sales Engineers	P	Mar11,12	Feb 10 'P'
ME,CSE,ChE	BS	Boston Gas Co.	Staff Engineer	P	Feb 26	Feb 10,11 'O'
CE,EE	BS	CT Dept of Trans	Engineer Interns	P	Feb 28	Feb 10,11 'O'
ME,IE,EE	BS/MS	US Army Watervliet Arsenal	Engineers	C	Mar 12	Feb 11 'P'
EE,ME,CSE	BS/MS	Draper Labs			Mar 13	Feb 12 'P'
EE,ME	BS/MS	Portsmouth Naval Shipyard		C	Mar 26	Feb 18 'P'
EE,ME	BS/MS	Tracor	Naval Weapons& Communications	C	Mar 26	Feb 18 'P'
ChE,CE	BS/MS	US Environmental Protection Agency		C	Mar 26	Feb 18 'P'
EE,CSE,OR	MS/PhD	Bell Communications	R&D New Jersey Area	P	Mar 6	Feb 18,19 'O'
EE,ME,CSE	BS	New England Telephone		P	Mar 6	Feb 18,19 'O'
ME	BS	Riley Stoker Corp	Engr/Training/Worcester	P	Mar 6	Feb 18,19 'O'
EE	BS/MS	Science Applications Int'l/Telecommunications Systems	Entry Level Engr/Stowe,MA	C	Mar 7	Feb 18,19 'O'
ME,EE,IE, ChE	BS	Parlex Corporation TRANSCRIPT REQUIRED WITH RESUME	Process,Mfg Support Engrs	C	Mar 27	Feb 19 'F'

NATURAL SCIENCES and MATH

MAJORS	DEGREES	ORGANIZATION	POSITIONS	VISA	VISIT DATE	RESUME DUE DATE
CDINS	BS	Casher Assoc	Programmer/Analyst	P	Feb 27	Jan 29 'P'
CDINS,Phys	BS/MS	McDonnell Douglas Astronautics Co.	Huntington Beach,CA	C	Feb 28	Jan 30 'P'
CDINS	BS/MS	A T & T	AT&T Tech/Network Sys. Bell Labs, AT&T Communications	P	Mar 4,5	Feb 3 'P'
Chem	BS	Flexcon	Jr. Staff Chemist		Mar 4	Feb 3 'P'
PolySci	PhD	Sandia Nat'l Labs		C	Feb 14	Feb 3,4 'O'
CDINS	BS/MS	* United Technologies/Pratt & Whitney		C	Feb 19,20	Feb 3,4 'O'
CDINS	BS/MS/PhD	* Digital Equipment		P	Mar 4	Feb 4 'P'
CDINS	BS/MS	Software A&E	Softwr Engrs in DC area	P	Mar 5	Feb 4 'P'
CDINS	BS/MS	Honeywell		P	Mar 6	Feb 5 'P'
Math	BS/MS	Hewitt Assoc	Actuarial Student Prog.	C	Mar 6	Feb 5 'P'
CDINS	BS/MS	Prime Computer	Hardware	P	Mar 7	Feb 6 'P'
Chem/Poly Chem	BS/MS	Reed Plastics		P	Mar 10	Feb 7 'P'
CDINS	BS/MS	Viewlogic Systems		P	Mar 10	Feb 7 'P'
CDINS	BS/MS/PhD	CNR Inc.	Software Engineer	C	Mar 11	Feb 10 'P'
CDINS	BS/MS/PhD	Alpha tech		C	Mar 11	Feb 10 'P'
Math	BS	* Cigna Corp. Interviews on Feb 25 for Sophomores & Juniors; sign up @ Whitmore on Feb 10 or 11		P	Mar 24	Feb 10,11 'O'
Math	BS/MS	Mass Mutual Life	Actuarial Training	P	Feb 25	Feb 11 'P'
CDINS	BS/MS	US Gen'l Acctg	Computer Spec-DC	C	Feb 28	Feb 10,11 'O'
Physics	MS	Draper Labs			Mar 13	Feb 12 'P'
Geol	BS/MS	US Environmental Protection Agency		C	Mar 26	Feb 18 'P'
CCINS	BS	Bamberger's Stores	Exec Training/Support	P	Mar 7	Feb 18,19 'O'
CCIPS	MS/PhD	Bell Communications	Tech Staff, R&D in NJ	P	Mar 6	Feb 18,19 'O'
Geog/Geol Math,CDIPS	BS/MS	Defense Mapping Geophysics	Cartographers,Geodesists P1,KY,TX,DC	C	Mar 4	Feb 18,19 'O'
Math	BS	*John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance	Actuarial Dev. Program MUST HAVE PASSED 1-2 ACTUARIAL EXAMS	P	Mar 4	Feb 18,19 'O'
Math MUST HAVE PASSED 1	BS ACTUARIAL EXAM	Monarch Life Ins.	Actuarial Trainee-Spfld,MA	P	Mar 4	Feb 18,19 'O'
CCIPS	BS	New England Telephone	New England Area	P	Mar 6	Feb 18,19 'O'
Physics	BS/MS	Science Applications Int'l/Telecommunications Systems	Entry Level Engr/Stowe,MA	C	Mar 7	Feb 18,19 'O'

MANAGEMENT

MAJORS	DEGREES	ORGANIZATION	POSITIONS	VISA	VISIT DATE	RESUME DUE DATE
Bus,Mkt	BBA/MBA	CalComp	Assoc Sales Rep	P	Feb 28	Jan 30 'P'
Bus,Mkt	EBA	Flexcon	Sales Rep		Mar 4	Feb 3 'P'
Business	EBA	Chrysler	Branch Mgt. Trainee	P	Feb 18	Feb 3,4 'O'
GB/Fin,Mkt Acctg	BBA	Defense Logistics Agency	Quality Assurance Spec.	C	Feb 21	Feb 3,4 'O'
Acctg	BBA	Hartford Insurance	Jr. Accountants	C	Feb 5	Feb 3 'O'
MIS	EBA/MBA	* United Technologies - Pratt & Whitney		C	Feb 19	Feb 3,4 'O'
Mgt,Mkt	BBA	Hartford Insurance	Underwriting,Mkt Trainee	C	Mar 5	Feb 5 'P'
Fin	BBA	Hewitt Accociates	Actuarial Student Prog.	C	Mar 6	Feb 5 'P'
Fin,Acct Bus	BBA	Wang Laboratories	Financial Analysts	P	Mar 10	Feb 7 'P'
Acct,Fin Mgt w/at least 3 Acctg courses	BBA	State St. Bank	Account Comptroller	P	Mar 10	Feb 7 'P'
Mgt,Mkt	EBA	Harvard Coop		P	Mar 11	Feb 10 'P'
Acctg	BBA	Boston Gas Co.	Entry level Acct	P	Feb 26	Feb 10,11 'O'
Acctg	BBA	Internal Revenue	Agents-nationwide	P	Feb 26 2pm	no sign-up
Bus,Fin Interviews on Feb 25 for Sophomores & Juniors; sign up @ Whitmore on Feb 10 or 11	BBA	* Cigna Corp.		P	Feb 24	Feb 10,11 'O'
Bus,Mgt,Fin INFORMATION SESSION ON FEB 5	BBA	General Mills	Sales Representative		Feb 24	Feb 10,11 'O'
Bus	EBA	Mercantile Stores	Buyer Trainee-NY		Feb 24	Feb 10,11 'O'
Acctg,Bus	BBA/MBA	US Gen'l Acctg	Acct-DC; Evaluator-USA	C	Feb 28	Feb 10,11 'O'
Business	BBA	Automatic Data Proc	Sales Trainee	P	Mar 12	Feb 11 'P'
Mgt,Mkt	BBA	Braclees	Store-Line Managers	P	Mar 12	Feb 11 'P'
Acct,Mgt	EBA	Farm Credit Banks	Mgt Training-New England	P	Mar 12	Feb 11 'P'
Business	BBA	Boston Univ. Bookstore	Mgt. Training	P	Mar 25	Feb 14 'P'
Business INFORMATION SESSION ON FEBRUARY 27	BBA	Morse Shoe Co.	Exec Training Program	P	Mar 25	Feb 14 'P'
Mkt,Mgt INFORMATION SESSION ON FEBRUARY 25	EBA	Wallace Computer	Sales	P	Mar 25	Feb 14 'P'
MIS	BBA	Bamberger's	Exec Training	P	Mar 7	Feb 18,19 'O'
Bus,Mkt, Mgt	BBA	First Nat'l Supermkt	Store Mgr Trainee	C	Mar 3	Feb 18,19 'O'
Fin,Mgt	BS	*John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance	Actuarial Dev. Program MUST HAVE PASSED 1-2 ACTUARIAL EXAMS	P	Mar 4	Feb 18,19 'O'
Fin MUST HAVE PASSED 1	BS ACTUARIAL EXAM	Monarch Life Ins.	Actuarial Trainee-Spfld,MA	P	Mar 4	Feb 18,19 'O'

MISCELLANEOUS MAJORS

MAJORS	DEGREES	ORGANIZATION	POSITIONS	VISA	VISIT DATE	RESUME DUE DATE
Econ	BA	Flexcon	Sales Rep		Mar 4	Feb 3 'P'
Math	BS	Hartford Insurance	Actuarial	C	Feb 5	Feb 3 'O'
Econ	BA	Defense Logistics Agency	Quality Assurance Spec.	C	Feb 21	Feb 3,4 'O'
Food Sci	MS/PhD	Pillsbury R & D	Product Dev.Scientist		Mar 5	Feb 4 'P'
Lib Arts	BA/ES	* Digital Equipment	Technical Writer	P	Mar 4	Feb 4 'P'
Cog Psych w/Computer background	MS/PhD	Software A & E	Knowledge Engrs	P	Mar 5	Feb 4 'P'
Econ	BS/MS	Hewitt Assoc	Actuarial Student Prog.	C	Mar 6	Feb 5 'P'
Econ	BS	Hartforc Insurance	Underwriting/Mkt Trainee	C	Mar 5	Feb 5 'P'
Econ	BS	Wang Laboratories	Financial Analysts	P	Mar 10	Feb 7 'P'
Fash Mkt	BS	Harvard Coop		P	Mar 11	Feb 10 'P'
Lib Arts	BA/BS	Mercantile Stores	Buyer Trainee-NY	P	Feb 24	Feb 10,11 'O'
Lib Arts Interviews on Feb25	BA/BS	* Cigna Corp. for Sophomores & Juniors; sign up @ Whitmore on Feb 10 or 11		P	Feb 24	Feb 10,11 'O'
Pub Admin	BA/MA	US Gen'l Acctg	Acct-DC; Evaluator-USA	C	Feb 28	Feb 10,11 'O'
Lib Arts	BA/BS	Braclees	Store-Line Managers	P	Mar 12	Feb 11 'P'
Agron,Ent, Pl Path,Ansci,Pl & Soil	BS	Ciba-Geigy	Sales Representative	C	Mar 10	Feb 11 'P'
Lib Arts Fash Mkt	BA	Boston Univ. Bookstore	Mgt. Training	P	Mar 25	Feb 14 'P'
Home Ec, Lib Arts	BS	Morse Shoe INFORMATION SESSION ON FEBRUARY 27	Exec Training Prog		Mar 25	Feb 14 'P'
EnvSci	BS/MS	US Environmental Protection Agency		C	Mar 26	Feb 18 'P'
Turf Mgt, Pl & Soil, A R & E	BS	New England Green	Lawn Specialist	P	Mar 3	Feb 18,19 'O'
HumServ, Educ, Soc, Psych	BA/BS	Community Services West	Program Coordinator		Mar 7	Feb 18,19 'O'
Econ,Food & Res Econ	BBA	First Nat'l Supermkt	Store Mgr Trainee	C	Mar 3	Feb 18,19 'O'
Econ	BS	*John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance	Actuarial Dev. Program MUST HAVE PASSED 1-2 ACTUARIAL EXAMS	P	Mar 4	Feb 18,19 'O'
Econ MUST HAVE PASSED 1	BS ACTUARIAL EXAM	Monarch Life Ins.	Actuarial Trainee-Spfld,MA	P	Mar 4	Feb 18,19 'O'

ANY MAJOR MAY INTERVIEW WITH THESE

BA/BS	Bloomingdale's	Exec Training	P	Feb 21	Feb 3,4 'O'
BA/BS	Lechenere's	Training/Buying & Retail	P	Feb 21	Feb 3,4 'O'
BA/BS	Electronic Data Sys	Systems Engineer Dev.	P	Mar 4	Feb 5 'P'
BA/MBA	Procter & Gamble INFORMATION SESSION @ CC 917 ON FEB. 6; INTERESTED STUDENTS SHOULD ATTEND.	Sales Management	P	Feb 26	Feb 6 'P'
BS/MS	U.S. Navy	Tech & Non-Tech positions	C	Feb 13 Mar 6	Feb 3,4 'O' Feb 5 'P'
BA/BS	Jordan Marsh	Exec Training	C	Mar 6	Feb 5 'P'
BA/BS	Ames Dept. Stores	Mgt Training		Feb 28	Feb 10,11 'O'
BS/MS	U.S. Air Force	Tech & Non-Tech positions	C	Mar 13	Feb 13 'P'
BA/BS	CT Bank & Trust	Mgt Training	P	Mar 4	Feb 18,19 'O'
BA/ES	FIRGs	Coordinators, Writers etc	P	Mar 4,5	Feb 18,19 'O'
BA/BS	U.S. Marines		C	Mar 3,4	Feb 18,19 'O'
BA/ES	Lord & Taylor INFORMATION SESSION ON FEBRUARY 26	Exec Development-NYC	C	Mar 27	Feb 19 'P'

What are polymers? Just about everything

Polymers are all around us, all over us and inside us. They are increasingly used to make what we wear, what we drive and fly in, what we put food in, and just about everything we use in our daily lives.

The term "polymer" -- which encompasses plastics and other synthetic and organic materials - first came into wide use in the 1930s. The volume of polymers in products skyrocketed during the 1940s and '50s, as plastic became known as the wonder substance for lightweight, disposable and imaginatively shaped merchandise. As Dustin Hoffman was told in "The Graduate," they were the wave of the future -- and research has moved away from Tupperware and polyester suits into such applications as automobile parts, controlled-release drug capsules and aerospace technology.

"People who grew up in the '50s, when they think of plastics they think of breakable, disposable things," professor Edwin L. Thomas, head of UMass' polymer science and engineering department, said in a recent interview, as he crushed a plastic beer cup. "But now ..." He brandished a beige plastic car bumper, one of the props he keeps in his office to demonstrate polymers' versatility.

Other researchers also cited auto and airplane parts. Lawrence W. McKenna, one of the first to receive a UMass doctoral degree in polymer science, explained that while plastic itself is more costly than metal, polymer fenders, fuselage skins and engine parts are cheaper to produce than steel ones because "they don't need those huge three-story stamping machines ... and designers and engineers can change designs easily just by playing with the molds the plastic is squirted into."

In addition, polymers are increasingly replacing alloys made with metals such as manganese and cadmium, which are on the United States' "strategic raw materials" list because they are largely imported from East bloc countries or unstable sources such as South Africa.

— IAN POLUMBAUM

BACK TO SCHOOL STAFF NEWS SECTION

Editors Ian Polumbaum, Joel P. Coffidis

Typesetting Kelly Sieger

Production Peter Soderberg, Conor Plunkett, Matkins

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian (USPS permit #68), a Registered Student Organization at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, is published Monday through Friday excluding holidays, exams and vacations periods. Content is determined solely by the Collegian Board of Editors without prior approval from University administrators, faculty or staff. Operations are funded solely by advertising and subscription revenue. Subscriptions and advertising rates are available at 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Mass. 01003, (413) 545-3500. Postmaster: send address changes to the above address.

Collegian photo by Michelle Segall

Edwin L. Thomas, head of the polymer science department, showing the "before" and "after" phases of a plastic soda bottle.

★project

continued from page 1

economy, as Dukakis and Conte have suggested.

"What the state has in mind is ... MIT spawned Route 128," Thomas said, referring to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology computer research that gave rise to high-tech firms along the beltway outside Boston. "They'd like that to happen with something other than computers.

"We're going to get a new building and probably cooperate more closely with industry ... But don't think you're going to have Route 129 built out here."

The head of the University's Center for Economic Development, Samuel N. Seskin, has also downplayed the polymer project's economic value, which he called "principally symbolic." Writing in the Jan. 15 Amherst Bulletin, he stated, "It may mean more jobs in Springfield or Pittsfield [locations of plastics plants run by Monsanto Chemical Co. and General Electric. But its economic value to Amherst is a result of the prestige it accords the University."

Both Seskin and Thomas noted that unlike most of the state's computer industry, large corporations working with polymers — notably GE and Monsanto, both of which have officials on the Centers of Excellence polymer board — are based elsewhere in the country.

CARROLL TRAVEL
15 Cowles Lane, Amherst 256-8931
NEW Manager
NEW Staff
NEW Improved Service
New Low Cost
Fares and Packages
for every destination
Springfield 739-7291 Longmeadow 567-3375
Westfield 562-5401 Greenfield 772-0861

REDDY'S
RESTAURANT
- Specializing in HOME COOKED Breakfasts
- Luncheon Specials
- Dinner Specials
* ALSO FEATURING REDDY'S
GIANT SUBS
314 College St. 253-9521
Monday - Friday 6 am to 7 pm
Saturday 6 am to 6 pm; Closed Sunday
Take Outs Available

KARATE
$19.95
for 4 weeks
Fred Villari's
Studio
253-7349

RENT A WRECK
New & Used Cars
Trucks & Vans Also Available
North Amherst
Rent-A-Wreck
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880

YOUR BSN IS WORTH MORE IN ARMY NURSING.
First, there are the respect and dignity accorded an Army officer. Then there's the opportunity to travel, changing hospitals without losing seniority, as so often happens in civilian hospitals.
And there's the opportunity to add new and different nursing disciplines. To study, continue your education, attending professional conferences, working in a variety of nursing specialties.
If you're working on your BSN or if you already have a BSN and are registered to practice in the United States or Puerto Rico, talk to our Army Nurse Corps Recruiter.
CALL COLLECT: 301-677-5355/4076
ARMY NURSE CORPS. BE ALL YOU CAN BE.

Joe's Paradise
GOURMET FRIED CHICKEN
TRY SOME!
FRIED CHICKEN PALACE
TRY SOMETHING NEW & COMPARE THE VALUE
EVERYDAY GRINDER . $3.50 — 2 PCS. OF CHICKEN, BISCUIT, SLAW OR MACARONI SALAD & FRIES $2.69
SMALL PIZZA ..... $5.00 — 4 PCS. OF CHICKEN, BISCUIT, SLAW OR MACARONI SALAD & FRIES $3.99
LARGE PIZZA ..... $8.00 — 8 PCS. OF CHICKEN, BISCUIT, SLAW OR MACARONI SALAD & FRIES $7.99
Downtown Amherst, 31 Boltwood Walk
(through the alley, next to Taco Villa)
253-7494

GLORIA STEVENS PROMISES EXACTLY WHAT YOU WANT!

You can lose weight. . . have thinner thighs. . . a flatter stomach and have lots of fun!

Our proven program of aerobics, nutrition, weight training and group exercises will give you exactly what you want. . . RESULTS!

STUDENT SPECIAL
3 months $75
— expires 2/28/86

Hampshire Mall
584-0105
M-F 8:30-9
S 9-3
on bus route

Gloria Stevens™
WOW! WHAT A DIFFERENCE.

WINTER CLEARANCE SALE
Chroma
50% Off
Begins Jan. 23

UTOPIA SPAS
Student Special
1 HOUR TUB for ½ HOUR PRICE
an incredible savings
every Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday
Call for reservations 253-SPAS
175 University Drive, Amherst MA
(next to Stadium Liquors in the Price Chopper Mall)

The 6th semi-annual "Everything-you-need-to-make-yourself-feel-at-Home" Sale!

Lamps
desk lamps, wall lamps, table lamps, hanging lamps, bed lamps, pin spots, hi intensity lamps, clamp lamps

Clamp Lamp
Fits almost anywhere!
NOW $9.95

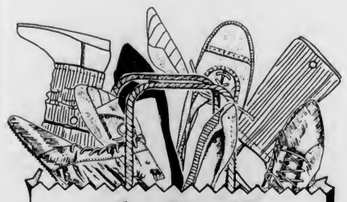
100 Watt Swing Arm
red/black/white/brown/beige
Reg. $18.95
NOW $14.95

Tapestries
Bedspreads
Wall Hangings
Hundreds to choose from!
Save up to $5.00!

Rugs
Cotton Weaves, Straws and Stripes.
Starting at $7.95

Posters & Prints
500 titles to choose from!
travel, sports, scenic, photo, personalities, rock & roll . . .

Bamboo Shades
All sizes for windows or room dividers
Save 20%



Record Crate Kits
Made of all natural wood—two great sizes!
NOW $7.95 and $8.95

Pillow lap desk, beverage glasses, wine glasses, mugs, plastic party cups, plastic waste baskets, alarm clocks, wall clocks, kettles & coffeemakers, picture hangers, wall clips, hooks, dinnerware sets, colorful flatware, wire shelves, organizers, plastic hampers, shower curtains, bath mats, shower caddys, bath fixtures, plates, bowls, placemats, napkins, kitchenware, housewares, luggage, totes, clothing, jewelry, accessories, cards, toys, stationery, watches, pink flamingos, is anybody still reading this?

Sale Ends Feb. 16

Downtown Amherst / Daily 10-6, Sun. 12-5
FACES

FINE YARNS & NEEDLEWORK SUPPLIES
The Creative Needle
ANNOUNCES
MIDWINTER SALE
thru Sunday, February 2nd
20 % - 50% OFF ENTIRE STOCK
(except cotton yarn)
No returns. Sale does not apply to special orders or to merchandise already on sale.
Be sure to register for door prizes.
Come in & see our new & larger location.
the Carriage Shops
233 N. Pleasant St., Amherst, MA
549-6106
Open Mon.-Sat., 9:30-5:30, Sun. 1-5

SALE
up to
60% SAVINGS
on all fall & winter
SHOES & BOOTS
SHOE BIN
187 n. pleasant st. amherst
OPEN SUNDAYS

Collegian photo by Michelle Segall

Sign proclaims Louis Foods' new location, under construction at University Drive and Amity Street.

Amherst Center market close to relocation

A CVS pharmacy will open later this year in the store that Louis Foods currently occupies in downtown Amherst.

Louis Foods is moving to a new building at the corner of University Drive and Amity Street, a decision that has been opposed by senior citizens who live near Amherst Center.

Although there are already two drugstores in downtown Amherst, Gary Charboneau, executive vice president of marketing for Consumer Value Stores, said, "The reason we're opening a store there is that we think there's room in the marketplace for a CVS store."

Charboneau said the company expects to open the store sometime in August or September, after possible renovations to the front of the store. The store will employ between 20 and 25 people, he said.

Louis Foods is moving because "we're just not able to remain where we are, since we don't own the building where we are presently located," owner Richard Vincent said.

The building, at 76 North Pleasant St, belongs to the estate of Louis Pappas, who died earlier this month. Shawmut Bank of Hampshire County has been acting as the executor of the estate.

"We didn't decide to move, we decided we wanted to keep our business going, and we couldn't do that where we are presently located," Vincent said. "You have a supermarket operation that can only afford to pay so much per square foot."

— NANCY KLINGENER

Nursing school is secure for 5 years

By PATRICK JOHNSON
Collegian Staff

The Division of Nursing and the University administration reached an agreement during intersession which secures the future of the nursing program, officials on both sides said.

In a prepared statement, Provost Richard D. O'Brien said, "This agreement marks an end to the uncertainties which have been prevalent here for a good many years about the existence and character of our nursing program."

The agreement, signed Jan.7, elevated the status of the program by setting goals for the next five years which include increasing the number of faculty with doctorates, the amount of faculty research and the student-to-faculty ratio.

Last November the nursing faculty submitted a report to the provost's office, which resulted in the agreement, said Ruth A. Smith, director of the Division of Nursing. "The report stated that it was highly desirable to have a nursing program at this campus," she said.

One of the major concerns about the program was the low student-to-faculty ratio, said Fern Johnson, associate vice chancellor for academic affairs. "On this campus there is one faculty member for every 18 students. The average for other nursing programs is one for every 10," she said.

"We are not expecting our program to be the same as the campus average, but it should be on par with other nursing programs," she said.

In the fall semester of 1985, the program had 195 students, including 40 graduate students. The student-to-faculty ratio for that period was 6.3 to 1, according to the faculty report. Smith said she expects student enrollment to increase within the five-year period.

The nursing program also drew criticism for the low number of faculty with doctorates. Ten of the 23 faculty members, or 43 percent, have doctorates. Smith said that by 1989 that figure wil increase to 75 percent.

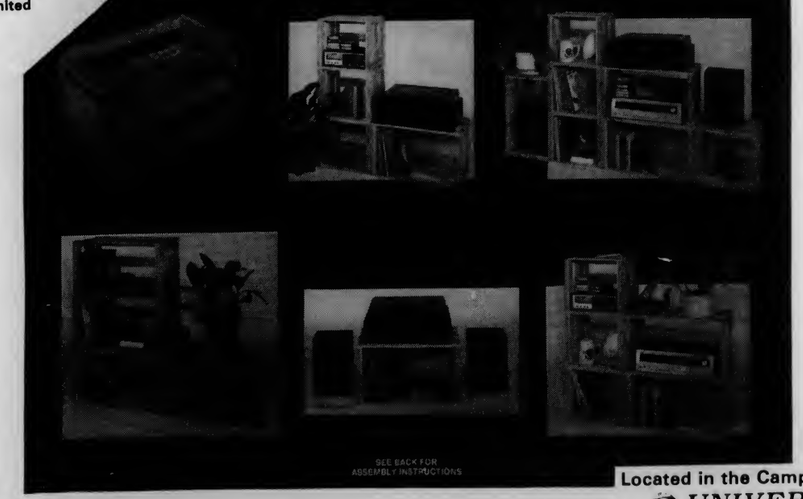
The nursing division also agreed to increase the number of research publications, such as articles, journals and books, prepared by its faculty.

"Faculty members must continuously engage in research. This applies to all members of the faculty," Johnson said.

Game? . . . what game?

You're probably wondering why today's Collegian has no news about the aftermath of the Super Bowl. After all, as you read this it happened two days ago and everyone knows the outcome.

But as we write this, we have no such knowledge. The Back To School Collegian will go/goes/went to press Saturday night, Jan. 25 — Super Bowl Eve, as it were. We tried to push the deadline back, but printers have to watch the game too, you know.



You know the answer by now, but all we can do is wish the Pats luck.

CARROLL COUNTY CRATE KIT

Some Units are Pre-Assembled

On Sale $6.99
Quantities Limited

STACK IT REQUIRED TO

Located in the Campus Center
UNIVERSITY STORE

Open M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3

Special Hours: Tuesday Nite until 9:00

redi-rent

KEEP COOL WHILE YOU CRAM!

Rent a mini-refrigerator — an ideal way to keep drinks & goodies on ice — right in your room! 2 spacious shelves; 2 bottle racks; 2 freezer ice cube trays. Adjustable thermostat.

301 Russell Street Rt. 9
Hadley
Phone 584-9992
just past the Hampshire Mall

redi-rent

BUY 3, GET 1 FREE
During the month of February:
Buy a 3 month Nautilus membership
for $85,
get the 4th month free

AMHERST RACQUET & FITNESS CENTER, INC.
Route 116, Sunderland
(on the Sunderland/Amherst line)
across from Bub's Barbecue
on the bus route 3 miles from UMass

ROYAL CRANE ORIENTAL FOOD MARKET
360 College St., (Rt 9) Amherst
253-5658
Open 10-8 Sat 9-8
with a large variety of
AUTHENTIC ORIENTAL
• Fresh hard to find Produce • Sauces & Spices • Fresh Noodles • Frozen & Canned Goods • Cooking Implements & Supplies • Homemade Take-Out Food • Large Variety of Indian Spices and Foods

MASS. APPROVED INSPECTION STATION
Gas Saving Tune-up
4 Cyl. $34.95
6 Cyl. $39.95
8 Cyl. $44.95
Lube, Oil & Filter
$17.99
Includes up to 5 quarts of 10-30 oil, and safety check.
North Amherst Tire & Auto Center
Full Service Tire Store
78 Sunderland Rd., No. Amherst, Ma.
Across from Warnick's Store
549-4704

Lets Go Bowling
at
Northampton Bowl
525 Pleasant St.
Lanes Availability
Friday 9 am to midnight
Saturday 9 am to midnight
Sunday 9 am to 6 pm
and 8:15 pm to 11 pm
Reservations Available
584-4830

QUALITY

And now we're even better in '86:
* 5,000 square feet of work out space
* large free-weight room
* coed sauna
* Kenpo, Tae Kwon Do, Sport Karate
* low student rate
* nationally known instructors

KARATE
Health Fitness Center
460 West St. (on bus route)
256-0080 Amherst 256-0080

All University Men
Welcome to Spring '86
TTKA

welcome to:
• The largest fraternity on campus
• An exceptional social life
• Greek Area Football, Basketball, Softball, and Track champions
• The fraternity that has raised over $70,000 for the fight against multiple sclerosis

WELCOME TO THE CHALLENGE OF PIKE
Look for our Rush Dates coming this February
545-2150 PIKE TTKA 418 N. Pleasant St.

★Dukakis said to slight academics

continued from page 1

a one-year, $5.1 million supplemental budget reserve, targeted for purchasing equipment in the engineering — $4.5 million — and nursing — $76,000 — programs.

Also included in the supplemental reserve is $615,000 for program improvements.

All told, the University requested an increase of $2.1 million in its main budget and an $18 million allocation for new programs. Dukakis has asked for a $1.5 million increase in the base budget and no funding for new programs such as biotechnology and chemistry.

Dukakis has not requested any funding for Tower Library renovation to be added to the base budget. Rather, he has asked for a $1 million lump sum for the regents, to be used for library and Fine Arts Center repairs.

"We're very pleased at the administration's response to several of our requests, but disappointed that the programmatic parts of the academic requests have been denied," said Provost Richard O'Brien in a prepared statement.

Gerard Indelicato, the governor's academic adviser, said in response to complaints from University officials: "You don't get everything you ask for. What UMass got is what we had."

The governor's request was made public last Wednesday and is now scheduled for revision by the Massachusetts House Ways and Means Committee.

After committee review it will acted on first by the House and then go to the the state Senate for final approval.

Usually final legislative approval comes no earlier than June 1. Customarily, the governor's request to the Legislature is lower than what the Legislature ultimately approves.

In the fiscal 1985 budget, the University requested a base budget allocation of $123.9 million, Dukakis requested $116.9 million and the Legislature approved $119.6 million.

Last year, University officials requested $159.6 million, Dukakis requested 143.9 million and the Legislature approved a $146.2 million base budget.

The governor's request, some have said, represents a setback to the University's five-year plan, announced early last fall, to become the best University in the northeast.

"We're not going to be tops in the northeast with that,"said Murray Schwartz, dean of the faculty of humanities and fine arts. "We need more."

Fern Johnson, associate provost, acknowledged last week that the governor's request means officials will find themselves asking for the same budget items next year.

"It doesn't mean the money we did get is not important," she said. "The money is an excellent boost to the University."

Tacos • Burritos • Nachos
Enchiladas • Burrito Supremos
Tostadas • Quesadillas
Chimichangas • Mexican Pizza
& lots more!. . .
Stop in today. . .

...Offering Quality Mexican Foods

TACO VILLA
NORTHAMPTON 21 CENTER ST 584-0673 Bring Your Own Beer or Wine
AMHERST 41 BOLTWOOD WALK 256-8217 Beer & Wine Served
SPRINGFIELD 749 SUMNER AVE 788-0919 Bring Your Own Beer or Wine

ocean pacific.
Limited Time Only
Ladies' Swimwear
30% Off
Men's Shorts & Swimwear
20% Off
Saturday Clothes
253-9729
Downtown Amherst

C & C LIQUORS
61 Main St., Amherst
Next to Town Hall
FOR FREE DELIVERY OF $20 MINIMUM ORDER. (OFF UMASS CAMPUS)
Dial 253-3091
All Prices In Store Cash Only

Budweiser
Budweiser Light
Coors
Coors Light
Miller Lite
Each Only $11.99 + dep.

Vodka 1.75 Liter $8.25

Bartle & James Wine Cooler $3.25 4 pk.

Sebastiani Burgundy & Chablis $3.75 1.5 Liter

Samuel Adams $5.50 6 pk. + dep.

The fastest-growing profession in America.

According to the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, the need for paralegals is about to double.

Now is the time to become a part of this dynamic profession . . . and there is no finer training available than at Philadelphia's acclaimed Institute for Paralegal Training. After just four months of intensive study, we will find you a job in the city of your choice. We are so confident of the marketability of our graduates that we offer a unique tuition refund plan.

To learn how you can add market value to your college degree, return the coupon or call toll-free: 1-800-222-IPLT.

We'll be on campus 2/10/86
Contact your placement office to arrange for an individual interview or group presentation.

Housing and Financial Aid available
THE INSTITUTE FOR PARALEGAL TRAINING
Approved by the American Bar Association

Mail this coupon to: RUMA
Institute for Paralegal Training
1926 Arch Street
Philadelphia, PA 19103
Please send a copy of your catalogue.
Name
Address
City State Zip
College (yr of grad)
Phone (present) (home)

ATKINS FRUIT BOWL

ATKINS FARMS FRUIT BOWL
CORNER OF RTE. 116 & BAY RD.
SOUTH AMHERST, MA.

A UNIQUE, EXCITING SHOPPING EXPERIENCE in the friendly atmosphere of A COUNTRY FOOD STORE

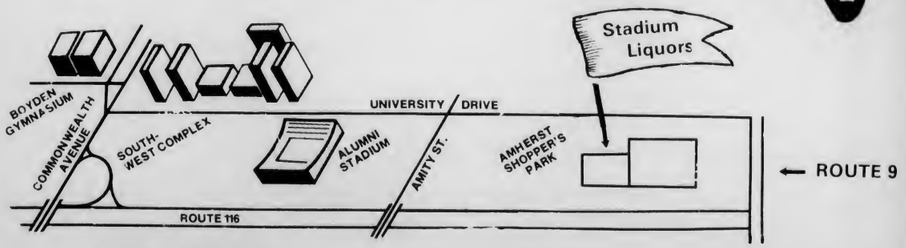
HOME GROWN FRUITS
Crisp-Aire APPLES Now Available
FRESHLY PRESSED SWEET CIDER
No Preservatives.
Quarts 99¢, ½ Gal. $1.35
Gallons $2.50
PARTY PLATTERS

BAKERY:
Everything made and baked at Atkins Bakery: PIES, COOKIES, BREADS, and a full line of Pastries.
CAKES for all Occasions - including BIRTHDAYS - call ahead
RAISED DONUTS - Cider DONUTS
Made fresh every night by experienced donut makers
WHOLESALE ACCOUNTS Welcomed

FRUITS & VEGETABLES
Top-Quality, Fresh Produce
DAIRY, Eggs, Nuts, & Homemade FUDGE!
GREENHOUSE & FLOWERS
Hundreds of plants suitable for dorm rooms or apartments.
FRESH CUT FLOWERS, Bouquets & Flower Arrangements

DELI:
Premium Quality Deli Meats
Bart's ICE CREAM & others
Fresh FRUIT & VEGETABLE SALAD BAR
Specialty COFFEES - Fresh Ground
CHEESE SHOP - Cheeses from all over the world
GIFTS & CANDIES

On Bus Route between Mt. Holyoke & Hampshire
OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK



STADIUM LIQUORS
University Dr.
Amherst

CARLING 12 oz. bottles..... $6.95 + 1.50
MILLER LITE 12 oz. cans..... $10.99 + 1.20
BUD or BUD LIGHT 12 oz. cans.... $11.20 1.20
BUSCH 12 oz. cans..... $8.95 + 1.20
MICHELOB or LIGHT 12 oz. cans..... $11.25 + 1.20
BECK lt or dk..... $3.99 + 30 6 pk
ST PAULI lt or dk..... $3.99 + 30 6 pk
MONTEVINO WINES 1.5 L..... $2.99 or 2/$5.00
CARLO ROSSI 4 L..... $4.99
PETRI WINES 4 L..... $4.99
MASSON 1.5..... $3.99
RIUNITE 1.5..... $3.99
PALO VIEJO RUM 1.75..... $10.99
GILBEY GIN 1.75..... $12.99
C. MORGAN RUM 750 ml..... $6.59
PEACHTREE SCHNAPPS L..... $6.99

Catch Our 10th Anniversary Specials

Kegs ★ Beer ★ Wine ★ Soda ★ Ice

253-5595 175 University Drive

SPORTS

INSIDE

• The men's basketball team has had its ups and downs. Page 3.
• The women's hoop squad tries and survives its injury plague. Page 3.
• The men's swimming team remains undefeated this season. Page 5.

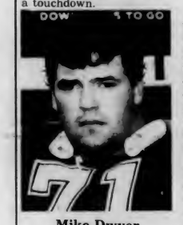
Tuesday, January 28, 1986

BRIEFLY

Banda named top coach

University of Massachusetts women's soccer coach Kalekeni Banda was named national women's soccer coach of the year by the National Soccer Coaches Association of America (NSCAA).

Banda led a young UMass team to a 15-0 regular season record and the nation's top ranking in Division 1. In the NCAA Final Four, the Minutewomen's third in three years, UMass lost to eventual champion George Mason in the first round.



"I feel honored by the award," said Banda. "There were a lot of good coaches up for it. It is a reflection of the team."

Banda was also named New England coach of the year. He also coaches women's indoor and outdoor track at UMass in addition to soccer.

Dwyer an All-American

Mike Dwyer, the University of Massachusetts senior nose guard, has been selected as a member of Division 1-AA's All-America football team.

Dwyer, a 6-2, 265 pounder from Hyannis, had an outstanding season for the 7-4 Minutemen with 90 tackles (21 for a loss), 12.5 sacks, five fumbles caused, four fumbles recovered and an interception returned for a touchdown.

Mike Dwyer

Also a member of the Yankee Conference and ECAC all-star teams, Dwyer was lauded by former UM defensive coordinator and present head coach Jim Reid as "the heart of our defense, and without a doubt, the toughest player we'll have to replace."

UM's freshman punter Dimitri Yavis was selected as a honorable mention All-American with an average of 39.5 yards-per-kick.

Theokas quits Atlantic 10

Charlie Theokas, the commissioner of the Atlantic 10 Conference for the past two years, has resigned to take over as Temple University's athletic director.

Theokas had been in charge of the 10-team league, of which UMass is a founding member, since 1984. The former New Jersey Nets general manager and UMass student replaced Gavin White Jr., who retired.

A-10 director of media relations Kevin MacConnell said that a national search is being conducted for Theokas' replacement and that a new commissioner would not be named until after the current basketball season. Assistant commissioner Ron Bertovich has been named interim commissioner.

Soccer captains selected

Both University of Massachusetts soccer teams have named their captains for the 1986 season.

The UMass men will be led by senior midfielder John Shannon from Medfield and junior sweeper Matt Cushing of Duxbury.

Monica Seta, from Cincinnati, Debbie Belkin, from Needham, and Kristen Bowsher, from Maplewood, N.J. all currently sophomores, were named tri-captains of the women's team.

In other soccer news, sophomore midfielder Andy Bing, UM's leading scorer, was chosen second team all-New England. Bowsher was also honored by being named a second team academic All-American.

Jones leaves hoop team

Ben Jones, a junior forward on the University of Massachusetts basketball team, has left the team due to personal reasons.

Jones, a 6-6 junior college transfer from Albany, GA, was in his first season at UMass. He averaged 3.8 points over six games and left the team just before the Dec. 27-28 Lobo Classic Tournament in Albuquerque, NM. Jones had been the first forward off the UMass bench.

UMass coach Ron Gerlufsen said Jones may be back next season and indicated that his departure was not in any way related to basketball or problems with the team.

— COMPILED FROM STAFF REPORTS

Collegian photo by Michelle Segall

New University of Massachusetts head football coach Jim Reid relaxes in his office last week.

Stull leaves UMass; Reid named coach

UM coach hired by Texas-El Paso

By PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

Jim Reid is finally getting his chance.

Reid, an assistant coach for the University of Massachusetts football team for the past 14 seasons, was named head coach on Jan. 7, replacing Bob Stull, who resigned unexpectedly on New Year's Eve.

Stull, who guided UMass to a 7-4 record in 1985 that broke a string of three losing seasons, took the head coach's position at the University of Texas-El Paso, a Division 1 team that plays in the Western Athletic Conference. That job has a base salary of $80,000 and television and radio revenues that boost it well over $100,000 a year.

Reid, the UMass defensive coordinator since 1978, was named to the head position about a week after Stull resigned. Former Holy Cross and Birmingham Bulls (USFL) assistant Frank Novak was the other finalist for the job.

"It still hasn't sunk in," said Reid, sitting at his desk in front of a bulletin board that held some of the hundreds of letters he received in congratulations. "I've been so busy recruiting high school players that I really haven't had a chance to dwell on what's happened."

Reid, 35, was born in Medford and played college ball at the University of Maine. In 1972, he received the New England Football Writer's Senior Achievement Award for starting at safety despite a serious internal injury before the season.

Named to the UMass staff in 1973 as a graduate assistant under Dick MacPherson, Reid quickly rose to defensive coordinator where he masterminded some of Division 1-AA's best units. UMass led the Yankee Conference in total defense in 1978, '79, '80 and '85. The Minutemen also led the nation in defense in 1980 and were in the top five this season.

A resident of Amherst, Reid told reporters that he would have gone into the business world if UMass hadn't offered him its head job.

"I'm making a statement to people in coaching that you don't have to travel around the nation to eventually become a head coach," said Reid. "If you stay in one place and do the best job you can, somebody will notice you."

Reid also said he didn't feel right about moving his family around when his kids (Molly, Megan and Matthew) and wife (Judy) felt so comfortable in Amherst.

Stull, on the other hand, had little reservations about leaving UMass and heading south. The former University of Washington offensive coordinator came to UMass two years ago and quickly rebuilt the program into a contender on the national level.

Texas El-Paso has not had a winning season since 1967. Under coach Bill Yung, UTEP went 7-38 over the last four years in football-crazy Texas.

Stull, 39, also took three UMass assistant coaches with him, and tried to take others. Defensive line coach Steve Telander, a five year veteran of the staff and UMass graduate; Kevin Faulkner, a two-year member of the staff as outside linebackers coach; and Mike Ward, who spent one year as a graduate assistant coach in charge of tight ends all took Stull's over to go to UTEP.

The University of Richmond, a fellow Yankee Conference school, also saw offensive coordinator Jim Marshall take Stull's job offer.

Reid was also offered a UTEP position as were other members of the UMass staff, but he stayed along with offensive coordinator Mike Dunbar, secondary coach Mike Hodges, running backs coach Bob McConnell, offensive line coach Doug Berry and grad assistant for tight ends, Mike Heslin.

Reid is now conducting a national search to fill his staff with results expected in the next few weeks. The current staff, Reid said, is able to continue recruiting despite

continued on page 2

★Reid

continued from page 1

ing shorthanded.

The new UMass coach has been twice turned down for head coaching jobs. Reid was one of the finalists when Bob Pickett retired two years ago before Stull was hired. This past year, Reid was one of the finalists for the University of Maine-Orono position that eventually went to Buddy Teevens.

The Minutemen defeated Maine this past season, 20-7 in a game the team dedicated to Reid, knowing how badly we wanted the job at his alma mater.

"After what had happened with this job two years ago and then the Maine job, I sort of gave up on the idea of being a head coach," said Reid. "I figured I'd be the best damn assistant coach I could be. Then, Bob (Stull) left and the dream started again."

I almost couldn't believe it when Dr. (David) Bischoff (Dean of the School of Physical Education) called me into his office and told me that the school was offering me the job. I always thought I'd jump-up-and-down, but a feeling of the awesome responsibility I've inherited came over me. I have to direct the lives of 75 young men and a coaching staff."

Reid said he hasn't thought about what kind of football coach he is going to be.

"Some people like to say that a coach will be a Don Shula type or a Lee Corso type. I don't know those guys, I've only seen them on the sidelines. I'm just going to be myself in the context of a head coach."

Reid also said that his enthusiasm for the school hasn't happened by accident.

"God was looking over me when he dropped me in Amherst," he said. "I'm 35-years-old, but I feel like a kid because of these surroundings. I love being with students, I love talking to them and I'll tell you what, I'm going to walk though the dorms and get some interest going in the team, I'd love to see a lot of kids sitting in the stands come game time. This is a great school for a lot of reasons and I'm proud to be here. I couldn't leave here."

On the field, UMass will be a strong team in '86. Last season's second place YC contender will return all but one offensive starter including YC and ECAC rookie-of-the-year Dave Palazzi.

Running backs Al Neri (second team YC) and Ted Barrett are also back along with all-conference lineman Stan Kaczorowski. Receivers John Crowley and Dan Rubinetti are also back.

The questions are on defense. The combination of new coaches and a lack of defensive linemen could spell trouble for UMass.

All-American nose guard Mike Dwyer is gone along with Eddie Sullivan at tackle. The secondary also loses all-New England safety Paul Platek and talented cornerback Duckworth Grange.

"The roles will be reversed this season," said Reid. "The offense will have to carry the defense this season. We have young linemen that will have to grow into their positions. The offense will have to carry us for a little while."

"The only goals I've set so far is to create an atmosphere that will encourage good attitudes among the players.

Reid said that recruiting is going well. A speedy (4.4 speed in the 40) running back is committed along with a host of big linemen.

"I know more than anything that you need the players to be a good coach, or all the experience you have is wasted," said Reid.

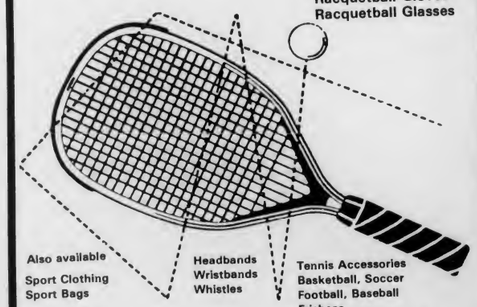
Reid said that he plans on drawing from his experience as an assistant in his new role.

I leaned from Bob Pickett that you need to trust your assistant coaches and delagate responsibility. Dick McPherson taught me to be organized and have certain goals."

In stories about his hiring, Reid's loyalty and persistence were often mentioned, angering the new coach.

"Those things are fine, bit anybody can have those. I was named coach I didn't want those to be factors. I don't back into any job, I walk in with my head held high and my chin out. The thing I want people to understand is that is that number one, they will see players graduate from UMass. We are part of this academic institution, not our own entity. Secondly, I'm a good football coach who can win games. The loyalty and persistence are secondary in my opinion."

Collegian photo by Michelle Segall



Defensive coordinator Jim Reid has been named head football coach at the University of Massachusetts.

Spring '86 Sports

Design and Layout:.....Peter Abraham
Photography:.....Michelle Segall
Production:Peter Soderberg and Conor Plunkett
Sports Staff:.John A. Nolan and Roger Chapman

SPORT EQUIPMENT

Racquetball Racquets
Racquetball Balls
Racquetball Gloves
Racquetball Glasses

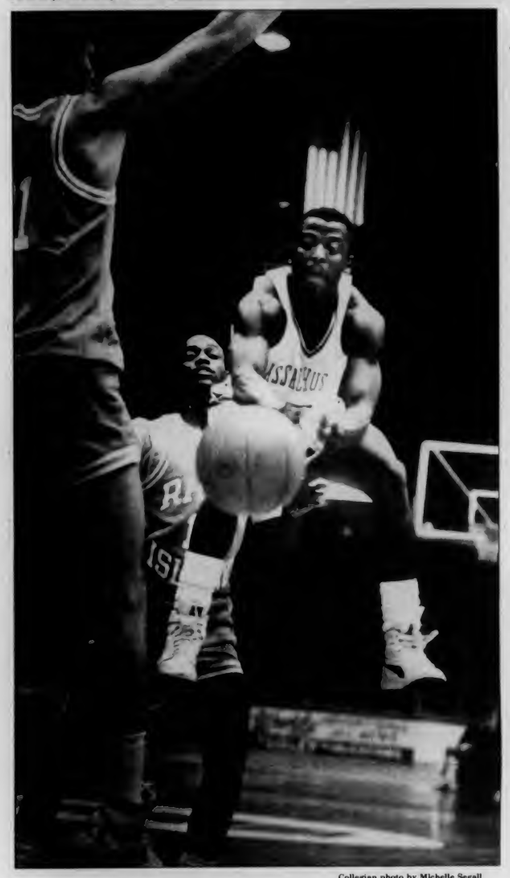
Also available
Sport Clothing
Sport Bags

Headbands
Wristbands
Whistles

Tennis Accessories
Basketball, Soccer
Football, Baseball
Frisbees
Swimming Accessories

Open M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3

Located in the Campus Center



UNIVERSITY STORE

Saturdays
Spectacular Jazz Brunch
10 a.m. - 2 p.m.
Brunch like Plumbley's can have brunch plus Fred Tillis and Jazz Provia
Guaranteed to satisfy any appetite every Saturday

Experience Plumbley's
off the Common
Monday thru Friday
4 p.m. -11:30 p.m.
Saturday Jazz Brunch 10 - 2
Dinner 3 - 10:30
Sunday Brunch 10 - 2
Dinner 3 - 9:30
(kitchen open 'til 9:30 p.m. Sun-Thurs
10:30 Fri & Sat)

Plumbley's
off the common
30 Boltwood Walk • Downtown Amherst
MC, VISA, AMEX accepted • Function facilities available

Collegian photo by Michelle Segall

University of Massachusetts point guard Carl Smith takes off earlier this season against the University of Rhode Island.

Men's basketball

UMass seeking consistency

(Editor's Note: This story includes games up to and including against Duquesne on Jan. 23. The games against West Virginia (Saturday, the 25th) and Holy Cross (Monday the 27th) will be reported on in Wednesday's Collegian. This is due to deadline considerations).

By PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

The 1982-83 college basketball season was not a good one for Duke University. A team that gave five freshman a great deal of playing time went 11-17.

The young players matured however, leading the team to a 24-10 mark and an NCAA tournament appearance. The 1984-85 team was a sparkling 23-8 and again advanced deeply into the NCAA tourney.

This season, the Blue Devils are among the nation's best teams and are a good threat to win the national title. Of those five freshmen that suffered through the 11-17 season, three now start with one, Johnny Dawkins, an All-American guard.

This tale is told to prove one thing to long-suffering fans of the University of Massachusetts basketball team: winning with young players takes time.

The Minutemen were 5-10 at presstime, 3-4 in the Atlantic 10. They have played very well in some games, but have also played poorly in others, as was to be expected because of their youth.

Coach Ron Gerlufsen has started as many as three freshmen a game this season with mixed results. The only consistent player has been sophomore shooting guard Lorenzo Sutton, who has averaged 18.6 points-per-game over 14 contests (21.8 in the A-10, to lead the league). Junior co-captain Carl Smith has been flashy on some occasions, such as his 15 assist night last Thursday against Duquesne, but hasn't scored like Gerlufsen would like (only 8.7 ppg).

The Minutemen started intersession with the Lobo Classic Tournament at the University of New Mexico. The Minutemen continued to struggle in Christmas tourneys and lost both games, a 93-45 blowout by Michigan State and a 74-64 loss to Kent State.

The new year saw UMass defeat George Washington, 78-72 at the Cage before 1,901. Sutton had 26 points in the game. UMass then dropped a tough 64-63 decision at Penn State. Sutton had 29 and copped A-10 player-of-the-week honors. Freshman forward David Brown was conference rookie-of-the-week that same week.

UMass came "home" for its next game, beating Rhode Island at the Springfield Civic Center, 81-75 in overtime. Sutton led UM again, this time with 24 points.

The Minutemen then hit the road, losing to a bad Rutgers team, 63-72 and a very good St. Joseph's squad, 88-74.

Last Thursday, saw UMass beat Duquesne, 69-60 as Sutton poured in 25 and Smith tied a school and conference record with his 15 assists. Freshman forward John Milum had his best game as a Minuteman with 20 points, all from down low or at the line as the 6-9 Iona transfer made his presence felt under the rim.

"It's been tough seeing the mistakes we've made," said Gewrlufsen. "But I see a lot of positive things happening too. We're maturing slowly but surely and I think in the second half of the conference season, you'll see us come around."

Smith and Sutton both agreed that the younger players needed seasoning and the returning players had to have a chance to adjust to their new teammates.

"The new guys are finding out their roles," said Smith, who said personal problems had kept him from being his best, but that a steady girlfriend has settled him down. "We realize what it takes to be a good team and I don't think you'll see us make as many mistakes."

"We have a good team," stressed Sutton. "It's just a matter of playing together and fulfulling our potential."

The team has developed like this sience most UMass students last saw them. The center position is now in the hands of Milum, a sure-handed big man who is the first real low post threat UMass has had in some time. Freshman Sean Mosby (5.9 ppg) slowed after quick start, but still gives quality minutes off the bench.

The forward spots right now see Brown (9.6 ppg) at the smallspot and freshman Joe Fennell (6.5 ppg) at the power position.

continued on page 4

Women's hoop starts fast

. . . but injuries slow UMass down

(Editor's Note: This report includes games up to Jan. 20. Games played after that (Jan. 25th against Rutgers) will be reported on in tomorrow's Collegian. This is due to deadline considerations.)

By ROGER CHAPMAN
Collegian Staff

Injuries. The one tangible that can make or break a promising season and the one thing every coach prays never happens to their team. But for head coach Barbara Stevens and the University of Massachusetts women's basketball team, injuries have played a major role so far this season.

The injury list has claimed sophomore forward Tara Lewis and senior forward Kelly Collins, both with knee injuries, sophomore center Susan Burtoft (back spasms), and senior forward Karen Damminger (concussion).

Burtoft and Damminger are both back in the line-up, and Collins is expected to be able to start practicing within the next two weeks. Lewis will not see her physician until Feb. 3, and could be sidelined for 2-3 weeks. She underwent arthoscopic surgery last week to repair torn cartilage in her right knee.

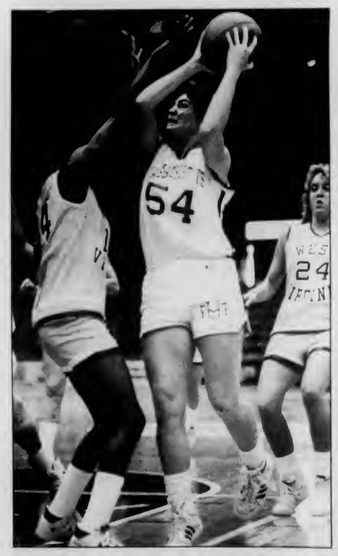
But while the injury list has contributed to the Minutewomen's rollercoaster (8-9 overall after a 5-2 start and 2-5 in the Atlantic 10) season, Stevens will be the first to admit that injuries aren't the only problem.

"Needless to say, the injuries are affecting us right now," Stevens said. "When any of our front line is injured it hurts us because we are not a big team to begin with. We're going to have to get a lot of help from our outside scorers."

"We are capable of very good play, but with the exception of the Penn State game (at the Cage), we really haven't shown a consistent performance," Stevens said.

After dropping their season opener to the University of Maine, UMass reeled off four straight victories and were 5-2 before the intersession break. Since then, the Minutewomen have gone 3-7 with inconsistent performances and are currently occupying the seventh spot in the A-10. The Minutewomen defeated the University of Connecticut, 67-55, but lost to LaSalle University, 67-61, and Northeastern University, 65-56, in the LaSalle Holiday Tournament.

UMass then dropped a tough game to 16th-ranked Penn State, 69-66 at the Cage before squeaking by Rhode Island, 61-59. The last UMass win came against Duquesne University, 76-64, before the Minutewomen lost four straight, 67-61 to West Virginia, 78-56 at Temple, 77-65 at St. Joseph's, and 86-62 at Penn St.



"We have good halves and we have good spurts in some halves, but for whatever reason we tend to disappear, and that hurts us," Stevens said. "We can't predict what we are going to be like from game to game, which I think is the most frightening part of it."

UMass is led by senior guard Barbara Hebel, averaging 11.7 points per game, senior Juanita Matthews with 10.4 ppg. and senior Karen Damminger with 10 ppg. Burtoft leads the Minutewomen in rebounds grabbing 8.1 boards per-game and freshman point guard Christel Zullo leads the team in assists, dishing out 4.9 a game.

As of January 20, Hebel was 10th in scoring in the conference, Burtoft fifth in rebounds and Zullo fourth in assists.

The road ahead doesn't get any smoother for UMass. The Minutewomen go on the road against Rutgers University on Saturday and entertain St. Josephs University on February 8. They face Harvard University on the road tonight. However, Stevens maintains a positive outlook on the Minutewomen's march to the conference tournament in March.

"On the positive side our staistics have improved from last year on a tougher schedule because of the double round-robin play," Stevens said. "We just have to strive for consistency."

Collegian photo by Michelle Segall

Senior Barbara Hebel (54) drives to the hoop against West Virginia. The women are at Harvard tonight.

Ryan to transfer out of UM

Matt Ryan, a 6-5 sophomore swingman from Long Island, has transfered from the University of Massachusetts to Division 2 C.W. Post.

Ryan, a highly-touted recruit a year ago, played in 11 games this season, averaging only a point as he saw decreasing minutes as the season progressed, unable to make the transition from high school forward to college perimeter player.

An all-state player out of Millers Place High, Ryan averaged 2.1 points in 22 games last season. He left the team prior to last Thursday's game against Duquesne.

★men's hoop

continued from page 3

Brown is a smooth player that has settled in well. He can pass, shoot and play defense. Fennell is a streaky player, capable of keeping both teams in a game at once. He sat out all but four minutes of the second half against Dequesne in favor of Duane Chase.

Chase, the most talented Minuteman, is averaging 6.7 points and four rebounds, but has been troubled by his inability to put big numbers on the board like he did in high school last year.

He bolted from the team for one game, missing the URI game, but returned and has played well, scoring 15 at St. Joseph's. He is a solid player who, in time, will realize his great potential.

The backcourt belongs to Smith and Sutton. They average over 34 minutes a game each and are the steadying influence on the team. Newly-elected co-captains Jackie Sheehan has played a little in relief of Smith along with flashy but erratic Mike Mundy (3.3 ppg), but Smith and Sutton play every quality minute.

UMass plays at George Washington on Thursday and at Temple on Saturday. They return home Feb. 10 against Penn State.

Intersession results

at Northeastern, 77-78
Michigan State, at Lobo Classic, 45-93
Kent State, at Lobo Classic, 64-74
George Washington, 78-72
at Penn State, 63-64
Rhode Island, at Springfield, 81-75 (OT) at Rutgers, 63-72
at St. Josephs's, 74-88
Duquesne, at Springfield, 69-60

"I like your hair!"

Head back to class in style!

HAIR EAST

HAIR DESIGN FOR MEN & WOMEN

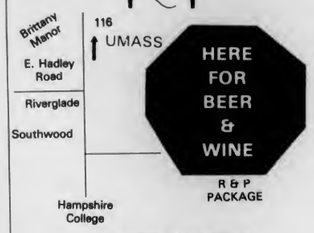
We've expanded! Come see our new addition, and try INDOOR TANNING First Visit FREE

103 N. Pleasant, Amherst 256-0438

Stewarts

HAIRCUTS $8.50 with this coupon CALL STYLES BY DEBORAH 65 University Dr., Amherst, MA. 549-5610 C expires 2/14/86

The Whately Inn — Quality Food To Order Prepared — Chestnut Plain Rd. Whately 1 mi. 2041



Featuring Steve Kloc's Famous Broiled LIVE LOBSTER
Also Serving Louisiana Cajun Entrees
Also Steaks, Prime Rib, Seafood

DIRECTIONS: take 1-8 north to South Deerfield, south on route 5-10 1¼ miles. Right on Christian Lane ½ mile from center of town.
Open: Mon-Sat 5-10 pm Sun 1-9

SEE OUR SALE AD IN THE NEWS SECTION

FACES Downtown Amherst

BEER R+P WINE

Your Closest Package Store
2 miles south of Amherst on Rt. 116
South Amherst Plaza - next to Dairy Mart
253-9742
3 minutes from Brittany Manor, Riverglade and Hampshire

Whole Wheat and Reg. Pizza
Your Choice of Toppings

- Pepperoni
- Hamburg
- Ham
- Sausage
- Green Pepper
- Onion
- Mushroom
- Anchovie
- Fresh Garlic
- Fresh Broccoli
- Fresh Spinach
- Walnut
- Black Olive
- Egg Plant
- Pineapple
- Fresh Tomato

FAST FREE DELIVERY

- Brittany Manor
- Riverglade
- Southwood
- Amherst College
- Hampshire College

sorry we don't deliver to UMass because of the distance.

Drivers Wanted

EL GRECO PIZZA

460 WEST ST. SOUTH AMHERST 256-1342/253-9239

El Greco $1.25 Off any Large Whole Wheat Pizza limit 1 coupon per pizza
El Greco $1.25 Off any Large Whole Wheat Pizza limit 1 coupon per pizza
El Greco 75¢ Off Any Small Whole Wheat Pizza limit 1 coupon per pizza
El Greco 75¢ Off Any Small Whole Wheat Pizza limit 1 coupon per pizza

NEW SCHOOL SILHOUETTE

Whitman & Whitman HAIR DESIGN
Northampton, MA 56 Maplewood Shops - (413) 586-7506
Brattleboro, VT Main St., Gallery - (802) 257-4349

Men's Swimming

Undefeated UM rolls towards NE meet

By PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

Russ Yarworth is loving life.

The coach of the University of Massachusetts men's swim team, Yarworth swam for the Minutemen (setting several school records in the process) as a student before taking over as coach. He was the New England coach of the year last season, but still had yet to accomplish his ultimate goal - a New England title.

Yarworth edged close to that goal during the intersession as his Minutemen continued their undefeated ways, running their record to 7-0 with a series of easy victories.

The men, who swam against Rhode Island on Saturday in Kingston (for results, see tomorrow's Collegian) defeated Northeastern, 75-38; Amherst 79-34; and rival Williams College, 68-45. Led by two of the best swimmers in New England in Drew Donovan and John Turner, UMass is the odds-on favorite to win the regional title meet (Feb. 29-Mar. 2 at Springfield College).

"It's been just great, we've done everything I thought we could," said Yarworth. "Drew and John get the publicity, but we've had great efforts by our entire team. We've stayed intense and trained hard. I really can't wait for the New Englands."

Williams is touted as UMass' chief rivals for the NE crown. The Ephmen fell in the dual meet against UMass, but according to Yarworth, that's meaningless as depth will win the NE title.

"I expect Drew to win three freestyles and for John to take at least two events, but we need the other guys to score a lot of points with seconds, third, fourths, or whatever. That's the key to the meet."

Donavan, a senior who transfered from Iowa last season, is undefeated this season. He has dominated the freestyle events from the 50 on up to the 1,000. He set the school record in the 50 with a 21.43 and will be looking to qualify for the nationals in the 100, 200 and 500.

Turner, a junior transfer from Kentucky, has been beaten only once. He swims in the 200 backstroke and individual medley as well as the lead leg in the medley relay, where he has been undefeated.

He set a school record in the back with a 1:57.01 and is ranked first in New England.

"Once he got over his shoulder trouble, Turner has been fantastic. Both he and Drew work very hard in practice and don't let up at all. They're great swimmers."

But, Yarworth was quick to point out the efforts of the rest of his team.

"These guys have turned in some great times and been leaders in their own right," said the coach.

Ed Burton (freestyles, back, butterfly), Jim Kuhns (sprints), Jim Flannery (free), Mike Hoover (200 breaststroke), Fred Marius, Pat Mullin (diving), Marc Surrette, Rick Bishop, Paul McDonough and Mark "Muddy" Waters have provided UMass with talented depth and scoring ability.

The Minutemen have their lone home meet of the second semester on Wednesday, facing the University of Connecticut at Boyden Pool at 7 p.m.

"We'd like to get a good crowd of students out there," said Yarworth. "It would be nice to have people see what we've accomplished. This is a hell of a team, we deserve a little recognition."

Women's Swimming

Minutewomen much-improved in '86

By PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

Last season, the University of Massachusetts women's swim team wasn't much of a team.

Liz Feinberg, the New England 200 freestyle champion, would win two freestyle events, maybe lead a relay to victory, but the Minutewomen would score few other points and as a result suffered through a 3-9 season and an eighth place finish in the New Englands.

This season, with Fienberg a distant memory after her graduation, UMass coach Bob Newcomb was forced to build a true team, which he has as the Minutewomen are 4-4 and talking about a top five finish in the regional championships.

The highlight of UM's intersession was a 79-61 defeat of Williams College. Williams beat UMass, 90-50 last season.

"That proved what kind of team we've become," said Newcomb. "We're much more balanced this season, a lot of girls are contributing to winning meets."

Three school records have also fallen. Junior co-captain Allison Uzzo broke Feinberg's mark in the 500 freestyle, sophomore Julie Wilkins turned a 2:17.91 to shatter the 200 backstroke record while freshman Regina Jungbluth broke the standard in the 200 breaststroke.

Other good efforts have been turned in by Kelley and Kris Henson. Kris, a sophomore, broke 11 minutes in the 1,000 while sister Kelley joined the team in January from Clark University and has added considerable depth.

"We'll have the largest group at the New Englands this season," said Newcomb. "I think we'll score a lot of points."

The team faced Northeastern on Saturday (see tommorrow's Collegian for details) and will swim at Rhode Island on Friday night.

"I'm pretty optimistic," said Newcomb. "I know I'm liking what I see this season after what happened last year.'

Sports Information photo

Allison Uzzo recaptured the school record in the 500 freestyle. The women's swim team is 4-4 this season.

THE SPOKE
A Drinkery to Meet, Relax and Enjoy

The Spoke
Welcomes You Back
come in for our weekly drink specials and monthly imported beer specials
35 EAST PLEASANT, AMHERST, MA 01002

WELCOME STUDENTS!!!
You are just in time for our Fall and Winter Clearance Sale
Going On Now
All Men's & Women's Fall Shoes & Boots
10 - 50% OFF
All Handbags 20% OFF
All Athletic Footwear 20% OFF
A Sale You Won't Want to Miss!
BOLLES SHOES
8 Main St., Amherst 253-5598

UNIVERSITY STORE

There's no need to hurry. Our convenient locations allow you to shop early or late for your Back To School needs.

Store Hours the Week of 1/27-1/31

Main Store — Located in the Campus Center: Mon & Tue 9 am - 9 pm; Wed, Thurs, Fri 9 am - 5 pm; Sat 10 am - 3 pm

Mini Store — Located in the Student Union Bldg.: Mon - Fri 7:30 am to 10 pm; Sat - Sun 8:00 am to 10 pm

Hampden and Worcester
Munchys: Mon - Sun 8 am - 9 pm

Franklin Munchy: Mon - Sun 7:30 am - 9 pm

Textbook Annex — Located in the Physical Plant Building: Mon 9 am - 5 pm; Tue, Wed, Thurs 9 am - 9 pm; Friday 9 am - 5 pm; Sat 10 am - 3 pm

JBs UBs
HOT ROAST BEEF SANDWICHES
11 am - 2 am 7 days
50 Main St. Amherst, MA
253-7018

Buy A Big One
Get a Reg. Roast Beef
FREE!!
All coupons subject to rules posted in the store.

CAMPUS TRAVEL CENTER
Ready to meet your Spring Break travel needs
Stop in to see us soon!!!
Campus Center (2nd floor)
University of Massachusetts - Amherst
545-0500

OTHER ADS TELL YOU HOW CHEAP THEIR BRAKE JOBS ARE. BUT NO ONE CAN TELL YOU THEY'RE BETTER THAN MIDAS.

At Midas, instead of trying to lure our customers with an unbelievably low price, we satisfy them with a brake job they can trust.

A repair that's based on a free inspection that includes pulling all four of your wheels.

Because no one can tell how much your brake job will cost until he thoroughly inspects your brakes.

And we'll give you a free written estimate before the work is done.

After fixing your brakes, we back our work with a nationwide guarantee on brake shoes and pads.

If they should ever wear out, Midas will replace them free at over 1400 locations for as long as you own your car.

If you need a new brake job, compare us with all the other ads in this paper.

But the harder you look, the more you'll find that no one compares with Midas.

TRUST THE MIDAS TOUCH.

MIDAS

$59.95 BRAKE JOB PER AXLE (ON MOST CARS)

*Includes new brake shoes or organic disc pads, resurfacing drums or rotors, inspect hydraulic system and add necessary fluid, replace front grease seals and road test.

NOTE: IT IS LIKELY THAT ONE OR MORE OF THE FOLLOWING PARTS WILL BE NEEDED TO RESTORE YOUR BRAKES TO THEIR PROPER OPERATING CONDITION, WHICH ARE NOT INCLUDED IN THIS PRICE: NEW OR REBUILT CALIPERS, WHEEL CYLINDERS, METALLIC PADS, DRUMS AND ROTORS, SPRINGS, HOSES, BEARINGS, AND PARKING BRAKE CABLE. NO ONE CAN TELL HOW MUCH IT WILL COST TO REPAIR YOUR BRAKE SYSTEM WITHOUT THOROUGHLY EXAMINING IT.

GUARANTEE: MIDAS BRAKE SHOES AND DISC BRAKE PADS ARE WARRANTED FOR AS LONG AS YOU OWN YOUR CAR. IF THEY EVER WEAR OUT, NEW MIDAS BRAKE SHOES OR PADS WILL BE INSTALLED WITHOUT CHARGE FOR THE SHOES OR PADS OR THE LABOR TO INSTALL THEM. YOU WILL BE CHARGED FOR ADDITIONAL PARTS AND LABOR REQUIRED TO RESTORE THE BRAKE SYSTEM TO ITS PROPER OPERATION.

397 Russell Street, Route 9
Hadley, MA
(413) 586-9991

(King St. Store temporarily closed)

Hours:
Mon-Fri 8 am to 5:30 pm
Sat 8 am to 4 pm

"3 CHEERS FOR THE RED, GRAY & BLUE"

And for the now famous Reverse Weave® sweat line from Champion. We stock the above colors in heavyweight hoods, crews and elastic top, drawstring pants that are ready for a no nonsense workout or for just plain cozy cotton warmth. Remember, it takes a little more to be a Champion.

House of Walsh
32 Main St., Amherst 253-3361 Mon.-Sat. 9-5:30

Pioneer the future.
Join us in creating the next generation of technological wonders. Our representatives will be on campus to discuss job oportunities for engineers and scientists.

Proof of U.S. citizenship required. Equal opportunity employer.

On Campus Interviews:
FEBRUARY 4
See your Placement Office for complete details.

Creativity America depends on.
HUGHES
CORPORATE COLLEGE RELATIONS

Gymnastics and track

UMass teams ready for second semester

The University of Massachusetts track and gymnastics teams had successful intersessions and are awaiting important meets upcoming this semester.

Coach Ken O'Brien's men's track team started training Jan. 7 and attended two non-scoring meets where they had several solid individual performances.

At the BU relays, Craig Moburg won the 800 in 1:56.5 with Ted White second at 1:56.6. The Yale Invitationals saw Paul Stanislawzyk take third in the 5,000 with a 14:35.6.

The women's team had great efforts from several individuals as Kalekeni Banda's Minutewomen impressed many in New England track circle.

Freshman Pam Hughes took first in the 55 at the BC Holiday Classic with a 7.0. She was also first in the long jump at the BU Invites on Jan. 4 with a 17-9. At a BU meet on the 11th, she jumped 19-1 3/4 for first as UMass swept the event with Kari Fleischman and Joyce Baten going 2-3.

Baten won the hurdles in that meet with a 8.0 while Chris Baten was second in the high jump witha leap of 5-2. Sue Goldstein was second in the 800 at 2:21.6. The 4 x 440 relay won with a 3:59.76.

"We've done very well," said Banda. "I expect big things during the second semester."

The men's gymnastics team, under the direction of Roy Johnson, won their opening two meets but lost their third in a tight duel with the Naval Academy. Sophomore Roberto Weil has led the Minutemen with a good all-around effort.

The women's gymnastics team, led by coach Chuck Shiebler, was 1-1 in the early going, beating Connecticut before losing to Northeastern.

The women face Yale on Wednesday at home at 7 p.m.

Griswold makes junior team

Lisa Griswold, a junior forward on the University of Massachusetts field hockey team, has been named to the nation's junior nation team.

Griswold, a sports management major from Simsbury, Conn., joins senior Megan Donnelly on a national team. Donelly, an All-American defensemen, is a member of the US National Team.

Griswold transfered to UMass from Northwestern University. She was one of the leading scorers on Pam Hixon's nationally-ranked field hockey team and will play lacrosse this spring for Hixon.

Sports Staff:

Attention Sports Staff: There will be a mandatory meeting for all sports staff members on Thursday, January 30 at 4 p.m. in the newsroom.

Anyone interested in joining the sports staff should also attend this important meeting. Spring beats will be discussed.

Carmelina's at the Commons
The finest in Italian Gourmet Cuisine
* featuring *
- Fettucine Alfredo -
- Stuffed Mussels -
- Four Cheese Rigatoni -
- Beef Fillets in Devil's Sauce -
- Chicken Cardinal -
- Chicken Lorenzo -
- Veal Francaise -
-Veal Saltinbocca -
- Shrimp Primavera -
- Scallops in Garlic Oil -
96 Russell Street
Route 9
Hadley, MA 01035
(413) 584-8000

NORTHAMPTON NAUTILUS
Men-Women
216 N. King St. Northampton
Open 7 Days 584-4975
$30 A MONTH
or call for special student prices
- 24 Nautilus machines
- Olympic free weights
- Aerobics classes
- Mohawk exercise bikes
- Concept II rowing machines
- Full lockerroom shower & towel privledges
- Co-ed whirlpool
CALL FOR FREE TRIAL WORKOUT

Tenth Annual Valentine's Celebration
storewide sale
10%-50% off
all merchandise
(sale runs Feb. 1-14th discounts apply to cash or check sales) silverscape designs
264 N. Pleasant St., Amh. 253-3324
3 Pleasant St., Nhampton 584-3324
GOLDSMITHS • GEM GALLERY

DELANO'S
Welcome Back.
We missed you!
Check out February's Beer of the Month
Proper I.D. a must
57 N. Pleasant St., Amherst

This Winter We've Got It All In BOTH STORES!

Amherst Carriage Shops • Northampton (Next to Iron Horse)

POSTERS Huge Selection ★ BAMBOO BLINDS

BEDSPREADS (Cover Walls Furn Windows) ★ Paper LAMPSHADES (Variety of Colors)

RUGS & MATS (Colorful Durable) Greatly Expanded ★ CARDS (Over 1400 Designs)

SKIRTS & BLOUSES (Comfortable Cotton) ★ Brass & Silver JEWELRY (earrings rings etc.)

WINTER SALE

20 - 50% off

selected Clothing, Chinese Shoes Tapestries & Rugs

Great Gifts... Great Prices

Open Sun

THE MERCANTILE

Daily & Sat 10-6 • Sunday 12-5

Amherst 549-1396 Northampton 584-1205

Spring Semester JOBS TOMORROW

Wednesday, January 29

A representative from Stratton Resort will be on campus to interview students for temporary, part time work between Feb. 1st - Feb. 23

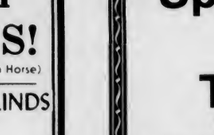
We're paying $4.00 per hour, providing free transportation daily, and free skiing tickets for everyone who works for us during this period. Interviews will be held in the Campus Center, Room 802, between 9 am - 4:30 pm.

Stratton has jobs in the food and beverage, housekeeping, parking and customer service departments.

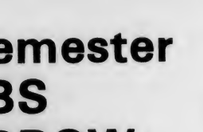
Stratton Corp. is an Equal Opportunity Employer

CALCULATOR CENTER

Basic Business Scientific



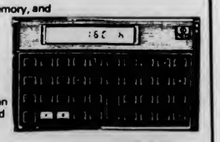
PRICE BREAK!



HP11C $67.00 org. List $75.00

HP-11c

Dedicated scientific functions for quick answers to computations
Easy-to-learn programming with up to 203 program lines
Handy program editing tools
Continuous Memory saves your programs and data
HP-11C Slim-line Programmable Scientific



HP - 12C $99.00 org list 120.00

HP 15C $99.00 org list 120.00

Let the Hewlett-Packard HP-15C with its powerful functions and advanced programmability eliminate your most tedious calculations.
Matrix operations
Complex functions
Solve and Integrate
448 program lines
Insert/delete editing
RPN logic, Continuous Memory, and liquid-crystal display

HP 16C $99.00 org list 120.00

See how the Hewlett-Packard HP-16C can save you time with its built-in functions and advanced programmability
Binary, octal, decimal, hexadecimal conversions and operations
Boolean AND, OR, NOT, XOR
203 program lines or 101 16-bit data registers
Sets word size, 1's and 2's complement, unsigned modes
Floating-point decimal mode
RPN logic, Continuous Memory, and liquid-crystal display

Other HP Calculators available at comparable savings

Store Hours:
M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3

Located in the Campus Center

UNIVERSITY STORE

CLS

COLLEGIAN LITERARY SUPPLEMENT

TUESDAY, JANUARY 28, 1986

Ransom fails to kidnap us

Ransom
by Jay McInerney
Vintage/ Randsom House, 1985 177pp
$5.95 paper

By MARY CRESSE
Collegian Staff

Since its debut in September, critics haven't made up their minds about Jay McInerney's new book, Ransom — it's a tour de force, they say, or it's middling, or it's a great step down from his bombastic first novel success, Bright Lights, Big City.

Paradoxically, all of these things are in some way true. Readers expecting another Bright Lights will be disappointed, yet Ransom has a cohesiveness not found in the first book. But if Bright Lights is the penultimate loss-of-innocence first novel, Ransom is a very typical second novel — young adult mourning youth, acting as escapist in a conformist world.

The plot is this: dazed by a drug-affected, violent world tour, embittered by a poor relationship with his success-obsessed father, and disillusioned by the trappings of contemporary American culture, Christopher Ransom finds himself in Kyoto, Japan. By day he teaches English to Japanese businessmen; by night he practices karate, hoping to gain through physical discipline an inner peace.

Ransom hangs out at a blues bar where he meets other expatriates,among them a Vietnam vet who takes an instant dislike to him and a strikingly pretty, puzzling woman who later in the book figures in a plot to get Ransom to return home. Bar owner Miles Ryder is Ransom's best friend and clearly the most conspicuous American in Kyoto: He sells Western wear and with it, western culture to the Japanese. While Miles is flaunting his nationality, Ransom is trying desperately to assimilate himself in the society that is always reminding him of his gaijan (outsider) status. Example: even though he is of black belt ability, his dojo sensei (teacher) refuses to give him the band of black. Ransom's growing sense of angst is worsened by his concurrent inclusion in and exclusion from Japanese society.

Ransom is McInerney's second book in the Vintage Contemporary series including books by such writers as Thomas McGuane, Paule Marshall, Peter Matthiessen and Charles Portis. It's unique because it is the first literary compendium to emerge in a while that recognizes the need for both salient and affordable fiction.

Back to Ransom the Book and McInerney the Personality, who is being touted as the next J.D. Salinger. While his writing is good — he's a good stylist, has quick, tight pace, and is subtle when he should be and witty when he shouldn't — I seriously doubt that McInerney is the voice of our generation; in this age of nuclear paranoia and depression, Sylvia Plath is closer. Anyway, you won't be wasting your money if you buy Ransom. While the plot can often wax mundane, the setting of Japan is a welcome twist, as is the ending.

It's Jay McInerney the Personality I have trouble with,for I think he's touted not so much for his writing ability as for his presence in the *lit*erally famished publishing industry •plete with cookbooks or biographies of people we don't care about. McInerney is the first undull new face on the scene. The Personality wouldn't be so annoying if we didn't know that the once-struggling McInerney just bought a condo in the increasingly-chic East Village, or that he's suddenly become the Golden Boy of Conde Nast — writing for Mademoiselle, appearing in the Vanity Fair party shots sipping champagne with George Plimpton; or that he's moved upstate, away from the city that in Bright Lights sustained the protagonist in and toward personal growth. I suppose This Is Life. I just get this funny feeling I'll turn on the television and find McInerney whipping up a casserole with Merv. Ostensibly, this doesn't have much to do with Ransom, but then again, it may.

It seems Ransom will remain significant not so much for the writing that it is, but as representative of the start of a trend of almost neo-minimalist, terse fiction. And I don't know whether that trend is good, especially for a young audience.

Religion as Critique or critique of religion?

Religion as Critique
by Robert Ackermann
University of Massachusetts Press 171 pp. $8.95 paper

By PHIL COX
Special to the Collegian

Moral commitments notwithstanding, it's always tempting to make one's peace with one's enemies, particularly such enemies as may be increasing in power. This cultural (and only derivatively intellectual) phenomenon is nowhere more apparent than among academics, of whatever political stripe. Liberal theologians in the 1950s and '60s, for instance, understandably threatened by the encroachments of Marxism (or at least its banner) as a political force in Europe and as an increasingly articulate and available voice within the academy, met this danger by seeking to its bedfellow, in the overbite of a Marxism-Christianity synthesis. Similarly, one finds something of a movement afoot among Marxist-feminists or socialist-feminists to temper what many of them now think to be overreaching and destructively negative critiques by an earlier left of the institution of marriage -- this temperance movement being all the more earnest but the less surprising in the face of the stubbornness with which the institution and its appeal survive. In the '70 and '80s we have witnessed the revival of several noxious strains of Christian fundamentalism, partnered with political power in the southern and midwestern United States. Obscene circuses of fear in their tele-sexually frenetic denouncement of anything sexual, employing of a 19th-century vocabulary, they strive to make enrichment of the few a civic virtue. Ronald Reagan, foremost among them, simultaneously rides and makes up part of this backwater wave. It is in the face of the re-risen religious ultra-right in the US (along with their civic-religious belly-to-the-trough collaborators), then, that Professor Robert Ackermann in his latest offering, Religion as Critique, is driven to detoxify what the left (and, yes, even liberals) used to consider rather consider rather thoroughly opiated, or at the least to dust off an emancipatory promise presumed to be lurking somewhere in the historical shadows, otherwise obscured in our narcotic haze.

The one Freudian insight canvassed by Ackermann is the incompatibility of the self with the social structure. This is supposed to bring Marxism to the mat, while leaving Christianity without even a bloody nose?

Professor Ackermann begins his missive with a refreshing admission of his "exasperation at the sheer dullness of the philosophy of religion." This dullness is a reflection of the fact that most contemporary approaches to philosophy of religion (primary among them those loosely grouped within the "American analytic tradition") never escape from a scholasticism of the worst kind. These approaches insist the core of religion is to be found in the hierarchy of official theological doctrine (i.e., the constant ferreting out of invalidities within imagined syllogisms, the endless clarification or reformulation of otherwise indistinct or poorly-formed premises, etc.), and will have nothing to do with a particular religion's real (social) history. In Ackermann's words, "To examine the logical structure of textual arguments is to miss everything that has made religion alive to people in the past."(page ix). I would grant these claims of Ackermann hands down, as indeed it is hard to imagine any genuine philosophical issues in the twentieth century to which "logical analysis" has made a lasting contribution. After such a grinning and welcome dismissal of an analytic philosophy of religion's sacred cows, we them move on to Ackermann's primary aim in the book: To demonstrate the senses in which religious belief systems can be "alive in providing a source of critical ideas for evaluating surrounding society."(page ix)

As a short piece of mildly revisionist social history--with its bearings set on philosophy--Religion as Critique succeeds admirably well. There should be no question about the fact, then, that somewhere within the history of most major religions, there existed doxa, the precursor of official doctrine and orthodoxy, which historically served socially critical functions. The Buddha-inspired criticism of the Hindu-sanctioned caste system in the sixth century B.C., the embracing of Christianity among first and second century resisters of the Roman occupation, the refuge provided for twentieth century Soviet libertarians by Eastern Orthodox Christianity, etc., all easily come to mind, and are usefully employed by the author to illustrate this historical point. Ackermann, however, wants more mileage out of these features; in his words, "What will be argued here by an assemblage of reminders is that the major religions always retain the potential of developing pungent social critique, no matter how accomodating a form they have assumed in particular institutional contexts." (page 1). Here is where the real trouble begins. It will be instructive to take a closer look at some of these reminders to see how well Ackermann makes good on this promise latent, though always present, in religion.

First, however, a word about Ackermann's initial assumptions. As noted above, Ackermann's dismissal of logical analysis in the philosophy of religion as dull, fruitless, and completely beside the point is entirely justified. Ackermann, however, goes on to claim, in essence, and many times over in the book, that considerations of rationality and coherence have nothing to do with obtaining a critical understanding of the nature of religious belief. As we will see shortly, this approach rests on Ackermann's claim that it is precisely an irrationali ty and incoherence-- at least on the level of formal doctrine and textual precedent-- that give religious sentiment its primary virtue -- namely, its chameleonic adaptability (some may say invertibility) to constantly changing or completely different social, political, or economic conditions. More of that in a moment. But suffice it to say that it would come as something of a surprise to believers of whatever sort and degree that cognitive dissonance has never been a problem, and in fact exists only as a hallucination of Minervans. I think it really does trouble thinking Catholics to accomodate Papal Infallibility with the manifestly contradictory encyclicals published by pairs of Popes throughout the history of the Church, as well it should. Similarly, at least some Protestants claiming allegiance to a simultaneously omniscient, omnipotent, and benevolent deity genuinely have trouble either in explaining the existence of some kinds of evil or in convincing themselves there can be no world better than this one, Turing tape loops or no. Furthermore, I don't think these sorts of doubts are merely the result of lay believers who, listening to analytic philosophers or scholasticized

continued on page 3

Sci-fi author's powerful debut

Spinneret
by Timothy Zahn
NY: Bluejay Books 212 pp. $15.95

By HERB RAMY
Collegian Staff

Timothy Zahn, winner of the Hugo award for science fiction writing, has written a new novel, Spinneret. In this novel, Zahn uses an old science fiction idea, and adds to it a new twist.

As the human race begins to explore the universe, it learns that it is not alone. Worst of all, there are no new worlds left to colonize. Every planet of any value has already been settled. There is of course one exception. There is one world Earth can buy from an alien race. This planet for sale supposedly has no value, but things aren't quite what they might seem. The planet is actually an artificial world filled with highly advanced technology. This find places ther Earth in an advantageous bargaining position with regards to other races.

Zahn is a science fiction writer in the same vien as Arthur c. Clarke. He goes to great legnths to explain things to the reader in a scientific manner. Zahn is not satisfied telling us that man is capable of interstellar travel, he takes time to explain to us how this is possible. These sections of the story could have been very boring, but Zahn presents the information in such a manner as to keep us interested. His main concern is to keep the story moving.

As a storyteller Zahn is excellent. The plot is well paced, and the book is difficult to put down. Unfortunately, the book does have its weak points. Zahn fasils into the same trap that many science fiction writers fall into. He makes the human race too important in the scheme of the universe. It's difficult to believe such a technology as ours could discover the secrets of this new world while many much more advanced races never did.

A second problem with this novel is characterization. Most of the characters are very stereotypical and simplistic. Each character seems to have only one side to his or her personality. This makes everyone in the story flat or one dimensional. This would not be a problem if we were given at least one character with some depth. As the story stands, we know something about all the characters, but not enough about any one of them.

While this flaw in the story is not a small one, there are still enough good points to make the book worth reading. If Zahn can correct this flaw in his writing, he may become a truly great science fiction writer. and if you don't believe me, you should see what the OTHER ones do. And if you don't believe that, you can take that to the bank.

USED PAPERBACKS
at 40 - 80% Off
Publishers List Price
Thousands of Academic & Popular Paperbacks
in Almost All Subjects
Save on Course
Paperbacks

Valley Books

Carriage Shops
Downtown Amherst
M-F 10:30-5:30 Sat 10-5
Sun 12-5 549-6052
check or VISA/MC accepted

Cimino's rise and his decline

Final Cut
by Stephen Bach
William Morrow, 1985 421 pp $19.95

By THOMAS HARRINGTON
Collegian Staff

Final Cut by Stephen Bach, the former co-head of production for United Artists, is about how a modest $7.5 million western called "The Johnson County War" developed into a $44 million disaster called "Heaven's Gate" that crippled United Artists – a film company founded by Mary Pickford and Charlie Chaplin. It is a funny, almost painful, outline of the pitfalls and shortcomings of the film industry, both artistic and financial, which helped "Heaven's Gate" replace "Cleopatra" as the greatest symbol of Hollywood excess and miscalculation.

According to Bach, the story of Heaven's Gate begins when Arthur Krim, perhaps the most brilliant movie mogul of recent times, decided to leave United Artists to form his own company, Orion Productions (which has since produced many hits). Following his departure, most members of the UA executive board followed him or were wooed away. UA's owner, the Transamerica Corporation, began to panic.

continued on page 6

Stephen Bach

Art Supplies

STUDENT
PROFESSIONAL

FINE ARTS
DRAFTING
ENGINEERING
PHOTOGRAPHY

Tue, Fri 9-5
Wed, Thur 9-9
Sat 10-3

Located in the Campus Center
UNIVERSITY STORE

LPs BLANKS CASS
MAGS
IMPORTS
SUNGLASSES

NEW ENLARGED
STOCK OF RECORDED CASSETTES
$3.99 - $7.99

carrying Classical

DON'T FORGET WE
BUY • SELL • TRADE
USED LPs, CASSETTES & CDs

ALBUMS•181 N. PLEASANT STREET•AMHERST •253-7137

POSTERS PINS ACCESSORIES

THE GLOBE
BOOKSHOP
38 Pleasant Street
Northampton, MA 01060
584-0374

Open: Mon-Sat 9-9
Sunday 10-5

FINE NEW & USED BOOKS
BOUGHT & SOLD

Bachman is the King...

THE BACHMAN BOOKS:
Four early novels by Stephen King
Plume Publishers, $9.95, 692 pp.

By KELLY SIEGER
Collegian Staff

Do you know me? My face may not be familar to you, but my name is. I'm Stephen King. Or does my American Express card say Richard Bachman? Who am I?

For nearly 10 years, Stephen King has been sporadically publishing under the pseudonym of Richard Bachman. The best known of these five endeavors was Thinner, the sales of which were considerably boosted by the unveiling of Bachman's identity. The four other novels, however, were forgotten, long ago gone out of print and gathering dust in bookstores everywhere.

Recently, King republished these works as a compilation of the four titled THE BACHMAN BOOKS: Four early novels by Stephen King. Being the voracious member of the King Kult that I am, I pounced.

In the introduction, King explains his decision to create Bachman. He wanted to write — as simple as that. But the stigma lay with his publishers, who "were like a frigid wifey who only wants to put out once or twice a year." Most importantly however, King states, "When I wrote straight fiction as Richard Bachman, no one asked questions."

I certainly didn't ask questions and plunged right into the first novel, Rage, devouring it much as I had done with King's other novels.

In Rage, Charlie, a high school senior, goes berserk, taking his fellow classmates hostage and, in a wonderfully cathartic scene, annihilates his Algebra II teacher with his father's pistol

King began this when he himself was a high school senior. The emotions involved in Rage are still very fresh for me and I found it easy to sympathesize with Charlie. With the students penned up in their class under Charlie's gun and with Ms. Underwood dead at the chalkboard, Rage took on a ghoulish resemblance to the recent film "Breakfast Club," in which five students bare their souls to each other while under the pressure of confinement.

King describes Rage as being "full of windy psychological preachings" but "still a lot of story." Rage was a riveting story and very difficult to put down. If I had written this well as a high school student, perhaps this review would be covering my novel.

The Long Walk is set in the recent future during which the dictatorship annually runs the Long Walk. The screams of adoring crowds and the famed monetary Prize make tempting incentives to the 100 boys who take part each year. The Long Walk turns out to be a physically and psychologically grueling march through New England with those lingering or breaking down are shot and last one standing, or rather walking, wins.

Our hero is a slightly insecure adolescent named Garraty who spends the walk philosophizing with fellow walkers, watching his friends get killed, and trying to figure out why the hell he signed up for this voluntary Hell anyway.

One can't help reading The Long Walk without picturing the story ending with Garraty's victory. Although this somewhat stifles interest in Garraty's pain, the philosophical spoutings of Garraty and his fellow walkers are enlightening and entertaining. As it turns out my expectations for the ending were dashed by the last paragraph, much to my pleasant surprise.

Road Work was the most cumbersome of the four to read through. George Dawes is upset. The government, in the midst of a national energy crisis, is building a new highway, right through George's laundry, and George's house.

Subsequently, we see George trying to cope with these defeats, his job gone, his marriage ending and the government closing in on his home. In the end he is a cornered fox, holed up in his house with explosives and a high-powered rifle.

I think this reads so slowly because it is a personal statement of King's emotions. In the introduction, he claims Roadwork was written in order to release the anguish caused by his mother's painful death of cancer. King himself apologizes for Roadwork, saying its "probably the worst of the lot" as it "tries so hard to be good and to find some answers to the conundrum of human pain."

The final novel The Running Man is a wonderful yarn about Ben Richards, who enters a game show in order to earn money for his wife and sick daughter.

The 'Running Man' must dodge a team of hunters whose objective is to kill him; the longer Ben is alive, the more money accumulates for his family. Ben proves to be a worthy adversary, also becoming a symbol of rebellion in the otherwise sterile society.

The Running Man was a welcome change from Roadwork. There was much less psychological analysis than in the other three novels. King calls Running Man "the best of them because it's nothing but story – it moves with the goofy speed of a silent movie."

I have to recommend The Bachman Books. I also recommend Thinner, the only one of the Bachman books involving the supernatural. Other members of the King Kult probably already have The Bachman Books on their reading lists. Newcomers to King should choose one of his more classic novels however, as these four cannot be considered King's best. My only question is, When is King's new novel coming out, and by the way what's his name now?

Ackermann

continued from page 1

theologians, are convinced they should be bothered by problems which really never existed (outside of the academy or the seminary) in the first place, and would just go away if we ignored them. A Reagan of 1984 proclaims that an MX arsenal is necessary to bring the Soviets to Geneva, a Reagan of 1985 insists that all along the purpose of an MX arsenal has been to keep them there; a thirteenth century Pope proclaims usury a sin, a twentieth century Pope defends it against communism as a virtuous human activity. It has never been completely up to philosophers or theologians to manufacture suspicions here. But this brings us up against one of the more central problems in Ackermann's position-- his apparent belief that doctrinal ambiguity is a cardinal virtue, generative (at least potentially, mind you) of genuine social critique. For Ackermann, religions are at their best when they are unconstrained by strict rules (i.e. the Ten Commandments) or "fixed theological systems", for it is then when doxa are pliable enough to be bent towards either (or both) of extreme poles on any issue. Ackermann's best shot -- or should we say broadside attack -- in making the case that a religion's richness (as social critique) is to be found in and is a function of its doctrinal ambiguity or pliability accurs in chapter three, "Religious and Social Issues." Here Ackermann treats four "social issues" -- evil, environmental issues, war, and the status of women -- in demonstration of the fact that several major religions all embrace doctrines pliable enough to allow adherents to favor active opposition or passive accomodatiion, change, or conservation, justified or unjustified mass death, and greater or lesser inequality,in respect to these four issues. Again, the reader should perhaps be reminded that Ackermann insists it is a mark of the richness (not the poverty) of religious sentiments that they are flexible enough to support any point along the ntire spectrum of positions on these issues. In Ackermann's words, "This survey has been directed towards indicating that the resources of the major theological systems can typically be mobilized on various sides of important religious issues... I have been suggesting that this adaptability is a sign of the richness of the religious traditions, a sign of the fact that they provide the conceptual resources necessary to strike a critical stance against local injustices."(page 81). This point being made many times over in the book, one must wonder whether Ackermann would be equally willing to grant the same virtue of "richness" to a juridicial tradition whose concepts, legal entities, etc., had shown themsleves over time to be pliant without limit (jurisjpudence being, particularly in the West, historically closely tied to the development of church law and doctrine). It is fine to talk about the richness of a juridicial tradition that can, say, be expanded or enlarged to accomodate changing social conditions (e.g., the application of the first amendment guarantees freedom to new forms of electronic communications), but how is a legal tradition to be admired as "rich" insofar as it may invert itself, deny or ignore any precedent or previous body of interpretation, or twist itself any and every possible way in the service of any conceivable political or social demand? Who, for instance, would think it completely a shining virtue of Anglo-American law that one and the same set of laws are understood to demonstrate both that segregated education is not equal (1954) and that segregated education is equal (1891)? If, for instance, the concept of "citizen" in a specific body of law is vague enough to be quickly and constantly redefined, it should be immediately apparent that the legal concept could be redefined both positively (e.g. enfranchisement of previously excluded minorities) and, unfortunately, negatively (e.g., changes in the German legal system in the early thirties which resulted in the disenfranchisement of German Jews). Though I would say that religions have historically chosen (more often than not) the more bigoted, prejudicial, or anti-human posture available to them within the cultivated and righteous ambiguity of their spiritual lexicons.

One can only be astonished at some of the examples of religious life which Ackermann takes to be illustrative of the virtue and richness in conceptual ambiguity and pliancy. For example, Ackermann discusses the Judaic Covenant as a stroke of religious genius – all disaster is a warning, all good fortune a sign of divine approval. So, whatever happens, there is an implicit message of social critique available. In Ackermann's words, "The religious genius of Judaism, however, is to be found centrally located in the conception of the Covenant between God and his chosen people. No matter how unique this may have been, its brilliance is indisputable... A covenantal relationship was conceived of as a set of two-way promises, the Jews promising to live as God's chosen people, as an example justifying God's revelation to them, in exchange for which God promised to protect them. Defeats could no longer be a sign of God's weakness, since a defeat for the Jews could be read as a warning, under the Covenant, that the sins of Jewish citizens were provoking God into anger, an anger that might result in waring or punishment...The covenantal relationship is indisputably sheer religious genius; it keeps a culture potentially alive and viable in almost any circumstances". (pages 35-36). An unfortunate choice of words. In the larger urban areas of Eastern Europe during the latter half of the Second World War – Lodz, Warsaw, Budapest, for example, in 1944-1945 – when many, if not most, Jews there knew what "resettlement" really meant, it was the counsel of many Rabbis to submit to this diaspora, to board those trains, and even to peacefully walk into the gas chambers, as these travails were surely the expression of God's anger and disappointment with his own people. It is a historical irony of grotesque proportions then to suggest that it is precisely this covenantal counsel which by "sheer religious genius...keeps a culture potentially alive in almost any circumstances." Indeed, Ackermann completly neglects the crisis within Protestant, Catholic, and Judaic theology over the fact of the Holocaust; part of this crisis in the Judaic tradition, we must understand, had precisely to do with whether this Covenant was itself a disaster. Thus, a new paradigm of religion as social critique loses any grip on the vital story of the Holocaust just as it begins.

One of the more curious anecdotes in the history of religion disturbingly illustrates, both the perverse nature of "Invisible Gardener" covenants, and some of the inevitable mystifying elements of religious beliefs, which Ackermann neglects in favor of the emancipatory promise latent in religious sentiment. In 1950 the People's Republic of China was preparing to march into Tibet to assume the "special relationship" with that country which had been in force during earlier Chinese empires. Under the auspices of the Dalai Lama it was decided to undertake a magical offensive to repel the imminently invading Chinese. For this magic, four thread crosses were constructed, each eighteen feet high and a different color, representing the four continents of Buddhism. During a special ceremony the hollow beams of the crosses were filled with the following items: human flesh, the blood of various animals and birds (particularly owls and crows), the skulls or bone fragments of several people of noble ancestry and of lower orders, the fresh blood of a young man killed in a fight, the vagina of a particularly notorious whore, weapons and other objects that had been used to kill people, the ear lobes, tips of noses, hearts, and eyebrows of men dead by violence, the thigh bone of a dead man by a virulent contagious disease, fine cloth and silks from the Tibetan treasury, earth from 108 sacred cemetaries, water from holy springs, leaves and twigs from certain shrubs and trees, large pieces of five different metals, the underwear, hair, and mentrual blood of a variety of prostititutes, and the skull, flesh, and blood of an eight-year-old male child. The crosses were set facing the Chinese enemy in a ceremony conducted by a Tibetan monk who had just spent seven days in meditation summoning one of the more powerful demons and forcing it to send a demon army against the enemy. The crosses were finally burned according to a schedule determined by an astrologer monk; as the embers of the last cross were extinguished, the enemy should have been destroyed. The disaster which resulted was explained by some as evidence that the Chinese must surely have had the support of a superior and stronger demon, which protected the invaders from the demon army sent against them (See Michael Edwardes, The Dark Side of History). This example is poignant illustration that Divine Covenants of the sort Ackermann admires do not naturally make available to adherents a critical reflection on their own fate-- In this case, the covenant overrode criticism; what promise of social critique there may be in religious belief too easily collapses under the oppressive weight of a currency of mystification that religion inevitably carries with it.

Ackermann's inclusion of Marxism as one of the several "major religions" he treats has spurred some debate. While Ackermann's analysis of the messianic and eschatalogical moments in marxism is a provolking one, it appears, however, that he misses some of the more interesting religious gestures of Marxism, and the examples he offers seem slightly out of date. For instance, it initially sounds plausible to note how both Marxism (not Christianity) in Western Europe and the United States and Eastern Orthodox Christianity (not marxism) in the Soviet Union provide voices of social critique inasmuch as both are disenfranchised spirits within their own borders. In the last few years, however, marxism in the American academy has shown the reified aging signs of entrenched power that Ackermann correctly bemoans as sterile dogma.

Similarly, in the Soviet Union the samizdat literati seems now to have the role Ackermann assigns to the Solzhenitsyn-era refuseniks then sheltered by Eastern Orthodox Christianity. A pasing curiosity in the treatment of marxism as religion comes up when Ackermann takes marxism to task, quite correctly, for an overly optimistic omission of some "depressing constancies concerning human nature," that is, for not sufficiently remembering "Freud's pessimism regarding the ultimate compatability of the self with any social structure"/page 64). For one thing, I do not see why such misguided optimism is not a great virtue rather than a fault of marxism in Ackermann's view of the ambiguity or adaptability of religious concepts. Marxist optimism always allows an interpretation of the ultimate goodness or reformability of human nature regardless of how grotesque human behavior may be, just as the "richness" of Christian "just war" doctrine lies in the fact that the concept is loose enough to make even the most obscene slaughter a virtue. Furthermore, I find it truly amazing, and revealing, that Ackermann uses Freud to debunk Marxism and not Catholicism.The one Freudian insight canvassed by Ackermann is the incompatibility of the self with the social structure. This is supposed to bring Marxism to the mat, while leaving Christianity without even a bloody nose? Finally, is should be noted, Ackermann sees a religious isomorphism between the picture of the classless society offered by Marxism and the description of heaven in Christianity-- They're both equally "vague and empty" and all the more attractive and generative of otherwordly zeal for just that reason. Yet, Marx could have founded a body of thought with a great deal more religious aura had he in fact chosen to say more (a few prophetic homilies here and there perhaps) about life in the classless society. Marx quite noticeably gave most of that up after his thirtieth birthday, and in his maturity reserved his most vicious ire for utopiaphiles. In any case, it is not clear to me that a devastating criticism of contemporary society such as Marx's must necessarily conjure up an image of a fuzzy, warm utopia with bells and trinkets and streets paved with British Gold. No, none of us knows anything about daily existance in a classless society.

continued on page 4

Ackermann

continued from page 3

Anotner flaw is Ackermann's sentimental account of the life of Jesus of Nazareth, an account necessarily skewed in its simple recapitualtion of humanist/clerical homilies surrounding this historical figure. Here is Ackermann on Jesus' character:

"Jesus himself was an ascetic who was seemingly not married or ever sexually involved, and who carried the highest divine and separate standards of conduct through life. Love, for him, becomes in orthodox treatment a matter of agape, that is, a nonsexual spiritual caring to be sharply differentiated from eros. This allows the theoretical equality of women in the religion, in spite of the fact that Jesus himself was male, although note is taken that he spoke freely to women." (pages 78-79).

You bet he spoke freely to women -- take for example the incident related by Matthew (a passage often misunderstood because of bowlderization) in which Jesus addressed a non-Galiean woman (after first refusing to address her at all) by a vicious ethnic slur, translated loosely as "street bitch." What are these "highest divine and separte standards of conduct" Jesus is supposed to have carried through his life that are to distinguish him from the lifestyle of other Nazarenes? These are no small mistakes, as we see that the profound misreading of agape in the passage above throw into complete doubt Ackermann's knowledge of Middle Eastern culture, his command of ancient Greek, and indeed, his understanding of the historical figure of Jesus. For example, Ackermann seems to be unaware of the several other readings of agape extant at the time of Christ. A desire accompanied by strange temptations, for instance, the "love' of the devil for a woman, was once a definition of agape. Another definition, suppressed by latter day Church Fathers (because of its disturbing resonances with the ritual of the Eucharist) referred to a sort of "common meal," to which the poor and disgraced were sometimes invited (See the agape listing in A Patristic Greek Dictionary, edited by G.W.H. Lampe). Ackermann's text carries no account of these or other practices, and therefore we must question whether the author has any understanding other than the superficial of the life of Jesus or of the nature of the culture of the historical epoch in which he dwelt.

Although Ackermann does not emphasize this line, his argument for the versatility of religious belief over difficult cultures and historical epochs could be used as part of a sympathetic explaination for the progressive role of the Catholic Church in Poland or parts of Latin America. That line of thinking should be discouraged before it spreads further-- such an explanation would be a thorough misunderstanding of the Church's currently progressive role. The Church's progressive role in these societies is not due to a "doctrinal ambiguity" (such as a conceptual vocabulary, or canon of textual interpretation, loose enough to support a government bureaucracy representing the very narrow interests of the real producers of wealth). The Church's role grows out of the fact that the Church must ally itself with the interests of its constituents sufficiently enough to maintain a stable or growing membership. Thus, the Church often sided with those whom it took to make up a significant slice of its constituency-- the aristocracy-- in class and national conflicts in the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries. Similarly, in Guatemala there are not enough members of the few extraordinarily wealthy landed families for the Church to selectively minister to them; such selectivity would unavoidably diminish the Church's appeal for the rest of the population. Hence the Guatemalan Church voices (at least some of) the interests of workers and peasants. That voice should not be mistaken for the Church's own conscience; the notion that the church possesses an ambiguous body of religious concepts that can here be flexed both in support of an oppressed underclass and to reinforce an embattled status quo threatened by evil insurrection. Here you have a simple Marxist explanation. And a true one at that.

In reflecting on these matters, one recalls the words of Goethe, which serve as a fitting epitath to Ackermann's understanding of religion: "He who posseses science and art also has religion; but he who possesses neither of those two, let him have religion!"

PARSONS
SCHOOL OF DESIGN
Special Summer Programs

PARIS
WEST AFRICA
ITALY
LAKE PLACID
JAPAN
NEW YORK
GREECE

International programs offer courses including painting, drawing, printmaking, fashion, graphic design, photography, decorative arts, architectural history, art history, archaeology, ceramics, fibers, metals, surface design and papermaking. Undergraduate and graduate credit is available to qualified students. For more information, mail the coupon below or call the Office of Special Programs: (212) 741-8975

Parsons School of Design, Office of Special Programs,
66 Fifth Avenue, New York, NY 10011

Please send me a brochure on Parsons Special Summer Programs.

Name _____
Address _____
City _____ State _____ Zip _____
37

I am a ☐ college student ☐ teacher ☐ other

Kaleidoscopes!

THE ARTISAN GALLERY
Thorne's Market lower level 150 Main St., Northampton

Pilot makes writing so exciting.

The Pilot Precise rolling ball pen – the smooth, sleek way to get it on paper.

It's the pen that writes as fine as it looks. A tiny ball held by a needle-like collar is the secret to the comfort and smoothness you'll experience. And because of its ball, the Precise will write crisply through carbons. Try either the fine or extra fine point. Only $1.19 each.

PILOT precise™

A matter of choice

Roger Libby speaks out on sexual freedom

Roger W. Libby is co-author with Mary Pat Fisher and Gilbert D. Nass of Sexual Choices: An Introduction to Human Sexuality (Belmont: Wadsworth, Inc., 1981). A professor in Home Economics at University of Massachusetts/Amherst until last spring, when he was denied tenure — he says it was because of his outspokenness on sexual freedom and lifestyles — Libby divides his time between lecture tours and writing a new book to be called Caring Sex. The publisher is yet to announced. Robert Libby lives in Amherst.

Interviewed by FREDERICK E. STEINWAY
Special to the Collegian

CLS: Is there evidence in sociology that sexuality and violence are linked in some way?

Libby: It's an artificial linkage in the sense that it's too simplistic, it needs more qualifying. I did a study with Murray Straus, who is the head of the family violence program at the University of New Hampshire — one of the major research programs in this country on family violence, the first one, in fact. I did a post-doctoral fellowship with him before I came here. And one of the things we found out in our study is that sex doesn't lead to violence. If the sex is aggressive, violent sex, that's violence in itself. When you have warm interpersonal sex where people are caring, that's hardly something that's going to lead to violence.

Freud has his theory and others have had their theories, and I don't tend to be very Freudian at all. We all have the potential to be aggressive at birth, there is an instinctual basis for all of our emotions, but I also believe that emotions are socially conditioned. Most of the variation in the way poeple are in different cultures or individuals within a culture can be made up by the way we were taught about emotion in the family and in other caring groups, our friendship groups, peer groups.

So I would say agression is the dark side of us all, all of us have that potential of being aggressive or to be hostile or violent. Of course, the traditional male role is the prime example of that. We have given some credibility to aggression and violence within the taditional male role. It's a serious mistake and it doesn't do men or women any good.

CLS: Do you find a relationship between interpersonal hostility and international wars?

Libby: I don't think that just because nations are fighting that we have to. In this society we really have the potential to be intimate with each other, to be a caring society. to do that we have to learn to share with each other, and not just be totally capitalistic. See, it's the economic model that's really abusing us in terms of being applied to interpersonal relationships. We need to learn to share more and be less "me" oriented and focused only on how much money we make every day and whether everybody is doing something that we want to do. unless we learn to share more — and that includes sexually, in sharing our bodies at times — I think we're in trouble. It all goes back to a fear of pleasure and a fear of intimacy.

CLS: How do explain the resentment of sexuality?

Libby: I think the antisexual thing is a fear of pleasure, in our culture. There's a book called Swept Away by a friend of mine, Carol Kurcell, that has become a bestseller. it's in paperback now. It's written to women about their fear of sexuality and how they shouldn't have to be swept away by romance and "being in love" in order to enjoy sexual pleasure. And i told them, "great!" It's time that somebody said this. But her affirmation of pleasure is obviously not accepted in a lot of circles.

CLS: Why do people seem to separate out into all male groups and all female groups? Is this healthy, from a sociological point of view?

Libby: I believe that you can't have separate groups of women and men in a society where we live together and think we're going to get along. It is not going to work. Sure you need to be with your own sex some of the time, but to have this "separate cultures" is extreme, and that's what's happened in the Pioneer Valley. That's what I see here. I see monogamy being imposed upon people, and to a lesser extent I see the lesbian and gay emphasis being so strongly in the front and center stage that it's difficult for heterosexuals to be considered normal here. that's a mistake. It's hard to think about nations when we can't even get along personally. and we're not going to get along personally by isolating ourselves in same sex groups — that makes no sense at all. A community is made up of both sexes. I'm not saying that people have to be sexual with each other. That's as unreasonable as celibacy.

CLS: What does a group get out of the denial of sexuality, the denial of pleasure?

Libby: In this society unfortunately they get some sort of status for being more healthy or better or somehow above other people who have given into their most "base" emotions to enjoy sexual pleasure. It's still that basic model of sexual pleasure as something we should feel guilty about and something that real people don't do unless they're in a love relationship and it's a "highly spiritual" kind of thing. Somehow we're losing sight here of basic fun, humor and pleasure, in the name of spiritual awakening.

Food For Thought Books

POSTER and T-SHIRT CLEARANCE SALE
JAN 27 - FEB 28
Hours: M-Sat 10-6; Sun 12-5
Open Late 1st 2 weeks of the semester
67 N. Pleasant St. Amherst, Ma
253-5432

Dark tribute to Welles

Orson Welles: The Rise and Fall of an American Genius
By Charles Higham
St. Martin's, 1985 373pp $19.95

By JIM TAYLOR
Collegian Staff

When Mike MacLiammoir, financer of Orson Welles' ill-fated projects, King Lear and Time Runs, realizing the method of his work, asked him, "Orson, are you out of your mind?" Welles replied, "Of course I am, didn't you know?"

It seems that almost everyone who has been in contact with Welles has sensed a form of madness, a methodical madness atypical of artists. Charles Higham thus found a starting point for Orson Welles: The Rise and Fall of an American Genius. Higham writes on the dark side of Welles, his treatment of his wives, his adultery, his abandonment of his children, and his attempted murder of John Houseman while Welles was drunk. With some extremist reasoning, this book can be compared to Donald Spoto's book on Hitchcock, The Dark Side of Genius.

This unauthorized biography explores Welles' development from child genius through boy-wonder superstar to egotistical megalomaniac. Although this book is a chronological biography, its focus is a study of the causes of Welles' rise and many falls. Higham's work is an attempt at both citing reasons for Welles' decline and recording accurate facts with little subjective interference. This objectivity leaves little room for any fundamental psychoanalysis. There is no exploration of Welles' mind at any depth. There is very little on Welles' close friend, Joseph Cotton, but a superfluous amount of information on what had led Houseman and Welles to become rivals. The reader can make his/her own conclusions. There are only clues to an unfinished puzzle, similar to the final puzzle Susan never completes in Citizen Kane.

Most unauthorized biographies are not approved by the subject because of inaccuracies, but the prevalence of personal elements from Welles' life may be the reason here. Welles reacted with strong hostility to Higham's previous study, The Films of Orson Welles, which leads one to question the objectivity of the author. This book, however, is faithful to Welles, a fine attempt at truthful historical recording. Welles is known for exaggerating events to make his stories more exciting. There are many stories of Welles' pilgrim ancestors, who did in fact arrive on the Mayflower, but probably did not assist Benjamin Franklin. Welles' father was an inventor, but probably did not design an airplane for the Wright brothers or an automobile for Henry Ford. His grandmother may not have been a Satan worshipper. Higham has started from scratch and reconstructed Welles' life from

continued on page 6

Curtains Up!

Come to the Gala Reopening of
BOWKER AUDITORIUM
Stockbridge Hall
University of Massachusetts at Amherst

Friday, January 31, 1986

11:30 am-2 pm Open House
Music, Refreshments, and a chance to view the area's newest chamber performance facility

8:00 pm
Gala Performance by the Springfield Symphony Orchestra Chamber Ensemble
Barry Tuckwell, guest conductor and horn soloist

Tickets: $15, $13

THE FINE ARTS CENTER
Call 545-2511

For the student who has no equal– scientific calculators that have no equal.

This year, get a head start on your classes with the HP-11C or the HP-15C. So advanced they don't need an "equals" key. So extremely easy to use, you'll solve even the most complex mathematical problems quickly.

Hewlett-Packard's innovative design eliminates a vast number of keystrokes. That saves you time with hyperbolics and other complex calculations . . . a big plus at exam time.

Get an HP-11C or HP-15C today, and start out the year one step ahead.

HEWLETT PACKARD

Located in the Campus Center

UNIVERSITY STORE

Welles

continued from page 5

documents and interviews, avoiding, however, any contact with Welles. What results is a demythification of a legend, which ironically recreates a monument.

Orson had an unhappy childhood with his inventor-turned alcoholic father and pianist mother who was stricken with a serious illness. His money-lusting guardian, who first discovered Orson's talents, took control of the estate, and denied Orson's wishes to study drama. Welles fled to Ireland, where he lied his way onto the stage, claiming experience in America. He began leading roles with his second performance, to enthusiastic acclaim from the Irish press ("Something strange has arrived from America," started one article).

There are many small, interesting incidents that Higham records which capture a sense of drama that only Welles can generate. Rather than focusing on the major occurrences, written about many times, Hingham aims for the lesser-known vignettes.

Welles' rise began early, when he returned to America to direct his first play, Twelfth Night, and subsequently his first film, a documentary on the making of his first play. At 21, Welles directed his voodoo version of Macbeth, which launched his reputation as a young genius. He formed the infamous Mercury Theater with John Houseman, which was open to new talent and experimentation. Welles would neglect his family and friendsthroughout his career, finding time for nothing but work.

Welles was hospitalized many times for diseases induced by exhaustion, including chronic myocarditis, argia, arthritis, spinal bifidia, sinus and intestinal problems, flat feet and asthma. These diseases may have been psychosomatic, for Welles was struck ill at times preceeding his various failures.

Welles sought to please no one but himself. His egomania led him to fight for complete control of his productions. He would quit any project for which he couldn't claim sole credit.

After completing Citizen Kane and The Magnificent Ambersons, Welles fell into a depression while trying to shoot It's All True as far away from Hollywood as possible. He did not have a budget when he started production and failed to gain any funds. Welles hated the interference of Hollywood business executives, as do all filmmakers who take their work seriously.

Welles would partially finance his own films, and was often forced into accepting mediocre roles in order to fund his endeavors. He began a political column, worked in television, and got stuck on those wine commercials and talk show appearances.

There are many interesting and humorous passages describing the progress of Welles' decline, such as his weight increase each time a project failed; from 190 to 240 to 270 to 340 pounds. Higham attributes Welles' decline to his unattainable demand for artistic freedom. His liberal upbringing seemed to weaken any tolerance of bureaucratic authority. But who can blame him? He was able to create Citizen Kane, Othello, Macbeth, and War of the Worlds, but Universal Studios had little faith in Touch of Evil, Welles' experimental film noir melodrama, and ruined the film by having certain scenes reshot by a studio craftsman.

Harried by his numerous problems, Welles always found solace in his magic shows. He would often tour, his performance climaxing when he would saw a famous actress (such as Rita Hayworth and Marlene Dietrich) in half.

Not only for Orson Welles fanatics, but for anyone interested in the media, this book will be a pleasure. The story of the foundation and collapse of a one-man institution, one of the geniuses of the 20th century makes for fascinating reading. There are enough references to major and minor incidents and personalities to please any trivia buff and the wide-ranged index is helpful to the cinematic scholar.

Bach

continued from page 2

They installed Andy Albeck, a virtual outsider to industry, as the new president, and began filling the vacancies with promotions and new recruits (it's during this time that Bach became one of the two heads of production), but there were still plenty of problems. For instance, they now had to prove that UA could maintain its reputation as a consistant award winner, but find that their expensive "Apocalypse Now" was having its thunder stolen by Universal Pictures' "The Deer Hunter."

Imagine UA's delight then, when Michael Cimino, director of "The Deer Hunter," agreed to make a western with them. It certainly seemed like a brilliant coup to Bach, who coaxed Cimino into signing a contract before the release of The Deer Hunter, reviews of which subsequently catapaulted Cimino to celebrity status. Hoping for a Christmas release, they prepared to send Cimino to Montana to start filming.

Then it happened. Bach and First Executive David Field capitulated to Cimino's casting of Isabelle Huppert, a French actress unknown to American audiences. This was a blunder, because it convinced Cimino that he could win total control of the picture from UA. Cimino then demanded a contract which insisted that he not be held responsible for budget overruns and refused to set a concrete deadline for the film's completion. Just as UA executives began to complain, "The Deer Hunter" won an Oscar for best picture, giving Cimino more clout, and increasing the pressure on UA to produced an award-winning film.

Cimino's unreasonable demands now met, the filming begins, but not without obstacles: An avalanche in Montana held up production for two weeks. Once removed from Hollywood, Cimino took an erratic approach to filming, often spending half a production day traveling to and from a distant location, and reshooting scenes countless times, usually printing every take for review later. By the planned date of completion, Cimino had used up all the money alloted to the picture and had finished filming less than one fifth of the story.

What is so remarkable about this is not so much Cimino's indulgence (his chief sin was simply working too slowly) as the company's reluctance to draw the line at some point. Several factors prevented them from doing so. First of all, they were afraid of the public relations disaster that would ensue if they scrapped a film made by someone of Cimino's reputation. His repeated threat to move the production to another company kept them in check for a while. Then, once they realized their mistake in surrendering too much control to Cimino, they found that they'd rather complete what they had than allow their eight million dollar (so far) investment become a total loss.

Throughout the book, Bach describes the events that cost him his job with suprising good humor and clear insight. Though he details much of his frustration in dealing with Cimino, he never blames the fiasco on him, and even expresses his admiration for Cimino's artistry and dedication, if not his common sense. He even includes many embarassing details that he could have left out, such as his enthusiastic support of Cuba, a Sean Connery adventure that went nowhere, and his scepticism over a French-Italian comedy over two againg homosexuals, "La Cage Aux Folles," and a Blake Edwards production known as "10."

Besides this, he provides a fine insight into the day-to-day problems of modern Hollywood, where the unfinished projects dwarf those completed. included are bach's attempts to salvage Romance of the Pink Panther only to have the comedy abandoned upon star Peter Sellers' death, and the loss of "The Right Stuff" script to the Ladd Company. He even recalls, with irony, that before "Heaven's Gate," Cimino wanted to film an adaptation of Ayn Rand's "The Fountainhead" in which an architect

continued on next page

continued from previous page

"whose artistic purity is such that he will dynamite his own housing project rather than allow it to be defiled by changes in design."(Bach, p.91)

There are good moments too. The final, enthusiastic reception of "Apocalypse Now," rescued from the brink of bankruptcy, the commercial triumphs of the Bond series, and the critical success of Martin Scorcese's "Raging Bull." Best of all, there are frequent, enjoyable references to the projects of Woody Allen, whom Bach openly admires, and whose independence, common sense and trustworthiness set him totally apart from the Bureaucracy that surrounds him.

The hard thing for me to believe about Hollywood after reading Final Cut is that any pictures manage to get done at all, let alone on time and according to budget, and Steven Bach seems to share my amazement. Bach shows that the movie industry contains such high risks and slow results that not even the best producer will know what will happen when he or she starts a production, and he reveals that the biggest decisions are often made with a toss of the dice. The tension and uncertainty are revealed in a particularly funny instance when Bach, after the release of "Heaven's Gate," tries to recite the Lord's Prayer and instead says, "Our Father who art in Heaven, Hollywood be thy name ..." Final Cut is a biting depiction of how the confusion and pressure of the film industry can turn even the most ambitious projects into commercial failures.

GOLIARD BOOKSHOP LTD

Specializing in the Humanities & Social Sciences

WHY READ BOOKS?

27 N. Pleasant St., Amherst U.S.A. 01002 (413) 253-3044

Go To Europe for Only $449

Price includes roundtrip airfare and Euro-pass good for 9 days

Historical Trip to Athens Only $799

Price includes: roundtrip airfare leaving from Boston or NY, hotel accommodations, tickets to all museums, transportation, and tourist guide

Athens and Crete Only $799

Price includes: roundtrip airfare leaving from Boston or New York and hotel accommodations

UNIVERSITY TRAVEL and TOURS INC.

225 Main St.

Northampton, Mass.

584-9913

STUDY BRITISH MASS MEDIA IN LONDON

Eighteenth Annual Summer Seminar June 23-July 25, 1986

Six undergraduate or graduate credits

Study broadcasting, press, and film. Well-known guest lecturers and field trips.

Tuition--$852 (subject to change)

Seminar Leader: Jacqueline Steck Associate Professor of Communications Dept. of Journalism Temple University

For more information contact: Dr. Robert Greenberg School of Communications & Theater Phila., PA 19122 Phone: (215) 787-1902

ALBION BOOKS

85 Main Street
Amherst, MA 01002
413-256-1221
Telex: 247316

Complete Scholarly Book Service

25,000 volume stock, with steady major acquisitions, of in-print, out-of-print, and hard to obtain titles.

* Comprehensive collections of: Philosophy, Linguistics, Radical History, Economics, Literary History, Modern Literary First Editions

* Special order in-print titles

* Out-of-print search service

* Catalogues tailored to customers specialty

STOP

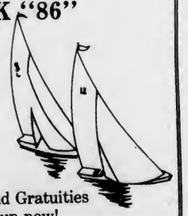
There's no need to hurry! Our convenient hours allow you to shop early or late.

Candy	Film	Newspapers
Tobacco	Film Processing	Tote Bags
Cards	Clocks	School Supplies
Calendars	Batteries	Typewriter Ribbons
Cassette Tapes	Electrical Supplies	Glassware
Books	Lamps	Cups
Backpacks	Magazines	Decals
Clothing	Memo Board	Pennants
Gifts	Pens and Pencils	Chips
Cosmetics	Binders	Cookies
Health and Beauty Aids	Notebooks	Popcorn
	Paper	Umbrellas

Many other items available
545-2528

Located in the Student Union

Convenient Hours
M-F 7:30 am to 10:00 pm
Saturday and Sunday
8:00 am to 10:00 pm



the Mini Store

American Travel Services presents

SPRING BREAK "86"

Ft Lauderdale
Hotel from $139.00
Air: New York $209. Rd Trip
Boston $228. Rd Trip
Holiday Inn Oceanside $209.

Nassau/Paradise Island
Hotel & Air from $329.
Pilot House Hotel $379.

All prices include Taxes and Gratuities
Don't be left out, sign up now!
Limited space available
For more information: call Danny 546-7899

MOLLY'S

ANTIQUE & VINTAGE CLOTHING
THE CARRIAGE SHOPS MON-SAT 12-5

SPECTRUM

the fine art & literary magazine

NOW ACCEPTING SUBMISSIONS

ART · POETRY · PROSE · PHOTOGRAPHY

ART & Science

TWO SIDES OF IMAGINATION

ALL VISUALS
in black & white

deadline - february 14 1986 room 103b campus center [rso 125 by mail]

Shuttle blows apart; crew lost

Explosion came just after liftoff

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A catastrophic explosion blew apart the space shuttle Challenger 75 seconds after liftoff yesterday, sending schoolteacher Christa McAuliffe and six NASA astronauts to a fiery death in the sky eight miles out from Kennedy Space Center.

"We mourn seven heroes," said President Reagan.

The accident defied quick explanation, though a slow-motion reply seemed to show an initial explosion in one of the two peel-away rocket boosters igniting the shuttle's huge external fuel tank. The tank burst into a fireball that destroyed Challenger high above the Atlantic while crew families and NASA officials watched in despair from the Cape.

The shocking spectacle was witnessed by family and friends of the astronauts who had gathered at Cape Canaveral, and by millions more around the country who viewed the launch on television.

President Reagan postponed tonight's State of the Union speech for one week and instead planned to address the nation from the Oval Offices about the tragedy. He sent Vice President George Bush to the cape to observe the investigation.

Reagan told reporters at the White House: "It's a horrible thing all of us have witnessed. I can't rid myself of the though of the sacrifice of the families who were there at the cape and watching this tragedy also. I can't help but think what they must be going through."

The $1.2 billion spacecraft, one of four in NASA's shuttle fleet, appeared to be destroyed.

It was the first in-flight disaster in 56 U.S. manned space missions, although three astronauts were killed in a 1967 launch pad explosion during the Apollo program.

All 1,200 students at McAuliffe's Concord High School were cheering the televised launch when a teacher yelled for them to be silent because something appeared to be wrong.

As it became clear there was an explosion, stunned students murmured: "This can't be real . . . We can't be watching this."

There were seven crew members aboard, a 37-year-old New Hampshire teacher selected from 11,146 teacher applicants to be the first to fly in NASA's citizen-in-space program.

continued on page 4

AP photo

Space shuttle Challenger disintegrates in smoke and flames.

NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY

The Massachusetts Daily
COLLEGIAN

RSO-UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS-AMHERST 113 CAMPUS CENTER 545-3500 VOLUME CXVI ISSUE 2

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 29, 1986

INSIDE

• Shuttle watchers react with horror. Page 4.
• Art department chairman exibits his work. Page 7.
• The slam-dunk is back. Page 12.

Polymer center is subject to secrecy ban

By IAN POLUMBAUM
Collegian Staff

Researchers who will be involved in the $24 million polymer research center planned for the University of Massachusetts say they expect the project to expand but not significantly alter the polymer work already taking place here.

The head of the UMass polymer science and engineering department also says the center—proposed to be built by the end of 1990—will house no secret work, in line with a 1972 University Board of Trustees directive barring any research on the campus that is classified, for any other reason cannot be published, or requires outside approval for publication.

Department head Edwin L. Thomas said his office currently receives roughly $2 million a year from various branches of the Defense Department, as well as comparable amounts from corporations and the National Science Foundation. "Military involvement is heavy in the sense that we get money from [the Pentagon]," he said.

But he added that in contrast to many universities—for example, the Massachusetts Institute of Technology—"there are no secrecy agreements" at UMass, and that research here is mainly "fundamental" exploration of polymer molecules and substances rather than specific projects aimed at building weapons, commercial or industrial products.

Thus the Pentagon—or the armed forces of any other country—may use published UMass doctoral theses or faculty findings in the development of weapons systems, including President Reagan's "star wars" plan for arms in space. The Defense Department subsidizes research in hope of doing so, but the research itself is "so fundamental that it has no direct application," Thomas said.

Thomas said he was confident that nobody at UMass "sneaks around" and violates the ban on secrecy because at a large state university, "Too many people have their eyes on what everybody's doing."

Lawrence W. McKenna, a member of the polymer science board for the Massachusetts Centers of Excellence Corporation—a state body created last October to oversee the polymer project and four other research centers in Massachusetts—initially said military involvement in the UMass center was "an important issue ... and I think it should be discussed" at the board's next meeting Feb. 14. But on learning of the trustee policy, he said, "I have no concerns now, having heard that."

McKenna, who in 1970 became the second person to receive a doctoral degree in polymer science at UMass and is now head of plastics research at Monsanto Chemical Co. in St. Louis, added that in polymers, "my personal guess is that we will see a move away from defense research and more towards industrial [uses] ... That's not to say that advances in polymers will not still be used in defense applications."

Thomas said he is periodically approached by corporations offering equipment or financial support in exchange for an agreement not to let other companies in on certain discoveries, and that he turns them down.

"We tell them our students are here for degrees, not as slave labor for industry. A Ph.D thesis is a public piece of work.

Collegian photo by Paul Desmarais

Nick Nikitas, Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, says Gov. Dukakis' abuses of administration are "raping the public's soul." Page 3.

FYI: new grievance policy

Students with an academic grievance from last fall have 30 days from the start of the semester to plead their cases under the newly implemented undergraduate academic grievance policy, the Provost's Office has announced.

Under the policy, an academic grievance is defined as a complaint by a student alleging that a member of the University has caused the student to suffer some harm related to an academic matter. Evaluation of a student's academic performance and the assignment of a grade are not considered grievances under the procedure.

Questions about the policy may be directed to the Student Governnment Association or to the University ombudsman.

Super Bowl traffic jams and moving

Housing less tight

By SUSAN EATON
Collegian Staff

As most New Englanders began Super Bowl Sunday festivities, the bi-annual pilgrammage to the University of Massachusetts had been going on for hours.

As students moved into dormitories Sunday amidst heavy rain and congested traffic, The University Housing Office, which in past years has been a place of much chaos on moving day, remained relatively calm.

"Everything has been going according to plans. We haven't had many problems at all involving housing," said Gerald A. Quarles, assistant director of residential support services.

Director of Admissions Timm Rhinehart said admissions for this spring were "reduced by design" to "alleviate pressure on the dormitories and to improve the chance for students registering for classes" Rhinehart said 100 fewer undergraduates were admitted this spring than were last year.

Quarles said there were no students living in temporary "swing space," and only one student has been put up in the Campus Center Hotel on a temporary basis, due to a delay in her financial aid.

Quarles noted that the housing situation is "much worse in the fall" and that this spring was "quieter" than others he has seen. This past fall, 108 students were living in swing spaces which were made up of study lounges and rooms that have been converted into sleeping areas. At the beginning of last semester, 440 students were without housing as a result of late admission or late payment of University bills.

"The number of incoming students [this semester] is nowhere near to blowing us out of the water," Quarles said.

Director of Public Safety Gerald T. O'Neil said he received only one complaint, regarding a long wait to get into a Southwest Residential Area room.

Officials also pointed out that because of the Super Bowl, the usual late afternoon wave of arrivals, bringing heavy traffic and confusion, did not materialize.

Most parents who brought their sons and daughters back to the University had a very definite plan in mind. "I came early so that I'd be back well in time [for the game]. I think everyone had the same plan. That's why it's so jammed up out there," said Robert Beebe of Westfield, father of Kinser Beebe, who is a sophomore in Van Meter House.

Fraud is feared by Filipinos

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — The Philippines' top Roman Catholic church official demanded that independent pollwatchers be allowed to monitor next week's presidential elections in an effort to prevent fraud.

The admonition from Manila Cardinal Jaime Sin came as President Ferdinand E. Marcos campaigned on the island of Mindanao and opposition candidate Corazon Aquino stumped in towns south of Manila.

"In my capacity as arch-bishop of Manila, I demand that what NAMFREL National Movement for Free Elections is asking should be given," said Sin.

NAMFREL chairman Jose Concepcion said Sin, among other things, was referring to demands that the group be allowed to conduct its own "quick count" of returns from the Feb. 7 election.

Sin's statement during mass was followed by the reading of a ponted pastoral letter from all Filipino bishops, who said they see signs of fraud and violence similar to the pattern of past elections.

Fourteen people have been killed in election-related incidents in the month-old presidential campaign.

The bishops did not criticize or endorse Marcos or Mrs. Aquino and were not explicit about who was committing the alleged abuses, but their criticism supported actions that would tend to help Mrs. Aquino.

They urged the people to vote for "persons who morally, intellectually and physically show themselves capable of inspiring the nation towards a hopeful future."

Sin noted in his homily that the National Movement for Free Elections and the election commission were working towards resolving their differences and said, "I think the demands of NAMFREL are good and should be respected."

The organization is supported by prominent business and civic groups and has also been praised by U.S. officials. It claims credit for reducing cheating in the May 1984 National Assembly elections.

Sin did not elaborate on the group's demands, but Concepcion said in an interview after the Mass that NAMFREL was calling for the creation of special teams in areas where fraud was likely to occur.

AP photo

SHOCKED STUDENTS — Katharyn Hok, left, and Carino Dolcino, both Concord, N.H. High School students, mourn during a memorial service for Christa McAuliffe at St. Peter's Church in Concord yesterday.

Ryan flies from Bears to Eagles

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Chicago Bears defensive coordinator Buddy Ryan will leave the National Football League champions to take the heads coaching job with the Philadelphia Eagles, a source said yesterday.

Eagles officials scheduled a news conference for today but refused to reveal the subject. No official confirmation of the report was available.

Although the Eagle's six-week search for a new coach has spawned numerous rumors, the source, who is close to the team, said Ryan's appointment was "100 percent" certain.

Ryan, whose defense highlighted the Bears' 46-10 victory over the New England Patriots in the Super Bowl Sunday, was in Philadelphia Tuesday to meet with Eagles general manager Harry Gamble.

Ryan, an assistant in the NFL for 18 years with the New York Jets, Minnesota and the Bears, would succeed Marion Campbell, who was fired by owner Norman Braman Dec. 16 before the final game of the season.

The report came on the same day the New Orleans Saints announced they had hired one of the Eagles' top candidates, Jim Mora, formerly coach of the Baltimore Stars of the United States Football League.

The Collegian is now hiring responsible and motivated students to assume the following positions:
Assistant BUSINESS MANAGER
Assistant FINANCE MANAGER
These jobs can offer you excellent business experience while still in school.

Apply at the Collegian Business Office by Tuesday, February 4th.

Daily Collegian Advertising that works!! Call: 545-3500

It's a better movie than 'Blazing Saddles' or 'Young Frankenstein'. —Rolling Stone

Wednesday, January 29th
in Campus Center Auditorium
Time: 5:00, 7:00, 9:00, 11:00
Price: $1.00 at 5, $1.50 at 7, 9 and 11

sponsored by N.E.A.G.
FROM CINEMA 5

UPC Presents

On Sale Today

INXS
with Special Guests

Friday
February 7th
at 8:00 pm

Student Union
Ballroom

$10.50 UMass Students
$12.50 General Public

Tix on sale 1/29
at For the Record
Main St. Records
Tix Unlimited (SUB)

No cans, bottles, cameras or recording devices

Lt. governor hopeful blasts Dukakis

By PATRICK JOHNSON
Collegian Staff

Nick Nikitas, Republican candidate for Lieutenant Governor, stopped at the University of Massachusetts yesterday as part of his Western-Massachusetts campaign kick-off.

Nikitas,35, made stops in Westfield, Springfield, and Northampton before coming to Umass. While on campus, he spoke of his goals if elected, and criticized the Dukakis administration, democratic opponent Evelyn Murphy, and fellow Republicans who place too much emphasis on opinion polls.

"The major issue of this campaign is the abuse of the administration," Nikitas said. "His [Dukakis'] hypocrisy goes into every area of Massachusetts. It's like raping the public's soul."

Nikitas said Dukakis is not as tough on crime as the governor leads the public to believe.

"In his first term, he vetoed mandatory sentences for drug dealers," he said. As a result, "We're the largest drug depot in New England."

Nikitas graduated from Dartmouth College in 1972, and is currently president of the Nikatis Family Inns in Kingston. He said that in addition to being appointed to two presidential committees on education, he is qualified for lieutenant governor because,"Basically, I've worked for every republican cause and concern."

Contrary to public sentiment that the lieutenant governor's position is unimportant, Nikitas said the position was vital.

" The lieutenant governor is the key position in government; it is where government should be made to work," he said.

"The lieutenant governor's role is to be the chief, to make sure the Cabinet works together," he said. Under the last two administrations the position has gotten a "bum rap," Nikitas said.

" [Former Gov. Edward] King and [former Lt. Gov. Thomas] O'Neill constantly disagreed with each other. And John Kerry had the position for one year and spent the next year campaigning for the US Senate," he said. Currently the position is vacant.

Of his democratic opponent, Nikitas said, " Evelyn Murphy has set the woman's movement back 100 years by saying that she will be Dukakis' second banana. I will be second banana to no one."

Nikitas said he regretted King's decision not to oppose Dukakis in the fall election, but said he hopes Ray Shamie will decide to run instead.

He said, if Shamie decides not to run, "then a vacuum will be created by a one-issue candidate who will not serve the Republican Party."

Nikitas is the first republican to announce plans to run for a state-wide office in the coming elections. He criticized other republicans who are "taking a look at the polls to see if they can beat 'the Duke'"

Police seek new home downtown

By NANCY KLINGENER
Collegian Staff

Several sites on Main and Spring streets, including an apartment building occupied mostly by students, are being considered for a new downtown police station.

Amherst needs a new police station because the old one is "a mess," according to Barry Del Castilho, the town manager. Working conditions in the current police station in the town hall are extremely crowded.

"There's been a very clear signal from the community that a downtown site is necessary," said Police Chief Donald N. Maia.

The sites proposed for the new police station are at 109 and 133 Main Street. 109 Main Street now houses the Daily Hampshire Gazette's Amherst bureau and the Amherst Bulletin. Del Castilho said the town has signed an agreement to buy the property and the Victorian building, which would house the administration of the police force.

133 Main Street, owned by realtor D.A. Jones, is occupied by an apartment building. Current plans call for it to be destroyed and a new police station built on the site.

The new building "would probably include the desk and the communication facility, the detention facility, and probably offices for the law enforcement personnel," Del Castilho said.

Collegian photo by Michelle Segall

Site of proposed new Amherst police station at 109 Main St. Building is currently occupied by several offices.

Some property on Spring Street is also being considered for parking spaces for the new station. Del Castilho said that only a corner of the 26 Spring Street parcel, owned by Margeret B. Moore, would be purchased.

A special Town Meeting has been called for Feb. 26 to authorize acquisition of the property and to appropriate funds for the purchase. On Jan. 22, the Facilities Planning Committee recommended that the town approve the proposal.

Del Castilho said that the acquisition will cost $800,000. He said all-new construction of a police station had been estimated at $1.8 million, but that using the building at 109 Main Street would reduce that amount.

The new station would have a private facility for the police to talk to victims of crimes, and would allow officers to talk to the public more directly, Maia said. Currently, officers talk through a microphone, shielded by a glass screen.

"If we can meet the public in a better fashion, I think that's a service," he said.

Del Castilho said that bidding could start this year and construction begin in 1987 if Town Meeting approves and the Board of Selectmen gives the final go-ahead.

AT&T gives $530,000 in equipment

Equipment valued at $530,000 has been donated to the computer science and engineering departments of the University of Massachusetts by American Telephone and Telegraph Information Systems.

"We look for universities and institutions which show a major commitment to computer technology of the future," said Marilyn Colliver, director of public relations at AT&T Information Systems. The donation was formally made during a luncheon at Chancellor Joseph D. Duffey's house Dec. 16.

The computer and information science (COINS) department received 12 graphic terminals and six 3B2 computers, which allow "different types of computers to talk to each other," Colliver said.

Four of the computers will be used in undergraduate education and the remaining two will be used in graduate studies.

Some of the computers will also be used in microcomputer research laboratories which will make it possible "in the near future for thousands or hundreds of thousands of processors to be working on the same problems," said Janice Cuny, a COINS professor who is the director of the UMass microcomputer laboratories.

The engineering department was given one large 3B5 computer and four smaller 3B2s.

Some of the computers have already arrived at UMass and the others are expected to be installed and ready for use next month.

—JEANETTE DeFORGE

SAFA prepares for Washington

By JOEL P. COFFIDIS
Collegian Staff

A meeting to discuss strategy by the lobbying group Students Advocating Financial Aid on its March trip to Washington D.C., is scheduled for 4 p.m. tomorrow in Room 174 of the Campus Center.

Jim Crosby, the group's president, said the meeting is open to all University of Massachusetts students and attendance is imperative for those interested in attending this year's annual lobbying trip to the halls of Congress. Forty-seven committed students are needed for the trip to be successful, he said.

Crosby said SAFA has made the voyage for five years and each year new issues of financial aid cutbacks surface. The Gramm-Rudman deficit reduction bill, passed last year, is one of major concern for the group, he said.

"For 1986, Gramm-Rudman, as it's set-up now is a 4 percent decrease across the board," Crosby said. "It will probably affect the subsidies for guaranteed student loans and it could possibly delay the maximum pell grant."

He said the deficit bill would start taking effect in the fall of this year and by next year could be a 25 percent cut across the federal budget, thus affecting financial aid.

"We will bring to Washington our input on what that type of a drastic cut would be," he said. "We want to make sure financial aid isn't lost."

SAFA is a professional student lobby group and has received high praise from US House Speaker Thomas "Tip" O'Neill and US Sen. Edward M. Kennedy. Last year the group met with O'Neill on the House floor and discussed financial aid cuts with congressman on key committees and with their aides.

Amherst water 'safe' from spill

Gasoline that spilled late last month into a brook which feeds a Pelham reservoir will not affect Amherst water supplies, according to the superintendent of the Amherst Public Works Department.

"At the present time, the water quality in the reservoir and in the streams is well below the contaminant level we allow," superintendent Stanley Ziomek said.

On Dec. 27, a tanker skidded and overturned on North Valley Road in Pelham, spilling approximately 400 gallons of gasoline. Ziomek said the amount that entered the Amethyst Brook is "difficult to estimate, but from what we can gather, somewhere between 200 and 300 gallons."

The Amethyst Brook feeds the Hills Reservoir in Pelham, from which the town of Amherst draws water.

The town is not currently using the Hills Reservoir because it has enough water without the Pelham supply, Ziomek said.

"The longer we don't use it, the more opportunity it has to clean itself up," he said.

Two contractors hired to clean up after the accident cleaned all the puddles of gasoline they could find and removed 40 cubic yards if soil which were contaminated.

Environmental damage from the gasoline should be minimal, Ziomek said, because of the dilution ratio between the 30-million-gallon reservoir and the estimated 200 to 300 gallons of spilled gasoline.

The tanker is owned by Farm Petroleum, Inc. of Hadley, a subsidiary of O'Connell Oil Associates of Pittsfield. By law, the company is required to pay the cost of the clean-up.

—NANCY KLINGENER

New attack on CC leaks

The deck of the Campus Center will be repaired at a cost of $4 million to stop frequent water leaks that have occurred since the building's opening in 1970, according to William Harris, the building's director.

Rain water trapped in the deck drips from the ceiling into the reading room, the University Store, the auditorium, the concourse and other areas.

To stop the leakage, 70,000 square feet of the deck will have to be repaired, Harris said.

"Money for the project is in hand," said Edmund Ryan, director of planning and construction for the UMass Physical Plant. Repairs had been delayed because of insufficient funds.

The University has to go through three stages before it can begin construction, according to Harris. The first, already completed, was to ascertain the extent of the leakage. The second is the design and repair process, now under way, and third is the bidding which will be received from contractors.

The repairs job will be supervised by the University Building Authority. The Physical Plant department will work with an engineering design firm to plan the work, Harris said.

—JOE SHARTRAND

Larceny, forgery reported

The theft and forgery of a blank check from a student's room on the 11th floor of Washington Tower was reported Monday morning, the University of Massachusetts police said.

A student's checks were stolen from an unlocked desk drawer while he was moving out of his room in December. He was not aware of the theft until his tuition check was returned because of insufficent funds in his account, police said.

A digital multi meter valued at $350 was reported stolen from a laboratory in Engineering East early yesterday morning. The door to the room was unlocked, police said.

—JEANETTE DeFORGE

★ shuttle — continued from page 1

The other crew members were commander Francis R. Scobee, 46, pilot Michael J. Smith, 40; Judith Resnik, 36; Ronald E. McNair, 35; Ellison S. Onizuka, 39; and Gregory B. Jarvis, 41.

Cheers turn to sobs

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) – At first they cheered at the explosion. They thought it was the shuttle's rocket boosters blasting away from the spacecraft.

But the cheers turned to silence, then sobbing seconds later when NASA announced there apparently had been a "major malfunction," then confirmed the crowds's worst fear by saying the shuttle had exploded.

"Oh! Dear God, no," sobbed Mary Wuellenweber, one of a dozen parents acting as chaperones for a class of third graders from Concord, N.H.

The class, including the son of Concord High School teacher Christa McAuliffe, had extended its stay in Florida to see the launch.

Scott McAuliffe, 9, was not with his classmates. He was with his father, Steven; sister, Caroline, 6; and other family members in an observation building not far from the grandstand that held the class and Mrs. McAuliffe's parents, Ed and Grace Corrigan of Framingham, Mass.

The parents stood silently during the launch, arm-in-arm. They remained standing together as the NASA loudspeaker brought the bad news. Then, a NASA official climbed a couple of rows into the bleachers, walked to them and said:

"The vehicle has exploded."

Collegian photo by Rob Skelton

UMass students gathered around television sets much of the afternoon for news of the tragedy.

WANT TO MAKE SOME MONEY?

WE ARE LOOKING FOR TYPESETTERS WITH RELATIVE SPEED (55 wds/min) PREFERABLY WITH WORD PROCESSING EXPERINCE AND THE ABILITY TO WORK EVENINGS

WE ARE ALSO LOOKING FOR NIGHT PASTE-UP WORKERS . . . GRAPHIC DESIGN OR ART BACKROUND HELPFUL

PLUS . . . WE NEED DRIVERS TO DRIVE OUR PAPER TO OUR PRINTER IN WARE, MA. LATE NIGHT- 1 to 3AM. Pays $15 for about an hour ride. GREAT JOB FOR LATE NIGHT FOLK

THE COLLEGIAN HAS IMMEDIATE OPENINGS SO COME DOWN TO 113 CAMPUS CENTER OR CALL 545-3500 and ask for PETE OR CONOR IN GRAPHICS

AIM HIGH

WE SPEAK TECHNOLOGY. DO YOU?

If you're a science or engineering major, you'll want to be part of today's Air Force. We're developing lasers and satellites that make science fiction seem dated. Air Force ROTC is one way to be part of this fast paced technology. Air Force ROTC has 2-through 4-year scholarship programs which help defray some of the college tuition, textbooks, laboratory and incidental fees. After graduation you'll be an Air Force officer with a job that those who are leading us into space age technology. Take a closer look at Air Force ROTC now. Don't let technology pass you by. Be a part of it.

For more information, contact:

[illegible] Hatter, Mass. [illegible]

AIR FORCE ROTC

Gateway to a great way of life.

LEARN TO FLY

U-MASS STUDENT CLUB

ACADEMIC CREDIT AVAILABLE-LOW COST 665577

Program For Gay, Lesbian & Bisexual Concerns

Office Help Wanted

Student workers (work study preferred) needed. Typing, clerical skills, sensitivity to Lesbian/Gay issues required. Work in a congenial, supportive environment.

Bring letter to John Adams, Room 101.

For more information call 545-4824.

Special Student / Youth Fares to

SCANDINAVIA

On Scheduled Airlines!

The inexpensive way to get to Scandinavia and other destinations in Europe, Asia, Africa and the Middle East.

Winter Rates to Scandinavia

New York to Copenhagen, Oslo, Stockholm from $215 one way, $350 roundtrip

Chicago to Copenhagen from $215 one way, $350 roundtrip

Chicago to Oslo, Stockholm from $255 one way, $430 roundtrip

For Information Call:

WHOLE WORLD TRAVEL

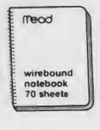
Youth and student travel experts for over a decade

17 E. 45th St., New York, NY 10017

(212) 986-9470

BIG SAVINGS FOR STUDENTS

HI-LITERS or MEMO PADS



3x5" 4 pk or 4x6" 3 pack

3/99¢

NOTEBOOK

10½x8" 70 ct

3/ $1.00

3 Subject NOTEBOOK

10½x8" 120 ct

2/ $1.00

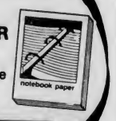
reg. $1.69

BIC STIC PENS

5/$1.00

5 subject NOTEBOOK

11x8½" 200 ct



$1.11

FILLER PAPER

10½x8" 200 ct

wide or college rule

59¢

reg. $1.29

CAMPUS GROOMING NEEDS

Personal Touch

4 disposable razors

66¢

save 33¢

Bausch & Lomb SALINE SOLUTION

8 oz

$1.99

reg. $3.45

ST. IVES SHAMPOO

18 oz jojoba or aloe

reg. $2.15

5 oz.

PHISO DERM

$1.77

reg. $2.95

ONE A-DAY plus EXTRA C

60 tablets

$3.99

reg. $5.99

SUCRETS

maximum strength, 24 ct

$2.22

reg. $3.15

KOROMEX

jelly or gel 126 gm

$3.99

reg. $6.49

RAVE PERM REFILL

$2.88

reg. $5.05

Archer Kent

DISCOUNT HEALTH & BEAUTY AIDS

191 No. Pleasant St.

Amherst

253-3534

sale prices in effect thru Feb. 4, 1986

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian

ED/OP

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted.

Founded in 1870

Executive Board—Fall 1985

Dode B. Levenson, Editor in Chief — Ian Polumbaum, Managing Editor — Larry Bouchie, Editorial Editor — Joel P. Coffidis, News Editor

Peter Soderberg, Production Manager — Conor Plunkett, Production Manager — Elizabeth Young, Business Manager — Sherry Sharfman, Business Manager

Board of Editors—Fall 1985

Dode B. Levenson, Editor in Chief — Ian Polumbaum, Managing Editor — Larry Bouchie, Editorial Editor — Joel P. Coffidis, News Editor — Chris Allen, Black Affairs Editor

John Yonce, Women's Editor — Kelly Segar, Arts Editor — Jennifer Ackerman, Arts Editor — Michelle Segal, Photo Editor — Paul Desmarais, Photo Editor

Peter Soderberg, Production Manager — Conor Plunkett, Production Manager — Sherry Sharfman, Business Manager — Elizabeth Young, Business Manager

An American on the road

William Spain

Wandering around in foreign parts really makes one conscious of one's nationality. The status of citizenship taken for granted and rarely considered while at home, becomes very important. Away from familiar laws and customs, identity is locked into the pages of a passport.

Over the last five months, I have thought a lot about what it means to be an American—my rights, responsibilities, and place in the world. Although I am not much of a flag-waver and am frequently critical of our faults, I do have deep feelings of respect and affection for my homeland. As I travelled through various other countries, I became increasingly interested not only in how we view ourselves, but also in the way we are perceived from the outside. To find out more about this, I made a point of questioning the local citizenry as to their ideas on the United States and what it represents to them.

I encountered every response from envy and admiration to suspicion and hostility. People told me that the United States is a bastion of freedom and honesty in a corrupt world. Others said that it is an imperialist nation that cares only for its own interests and will not hesitate to advance them at the expense of others. I heard how we are the only country to give its people a fair deal and how we are a selfish nation that wallows in luxury at home and supports tyranny abroad.

Those who believe the latter were particularly incensed at our treatment of the Third World. They think ludicrous the idea that it is a matter of national security to bully and subvert socialism in developing countries. They will stack our assets up against those of smaller, poorer nations and wonder how a superpower can possibly be threatened. Comparing our behavior to the similar hijinks of our Soviet rival, they will inevitably conclude that, in the international arena, there is very little difference between the two.

That one always hurt a bit. Being seen as anything but favorable in comparison to such a repressive, humorless, and paranoid system is not easy to swallow. Confronted by this attitude, my hackles would go up and I would do my best to defend myself but this often proved difficult.

I could go on about our individualism and devotion to liberty. I would tell of the beauty of our land and the high standard of living we work to gain from it. Pointing to the Constitution, I would insist that no other nation has ever had a document that so completely protects its people from government domination.

They would respond by insisting that these things only apply at home and we rarely, if ever, attempt to extend our benevolence outside our frontiers. All that was necessary to make it hard for me to justify our international conduct were names like "Somoza," "Pinochet," "Botha," or "Marcos." I could not defend our friendships with these despots and others like them and that really bugged me.

I think that Americans tend to see themselves as a peaceful people who are fierce only when provoked. We do not start wars but we finish them. Nobody has been hurt by our power that did not deserve it. We are loyal to our allies and merciful to our enemies. In victory, we seek reconciliation rather that revenge. While lovey to the ear and by no means altogether inaccurate, these perceptions do not reflect how much of the world looks at us.

William Spain is a Collegian columnist just back from India, Turkey, and Sri Lanka.

A challenge to overcome

Stephen Erickson

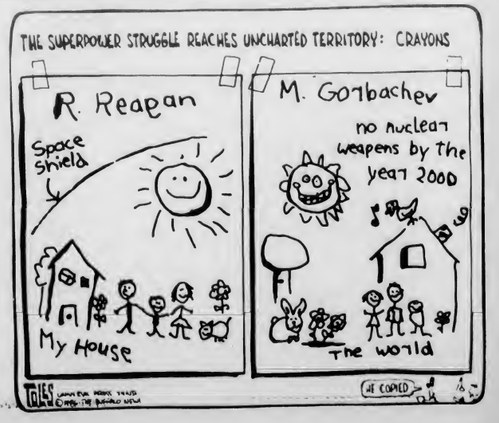
Appropriately, it was called Challenger. We are, after all a nation of challenges. A bold experiment in self government, the westward moving pioneers, the penniless immigrant, the freedom riders, and the business venture all exemplify the American willingness to attack obstacles in order to achieve a measure of greatness. From notions of manifest destiny, America is a self-appointed leader and pioneer in almost everything, including technology.

Technology has done wonderous things for us. Advances in transportation, home conveniences, and tele-communications have made better lives for us while continually pushing our frontiers outward, and have thus raised our expectations to the point where we believe we can achieve almost anything. On the frontier, however, there are risks, but we Americans have always accepted risks as a cost for progress.

We are eager to show the world, through our advances, the fruits of a free society and the rightness of our way of life. Therefore, when something that has become a symbol of our country and its future fail, we all falter, and when the lives of our fellow citizens are lost, we all feel the pain. When, for the world to see, the space shuttle Challenger exploded into a million pieces, a part of our very being as a nation also shattered.

To some, it may see that the tragedy of Challenger gives lie to our greatness. Perhaps Khadafy is gloating and the Soviets are comforted, and maybe we are not as sure of ourselves today as we were a few days ago. However, there is perhaps a quiet strength in our ability to feel the pain of our loss, to confront our deficiencies openly, and to assess our future activities in terms of human costs.

President Reagan had decided that a teacher should be the first civilian to go up in the shuttle so that the importance of that profession would be honored. What can we now say to those children who watched the shuttle, carrying their teacher on the ultimate field trip, disintigrate before their eyes?



An NBC reporter revealed that in a conversation with the captain of Challenger, the astronaut had expressed his belief that a shuttle accident was inevitable someday and that he hoped the shuttle program would not be cancelled as a result. If he could talk to us from the dead, perhaps that would be his testimony.

For a moment we will pause, and wonder about the sanity of sending human flesh hurtling into outer space encased in pieces of metal surrounded by and at the mercy of, electronics and explosive fuel. Americans will certainly not travel into space in the near future and the space program itself may very well be slowed, but we will assuredly continue to reach for the stars. We are not a nation of recklessness, but neither are we quitters. The task is to learn our sobering lessons while still attempting to overcome the challenges that lay before us.

Stephen Erickson is a Collegian columnist

FREE
Bowling Ball!

When you join and complete our "Have a Ball League." It's easy and fun for everyone.

Don't have a lot of time? This is the League for YOU!

- Short Season (Only 18 weeks)
- 2 Games (Approx. 1½ hrs.)

FOR INFORMATION CALL
584-4830

NORTHAMPTON BOWL

COUPON
COMPLIMENTARY BOWLING BAG
Show us this coupon when you join our league and you'll receive a complimentary bowling bag
Limit one per registration.

Curtains Up!

Come to the Gala Reopening of
BOWKER AUDITORIUM
Stockbridge Hall
University of Massachusetts at Amherst

Friday, January 31, 1986

11:30 am-2 pm Open House
Music, Refreshments, and a chance to view the area's newest chamber performance facility

8:00 pm
Gala Performance by the Springfield Symphony Orchestra Chamber Ensemble
Barry Tuckwell, guest conductor and horn soloist

Tickets: $15, $13

THE FINE ARTS CENTER
Call 545-2511

YOUR BSN IS WORTH MORE IN ARMY NURSING.

First, there are the respect and dignity accorded an Army officer. Then there's the opportunity to travel, changing hospitals without losing seniority, as so often happens in civilian hospitals.

And there's the opportunity to add new and different nursing disciplines. To study, continue your education, attending professional conferences, working in a variety of nursing specialties.

If you're working on your BSN or if you already have a BSN and are registered to practice in the United States or Puerto Rico, talk to our Army Nurse Corps Recruiter.

CALL COLLECT: 301 - 677 - 5355 / 4076

ARMY NURSE CORPS. BE ALL YOU CAN BE.

USED PAPERBACKS
at 40 - 80% Off
Publishers List Price
Thousands of Academic & Popular Paperbacks in Almost All Subjects
Save on Course Paperbacks

Valley Books

Carriage Shops
Downtown Amherst
M-F 10:30-5:30 Sat 10-5
Sun 12-5 549-6052
check or VISA/MC accepted

ROB LOWE
CYNTHIA GIBB
PATRICK SWAYZE

YOUNGBLOOD

The ice...
The fire...
The fight...
To be the best.

THE NEW UNITED ARTISTS Presents
A GUBER-PETERS Company Production A PETER MARKLE Film ROB LOWE "YOUNGBLOOD" CYNTHIA GIBB
ED LAUTER and PATRICK SWAYZE as Dirk Story by PETER MARKLE & JOHN WHITMAN Screenplay by PETER MARKLE
Executive Producers JON PETERS and PETER GUBER Produced by PATRICK WELLS and PETER BART
Directed by PETER MARKLE R

STARTS JANUARY 31st AT THEATRES EVERYWHERE!

ARTS

Art Dept. Chairman gets important commission

By JENNIFER ACKERMAN
Collegian Staff

George Wardlaw, the chairman of the University Art department, is exhibiting his work at the Museum of Fine Arts in Springfield. A special addition to the exhibit is a portion of a commission for a site-specific work for the Johnson Wax Company in Racine, Wisconsin. The company patronized Frank Lloyd Wright in 1936, which makes this commission a "terrific thing " to the artist.

Wardlaw's "Passage X: Interior Garden" is constructed with burnished columns of painted aluminum that reach heights of 30 feet. In spite of the tons of material used, the work has a "lightness, a luminosity, almost a transparency" that is brought out through the abstract coloring of the columns.

This important piece will also be joined with three other major works by the artist in the Milwaukee area, one at the Milwaukee Art Museum, and two at the Mount Sinai Medical Center in Milwaukee.

Because the commission is for a private family-run company, the artist wanted "to create an environment that is visually challenging for the people who work there. Something pleasant without being sugary...I'm also walking a tightrope between the effect on the first day, say, or during the first year and later on. I don't want it to be oppressive on their environment when we install it, but then as time goes by, I don't want it to fade into the wallpaper, so to speak, and disappear."

"Passage X: Interior Garden" is planned to be completed for the Johnson Wax Company's centennial celebration next summer.

George Wardlaw, sculptor and chairman of the University Art department.

AUDITION CALLS

Now's the time to warm up for this semester's heatrics in the Five College area. Here are some audition calls...good luck.

The University of Massachusetts Department of Theater will hold open auditions for Talley's Folly and All's Well That Ends Well from 7 p.m. to 11 p.m. on Feb. 3 and 4. Auditions for Talley's Folly will be held in rm. 08 of the UMass Fine Arts and All's Well That Ends Well auditions will be in rm. 206. For further information call 545-3900.

The Smith College Theatre Department will hold auditions for Antigone Too at 7:30 p.m. on Feb. 3, 4 and 5 in the TV Studio at Smith College.

There is a chorus call for Project's Opera's production of Die Fledermaus, to be held in May at the Academy of Music in Northampton. Contact Janet Sadler at 586-5026 or 296-4028.

Theater in the Works is now accepting scripts for its ninth season at the Rand Theater. Aspiring playwrights should send scripts to "Resident Dramaturg," Department of Theater, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, MA 01003.

INTO ART?

There will be a meeting for Five College students interested in writing for the ARTS page this semester at 4 p.m. Friday at the Collegian Campus Center, rm.114. This meeting is mandatory for all staff members and correspondents who wish to achieve staff status.

ARTSLINES

As we all know, the first week of classes can be hectic. But what else could be more relaxing than taking in a little culture? There's plenty of events going on in the Five College Area to choose from.

January Clearance, the Five College Interterm Playwrights Works-in-Progress Presentation will be held at 8 p.m. tonight in the Hallie Flanagan Studio at Smith College. The works of eight student playwrights will be presented. Admission is $1. For reservations and information call 584-3023, 12:30 - 4:30 p.m.

The Wheeler Gallery opens this semester with Trying to Live The American Dream, a project by undergraduate Robert P. Miller. An opening reception will be held from 5-7 p.m. tomorrow. The exhibit will continue through Feb. 9.

The Amherst College Department of Theater and Dance is presenting The Trial—a Student Thesis Production by Jean Louis Barrault and Andre Gide—at 8 p.m. on Friday and Saturday in the Kirby Theater at Amherst College. General Admission is $1 with Amherst College student admitted free with valid I.D.

The University Gallery opens a dual exhibit for the public on Saturday. floatinghouse, DEADMAN is a major sculptural installation created by artist Peter Shelton especially for the University Gallery. Daniel Rush is exhibiting Cantos for an Accompanying Role. Gallery hours are Mon. thru Fri. 11 a.m. - 4:30 p.m., and Saturday and Sunday 2 - 5 p.m. Both exhibits continue through March 16.

Harpsichordist Wendy Young can be heard at 8:15 p.m. on Saturday in Buckley Recital Hall at Amherst College. The program will be comprised entirely of the works of Bach. Admission is free.

Forty young people selected from the National Guild of Community Music Schools will perform a program of solo and chamber music at 2 p.m. on Sunday in the Bezanson Recital Hall located in the UMass Fine Arts Center. The soloist, ranging from age seven to twenty-five, will be performing music for the piano, voice, cello, flute, violin, French horn and oboe. Admission is free. For more information call 545-0519.

The Performing Arts Division is sponsoring the Northeast Honors Recital at 2 p.m. Sunday in the Bezanson Recital Hall.

There will be a benefit concert held for the Center for the Arts in Northampton at 3 p.m. on Sunday at the Center for the Arts. Included is a reunion of cellist Adriana Contino—a concert cellist—and her former accompaniest Jacinthe Couture. General admission is $6 and students and senior citizen tickets are $4. Call 586-7282 for information.

A concert of traditional Scottish music will be held by folksinger Jean Redpath at 7:30 p.m. on Sunday at Buckley Recital Hall, Amherst College. Tickets in advance are $6 for general admissions and $4 for students and senior citizens. Tickets are $7.50 at the door. Call 548-9363 or 549-0480 for further information.

A program of Baroque and contemporary music will be performed by the Western Brass Quintet—a faculty ensemble from Western Michigan University—at 8:15 p.m. on Feb. 7 in Buckley Recital Hall, at Amherst College. Tickets are $8 for the general public and $4 for students and senior citizens.

Valley Playwrights will present a reading of What Are Friends For at 8 p.m. on Feb. 7 and 8 at the Street Studio Theatre in Hadley. A matinee performance will be held at 2 p.m. on Feb. 15 at the Jones Library in Amherst. Tickets are available at the door.

A concert of South Indian classical music will be performed by Karaidudi Subramanian and Trichy Sankaran at 8:15 p.m. on Feb. 8 in Buckley Recital Hall, Amherst College. The concert is part of the 1985-86 Music of the Whole Earth Series. Admission is free.

Amherst's Buckley Recital Hall is host to the Young People's Symphony, to be held at 4 p.m. on Feb. 9. This group, comprised of local high school seniors, is under the direction of Springfield Symphony Maestro Robert Gutter. General admission is $4 with student and senior citizen tickets $2.50.

UNIVERSITY STORE

There's no need to hurry. Our convenient locations allow you to shop early or late for your Back To School needs.

Store Hours the Week of 1/27-1/31

Main Store Mon & Tue 9 am - 9 pm
Located in the Campus Center — Wed, Thurs, Fri 9 am - 5 pm; Sat 10 am - 3 pm

Mini Store Mon - Fri 7:30 am to 10 pm
Located in the Student Union Bldg. — Sat - Sun 8:00 am to 10 pm

Hampden and Worcester
Munchys Mon - Sun 8 am - 9 pm

Franklin Munchy
Mon - Sun 7:30 am - 9 pm

Textbook Annex Mon 9 am - 5 pm
Located in the Physical Plant Building — Tue, Wed, Thurs 9 am - 9 pm; Friday 9 am - 5 pm; Sat 10 am - 3 pm

UMASS CREDIT UNION

- Minimum balance in a checking account is $25, and $5 in a savings account
- American Express Travelers Checks and Money Orders
- Accounts with over $50 earn 6% intersest
- LOANS! Both Car and Personal
- Hours: Mon-Thu 10-3; Fri 10-4
- OPEN AN ACCOUNT TODAY - YOU HAVE NOTHING TO LOSE AND ALOT TO GAIN!

314 Student Union Bldg. 545–2800 Member NCUA

Pi Kappa Alpha
presents
the
7th ANNUAL DANCE COMPETITION
At:
JUSTIN RYAN'S
The Meeting Place

MARCH 7 and 8
7 PM - 7 AM
Everyone's a Winner

A DUSK TO DAWN BATTLE TO OVERCOME MULTIPLE SCLEROSIS

FIRST PRIZE: Trip for Two to Ft. Lauderdale during Spring Break (all expenses)

Trophies to the winner of each division

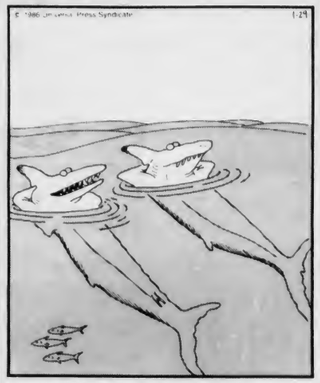
Come Join the Fun!!
Registration Forms available at J.R.'s or Utopia or call 534-0229

Sponsored by UTOPIA SPAS and 99 THE HOT SPOT FM
175 University Drive, Amherst

DANCE TO VIDEOS BY TODAY'S TOP STARS!

OVER 200 PRIZES TO BE GIVEN AWAY!

Date: Sat. Feb 1, '86 Time: 8:00 pm.
Place: Student Union Ballroom
Donation: $2.00



Proceeds to benefit the T. J. Martell Foundation for Cancer and Leukemia Research.

Sponsored by: The Commuter Area Gov. With Chevrolet and GMAC.

DOONESBURY GARRY TRUDEAU

THE FAR SIDE BY GARY LARSON

"Gee, that's a wonderful sensation. ... Early in the morning, you just woke up, you're tired, movin' kinda slow, and then that ooooold smell hits your nose ... blood in the water."

"I don't think I've felt this way since John Kennedy got shot."

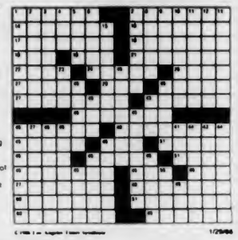
— Gov. Michael Dukakis reacting to the space shuttle disaster.

FREAKER PATROL BY DOWE & O'BRIEN

HOUSEMATES BY R.MILLER

GORDY BY GORDE

BLOOM COUNTY BY BERKE BREATHED



DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE
Edited by Trude Michel Jaffe

ACROSS
1 Actress Miles et al.
7 Discount store owner?
14 Churchman of rank
16 Popular window
17 Resort area on the Mediterranean
18 Advanced student
19 That, in Seville
20 Coupe, for example
21 Auctioneer's function
22 Dadaism's husband
24 Peacock
26 Soft rain
27 Swiss ski center
29 November winners
30 Manqueur's income
31 Future plant
33 Arab
34 More irate
36 Have empathy with 40 Like some roads
45 Vestment
46 ——— got six pence
47 Saree wearer
48 Cat's ear pest
49 Ancient, old style
51 Gun's relative
52 Natives of Brest
54 ——— was saying
56 Brit dance org.
57 SE Wyoming city
58 "No No ——" (song)
60 State socialist
61 Not as spick and span
62 Expunges
63 Helps

DOWNS
1 Some horse show jumps
2 Barley appendages
3 Pinnacle
4 Address MacGraw
5 This one: Lat.
6 Sandal feature
7 Parts of the skyline
8 Irish product
9 Goes on stage
10 Pressure boat
11 Tossing
12 Guevara's first name
13 Balked Boat
15 Lobe feature
23 Medicinal paths
25 Insecure
26 List of candidates
30 Less common
32 Ending with Paul
33 Sopping
35 Lace producer
36 Hardened
37 Esoteric kingdoms
38 True to life
39 Symbolic material
41 Snitch
42 Dormancy
43 Carbonated
44 Bankers, at times
46 Map features
48 Cookie flavoring
50 Jacob's brother et al.
53 Forget, perhaps
55 Part of MIT
59 Summer, in Caen

ANSWERS TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

Menu

LUNCH

Hamburg on Roll
Egg Roll/Fried Rice
Duc Sauce, Soy Sauce

BASICS LUNCH

Golden Burgers
Egg Roll/Fried Rice
Duc Sauce, Soy Sauce

DINNER

PRIME RIB NIGHT
Rib Roast of Beef/Au Jus
Chicken Cordon Bleu/Supreme Sauce
Cranberry Sauce

BASICS DINNER

Zucchini and Cheese Boats
Chicken Breasts with Rice Stuffing

Weather

Sun and mixed clouds today with highs in the mid-twenties. Chance of snow tonight with temps hovering in the upper teens. Thursday sunny and cold with a high of around 30 degrees.

Staff

Night Editor Daniel Sobel
Copy Editor Ian Polumbaum
Layout Technician Ansel Zinter
Photo Technician Brian Guarnotta
Production Supervisor Ansel Zinter
Production Laura Bell, Kelly Sieger, Leslie Nakajima, Gary Brennan

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian (USPS permit #56), a Registered Student Organization at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, is published Monday through Friday excluding holidays, exams and vacations periods. Content is determined solely by the Collegian Board of Editors without prior approval from University administrators, faculty or staff. Operations are funded solely by advertising and subscriptions revenue. Subscriptions and advertising rates are available at 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Mass. 01003, (413) 545-3500. Postmaster: send address changes to the above address.

★ basketball

continued from page 12

The lead got as high as 11, 79-68 as Smith hit two at the line again, but Jim McCafrey (a season-high 26) kept Holy Cross respectable at the end with several long-range jumpers.

"It's tough to get up for non-league games, but we did a lot of good things out there tonight," said Gerlufsen. "Hopefully, we can build on this game and play well on the road (where UMass plays its next four games starting Thursday night at George Washington).

For UMass, Sutton was high again wih 18. Smith added 14 and eight assists. Freshman David Brown had 15 and Milum added 13 and five rebounds.

The Minutemen shot 70 percent from the floor in the first half (57 percent for the game) and 70 percent from the line.

"It's getting a lot better," said Smith. "We're playing like a team and getting some good efforts. It's important for us to play like this on the road. Playing together is important in other team's gyms. I think we can have a good second half in the league. We're capable of it."

The team's goals, according to a poster in the locker room, include going undefeated the rest of the way at home and finishing in the top four of the league (they are curently fifth). Can they do it?

"We're a lot better than people give us credit," said Sutton. "If we get together, watch out."

★ women's basketball

continued from page 12

and undefeated in the Atlantic-10 with a 7-0 record, were led by Sue Wick's 32 points and nine rebounds.

UMass trailed by only four at halftime, 43-39, after Rutgers raced out to a 7-0 lead early in the first half. But then the roof feel in as the Lady Knights reeled off a 16-0 spurt in the second half to take command of the game.

MINUTEWOMEN MUTTERINGS: Senior Kelly Collins and sophomore Tara Lewis are still out with knee injuries, with Collins expected to practice soon. Collins is averaging 3.3 ppg and 2.2 boards per game. Lewis is averaging 7.4 ppg and 4.4 rebounds per game. . . Hebel's 20 points against Harvard marks the sixth time this season she has led the team in scoring. . . Freshman forward Beth Wilbor was nominated for the A-10 rookie-of-the-week for the week ending January 20.

★ swimming

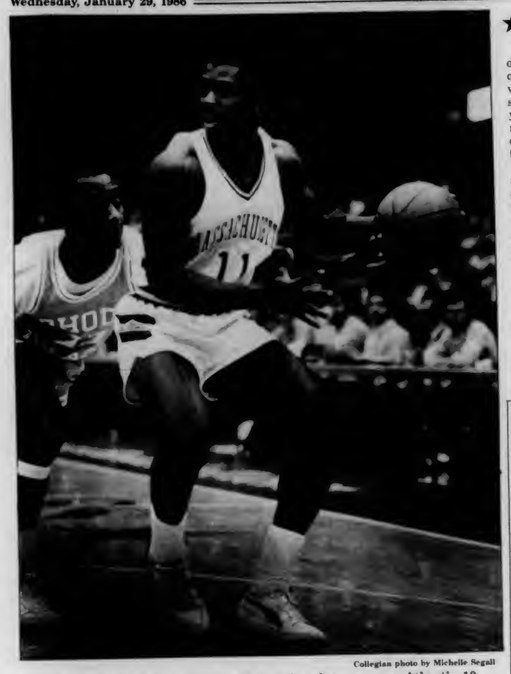
continued from page 12

year in a dual meet. "Dual meets aren't indicative. You need a lot of depth because they score down to 16 or 18 spots in the New England meet. I'm taking an eighteen man roster and I feel everyone will score. It's not just the firsts and fifths but the tenths also that win the meet," Yarworth noted.

The Minutemen defeated the host Rams, 72-41 for their eighth victory of the season and 14th going back to last year.

MASS. APPROVED INSPECTION STATION
RADIAL TIRE SALE
P155/80R13
$29.95
Includes Mounting plus MA State Tax
North Amherst Tire & Auto Center
"Full Service Tire Store"
78 Sunderland Rd., No. Amherst, MA
Across from Watroba's Store
549-4704
Most Major Credit Cards Accepted

RENT A WRECK
New & Used Cars
Trucks & Vans Also Available
North Amherst Rent-A-Wreck
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880



* * *WELCOME BACK UMASS PARTY * * *
at
CHANGES Dance Club
Tonight - Wednesday January 29th
REVERSE COVER
Every Customer Arriving Before 10:00 PM Receives $1.00
* * * FREE SKI LIFT TICKETS * * *
CHANGES dance club
Free Sodas For Designated Drivers
Must Be of Legal Drinking Age
Rt. 9 Amherst 256-8284

Styles by Deborah
Introduces
CAROL GARDNER
Styles By Deborah is pleased to announce that Carol Gardner has joined its staff of skilled cosmetologists. Carol, formerly of Regency Hairstylists, has been in the area for four years. She will be available for appointments beginning January 27. Carol looks forward to seeing her old friends and welcoming new ones.
For your appointment call
549-5610
65 University Drive, Amherst • 549-5610

UMass Springbreak Party 86!
March 15-22
SPRING BREAK PARTY
Includes: 7 Nights Lodging, 8 Beach Days
Dates: Check in any Saturday, Check out the following Saturday
Ft. Lauderdale, Florida — Springbreak Mecca for College Students Everywhere!
• 8 Beach Days • 7 Nights Lodging on the Strip at Lauderdale Beach Hotel / off the Strip at Days Inn
• Swimming Pools • Patio Bars • Restaurants • Special LUV Happy Hour Prices
• LUV Parties at the Button and Penrods and much, much more.
All this from $189, ya gotta LUV it!!
Daytona Beach — Drive on the Beach and Party all Day!
• 8 Beach Days • 7 Nights Lodging on the Strip at the Castaways Beach Resort
• Swimming Pools • Restaurants • Bars and Night Clubs
• Special LUV Happy Hour Prices and Pool Parties
All this from $119, ya gotta LUV it!!
Key West — Relax and enjoy the sunsets in the American Tropics for only $149
• 8 Beach Days • 7 Nights Lodging at the Days Inn on the North end of Island
• Swimming Pool on location • Wide variety of restaurant and bars
• Free sunset festival nightly.
Spring Skiing at Killington, VT from $119
2 day or 5 day packages including:
• Mountainside condo lodging
• Lift tickets for all six mountains
• Shuttle service to slopes daily
• Shuttle service to bars and restaurants nightly
Take a study break and celebrate the rites of spring with friends, parties and fun!
* FLIGHTS AVAILABLE
* CALL NOW!
Ft. Lauderdale is below the frost line in Sunny Southern Florida!
Transportation is available on:
Charter bus: Check with your local representative or call our reservations staff for your price.
Airline: Check with your local representative or call our reservations staff for your price.
U-Drive: Share the driving expenses with friends—this is the least expensive way to go.
Contact: Ken Garnet 549-1749
John Fraser 549-6403
Grad Rosenbaum 549-6850
YOUR LOCAL LUV REPRESENTATIVE
LUV Tours
800-368-2006 USA Toll Free 800-542-8003 Virginia Toll Free
Enterprise Travel Center P.O. Box 7827 Charlottesville, Virginia 22906
A Subsidiary of J & B Enterprises, Inc.

UPC presents

INXS
FRI. FEB. 7th at 8 PM
Student Union Ballroom
TIX $10.50 UMass
$12.50 Gen. Public
On sale 1/29 at
For the Record (Faces)
Main St. Records and Tix Unlimited

Collegian photo by Michelle Segall

Sophomore guard Lorenzo Sutton has been names Atlantic 10 Conference Player of the Week. He is scoring over 18 points per game.

★ notebook

continued from page 12

Jones Transfers: In other UMass news, junior college transfer Ben Jones, who left the team for personal reasons before the new year, has transfered to Tennessee State. Jones averaged 3.8 points in six games for UMass.

Recruiting update: UM assistant coach Dennis Jackson said Monday that a 6-10 1/2 high school player from Staten, Island, NY has narrowed his choice of schools to UMass and Providence College.

Abdul Shamsid-Deen, who was featured in a two-page spread in Saturday's New York Post, started out entertaining the offers of the University of Miami, Villanova and Syracuse along with PC and UMass, but Jackson reported that the big man told him that it comes down to the Big East Friars or the Minutemen.

Shamsid-Deen, who plays for a bad team in New York but still gets over 23 points and 15 rebounds per game, would be the first legitimate big center to ever sign with UMass.

Coach Ron Gerlufsen said that he hopes to bring in three players this season and that UMass is seeking players only 6-8 or bigger NCAA rules allow up to 15 scholarships per team, but the coach said that even with Jones' transfer and Jackie Sheehan's possible graduation (he has a year of eligibility left), UMass will still only bring in three players. Should Sheehan leave, UMass will have 10 players on scholarship returning next season.

Minuteman Mutterings: Famed former Minuteman Julius Erving was rumoured to be attending the rededication of the renovated Cage on Monday night. The Doc played in Boston (and lost to the Cetics) on Sunday and didn't have a game for a few days, but never showed, or was planned on according to athletic department sources.

Poor Scooter: Glen "Scooter" Tropf of Holy Cross is hating his nickname right now. UMass fans heckled the freshman guard, yelling "Scooter" every time he touched the ball on Monday. The final indignity came when he missed an uncontested dunk in the second half.

Tom Emerson missed the HC game with an injured leg, he is expected back for the road trip.

Sports Notices

Women's Lacrosse Meeting: Today, 4 p.m., NOPE 153. Mandatory meeting for all players.

Women's Volleyball Meeting: Thursday, 6 p.m., Boyden 219. Mandatory meeting for all players.

Intramural hockey: Rosters for intramural hockey teams are due in the Intramural office on Thursday, Jan. 30. A managers meeting will be held in the Intramural office on Thursday at 4 p.m. All fees are due prior to Feb 4. People wishing to referee or be a scorekeeper should attend a meeting at 4:30 on Thursday in the Intramural office. For more information, call John Jonas at 546-6397.

THE ULTIMATE 30 MINUTE WORKOUT
Until Friday, February 7th you can work out at the BODY SHOP FITNESS CENTERS for FREE!!!
Our friendly and knowledgeable staff will answer your questions and demonstrate our state-of-the-art Hydrafitness equipment.
EXERCISE WITH A FRIEND AND SAVE $$$$
Sign up with a friend and get the 2nd membership at 1/2 PRICE!!
THE BODY SHOP
TWO CONVENIENT CAMPUS LOCATIONS:
Boyden & Totman
7:30 - 9:00 am
12:00 - 1:00 pm
4:00 - 6:00 pm
Still only $45/semester !
* 1/2 price for first time members only

Thursday, January 30 at 7:15 pm
Alliance Christian Fellowship
WELCOME!
CAMPUS CENTER_UMASS

OOPS!
Now's the time to call...
North Amherst Motors
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880
Expert Repairs & Reconditioning

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Come to Collegian Office CC 113 • 8:45-3:45 Mon Thurs; 8:45 2:30 Fri • Deadline is 2 days prior to publication day
Cash in advance • Phone number FREE

ALLIANCE CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP
Get psyched for a new semester! First meeting THurs 7:15, Campus Center newcomers welcome

AUTO FOR SALE
1978 Plymouth Horizon 4 spd 4 dr reliable transportation $1000 or BO 665-8335
Is it true you can buy jeeps for $44 through the U.S. government? Get the facts today! Call 1-312-742-1142 ext 6931-A

BED & BREAKFAST
Parents visiting? AMITY HOUSE is a cozy, convenient alternative for non-smokers in the heart of town. B & B for 2: $45.00. U-Mass discount $5.00. Call 549-6446

"CASH"
Paying cash for your baseball cards Please call Mike 546-6106

ENTERTAINMENT
MOBILE MUSIC INC Disks spun to your taste Call Chris 256-6845

FOR RENT
1 bedroom in a 3 bedroom apartment close to town and campus $225/ call Donna 665-8133
3 bedroom apt Belchertown on bus route $625/mo includes heat, water 323-5907
Fridge Rentals free delivery R & F Package store 253-9742

FOR SALE
Waterbed queensize Inc. heater, liner, mattress, frame $125.00 Tom 549-4071
Computer Terminal & 1200 baud modem $190 each 549-0085
New couch, never used $300 negotiable call eves 256-1040
GOVERNMENT HOMES from $1 (U repair) Also delinquent tax property. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. GH-9618 for information
New Tandy 1000 includes double disk dr, keyboard monitor. Also a PFS write and desk mate program 1,900 call Larri after 7:00 665-4991

HELP WANTED
work-study positions available. The duties include answering phone, taking classified ads, filing, and misc duties. Applications will be taken only until January 31, 1986 at 2:30. Decisions will be made by the following Tuesday.

GOVERNMENT JOBS
$16,040-$59,230/yr. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. R-9616 for current federal list.
Federal Overseas, nationwide jobs $17,101-$61,104! Summer, Career! Call Guidedirectory, Applications, Listings, Newsservice! (916) 944-4444 ext. G.S. 161
Exercise Instructor. Work study, CPR preferred background, Exercise Science, Sports Management, LS&R, or HRTA. 5-6665 during Body Shop hours.
Foreign Students: Recently published guide to Greencard from F1/J1 visas. Free details: Immigrant Publications, PO Box 5159911, Dallas, TX 75251
Summer & Career Jobs Available! Resort hotels, cruise liners & amusement parks are now accepting applications for employment! To receive an application and information, write: Tourism Information Services PO Box 7411 Hilton Head Island, SC 29928

INSTRUCTION
Know your car. Basic Automobile Workshop, 28 hours including classroom and shop. Limited enrollment. 253-2098
Music and Dance Instruction. Performing Arts Division. register by Wednesday, February 5. UMass student discounts available. Old Chapel/UMass 545-0519

JOURNALISM EXPERIENCE
Bring the news of your school to the five college area. Gain valuable experience reporting for an award winning newspaper. Contact: DAILY COLLEGIAN 545-3500

OVEREATING!
Can't stop overeating? Get "50 Quick Ways to Stop a Binge Once It Starts" Send $4.95 to Elke, Dept. CB186, 605 Leland, St. Louis MO 63130

PARTY PARTY PARTY
Come with Luv Tours to sunny and exciting Fort Lauderdale or Daytona. Best hotels on/off the strip. Trans. available. Best prices going! Call: Mark, 549-6173, Ken 549-1749, John 549-6403

PERSONALS
STOLEN blue CB ski jacket, gloves and scarf from 8 Brandywine party on 1/17. Please return no questions asked! Call 256-1719
Goose - Welcome back. Maybe we can finally get together. Whatever
SCREWING OFF - 50 creative ways to waste time on the job without getting caught. Send $4.95 to Elke, Dept. CB186, 605 Leland, Suite 704, St Louis MO 63130
It's OK everybody, don't worry any more, Day Graphics is back!

ROOMMATE WANTED
Female nonsmoker to share room in Brandywine call anytime 549-6037
Female to share room in Southwood townhouse for spring semester call 253-9413

SERVICES
Typing. Fast, accurate. Call anytime 665-7652
Lynne Hass Esq. P.C. Immigration Law evening appointments call Springfield Office 781-6570 or 665-8613

TRAVEL
SPRING BREAK on the beach at South Padre Island, Daytona Beach, Fort Lauderdale, Fort Walton Beach or Mustang Island/Port Arabesa from only $89; and skiing at Steamboat or Vail from only $86! Deluxe lodging, parties, goodie bags, more. . .Hurry, call Sunchase Tours for more information and reservations toll free 1-800-321-5911 TODAY! When your Spring Break counts. . .count on Sunchase

WANTED
Attention: Adrian Scott is now auditioning Springsteen and similarly influenced musicians for an original/cover band that will play the college/club circuit. Have rehearsal space and studio. If you are an interested lead guitarist/bassist/drummer/keyboardist, call 546-5806

WANTED TO RENT
Need a room? Chi Omega provides a 21 meal plan (homecooked of course), double-occupancy rooms; on bus route but within walking distance. Any woman interested should call Mardee at 545-0162 or 545-2092

SPORTS

Collegian photo by Paul Desmarais

Freshman forward John Milum jams home a dunk Monday against Holy Cross. UMass won, 82-76.

SLAM!

The dunk is back in the UMass arsenal

By PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

The dunk is back.

It used to be that a University of Massachusetts basketball player needed 15 feet of clear space to get off even a little one-handed dunk - and even that set the Cage to rocking.

Now, however, the current Minutemen can reel off serious dunks - the two-handed, look-out-below here it comes variety. And they do it with increasing regularity.

The Minutemen employed the dunk several times in beating Holy Cross, 82-76 before 4,024 in the sold-out Cage on Monday night. The Minutemen fell to West Virginia on Saturday night, 69-61 also at the Cage, to slump to 3-5 in the Atlantic 10 Conference.

The Holy Cross game saw the official return of the UMass dunk. Not since the days of Edwin Green have the Minutemen exhibited dunks like they have recently.

"It's a part of the game plan, I like to see the players dunk whenever they can," said UMass coach Ron Gerlufsen. "It gives us a lift mentally and I think it discourages the over team."

The UMass chapter of Phi Slamma Jamma includes 6-9 freshman center John Milum, 6-6 freshman forward Duane Chase, 6-8 freshman center Sean Mosby, 6-2 sophomore guard Lorenzo Sutton and 5-11 junior guard Carl Smith.

Milum creates his own slam chances. Working hard on the offensive boards, Milum gets the unexpected dunks, going up in traffic to slam home a rebound. Chase, the captain of the UMass air force, works off the baseline, taking lobs from the backcourt and throwing down the forceful type of dunks that usually force opposing coaches to call a time out.

Sutton is the artistic dunker. A 6-10 high jumper in high school, UM's high scorer gets great height on his takeoff, juggles the ball a little in the air, and sets the crowd off with the big slam.

Smith has dunked twice in his career, once as a freshman and again Tuesday against the Crusaders. The 5-11 co-captain isn't going to go up strong in the paint or make anyone forget Micheal Jordan, but give him the lane and a lot of room, and he'll get one off.

"I didn't think the old man had it in his legs," said Gerlufsen with a laugh. "He really surprised me."

"I dunk once every two years," said Smith. "Although I may have one left for this year."

All kidding aside, UMass is starting to turn things around and the dunking exhibitions have helped. The Minutemen played a strong game on Saturday against a good West Virginia team that is atop the Atlantic 10 at 8-0.

The Mountaineers threw a box-and-one defense around Sutton. Leaving guard Dale Blaney to guard Sutton man-to-man, WVU took its four other players and had them play a zone around Sutton and Blaney. Averaging over 21 points-per-game in the A-10, Sutton is a constant threat to blow a game open and Mountaineer coach Gale Catlett recognized this and set his defense to stop the 6-2 sophomore.

UMass didn't respond well and didn't set the picks to free Sutton to shoot. The Minutemen trailed only 38-34 at halftime and were in the game at 56-54 with 5:50 as Sutton canned a jumper.

But two missed layups and a key turnover in the final minutes hurt UMass and inexperienced UMass lost another tough game, 69-61.

Sutton scored 17 in the gamwe to lead UMass. WVU had 18 from Blaney and 14 from Holman Harley.

Needing a victory against a bad Holy Cross team before its best crowd since the season opener, UMass responded with a strong effort to topple the Crusaders, 82-76 on Monday night.

UMass, spurred on by the rowdy crowd, took a 25-20 lead with 9:23 left in the first half, but saw that lead cut to one, 35-34 at halftime.

The Crusaders, on the strength of Paul Durkee's inside play, took a 46-41 lead with five minutes gone in the second half. Gerlufsen rallied his troops and after a time out, UMass regained the lead for good at 54-53 as Smith hit two free throws.

continued on page 10

Basketball notebook

Sutton selected player-of-the-week

By PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

University of Massachusetts guard Lorenzo Sutton has been named Atlantic 10 Conference Player-of-the-Week for his efforts against Duquesne and West Viginia.

The 6-2 sophomore scored 42 points with 11 rebounds and five steals in the two games, which UMass split. He has won the award twice this season, splitting it once with St. Joseph's guard Maurice Martin.

Sutton is the leading scorer in A-10 games with 21.3 points-per-game. He is third overall at 18.5 ppg, but leads aqll guards. In the last eight games, Sutton has led UM in scoring and shot over 63 percent from the field.

If he can maintain his pace, Sutton would have the highest scoring average for a UMass player since Al Skinner's 18.8 in 1974. He could finish with over 500 points, the most since Dr. J's 727 in 1971.

UM point guard Carl Smith is also among the A-10's leaders. The 5-11 junior co-captain is first in assists with 7.4 per-game. He is in the top three in free throw shooting with an 87 percent mark from the line. He is scoring 8.7 ppg.

continued on page 11

UM women roll past Harvard

By ROGER CHAPMAN
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts women's basketball team snapped a five game losing streak last night as the Minutewomen stopped Harvard University, 76-67, in Cambridge. The win improves the Minutewomen's record to 9-10 overall, while Harvard fell to 10-5 on the season.

UMass was led by senior guard Barbara Hebel's 20 points. Sophomore center Sue Burtoft added 12 points and 11 rebounds and senior forward Karen Damminger chipped in 12 points and 8 boards. Hebel's game status was questionable due to a sprained ankle she suffered in the second half of Saturday's loss to Rutgers.

The Minutewomen also got eight points and five rebounds from freshman forward Beth Wilbor and 10 points and seven assists from freshman point guard Christel Zullo.

Barb Keffer and Anna Collins scored 24 and 18 points respectively for Harvard.

The Crimson led for the first seven minutes of the game, jumping out to a 12-6 lead. But the Minutewomen went into halftime with a 45-32 lead thanks to a 20-9 spurt midway through the first half. Harvard rallied and closed to within six points in the second half, but UMass, aided by 28 Crimson turnovers, held on for its first win since January 9, when the Minutewomen defeated Duquesne University.

On Saturday, the Minutewomen were trounced by Rutgers University, 85-65, at the Curry Hicks Cage. Hebel scored 14 points and senior guard Juanita Matthews grabbed seven rebounds for UMass. The Lad

continued on page 10

Collegian photo by Paul Desmarais

Senior center Sue Burtoft goes up with a shot agains Rugers on Saturday.

Undefeated UMass hosts Huskies

Swimmers, 8-0, in final home meet

By JOE ROBERTS
Collegian Staff

Coming off an easy victory over the University of Rhode Island, the undefeated University of Massachusetts men's swim team hosts the University of Connecticut in their final home meet of the season tonight.

Minuteman coach Russ Yarworth is hoping for a big crowd for tonight's 7 p.m. meet in Boyden Pool. "The kids deserve a big crowd because they're undefeated," he said. Senior freestyler Drew Donovan agreed, "You should support the teams that do well. Earlier in the season there was some people from a frat there and they rocked the place. It would be nice to have a crowd."

Donovan is not surprised by the team's success thus far, "I talked to Russ at the beginning of the season and I knew if we had (John) Turner we'd be all right and with the freshman we'd be much better with a lot of depth," he said.

Yarworth isn't sure what to expect from UConn. "They just beat Springfield (one of UMass' closer meets) and they got two new kids in January. It depends on how they prepare for the meet, whether they train for the meet or swim through us. They may think they can't beat us and they'll work for later meets and swim off events. We've beat them four years in a row so they may come out fighting , if they do they could give us a tough meet."

Connecticut is strong in the sprints and they have good freestylers but they are weak in the backstroke Yarworth said. "They have a good young team but not a lot of depth. We'll go with our basically strong line-up. It's the last of our tough meets, we have to make sure we win. It's always fun to beat UConn,"

It's hard for the Minutemen not to look past this meet, as down the road is their final goal, a championship in the New England meet. "The swimmers are more confident, they are starting to believe. The meet will be a dogfight with Williams, but Tufts and Southern Connecticut will be tough also," Yarworth said.

UMass has already beaten Williams this

continued on page 10

Sports at a Glance

UMass Schedule:
Today:
Men's Swimming: Connecticut, Boyden Pool, 7 p.m.
Women's Gymnastics: Yale, Boyden Gymnastics Center, 7 p.m.

NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY

The Massachusetts Daily

COLLEGIAN

RSO-UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS-AMHERST 113 CAMPUS CENTER 545-3500 VOLUME CXVI ISSUE 3

January 30, 1986

INSIDE

- The Coast Guard tows in 600 pounds of debris from the shuttle. Page 2.
- Survey finds students content with campus conditions. Page 3.
- Swimmers remain undefeated with easy victory. Page 16.

Fate of inn still to be determined

By PHIL SERAFINO
Collegian Staff

Labor troubles at the Lord Jeffery Inn have resulted in its closing while the Amherst Inn Co. decides the fate of the building.

The inn was padlocked New Year's day by manager Eric Nusbaum after seven months of negotiations between management and union employees at the inn failed to produce a new contract for the employees. The main areas of disagreement included seniority rights for employees and a two-tier pay system proposed by management.

Amherst College owns 75 percent of the Amherst Inn Co, which runs the inn. "The Amherst Inn Company is in the process of studying what possible uses might be made of the building," said Kent Faerber, president of the company's board of directors. Possible uses include sale or lease to a hotel/restaurant operator, or sale or lease to Amherst College for student and faculty housing, Faerber said.

Union officials requested that a community fact-finding board be set up to examine publicly the issues behind the labor dispute.

"We were willing to let the public look at it," said Rob Traber, area director for local 217 of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees Union, which represents the employees. "Let the community decide because we think we're right."

The inn's management rejected the request. "They [union leaders] weren't responsive to our offers," Faerber said. "Arbitration is useful in a limited scope, but in this case it would have been too much of a responsibility to give to an outside third-party.

"The inn closed because we were not able to reach an agreement with our employees," Faerber said. " We made the best offer we could make that was economically acceptable."

Traber said many people in the press have asked him if the union would help the former employees find new work, but he said that would imply that the solution is unsolvable.

"The employees are still intending to fight," Traber said.

Collegian photo by Michelle Segall

Amherst's Lord Jeffery Inn shut its doors for the last time earlier this month, following a labor dispute with its employees that could not be resolved. Possible uses for the building include sale or lease to a hotel or restaurant operator or Amherst College, which owns 75 percent of its parent company.

Y. Henry said to win settlement

An out-of-court settlement has "apparently" been reached in the case of a former University of Massachusetts student who was seeking $13 million in damages for alleged rights violations and defamation surrounding her arrest at the peak of a campus arson crisis in the fall of 1983, the Associated Press reported yesterday.

However, one of the student's attorneys, Charles DiMare of the student Legal Services Office, would neither confirm nor deny the report, saying his client, Yvette Henry, wanted no more publicity in the case.

University spokesman Arthur Clifford said he was "not aware of any legal action or settlement" in the case. Clifford was one of 17 defendants—along with the University, other UMass officials, the campus police, state police and the FBI—named in the lawsuits, which were filed in May 1984.

The AP report said no cash amount was listed "in papers filed ... with U.S. District Court" in Springfield. There was no other attribution or comment from any of Henry's other lawyers.

Henry, a former resident assistant in Crampton House, was arrested Dec. 2, 1983, and accused of setting one of 16 small fires of suspicious origin that occurred in Crampton that fall. Charges against her were dropped three weeks later for a lack of evidence.

In the meantime, however, Henry was fired from her job, banned from the residence halls, suspended, and then allowed on campus only in the presence of an escort. A report on the situation, compiled by the Faculty Senate Committee on the Status of Minorities and released last February, concluded that Henry's rights had been violated.

—ANNE McCRORY

FYI: shuttle memorial to be held

- A memorial service for the seven victims of the space shuttle tragedy will be held at 7 p.m. today in the chapel at the Newman Center.

Rev. Joseph Quigley and three students will speak during the half-hour service.

- The United Christian Foundation will hold a discussion about the space shuttle from 12:15 to 1:15 today in room 428 of the Student Union Building.
- Financial aid award checks will be available at the Bursar's Office in Whitmore on the following schedule:
  Feb. 6 - M-Z (only)
  Feb. 7 - A-L (only)

Distribution is not limited to these two days; checks will be available after Feb. 7. Office hours for distribution are 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Current I.D. is required.

- The Northampton PVTA buses are no longer stopping in front of Thornes Market. Those taking the bus to Amherst must now board at the Academy of Music.

Whitmore judiciary criticized

Students cite lack of warning

By JOEL P. COFFIDIS
Collegian Staff

Eighteen University of Massachusetts students who were arrested while protesting inside the Whitmore Administration Building last semester are now involved in an administrative judiciary process they say is uncalled for.

About half of the students accepted terms offered them in pre-trial hearings, but the others are seeing their cases through to full hearings, claiming they were unaware they would face administrative action in addition to criminal charges.

Meanwhile, 14 of the 18 students arrested in the protests were assessed $50 court costs yesterday and had their cases continued without a finding for one year, said the Hampshire County District Court's Magistrate's Office. This was the criminal decision of the case, which is separate from the University finding.

The University's judiciary process was initiated in late December by the Dean of Students Office and later by the Vice-Chancellor for Student Affairs Office. It followed the students' arrest while they were protesting an administrative attempt to gain more responsibility in the student-funding allocation process.

Students were reacting to a Nov. 19 memorandum issued by Randy Donant, director of student activities, and Dennis Madson, vice-chancellor for student affairs, which outlined measures giving them more control of the allocation process.

"They're (administrators) taking the situation of what happened and forcing a square peg into a round hole of the Student Code of Conduct," said Chris Alibrandi, one of those arrested. "I think the Student Code of Conduct is necessary, but they're not abiding by their policy."

Alex Zucker, another of those arrested, said he thinks the administration has a poor case against the students.

"I was not aware at all that I was going to be held responsible for the Code of Student Conduct," Zucker said.

Charmaine Wijeyesinghe, assistant to Madson, said the administrative judiciary is usually carried out by Dean of Students Office. However, since this case involved Madson's office, that office has intervened and Wijeyesinghe is handling the matter.

The 18 students have been administratively charged with the Mass Disturbances clause of the student conduct code. The arrested students first were given a letter from the Dean of Students Office, which Wijeyesinghe said served as a notice to attend an informational session for those not familiar with the process.

The students were then sent a hearing notification by mail and were given the option to have a pre-hearing. Ninety-five percent of all cases are settled in pre-hearings, Wijeyesingher said, and in this case a settlement would call for an administrative agreement, translating to a two-semester probation period.

Because of the many options a student is given, Wijesyesingher said the process is definitely fair for the student.

"It (the process) does its best to address the issue of balance in the University community," Wijeyesingher said. "All the rights of the student are definitely protected."

However, students involved said they were not aware they were violating the conduct code while in Whitmore, and were only warned of the criminal consequences.

Collegian photo by Michelle Segall

BRRR!—Junior communications studies major Kristin Kaufmann enjoys yesterday's frigid weather while waiting for the bus by Tilson farm.

A nation in mourning

AP Laserphoto

Flags fly at half-staff yesterday around the Washington Monument in memory of the seven crew members and New Hampshire teacher killed in the space shuttle Challenger tragedy Tuesday. Memorial services took place throughout New England yesterday and a NASA service, which the Reagans are expected to attend, has been scheduled for Friday in Houston.

Crew finds shuttle debris

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)–The Coast Guard pulled 600 pounds of metal and tiles from Challenger out of the Atlantic Ocean yesterday and experts impounded every bit of data for clues to the death of seven people in the world's worst space disaster.

NASA said the five men and two women aboard the 100-ton shuttle probably had no warning of the impending explosion. The debris collected by yesterday afternoon did not include any clothing of personal effects of the astronauts.

Killed were New Hampshire schoolteacher Christa McAuliffe; commander Francis R. Scobee, 46; pilot Michael J. Smith, 40; Judith A. Resnik, 36; Ronald E. McNair, 35; Ellison S. Onizuka, 39, and Gregory B. Jarvis, 41.

An investigation team held its first meeting to start the long inquiry into why the $1.2 billion shuttle, appearing to be on a perfect course, suddenly exploded 74 seconds after liftoff Tuesday, raining fiery debris into the Atlantic Ocean.

Lt. John Philbin, commander of the Coast Guard cutter Point Roberts, brought back the first load of debris. He said there was 600 pounds of it, much of it in small pieces.

"Most of what we found was bulkhead-type material, aluminum with insulation attached to it," he said. "There were a couple of charred pieces and we did bring in some small cylinder-type tanks this morning."

Recovery crews found some of the ship's heat-shielding external tiles, and the largest remnant was a chunk of metal 12 feet by 4 feet. Moore said it was unlikely that bodies of the crew members would be found.

"I would always like to hold out hope," he said. "However, we've seen a lot of small debris."

The officials reiterated that there will be no more shuttle flights until investigating teams have made their report and corrective actions are taken.

Moore said an interim investigating board is meeting almost continually and forming teams to investigate different aspects of the accident. A formal board, including representatives of the space industry, the Air Force and other experts, will be convened later.

The investigation could take months, just as it did after America's only other space program tragedy, the launch pad fire that killed three Apollo astronauts 19 years ago this week. The Apollo fire, which came during a test, grounded astronauts for 21 months.

Poll hours may soon be standardized

WASHINGTON (AP)–The House yesterday approved a plan to have all polling places in the 48 continental United States close at 9 p.m. EST on presidential Election Day.

To minimize the disruption, the bill would approve extension of Pacific Daylight Savings Time in presidential years until after Election Day, so polls in the West would close at 7 p.m. local time.

Rep. Al Swift, D-Wash., a former TV newscaster, said the legislation, which passed 204-175, would "insure every voter has a chance to cast a ballot before the results are announced."

The idea is to keep network newscasters from announcing the winner before the presidential election is over.

Swift said networks have agreed not to use exit poll information to "in any way hint at a probable winner until the polls are closed in a given state."

An opponent, Rep. Judd Gregg, R-N.H., said he did not believe the networks would honor their word. But the House refused to approve an amendment that would force the networks to renew their pledge prior to each presidential election.

Go To Europe for Only $449

Price includes roundtrip airfare and Euro-pass good for 9 days

Historical Trip to Athens Only $799

Price includes: roundtrip airfare leaving from Boston or NY, hotel accommodations, tickets to all museums, transportation, and tourist guide

Athens and Crete Only $799

Price includes: roundtrip airfare leaving from Boston or New York and hotel accommodations

UNIVERSITY TRAVEL and TOURS INC.
225 Main St.
Northampton, Mass. 584-9913

FOR ONLY $29.95

This is the Kodak Film offer you've been waiting for. You will receive a coupon booklet with 100 Kodak film coupons, and 10 enlargement coupons for only $29.95 with no time limit for their use. We provide film developing in our quality labs using Kodak paper and Kodak chemicals to ensure quality prints and slides. This offer can save you hundreds of dollars and can make a great gift.

If you are not delighted with this Kodak film offer return it for a prompt refund within 30 days.

Developing Prices

	ASA 100-200	ASA 400-1000
12 Exposures	$3.19	$4.19
24 Exposures	$4.49	$5.49
36 Exposures	$6.99	$7.99
Disc	$4.99

SLIDE PRICES

20 Exposures	$5.99
36 Exposures	$7.99

Additional prints 9¢ each

100 ROLLS OF FRESH KODAK FILM as you need it

SAVE HUNDREDS OF DOLLARS ON FILM AND DEVELOPING

Special Campus Promotion

Limit 1 Offer Per Person

Mail To:
N.E. PHOTO CONCEPTS
241 King Street
Northampton, Ma 01060

☐ Check/MO ☐ VISA ☐ MasterCard
Acct. No
Expires
Signature
Name
Address
City
State Zip
School Affiliation
$29.95 includes postage and handling
Money Back Guarantee

KARATE
$19.95
for 4 weeks
Fred Villari's
Studio
253-7349

RENT A WRECK
New & Used Cars
Trucks & Vans Also Available
North Amherst
Rent-A-Wreck
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880

Survey shows most students 'satisfied'

By ANITA L. ROYE
Collegian Staff

More than 80 percent of the undergraduate students responding to an annual survey conducted by the Student Affairs Research and Evaluation Office reported being "satisfied" or "very satisfied" with their overall UMass experience.

The Cycles Survey covers areas such as housing, security, academics, and health services. Questionnaires were sent randomly to more than 3,000 undergraduate students last April, and those returned were tallied in October by Joyce D. Clark, associate director of the office, and Robin Etter, a political science graduate student.

The survey serves to alert campus officials, faculty members, and student organizations to the concerns of the student body. It also "provides information that is current, and keeps the administration in contact with the students," said Clark. "The survey offers students a chance to voice their opinions in a way that is viewed as credible."

Of 3,461 surveys distributed, 1,219 students responded, yielding a response rate of 35.2 percent. Minority student responses were adjusted to equal the actual proportion of minority students in the undergraduate population.

Clark said the results received were very positive compared with other US colleges and universities. She also said she was surprised that there were very few attitude differences along ethnic, class and gender lines in the survey.

Some of this year's findings:

- A large majority of students reported being satisfied with several aspects of their academic experience: course schedules (83.2 percent); the accessibility of faculty (78.8 percent); their overall academic experience (77.9 percent); their academic progress (70.5 percent); and their academic advisor (65.7 percent).
- Student satisfaction with general campus security declined slightly this year, though most students (82.5 percent) still reported being satisfied.
- Undergraduates spend, on the average, 32.5 hours per week on academic activities, and 35.9 hours per week on non-academic pursuits.

In addition to the UMass version of the report, Clark also co-authored a five-college Cycles survey, along with Susanna Hinds, a graduate sociology student at the University.

Collegian photo by Rob Skelton

WORTHY OF NOTE–Erick Parris, a graduate music composition student, practices his craft yesterday in the Fine Arts Center.

Bike path project may get off the ground soon

By ANNE TAUGER
Collegian Correspondent

An agreement to design a bike path along the old railroad tracks between Amherst and Northampton is expected to come later this week, according to a state official.

The state Department of Public Works is "supposed to come to an agreement with a design firm by Feb. 1," said Carol Holmes, supervisor of the Regional Forests and Park Agency. The agency is a local branch of the state Department of Environmental Management.

"Bureaucracy and red tape" have been holding back the project for about five months, she said.

"We were going to pay for a designer, but we were told by the state secretary of administration and finance that our money could only be used for construction," Holmes said. The fiscal agency in Boston would agree to the bike path plan only if the state Department of Public Works were to finance the designing, he said.

State funds provided for the path total $1.5 million, according to Kenneth Neary, regional engineer for the DEM.

The path will be constructed along the old railroad tracks from Northampton to Amherst. It will run from Bates Street in Northampton to Station Road in South Amherst, and will extend across the bridge over the Connecticut River, which separates Northampton from Hadley and Amherst.

"I think it will be used more for commuting than recreation," Holmes said. He added that the path will be convenient for students commuting to the University by bicycle.

"This path seems to be a hot item. They are also being tried in Greenfield and Springfield, and there are some in Cape Cod now in operation," Holmes said.

Neary said he is looking ahead to further development of bike paths in the area. He expects to eventually "make links to and from the nine-mile path," he said.

Car accidents top town police log

By ANNE TAUGER
Collegian Correspondent

Slick roads caused a seven-car accident and three smaller ones Tuesday, Amherst Police said.

Seven cars received damages ranging from $400 to $1000 each in an accident at the corner of East Pleasant and Chestnut streets at 8:21 a.m. Tuesday, police said. There were no injuries reported.

The accident began when a 32-year-old Amherst resident was driving south on East Pleasant Street and her car slipped on ice and spun in the opposite direction. She was hit by a 50-year-old Amherst man's car, which pushed her into a driveway on East Pleasant Street, police said.

The woman's car was then struck by three more cars, driven by a 21-year-old Amherst woman, a 39-year-old Wendell resident and a 39-year-old woman from Leverett, police said.

A car driven by a 50-year-old Amherst woman then sideswiped the 21-year-old Amherst woman's car, and spun across Chestnut Street, hitting another car driven by a 20-year-old woman from Montague, police said.

In other police reports:

- A 30-year-old Amherst woman lost control of her car and struck a curb on East Pleasant Street at 8:21 a.m. Tuesday, in a separate mishap from the seven-car accident, police said.
- Two South Hadley residents were involved in separate accidents on West Street, in front of Hampshire College Tuesday, police said.
- A 47-year-old woman drove into a utility pole at 8:19 a.m. and a car driven by a 48-year-old woman slid off a road at 8:51 a.m., police said.
- A 22-year-old Hudson man was arrested at 7:14 p.m. Tuesday and charged with violating a household abuse order. He continued to return to a house on Fearing Street, Amherst, where he had been asked to leave, police said.
- An 18 and a 19-year-old man were stopped for stealing a Price Chopper shopping cart valued at $73 at 3:28 p.m. Tuesday on Triangle Street. It has not been decided if they will be charged with larceny, police said.

Police take custody of man

A 20-year-old man was taken into protective custody at 11:58 p.m. Tuesday on the fifth floor of Dickinson House, University of Massachusetts Police said.

The man, who was "generally obnoxious," and two other persons were asked by police to leave the building. He left but returned after a short period of time and was taken into protective custody after he began vomiting over the building's balcony, police said.

In other police reports:

Three wallets containing $62, $56 and $52 and identification cards were reported stolen 9:30 p.m. Monday from the second floor of the Fine Arts Center. The owners, three women, were in another room when the wallets were taken from their pocketbooks, police said.

–JEANETTE DeFORGE

Avoid injuries: warm up first

By JEANETTE DeFORGE
Collegian Staff

Winter sports and warm-weather sports have one thing in common: injuries.

But many injuries can be prevented by a conscientious exercise program to stretch and strengthen muscles and improve endurance.

"Whether you break a leg getting kicked in soccer or skiing, they [injuries] are the same and are treated the same way," says Dr. Paul Denoncourt, chief resident in orthopedic surgery at the University of Massachusetts Medical Center in Worcester.

"Any of these injuries are preventable if you have the body conditioned."

Denoncourt urges winter athletes to take extra time to imcrease muscle flexibility. "They should try stretching their muscles by touching their toes with their palms on the floor." Splits are also good for stretching the backs of the calves, he said.

To strengthen muscles, Denoncourt said weightlifting is one of the best exercises, but "the best way ... is to practice the sport. You use different types of muscles in bicycling than in skiing."

Improving the endurance of the heart and lungs is especially important in winter sports.

"Start running or practicing downhill skiing. If you are competing on a half-mile slope then practice on a mile-long one," he said.

Injuries can be prevented by a conscientious exercise program to stretch and strengthen muscles and improve endurance.

Other problems that can be exacerbated in cold weather are dehydration and frostbite. In extreme cold, thermal underwear and several layers of clothing should be worn, because the spaces between the layers act as insulation. Clothing should also be cotton, wool or other substances that can "breathe" and absorb perspiration.

"A large percentage of body heat is lost through the head," so a hat should be worn, Denoncourt said.

"It is also important to replace fluids before you are too thirsty," he said. "You are already two liters behind when thirst comes on."

Photo courtesy of the Office of Public Information

Mary Anne Stanitis

Collegian photo by Michelle Segall

Alvin Winder

Profs honored for study on nurses

By GREGG FALLON
Collegian Correspondent

Research by two University of Massachusetts professors, looking at nurses' attitudes and beliefs on nuclear war, won them an award last week from the District 1 Massachusetts Nurses Association.

Mary Anne Stanitis of the University's division of nursing and Alvin Winder of public health, both of Amherst, received the award for their study titled "Nurses Attitudes Toward the Avoidance of Nuclear War." They conducted the study to find out why nurses, the largest group of health professionals, tend to be inactive in the nuclear movement.

Stanitis and Winder said they found there were two types of views nurses had toward nuclear war. The first group, Stanitis said, "felt they were personally susceptible to the threats of nuclear war and tended to believe in action toward its avoidance."

The second group "felt less susceptible to nuclear war's effects, but believed in the need for strong national defense and leadership," Stanitis said.

"We are interested in public health aspects of nuclear war," Stanitis said. "Nuclear war is the largest public health concern of the century.

"The results suggested that those nurses who take any type of action toward the prevention of nuclear war felt more susceptible to its potential threat."

The purpose of the study, Winder said, was to try to understand why people do not act to avoid nuclear war. Eventually, he added, he and Stanitis intend to develop some type of program on the subject.

The pair chose nurses to study because this group is the most numerous health provider and works more with the public than any other health educators, Winder said.

UMass Springbreak Party 86!

March 15-22

SPRING BREAK PARTY

Includes: 7 Nights Lodging, 8 Beach Days

Dates: Check in any Saturday,
Check out the following Saturday

Ft. Lauderdale, Florida — Springbreak Mecca for College Students Everywhere!
• 8 Beach Days • 7 Nights Lodging on the Strip at Lauderdale Beach Hotel or off the Strip at Days Inn
• Swimming Pools • Patio Bars • Restaurants • Special LUV Happy Hour Prices
• LUV Parties at the Button and Penrods and much, much more
All this from $189, ya gotta LUV it!!

Daytona Beach — Drive on the Beach and Party all Day!
• 8 Beach Days • 7 Nights Lodging on the Strip at the Castaways Beach Resort
• Swimming Pools • Restaurants • Bars and Night Clubs
• Special LUV Happy Hour Prices and Pool Parties
All this from $119, ya gotta LUV it!!

Key West — Relax and enjoy the sunsets in the American Tropics for only $149
• 8 Beach Days • 7 Nights Lodging at the Days Inn on the North end of Island
• Swimming Pool on location • Wide variety of restaurant
• Free sunset festival nightly

Spring Skiing at Killington, VT from $119
2 day or 5 day packages including
• Mountainside condo lodging
• Lift tickets for all six mountains
• Shuttle service to slopes daily
• Shuttle service to bars and restaurants nightly

 FLIGHTS AVAILABLE

 CALL NOW!

Ft. Lauderdale is below the frost line in Sunny Southern Florida!

Transportation is available on:
Charter bus: Check with your local representative or call our reservations staff for your price.
Airline: Check with your local representative or call our reservations staff for your price.
U-Drive: Share the driving expenses with friends—this is the least expensive way to go.

Contact: Kim Barnet 549-1749 YOUR LOCAL LUV REPRESENTATIVE
John Fraser 549-6403
Grad Rosenbaum 549-6850

LUV Tours

800-368-2006 USA Toll Free 800-542-8003 Virginia Toll Free
Enterprise Travel Center P.O. Box 7827 Charlottesville, Virginia 22906
A Subsidiary of J & B Enterprises, Inc.

Art Supplies

STUDENT
PROFESSIONAL

FINE ARTS
DRAFTING
ENGINEERING
PHOTOGRAPHY

Tue, Fri 9-5
Wed, Thur 9-9
Sat 10-3

Located in the Campus Center
UNIVERSITY STORE

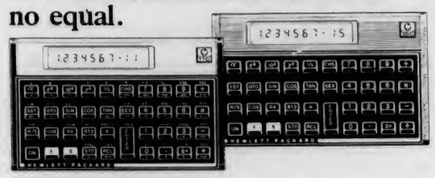
WELCOME
NEW AND RETURNING
STUDENTS

The INFORMATION DATA BANK is a telephone or walk-in referral center which maintains information on University administrative and academic policies and procedures: bus, library, and athletic schedules; listings of current campus events such as seminars, movies and lectures; and a variety of other reference materials. Nearly 2600 contacts were made to IDB in Fall 1985, making it one of the major sources of information on campus.

THE INFORMATION DATA BANK
227 WHITMORE CALL 545-1555

IDB TIPS

NEED HELP?



CALL TIPS
TAPED INFORMATION PHONE SERVICE

TIPS is a library of more than 200 tape-recored cassettes regarding various aspects of University administrative and academic policies, such as pre-registering for courses, the weather, financial aid at the University, undergraduate fees, and serving hours at the dining commons. All tapes are available in Spanish and for the hearing-impaired. Nearly 2400 contacts were made to TIPS in Fall 1985.

THE TAPED INFORMATION PHONE SERVICE
227 WHITMORE CALL 545-1540

A Service of
The Dean of Students Office

For the student who has no equal– scientific calculators that have no equal.

This year, get a head start on your classes with the HP-11C or the HP-15C. So advanced they don't need an "equals" key. So extremely easy to use, you'll solve even the most complex mathematical problems quickly.

Hewlett-Packard's innovative design eliminates a vast number of keystrokes. That saves you time with hyperbolics and other complex calculations . . . a big plus at exam time.

Get an HP-11C or HP-15C today, and start out the year one step ahead.

HEWLETT PACKARD

Located in the Campus Center

UNIVERSITY STORE

The fastest-growing profession in America.

According to the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, the need for paralegals is about to double.

Now is the time to become a part of this dynamic profession . . . and there is no finer training available than at Philadelphia's acclaimed Institute for Paralegal Training. After just four months of intensive study, we will find you a job in the city of your choice. We are so confident of the marketability of our graduates that we offer a unique tuition refund plan.

To learn how you can add market value to your college degree, return the coupon or call toll-free: 1-800-222-IPLT.

We'll be on campus 2/10/86
Contact your placement office to arrange for an individual interview or group presentation.

Housing and Financial Aid available

THE INSTITUTE FOR PARALEGAL TRAINING

Approved by the American Bar Association

Mail this coupon to: RUMA
Institute for Paralegal Training
1926 Arch Street
Philadelphia, PA 19103
Please send a copy of your catalogue.
Name
Address
City State Zip
College (yr. of grad.)
Phone (permanent) (home)

THE FINE ARTS CENTER
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

The National Theatre of the Deaf
"FAREWELL, MY LOVELY!"
and IN A GROVE
Thursday, February 6, 8 pm
Concert Hall

BEN HOLT, baritone
1983 Winner of the Young Concert Artists International Auditions
Wednesday, February 12, 8 pm
Bowker Auditorium

NIKOLAIS DANCE THEATRE
Wednesday, February 19, 8 pm
Concert Hall

Four College Students Half Price. Center Box Office, Springfield Civic Center and TICKETRON Outlets.
Call (413) 545-2511 or 1-800-243-4842

Don't be left out in the cold

UMASS SKI CLUB GOES DOWN TO FT. LAUDERDALE

SPRING BREAK

Prices Start at $149.00
Complete with Jet $369.00
For More Information Contact
The UMass Ski Club is your
SPRING BREAK CONNECTION
in Student Union 545-3437

You're a nuclear-trained officer. It goes beyond special. It's elite! And your status reflects a job that demands your best. Proving your skills at the heart of today's nuclear-powered Navy.

Over half of America's nuclear reactors are in the Navy. That adds up to more years of experience with reactors than any company in the world, and it means working with the most sophisticated training and equipment anywhere.

There's no boot camp. College graduates get Officer Candidate School leadership training, and a year of graduate-level training in the Navy Nuclear Power School.

The rewards are topnotch, too. Generous bonuses upon commissioning and also upon completion of nuclear training. Sign up while still in college and you could be earning $1,000 a month right now.

Be one of the most accomplished professionals in a challenging field. Lead the adventure as an officer in the Nuclear Navy. Contact your Navy Officer Recruiter or call 1-800-327-NAVY.

NAVY OFFICER.

LEAD THE ADVENTURE.

Welcome Back

TIME OUT

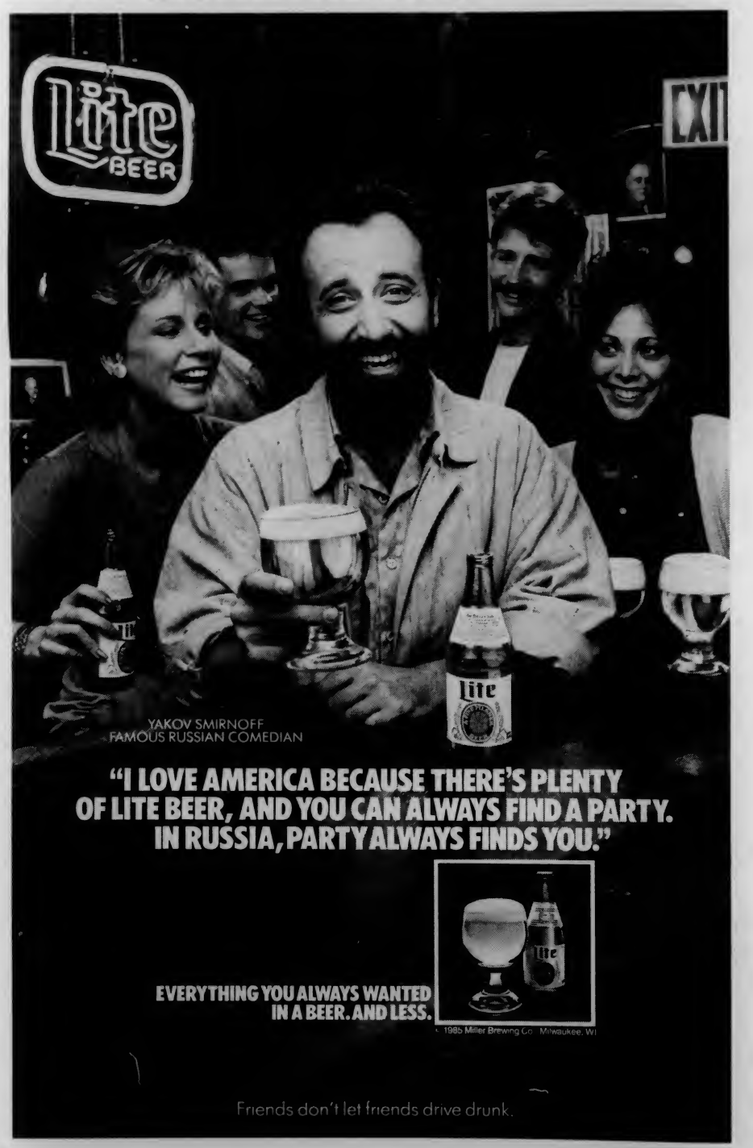
Proper I.D. Required
Please Don't Drink and Drive
37 N. Pleasant St.

Special Student Rates! University of Massachusetts

SPRING BREAK '86

8 DAYS / 7 NIGHTS! March 15–22

BAHAMAS	FREEPORT via JET AIR TRANSPORTATION	$329 per person quad occ
	NASSAU via JET AIR TRANSPORTATION	$359 per person quad occ
FLORIDA	DAYTONA BEACH oceanfront accommodations	$139* per person quad occ
	FT. LAUDERDALE oceanfront available—add $50	$139* per person quad occ



*ROUNDTRIP TRANSPORTATION FROM MOTOROACH $104 AIRFARE $298

TO RESERVE NOW . . . CONTACT
Dara
256-1569

ADD 15% to total package for all taxes gratuities and service charges

Campus Vacation Associations

A UNITED STATES STUDENT ASSOCIATION SPONSORED PROGRAM

MASS. APPROVED INSPECTION STATION

Gas Saving Tune-up

4 Cyl $34.95
6 Cyl $39.95
8 Cyl $44.95

Inc'l. most new vehicles. Will plugs, points & condenser. Adjust idle speed, ign. timing, set carburetor and charging system. Inspect hoses, distributor cap, PVC valve, air filter, fuel filter. Includes Emission Test and Printout.

Lube, Oil & Filter

$17.99

Includes up to 5 quarts of 10-30 oil and safety check

North Amherst Tire & Auto Center
Full Service Tire Store
78 Sunderland Rd., No. Amherst, MA
Across from Wardrobe's Store
549-4704

Beer with us!

Choose from our bounty of more than 80 varieties of imported beer!

We won the Valley Advocate's "Best Beer Selection" award - 1982!

Our selection now is EVEN BETTER.

We now feature our own brand of low priced LIQUORS as well as our super selection of WINES at very affordable prices.

Plus BULMER'S CIDER

BILLY'S
BEVERAGES
Beer—Wine—Liquor
SUNDERLAND • 665-2727
We welcome your empties!

NORTHAMPTON NAUTILUS
Men-Women
216 N. King St. Northampton
Open 7 Days 584-4975
$30 A MONTH
or call for special student prices

- 24 Nautilus machines
- Olympic free weights
- Aerobics classes
- Mohawk exercise bikes
- Concept II rowing machines
- Full lockerroom shower & towel privledges
- Co-ed whirlpool

CALL FOR FREE TRIAL WORKOUT

The Collegian is now hiring responsible and motivated Freshman & Sophomore students to assume the following positions:

Assistant BUSINESS MANAGER
Assistant FINANCE MANAGER

These jobs can offer you excellent business experience while still in school. Apply at the Collegian Business Office by Tuesday, February 4th.

UNIVERSITY STORE

There's no need to hurry. Our convenient locations allow you to shop early or late for your Back To School needs.

Store Hours the Week of 1/27-1/31

Main Store Located in the Campus Center	Mon & Tue 9 am - 9 pm Wed, Thurs, Fri 9 am - 5 pm Sat 10 am - 3 pm
Mini Store Located in the Student Union Bldg.	Mon - Fri 7:30 am to 10 pm Sat - Sun 8:00 am to 10 pm
Hampden and Worcester Munchys	Mon - Sun 8 am - 9 pm
Franklin Munchy	Mon - Sun 7:30 am - 9 pm
Textbook Annex Located in the Physical Plant Building	Mon 9 am - 5 pm Tue, Wed, Thurs 9 am - 9 pm Friday 9 am - 5 pm Sat 10 am - 3 pm

SNOW DAY INFORMATION

For information regarding campus closing or delayed openings, due to severe snow storms, listen to RADIO STATIONS:

WTTT	Amherst	1434 AM
WHMP	Northampton	1400 AM
WMAS	Springfield	1470 AM
WPOE	Greenfield	1520 AM
WHAI	Greenfield	1240 AM
WARE	Ware	1250 AM
WCAT	Orange	1390 AM
WHYN	Springfield	560 AM
WFCR	Amherst	88.5 FM
WTIC	Hartford	1080 AM
WACE	Springfield	730 AM
WTAG	Worcester	580 AM
WSPR	Springfield	1270 AM
WMUA	Amherst	91.1 FM
WTSA	Brattleboro	1450 AM
WRSI	Greenfield	95.3 FM
WAQY	Springfield	102.1 FM

As an additional convenience, a "snow day hot-line" has been installed. Taped messages will provide up-to-date information on the status of the campus and may be accessed by dialing: 545-3630. THIS IS THE ONLY CAMPUS NUMBER WHICH SHOULD BE CALLED FOR SUCH INFORMATION.

A Service of the Dean of Students Office

TIPS

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian

ED/OP

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted.

Founded in 1870

EXECUTIVE BOARD-SPRING 1986

Dode B. Levenson, Editor in Chief — Ian Polumbaum, Managing Editor — Larry Bouchie, Editorial Editor
Peter Soderberg, Production Manager — Conor Plunkett, Production Manager — Elizabeth Young, Business Manager — Sherry Sherman, Business Manager

BOARD OF EDITORS

Dode B. Levenson, Editor in Chief — Ian Polumbaum, Managing Editor
Larry Bouchie, Editorial Editor — Joel P. Coffidis, News Editor — John Yonce, Women's Editor — Peter Abraham, Sports Editor
Jennifer Ackerman, Arts Editor — Kelly Sieger, Arts Editor — Michelle Segall, Photo Editor — Paul Desmarais, Photo Editor — Chris Allen, Black Affairs Editor

Fundamentals of change

Timothy Harris

I get called a radical a lot. Usually by dry, colorless types who use the word to mean something like "Sixties hold-out"; deranged and clueless; misguided miscreant; diseased and dangerous."

Naturally, I feel obliged to guide these beleaguered rebels of the Reagan Revolution to a fuller understanding of their native tongue. To quote Webster, radical means "going to the root or origin, or touching what is fundamental; as, a radical change."

What power the word carries. "Radical." Terror strikes deep in the heart of the Democratic National Committee. Conservatives wave the word around like a wand that magically delegitimates everything it touches. The radicals are uninvited to the black-tie party that is this decade. We are the riff-raff running amuck in the street.

Radicalism is a disease that often destroys its victim's ability to lead a "normal" life. This ailment afflicts those it infects with a chronic inability to take anything at face-value. Within a system that demands a degree of conformity and a great deal of complicity, this can be extremely disabling.

Symptoms include painfully keen sight, general discomfort, periodic depression, and bouts of anger and rage. Although technically no one is immune, the disaffected and marginalized are at exceptionally high risk.

Gradually, decisions that might once have ben made with little or no thought at all become political and moral mine fields. This is often accompanied by feelings of veritgo as ground that once seemed solid shifts and gives way. One finds that the Gods have lied. The real is no longer rational.

In light of all this, it's understandable that people find us radicals so threatening.

Perhaps, in all fairness, we should ring bells before us, as lepers were required to during the middle ages. Ding-ding. Gang way!

Radicals feel very constricted by the self-perpetuating circle of business as usual. The Reactionary and Conservative wings of America's ne party Republocratic system have, with the media as their bullhorn, set the ever-narrowing terms of debate by declaring themselves the Voice of Reason. Jackboots firmly on the jugular of the Third World, the Gipper, and Nancy smile and wave, beaming feel-good rays via sattlelight. The credulous bleat and swoon even as the radicals once again stifle a gag-reflex.

We just can't seem to get into the spirit of things. To us the "hard-headed realism" of the Reganauts is only another way to say "screw the poor." While engineered statistics proclaim cheerily that inflatin and unemployment are "under control," homelessness and hunger are on the rebound in Reagan's America and all the bellicose nationlism the Pentagon can muster does nothing to change that. The Geneva Summit was a sad joke, the middle-class is rapidly shrinking, and conglomerates eat small businesses for lunch. Where is the hope?

The Republicans are committed to maintaining the system, not changing it. That leaves social change up to those who really do have "new ideas." Imagine a system where the macho politics-of-the-present has been replaced by an ethic of people before profit. We do.

Timothy Harris is a Collegian columnist

Smashing preconceptions

Deborah Kutenplon

I was sitting in the physical therapist's office once, trying to do some strenuous exercises. Well, they felt strenuous to me. At the next table was a man who resembled Archi Bunker. He was saying that he lived near an army base where nuclear weapons were stored.

"And I'm glad," he said, as I cringed inwardly, waiting for some painful statement of American superiority or the Russian threat. He continued, "because if there ever is a nuclear war, my family will certainly be killed. And if we do have a nuclear war, the living will envy the dead."

I almost fell off the table. Here I had been mobilizing all my defenses against his statement, and he pulled the rug out from under me. Suddenly he didn't look much like Archie Bunker anymore, either.

On another day, some women were protesting militarism at an army depot when three drunken men stormed up and started angrily threaten them. A soldier spoke to the men through the depot fence.

"Leave them alone. These women not only have a constitutional right to be here, they have a responsibility to be here."

Across the street another man in a different uniform, black leather this time, was defending the women to his motorcyclist friends.

I love having my biases disproven. I loved being forced to laugh at my own preconceptions about people. I love being reminded that sometimes light comes shining through the most unlikely people at the most unexpected moments. Maybe that's the point—there are no unlikely people.

Even a uniform isn't a safe indicator of which camp someone's in. At another protest, I was having a long confrontation with a police seargant, about what I considered to be a moral issue. I wanted him to deal first with a black man who had been arrested with our affinity group, and who had been treated quite roughly. The rest of us wanted to witness his "processing" to see that it was fair. The police officer wanted me to behave, to stop causing trouble, and to follow the proper order. He was throwing in, for persuasion, the threat of a weekend in jail if I would not cooperate. After a fairly tense exchange, I was hauled into the corner, and other members of my group soon followed. Finally the police processed the black man while we watched, and then offered us another chance to cooperate.

Several hours later, as we were being released, the same police seargant came over to me and, without a word, shook my hand.

It can surely get confusing, not automatically knowing which side each person is on. Sometimes it's even hard to remember that there are sides. Maybe that's the point.

Even people who are professionally on one side or another seem to have trouble keeping it straight sometimes. The CIA stopped using sex operations (where female spies used seduction to gain access to information) because they weren't working very well. It seems that once people started sleeping with each other, they tended to forget which side they were on.

What would be the moral of that story? Love triumphs over cold war? Real people triumph over abstract issues? Complexity triumphs over our every attempt to fit the world into neat little boxes? Confusion triumphs over everything?

Deborah Kutenplon is a former Collegian columnist.

Artwork by Conor E. Plunkett

The Hero As President

Presidential prerequisites

Ronald Berutti

When you are finished reading this column, you will know then how to become a serious candidate for the United States' presidency. A pattern is developing among presidential candidates which has made me realize just what the current requirements are to become President of the United States.

There have been patterns for determining presidents in the past. Early in our country's history, one had to first become Secretary of State in order to become president. Five presidents in a row fit this pattern. Later in our country's history, one had to have been a supporter of the Union army in order to become president. However, the pattern I have discovered is totally different, because it has nothing at all to do with politics. Tomorrow's presidents will have to be heroes in the public eye before ever entering politics.

Ronald Reagan will become known as the first modern pattern president. In his movies, Reagan usually played the good guy role. He was indentified by many Americans as an heroic figure.

In 1984, John Glenn was a challenger for the presidential nomination. Glenn was an astronaut before he was involved with politics. He was a bona fide national hero. The reason that he did not get the nomination of his party was because the nation did not want to chose between two of its heroes.

Ther hero candidate for 1988 will most likely be Jack Kemp. Kemp is not only a famous supply-side conservative congressman, but he is also an ex-football star. He was one of the American Football League's greatest quarterbacks. Because of this, Kemp is almost a sure bet to capture the presidency in 1988.

Senator Bill Bradley of New Jersey is one of the bright presidential prospects of the Democratic party. In 1996 (after Jack Kemp's second term; all pattern presidents will be two-termers, a standard set by Reagan), Bradley will march into the Oval Office. For those of you who are unaware, Bradley is a Basketball Hall of Fame member because of his years as a superstar for the New York Knicks. He was a hero of my youth and of many New York fans during his years with that team.

After the election of 2000 (when Bradley wins his second term), it is hard to foresee who the next hero candidate will be, but here are some possibilities: Baseball Commissioner Peter Ueberroth (Time magazine's 1984 "Man of the Year") and baseball star Steve Garvey are said to have political ambitions, and the University of Georgia's great football coach, Vince Dooley, almost ran for governor. Why shouldn't these men run for president some day?

Neither Geraldine Ferraro nor Jeanne Kirkpatrick will be our nation's first female president. My guess is that it will be Sally Ride. Do you remember Sally Ride? She was our country's first woman in space. On a similar note, Jesse Jackson was our first legitimate black presidential candidate, but our first black president will be baseball superstar Dwight Gooden. The Soviets would never try to anger Gooden, as he would fire at them with one of his lethal fastballs. He could also be counted on to throw a surprise curveball into negotiations with foreign nations.

So you see, all that has to be done to become president is to be a public hero. I am trying to do that right now. By writing this column, I hope to be a hero to all Collegian readers. You can do it too—just find a way that you think will make you a hero, and your trek towards the presidency in 6the year 2004 will be underway.

Ronald Berutti is a Collegian columnist.

The Collegian welcomes letters, column, and cartoon submissions. Submissions should be mailed to the Editorial Editor at the Collegian, 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Mass. 01003, or they can be dropped off at the Collegian classified ad counter in the basement of the Campus Center. Due to the volume of mail received, individual replies cannot be made.

Time to be moving on

Robert Slosberg

Where has all the time gone? Four years is suddenly winding down to graduation. I still can't believe I'm actually going to get a diploma. A college graduate! I can remember my very first day at UMass as if it was yesterday. I can remember driving past Price Chopper for the first time . . . and then past Belle's Pizza House. My dad said something like, "I bet you'll be eating there a lot in the next four years."

In four years, I haven't eaten at Belle's once. But that's beside the point. What my father foresaw was the many nights I would devour an entire pepperoni pizza in a less than sober state. And there were many of those nights.

I can remember both my parents escorting me to my dorm room in Kennedy. We rode the elevator up 22 flights and my dad joked that the radical guy we saw in the lobby (sporting a purple mohawk and a superb collection of steel chains) was my roommate-to-be. I remember my mother crying as I turned the knob and the three of us entered my first college room. As she blubbered away and mentioned something about "her baby," I could even detect an ever-so-slight, glassy look in the eyes of my father.

It was quite a sad departure, for I was the first in my family to go to college. The last thing my father mentioned was, "Get good grades . . ." then as my mother left the room he secretly whispered, ". . . but go to the best damn parties while you're at it." As I laughed, I realized that was a pretty darn good college philosophy.

College life at UMass flashed by like a fantastic dream . . . the kind when you don't ever want to wake up. Because once a dream ends, the euphoric state also comes to an abrupt end, and you realize that your life maybe isn't always exactly the way you want it to be. In college, everyone is in a vacuum. Life becomes a series of parties, friends, homework, and vacations . . . all tied together to form this spectacular dream. But suddenly you wake up, as I will in four months, and come to the realization that everything isn't so hunky-dory anymore. You enter into a place almost as elusive as "The Twilight Zone" . . . except this is "The Real World." Time to hang up your coveted Moosehead mug and matching cap.

All my life, I've wanted to live on my own. Now that graduation draws closer by the day, I'm not quite sure that I'm ready yet.

That's what scares me.

But what scares me most is that there's no one to lean on anymore if a major goof-up occurs. No more roommates, no more parents, no more "Hey, It's O.K. . . . I'm in college." Just me. Period.

Needless to say, I'll put my resume together like 10 million other college grads . . . and I'll try and get that first job. But after my four years at UMass become history, I know I'll never take the unbelievable speed of time for granted . . . ever again.

Robert Slosberg is a UMass student.

The differences in dating

Herb Ramy

On occasion, I've had the opportunity to work as a substitute teacher at my former high school. The pay isn't great, but it's better than no pay at all. After being a substitute for a time, I began to notice distinct differences in the mating rituals between high school and college students. These may sound like the pathetic ramblings of a slightly post-adolescent male, but seeing that I am a sightly post-adolesent male, please bear with me.

One major difference comes in the department of male staring. In high school, a man will stare at a woman until the moment she looks at him, but then turn away. This may seem to defeat the purpose of staring, but the high school male is afraid of being considered a jerk.

In college, where we are all so much more mature, things are different. Here, a man will stare at a woman even after she notes this and utters those immortal words, "What a jerk!"

The entire idea of dating also undergoes drastic changes between high school and college. In high school, a man will not ask out a woman until he has found 15 times over from mutual friends that she will say yes. High school men will do anything to avoid the possibility of rejection.

Here, men are willing to be rejected dozens of times in a single evening trying to find Ms. Right—a woman whose name he may possibly forget by morning.

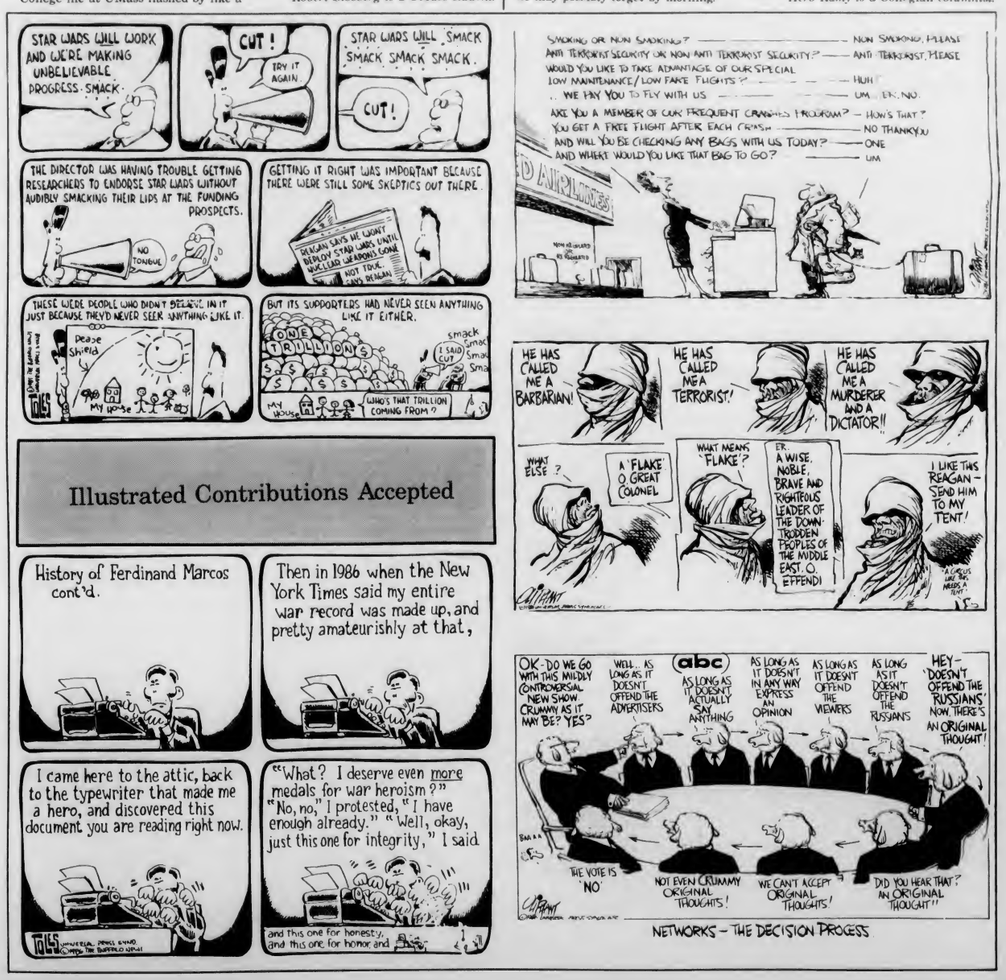
Probably the greatest differences are found when dealing with the subject of sexual intercourse. In high school, a very simple formula usually stands true.

"Do you want to?"
"No."
"O.K., let's go to the movies instead."

In this situation, it is generally considered the man's duty to ask and the woman's duty to say no. This doesn't prepare either gender well for college life.

In college, a woman who is used to having her "No" accepted as justifiably that, will often find men who think "No" is sometimes another way of saying "Yes."

As for men, the following situation is often observed.



"Do you want to?"
"Yes."

"O.K. why don't . . . YES! What do you mean by yes? Nobody's ever said yes before. What am I supposed to do now?"

The ensuing laughter can mentally scar a man for life.

It's evident that there are major differences in the mating ritual of high school and college students. As for me, I'm still trying to get over the laughter. Maybe someday the scars will heal.

Herb Ramy is a Collegian columnist.

Illustrated Contributions Accepted

NETWORKS - THE DECISION PROCESS

SPORT EQUIPMENT

Racquetball Racquets
Racquetball Balls
Racquetball Gloves
Racquetball Glasses

Also available
Sport Clothing
Sport Bags

Headbands
Wristbands
Whistles

Tennis Accessories
Basketball, Soccer
Football, Baseball
Frisbees
Swimming Accessories

Open M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3

Located in the Campus Center

UNIVERSITY STORE

A New Performance Art/Dance Course
Art Dept. 297P

Kinetic Environments

Invites those interested in Dance,
Theatre, Music, Visual & Video Art to develop major performance outdoor piece for May
First meeting Tue Jan 28 & Thurs Jan 30th
6:30 - 8:00 PM
Hampden Dance Studio
Contact: Aria Edry 625-2500 or Southwest Academic Affairs 545-2804

BUY 3, GET 1 FREE

During the month of February:
Buy a 3 month Nautilus membership for $85,
get the 4th month free

AMHERST RACQUET & FITNESS CENTER, INC.
Route 116, Sunderland
(on the Sunderland/Amherst line)
across from Bub's Barbecue
on the bus route 3 miles from UMass

SPRING and SUMMER VACATION

9 days in Europe $399

1 wk Historical Trip to Athens $799

8 days Athens & Crete $799

(book by Feb.15th & save)

1 month in Europe & Crete $799

2 months in Europe, Crete & Israel $1199

10 weeks in Europe, Crete & Israel $1699

Don't miss Samaria Gorge in Crete, Europe's largest gorge!
For more information call at:

Run the Original Course 26 miles from Marathon to Athens

UNIVERSITY TRAVEL and TOURS INC.
225 Main St.
Northampton, Mass.
584-9913

JOB OPENINGS

Student Janitorial Positions
are available immediately
in the Orchard Hill Central Area
work study and non work study
$3.65 per hour
Must be able to work weekends.
Complete application forms in
B-1 Baker

THE ULTIMATE
30 MINUTE WORKOUT

Until Friday,
February 7th you can work out at
the BODY SHOP FITNESS CENTERS for FREE!!

Our friendly and knowledgeable staff will answer your questions and demonstrate our state-of-the-art Hydrafitness equipment.

EXERCISE WITH A FRIEND
AND SAVE $$$$

Sign up with a friend and get the 2nd membership at 1/2 PRICE!!

THE BODY SHOP

TWO CONVENIENT CAMPUS LOCATIONS:
Boyden & Totman
7:30 - 9:00 am
12:00 - 1:00 pm
4:00 - 6:00 pm
Still only $45/semester

SALE

up to
60% SAVINGS
on all fall & winter
SHOES & BOOTS

SHOE BIN
187 n. pleasant st. amherst
OPEN SUNDAYS

UMass Arts Council

CALL FOR GRANT PROPOSALS

Deadline for submission of grant proposals for single projects or events:

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 4

Grant guidelines and applications available at Arts Council, the Student Activities office or the Arts Extension Service.

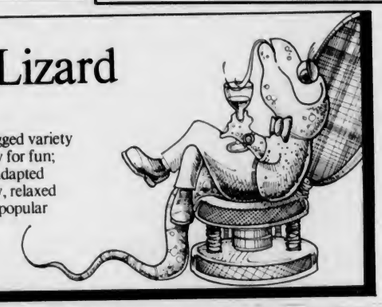
Arts Council 125 Herter Hall 545-0202

Thursday, January 30 at 7:15 pm

Alliance Christian Fellowship



WELCOME!

CAMPUS CENTER_UMASS

Lounge Lizard

(lounj liz'ûrd) n.

A non-poisonous, two-legged variety with an enlarged capacity for fun;
having a body uniquely adapted to lolling around in a lazy, relaxed manner; indigenous to a popular local watering hole.

Coming Soon!

ROB LOWE
CYNTHIA GIBB
PATRICK SWAYZE

YOUNGBLOOD

The ice...
The fire...
The fight...
To be the best.

THE NEW UNITED ARTISTS Presents
A GUBER-PETERS Company Production A PETER MARKLE Film ROB LOWE "YOUNGBLOOD" CYNTHIA GIBB
ED LAUTER and PATRICK SWAYZE Story by PETER MARKLE & JOHN WHITMAN Screenplay by PETER MARKLE
Executive Producers JON PETERS and PETER GUBER Produced by PATRICK WELLS and PETER BART
Directed by PETER MARKLE R

STARTS JANUARY 31st AT THEATRES EVERYWHERE!

USED PAPERBACKS
at 40 - 80% Off
Publishers List Price
Thousands of Academic & Popular Paperbacks
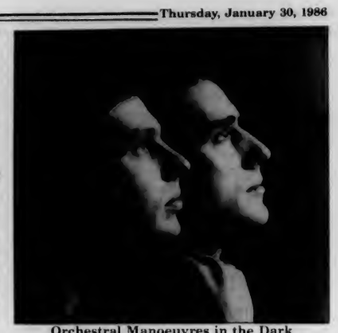
in Almost All Subjects
Save on Course
Paperbacks

Valley Books

Carriage Shops
Downtown Amherst
M-F 10:30-5:30 Sat 10-5
Sun 12-5 549-6052
check or VISA/MC accepted

ARTS



OMD manoeuvres up American charts

By NATALIE HEWITT
Collegian Correspondent

Wearing a dark tweedy overcoat, a long wool scarf, and an infectuous smile, Paul Hemphreys seems like any normal, pleasant sort of fellow chatting away about having gone Christmas shopping earlier in the day. His eyes sparkle as he giggles, slightly embarrassed, saying that two kids screamed in a record store when they saw him there. Why did they scream? Because this seemingly average and rather friendly man in his mid-20's happens to be the co-founder and keyboardist of Orchestral Manoeuvres in the Dark, one of the most popular bands in Great Britain and Europe today.

The reaction of those teenagers is becoming a common occurance for the English band here in the U.S. Their first American hit, "So In Love" finally opened the doors for OMD in this country, and established them firmly on the American Pop charts. Still, Paul Humphreys thinks their first hit single here could have done better. "It's nice to have our first Top 40 hit. It's been a long time coming, I mean, it's our fourteenth single!" He laughs, "We've taken our time!" He continues more seriously, "But I think it could have gotten even higher, but the problem with it was it was out for six months, and we got different parts of the country at different times, and you only have a Top 10 hit when you have everyone in the country playing the record at the same time." Changing his tone, he continues, "That was our first hit (in the U.S.), and that really opened doors for us, and we'll have to see . . . 'Secret' (their second American single from their latest album, Crush) is coming through pretty strong," Paul adds hopefully.

Orchestral Manoeuvres in the Dark began in Liverpool in the late '70s when Paul Humphreys and co-writer and fellow founding member Andy McCluskey (bass, guitar and lead vocals) were still teenagers. Their first hit single "Electricity" was written when they were about sixteen years old. The two-piece band grew to a four-piece with the additions of Martin Cooper (saxophone, keyboards, backing vocals) and Malcolm Holmes (drums, percussion). They have since developed into a live ensemble of six, by including Neil and Graham Weir, OMD's brass section.

Orchestral Manoeuvres in the Dark

1986 looks like it could be Orchestral Manoeuvres' year. They have contributed to the soundtrack of the upcoming, Pretty in Pink, directed by John Hughes who asked OMD to do a track for the film. The song, titled, "If You Leave" is slated as the first track from the soundtrack, a move that could whirl the band into the American Top 10 easily. "We're freally pleased with it," Paul beams. It will be released in late February, "Depending on how "Secret" does." When asked if he expects the same sort of success Simple Minds gained from their single "Don't You (Forget About Me)"—from another John Hughes film, The Breakfast Club -- Paul smiles modestly and his eyes open wide, "Well, yeah, it would be nice!"

To all of OMD's faithful fans, however, all of this concern for making the Top 10 sounds like the band is selling out to that worst of all possible musical evils, commercialism. "I hope the people who have been into us for a long time, you know, our kind of hard-core, cult following don't get too pissed at us! I hope they don't think we're selling out," Paul says quietly, clearly understanding his fans fears. "Our music hasn't changed. It's just that if a lot of people buy your records, it doesn't mean that your music's changed. It just means that people's perception of you changes. We've had massive hits—10 massive hits in Europe, and we've never had a set formula. Every single we've released in Europe, I think, has been quite different from the one previous to it." Unabashedly, he continues, "And I'ms quite proud of that—we actually manage to keep having hits in Europe for all these years, and radically changing our music at the same time for all these years, and radically changing our music at the same time." Still, some fans are afraid that Orchestral Manoeuvres in the Dark will become another Pop commodity like Duran Duran or Culture Club. Paul looks quite amused at that thought. eyes twinkling, and laughs good-naturedly and reassuringly. "We're not good-looking enough!"

Ski Colorado Steamboat
UMASS SKI CLUB
Goes West for Spring Break
March 17 - 24
7 nights lodging
5 day lift ticket for Steamboat $499
Round trip air
Trip includes: Transfers
Free transportation to Newark from UMass
ALL TAXES & GRATUITIES INCLUDED
For more information contact -
The UMass Ski Club is your
SPRING BREAK CONNECTION
545-3437

Curtains Up!
Come to the Gala Reopening of
BOWKER AUDITORIUM
Stockbridge Hall
University of Massachusetts at Amherst
Friday, January 31, 1986
11:30 am-2 pm Open House
Music, Refreshments, and a chance to view the area's newest chamber performance facility
8:00 pm
Gala Performance by the Springfield Symphony Orchestra Chamber Ensemble
Barry Tuckwell, guest conductor and horn soloist
Tickets: $15, $13
THE FINE ARTS CENTER
Call 545-2511

DOONESBURY GARRY TRUDEAU

THE FAR SIDE BY GARY LARSON

Edgar finds his purpose.

FREAKER PATROL BY DOWE & O'BRIEN

HOUSEMATES BY R.MILLER

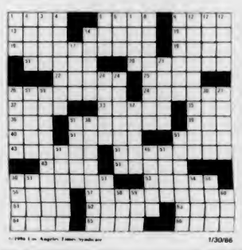
GORDY BY GORDE

BLOOM COUNTY BY BERKE BREATHED

"The results suggested that those nurses who take any type of action toward the prevention of nuclear war felt more susceptible to its potential threat."
—Mary Anne Stanitis, co-researcher of study "Nurses' Attitudes Toward the Avoidance of Nuclear War"

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Edited by Trude Michel Jaffe



ACROSS
1 Sound from the veldt
5 Composer of "Giselle"
9 Jaeger's relative
13 Nastase of tennis
14 Skier's milieu
15 Coastal liter
16 London railway station
18 Locomotives Abbr.
19 Region's animals
20 London mods stamping ground
22 Minnesota Fats' ploy
25 Jai ——
26 And so forth
29 Sound of Music' dress
32 Admiral or guard
33 Talbot and Waggoner
35 Part of India
36 Army VIP
37 Sacrilegious
39 Butler con tainer
40 Baseball great
41 Peninsula on the Red Sea
42 19th cen French illus trator
43 Eric ——
45 Part of IRS
48 Rake
49 Town officer in Canada
50 Mogul governor
53 Foot power mechanism
56 We have met the enemy, and it —— Pogo
57 Arch near Hyde Park Corner
61 Something to dish?
62 Sinun
63 Needle case
64 —— who!
65 Himalayan mystery
66 Evaluate

DOWN
1 Sleepy fellow
2 Norwegian king
3 Opera by Verdi
4 Developing agent
5 Branch of math.
6 Speck
7 Part of the Bible Abbr.
8 Jihad's cousin
9 Oil an inscribed pillar
10 London palace or gardens
11 Spur
12 Looped vase handle
14 Drum
17 Be —— the start
21 Form of Elizabeth
23 Synthetic fiber
24 Fashionable section of London
26 Grain disease
27 Canines
28 Goal of Chaucer's pilgrims
30 Grain sorghum
31 Classify
34 Singer Franke
37 Faise Preiss
38 Leave a la the Lone Ranger
42 Researcher, at times
44 Ridicules
46 Lukewarm
47 Smooth
50 Caesar et al
51 Gort into go
52 Pierre's dream
54 —— boy!
55 Oaf
58 Realtor's unit
59 First cen date
60 Never, in Stuttgart

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

S	A	R	A	H	S		S	L	A	S	H	E	R
P	R	E	L	A	T	E		P	I	C	T	U	R	E
R	I	V	E	R	A		I	N	T	E	R	N	E
E	S	O		A	R		R	E	S	A	L	E	S
A	T	T	I	C		P	R	E	M	I	S	S
D	A	V	I	S		I	N	S		B	R	E	N	T
S	E	E	D	L	I	N	G		W	A	R	G	O	D
			A	N	G	L	E	R
R	E	L	A	T	E		A	R	T	E	R	I	A	L
A	M	I	C	E		I	V	E		R	A	N	E	E
M	I	T	E		A	N	E	L	E		E	R	N
B	R	E	T	O	N	S		S	A	S	H		R	A
D		L	A	M	A		N	A	N	E	T	I	T	E
E	T	A	T	I	S	T		D	U	S	T	E	R
D	E	L	E	T	E	S		S	T	E	A	D	S

1/30/86

Menu

LUNCH
Tacos
Spinach and Mushroom Quiche

BASICS LUNCH
Swiss and Sprout Sandwich
Spinach and Mushroom Quiche

DINNER
Roast Pork/Gravy, Spiced Apples
Shells in Cheese Sauce

BASICS DINNER
Ratatouille
Shells in Cheese Sauce

Weather

Temperatures will be in the mid to upper 20s today, going down to 10-15 degrees tonight.
Tomorrow afternoon may be partly sunny with highs 25-30.

Staff

Today's Staff

Night Editor: Anne McCrory
Copy Editor: Anne McCrory
Layout Technician: Conor Plunkett
Photo Technician: Michelle Segall
Production Supervisor: Conor Plunkett
Production: Laura Bell, Mia Rowan, Rob Catalano

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian (USPS permit #58), a Registered Student Organization at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, is published Monday through Friday excluding holidays, exams and vacations periods. Content is determined solely by the Collegian Board of Editors without prior approval from University administrators, faculty or staff. Operations are funded solely by advertising and subscriptions revenue. Subscriptions and advertising rates are available at 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Mass. 01003, (413) 545-3500. Postmaster: send address changes to the above address.

UPC Presents

On Sale Today

INXS

with Special Guests

Friday
February 7th
at 8:00 pm

Student Union
Ballroom

$10.50 UMass Students
$12.50 General Public

Tix on sale 1/29
at For the Record
Main St. Records
Tix Unlimited (SUB)

No cans, bottles, cameras or recording devices

UMASS SPRING

IT'S NOT TOO LATE TO REGISTER!

Continuing Education Classes
and University Day Classes
Register through February 10

Registration Office
Division of Continuing Education
University Library
8:30 a.m.-7 p.m., Mon.-Thurs.;
8:30 a.m.-5 p.m., Fri.; and
10 a.m.-1 p.m., Sat. (2/1 & 2/8)

Late registration fee and permission of instructor necessary.

Pick up a catalog on campus or call 545-2414 for more information.

Attention Students!

All RGIS Employees
earn .50/hr more than your January rate

If you have worked for us this January, and would like additional hours this weekend, we will make arrangements for your transportation to and from the Boston South area. A car will be leaving Amherst at 4 PM on Fri. 1/31/86 and will return you to school approximately 10 PM on Sunday 2/2/86. You are scheduled to work Fri. night (be dressed for work) - Sat. 12 noon to midnight - Sun. to approx 10 PM.

Call Marc Cohen at 546-7849 to be scheduled.

If you worked in the North Shore and Lawrence/Lowell area - call Boston North 617-938-9119 collect for scheduling.

★ Gymnastics

continued from page 16

The coach successfully devoted himself to recruiting during the off season, and realistically sees his team finishing over .500 and, after a fifth place finish last year, can honestly see a second or third place finish this year in conference play.

The men's team, right now, is in the same situation that the women's team was in last year. Head coach Roy Johnson even noted "It looks as though it's going to be a long season."

The main reason for the famine isn't a lack of talent for UMass, for they are still scoring as high as they did last season when they finished at 7-4. It is mainly due to the heavy recruiting done by the other teams in the Eastern Intercollegiate Gymnastic League (EIGL), especially Temple and Navy.

Navy has also just completed a $10 million gymnastic arena which greatly to their recruitment capabilities.

The Minutemen are also currently 2-2, and Johnson is becoming a realist. "The competition is tough," Johnson said, "but we're young and nobody is graduating. We have plenty of potential, and I feel that we can upset any team in our division. Next season will be an indicator of the true spirit of the team, but it looks optimistic."

Top performers this season have been Roberto Weil, and Timmy Myers. Weil, a talented sophomore is consistent as an all-around performer, and is the key to UM's future. Myers didn't compete last season, but this year he has emerged as a major division one force, also as an all around performer.

Upcoming meets include the women against Cornell in New York on Feb. 1, and the men against East Stroudsburg here, also on the first at Boyden's Gymnastics Center.

Sports information photo

Sophomore Roberto Weil has been a mainstay of the men's gymastics team this season.

★ swimming

continued from page 16

showed life by cutting the lead in half.

The 200 butterfly, which may be a weak spot (if there is one) for the Minutemen, was won by UConn. The Huskies took the top two spots in the event.

"I think the swimmers were tired. I've got to get them to swim better," Yarworth said. UMass was hurt in the race by not having McDonough swim in it. "I pulled him for a later event and he wasn't feeling too good," Yarworth explained.

The UM diving team put on a good show with most of the crowd cheering loudest for senior Pat Mullen. Mullen won the one-meter diving and placed second in the three-meter. Tim Ramacciotti placed third in the three-meter with some consistent diving.

Yarworth was pleased with the crowd. "They seemed to go back and forth from the gymnastics meet. I hope some of them will come to Springfield (for the New England meet next month)," Yarworth said.

OFFICIAL POSTER OFFER: For a 17" x 21" Daytona Beach poster, send $1.00 with your name and address to: Daytona Beach Poster Offer, 500 Third Ave. West, Seattle, WA 98119.

Name _____ Address _____

City _____ State _____ Zip _____

EVERY THURSDAY AT

CHANGES Dance Club

White Russians $1.50

 WELCOME **
 BACK **
 U MASS **

Pearl Harbors $1.50

CHANGES dance club

Free Sodas For Designated Drivers
Must Be of Legal Drinking Age
Rt. 9 Amherst 256-8284

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Come to Collegian Office CC 113 • 8:45-3:45 Mon - Thurs; 8:45 - 2:30 Fri • Deadline is 2 days prior to publication day
Cash in advance • Phone number FREE

ACTIVITIES

DVP - Distinguished Visitors Program 1st meeting - important! Tonite 6:30 pm CC 805

AUTO FOR SALE

1978 Plymouth Horizon 4 spd 4 dr reliable transportation $1000 or BO 665-8335

1979 VW Rabbit 5 speed, good condition. $1200. Geoff, 259-1582

1975 VW Rabbit, 79,000 miles, mags, stereo, sunroof. Runs well. $350. 259-1582

Subaru GL wagon, 1981. Very good cond, new clutch, high mi, well maintained, $2000 or BO, 665-3441

BED & BREAKFAST

Parents visiting? AMITY HOUSE is a cozy, convenient alternative for non-smokers in the heart of town. B & B for 2: $45.00. U Mass discount $5.00. Call 549-6446

"CASH"

Paying cash for your baseball cards Please call Mike 546-6105

ENTERTAINMENT

MOBILE MUSIC INC Disks spun to your taste Call Chris 256-6845

FOR RENT

1 bedroom in a 3 bedroom apartment close to town and campus $225/ call Denise 665-8133

3 bedroom apt Belchertown on bus route $625/mo includes heat, water 323-5097

Fridge Rentals free delivery R & P Package store 253-9742

Riverglade Apt for rent two bedroom call Terry 549-7476

Available one room in spacious apartment at bus stop. Five miles from campus $133/month includes elec & hot water call anytime 253-3625

FOR SALE

Waterbed queensize mr., heater, liner, mattress, frame $125.00 Tom 549-4071

Computer Terminal & 1200 baud modem $100 each 549-0088

New couch, never used $300 negotiable call eves 256-1040

New Tandy 1000 includes double disk dr keyboard monitor. Also a PFS write and desk mate program 1,900 call Larry after 7:00 665-4981

Lange mens ski boots size 9½ mint cond $80. Rick 549-8056

HELP WANTED

Work-study positions available. The duties include answering phone, taking classified ads, filing, and misc duties. Applications will be taken only until January 31, 1986 at 2:30. Decisions will be made by the following Tuesday.

Federal Overseas, nationwide jobs $17-101-861-104. Summer, Career. Call Guidedirectory, Applications, Listings, Newsservice (916) 944-4444 ext. G.S. 161

Exercise Instructor. Work study, CPR Preferred background. Exercise Science, Sports Management, LSE&R, or HRTA. 5-4665 during Body Shop hours.

Summer & Career Jobs Available! Resort hotels, cruise liners & amusement parks are now accepting applications for employment! To receive an application and information, write: Tourism Information Services PO Box 7411 Hilton Head Island, SC 29928

Do you like lobster? Do you like great homecooked meals! Need Springbreak money! Only a few hours per week. Great atmosphere. Call Jim 545-2150

INSTRUCTION

Know your car. Basic Automobile Workshop. 28 hours including classroom and shop. Limited enrollment. 253-2098

Music and Dance Instruction. Performing Arts Division, register by Wednesday, February 5. UMass student discounts available. Old Chanel/UMass 545-0510

JOURNALISM EXPERIENCE

Bring the news of your school to the five college area. Gain valuable experience reporting for an award winning newspaper. Contact: DAILY COLLEGIAN 545-3500

LAUREN BURG

Happy 21st Birthday you S.Machine! Love the S. Witches

LOST

On 1-21-86 black dog approximately 1 year old 45 lbs answers to George. Please call 549-4160 with any info.

Dog tan color part Lab & German Shep. Vicinity of Brown dorm. Named Scotch. Reward 200.00 546-5833 or 413 596-4772

MOVER

Round Town Movers fast, reliable, cheap. Call Michael anytime 323-6780

NHL ALL STAR TICKET

1 tix available call John J. at 6-6397

PARTY PARTY PARTY

Come with Luv Tours to sunny and exciting Fort Lauderdale or Daytona. Best hotels on/off the strip. Trains available. Best prices going! Call: Mark, 549-6173, Ken 549-1749, John 549-6403

PERSONALS

STOLEN blue CE ski jacket, gloves and scarf from 8 Brandywine party on 1/17. Please return no questions asked! Call 256-1719

Lizzie, I love you and I miss you Love Alan

George - Happy Birthday to my favorite mush head! Love always, Janice

Hey Babe. Happy Birthday

How grey is black when black is grey.

Lynne Hans Esq. P.C. Immigration Law evening appointment, call Springfield Office 781-8810 or 665-8513

ROOM WANTED

Help female looking for a room to stay as soon as possible. Please call early mornings or evenings keep trying 253-2401

ROOMMATE WANTED

Female nonsmoker to share room in Brandywine call anytime 549-6037

Female to share room in Southwood townhouse for spring semester call 253-9413

Female wanted to share room in Brittany call 256-4117 start feb

Female roommate wanted to share bedroom in two bedroom Brandywine apt no security deposit required. Call before 3:30 pm 549-8424

Northampton one bedroom in two bedroom apt River Run 225/ need car 584-1293

Looking for a female to share a two bedroomm apt you will have your own room. Close to campus. Call Yasmin 549-0936

SERVICES

Typing. Fast, accurate. Call anytime 665-2502

TAKE THE CHALLENGE

Do you feel like your college career is just passing you by? Are you looking to expand your horizons? Do your career goals match your experiences? The Resident Assistant position can be for you. The training and personal development that you receive as a Resident Assistant will make you more marketable to meet your career goals. The University of Massachusetts Housing Services challenges you to challenge yourself be an R.A.!

TAX SOFTWARE

Integrated Federal, Mass forms from $50 call TaxHelp 256-0642

TRAVEL

SPRING BREAK on the beach at South Padre Island, Daytona Beach, Fort Lauderdale, Fort Walton Beach or Mustang Island/Port Aransas from only $89, ski skiing at Steamboat or Vail from only $86! Deluxe lodging, parties, goodie bags, more. Hurry, call Sunchase Tours for more information and reservations toll free 1-800-321-5911 TUZAY! When your Spring Break counts...count on Sunchase

WANTED

Attention: Adrian Scott is now auditioning Springsteen and similarly influenced musicians for an original cover band that will play the college/club circuit. Have rehearsal space and studio. If you are an interested lead guitar/rhythm/sax/drummer keyboardist, call 546-5806

Bright, articulate, enthusiastic students to be campus tour guides. Apply at 101 Berkshire House by 2/14.

WANTED TO RENT

Need a room? Chi Omega provides a 21 meal plan (homecooked of course), double occupancy rooms, on bus route but within walking distance. Any woman interested should call Marilee at 546-0162 or 549-2092

Promising new band desperately seeking a place to rehearse for spring semester preferably on or near UMass campus Contact Scott at 546-3144

SPORTS

Marked Man:

A-10 starts keying on Sutton

By PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

Lorenzo Sutton can run, but he cannot hide. Especially from opposing coaches.

His statistics jump out at you: 18.5 points-per-game, twice named Atlantic 10 player-of-the-week, leading scorer in the conference with 21.3 ppg, 53 percent shooting from the floor plus 4.2 rebounds a game.

His accomplishments have greatly impressed the teams the University of Massachusetts has faced this season. So much so that the 6-2 sophomore is getting special attention from opposing defenses.

"It's a challenge, and I like a challenge," said the soft-spoken Sutton, who has a chance to average the most points by a UMass player since Al Skinner's 18.8 mark in 1974. "I never know what a team is going to do. Every game is different, sometimes they guard me man-to-man, sometimes it's a zone. Whatever it is, I try to adjust and play my game."

UMass at GW

The Records: UMass is 6-11 overall, 3-5 in the Atlantic 10, George Washington is 6-11, 1-7.

The Season Series: GW leads 13-4.

Last Game: UMass beat GW 78-72 on Jan. 4 at the Cage. Lorenzo Sutton had a 26 points and six rebounds for UMass. Troy Webster had 18 for the Colonials. Carl Smith had 11 assists for UMass.

Leading Players: UM: Lorenzo Sutton (6-2 G) is scoring 18.5 points-per-game. Carl Smith (5-11 G) is scoring 8.7 ppg and has 7.4 assists-per-game. GW: Troy Webster (6-4 G) is averaging 14.8 ppg. Steve Frick (6-5 F) gets 12.5 points and 5.2 rebounds per game.

The Latest Line: UMass is favored by three points.

Against West Virginia last week, Mountaineer coach Gale Catlett assigned his best defensive player, senior guard Dale Blaney, to guard Sutton man-to-man while the rest of the team played a zone around UM's newest star.

The box-and-one defense held Sutton to only two first half points and just two shots. Sutton fought off the defense in the second half, however, scoring 15 points on seven-of-10 shooting. He scored 17 for game.

"That's holding Sutton, I think 17 points is holding him," said Catlett. "He does a lot with the ball and has great athletic ability. He's a definite problem."

George Washington coach John Kuester will try and develop a defense to slow down Sutton tonight as the Minutemen face the Colonials on the road at the Smith Center (7:30).

The Minutemen, 6-11 on the season and 3-4 in the A-10, will be looking to win two straight for the first time this season. UM is coming off of an 82-76 victory over Holy Cross on Monday.

The Colonials, also 6-11, but 1-7 in the A-10, lost to Temple on Monday and will be looking to avenge a 78-72 loss to UMass on Jan. 4 in the Cage.

"It's a big game for us," said Sutton. "We have some goals and one of them is to finish in the top four in the league. I think a key to this is beating a team like GW. We proved we can beat them before, so we have to go out there and do it again."

Sutton scored 26 against the Colonials the first game, and has since led UMass in scoring its next seven times out. With games of 29, 24, 15, 19, 25, 17 and 18 points along with better than 63 percent shooting from the floor, Sutton is one of the hottest players in the East.

At 6-2, Sutton was out-of-position as a forward last season. Getting his first start 12 games into the season, Sutton averaged 11 points from then on, leading UM to a 9-7 record the rest of the way.

He played in all 28 of UM's games as a freshman, averaging 8.4 points and 3.1 rebounds. He shot only 43 percent from the floor and struggled at 68 percent from the line.

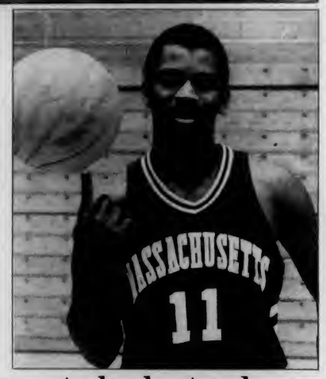
During the off season, the Albany, Georgia native dedicated himself to improving his shooting and it paid off. His 53 percent from the floor is second on the team while he has become a steady 79 percent at the line. He also leads the team in steals and is third in assists.

"I think I was too burdened by the defensive aspects of playing small forward," said Sutton, an interior design major who came to UMass from Fork Union Military Academy. "But as a guard, I compete against players that are around my height and I can get off the shots I want."

Freshman small forward David Brown has helped spring Sutton loose by adding another perimeter threat for UMass. The play of junior point guard Carl Smith has also played a big role.

Smith is averaging 7.4 assists-per-game and many are to Sutton. Running the baseline, Sutton is able to work off picks to set up for jumpers. With a range out to 22 feet, Sutton is a dangerous shooter and Smith knows who to get the ball to."

"Lo and I play well together, it's good chemistry," said Smith. "Our younger players needed time to learn the offense, and Lo carried us for a while. When we get more balanced, I think you'll see him score even more points because teams won't be able to key on him alone."



It would be criminal if Sutton, barring a major slump, isn't chosen as UM's first A-10 first team all-star. "He's the best player I've seen at UMass in some time," said Holy Cross coach George Blaney. "I know I'd sure like to have him on my side."

Minuteman Mutterings: The UMass Minutes will perform a routine at halftime of the Penn State game on Feb. 10. The newly-formed group will perform at the rest of the home games this season and all of next season's games.

Collegian photos by Michelle Segall

Sophomore guard Lorenzo Sutton, above working around a Duquesne player earlier this season, leads the Minutemen in scoring and is the leading back court scorer in the Atlantic 10 Conference. The 6-2 of guard is also second in rebounding and assists for UMass. The Minutemen, 6-11 face George Washington on the road tonight.

UMass routs UConn

Swimmers stay undefeated with 67-46 win

By JOE ROBERTS
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts men's swim team keep its unbeaten streak alive and set two individual school records with a 67-46 victory over the University of Connecticut last night in front of a good crowd of over a hundred people at Boyden pool.

John Turner broke his old record in the 200 backstroke with a 1:54.42 . He won by nearly the whole length of the pool as UMass swept the top three spots in UConn's weakest event. Marc Surette and Peter Chouinard followed him in 2:04.9 and 2:09.75.

Recently, UM coach Russ Yarworth noted that Turner has held back in his training because of a sore shoulder. "He really surprised me," Yarworth said. "I just hope he's not over rested (from nursing the shoulder)."

Mike Hoover set the other record with a 2:12 in the 200 breaststroke that clinched the meet for UMass.

"For Hoover that's a great record. He's been swimming really well," Yarworth said.

The Minutemen jumped out to a quick lead by winning the first four events, and proceeded to controll the whole meet.

The first event, the 400 medley relay, was won by Turner, Hoover, Paul McDonough, and Jim Kuhns in 3:37.69. Tim Flannery then won the 1000 Freestyle in 10:08.71 followed by Rick Bishop in third at 10:16.57. Then, UMass placed 1-3 a second time in the 200 freestyle as Drew Donovan won in 1:42.3 and McDonough's 1:48.86 took third.

Hoover captured the fourth event for UMass with a 22.34 in the 50 freestyle.

"We came out hard in the first half of the meet and the second part wasn't as strong. I didn't go with our strong line up," Yarworth said.

After UMass led by as much as 14 points, UConn

continued on page 15

UMass gymnasts look steady at midpoint of season

By STUARY GOTTLIEB
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts men's and women's gymnastic teams are just about at the midpoint of their seasons, and while both teams are currently at 2-2, each team has its own reasons to believe the future is bright.

On the women's side, the key to the future is depth. The team has more members than in recent years, taking much of the pressure off the starters. In previous seasons, UMass had been devastated by injuries, and there were no suitable replacements. Coach Chuck Shiebler, in only his second year of coaching, said that this season he has 'an overload of talent.'

"We have much more depth this season as opposed to last season," Shiebler said. "We only graduated one senior (Jennifer Pancoast) while acquiring top prospects Sue Carney, Laurie Kaufman, along with many others."

What this means is that the team starters have to work harder to keep their assignments, and in the unfortunate event of an injury there will be a replacement.

Another major factor for the Minutewomen has been the resurgence of tri-captain Sue Allen.

"She has inspired the entire team this season," Sheibler said. "Her own personal improvement has been the key to our overall success this season."

Last season the UMass women finished at 4-8 in what Shiebler called a lean year.

continued on page 15

Sports at a Glance

UMass Schedule:

Today:

Men's Basketball: at George Washington, Smith Center, 7:30 p.m.

NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY

The Massachusetts Daily

COLLEGIAN

RSO-UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS-AMHERST 113 CAMPUS CENTER 545-3500 VOLUME CXVI ISSUE 4

FRIDAY, JANUARY, 31 1986

INSIDE

• The lowdown on professional sports drug testing. Page 2.
• Professor predicts "all-out revolution" in South Africa. Page 11.
• Minutemen lose at G.W. – 77-67. Page 16.

Collegian photo by Michelle Segall

LOOMING MASS — Susan Bowman, a junior psychology major skirts the sculpture on the steps of the Fine Arts Center.

Silence reigns over Henry settlement

By PATRICK JOHNSON
and LESLEY CLARK
Collegian Staff

University of Massachusetts officials say they have not yet been informed of the amount awarded in an out-of-court settlement to a former student accused of arson, although court documents indicate the suit was settled more than a month ago.

The University has yet to be notified of the amount by its insurance agent, Chancellor Joseph D. Duffey said yesterday. Other administrators either refused to comment or could not be reached.

"Everything will be handled through the insurer," Duffey said.

Twin lawsuits, filed by former UMass student Yvette I. Henry, sought $13 million in damages for alleged rights violations surrounding her arrest in connection with a string of residence hall fires in December 1983. Henry filed the two $6.5 million suits in May 1984; defendants included Duffey, other UMass administrators, the FBI, and campus and state police officials.

Documents obtained at the Federal District Court in Springfield show that the settlements with the University and with the FBI were filed last Dec. 11. The FBI also sought to absolve itself of any wrongdoing in the matter.

Henry was arrested Dec. 2, 1983, and charged with setting one of 16 small fires that plagued Crampton House during the semester. Charges against her were dropped 21 days later for lack of evidence.

The investigation leading to her arrest had relied heavily on an FBI computer "profile" that concluded the arsonist was likely to be a black or Hispanic woman.

Negotiations for an out-of-court settlement were under way by Sept. 12, 1985, as shown by a letter signed by US Magistrate Michael A. Ponsor, who wrote that Henry "no longer wishes to pursue these motions and there is a substantial likelihood of settlement of this matter."

On Sept. 20, Ponsor granted a request from Henry's attorneys, ordering that the University and the FBI "purge all records which it maintains on [Henry] by reason of the investigation and prosecution ... for arson."

The only terms of the agreement between Henry and the University which were released state that each party must pay its own legal costs and that neither party may take further civil action against the other in federal district court, according to a document dated Dec. 11.

In the settlement with the FBI, documents stated that Henry agreed to dismiss all charges against "any unnamed employees of the FBI in their official and individual capacities."

The FBI agreed to release Henry from all civil actions "arising out of this lawsuit," the document stated.

But it also stated, "The Federal defendants, in their official and individual capacities, do not admit that any of their conduct was unconstitutional or legally actionable."

Service honors shuttle's crew

By MARLA A. BRUCE
Collegian Correspondent

Seven bouquets of white chrysanthemums adorned the altar last night as about 30 people attended an informal inter-faith service at the Newman Center Chapel to honor the seven who were killed in Tuesday's space shuttle catastrophe.

Rev. Joseph Quigley, director of the Newman Center, Campus Co-President Stacy Roth and two other students spoke of the tragedy, but expressed the need for the continued exploration of space.

Quigley, opening the service, expressed what most Americans feel about the disaster by saying "our hearts go out to families of the Challenger crew." He then turned the service over to the students.

Stacy Roth, asking for a moment of silence before speaking, said that the space program must continue because the crew of the Challenger were dreamers and like them we must have faith in our dreams.

"If we don't try we will never know. I guess that's how we live our lives," Roth said.

Barry Wray, a student who suggested the service, afterward said he felt we all shared a common pain in this tragedy.

"In this instance it was so close to so many people who normally wouldn't have interest," Wray said. "I thought this service could draw these people together."

Wray said that despite the tragedy, the program's value as an avenue of education is far too important to abandon.

"It's important for people to bond together and say we have the strength to go on," he said.

Roth concluded her comments by saying: "Fear not that your life will come to an end, fear that it will have no beginning."

Collegian photo by Paul Desmarais

Rev. Joseph Quigley, Stacy Roth and Barry Wray honor the seven killed Tuesday in the space shuttle explosion.

An 'alternative' bus trip across the United States

By BLAKE CORNISH
Collegian Correspondent

While some 35,000 area college students returned this week to hit the books, 10 others hit the road.

A UMass graduate student, six Hampshire College students and several others have created a mobile community called Spinning Free. Their purpose is to visit and study alternative communities around the nation. The group is traveling in a remodeled school bus equipped with futons, water jugs, a stove, a hand-built icebox and a computer.

The group, which left Amherst last Friday, will study different aspects of the communities, including education, families, women's roles, ecology and economics.

"I would say each of us is doing our own separate study," said Thomas K. Landry, a Hampshire College student who initiated the project. "We're also trying to form our own community on the bus, being a cohesive group and using consensus decision-making."

Christine Ianieri, also a Hampshire student, said, "We want to learn about living in groups and problem-solving, both by doing it ourselves and visiting others and seeing how they do it."

The group plans to visit about 15 communities, including a Hopi Indian reservation. The communities vary widely, some having a religious foundation, some political motivations, and still others existing solely as support systems for their members.

"The general thing in the '60s was that these communities needed time away, in isolation, to think about their purpose. Consequently, a lot failed," Landry said. "Communities in the '80s have a real purpose that they're working for, ranging from helping Guatemalan refugees to feeding the homeless to living an ecologically sound lifestyle."

Three Hampshire students began planning the bus trip more than a year ago, and they held recruitment meetings last spring. Each participant paid a $350 deposit, and last summer the group purchased a used school bus for $1000. They spent last fall outfitting the bus with beds for 10, desk and shelf space and a kitchen. They also needed insurance and Class 2 licenses to operate the bus.

The group wrote letters to about 50 communities culled from various listings of

continued on page 4

AP photo

A Concord, N.H., high school student passes by an American flag flying at half-mast in memory of Concord High School teacher-astronaut Christa McAuliffe, killed in Tuesday's explosion of the shuttle Challenger.

Soviets make warning

MOSCOW (AP) -- The official Soviet media yesterday tempered condolences over the space shuttle disaster with warnings that the shuttle's explosion exemplified the "viciousness" of the U.S. space weapons program.

The young people's newspaper Komsomolskaya Pravda accused the United States of setting an "unjustifiably high" pace of shuttle flights to accelerate the Strategic Defense Initiative or "Star Wars" program for developing a space-based missile defense.

Although the Soviet Union reveals little about accidents in its own space program and provides data only after long delays, the media has followed developments closely since the U.S. shuttle Challenger exploded just after takeoff Tuesday.

Every national daily ran stories on the disaster and kremlin leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev's condolence message to President Reagan.

The official Tass news agency issues regular updates on efforts to find pieces of the destroyed shuttle.

But the media also used the disaster to issue new attacks on Star Wars, which the Soviets have said must be halted before any arms control agreement can be reached.

The media reports suggested the explosion confirmed Soviet fears that technology in space cannot always be controlled and that deployment of anti-satellite devices and other space weapons could lead to computers accidentally triggering nuclear war.

The tri-weekly newspaper Sovietskaya Kultura called the shuttle accident a national catastrophe, but added, "On the other hand... the bright flash of the tragedy illuminates the viciousness of unrestrained exploration of space with commercial and militaristic goals."

Tass said the disaster highlighted "The dangerous consequences of implementation of the Star Wars program."

In a seperate commentary, Tass discussed "the impossibility of developing such monitoring and control system that would guarantee against error and reacting to false signals."

McAuliffe's family expresses thanks

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) -- The husband and children of teacher Christa McAuliffe, who was killed Tuesday in the explosion of the space shuttle Challenger, thanked people around the world yesterday for their sympathy.

"My children and I are very aware of the tremendous outpouring of grief and support across America," McAuliffe said in a statement delivered by a partner in McAuliffe's Concord law firm.

"We wish to thank you all and hope you can understand our need for these private moments.

"We have all lost Christa. We thank you for respecting our privacy and for sharing our grief.

"We wish we could comfort all of you as you have comforted each of us. To the families of the other crew members, we send our love and share their sorrow."

McAuliffe and his two children, Scott, 9, and Caroline, 6, have been in seclusion in Florida since the explosion shortly after blastoff Tuesday.

Studds is for initiative

WASHINGTON (AP) -- The United States should challenge the Soviet Union to compete in controlling nuclear arms and should use the "Star Wars" defense system as a bargaining chip to win concessions, Rep. Gerry E. Studds, D-Mass., said yesterday.

Studds, a member of the arms control cubcommittee of the House Foregin Affairs Committee, said Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev has been making "public relations mincemeat out of President Reagan on the subject of arms control proposals of its own.

Since assuming Soviet leadership, Gorbachev has sold the Soviet Union "as the initiator of proposals to reduce the level and danger of nuclear arms," Studds said.

He said while many of the initiatives have been sloppy, and Gorbachev's motives transparent, the proposals should not be dismissed lightly.

"The administration response to the Soviet strategy has been slow, weak, misguided and characterized often by a lack of unity within the executive branch," Studds said.

But Studds said the major problem has been Reagan's insistence on the Strategic Defense Initiative, also known as "Star Wars." "The goal of SDI is to build a system that would destroy enemy missiles before they could destroy the United States.

"The Star Wars program can be useful only as 'bargaining chip': only if the U.S. is willing to accept limits on nuclear defensive systems in return for Soviet reductions in offensive arms," Studds said.

Studds said many scientific experts said a defense system that would provide complete protection against attack is technically impossible.

AP photo

VERMONT GOES 21 — State Sen. Thomas Crowley smiles after winning passage of a bill which pushes the drinking age in Vermont from 18 to 21.

Pentagon funds more research

WASHINGTON (AP) -- Thanks to President Reagan's "Star Wars" program, universities are as dependent on the Pentagon for research funding as they were "at the height of the Vietnam War," a new study concludes.

"Since 1980, Department of Defense funding for university research has jumped from $495 million to $930 million, an 89 percent increase," concludes the study conducted by the Council on Economic Priorities.

"Campus funding from other major federal agencies... has grown less than half as fast as DOD support since 1980. Today, DOD research accounts for 16 percent of all federal spending for university research, up from 10 percent in 1980."

The study concludes that such a large increase in Pentagon spending for academic research raises troubling questions about the balance between basic research versus work done on weapons projects, as well as the future of academic freedom to publish research findings.

"The practical effect of these numbers is that the usual balance between civilian and military funding is being threatened," concluded Alice Tepper Marlin, the executive director of the council.

The Council on Economic Priorities is a non-profit research organization based in New York. It specializes in studies of national security issues, the environment and corporate social responsibility. The group has issued several studies criticizing the "Star Wars" program, known formally as the Strategic Defense Initiative, or SDI.

Drugs in Sports

•Baseball

BALTIMORE -- The Baltimore Orioles, expressing concern over baseball's tarnished image, announced yesterday the formation of the game's first voluntary drug testing program.

Twenty-six of the 38 players on Baltimore's spring training roster have agreed to take part in the one-year pilot program or were already subject to similar arrangements through contract clauses or minor league testing.

The remaining 12 have not yet been contacted. General Manager Hank Peters said he hoped for 100 percent participation, but added that no disciplinary action would be taken against anyone who refuses.

•Football

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) -- The head of drug treatment for the New England Patriots' said yesterday seven players on the club were tested, all positively for drug use in the past year and the problem on the team is "almost negligible."

The tests showed that two of the players and used cocaine and marijuana and that five had used marijuana only, Dr. Armand Nicholi said. Of those five, two said they had used marijuana just once during the year, he added.

In a prepared statement issued by the club, Nicholi said those tested positively made up a far smaller percentage of the 56 players under contract than the amount of drug users in a similar age group in general society.

CORRECTION

Due to incorrect information provided by the University, the dates financial aid checks may be picked up in the Bursar's Office were listed incorrectly yesterday. The correct dates are: Feb. 5 for last names M-Z; Feb. 6 for A-L.

Now's the time to call...

North Amherst Motors
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880

Expert Repairs & Reconditioning

The Whately Inn
Quality Food To Order Prepared
Chestnut Plain Rd. Whately
665-3044

featuring Steve Kloc's Famous Broiled LIVE LOBSTER
Also Serving Louisiana Cajun Entrees
Also Steaks, Prime Rib, Seafood

DIRECTIONS: take 116 north to South Deerfield, south on route 5 to 1½ miles. Right on Christian Lane ½ mile from center of town.
Open: Mon-Sat 5-10 pm Sun 1-9

MASS. APPROVED INSPECTION STATION
RADIAL TIRE
SALE
P155/80R13
$29.95
Includes Mounting plus MA State Tax
North Amherst Tire & Auto Center
Full Service Tire Store
78 Sunderland Rd., No. Amherst, MA
Across from Wairoba's Store
549-4704
Most Major Credit Cards Accepted

The Collegian is now hiring responsible and motivated Freshman & Sophomore students to assume the following positions:
Assistant BUSINESS MANAGER
Assistant FINANCE MANAGER
These jobs can offer you excellent business experience while still in school. Apply at the Collegian Business Office by Tuesday, February 4th.

Inn manager hired by HRTA may be picketed

A former manager of the Lord Jeffery Inn, which recently closed due to labor troubles, has been hired to teach a course in hotel, restaurant and travel administration at the University of Massachusetts. Some former inn workers, accusing him of unfair practices, plan to picket the class today.

Former inn employee Laura Krutzler, a UMass student, said Eric Nussbaum, previously the manager, had been hired to teach personnel management, but Stevenson Fletcher, HRTA department head, said Nussbaum would be teaching rooms division management.

The course, HRTA 291A, is listed as a seminar in rooms division management.

"We're pretty outraged that the University has hired this Nussbaum character. This is the hatchet man of Amherst College. We're going to ask students to drop his class," Krutzler said.

Fletcher said, "This had nothing to do with past jobs. We had a faculty member go on emergency sick leave with a week's a notice. We hired the most experienced individual available. I hope you won't sensationalize this."

Fletcher also said that there might "be some trouble down here tomorrow" at Flint Laboratory, where Nussbaum's class meets.

Krutzler confirmed that students who are former inn employees plan to picket the 9:05 class today. "At this point we're going to be outside with signs as a presence. We'll send a few students inside to leaflet, to let the students know who this man is teaching their class," she said.

— PHIL SERAFINO

Man arrested after accident

A 35-year-old man was arrested at 8:39 p.m. Tuesday on charges of violating probation. Amherst Police said they arrested the man, who had been issued a warrant by the Sturbridge Police Department, at the scene of an accident at the intersection of North Pleasant and Pine streets.

A 22-year-old Longmeadow man had been driving north on North Pleasant Street, when he stopped at a red light, police said. The Sunderland man, driving behind him, was unable to stop on the icy road, and struck the car in the rear. Each car underwent $1,000 worth of damage. Police reported no traffic violations.

In other police reports: In a three-car accident at 7:35 p.m. Tuesday, also at North Pleasant and Pine Streets, a 30-year-old woman, driving south on North Pleasant Street, turned in front of a car driving north and struck it, police said. The car, driven by a 30-year-old Sunderland man, then hit a car exiting Pine Street onto North Pleasant, which was driven by a 21-year-old Scituate man.

— ANNE TAUGER

Collegian photo by Brian Guarnotta

Rose I. Ihedigbe, a teacher at the Walden Learning Center in Bartlett Hall, works with children.

Incidental teaching style aids autistic children

By DANIEL TAUB
Collegian Correspondent

They play together, cutting shapes out of construction paper or playing in sand -- but the teachers know the children are learning shapes, developing sensory abilities and gaining valuable social interaction while they have fun.

The Walden Learning Center at the University of Massachusetts uses this educational style, called incidental teaching, to help autistic children learn.

"Incidental teaching is arranging an attractive environment using the child's interest as a teaching opportunity," said Gail McGee, the project director for the center.

Ten children ranging from three to six years old are enrolled in the center, located in the basement of Bartlett Hall. Three are autistic, McGee said.

Autism is a developmental disability caused by physical disorders of the brain. It typically appears before the age of three and is marked by inattention, social unresponsiveness, and lack of language skills.

Traditional approaches to education for autistic children have been highly structured and teacher directed. The center works on the belief that the incidental teaching method is appropriate not only for autistic children, but for all children, McGee said.

With incidental teaching, the children are both happier and learn faster than with other methods. The children are also better able to apply their learning in situations outside the classroom, McGee said.

"Early intervention is a new practice, but the information is extremely promising in terms of the progress these children can make," McGee said.

Because the approach is new, there is not a lot of long term information on what these children will be like at 18 or 24 or 35," she said. "It is very clear that the prognosis is greatly improved."

The young age of the students is crucial in determining the outcome with autistic children, said Robert S. Feldman, associate professor of educational psychology and one of the research directors of the project.

"The integration between special needs and typical children, and the whole idea of using incidental teaching with special-needs children, is something that is just beginning to be used," said Lisa Musante-Bartmon, the coordinator of daily activities at the center.

The directors of the center have applied for money so it may become a demonstration project, which would make it possible for incidental teaching techniques to be transferred to other schools.

Prof. finishes history guide

By LINA PANAGOPOULOU
Collegian Correspondent

A five-volume historical guide that took six years to compile, is the latest work of Lewis Hanke, an 81-year-old retired University of Massachusetts professor.

Hanke, a Latin American history professor is the general editor who prepared the work titled "Guide to the Study of US History Outside the US, 1945-1980," which he hopes will give readers a different perspective on American History.

The guide, which costs $418 a set, is separated into two major parts, with part one being a compilation of articles written by foreign scholars and librarians about teaching methods of US history, the basic material most frequently used and archival resources. The second part contains a selective bibliography of 3,000 items covering US history from the Colonial period till 1980.

"The guide shows our historians how many different points of view there are, gives a different interpretation and provides additional material," Hanke said. "It is essential to us because it makes our history as rich, essential sound and accurate as possible."

The work was published in December and is the first of its kind listing the works on US history available in 45 countries. The project took Hanke around the world, including cautious negotiations with governments behind the Iron Curtain.

"After World War II, the United States was becoming more and more an important and powerful nation," Hanke said. "People from all around the world were coming in. It seemed useful that historians abroad had been writing about us."

Essays on labor, the women's movement, economics, a listing of the archive in the American University of Beirut and the experiences of American professors teaching US history in the Soviet Union and China can all be found in the guide, he said.

"After I retired in 1975 and finished some other projects, I decided to work on something different and useful for everyone," Hanke said.

The set is sponsored by the American Historical Association and the University of Massachusetts.

Historian Lewis Hanke

Publicity services offered

By ROB COHEN
Collegian Correspondent

Typesetting resumes for students entering the work force is one of the many services offered by the Student Government Association's Communications Office.

All registered student organizations are offered free promotional assistance by the Communications Office. For a minimal fee, the office will work on projects for other groups and individuals. The office charges $15 for resumes and needs about five days to complete each one.

According to Janet Morgenstern, director of promotions, the program has serviced many groups on campus by typesetting and designing flyers, posters, brochures and group logos as well as offering professional advice about writing radio ads and press releases. The office does not print the designs but offers a list of printers.

"There are a lot more organizations that could be benefited [by these services]," Morgenstern said. "If they're going to organize a trip, lecture or film, it's worth the minimal effort to visit the SGA Communications Office and get it publicized."

The 10-person staff -- graphic artists, typesetters and publicity advisors -- is currently involved in designing a publicity manual. The manual, which will be finished in March, will be introduced in printing workshops.

"We have room for people interested in volunteering in graphic design, typesetting or promotions," Morgenstern said.

The office is presently designing signs for the Student Credit Union which are more effective and eye-catching than the hand written ones which were previously used, Morgenstern said.

The office, located on the third floor of the Student Union Building, is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Thirty sizes and styles of typesetting are offered at the office.

$900 VCR stolen from unlocked room

A video cassette recorder and a cassette tape valued at $920 were reported stolen at 12:45 p.m. Wednesday from an unlocked room on the fifth floor of Herter Hall, University of Massachusetts police said.

In other police reports:

(bullet)Three door locks in Engineering Labs, one in Lederle Graduate Research Center and one in Gunness Laboratory were filled with glue Wednesday night, resulting in approximatly $200 in damges, police said.

The incident was reported at 9:15 a.m. Wednesday. The buildings were unlocked overnight, police said.

(bullet)An am-fm radio cassette recorder valued at $150 was reported stolen at 3:09 p.m. Wednesday from a 1981 Mazda parked in lot 22. The car was locked but there were no visible signs of forced entry, police said.

— JEANETTE DeFORGE

Ski, tennis teams may keep varsity status

By ANITA L. ROYE
Collegian Staff

Four University of Massachusetts varsity teams, scheduled for demotion to club status, will receive a reprieve if the Board of Trustees follows the lead of one of its committees.

The Budget and Financial Affairs Committee, a subcommittee of the Trustees, voted Wednesday to keep the men's and women's ski and tennis teams as varsity sports.

The committee "saw the necessity for diverse sports teams at UMass," said Stacey Roth, co-president of the student government association.

The final vote will decided on by the Trustees when they meet next Wednesday.

"I feel confident we will come out on top," Roth said.

The tennis, ski, golf and wrestling teams were recommended for reduction to club standing from varsity status two years ago, when athletic department officials planned to cut their budgets to allocate more funds for other UMass teams and athletic programs.

The Trustees decided to fund the sports for two more seasons, and with the exception of the wrestling team (which broke up), all have competed on the varsity level since, but were scheduled for reduction to club status in September.

The drop would cause the teams to lose their medical, travel, and insurance expenses, ultimately keeping them from competing with certain other colleges and universities and in some leagues.

Last November, a letter writing campaign, initiated by team members, resulted in the sending of 5,000 letters to the Trustees. Roth said the letter campaign was effective.

However, the golf teams were not considered for continued varsity status because there was "no involvement from the teams in the past few months," said Roth.

Andrew Knowles, chairman of the committee and former UMass baseball player, was originally opposed to the decision, but voted in favor because of the support he said he saw from the teams.

"They built a case for themselves from all of their lobbying," he said.

Knowles said the fact that the team members were willing to help support themselves influenced his final decision.

Tours orient students in library

Students who find themselves lost in the library have failed to make use of the library's guided tours, according to one librarian.

The Goodell Library staff offers tours of the University of Massachusetts library system, but only a minority of students take them.

"Approximately 2,240 students per semester participate in organized tours and sessions of the UMass library system, while most all students will use the library facilities sometime during their stay at UMass," said Paula Mark, a librarian at Goodell.

Tours have been offered since the library opened, "to introduce people to the layout of the library," said Mark. These tours begin by giving a brief history of the Tower Library, Goodell Library, and the three branches. The three branches are the music library, located in the Fine Arts Center, the biological and geological sciences library, located in Morrill Science Center and the physical sciences library, located in the Lederle Graduate Research Tower.

The tour continues with an introduction to the different library departments, such as the reserve room, the document section, the reference room, the computer terminals, the microfilm room and the inter-library loan system.

The Goodell library offers "either just a tour, or a session which relates material to their (the professor's) needs," said Mark. Sessions concerning a specific subject may be set up for classes by the professor. These sessions explain where specific subject information is located.

The library offers tours during the first two weeks of the semester at 10:30 a.m., 1:30 and 2:30 p.m.

— SUE MILLER

Amherst surpasses target, raises $56m

Amherst College has raised more than $56 million for its academic programs, $13 million more than anticipated when the goal was set in 1980.

Douglas Wilson, an Amherst College spokesman, said, "through strong efforts by class agents," the alumni association has initiated improved relations with and greater financial support from the school's alumni. The alumni fund was just under $3 million last year, double that of 1980, while the annual volume of contributions to Amherst jumped from $4 million to nearly $11 million last year.

A class agent is a representative of the graduation class who organizes fund-raising with his classmates. When the agents and others began the campaign, an extra effort was started to change the program dramatically, Wilson said.

The school's alumni association, Wilson said, has begun to solicit funds closer to where graduates live.

When the program began, the association was investing in a "brick and mortar program," which concentrated on new building on campus. Wilson said the program now has been focusing on "strengthening the college endowments." This will include more student activities, instructional goals and operating costs.

— CHRISTINE MacDONALD

★bus trip

continued from page 1

alternative communities. About one-half wrote back, and a southern US route was planned.

Their itinerary includes Twin Oaks, a commune based on B.F. Skinner's Walden 2; the Community for Creative Nonviolence, a group that works to feed the homeless in Washington, D.C.; Arcosanti, an "arcology" developed by architect Paolo Soleri; Camp Hill, a community where half the members have disabilities; and about 10 others.

The Hampshire students have designed the bus trip as part of their studies, and the college is partially funding the trip. The others have varied reasons for the journey.

"My purpose in going is to see that there are alternative ways to live from the suburban model I've been handed," said Mark Tuchman, a recent Hampshire graduate. "Whether or not I choose to live in an alternative community, my perspective will not be so narrow."

Several of them will look at ethnic and racial minorities in the communities.

"There's a concern that they're not multi-ethnic, that they're upper-middle class," Landry said.

"It seems like they're only open to the middle class," Baum added. "Are they expanding to other groups? Maybe only white middle class people are interested; I don't know.

"Everyone on the bus is white," she continued. "What are we going to do? Only white people applied. It doesn't invalidate us because we're white, but ... we're going to talk to these communities and see how they feel about it and what they're doing about it."

The bus is scheduled to return to the Amherst area around May 8.

FOUR SEASONS
WELCOME BACK SPECIALS

BUD 12 oz. cans.	$10.99
MICHELOB and MICHELOB LIGHT	$11.99
BUSCH 12 oz. cans.	$8.99
LITE	$10.99
LABATTS ALE & BEER	$11.99
MOOSEHEAD	$13.99
GENESSEE BEER	$7.99
UTICA CLUB	$6.99

SIX PACK SPECIALS

MOOSEHEAD	$3.75
ST. PAULI GIRL	$3.99
BECKS	$3.99
HEINEKEN	$3.99

LIQUOR & WINE

VODKA or GIN 1.25 L.	$8.99
RUM 1.75 L.	$10.99
AMARETTO 750 ml.	$4.99
PEPPERMINT SCHNAPPS 750 ml	$4.99
MELON LIQUER 750 ml.	$4.99
COFFEE LIQUEUR 750 ml.	$4.99

See our new 2 for $5 Wine Selection
Many Different Selections
Embros Chablis, Rose, Burgundy 3L $3.99
Sun Country Wine Coolers 4 pk $2.99

KEGS - CHECK OUR PRICES
THE LOWEST IN TOWN
Mastercharge and VISA for deposit

Lodestone has EDWIN JEANS
Save 10% with this ad - good thru Feb. 7
13 N. Pleasant St. Amherst, MA

Don't be left out in the cold
UMASS SKI CLUB GOES DOWN TO FT. LAUDERDALE
SPRING BREAK 86
Prices Start at $149.00
Complete with Jet $369.00
For More Information Contact
The UMass Ski Club is your SPRING BREAK CONNECTION
430 Student Union 545-3437

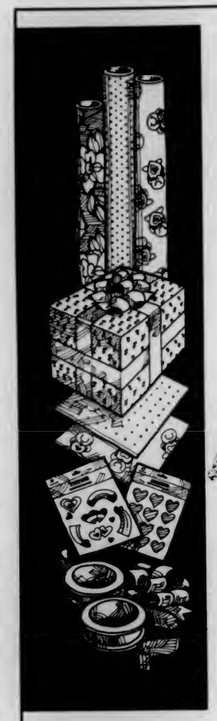
This Winter We've Got It All In BOTH STORES!
Amherst Carriage Shops • Northampton (Next to Iron Horse)
POSTERS Huge Selection ★ BAMBOO BLINDS
BEDSPREADS (Cover Walls, Furn, Windows) ★ Paper LAMPSHADES (Variety of Colors)
RUGS & MATS (Colorful, Durable) - Greatly Expanded ★ CARDS (Over 1400 Designs)
SKIRTS & BLOUSES (Comfortable Cotton) ★ Brass & Silver JEWELRY (earrings, rings etc.)
WINTER SALE
20 - 50% off
selected Clothing, Chinese Shoes
Tapestries & Rugs
Great Gifts... Great Prices
THE MERCANTILE
Daily & Sat. 10-6 • Sunday 12-5
Amherst 549-1396 Northampton 584-1205

Walsh's
ANNUAL WINTER SALE
NOW UNDERWAY
Our 8th Annual Winter Sale is now in progress, so why not drop in and take advantage of significant seasons end savings on both mens and womens fine quality business and leisure apparel.
The Annual Winter Sale. . .A Tradition in Savings Since 1902
House of Walsh
32 Main St., Amherst 253-3361 Mon.-Sat. 9-5:30

Dress for success.
It's a look of pride. Pride that comes from leadership as a Navy officer. It's also a feeling of accomplishment in a world where high tech meets high challenge. Where the Navy adventure reaches around the world, beneath the sea or even into space.
There's no boot camp. Navy officers get leadership training at Officer Candidate School. Graduate level training that develops new skills and talents. You'll work with the best and brightest in your field and get real responsibility and decision-making authority.
The challenge, satisfaction and rewards add up to personal and professional growth no other job can match.
When you lead the adventure, you start with a job that's a perfect fit for big ambitions. Contact your Navy Officer Recruiter or call 1-800-327-NAVY.
NAVY OFFICER.
LEAD THE ADVENTURE.

U M A S S

SPRING



IT'S NOT TOO LATE TO REGISTER!

Continuing Education Classes
and University Day Classes
Register through February 10

Registration Office
Division of Continuing Education
University Library
8:30 a.m.-7 p.m., Mon.-Thurs.;
8:30 a.m.-5 p.m., Fri.; and
10 a.m.-1 p.m., Sat. (2/1 & 2/8)

Late registration fee and permission of instructor necessary.

Pick up a catalog on campus or call 545-2414 for more information.

Valentine Gift Wrap
VALENTINE'S DAY
FEBRUARY 14TH

Wrap your gifts with elegant and fashionable gift wrappings that say "Be my Valentine" from American Greetings.

Located in Campus Center
UNIVERSITY STORE
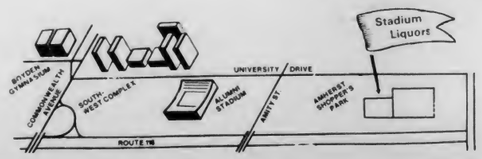
Open M-F 9-5

AMERICAN GREETINGS

© MCMLXXVI American Greetings Corp.



Kegs ★ Beer ★ Wine
Soda ★ Ice

STADIUM LIQUORS
University Dr.
Amherst

CARLING 12 oz. bottles	$6.95 + 1.50
MILLER LITE 12 oz. cans	$10.99 + 1.20
BUD or BUD LIGHT 12 oz. cans	$11.20 1.20
BUSCH 12 oz. cans	$8.95 + 1.20
MICHELOB or LIGHT 12 oz. cans	$11.25 + 1.20
BECK lt or dk	$3.99 + 30 6 pk
ST PAULI lt or dk	$3.99 + 30 6 pk

MONTEVINO WINES 1.5 L	$2.99 or 2/$5.00
CARLO ROSSI 4 L	$4.99
PETRI WINES 4 L	$4.99
MASSON 1.5	$3.99
RIUNITE 1.5	$3.99
PALO VIEJO RUM 1.75	$10.99
GILBEY GIN 1.75	$12.99
C. MORGAN RUM 750 ml	$6.59
PEACHTREE SCHNAPPS L	$6.99

253-5595

175 University Drive

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian

ED/OP

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted.

Founded in 1870

EXECUTIVE BOARD-SPRING 1986

Dode B. Levenson, Editor in Chief
Ian Polumbaum, Managing Editor
Larry Bouchie, Editorial Editor
Peter Soderberg, Production Manager
Conor Plunkett, Production Manager
Elizabeth Young, Business Manager
Sherry Sharfman, Business Manager

BOARD OF EDITORS

Dode B. Levenson, Editor in Chief
Ian Polumbaum, Managing Editor
Larry Bouchie, Editorial Editor
Joel P. Coffidis, News Editor
John Yonce, Women's Editor
Peter Abraham, Sports Editor
Jennifer Ackerman, Arts Editor
Kelly Sieger, Arts Editor
Michelle Segall, Photo Editor
Paul Desmarais, Photo Editor
Chris Allen, Black Affairs Editor

International confusion

Dan Perrin

On Nov. 9, 1984, the hammer and sickle of the Soviet Union reached 60 miles into mainland America and intimidated the highest levels of this government into abandoning its defense of freedom.

On that day, the Soviet freighter Marshall Konev sailed from the New Orleans harbor, carrying Miroslav Medvid, a Ukranian sailor whose dream of freedom had been betrayed by the Reagan administration. Medvid, On Oct. 24, 1984, jumped into the swirling Mississippi River during a hurricane, clutching a waterproof jar containing his watch, an official looking document, and a third object. Upon reaching the shore he was observed moving at a "dead run" and continually looking over his shoulder.

Upon meeting Joseph Wyman, an ex-police officer and now a jewlery store owner, Medvid demanded through a combination of sign language and by writing down the word "policia," that he be taken to a police station. When asked if he were Russian, he shook his head violently, pounded his chest and said, "Ukranian! Ukranian!" During the drive to the station, Medvid made little diving motions with his hands, to explain how he got to shore.

At the station, he was photographed and fingerprinted, and through a long distance telephone hookup, he spoke with Irene Padoch, an interpreter from Washington, for a period of 30 to 60 minutes. Padoch testified at a Congressional hearing that Medvid wanted to defect, and as Medvid said, "live in an honest country" and that he would "rather die than not be free."

However, Medvid did not become free. In fact he was returned to the Marshall Konev "kicking and screaming" in handcuffs.

Once on board, and during a heated discussion with the ship's second mate, Medvid again dove off the ship, and swam to shore, pushing away several lifebouys thrown to him from the ship. Once on shore he was tackled, handcuffed, and began beating his head against the rocks on which he lay.

On Oct. 28 and 29 Medvid was questioned by State Department officials to "determine whether he wanted asylum" and was also given a "medical" examination. A Soviet doctor was inadvertantly admitted and Medvid was given drugs. The National Security Agency then also intercepted a transmission to the Marshall Konev from the Soviet Embassy in Washington instructing that Medvid be drugged with strong, mind-controlling neroleptics. But there were no blood or urine tests done by American officials.

With Soviet officials present, Medvid said six times that he had "fallen overboard" and wanted to go back with the ship, but State Department regulations stipulated that U.S. officials hear from Medvid before allowing him to be returned to the ship.

Although there are provisions in American law that say any contract in which one party was coerced, drugged, threatened, or tortured, is not only nonbinding, but also illegal, the administration chose to lie to itself and the American public.

Last week the Boston Globe published a story that had the Soviet news agency Tass quoting Medvid as saying his story was an American media creation. The sad thing is that the Globe feels Tass, the Soviet propoganda machine equivalent to that run by Goebbels for Hitler, is legitimate enough to deserve space to run its story. The Globe may claim it was a United Press International story that ran, but for those of you who missed the non-existant mention that UPI was just bought out by a Mexican socialist, who mysteriously came up with the $30 million to make the down payment, you may be much more skeptical about UPI reports with a distinct Communist tinge.

It is interesting to note that one obstacle to the cultural, scientific, and technical agreements between our countries is that the Soviets want a gaurantee that all defectors will be returned. It would be legitimate to assume that because Jessy Tabor, Head of the New Orleans border patrol, said 115 sailors have been returned this past year, but then refused to give out a nationality breakdown, and because the agents who returned Medvid to the ship in the first place had 30 years experience between them, that such an agreement exists in our grain treaty.

It is ironic that one of the grievences in the Declaration of Independence concerned the restrictions Britain placed on immigration, and now we seem to be succeeding that power to the most tyranical, militaristic, and expansionist regime in earth's history.

Dan Perrin is a UMass student.

Random Notes

Larry Bouchie

UMass received a lot of attention in the press during intercession, most of it favorable. The highlight occurred when the Boston Globe published a lengthy editorial chastising Gov. Dukakis for his distinct lack of support for UMass/Amherst. Dukakis had also earlier been quoted, by the Globe, as saying the UMass system shouldn't plan on attaining the status of other outstanding private colleges in Massachusetts.

Offering support for Chancellor Duffey's funding requests, the Globe went on to criticize Dukakis' narrow vision, pointing out preeminent public institutions in other states. The editorial followed a low key campaign by Duffey to enlist the aid of editorial boards statewide.

★ ★ ★

Board of Higher Education Chancellor Duff generated more attention, as expected. In a final report, Duff recommended that UMass/Boston separate from the University of Massachusetts system and connect with the public Massachusetts College of Art. Duff then wrote a letter to the Globe editor, chastising the newspaper for not supporting Massachusetts higher education officials and their plans. Duff leaves soon for Chicago to run the public library system, while his connections to political fundraising and mismanagement of Board of Regents computer funds are still being examined.

★ ★ ★

Local SGA personality Bill Collins was shown during a television news segment about the recent drive to mandate a public referendum for the newly enacted mandatory seat belt law. Largely through the efforts of Boston radio personality Jerry Williams, the citizens of Massachusetts will vote on a binding referendum next fall.

Without revealing how much I agree with Collins on other issues, I personally can't wait to help repeal the latest government intrusion into my life. More lives could be saved through stricter enforcement of moving violations in this state, but of course that costs more money — intrusion is the cheaper way out.

★ ★ ★

Local print is picking up steam. Both the Collegian and the Campus Chronicle are sporting some new type and flag designs, and Critical Times shows few signs of losing ground. Meanwhile, two new student papers on opposite sides of the political spectrum may soon appear this semester. Unofficially, the Valley Women's Voice is threatened by a lack of staff, but will continue to publish this semester.

Speaking of our new front page flag and type, the Collegian welcomes community comment about the change, which is still not set in stone.

★ ★ ★

Though the Yvette Henry lawsuit has been settled by Henry, the University, and the University insurance agents, it remains to be seen what cumulative effect the entire episode has had on the University. Many questions are unanswered, including how the University is viewed by minorities, what checks are in place to fairly facilitate solutions to such complex problems, and how this settlement might affect University insurance policies and protection.

Larry Bouchie is a Collegian columnist.

Doug Calvin is a well-known local activist involved in Central American issues, particularly El Salvador. He's been a UMass student for almost two years; he has been educating people about the Salvadoran situation for five. Last summer like so many politicos he undertook a fact-finding mission, and last fall he toured regionally, explaining to audiences his insights.

There is a governmental offensive in the Guazapa region of El Salvador, ten miles north of the capital, that started two and a half weeks ago and is known as Operation Phoenix. The action apparently came as a response to a rebel bombardment which rocked the capital. Calvin stresses how peasants in the affected area are extremely low on food, and the casualties are high amongst the civilian population because of the army's tactics.

The U.S.-backed government of Jose Napolean Duarte has stepped up its aerial war against the guerrilla insurgency with the help of U.S.-provided military intelligence. Of U.S. moneys earmarked for Salvadoran development, 75% goes into developing a war, according to the Miller-Leach-Hatfield Congressional commission.

The Salvadoran armed forces are not allowing the International Red Cross or the Church into the embattled Guazapa zone, according to Calvin. "It is a seriously escalating bloodbath," he says of the aerial bombardments in this country the size of Massachusetts. The figures Doug Calvin produces attest to the terrifying climate that United States dollars have three-quarters funded: bombings–1982, 111; 1983, 227; 1984, 347; 1985, 1600. The air force is a key component in the war, obviously.

Rob Skelton

Modern-day activist Doug Calvin can document all of the above. The facts can and will back up the work he is doing, such as educating us about the escalation that is occuring, including reports of U.S. Naval shelling of guerrilla positions on January 9 of this year. Given the money, the people, and the interest that the U.S. has in Salvador, and that, like in Lebanon, America has no moral monopoly that prevents it from offshore shelling while simultaneously denouncing terrorism, the signals indicate that our continual dalliance into Third-World affairs will be as hazardous and rife with short-sightedness as it has historically been.

Doug Calvin is hardly radical, given the information. He sees what others will only later understand. And when I see the new "'rebels", who flirt with the flag, get featured in newspaper supplements, and find a "cause" in the "contras", I have to sigh, for they are fighting a losing battle. It will be long, but in the end, those who are right, and not necessarily right-wing, will prevail.

Rob Skelton is a Collegian columnist.

Letters

New look is inappropriate

We are concerned. It has come to our attention that the Collegian has fundamentally altered its aesthetic appearance by implementing a new masthead for the spring of 1986. We note an alarming similarity between the Collegian's new masthead and those of several disreputable tabloids which we shall leave unnamed.

In these changing times, it becomes increasingly important to maintain those traditions which have come to serve as a cornerstone of the foundations of this great public university. We feel that the Collegian has confiscated one of the University's most established sources of identity through its wanton lack of consideration for the sentiments attached to the Collegian's former masthead.

We invite and encourage others who share our concern to speak out against this atrocity and urge the Collegian to put the previous masthead back where it belongs.

Scott Lorimer
Alex Zucker
Amherst

Time to get our priorities straight

In the general reaction to the Challenger disaster there is evidence for an understandable but peculiar aspect of people: the ability to respond with great emotion to the loss of a few (albeit symbolic) lives, while the ongoing tragedies of starvation and war are, to us insulated by our wealth, only abstract wrongs.

This "major malfunction" was doubly ironic. Not only was the event coincident with another spectacular success in the more scientifically oriented Voyager program, but the loss of a high school teacher is poignant in the midst of lack of federal support for public education.

Let's get our priorities into action.

Thomas W. Hutcheson
Shutesbury

American Travel Services presents

SPRING BREAK "86"

Ft Lauderdale
Hotel from $139.00
Air: New York $209. Rd Trip
Boston $228. Rd Trip
Holiday Inn Oceanside $209.

Nassau/Paradise Island
Hotel & Air from $329.
Pilot House Hotel $379.

All prices include Taxes and Gratuities
Don't be left out, sign up now!
Limited space available
For more information: call Danny 546-7899

UMass Arts Council

CALL FOR GRANT PROPOSALS

Deadline for submission of grant proposals for single projects or events

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 4

Grant guidelines and applications available at Arts Council, the Student Activities Office, or the Arts Extension Service

Arts Council 125 Herter Hall 5450202

Amherst Ballet Center
29 Strong Street

10-week adult evening courses starting Feb. 3

BALLET
MODERN DANCE
JAZZ

All Levels
Call 549-1555

Paradise found...

at Seasons' Sunday Buffet Brunch
...Dixieland style!

Paradise City Jazz Quartet and Seasons' famous Sunday brunch all for only $8.75. Buffet specialties from quiche to roast beef, eggs and ham and seafood casseroles to delicious pastries and the two-beat rhythm of New Orleans Jazz!

February 2,9,& 16 from 11:00-3:00 pm.

Seasons

529 Belchertown Road • Amherst • 253-9909

AmHErST CINEMA

Are YOU ready for our 24 Hour Science Fiction Marathon
starting Sat. Feb. 15, 1986
at 12:00 Midnight

see Eraserhead
The Thing
Hardware Wars
Star Trek II and III
and 13 more films

PLUS our famous Trivia Contest
and lots of prizes!
All 24 hours for just $6.00

30 AMITY ST. AMHERST 253-5426

Curtains Up!

Come to the Gala Reopening of
BOWKER AUDITORIUM
Stockbridge Hall
University of Massachusetts at Amherst

Friday, January 31, 1986

11:30 am-2 pm Open House
Music, Refreshments, and a chance to view the area's newest chamber performance facility

8:00 pm
Gala Performance by the Springfield Symphony Orchestra Chamber Ensemble
Barry Tuckwell, guest conductor and horn soloist

Tickets: $15, $13

THE FINE ARTS CENTER
Call 545-2511

He died to take away your sins. Not your mind.

You don't have to stop thinking when you walk into an Episcopal Church. Come and join us in an atmosphere where faith and thought exist together in a spirit of fellowship.
The Episcopal Church

The Episcopal Chaplaincy at UMass
758 North Pleasant St.
549-5929

The Rev. Christopher Carlisle, Chaplain

Dinner and fellowship,
Sunday night at 6:30 pm

ARTS

Friday Film Follies by Don Lipper

★★★★Excellent ★★Fair
★★★½Very Good ★½Poor
★★★Good ★Bad
★★½Pretty Good ½Abysmal

Danny Glover and Whoopi Goldberg star in Alice Walker's "The Color Purple.

By DON LIPPER
Collegian Staff

Welcome back all! This semester Friday Film Follies will have a new rating system that will mark a great improvement from the old rating system which suffered numerous problems due to its regrettable non-existence. (See above box)

Northampton's Pleasant St. Theater is showing the new wave French film Subway (★★★½). In the stylistic tradition of Diva, this thriller is populated by a cast of eccentric characters living in their own strange world in the endless tunnels and caverns under a Paris subway station. Christopher Lambert (last seen as Tarzan in the recent remake) stars as a blackmailer who falls in love with his victim. Dressed in a tuxedo, with a hair cut like Sting, Lambert looks so good that all that was left of my date after she stopped salivating over him were a pair of melted nylons and a small puddle.

The Official Story (★★★) is an Argentine film about an upper class school teacher who begins to suspect that her adopted daughter may have been stolen from people who were killed by the government. Norma Aleandro stars as Alicia, a high school teacher who has never questioned the official history she teaches, until an old college friend returns after the Falklands War to tell Alicia about the torture she suffered at the hands of government interogators. Her survival in the aristocracy depends on her dismissing the truth, but she can't. Her whole mental world begins to crumble as Alicia soon realizes that her husband is part of the government that has uncaringly killed thousands of innocent people. Her investigation and actions soon threaten to destroy her life and family in this probing film.

Steven Spielberg's adaptation of Alice Walker's The Color Purple (★★★★) keeps to the story of the Pulitzer Prize winning novel while changing its harsh tone. This movie is a departure for Spielberg because its story involves human characters (not a fuzzy alien in sight) who have tremendous emotional crises and growth spanning a period of over 40 years. The story doesn't sound like anything that could have been directed by the same guy who directed Indiana Jones and The Temple of Doom. The central character is the nearly illiterate Celie, a black girl whose emotional and spiritual ordeals span over from early adolescence to old age. In the first part of the film she is impregnated by the man she calls Pa. Minutes after her children are born, Pa takes them away from her and silently returns without them. Later Pa gives Celie away to a man she calls Mister. Celie must cook and care for Mister's disorderly house and children. The movie shows Celie growing up being abused by Mister. Later she must cook and care for Mister's mistress, the sexy blues singer Shug Avery. The Color Purple is wonderful film that will have you crying, gritting your teeth in anger, laugh and cheering. If you haven't read the book, you'll love the movie. See it.

For those who have read the novel, purists will note the many changes Spielberg has made. Yes, it is manipulative. Yes, at times it is very Hollywood. Yes, it may come off as a bit too sweet at times. Yes, it softens the character of Mister but at the same time the film makes his character a bit more understandable. Yes, it telescopes large passages of the book, inlcuding the long lesbian relationship between Celie and Shug. But the book is not about two women frolicking in bed. Spielberg was right to concentrate on how Shug's loving warmth nurtured Celie's growth and made possible her eventual independence.

Out of Africa (★★★½). What do I have to say? Streep and Redford star in an epic romance about the Danish novelist Isak Dinesen's life in colonial Africa during World War I. Streep adds another accent to her repertoire and probably another Oscar to her mantlepiece. Redford doesn't really come off as a British colonial but he is still nice to look at. Klaus Maria Brandauer turns in a fine performance as Streep's lowly yet likable husband of convenience.

That's All Folks

Denny — The great unknown

WHO KNOWS WHERE THE TIME GOES (Hannibal)
Sandy Denny

By PETER WISSOKER
Collegian Staff

Who Knows Where the Time Goes is a retrospective of one of the best but least recognized singers of the last twenty years. The album spans the entire length of her career, from her first recordings with the Strawbs until her death in 1978.

Sandy Denny started her career in the folk clubs of London in the sixties when then expatriates such as Paul Simon and Joni Mitchell were playing and writing. It was at this time that the Strawbs asked Denny to join them and make their first album.

Much of Sandy Denny's best known work was with the group Fairport Convention, with whom she recorded a number of albums including Liege and Lief, the seminal album of British folk-rock, often copied by such groups as Steelye Span and Pentangle but never matched for its fusion of traditional british/celtic music and rock 'n' roll.

Strong and nimble, Denny had the power behind her voice to sustain the images of the song, be it of fairy's on All Souls Night (an Irish version of Halloween) or a woman alone and miserable in a train station. The other key to Denny's success was her choice of music and players, perhaps the best known of whom is Richard Thompson who was an original member of Fairport Convention and played with Denny on many occasions after she left the group in 1970.

Who Knows Where The Time Goes is a four record retrospective which spans all of Sandy's career and includes many rare live and studio performances as well as material from the aforementioned groups, Fotheringay, and her solo albums. The amazing thing about this album is that there is not a bad track on it (and we're talking about four records). Even the songs taken from her schlockiest album, Old Fashioned Waltz, hold up pretty well. Most of the material is consistantly good. For example, the songs from the long out of print Fotheringay album demonstrate that how much more British folk-rock had to do with emotion and reality than the Byrds and Lovin' Spoonful's ideas of love and girls everywhere.

It has been written that Sandy Denny was a precursor of Linda Rondstadt, but this album proves once and for all that Sandy was for more tasteful and capable in producing music that was affecting but not affected. The unreleased recordings on the album include songs from an unreleased or ill fated second Fotheringay album, which are really good, a solo version of "Knockin' on Heaven's Door," and an early BBC recording with Fairport Convention of "You Never Wanted Me'. In fact my only complaint is that a couple of Sandy's best early Fairport stuff remains unreleased, specifiely her rendition of Joni Mitchell's "I Don't Know Where I Stand" which I've heard is positivly emoting.

Who Knows Where The Time Goes is really beautiful; an album which even after four records does not start to wear on you. Sandy Denny is one of the great unknowns of our time and there is no reason, with the release of this album, why it should remain that way. Sandy Denny is simply one of the best singers of our time and this album is a very fair retrospective of her work, definitly worth checking out.

WE WANT YOU!!

There will be a Mandatory meeting for all Collegian staff and correspondents interested in writing for the ARTS page this semester at 4 p.m. tomorrow at the Collegian Campus Center, rm.114. This meeting will count towards staff status for correspondents. Very Important! See you then! Contact Kelly Sieger or Jennifer Ackerman if you cannot attend at 545-3500.

Bowker opens with a bash

An open house, guest speakers and the Springfield Symphony Orchestra will mark the opening of the newly renovated Bowker Auditorium Today.

The auditorium was refitted with new seating, carpeting and houselights. The hall was was also painted over, according to James MacRostie, staff associate at the Fine Arts Center.

MacRostie said the music department needed a large hall for productions. "There was no hall in good condition on campus. Bezanson Hall only has about 200 seats and that's too small and Bowker was too run down, too ramshackle to charge alot of money for big shows," he said.

The open house will begin at 11 a.m. and will feature a jazz quartet. In the evening a string quartet will perform at a wine and cheese ceremony to dedicate the renovated hall. Several speakers including Chancellor Joseph Duffey, Provost Richard O'Brien and Arnold Friedman, associate dean of the College of Arts and Sciences will be on hand for the ceremony.

At 8 p.m. the orchestra will perform featuring french horn soloist Barry Tutwi

— TOM MIDDLETO

Livewire

by Johnny CantRead

Came home from New York to find out you burned down the wrong building. Can't trust the Amherst rock community to do anything. The Rusty Nail didn't do it often enough but it could rock when given the chance. On the other hand, Hanger One has turned into an abomination -- and it still stands.

UPC has once again pulled their gold chains together to bring us INXS, the band that's gone the least far with the most MTV pushing. I understand though, that SWAG is to be commended for bringing the Ramones into the Student Union last semester. It takes one to know one, let's petetion Duffy to give them our portion of the student fees devoted to music.

Your college radio has been turned into a veritable breeding ground for imitation REM bands. They banished bands from Campus Center because of the insurance problems, and not only that--if you live in Amherst you missed Carl Perkins the Rockabilly Session on Cinemax, because Amherst's cable company bites.

The best hope for consolation looks like a bottle of vodka and the Oh Ho NoHo party Saturday night. The flyers look like they were designed to advertise a real party. Five bands; Project Adventure, the vastly overrated 8th Route Army, POTB, The Cods, Nova Mob, and four WMUA d j's are playing at the Old School Commons, the building across from the Academy of Music in Northampton. 3$.

Dinosaur, Amherst's Led Zeppelin parody, played Folk City Wednsday. How were they? I don't know, I have no way of getting to New York. They have a record on ex-Minuteman, Gerard Cosley's Homstead label. They've been getting a lot of attention in the underground press. Forced Exposure called them the noisiest band around, and from them, that's the highest praise you get. I'd recommend them if they had a gig, but they don't. So, if any member of band invites you to their rehersal, take them up on it.

The Chevrolet KROC & R party, Dancing, Videos, Prizes Feb 1, 8pm, S.U.B. 2$ speaks for itself. Come look for the freshman of your dreams or don't come at all.

Leon Redbone is coming to the Iron Horse, Sunday and Monday. Tickets are 14$ but it's probably sold out anyway. He's likely to play some nostalgic music we're not yet that nostalgic for. Then again, I didn't even think his Bud commercial was that great. He'll do a live interview on 'MUA, 10:30 monday morning. If you're curious it beats having to hear him for the whole night.

David Bromberg plays there Tuesday and Wednesday. The press release says, "Bromberg's specific style is impossible to pigeonhole;" but I promise he'll play folk with a banjo, and it was the only picture we had.

Cliff Eberhardt, also at the Iron Horse Saturday, is one of the endless supply of Greenwich Village folkies who sometimes turn out to be worth your while.

The Mitch Chakour Band, a real professional reggae-soul group that sounds a bit like Marvin Gaye is playing the Scotch Mist in Greenfield Saturday.

The Replacements are playing tonight at the Channel in Boston.

David Bromberg, acoustic soloist, will perform at 7 p.m. and 10 p.m. on Feb. 5 at the Iron Horse.

TAKE OFF HOLIDAY POUNDS

Until Friday,

February 7th you can work out at

the BODY SHOP FITNESS CENTERS for FREE!!!

Our friendly and knowledgeable staff will answer your questions and demonstrate our state-of-the-art Hydrafitness equipment.

EXERCISE WITH A FRIEND AND SAVE $$$$

Sign up with a friend and get the 2nd membership* at 1/2 PRICE!!

THE BODY SHOP

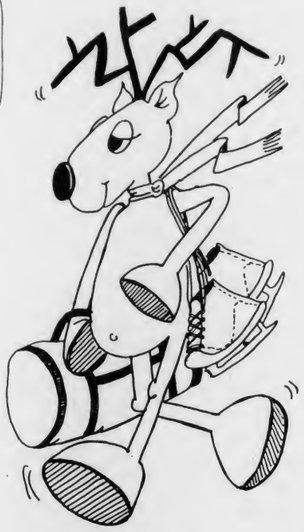
TWO CONVENIENT CAMPUS LOCATIONS:
Boyden & Totman
7:30 - 9:00 am
12:00 - 1:00 pm
4:00 - 6:00 pm
Still only $45/semester !

* ½ price for first time members only

UMASS CREDIT UNION

. . .is the Oldest and Largest Student-run credit union in the country. We offer banking right on campus. There are many reasons why our accounts are ideal for students -

- Minimum balance in a checking account is $25, and $5 in a savings account
- American Express Travelers Checks and Money Orders
- Accounts with over $50 earn 6% intersest
- LOANS! Both Car and Personal
- Hours: Mon-Thu 10-3; Fri 10-4
- OPEN AN ACCOUNT TODAY - YOU HAVE NOTHING TO LOSE AND ALOT TO GAIN!
- Interested in becoming a volunteer teller? If so please apply within



314 Student Union Bldg. 545-2800 Member NCUA

WELCOME NEW AND RETURNING STUDENTS

The INFORMATION DATA BANK is a telephone or walk-in referral center which maintains information on University administrative and academic policies and procedures: bus, library, and athletic schedules; listings of current campus events such as seminars, movies and lectures; and a variety of other reference materials. Nearly 2600 contacts were made to IDB in Fall 1985, making it one of the major sources of information on campus.

THE INFORMATION DATA BANK
227 WHITMORE CALL 545-1555

TIDBIPS

NEED HELP?

CALL TIPS
TAPED INFORMATION PHONE SERVICE

TIPS is a library of more than 200 tape-recored cassettes regarding various aspects of University administrative and academic policies, such as pre-registering for courses, the weather, financial aid at the University, undergraduate fees, and serving hours at the dining commons. All tapes are available in Spanish and for the hearing-impaired. Nearly 2400 contacts were made to TIPS in Fall 1985.

THE TAPED INFORMATION PHONE SERVICE
227 WHITMORE CALL 545-1540

A Service of
The Dean of Students Office

BLACK AFFAIRS

Visiting Professor returns

By CHRIS ALLEN
Collegian Staff

David Graham DuBois

Visiting lecturer David Graham Du Bois has returned to the University of Massachusetts for the spring semester to teach in the journalism program and the Afro-American studies department.

Du Bois, a native of Seattle, grew up in Indiana under the guidance of his maternal grandparents, Rev. and Mrs. D.A. Graham. He attended Oberlin Conservatory of Music in Ohio, after which he enlisted in the Armed Forces for three years.

After being discharged, he earned a bachelor's degree in sociology from Hunter College in New York City. Du Bois did graduate work at the New York School of Social Work, Columbia University, then earned his master's degree in US and Western Hemisphere history from New York University.

Following a year's study of Chinese language at Peking University, People's Republic of China, Du Bois took up residence in Cairo, Egypt. He lectured at at Cairo University in American literature and was news editor of the Egyptian Gazette, an English language daily newspapers.

Du Bois has worked as a reporter and editor for the Middle East News and Features Agency, and as an announcer and program writer for Radio Cairo's short-wave transmissions to North America. He also served as North African public relations consultant to the government of Ghana.

In 1972 Du Bois returned to the US, where he lectured at the School of Criminology, University of California Berkeley, and at various community colleges in the fields of criminology and Afro-American studies. From 1973 through 1975, Du Bois was editor of the Black Panther, weekly newspaper of the Black Panther published in Oakland, Calif.

A novel, And Bid Him Sing, authored by Du Bois, based on the experiences of Afro-Americans in Egypt in the period leading up to the 1967 war, was published in 1973 by Rampart Press.

Du Bois returned to Egypt in 1977, as foreign affairs editor for the San Francisco-based Pacific News Service. He now makes Cairo his home, returning to the UMass-Amherst each spring. Du Bois is currently working on a book about his mother, Shirley Graham Du Bois, and is planning the launching of a W.E.B. Du Bois Foundation honoring his stepfather.

Revolution anytime now

South Africa is edging dangerously close to an "all-out revolution" as whites begin to die and the Pretoria government issues dire warnings of retaliation, said the co-chairman of Chicago's Free South Africa Movement.

"This will be the year when there will be an all-out revolution on the part of the black population," said Professor Robert Starks of Northeastern University.

In addition to predicting the onslaught of a revolution, Starks forecast that there will be a flood of white South Africans fleeing their embattled country and heading for the U.S.

Starks said there will probably be attempts on the part of the West to "offer some type of an accomodation in order to stave-off a complete takeover by blacks."

Although the vast majority of deaths have been among the black population, including many children caught in the crossfires, whites have recently been the victims of land mine explosions.

Last year, South Africa and nuclear disarmament, became the number one foreign policy issues, Starks said, adding, "and this year there will be an escalation of anti-apartheid activities in South Africa, this country and around the world."

The latest land mine explosion occurred recently near the border of the neighboring country of Botswana. A 55-year old white man and his 32-year old daughter-in-law were killed in the blast, and two others injured.

In the past month, 13 whites died in nine land mine explosions all near the borders of neighboring countries. The number of white deaths "does not begin to compare with the thousands of blacks who have lost thier lives in the struggle for equality in a country that denies them basic human rights, including the right to vote," he said.

The African National Congress, a banned anti-apartheid organization, has taken the credit for most of the land mine explosions except the most recent.

The South African government has stated it will seek "revenge" for the land mine explosions which have claimed the lives of whites. South Africa is reportedly the only country in the world that practices apartheid, which is a system that legislates discrimination against all non-whites.

Indians, Asians and "coloreds" – people of mixed race – enjoy slightly better treatment than Blacks in South Africa.

– C. RON ALLEN

Soviets react to King holiday

The national holiday honoring slain civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr. was just "lip service" by the Reagan administration, which has made life harder for blacks, the Soviet official news agency Tass says.

"The U.S. administration pays lip service, to its commitment to racial fairness, but in deed, however Black Americans in today's United States have been reduced to a status of second rank citizens," the agency said in a commentary recently.

"Nearly all analysts of social and political life in the United States today note hardened racial discrimination in the 1980s," it declared. "The life of the U.S. dark-skinned population has become even harder since the present administration took office."

Tass noted King had been arrested more than 120 times, went to trial more than 20 times and was jailed. "It could not be regarded as happenstance that just 10 days before the present celebration of King's birthday that his son, Martin [3d], and two daughters, Yolanda and Bernice, were arrested in Atlanta, Georgia, for taking part in a protest demonstration," Tass said.

February is Black History Month

Announcements

The Gentlemen of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity Inc. presents a World Premiere Step Show at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst Student Union Ballroom from 10:00 p.m. until 5:00 a.m. Music by Marc Elliot Productions.

C & C LIQUORS
61 Main St., Amherst
Next to Town Hall
FOR FREE DELIVERY OF $20 MINIMUM ORDER. (OFF UMASS CAMPUS)
Dial 253-3091
All Prices In Store Cash Only

Bud • Bud Light • Miller Lite
Coors • Coors Light
suitcases $11.99 ea. + dep.

Special Purchase! Muscadet 750 ml. $2.99 ea. $22.00 case

Special Purchase Macon Villages 750 ml. $3.75 ea. $36.00 case

Sam Adams Beer 6 pk. $5.50 + dep.

Vodka 1.75 liter $8.25

COLLEGE DRUG
4 Main Street, Amherst 253-2523
Mon-Fri 9-9, Sat 9-6, Sun 9-3

Diet Coke Thirst-buster 3 liter..... $1.79

TDK D 90 Twin Pack Cassette..... $1.99
while they last

Kera 9 oz..... $3.99

Super Soft Cotton Puffs
260 size..... 89¢

120 page 3 subject Notebook 99¢

50 page 1 subject Notebook 49¢

AMHERST CINEMA

Friday - Saturday
Emerald Forest 7:00
Walkabout 9:00
Sunday - Tuesday
Tin Drum 6:30
Fitz Carraldo 9:00
Double Feature $3.00
30 AMITY ST. AMHERST 253-5426

NOW OPEN
Riverboat Village
APARTMENTS, SOUTH HADLEY.
1, 2 or 3 BEDROOM UNITS
BEAUTIFUL MODELS FURNISHED BY CHAP DeLAINES & EPSTEIN FURNITURE CO
•Swimming Pool •Tennis Court •Club House •Shuffle Board Court
FINANCED BY MHFA
LEASED ON OPEN OCCUPANCY BASIS
OPEN SEVEN DAYS A WEEK
10 AM - 4 PM
PHONE 532-9461
532-9462
CALL FOR DIRECTIONS
Riverboat Village
River Lodge Rd
So. Hadley, MA 01075

JAMAICA
SPRING BREAK '86
(where there is no drinking age!)
PARTY
• Round Trip Airfare from Miami
• 8 Days/7 Nights at Ambiance Hotel (on the Beach)
• 2 Meals per Day
• Free Parties and T-Shirts
• Bar B Q's, Parties, and More
PARTY
Only $435.00 Per Person, Quad Room.
1-800-426-0444
Campus Representative Wanted
Service Charges & Gratuity Not Included
Availability Limited • Offer Expires 4/15/86

Ski Colorado Steamboat
UMASS SKI CLUB
Goes West for Spring Break
March 17 - 24
7 nights lodging
5 day lift ticket for Steamboat $499
Round trip air
Trip includes: Transfers
Free transportation to Newark from UMass
ALL TAXES & GRATUITIES INCLUDED
For more information contact -
The UMass Ski Club is your
SPRING BREAK CONNECTION
545-3437

DELANO'S
FINE FOOD & SPIRITS
FREE TACO BAR
MON & TUES NIGHT
9 — till it lasts
FEBRUARY BEER OF THE MONTH
Becks
57 N. Pleasant St., Amherst

CHEVROLET
IROC & ROLL
VIDEO Party
DANCE TO VIDEOS BY TODAY'S TOP STARS!
OVER 200 PRIZES TO BE GIVEN AWAY!
Date: Sat. Feb 1, '86 Time: 8:00 pm.
Place: Student Union Ballroom
Donation: $2.00
Proceeds to benefit the T. J. Martell Foundation for Cancer and Leukemia Research.
Sponsored by: The Commuter Area Gov.
With Chevrolet and GMAC.

STOP
There's no need to hurry!
Our convenient hours allow you to shop early or late.

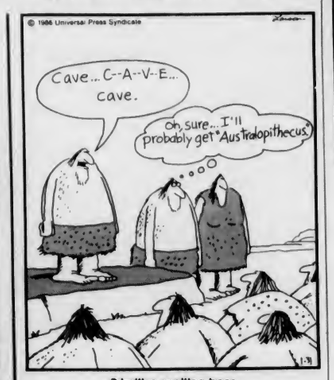
Candy	Film	Newspapers
Tobacco	Film Processing	Tote Bags
Cards	Clocks	School Supplies
Calendars	Batteries	Typewriter Ribbons
Cassette Tapes	Electrical Supplies	Glassware
Books	Lamps	Cups
Backpacks	Magazines	Decals
Clothing	Memo Board	Pennants
Gifts	Pens and Pencils	Chips
Cosmetics	Binders	Cookies
Health and Beauty Aids	Notebooks	Popcorn
	Paper	Umbrellas

Many other items available
545-2528
Located in the Student Union
Convenient Hours
M-F 7:30 am to 10:00 pm
Saturday and Sunday
8:00 am to 10:00 pm
the Mini Store

DOONESBURY GARRY TRUDEAU

FREAKER PATROL BY DOWE & O'BRIEN

HOUSEMATES BY R.MILLER



GORDY BY GORDE

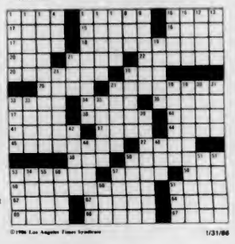
BLOOM COUNTY BY BERKE BREATHED

"Fear not that your life will come to an end, fear that it will have no beginning." — Stacy Roth, addressing a memorial for the seven killed Tuesday in the space shuttle explosion.

Primitive spelling bees

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Edited by Trude Michel Jaffe



ACROSS
1 Swiss pastures
5 Before bal-lerina or donna
10 Getting close
14 Lawrence, for short
15 "Thinking" sculptor
16 Matty of baseball
17 Constantly
18 Only
20 Sunday speaker Abbr
21 Result from
22 Fraternal groups
23 Seismograph recordings
25 Storage area
26 California valley
27 Extorting
32 Symbols of office
34 Remedy
36 Chair repairer
37 Rainbow goddess
38 Cash flow exec
40 Horne
41 Plunger ex cessively
43 Part of a key fraternity
44 Famous lithographer
45 Kind of accident
47 Sites
49 Fabray, to friends
50 Abated
53 Oman's capital
57 Comet mutter
58 Bern's river
59 Part of the Indian Ocean
61 Mouth of a canyon
62 Straight line
63 "Okay", in the cockpit
64 Raced
65 Aggressor litigant
66 Too bad!
67 Knight of TV et al

DOWN
1 Wide awake
2 Court grass Rod
3 Part of ASPCA
4 Ukraine a g Abbr
5 Stretch out
6 Romeo and Juliet
7 Footnote word
8 Farrow
9 East — (area in England)
10 Wish-bringer
11 Slept like —
12 Libertine
13 Tousle
19 Kind of column
21 Bribe
24 Feature of 1 Across
25 Sound from a fold
27 Angler's adjunct
28 Ill will
29 Bound to happen
30 Hawaiian bird
31 Mardi —
32 Regional for "this"
33 A Marx brother, to Miss Doolittle
35 Civilized
39 Healthful
42 Island W of Maui
46 Turkic peoples of the U.S.S.R.
48 Goose Fr.
50 Worthless money, to a yegg
51 Like some seats
52 Sketches
53 West et al
54 Language of Pakistan
55 Minty herb
56 Talking trucker, e g
57 Church title Abbr.
60 Now, in Glasgow
61 Fore's opposite

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

R	O	A	R		B	A	D	A	M		S	K U A
I	N	I	T	E		S	L	U	P		E	E R N
P	A	D	D	I	N	G	T	O	N		G	N E S
			P	A	U	M	A		G	H	E	L S
			A	L	A		C	H	A	R	T	A L E
E	D	G	E		E	R		S	T	R	A	N D L
R	I	C	A	R		L	I	V	E	S		G O A
I	N	K		O	T	I	S		T	I	D	E
O	N		S	I	N	A		D	O	R	E
		T	H	E	R	E		I	N	T	E	R N A L
		T	O	O	T			S	U	E		P E A L
		I	S	U	S		W	E	N	T		I O N
		D	I	N	E		A	V	O	I	D
		S	L	A	T	E		R	E	N	T

1/31/86

MENU

Lunch
Tuna Boat
Chili Corn Chip Bake

Basics Lunch
Lentil Spinach Stew
Tuna Boat

Dinner
Turkey Divan
Fried Shrimp Dinner/Tartar Sauce, Cocktail Sauce

Basics Dinner
Broccoli and Cheese Strudel
Fried Shrimp Dinner/Tartar Sauce, Cocktail Sauce

Weather

Today: partly sunny, highs 25-30
Tonight: partly cloudy, lows 10-15
Tomorrow: partly sunny, high around 30

Staff

Night Editor Lesley Clark
Copy Editor Jim Patriquin
Layout Technician Peter Soderberg
Photo Technician Paul Desmarais
Production Supervisor Matkins
Production: Kelly Sieger, Naomi Goldberg, Dave Boardman, Laura Vogel, Peter Soderberg.

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian (USPS permit #58), a Registered Student Organization at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, is published Monday through Friday excluding holidays, exams and vacations periods. Content is determined solely by the Collegian Board of Editors without prior approval from University administrators, faculty or staff. Operations are funded solely by advertising and subscriptions revenue. Subscriptions and advertising rates are available at 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Mass. 01003, (413) 545-3500. Postmaster: send address changes to the above address.

★previews

continued from page 16

Although the Minutewomen took the final event, the floor exercise, 44.4 to 43.8, they couldn't make up for the lost points on the beam. The result was a loss by a total of .25 points and a record of 2-3 on the season.

This was the second time this season that the women have lost by one point or less as they were ousted by Northeastern by .95 on Jan. 21 at Northeastern.

Shiebler was especially pleased with the performance of senior tri-captain Sue Allen who scored her collegiate high of 35.1 points.

The women face a tough Cornell team on Saturday at 2 p.m. They stay on the road until Feb. 22 when they host Southern Connecticut.

The men's gymnastics team, coming off a tough loss to Springfield College last Sunday, will host East Stroudsberg on Saturday.

In the only home meet on the UMass slate this weekend, UMass will be looking to go to 3-2 on the season.Led by sophomore Roberto Weil, UMass has a solid team and the meet should prove to be an exciting one.

The men's and women's track teams return to action this weekend as well, competing at the Princeton relays in New Jersey.

Both teams have been idle since the non-scoring Greater Boston Track Club meet at BU last Saturday.

Next week, coach Ken O'Brien's men's team will be at the Eastern Championships in Maine while the women's squad, under the coaching of Kalekeni Banda, will be the Holy Cross/Boston University Open in Boston.

Both teams have only only one dual meet left this season, Feb. 15 at Dartmouth College.

RENT A WRECK
New & Used Cars
Trucks & Vans Also Available
North Amherst
Rent-A-Wreck
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880

Styles by Deborah

Introduces
CAROL GARDNER
Styles By Deborah is pleased to announce that Carol Gardner has joined its staff of skilled cosmetologists. Carol looks forward to seeing her old friends and welcoming new ones.
For your appointment call
549-5610
65 University Drive, Amherst • 549-5610

SALE
$16.99
LIMITED TIME!
SIZES 28 - 38
Saturday Clothes
Open 7 Days - Thurs. 'til 8
197 N. Pleasant
Amherst
253-9729
LEVI'S® CORDS

Don't Forget Our Winter — Clearance 20-50% Off All Winter Goods

CARROLL COUNTY CRATE KIT
Some Units are Pre-Assembled
On Sale $6.99
Quantities Limited
STACK IT REQUIRED TO

Located in the Campus Center
UNIVERSITY STORE
Open M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3
Special Hours: Tuesday Nite until 9:00

FUNNYBONES
Cocktail Lounge
Rt. 9 Hadley
LIVE ENTERTAINMENT
Friday Jan 31st 9:00 - 1:00
Jump Start and Al Fuller Band
2 stages no wait between
2 bands shows

THANKS TO EVERYONE WHO APPLIED FOR THE GRAPHICS POSITIONS AT THE COLLEGIAN. WE HAVE GOT PLENTY OF PEOPLE NOW - PLEASE NO MORE PHONE CALLS!!!!!!

The 6th semi-annual "Everything-you-need-to-make-yourself-feel-at-Home" Sale!

Lamps
desk lamps, wall lamps, table lamps, hanging lamps, bed lamps, pin spots, hi intensity lamps, clamp lamps
Clamp Lamp
Fits almost anywhere!
NOW $9.95
100 Watt Swing Arm
red/black/white/brown/beige
Reg. $18.95
NOW $14.95

Tapestries
Bedspreads
Wall Hangings
Hundreds to choose from!
Save up to $5.00!

Rugs
Cotton Weaves, Straws and Sisals
Starting at $7.95

Posters & Prints
500 titles to choose from!
travel, sports, scenic, photo, personalities, rock & roll

Bamboo Shades
All sizes for windows or room dividers
Save 20%

Record Crate Kits
Made of all natural wood—two great sizes!
NOW $7.95 and $8.95

Pillow lap desk, beverage glasses, wine glasses, mugs, plastic party cups, plastic waste baskets, alarm clocks, wall clocks, kettles & coffeemakers, picture hangers, wall clips, hooks, dinnerware sets, colorful flatware, shelves, organizers, plastic hangers, shower curtains, bath mats, shower caddys, bath buckets, pulls, hooks, ceramic napkin kitchenware, [illegible] wrapper, [illegible] towels, [illegible] cards, toys, stationery, watches, pen [illegible] anybody still reading?

Sale Ends Feb 16
FAGES
Downtown Amherst / Daily 10-6, Sun. 12-5

RUSSELL'S LIQUORS
18 Main St. Downtown Amherst 253-5441

BEER:
By the case
Budweiser suitcase.....$11.99 + dep.
Busch suitcase.....$9.95 + dep.
Coors suitcase.....$11.99 + dep.
Heinekens light or dark.....$15.00 + dep.
O'Keefe 12 oz. bottles.....$12.99 + dep.

BEER:
By the six pack
Heineken light or dark.....$3.99 + dep.
Grolsch.....$4.25 + dep.
Moosehead.....$3.99 + dep.

LIQUOR:
Vodka or Gin 80°.....$8.99 1.75 L
Kahlua.....$13.75 NOW $11.49 750 ml
Rum silver or gold.....$11.25 1.75 L
Jug Wine Burgundy, Chablis, Rose.....$4.99 4 L

Schnapps. . . all flavors and sizes
Just Waiting For You!!!

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Come to Collegian Office CC 113 • 8 [illegible] 3:45 Mon. Thurs; 8:45 2:30 Fri • Deadline is 2 days prior to publication day [illegible] cash in advance • Phone number FREE

ACTIVITIES

1st Outing Club Meeting S.U.B. 7:00 pm Feb 3rd! Anyone interested in hiking, canoeing, skiing, etc. urged to come. Beginners welcome!

AUTO FOR SALE

1978 Plymouth Horizon 4 spd 4 dr reliable transport [illegible] $1000 or BO 665-8335

1979 VW Rabbit [illegible] good condition. $1200, Geoff, 2[illegible]

1975 VW Rabbit 5 spd, mags, stereo, sunroof, R[illegible] $1400. 256-1882

Subaru GL wagon [illegible] good cond, new clutch [illegible] maintained. $2000 or BO. [illegible]

VW Superbeetle [illegible] condition. $3700 or [illegible] offer. [illegible]

1975 Plymouth [illegible] stick, 4 cyl, [illegible] $400 or [illegible]

1977 Ford V-[illegible] [illegible] 4-speed, [illegible] $1000 OR [illegible]

BED & [illegible]

Parents visiting [illegible] nice [illegible] $16.95 [illegible] Call [illegible]

Paying cash for [illegible] small cards Please call Mike [illegible]

ENTERTAINMENT

MOBILE MUSIC INC. Don't sport to your [illegible]

FOR RENT

1 bedroom in a 3 bedroom apartment close to town and campus $275/ call Donna 665-8133

3 bedroom apt Haberton[illegible] on bus route $625/mo inc. [illegible] water. 323-5007

Fridge Rentals [illegible] delivery R & P Package [illegible]

Riverglade Apt [illegible] room call Terry, 413-[illegible]

Available one room in [illegible] apartment [illegible] on campus [illegible] water call [illegible]

Female [illegible] to share [illegible] Hadle [illegible]

[illegible] permitted, near [illegible] Call [illegible]

[illegible] [illegible] 4071 [illegible] modern [illegible]

[illegible] negotiable

[illegible] bank or [illegible] are after [illegible]

Large [illegible] apartment [illegible]

Desk [illegible] drawers with [illegible] $80.00 or large [illegible] offer [illegible] or 7 pm

Fridge, large [illegible] cool condition $50 ask [illegible]

INSTRUCTION

Know your car. Basic Automobile Workshop 26 hours including classroom [illegible] Enrollment, 253-2096

[illegible] Instruction. Perform [illegible] monster by Wednesday. [illegible] stocked discounts [illegible] Mass 545-0549

[illegible] sons. Experienced and [illegible] Pop/Folk Blues, Improv, Theory, Composition, [illegible] studio. [illegible]

EXPERIENCE

[illegible] our school to the five [illegible] student experience [illegible] morning newspaper [illegible] 413-[illegible]

[illegible] dog supervision [illegible] Sisters [illegible] Call [illegible] or 413-586-[illegible]

[illegible] Cash & German Shepherd [illegible] [illegible] or 413-586-[illegible]

LOVER

[illegible] lovers for reliable [illegible] anytime 549-[illegible]

T. STAR TICKET

[illegible] July 1, at $ 6[illegible]

PERSONALS

STOLEN blue CB ski jacket, gloves and scarf from 8 Brandywine party on 1/17. Please return no questions asked! Call 256-1719

Some women don't care about their men's extramarital affairs.

KIM your knees are the sexiest thing I've ever seen love your roomie to JANET RUTKOSKY Ever since you left, I have no music in the morning and HE is back to waking me up. Hurry home and rescue me. Guess who misses you?

Kimberly Baker, I love you Tim Gleba

Happy Birthday Hopie! Gone, but not forgotten! Stop in we miss you!! Love Marnie

SURFING OFF - 30 creative ways [illegible] one on the job without getting [illegible] Send $3.50 to Elko Dept. CN 16 [illegible] Colonie 5030 Box 704 St. Louis Mo [illegible]

Happy 20th Birthday Dana! We love [illegible] Have a [illegible] Cake and [illegible] Kisses & [illegible]

ROOM WANTED

[illegible] female looking for a room [illegible] possible. Please call early morning [illegible] keep trying 253-7401

ROOMMATE WANTED

Female roommate to share room in Brandywine call 549-[illegible]

Female to share room in Southwood townhouse for spring semester call 256-9413

Female wanted to share room in Brittany, call 256-1117 after 6pm

Female roommate wanted to share bedroom in two bedroom Brandywine apt no security deposit required. Call before 3:30 pm 549-4824

Northampton one bedroom in two bedroom apt River Run 2258 need car 584-1293

Looking for a female to share a two bedroom apt you will have your own room. Close to campus Call Yasmin 549-0926

Female roommate(s) wanted (like or single) Brittany Manor call SueTrish 253-2641

Male to share 2 bedroom Presidential apt to rent 549-2308

Nice [illegible] apt room available [illegible] now rent is [illegible] Amherst [illegible] 256-6181

[illegible] male roommate for Brittany call [illegible]

[illegible] Brittany Manor Mike after 5 [illegible] 549-4859

Female roommate needed [illegible] to share a [illegible] for [illegible] 1043

[illegible] needed to share room in Brittany [illegible] 7-5501

[illegible] on Cape Cod roommates wanted excellent location in Hyannisport [illegible] 5 minutes from Memorial Labor [illegible] 546-5268

SERVICES

[illegible] typing [illegible] accurate. [illegible] 549-[illegible]

Lyane Hass Esq. P.C. Immigration Law [illegible] Consents call Springfield [illegible] 785-[illegible] 665-8537

Light Moving with Toyota truck call [illegible] 549-2949

Tailor for all kinds of alterations. Fast service, reasonable prices M. SHAANN'S Hampshire Mall 584-7982

Female roommate wanted to share bedroom in two bedroom Brandywine apt no security deposit required. Call before 3:30 pm 549-4824

Northampton one bedroom in two bedroom apt River Run 2258 need car 584-1293

Looking for a female to share a two bedroom apt you will have your own room. Close to campus Call Yasmin 549-0926

Female roommate(s) wanted (like or single) Brittany Manor call SueTrish 253-2641

Male to share 2 bedroom Presidential apt to rent 549-2308

Nice [illegible] apt room available [illegible] now rent is [illegible] Amherst [illegible] 256-6181

[illegible] male roommate for Brittany call [illegible]

[illegible] Brittany Manor Mike after 5 [illegible] 549-4859

Female roommate needed [illegible] to share a [illegible] for [illegible] 1043

[illegible] needed to share room in Brittany [illegible] 7-5501

[illegible] on Cape Cod roommates wanted excellent location in Hyannisport [illegible] 5 minutes from Memorial Labor [illegible] 546-5268

SERVICES

[illegible] typing [illegible] accurate. [illegible] 549-[illegible]

Lyane Hass Esq. P.C. Immigration Law [illegible] Consents call Springfield [illegible] 785-[illegible] 665-8537

Light Moving with Toyota truck call [illegible] 549-2949

Tailor for all kinds of alterations. Fast service, reasonable prices M. SHAANN'S Hampshire Mall 584-7982

TAX SOFTWARE

Integrated Federal, Mass forms fro $50 call TaxHelp 256-6642

TRAVEL

SPRING BREAK on the beach at Sou Padre Island, Daytona Beach, Fo Lauderdale, Fort Walton Beach Montego Island Port Aransas From on $80, and skiing at Steamboat or Vail fro only $96! Deluxe lodging, parties, good bags, more Hurry, call now-hase You for more information and reservations t free 1-800-321-5911 TODAY When yo Spring Break counts on Suncha

WANTED

Attention: Adrian Sem[illegible] auditi ing Springfield and [illegible] influenc musicians for an origin[illegible] r band t will play the college circuit. He rehearsal space and [illegible] you are interested send [illegible] you/dra reel to [illegible]

Bright, artistic [illegible] studen to be camp[illegible] help apply at 1 Berkshire House in [illegible]

Help I need a bed! S[illegible] me? Call Ja 256-6681

WANTED TO RENT

Need a room? Collegian provides a mini num[illegible] of [illegible] per[illegible] deal occupancy, economic roommate but wit walking distance. Any woman interes should call Marilee at 549-9162 549-2982

Promising new band desperately seek a place to rehearse for spring semes preferably on or near UMass campus C tact Scott at 546-6144

SPORTS

Minutemen tumble, 77-67

Fall to 6-12 at GW, face Temple

By PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

WASHINGTON, D.C. - The University of Massachusetts lost its shooting touch in the game's final minutes and dropped the first game of a four game road trip, 77-67 to George Washington last night.

UMass fell to 6-11 overall and 3-6 in the Atlantic 10 and has now lost all eight games it has played on the road this season. The Colonials climbed to 7-10 on the season and 2-6 in the league.

The Minutemen scored the games first four points, but allowed the bext eight straight and with the exception of a 30-30 tie with 1:40 left in the first half, never got closer than two points to the Colonials.

Sophomore guard Lorenzo Sutton led UMass in scoring for the ninth straight time with 20 points despite a second half rib injury that kept him out over six minutes. Freshman Mike Mundy and Joe Fennell added 11 and 10 each. Junior point guard Carl Smith had nine.

GW, which didn't start a player over 6-6, had 18 points from 6-5 center Steve Frick. Troy Webster added 14 with Mike O'Reilly and Chester Wood scoring 12 each.

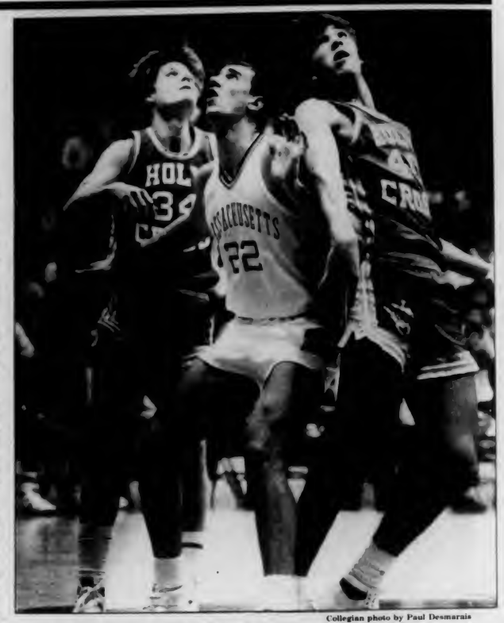
UMass made a late run, closing to within four at 67-63 on a Mundy double-pump with 2:45 to go. The Colonials however, put the game away with a eight point run that included six free throws as the UMass offense stagnated, unable to produce good shots or capitalize on offensive rebounds.

On the game, the Colonials were 19-of-28 from the line. UMass was 13-of-16.

UMass' freshmen big men - 6-9 John Milum, 6-6 Duane Chase and Sean Mosby combined for only 11 points as GW's changing defenses confused the young Minutemen. UMass still has yet to win two games in-a-row this season.

On Saturday, the Minutemen will face a tough Temple University team that has won three in a row.

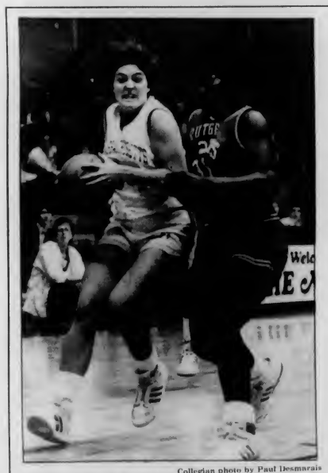
The Owls, 14-3 overall and in third place in the A-10 with a 6-2 mark, defeated GW 74-61 on Monday. Led by 6-3 senior guard Ed Coe with 17 points-per-game, the backcourt-oriented Owls are a well-coached (by Don Chaney) team that holds a 7-0 season series edge on UMass.



Nate Blackwell, a 6-4 senior, is averaging 13.8 points for Temple. The leading rebounder is 6-9 sophomore center Tim Perry with close to 10 rebounds-per-game. Coe grabs 5.1 boards a contest.

Key matchups for UMass include Milum on Perry under the boards and Smith and Sutton against Blackwell and Coe.

Last season, UMass had serious trouble scoring against the Owls. In the first game they met, Temple won easily, 65-39. The second game saw a tight 50-48 batle, the closest UM has ever come to beating the Owls.



Other key players for Temple include Howie Evans, the conferebce rookie-of-the-year last season. The Minutemen have traditionally not done well on extended road trips and with their youthful team, the Owls will be a huge challenge. A UMass win would be considered a definite landmark in the UM program.

Minuteman Mutterings: Sutton continues to lead the league in scoring with 21.25 points-per-league game. In all games, Sutton is third behind Duquesne's Rick Suder and St. Joseph's Maurice Martin. . .Smith is first in assists with 7.38, third in free throw percentage at .860. . .Sutton is fourth in field goal percentage. . .Sean Mosby is fifth in blocks while David Brown is 13th in league rebounding. . .In team statistics, UMass is in the bottom three of all categories except field percentage, where they are seventh at 47 percent. .Milum was nominated for rookie-of-the-week, but lost out to Penn State's Brian Allen. . .The Hempel Watch: John has been struggling since transfering to St. John's two years ago. In his first season, since sitting out the required year, he has played in 20 of the Redmen's 22 games with a scoring average of 2.8 points-per-game, way below the 15.8 he averaged during his last season at UMass. He has a high game of seven points against Fairleigh-Dickinson. . .UMass will be on the road at St. Bonaventure on Tuesday before returning to school for a short stay prior to playing at Rhode Island the following Saturday.

Collegian photo by Paul Desmarais

Freshman center John Milum (center) and the University of Massachusetts basketball team are at Temple on Saturday.

Collegian photo by Paul Desmarais

Senior Barbara Hebel (left) goes up against Rutgers last Saturday. UMass will be at Rutgers on Saturday.

Women on road at Rutgers

The University of Massachusetts women's basketball team will be looking to avenge a 20 point loss to Rutgers University last week as they face the Scarlet Knights in New Jersey on Saturday.

UM, 9-10 overall and 2-6 in the rugged Atlantic 10 Conference, lost to Rutgers last Saturday, 85-65 and the 10th-ranked Knights don't figure to be any easier at home.

Sue Wicks, the A-10 player-of-the-week, and her 24.8 scoring average (plus 9.2 rebounds) is Rutgers' chief weapon. UM counters with Barbara Hebel and her 12.2 scoring average.

The game is set for 2 p.m. in the Rutgers Athletic Center. UMass then has a week off before facing St. Joe's at home on Feb. 8.

Weekend preview

Almost all UMass teams on the road

By JOE ROBERTS
Collegian Staff

With the exception of the men's gymnastics team, all of the University of Massachusetts teams will be on the road this weekend as the second semester athletic schedule kicks into high gear.

Starting tonight with the women's swimming team at the University of Rhode Island, all nine UMass winter sports teams will be in action with the lone home encounter being the men's gymnastics team facing East Stroudsburg at 1 p.m. on Saturday afternoon at the Boyden Gymnastics Center.

On Saturday, the men's basketball team will be at Temple (see story) with the women's hoop squad at Rutgers (also see story). The men's swimming team will be looking to keep their undefeated record of 9-0 intact at Vermont while the women's gymnastics team will face Cornell in New York.

The men's and women's track teams will be at the Princeton relays while the men's and women's skiing teams will be at the Plymouth (N.H.) State Tournament.

The men's swim team will travel to the University of Vermont on Saturday for a 1 p.m. meet. "They (UVM) have a good solid program but we should win," UMass coach Russ Yarworth said.

"Some swimmers will swim off events and we'll have a double session of practice on Friday. The weaker swimmers will have a chance to swim more individual events and the strong swimmers will be mixed around. It's nice to have a meet without any pressure. We'll be O.K. but, we've got to make sure we win," Yarworth said.

UMass will try to keep it's unbeaten streak intact as they run through one of their best seasons ever. "Maybe in the 1930's or 40's there was an unbeaten team but, I don't think there was one in the 50's, 60's or 70's. I got here in 1974 and I know there hasn't been one since then," said Yarworth.

"I think UMass might have been New England champs in the dark ages, maybe not. If they did it was in the 30,s or 40's because they had some good teams then. This is definitely the best team ever. I hope to retain that level but I have to recruit harder," the coach noted.

The women's swim team, 4-5 on the season, is also hoping for a victory against a Ram team UM coach Bob Newcomb indicated his team had a good chance of beating. The meet is set for 7 p.m. tonight.

Even thought the UMass women's gymnastics team scored the most points since coach Chuck Shiebler took over two season's ago, they fell just short of Yale, 171.90 to 171.65 Wednesday night at Boyden gym.

Shiebler was despondent after the frustrating loss. "If you would have told me before the meet that we would score over 171 points I would have told you we would win," he said. "They just did a better job than us tonight."

The key to the UMass defeat was during the balance beam event, the third out of four events. There were a few costly bobbles which eliminated the degree of difficulty in the judges scoring and UMass was taken in that event by a score of 43.15 to 41.6.

continued on page 14

Sports at a Glance

Today: Women's Swimming: at Rhode Island, 7 p.m.

Saturday: Men's Basketball: at Temple, 1 p.m. Women's Basketball: at Rutgers, 2 p.m. Men's Swimming: at Vermont, 1 p.m. Women's Gymnastics: at Cornell, 2 p.m. Men's Gymnastics: E. Stroudsberg, Boyden, 1 p.m. Track: at Princeton Relays. Skiing: at Plymouth St. Tournament.

NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY

The Massachusetts Daily
COLLEGIAN

RSO-UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS-AMHERST 113 CAMPUS CENTER 545-3500 VOLUME CXIV ISSUE 5

MONDAY, FEBUARY 3, 1986

INSIDE

●Groundhog looks in vain for its shadow. Page 3.
●Interview with the Roches. Page 9.
●Men's basketball loses 69-38 to Temple. Page 16.

Fast action by student saves infant

By JEANETTE DeFORGE
Collegian Staff

While many University of Massachusetts students spent their first weekend this semester studying or attending a back-to-school party, Brian Moran, a political science major, was saving an infant's life.

The 21-year-old junior was working at his job as a Emergency Medical Technician at Bay State Ambulance Company in Springfield when a call of a person having difficulty in breathing came into the station at 2 p.m. Saturday.

"When we got there a Springfield police officer was doing mouth-to-mouth (recussitation) on a 16-month-old girl," Moran said.

Moran and his partner, Gene Quinn, who drove the ambulance Saturday night, checked for a pulse in the baby's arm and neck, but she did not have one.

"I was so psyched, not too many cardiac arrests make it, and it's great for somebody so small to make it,"
—UMass junior Brian Moran.

"We got her right out to the ambulance," Moran said "We did CPR (cardio-pulmonary resuscitation) all the way to the hospital."

When they got to the hospital the Emergency Room staff helped the baby breath on her own.

"The E.R. staff did a tremendous job bringing her back," he said.

"I was so psyched, not too many cardiac arrests make it and it's great for somebody so small to make it," Moran said.

Moran has had other cardiac arrest cases, but has never saved a child this young.

If CPR is adminstered within the first four to six minutes after the heart stops, a high percentage of people live. If it is started any longer than ten minutes after the heart stops, few people survive, according to a dispatcher of Bay State Ambulance Company, who refused to be identified.

"I've worked with him (Moran) and he is a dedicated individual. He is good to work with and is an dependable person," he said.

Moran has been an Emergency Medical Technician since April and has worked for Bay State Ambulance Company in Malden until September when he started to work in Springfield. He is a member of the Fire Safety and First Aid Unit at UMass.

Collegian photo by Maria Bull

Former employees of the Lord Jeffrey Inn picket outside Flint Laboratory Friday, to protest the hiring of the former manager of the inn to teach a course in rooms division management.

Nussbaum picketed; defended by HRTA head

By PHIL SERAFINO
Collegian Staff

A dozen former employees of the Lord Jeffery Inn picketed Flint Laboratory Friday morning, where Eric Nussbaum, the ex-manager of the inn, is teaching a course in hotel, restaurant and travel administration.

The picketers handed leaflets to students entering the building, warning them to "look out for Nussbaum," and asking them to drop his class. They also carried signs reading, "Union-Busting 101" and "Does HRTA Support Union-Busting?"

The financially ailing inn closed Jan. 1 after months of fruitless contract negotiations between union employees and management. The employees went on strike last Oct. 24, accusing the Amherst Inn Company of unfair labor practices. The company is 75 percent owned by Amherst College.

"We hardly consider him to have any competent managing skills at all to teach this class," said Brendan Larson, who was an assistant purchasing agent at the inn.

Stevenson W. Fletcher, HRTA department head, disagreed. "The reason we hired him was desperation, and he happens to be fully qualified," Fletcher said. He said a faculty member took emergency sick leave with one week's notice. "I think an underlying concern might be that we're seen as endorsing one side of the issue," Fletcher said, reiterating that Nussbaum was hired because of his credentials and the need to fill the teaching position.

Nussbaum was not available for comment. The department said it did not have his phone number.

Nussbaum is teaching HRTA 291A, Rooms Division Management, which Fletcher said has nothing to do with labor relations.

"Mr. Nussbaum has never discussed union negotiations with us, he has always been very professional. The thing I don't want is people to think our students are being exposed to union-breaking techniques," Fletcher said.

Most students entering the class said Nussbaum's involvement with the inn did not bother them. "I had a hard time getting into the class. I really need the credits," said Jim McKinnon, a junior who said he would not drop the class.

Sophmore Scott Barger said Nussbaum was qualified to teach the class. "He seems to know what he's talking about from the first class I had with him," he said.

Rostow will speak at Amherst

Eugene V. Rostow, director of the US Arms Control and Disarmament Agency from 1981 to 1983, will speak on the topic "The Conception of Peace" at 8 p.m. today in the Converse Assembly Room at Amherst College.

Rostow is this year's Corliss Lamont Lecturer for a Peaceful World. The lectureship brings to Amherst philosophers, political scientists, economists, and others who may provide insights into reducing frictions among nations.

Rostow is also scheduled to speak at 4 p.m. tomorrow in Converse Assembly Room on the question, "What is the American National Interest?"

A scholar who has moved between academia and government throughout his career, Rostow is currently distinguished visiting research professor of law and diplomacy at the National Defense University. He joined the Yale Law School faculty in 1938 and was its dean from 1955 to 1965.

Rostow was undersecretary of state for political affairs from 1966 to 1969 and director of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency from 1981 to 1983.

He has written numerous books on law and foreign policy, including The Sovereign Prerogative and Law, Power, and the Pursuit of Peace.

Case of TB reported on campus

By NANCY KLINGENER
Collegian Staff

University of Massachusetts health officials confirmed Friday that a student enrolled last semester has been diagnosed with tuberculosis, and that those students identified as "close contacts" have been notified.

"Apparently, there was a student who was found to have tuberculosis," said David R. Kraft, executive director of University Health Services. "As a routine procedure, we send a letter to anyone who might have been exposed."

One source, who refused to identify herself, said she had received a notifying letter and thought that the student with tuberculosis was a female graduate student in one of her classes. The source described the woman as constantly ill, and coughing over everything.

"The chances of people catching tuberculosis from somebody in a classroom are slim, but they're possible," said Thomas C. McBride, director of the division of medical care.

Health services assigns a nurse "to try to find out as many close contacts as we can find and try to get them skin-tested. It's a screening procedure," McBride said.

A positive reaction in the skin test means a person has been exposed to the disease, but a chest X-ray is needed for a positively diagnosis, he said.

Approximately one UMass student a year comes down with tuberculosis, according to McBride.

"We get an occaisonal unpleasant surprise," he said.

Once a person has been exposed to the disease, it "might live there [in the body] for a lifetime," and possibly become activated later by trauma like a car accident or by pregnancy, McBride said.

Kraft said that the case "seems to have been caught fairly early."

Tuberculosis is an infectious bacterial disease, usually spread by "droplet infection," through coughing or sneezing, McBride said. Although it usually affects the lungs, it can involve any part of the body.

It "can be a very devastating disease if it's not properly treated," McBride said. The disease is usually treated with a combination of antibiotics.

Those treated make a complete recovery, and start to feel better within weeks, but are usually treated for one year, he said.

At one time, tuberculosis was called "the great imitator," because it can cause the effects of so many diffferent illnesses, ranging from bone fractures to spinal meningitis, McBride said.

Symptoms "may be trivial, but they usually involve unexplained weight loss, unexplained fever, and a chronic cough," as well as sweating at night, McBride said.

The University requires a negative tuberculosis test for all employees, including student employees, Kraft said. Those who have been immunized against the disease or who have been to countries where it is more widespread might test positively, but are unlikely to have the disease.

"Tuberculosis is an extremely rare disease in our country," he said. "This one seems to have been caught fairly early."

Election returns to be shared

MANILA, Phillippines (AP)—Government and independent election officials agreed yesterday to share early returns from this week's presidential election to prevent fraud. But some opposition leaders said pro-government news media could used selected returns to declare President Ferdinand E. Marcos an early winner.

Officials of the Commission on Elections and a private watchdog group, the National Movement for Free Elections, or NAMFREL, met for more than four hours to negotiate a unified "quick count" of Friday's election.

Representatives of both sides said they agreed to share early returns from the nations 90,000 precincts, which sometimes have trouble communicating with the capital. The nation is spread over 7,100 islands, with an estimated 27 million registered voters.

In other developments yesterday, about 6,000 students and workers of the militant group Bayan Country marched on the presidential palace and burned effigies of Marcos and President Reagan as they called for an election boycott. Rally leaders said they expected Marcos, president for 20 years, to rig the election. Some Bayan leaders, however, have resigned to back his rival, Corazon Aquino.

Hundreds of Marcos supporters rode around the city in a noisy, daylong motorcade, playing Marcos jingles over loudspeakers and urging passersby to keep Marcos in office.

At one point, the leftists and pro-Marcos motorcade crossed paths. A boycott leader said over a megaphone, "Leave them alone. They were paid to do their work."

AP photo

FOR THE CHILDREN—Norwegian actress Liv Ullmann accepts the Dag Hammerskjold medal yesterday from the West German Society for the United Nations for her work for UNICEF. Ullmann accepted the work "in the name of the world's children"

Curfew announced in Haiti

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (AP)–The government yesterday ordered a partial curfew in Cap Haitien, a flashpoint of demonstrations against President-for-Life Jean Claude Duvalier of Haiti, and restricted foreign reporters to Port-au-Prince.

Government-owned Radio National said Cap Haitien's 80,000 residents have been ordered to keep indoors between the hours of 8 a.m. and 2 p.m.

No reason for the curfew was given and it was not known immediately if it would be enforced for more than one day. It was the first curfew officially ordered in Haiti since Duvalier declared a 30-day state of siege Friday in the impoverished nation.

Cap Haitien, Haiti's second largest city, is about 125 miles north of Port-au-Prince on the Atlantic coast.

The government communique also ordered all owners of radio transmitters to report their location to authorities.

Eleven people have been killed since demonstrations began a week ago in Cap Haitien. Three people were shot to death there last Monday, and three people were trampled to death Wednesday when demonstrators mobbed a CARE warehouse. Five people died Friday in demonstrations in Port-au-Prince.

Haiti's Information Minister Adrien Raymond announced Sunday in a second communique distributed by his office that all foreign journalists had been restricted to the capital.

The U.S. Embassy said it received reports that security forces used tear gas and gunfire to control an early morning demonstration, but there were no reports of casualties.

"We are asking journalists to register and ask permission of this office before they try to go to the rural areas and other cities," said Guy Mayer, the ministry's director-general.

No reason was given immediately for the order, nor was there any indication how long it would remain in force.

An uneasy calm settled on Port-au-Prince Sunday. Heavily armed members of the uniformed militia, called the Volunteers for National Service, kept patrol in small, unmarked cars, firing at random.

Disturbances were reported in Cap Haitien Saturday where funeral services were held for three people killed last Monday.

CLARIFICATION

In reporting Stacy Roth's concluding statement at last Thursday's memorial service for the shuttle explosion victims, the Collegian should have noted that Roth was quoting John Henry Newman when she said, "Fear not that your life will come to an end, fear that it will have no beginning."

Polish peace group strong

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—Although it has been declared illegal and some of its members imprisoned, Poland's first independent peace movement shows no signs of succumbing to intimidation from communist authorities.

"Despite the repressions we will not give up," said Jacek Czaputowicz, a founder of the Freedom and Peace Movement.

Freedom and Peace, founded in March 1985, claims more than 100 activists in four Polish cities and several thousand sympathizers, including Solidarity leader Lech Walesa, the 1983 Nobel Peace Prize winner.

It groups a new generation of Polish dissidents just as the now-disbanded Workers Defense Committee, or KOR, did when it was formed in 1976.

Among its members are the son of Jacek Kuron, the leader of KOR and perhaps the country's best-known dissident, and former leaders of the banned independent students' union that formed during the Solidarity years, 1980-81. Most members are in their 20s.

The Polish peace movement, like other unofficial peace movements in Eastern Europe, seeks the support of Western European anti-war movements in pressuring Soviet-bloc countries to respect human rights and make democractic reforms.

"There are now more West European peace groups that understand what we are talking about—that there is no peace without freedom, without national independence and democracy," said Czaputowicz, a 30-year-old economist. "There is no peace without human rights."

OTHER ADS TELL YOU HOW CHEAP THEIR BRAKE JOBS ARE. BUT NO ONE CAN TELL YOU THEY'RE BETTER THAN MIDAS.

At Midas, instead of trying to lure our customers with an unbelievably low price, we satisfy them with a brake job they can trust.

A repair that's based on a free inspection that includes pulling all four of your wheels.

Because no one can tell how much your brake job will cost until he thoroughly inspects your brakes.

And we'll give you a free written estimate before the work is done.

After fixing your brakes, we back our work with a nationwide guarantee on brake shoes and pads.

If they should ever wear out, Midas will replace them free at over 1400 locations for as long as you own your car.

If you need a new brake job, compare us with all the other ads in this paper.

But the harder you look, the more you'll find that no one compares with Midas.

TRUST THE MIDAS TOUCH.

MIDAS

$59.95 BRAKE JOB PER AXLE (ON MOST CARS)

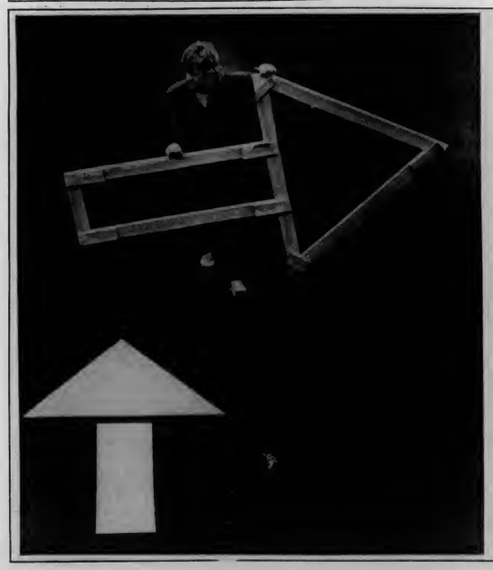
*Includes new brake shoes or organic disc pads, resurfacing drums or rotors, inspect hydraulic system and add necessary fluid, replace front grease seals and road test.



NOTE: IT IS LIKELY THAT ONE OR MORE OF THE FOLLOWING PARTS WILL BE NEEDED TO RESTORE YOUR BRAKES TO THEIR PROPER OPERATING CONDITION, WHICH ARE NOT INCLUDED IN THIS PRICE: NEW OR REBUILT CALIPERS, WHEEL CYLINDERS, METALLIC PADS, DRUMS AND ROTORS, SPRINGS, HOLD, BEARINGS, AND PARKING BRAKE CABLE. NO ONE CAN TELL HOW MUCH IT WILL COST TO REPAIR YOUR BRAKE SYSTEM WITHOUT THOROUGHLY EXAMINING IT.

GUARANTEE: MIDAS BRAKE SHOES AND DISC BRAKE PADS ARE WARRANTED FOR AS LONG AS YOU OWN YOUR CAR. IF THEY EVER WEAR OUT, NEW MIDAS BRAKE SHOES OR PADS WILL BE INSTALLED WITHOUT CHARGE FOR THE SHOES OR PADS OR THE LABOR TO INSTALL THEM. YOU WILL BE CHARGED FOR ADDITIONAL PARTS AND LABOR REQUIRED TO RESTORE THE BRAKE SYSTEM TO ITS PROPER OPERATION.

397 Russell Street, Route 9
Hadley, MA
(413) 586-9991

(King St. Store temporarily closed)

Hours:
Mon-Fri 8 am to 5:30 pm
Sat 8 am to 4 pm

AP photo

ME AND MY ARROW—Jim Walker carries a wooden stencil past a freshly painted direction arrow on a Dallas parking lot.

Collegian photo by Jon Strymish

Sunderland Police Chief Kenneth Heim (left) and Richard Bunker of the Federal Aviation Administration investigate the wreckage of a twin engine Beechcraft airplane which crashed in Sunderland Friday.

Sunderland crash kills pilot

By PATRICK JOHNSON
Collegian Staff

A twin-engine airplane crashed in a field along Route 47 in Sunderland Friday, killing its pilot, the 71-year old founder of an area company.

Garson R. Fields Sr., of 410 Kennedy Road in Leeds, died when the twin-engine Beechcraft Baron he was flying crashed and burned in a cornfield near the location of the former Rusty Nail bar. The crash occurred about 12:30 p.m., and Fields was pronounced dead at the scene an hour later, Sunderland Police Chief Kenneth Heim said.

The body was transported to Springfield Memorial Hospital, where an autopsy was scheduled to be performed, Heim said. Investigators from the Federal Aviation Administration and the National Highway Transportation Safety Board are trying to determine the cause of the crash, he said.

"I was in the garage and I heard a strange noise, like a 'swish,swish,' and then a crash," said Charles Petraitis, who lives near the crash site.

"I ran to the window and the plane was there, intact, only it was pancaked," Petraitis said. "I ran to the phone to call the police and the ambulance, then the plane blew up. It just started burning."

The fire started between 30 seconds and a minute after the crash, Petraitis said.

The plane was engulfed in flames when the police and fire departments arrived. The firefighters fought the blaze for 15 minutes until it was extinguished, according to the Daily Hampshire Gazette.

"No one could have gotten out of there, especially if they were knocked out," Petraitis said.

Fields flew out of la Fleur Airport in Northampton about 11:30 a.m. Friday, Richard Giusto, co-owner of the airport, told the Gazette. When he crashed an hour later, Fields was five minutes' flying distance from the airport, Guisto said.

Fields was born in Holyoke July 22, 1914. In 1949, he founded the Berkshire Electric Company in Leeds, and had served as the company's chairman.

Fields had been an avid pilot for 40 years, his son Garson Fields Jr. told the Springfield Morning Union.

Collegian photo by Brian Guarnotta

CAGED—The view from the 4th floor balcony in the Student Union provides a unique view of these customers in the University Mini-Store.

Course brings together 4 religions

By TOM GLYNN
Collegian Correspondent

Four of the largest religious groups at the University of Massachusetts will offer a one-credit course this semester in a mutual attempt to better understand various religious customs.

Open to all interested students, the 12-session course is the first of its kind at UMass. Titled "A Jewish-Protestant-Roman Catholic Trialogue," the course is taught through the Judaic Studies department and begins tomorrow. Those who wish to register can bring an add-drop form to the opening session or to the Hillel office in the Student Union. The course will be held 2:30 to 3:45 in Herter 119.

Discussions will be aimed at some of the more sensitive questions surrounding the religious community and the entire society, such as abortion, the role of women in the church, interfaith marriage, and Jesus Christ, said Rev. Joseph Quigley, director of the Newman Center.

Quigley and Rabbi Saul Perlmutter of B'Nai B'rith-Hillel will team up with Rev. Esther Hargis of the United Christian Foundation as well as Rev. Chris Carlisle of the Episcopal House in an attempt to bring these issues to the forefront, Quigley said.

"I believe it's a wonderful idea," Quigley said. The University should provide more opportunities for religious groups to "have input into ethical and moral questions, not just secular issues," he said.

Quigley said he looks forward to "a great deal of give-and-take during class discussions."

Perlmutter said differences in opinion will make the course informative and exciting. "It should be a lot of fun for everyone involved," Perlmutter said.

Perlmutter and Quigley said relations have always been well between the four religious groups, although they have never taught a course together before this semester.

The $15 fee to enroll in the course also includes the cost of a textbook.

Shadow not seen; spring not certain

Spring might—repeat, might—be just around the corner.

Punxsutawney Phil, Pennsylvania's favorite groundhog, failed to see his shadow yesterday, for only the sixth time in the 99 years he has been represented by a series of groundhogs. If he had seen his shadow, it is believed, that would have meant six more weeks of winter weather.

About 1,500 turned out in a cold drizzle at Phil's electrically-heated burrow to see what he would have in store for them.

But the National Weather Service yesterday issued a long-range forecast predicting cold and wet weather through April.

WOMEN'S FORUM

Women's Forum is a weekly listing of events relating to women's issues. Notices may be sent to the Women's News Editor, care of the Collegian, by the Friday before the event.

The Counselor/Advocate Program at the Everywoman's Center is sponsoring the following support groups, which will meet for eight weeks starting in February: an Incest Survivor Support Group for adult survivors of incest, a Battered Lesbian Support Group for lesbians who have been or are in physically and/or abusive relationships, and a Rape Survivors Support Group..

The program is also organizing support groups for single mothers, adult daughters of alcoholic parents, lesbian mothers, food/body issues, and lesbian support.

All groups are confidential and free of charge. Further information is available by calling the center at 545-0883

The Resource/Referral Program of the Everywoman's Center is looking for community volunteers and student interns to the staff the Resource Room for the Spring. Volunteers provide information about area services, medical and legal referrals, and maintain resource information. Further information is available by contacting Sandy Mandel at the center, 545-0883.

Sunday—Eleanor Smeal, president of the National Organization for Women, will speak at 8 p.m. in Wright Hall at Smith College. Her topic will be "Turning the Tide for Women in 1986." The lecture is sponsored in part by the Smith College Project on Women and Social Change. The lecture is free and open to the public.

Collegian photo by Paul Desmarais

KEEPING WARM—University of Massachusetts employee Mike Dunbar braves the cold last week to take a run around "The Loop" surrounding Warren McGuirk Alumni Stadium.

Campus renovations progressing

By BRUCE SAXON
Collegian Correspondent

Repairs to a basement auditorium in the Morrill Science Center were completed over intersession as the first of several campus meeting halls scheduled to be renovated.

The upgrading of classrooms and auditoriums is being coordinated by the University's physical plant department, the scheduling office, and the office of space management. Justin Cobb, director of space management, said the total cost of the renovations have yet to be determined, but the Morrill auditorium repairs have amounted to at least $25,000.

"A year ago, we went to every classroom on campus and recorded all problems and deficiencies," Cobb said. "From the initial list we compiled a priority list for classroom improvements."

With most classrooms repaired, Cobb said the renovation program has entered the second phase concentrating on refurbishing the campus auditoriums.

"Auditoriums are the most intensely used space on campus," Cobb said. "Our plan is to work on one auditorium each intersession."

Improvements in Morrill's auditorium were completed at the end of January when physical plant employees and workers from a private construction firm installed chairs, repaired lights, sealed leaks and repainted walls in the 200-seat hall.

Sally Klingener, botany department manager, who helps oversee building operations at Morrill, said the repairs were long overdue.

"The changes were the result of pressure and complaints from students and faculty about the condition of the room combined with increased University expenditures for building upkeep," Klingener said. "The University's commitment to maintaining teaching rooms has increased in the last few years."

Anorexia addressed

Professor Joan Jacobs Brumberg, director of women's studies at Cornell University, is scheduled to deliver a lecture titled "The Emergence of a Modern Disease: From Anorexia Mirabilis to Anorexia Nervosa" at 4 p.m. today in Memorial Hall.

Brumberg is the author of several articles that have appeared in major scholarly journals as well as Mission for Life: The Judson Family and American Evangelical Culture, which was nominated for the Pulitzer Prize in History. Her lecture draws upon "Fasting Girls," a larger study of eating disorders.

JOB OPENINGS
Student Janitorial Positions
are available immediately
in the Orchard Hill Central Area
work study and non work study
$3.65 per hour
Must be able to work weekends.
Complete application forms in
B-1 Baker

Lodestone
has
EDWIN JEANS
Save 10% with this ad - good thru Feb. 7
13 N. Pleasant St. Amherst, MA

TOP of the CAMPUS
RESTAURANT
11th FLOOR CAMPUS CENTER UMASS
Now Open For...
Luncheon:
Monday-Friday/11:30 am-2 pm
Dinner:
Tuesday-Thursday/5 pm-9 pm
Friday & Saturday/5 pm-9:30 pm
"PARKING TICKETS VALIDATED"

FRATERNITY LIFE

Experience the Brotherhood!
Delta Upsilon offers you
- Home cooked meals
- Excellent social life
- A leader in academics
- Intramural sports
- Little Sisters Program

OPEN RUSH
Feb. 4, 5th & 10, 11th
9:00

North East	Grad Tower
NOPE	Δ T

549-3831

VALENTINE'S DAY
14K GOLD SALE
60% OFF
All Ticketed Prices of 14K Gold Chains and Bracelets!
14K Gold Earrings $10 sale price
14K Gold Bracelet reg. $50.
Sale Price $19.00
14K Gold Herringbone Chain
reg. $80.00 Sale $30.00
Many Other Specials Available
Sale Located on the Concourse
In Front of the University Store
Feb. 3 thru Feb. 8
10 am - 4 pm
Open M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3
Located in the Campus Center UNIVERSITY STORE

UNIVERSITY TRAVEL and TOURS INC.
225 Main St.
Northampton, Mass.
584-9913

Spring and Summer Vacations with combination of cosmopolitan nightlife, beaches, and hiking

10 WEEKS EUROPE, CRETE, ISRAEL $1699
price includes:
- roundtrip airfare NY to Brussels
- 2 month Eurailpass
- 1 week hotel acc. each in Paris, Athens, & Israel
- 2 weeks hotel acc. on the beach in Crete
- 1 week acc. in the White Mountains of Crete

9 DAYS IN EUROPE, CRETE, ISRAEL $1199
price includes:
- Roundtrip airfare NY to Brussels
- 9 days Eurailpass
- Option for hotel acc. in Paris

Don't Miss Samaria Gorge in Crete, Europe's largest gorge!

1 MONTH EUROPE AND CRETE $799
price includes:
- Roundtrip airfare NY to Brussels
- 1 month Eurailpass
- 1 week hotel acc. on the beach in Crete

2 MONTHS IN EUROPE, CRETE, ISRAEL $1199
price includes:
- Airfare NY to Brussels
- 2 month Eurailpass
- Airfare to Israel
- 2 weeks hotel acc. on the beach in Crete

RUN THE ORIGINAL MARATHON
Week of April 6
26 miles
Marathon to Athens $899
- Roundtrip NY to Athens
- 1 week hotel acc.
- full board

Price good if reservation made before Feb. 15, 1986

Letters

She was a favorite teacher for all

My heart went out to the millions of elementary schoolchildren who must have been watching the space shuttle launching Tuesday morning when Christa McAuliffe died.

Christa McAuliffe had a transcendent personality and exuberance which matched the spirit of children and had captured their attention. Many saw her as a favorite teacher.

Christa was going to be their representative in space.

Edmund Patterson
Northampton

All letters submitted for publication must be signed and include the author's address and telephone number, which will not be published. Letters must be typewritten and double spaced at 67 characters per line. Column sumbissions hsould be between 40 and 60 lines. All submissions are subject to edition for clarity and length. —Editor.

The Collegian welcomes letters, column, and cartoon submissions. Submissions should be mailed to the Editorial Editor at the Collegian, 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Mass. 01003, or they can be dropped off at the Collegian classified ad counter in the basement of the Campus Center. Due to the volume of mail received, individual replies cannot be made.

Meet the Collegian columnists

Tune in to WMUA, 91.1 FM, this Thursday, 6-7 p.m. and meet the regular Collegian columnists. And, as an extra bonus, call in with your questions!

How to make someone's day

Sit down. I'd like you to read this while you are sitting down. Not because there is some kind of a shock in store, but just because you should relax. We all need to rest our bones now and then. This is now, so go ahead. I'll wait.

Good. Now, let's talk. Here are some suggestions that just might make someone's day. Theirs. Yours. Ours. Maybe we can start a trend. Go on, I dare ya.

—Offer someone a back rub. Anyone. Friend, foe, stranger, or professor (all grades aside)! You don't need to be a masseur/masseuse, and you don't have to disrobe. Stay just the way you are. Concentrate on the neck, shoulders, and upper back. Quick lesson: Start gently, and work into applying a little more pressure to those muscles that seem tight (feel the muscle for tension, that is the key), then back to gentle, and on to the next muscle. Goodness knows that we are all tense sometimes and who knows, maybe they'll do the same for you.

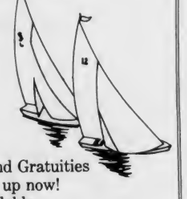
—Got a quarter? 25 cents? That's what one daisy costs on the Campus Center Concourse. Have you the slightest inkling of just how much a flower, especially a simple one given for no other reason than "I want to," can mean to someone? And don't try to tell me that "they" don't need one. Bull. We need love at least as much as we need food. There's lots of starving hearts out there. Feed them a daisy.

—Part of our fees goes to cover the costs of the campus mail. Use it. I'd like to meet the person or persons who haven't felt a great big lift at the sight of a letter in their mailbox, or who hasn't felt as heavy as a lead balloon when their mailbox contains nothing but dust. Campus mail. It's free. You don't have to send War and Peace. A note. A postcard. An index card with a name and address on one side and a smiley face on the other side. You don't have an index card? I'll give you one. Just ask me. If I can get 24 people (never mind 24,000) to send a day brightener to someone else (or even themselves) it will be well worth the cost of the index cards.

—Finally, here's a couple of lifter-uppers that need nothing save the will to execute them. Smile. Say hi. Smile and say hi. Not as tough as it sounds, and it's especially effective if you, they or both are walking/standing/sitting/waiting alone. There's much too much floor number watching on elevators these days. Smile. Say hi. You people in the Southwest towers can learn a semester of calculus on a ride to the top floor; why don't you say hi? Smile, and say hi. To a friend, to a stranger, to the mirror, or even to me.

Back rub anyone?

Michael E. Wall
Central



American Travel Services presents

SPRING BREAK "86"

Ft Lauderdale
Hotel from $139.00
Air: New York $209. Rd Trip
Boston $228. Rd Trip
Holiday Inn Oceanside $209.

Nassau/Paradise Island
Hotel & Air from $329.
Pilot House Hotel $379.

All prices include Taxes and Gratuities
Don't be left out, sign up now!
Limited space available
For more information: call Danny 546-7899

BUY 3, GET 1 FREE
During the month of February:
Buy a 3 month Nautilus membership for $85,
get the 4th month free
AMHERST RACQUET & FITNESS CENTER, INC.
Route 116, Sunderland
(on the Sunderland/Amherst line)
across from Bub's Barbecue
on the bus route 3 miles from UMass

SEE ME.

FEEL ME.

TOUCH ME.

HEAR ME.

Working with those who are communicatively impaired is a challenging, yet rewarding profession. Boston-Bouvé College at Northeastern University recognizes the importance of research and further study in this field. Our ASHA accredited Master of Science program in Speech-Language Pathology and our program in Audiology (the only one in Boston) make it possible for you to pursue an advanced degree full-time, or part-time if you are employed in the field.

For information on these programs, or a free brochure, complete and mail the coupon below. Or call (617) 437-4708.

Please send me information on your Speech-Language Pathology and Audiology Programs.
Boston-Bouvé College of Human Development Professions. 106 DK.
Northeastern University, 360 Huntington Ave., Boston, MA 02115.
Name_____ Phone_____
Address_____
City_____ State_____ Zip_____

Northeastern University
An equal opportunity/affirmative action university

Lodestone

The Place
to Treat your Favorite Cherub
♡ ♡ ♡ ♡ ♡ ♡ ♡ ♡ ♡ ♡
Gift Certificate Available
13 N Pleasant St, Amherst — 48 Main St, Brattleboro

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian

ED/OP

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted.

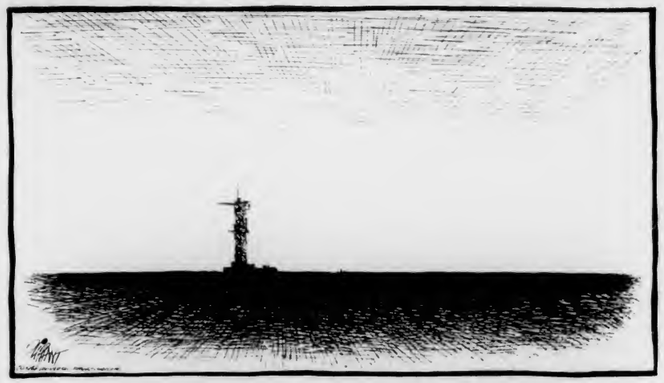
Founded in 1870

EXECUTIVE BOARD-SPRING 1986



Dode B. Levenson, Editor in Chief — Ian Polumbaum, Managing Editor — Larry Bouchie, Editorial Editor
Peter Soderbe, Production Manager — Conor Plunkett, Production Manager — Elizabeth Young, Business Manager — Sherry Sharfman, Business Manager

BOARD OF EDITORS

Dode B. Levenson, Editor in Chief — Ian Polumbaum, Managing Editor
Larry Bouchie, Editorial Editor — Joel P. Coffids, News Editor — John Yonce, Women's Editor — Peter Abraham, Sports Editor
Jennifer Ackerman, Arts Editor — Kelly Sieger, Arts Editor — Michelle Segall, Photo Editor — Paul Desmarais, Photo Editor — Chris Allen, Black Affairs Editor

Cost of a shuttle

John Hagerman

Tuesday's space shuttle explosion requires us to examine the motivations leading to our manned space program. Our reactions to the incident will affect the future of the space program and the public feeling about technology in general. Many extreme views will be presented about this subject, so I write this with the hope it will encourage objective evaluation of those views.

All issues require decisions. One decision for the space program is whether we should use manned or unmanned missions. It is, of course, accepted that space missions are dangerous; the amount of power required to launch something into orbit is tremendous, as was demonstrated by the shuttle explosion. Many of us react to such demonstrations with mixed sorrow and admiration for the "Brave Adventurers."

When I consider this reaction, I find that it is typical of an unhealthy attitude in the country. My concern is not which decisions are made about social issues, but rather that these decisions are made under some obsession. In this case, we are obsessed with having a manned space program.

Most of us have given a screw just one last turn to make sure it's tight enough, only to have it rip out. For an individual, this is enough to teach the virtues of moderation. Unfortunately, groups of people do not act as individuals do; society does not seem to learn moderation. Usually, society is regulated by coincidence; one political group will come to power and push toward one extreme, then later the opposing group will push the other way. Sometimes, however, the pendulum swings too far. In technology, there are many examples.

Certainly, the U.S. manned space program provides many benefits, as does other research. I wonder, however, if the manned space program is worth the cost. The space shuttle is by far the most complicated device ever built, so much so that no one should be surprised when disasters occur. However, much of the complication is due to the life support for the large crew. Most of the experiments performed on the space shuttle could easily have been performed by unmanned missions at a much lower cost. It is now questionable whether space promises as much as it once seemed to.

Please don't get me wrong; I am proud and enthusiastic about the achievements of our space program. However, I feel that policy of moderation will gain much more that it will lose. Doubling an effort will not double the results. More moderate approaches to social issues is the first step toward a more healthy society; a slightly slower advance of technology at a much lower cost is worth considering.

John Hagerman is a UMass student.

Working for the good of the people

David Valade

At the beginning of last semester I started a new job. Having spent part of August in training, I became a bus driver for the UMass Transit Service. After having been a member of the Undergraduate Student Senate for more than two semesters, this provided a welcome relief.

The differences between being in the Senate and working for UMass Transit are innumerable. Senate meetings are dominated by egocentric, self-serving individuals. Proposals that would be beneficial to us as students, and to the University community in general, often fall by the wayside as a result of rapacious self-aggrandizement.

This isn't a criticism of student government in general, but primarily of the Undergraduate Student Senate. Many important ideas and programs come from our student government. Usually, they occur in spite of the senate. They are as a result of people who are truly concerned with bettering our education and the University. Too often, however, the people who do this work become disillusioned. They become overwhelmed by the backstabbing and infighting in the senate and leave.

Writng about the senate in this way will likely result in some angry responses from the people involved. They will claim that their ideologically correct belief in the left or right is what is needed to make the senate work. More than likely these letters will be from the same people who are so disruptive at senate meetings. What will be left out is the most viable solution. The only way the senate's problems can be solved is if more people who really care about students get involved. Until a majority of the senate's members care more about students, and student rights, than themselves, the current problems will continue.

UMass Transit provides a sharp contrast to the senate. For most of the people I work with, providing the best possible bus service is the main concern. This includes being reliable, on-time, and safe in all types of weather and at all times of day.

It's not always easy to do this. At different times of day traffic and the number of passengers make keeping on schedule an impossibility. Next time you're a little late because of a bus, remember, over the course of a working shift your driver is responsible for the lives and safety of as many as 500 people. Your safety is our most important concern.

The first week of each semester is perhaps the best time to see the dedication of the drivers for UMass Transit. It isn't until after the first week that the regular shift assignments are made. In addition to finding classes and the general run-around of this time of year, many drivers put in 30 or more hours of work. Many times they will work on very short notice, such as after receiving a 6:30 a.m. phone call asking them to drive at 7:00 a.m.

The greatest contrast I have found when comparing this to the senate has been the level of cooperation. Most drivers are more than willing to help another driver. I rarely, if ever, saw this kind of respect in the Senate.

So next time you get on a bus, say hi to the driver. It's not an easy job and they'll appreciate it. And if you really care about students and the quality of our education, join the senate. We need you.

David Valade is a Collegian columnist.

Letters

Travelling tunes

I was northbound on a PVTA bus at the Hasbrouck stop when a student mounted the bus, and suddenly the back of the bus was filled with the sound of music. A "box" maybe? No...not enough bass for that. It was a walkperson.

Why was this guy cranking his music so loud? I have no idea. As somebody who is into the reproduction of sound, I do have an idea what this is doing to this guy's ears. First, the government's occupational safety and health administration has stated that if you listen to a continuous Sound Pressure Level of 115dB for over a quarter of one hour, you could lose some hearing. Second, a walkperson is easily capable of providing this SPL before hearing any audible distortion. In plain English, you can lose some hearing in 15 minutes just by listening to your walkperson. If you crank it up to full blast, you will lose some hearing before the first song is over.

Well, I am not writing this letter to tell you you have blown your ears, but rather to tell you how easy it is to keep your ears running smoothly for the rest of your life.

Step 1—Turn your volume all the way down (off). Step 2—Tune your hearing to a low level background noise. Step 3—Turn your volume up to the highest setting where you can still hear that low background noise.

Not only will this produce better hearing tomorrow, but you also won't bother me on the bus.

Carlos Beltran
Northeast

ARTS

Record Review

By JAMES NEILL
Collegian Staff

Johnny Rotten started out his musical career literally spitting his anger all over his audience who enthusiastically gobbed it right back at him. Though a bit unsanitary, it was an important relationship, very much unlike anything that had happened musically or culturally in a long, long time. Communications between performer and spectator were cut wide open and an unprecedented sense of unity among the youth of England resulted. After the so-called "Great Rock and Roll Swindle", in which The Sex Pistols were exposed as a blatantly profit-seeking project engineered by Malcolm McLaren, Rotten reassumed his given name of Lydon and formed Public Image Ltd.

This new band was the antithesis of The Sex Pistols. As the name implied, Public Image Ltd. did not exhibit much concern for its public. They were infamous for chiding the crowd, ridiculing them for paying to see them, and performing with their backs to the audience or entirely hidden behind an unraised curtain. Where the Pistols had been spirited and uplifting, PIL was grating, abrasive, and insulting. The funny thing was that despite PIL's unabashed hand-biting, the public kept coming back for more. What he learned is that the road he was on led to a dead end. Eventually people would tire of being abused and the act would have to change. Either he would have to go even further off the deep end in his attack on the musical establishment he was inescapably a part of or he would have to somehow incorporate himself into it and maintain his integrity at the same time.

He seems to have opted for the latter, the results of which you can hear on the new album. It's called Album and the cassette is called Cassette, and the compact disc is called Compact Disc. Lyndon is the only remaining member from any of the previous PIL rosters. Lydon says that this time around he wanted to recruit the finest musicians he could get his hands on and for Album the formerly furious young man and ace-producer Bill Laswell have assembled the weirdest combination of artists since last year's Golden Palominos LP (which both Laswell and Lydon were also involved in). On guitar we've got freelancer Steve Vai who's played regularly with Frank Zappa since 1980, filled in for virtuoso guitarist Yngwie Malsteen in heavy metal outfit Alcatrazz, and is currently axeman for ex-Van Headache screamer David Lee Roth's new band. The new image is rounded out by ex-Cream drummer Ginger Baker, Yellow Magic Orchestra's Riuichi Sakamoto, and Laswell. Despite this motley crew of accomplished musicians, Lydon's voice still sounds like nails on a chalkboard. Laswell manages to restrain Lydon on one or two tracks but the trademark yelps and whines are irrepressible throughout most of the record. "Anger is energy," chants Lydon as he tries, maybe harder than ever before, to convert this (now somewhat diminished) energy into some palatable music. The closest he comes to success is on the single "Rise" (packaged as, you guessed it, Single) Mon which Lydon is strapped down and forced to harmonize with the rest of the band. "Rise" is tuneful if a bit monotonous and indicates if nothing else, a step in the right direction. "Home" from side two is decent but features an uncharacteristic wall of production that moves in and out of the song; one of those large pieces of sound where you can't really be sure what instruments are responsible for all the commotion. It seems out of place, as if in an attempt to ease the pain of listening to Lydon yell, Laswell went too far and created an additional evil.

Another excess, on which many might disagree with me, is Vai's uninhibited use of heavy metal guitar technique at annoying spots all over the album. The guy is excellent at what he does but sounds out of place here. For the best example of Vai's talent listen to "Ease" where he gets a chance to really wind out without much interference from Lydon.

It's pretty clear that Johnny is not going out of his way to be rotten anymore. As a matter of fact I'm sure he'd be real nice if he knew this record might sell well enough to insure some sort of financial security. He and McLaren are still battling in British courts for the profits left from the brief reign of The Sex Pistols. If he's lucky, he might be able to pay off the mortgage on Mae West's Southern California castle where he now resides with former Slit Ari Up's mum. Anyway, that's none of our business. PIL fans and veteran college radio geeks should eat this up and a few of the tracks could arguably have a shot on some of the harder rock commercial stations, what with Vai on board, but I really don't think the average ear would tolerate most of this record.

The Whately Inn
Quality Food To Order Prepared
Chestnut Plain Rd. Whately
1 mile 3044
Featuring Steve Kloc's Famous Broiled LIVE LOBSTER
Also Serving Louisiana Cajun Entrees
Also Steaks, Prime Rib, Seafood
DIRECTIONS: take 116 north to South Deerfield, south on route 5-10 1½ miles. Right on Christian Lane ½ mile from center of town.
Open: Mon-Sat 5-10 pm Sun 1-9

HAIRCUTS $8.50
with this coupon
CALL STYLES BY DEBORAH
86 University Dr., Amherst, MA.
549-5610
C expires 2/14/86

KARATE $19.95 for 4 weeks
Fred Villari's Studio
253-7349

Daily Collegian Advertising that works!! Call: 545-3500

HILLEL COURSES

The Kibbutz, Theory & Reality
A great opportunity to explore kibbutz ideology, social structure, education, economy, etc. in comparision with other communal living experiments.
Instructor: Ron Sagee with special guest speakers from Harvard's Center for Kibbutz studies. Alternate Mondays from 7-9 pm. Judaic Studies 191B # 420257 #420257. Bartlett 3

Tracing Our Roots: Jewish Genealogy For Beginners
Where did I come from? Learn how to trace your family tree and study aspects of Jewish law, custom, and history as they relate to genealogy. Instructor: Richard Sapon-White. Tuesdays, 7:30-8:30, Judaic Studies 191D, #420093. Bartlett 35

— ONE CREDIT EACH —
To register: Bring Add-Drop form to Hillel Office Student Union 302

CAMPUS TRAVEL CENTER
!! Spring Break in Orlando !!
We have blocked seats from Hartford to Orlando March 15-23
space is limited
$259.00 RT/Group Rate of $198.00 applies if 20 or more people book
Campus Center (2nd) floor)
University of Massachusetts - Amherst
545-0500

Lounge Lizard
(lounj liz'ûrd) n.
A non-poisonous, two-legged variety with an enlarged capacity for fun; having a body uniquely adapted to lolling around in a lazy, relaxed manner; indigenous to a popular local watering hole.
Coming Soon!

Don't Forget to Send a Card
Prepare for Valentine 's Day Feb. 14th
Get your cards early.
at
A.J. HASTINGS
Newsdealer and Stationer
45 S. Pleasant St., Amherst

WMUA
First Meeting of the Spring Semester
To-Nite!
Monday, February 3 at 7:30 pm
in Campus Center Room 174
All interested persons invited to attend

Roches in town with new album

Sunny Roche and her sisters will be appearing Saturday Night at the Calvin Theatre in Northampton.

By PETER WISSOKER
Collegian Staff

"It's a natural evolution," says Suzzy Roche, about the new, more electric, Another World, the Roches' latest album. The Roches, of whom Suzzy is one of three, are a one time folk group from deepest New Jersey, who now live in and around New York City.

Working with musicians who were mostly friends or friends of friends, the Roches latest album has occasional loud electric guitars and the beat on one song sounds like 'Bang a Gong', although Suzzy says that she hadn't noticed the connection.

When the Roches come to the Calvin Theatre in Northampton this Saturday night they will be playing "all of the songs of our new album and all of our greatest hits." The Northampton show will be near the end of their present tour. "When we are working we tend to take the same show out for each period of time that we have a body of work. So we don't change the show until the next tour. It kind of gets a rhythm to it."

The show they played in Boston a few weeks ago received standing ovations which led them to come out for three encores including a rendering of 'Deck the Halls' and 'Angels we have Heard on High'. An accapella version of the 'Hallelujah Chorus' has also been a standard part of their show for many years.

At the Calvin they will be accompanied by synthesizer player, Libby McClarren, an old friend who will play many of the parts used on the new album.

The Roches, Maggie, Terre, and Suzzy will be playing at the Calvin Theatre in Northampton this Saturday night.

The following are an assortment of the questions and answers from a recent phone interview with Suzzy Roche:

interview

Collegian: Was it different recording this album than when you were working with Robert Fripp?

Suzzy Roche: It was different because there were a lot of different people as opposed to just a couple.

C: Was it a different sort of situation where you had to tell them what you wanted or did it all just come together?

S: Every person is different so you have to be sensitive with each other.

C: How did you get to be the one that is really talkative on stage?

S: It just kind of evolved like that I guess.

C: What did Maggie and Terre (the other two Roches) do before you joined them?

S: Who knows. They had to talk then. Nobody wants to talk. I have to talk.

C: Which songs do you like particularly on the new album (Another World)?

S: Well they all have their individual qualities. It's like asking which of your children you like best.

C: Was there any pressure from Warner Brothers to make a certain kind of album?

S: No we never have gotten any pressure from them. They really don't pay any attention to us one way or another...we're not happy with the way they don't pay any attention to us. We make a record and they barely put it out. So were more interested in finding a record company that is interested in us.

C: Will David (Roche) be writing any more songs (He wrote 'Missing', one of the best songs on the new album) for you?

S: He has his own band...The David Roche Band

C: What do expect to do at the end of the tour?

S: Write songs.

C: Will you take any kind of a vacation?

S: Life is a vacation.

Movies ● Art ● Plays ● Concerts ● Books

We need writers to cover these events in the Five College Area. Anyone interested please visit the Arts Desk at the Collegian. We are located in rm. 113 of the UMass Campus Center. If you can't come down, call Kelly Sieger or Jennifer Ackerman at 545-3500. We look forward to hearing from you!

Art Review

Here we go with another artsy semester at Umass. We are very fortunate to have so many galleries on campus that not only represent the work of our own art students, but also of major artists from all over the nation

Two shows opened at the University Gallery on Friday. Peter Shelton exhibits floatinghouse, DEADMAN, a site-specific sculptural installation. This exhibit is an interesting contrast of materials; the "house"is constructed of red cedar and Japanese rice paper, while the furnishings (including a skeleton), made of iron and steel lay scattered about the space of the gallery. At the time of the opening, the construction was incomplete, which created a sense of process. "Floatinghouse" will be hoisted into the air by cables and the heavy furnishings will act as counterweights. The structure will actually be able to be occupied. Shelton was a recipient of the 1985 Young Talent Award. He lives and works in Los Angeles.

The second exhibition of drawings by David Brush is entitled "Cantos for an Accompanying Role". Brush's delicate pen and ink work derives inspiration from the women plays of the 14th century Japanese Noh drama. The artist interprets the different stages of a woman's life through the elegant lines that have a life and fluidity that are quite unique. David Brush is from New York.

The University Gallery is located in the Fine Arts Center , and is open Tuesday through Friday, 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., and Saturday and Sunday, 2 to 5 p.m.

—JENNIFER ACKERMAN

AmHErst CINEMA
Monday - Tuesday
Tin Drum 6:30
Fitz Carraldo 9:00
Double Feature $3.00
30 AMITY ST. AMHERST 253-5426

NOW OPEN
Riverboat Village
APARTMENTS, SOUTH HADLEY.
1, 2 or 3 BEDROOM UNITS
BEAUTIFUL MODELS FURNISHED BY CHAP DELAINES & EPSTEIN FURNITURE CO.
•Swimming Pool •Tennis Court •Club House •Shuffle Board Court
FINANCED BY MHFA
LEASED ON OPEN OCCUPANCY BASIS
OPEN SEVEN DAYS A WEEK
10 AM - 4 PM
PHONE 532-9461
532-9462
CALL FOR DIRECTION
Riverboat Village
River Lodge Rd.
So. Hadley, MA 01075

Don't compete with a Kaplan student— be one.
Why? Consider this: More students increase their scores after taking a Kaplan prep course than after taking anything else.
Why? Kaplan's test-taking techniques and educational programs have 50 years of experience behind them. We know students. And we know what helps boost their confidence and scoring potential.
So if you need preparation for the: H.S. ENTRANCE EXAMS, PSAT, SAT, ACT, ACHIEVEMENTS, LSAT, GMAT, MCAT, GRE, DAT, ADVANCED MEDICAL BOARDS, TOEFL, NURSING BOARDS, NTE, CPA, INTRO TO LAW, SPEED READING, or others, call us.
Why be at a disadvantage?
KAPLAN
STANLEY H. KAPLAN EDUCATIONAL CENTER LTD
GMAT begins Feb. 3rd
GRE begins Feb. 11th
MCAT begins Feb. 19th
LSAT begins in March

Don't be left out in the cold
UMASS SKI CLUB GOES DOWN
TO
FT. LAUDERDALE
SPRING BREAK 86
Prices Start at $149.00
Complete with Jet $369.00
For More Information Contact
The UMass Ski Club is your SPRING BREAK CONNECTION
430 Student Union 545-3437

ARTS

Wheeler Gallery houses a photographic tribute

By ROB SKELTON
Collegian Staff

There is a little-known art gallery on the first floor of Wheeler House near the New Africa House that more people should know about. Especially now, while the exhibition of Rob Miller is being shown, the Wheeler art gallery merits some positive publicity.

Back in the heyday of art openings—when alcohol complemented the cheese and other goodies—a whole subculture of interested (and hungry) artfolks descended upon gallery gatherings with a passionate vengeance. Thursday's opening at Wheeler had some of the ebullience of those glory days, as a cheerful Rob Miller mingled with munching guests while putting the final touches on his display.

Trying to Live the American Dream is Miller's tribute to the hometown and ways of his ancestry, whose history, set mostly in Hull, Massachusetts, is documented by photographic prints and other memorabilia on display at the Wheeler gallery.

One might ask: What's so special about this collection of family souvenirs? Well, have you assembled a gallery history of your family for posterity? Rob Miller has done this, and is to be commended for his historical foresight.

Hull, Massachusetts is an interesting case study in itself. Miller explains its metamorphosis from seaside playground of the rich to the blue-collar amusement park aura which, with the razing of the Paragon, will become a condominium colony for commuting urban professionals.

Miller, who now lives in Marshfield, hails from a family of shopkeepers, mariners, and civic officials whose photographic history is somehow not at all ordinary. This collection may inspire others to think more about their genealogy.

"Trying to Live the American Dream," an exhibit by Robert P. Miller, now appearing at The Wheeler Gallery.

Styles by Deborah

Introduces
CAROL GARDNER
Styles By Deborah is pleased to announce that Carol Gardner has joined its staff of skilled cosmetologists. Carol looks forward to seeing her old friends and welcoming new ones.
For your appointment call
549-5610
65 University Drive, Amherst • 549-5610

SPRINGBREAK
Jamaica from $339
AIR ONLY
FROM $249
★CALL NOW
SEE-TEE!
COUNCIL TRAVEL SERVICES
79 So Pleasant St Amherst

UMass Arts Council
CALL FOR GRANT PROPOSALS
Deadline for submission of grant proposals for single projects or events
TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 4
Grant guidelines and applications available at Arts Council, the Student Activities office, or the Arts Extension Service
Arts Council 125 Herter Hall 545-0202

UMOC
UMASS OUTING CLUB
Introductory Meeting
Monday Feb. 3 at 7:00 PM
in Student Union Ballroom
if you are interested in the outdoors and all the activities that it can offer
Join Us Monday
For further info call or visit the UMOC Office SUB 428B 545-3131

FIGHT FAT
Until Friday,
February 7th you can work out at
the BODY SHOP FITNESS CENTERS for FREE!!!
Our friendly and knowledgeable staff will answer your questions and demonstrate our state-of-the-art Hydrafitness equipment.
EXERCISE WITH A FRIEND AND SAVE $$$$
Sign up with a friend and get the 2nd membership* at 1/2 PRICE!!
THE BODY SHOP
TWO CONVENIENT CAMPUS LOCATIONS:
Boyden & Totman
7:30 - 9:00 am
12:00 - 1:00 pm
4:00 - 6:00 pm
Still only $45/semester !
* ½ price for first time members only

Collegian photo by Rob Skelton

Left: Barry Tuckwell, renowned French horn soloist, performed Friday night at the newly renovated Bowker auditorium. Right: Fred Tillis, Fine Arts Center director, examines the renovations at an opening reception Friday afternoon.

Ameriprint
FILM DEVELOPING
2 for 1
Offer Valid Feb. 3 thru 14
C-41 Process 110, 126, 135 on Disc
Standard Size and Finish Only.
AVAILABLE AT
University Store
Mini Store
Worcester Munchy
Hampden Munchy
We use only Kodak paper, Kodak chemicals, and Kodak's TECHNET™ center for computerized quality control.
Kodak Color Processing System
Member 1985-86

Bowker changes opening highlight

By MICHAEL GERVASI
Collegian Correspondent

The Springfield Symphony Chamber Orchestra with guest conductor and horn soloist Barry Tuckwell opened the newly renovated Bowker Auditorium with a yawn Friday night.

The new auditorium was given a lot of work and it really shows; it is now quite an elegant hall. Perfectly sized for smaller groups that might be swallowed up by a stage the size of the FAC, the intimate Bowker will host ensembles such as the Guaneri String Quartet and the Bill Cratty Dance Theatre, as well as solo performers such as Tuckwell.

Barry Tuckwell, a native of Australia, has held some impressive posts such as first horn chair of the London Symphony Orchestra and chairman of its Board of Directors. As well as making a career of touring as a guest soloist for different groups, he has also conducted such ensembles as the San Francisco ymphony and the Pittsburgh Symphony.

As for Friday's show, it was a bit spotty. They kicked off with Schubert's Symphony No. 5 in B-flat major, D. 485. It seemed to take the group a little while to warm up to the first movement, but when they got together they played brightly and with quite a lot of energy. The middle two movements didn't fare quite so well, however. They felt a bit sluggish and there was an inertia against which the conductor seemed to be fighting. But again the last movement was played tightly and with good balance.

The soloist played the second piece, Concerto No. 2 for Horn and Orchestra in E-flat major, K.417 by Mozart, with a lot of control. Throughout the whole piece, the orchestra and the horn worked very well together making the piece quite exciting. Especially in the second movement, the solo part fit very well into the rest of the music.

After the intermission, they came back with their final two pieces, Concerto No. 1 for Horn and Orchestra in D major by Haydn and Symphony No. 29 in A major, K. 201 by Mozart. The first makes effective use of the solo instrument and was played reasonably well. However, neither was played with the excitement and energy that the composers called for, both feeling a little bottom heavy.

COLLEGIAN Arts show you a good time!

Don't be left out in the cold
UMASS SKI CLUB GOES DOWN TO NASSAU BAHAMAS
SPRING BREAK 86
From $349 Complete
For more info contact:
The UMass Ski Club
your SPRING BREAK CONNECTION
430 Student Union 545-3437

JOHNNY WINTER
UPC Presents
A Blues Extravaganza!
and Special Guest
TUES. FEB. 25th
S.U.B. 8 pm
Tickets $9.00 in advance
$10.00 at the door
Tickets on sale 2/6/86 At Tix Unlimited For the Record (Faces) and Main St Records
No cans, bottles or recording devices

JEWISH PROTESTANT ROMAN CATHOLIC TRIALOGUE

A rare opportunity to discuss issues such as abortion, interfaith marriage, and an understanding of Jesus in an interfaith context. Rabbi Saul Perlmutter, Father Joe Quigley, Reverand Chris Carlisle and Reverand Esther Hargis will lead discussion on these sensitive issues and also help to understand prayer, holiday celebrations, ritual objects and denominations of our various traditions. Tuesdays, 2:30-3:45.

Judaic Studies 191E –420733
Herter 119 One Credit
Starting February 4
Bring Add/Drop form to Student Union 302
First Session of course

OPEN RUSH
BKΦ
ALL UNIVERSITY MEN INVITED

1984-85 Stephen Davis Memorial Award and Olympus Cup
BETA KAPPA PHI

- Two time Greek & Campus Intramural Champs
- Home cooked meals
- Outstanding social life
- Close to Campus
- High academic standing

BKΦ
388 N. Pleasant
253-9071

Monday, Feb 3 9-11 pm Movies & Tours "Refreshments"
Tuesday, Feb. 4 9-11 pm Movies & Tours "Refreshments"
Wednesday, Feb. 5 9-11 pm Movies & Tours "Refreshments"
COME SEE WHAT BETA PHI
HAS TO OFFER YOU

NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY
The Massachusetts Daily
COLLEGIAN
RSO-UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS-AMHERST 113 CAMPUS CENTER 545-3500 VOLUME CXVI ISSUE 3

wants YOU

if you like to write and are interested in News, Sports, Arts, Black Affairs, Women's Issues, the Ed/Op page, or all of the above. Come learn valuable skills and experience the excitement of New England's largest college daily.

We are also accepting applications for paid positions:

ASSISTANT TO THE EDITORS

Organizes awareness workshops and instructional sessions, takes notes at weekly Board of Editors meetings, works with editors on recruitment of staff. Apply to Ian or Dode in newsroom.

COPY EDITOR

Works a weeknight, 7 p.m. to around midnight. Writes headlines, checks news copy. Requirements: Perfect grammar and spelling, willingness to do reporting and writing during the rest of the week. Apply to Ian in newsroom.

U M A S S
SPRING

IT'S NOT TOO LATE TO REGISTER!

Continuing Education Classes
and University Day Classes
Register through February 10
Registration Office
Division of Continuing Education
University Library
8:30 a.m.-7 p.m., Mon.-Thurs.;
8:30 a.m.-5 p.m., Fri.; and
10 a.m.-1 p.m., Sat. (2/1 & 2/8)
Late registration fee and permission of instructor necessary.
Pick up a catalog on campus or call 545-2414 for more information.

DOONESBURY GARRY TRUDEAU

THE FAR SIDE BY GARY LARSON

"Oo, Sylvia! You've got to see this! ... Ginger's bringing Bobby home, and even though her jaws can crush soup bones, Bobby only gets a few nicks and scratches."

FREAKER PATROL BY DOWE & O'BRIEN

HOUSEMATES BY R.MILLER

GORDY BY GORDE

BLOOM COUNTY BY BERKE BREATHED

Anyone interested in writing for the Collegian is invited to a FREE SCREENING of

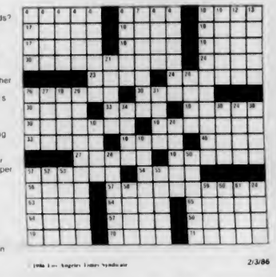
ALL THE PRESIDENT'S MEN

starring Dustin Hoffman, Robert Redford

Thursday 7:30 p.m. Campus Ctr. 165-69

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Edited by Trude Michel Jaffe



ACROSS
1 Babel: for one
6 Yardarm
10 Choreographer's concern
14 Expunge
15 Hockey goal
16 Architect's billet
17 Works in publishing
18 Composer Wilder
19 Boxer Max
20 Gold source
22 Tired's companion
23 Attention-getting sound
24 Fastnbous
26 Take potluck
30 Copycats
32 Winged
33 Road runner
35 —— of time
39 Riviera et al.
41 Calgary's province
43 Sauce for pasta
44 Take to 46 Creeks
47 Actress Uta
49 Ledger goods?
51 Vocal beginning
54 Economize
56 Rare bird
57 New Year's eve figure
63 Regan's father
64 Goat car
65 Clementine's dad
66 Breezy farewell
67 Major ending
68 Church instrument
69 Wooden bar
70 Owner's paper
71 Carols

DOWN
1 Abound
2 Church calendar
3 Be patient
4 Bait
5 Close again
6 Warm up for Battle
7 California observatory
8 Regained
9 Fall back
10 Sentimentalists of journalism
11 Bride's follower?
12 Put in office
13 Animated
21 Mitchell's Butler
25 Kuwait resident
26 John Irving hero
27 Helm order
28 Large amount
29 Reagan Wyman film: 1938
31 Top
34 Capri, e.g.
36 Great Lake
37 RBI, for one
38 Moscow press org.
40 Gad about
42 Time off
45 Put in office
48 Quite bright
50 Homily
51 Dunces
52 "Love Story" star
53 Guant ranch
55 Ottoman sultan
58 Commedia dell' ——
59 Beginner
60 Picnic author
61 Repast
62 Shore skimmers

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

B	U	R	T		R	C	M	P		C	A	R	O	M
A	V	E	R		O	H	I	O		O	T	A	R	Y
R	E	D	U	N	D	A	N	T		M	O	N	A	T
B	A	S	S	O		M	E	T	U	P	W	I	T	H
			S	E	E	P		E	T	A		D	E	S
C	B	C		T	I	R	E	D		S
R	E	A	L		T	O	E		C	O	L	I	C
I	M	P	E	C	U	N	I	O	U	S	P	O	O	R
B	A	S	I	L		M	C	S		S	O	D	I	A
			S	E	N	E	S	C	E	N	O	R
O	R	O		A	R	A		I	O	O
B	A	R	E	N	A	K	E	D		M	E	A	N	T
E	L	L	I	S		I	R	E	L	A	N	D	E	R
A	L	O	N	E		N	I	N	E		T	A	T	E
H	Y	P	E	R		S	E	T	A		O	M	S	K

2/3/86

MENU

Lunch
Italian Tomato Soup
Hamburger on a roll
Tuna Oriental Chow Mein Noodles
French Fries
Basics Lunch
Oat Burgers
Tuna Oriental Chow Mein Noodles
Brown Rice Zucchini

Dinner
BBQ Chicken
Pineapple Ham Steak
Mashed Potatoes
Corn Kernels
Green Beans

Basics Dinner
BBQ Chicken
Egg and Cheddar
Florentine
Bulghur Wheat

Weather

Today: Sunny, high around 40 degrees.
Tonight: Mostly cloudy, with increasing cloudiness late, lows in the upper teens.
Tomorrow: Snow or rain possible, high in the mid 20s.

Staff

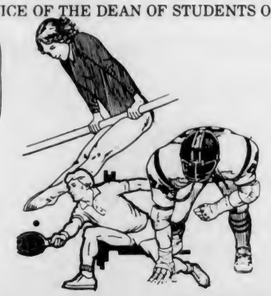
Today's Staff:

Night Editor.....John Yonce
Copy Editor.....Ian Polumbaum
Layout Technician.....Peter Soderberg
Photo Technician.....Rob Skelton
Production Supervisor.....Peter Soderberg
Production: Laura Bell, Connie LeClerc, Jim Podesky, Jennifer Coles, Conor Plunkett.

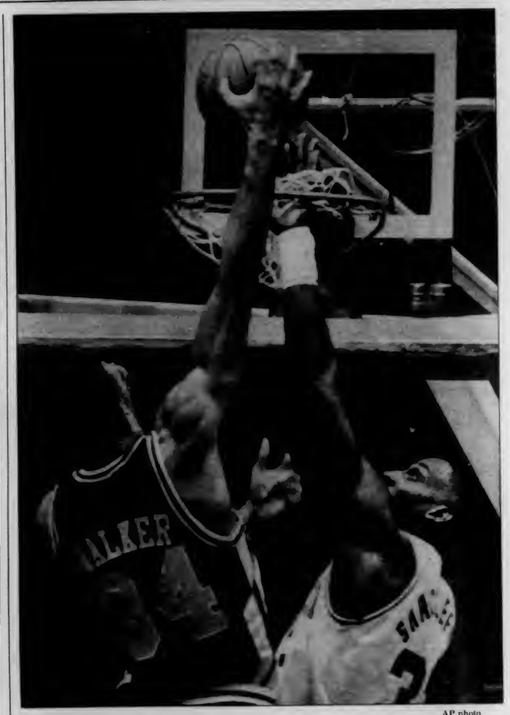
The Massachusetts Daily Collegian (USPS permit #58), a Registered Student Organization at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, is published Monday through Friday excluding holidays, exams and vacations periods. Content is determined solely by the Collegian Board of Editors without prior approval from University administrators, faculty or staff. Operations are funded solely by advertising and subscriptions revenue. Subscriptions and advertising rates are available at 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Mass. 01003, (413) 545-3500. Postmaster: send address changes to the above address.

ATLETIC FACILITIES
at UMass

For information on Athletic Facilities and events at UMass call:



TAPED INFORMATION PHONE SERVICE
545-1540



Ask for tapes by number

2453	Gym Schedule
2459	Pool Schedule
2471	Racquetball/Squash Court Schedules
2476	Weight Room Schedule
2477	Athletic Events
2678	Intramurals at UMass

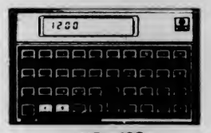
For a complete listing of information tapes, come by the IDB-TIPS Office in Whitmore Rm. 227

A SERVICE OF THE DEAN OF STUDENTS OFFICE

AP photo

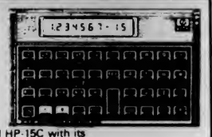
North Carolina State's Charles Shackleford, right, tries to stop Kentucky's Kenny Walker, left. The hoop counted, but N.C. State won, 54-51.

CALCULATOR CENTER

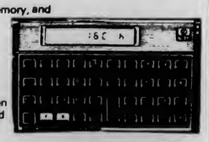


Basic Business Scientific

PRICE BREAK!



HP-11c
$50.00
List. $56.00



Dedicated scientific functions for quick answers to computations
Easy-to-learn programming with up to 203 program lines
Handy program editing tools
Continuous Memory saves your programs and data
HP-11C Slim-line Programmable Scientific

HP - 12C
$99.00
list 120.00

Let the Hewlett-Packard HP-15C with its powerful functions and advanced programmability eliminate your most tedious calculations.
Matrix operations
Complex functions
Solve and Integrate
448 program lines
Insert/delete editing
RPN logic, Continuous Memory, and liquid-crystal display
$89.00
list $99.00

HP 16C
$99.00
org list 120.00

See how the Hewlett-Packard HP-16C can save you time with its built-in functions and advanced programmability
Binary, octal, decimal, hexadecimal conversions and operations
Boolean AND, OR, NOT, XOR
203 program lines or 101 16-bit data registers
Sets word size, 1's and 2's complement, unsigned modes
Floating-point decimal mode
RPN logic, Continuous Memory, and liquid-crystal display

PERSONAL COMPUTER DEALER

Other HP Calculators available at comparable savings

Store Hours:
M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3

Located in the Campus Center

UNIVERSITY STORE

West Virginia trips Duquesne, 81-72

Senior guard Dale Blaney scored 26 points, including 17 in the first half, as West Virginia University took an 81-72 decision from Duquesne University in Atlantic 10 Conference action on Saturday.

The Mountaineers, 10-1 in the league, snapped a two-game losing streak and went to 15-7 on the season with the victory.

The game was one of spurts, but the Dukes (10-9) never held the lead after a 2-0 margin close to three minutes into the game.

WVU took a 16-6 lead with 11:33 left in the half, but Duquesne cut that lead to 20-18 with 6:25 to go.

The half, a rough one that saw 22 fouls called, ended with the Mountaineers holding a 32-26 advantage.

West Virginia scored the first six points of the second half, four by Blaney, and went up 38-26. The Dukes didn't fold, and Dwayne Rawls' hoop with 10:36 left tied the game at 46. He missed a foul shot that could've given Duquesne the lead.

After a tie at 51, West Virginia began a run that sealed the game, scoring the next ten points and eventually building a 15-point lead at 77-62 with 1:22 to go. Duquesne fell to 5-5 in the conference.

★ women's hoop

continued from page 16

crease their already comfortable lead to a huge one of 32 points, 64-32 with 14:20 left.

The Minute women committed a season high 30 turnovers on the afternoon that contributed to their poor all-around play.

"We didn't even get a mediocre effort this afternoon," said UMass head coach Barbara Stevens. "It was just a poor performance, we are a much better team but no one would know that by today's game."

"We were intimidated," Stevens added. Intimidated was right. Rutgers was powered by All-American candidate Sue Wicks. The 6-2 sophomore scored 19 points, blocked four shots and grabbed six rebounds as the catalyst of the Rutgers fast break.

Rutgers was led by 6-2 junior center Regina Howard with 22 points. UM was paced by senior guard Barbara Hebel with 11 points. Wilbor and Matthews added 10.

"We need to re-group, the kids are discouraged," said Stevens. "We have to come up with a better effort against the better teams."

UM now has a week off to prepare for the stretch run of their conference schedule, starting with St. Joseph's on Saturday at the Curry Hicks Cage (1 p.m.).

★ swimmers win

continued from page 16

UMass now has to wait until next Saturday for their next opponent, the University of New Hampshire. "We'll be backing off the yardage to tune up for the championship meets. The Atlantic-10 meet will be good experience for the New England meet. We have two weeks off before New Englands (after the Atlantic-10's) to be ready. I really like the schedule," Yarworth said.

After the New England meet, the season ends for most swimmers but for one UMass star and maybe another, it could go on to the national NCAA championships. Donovan missed last year's meet by .05, this year he is hoping to qualify in three freestyle events, the 200, 500, and 50. Turner also has an outside chance but, he must cut off five seconds off his 200 backststroke record to make it.

Amherst Ballet Center
29 Strong Street
10-week adult evening courses starting Feb. 3
BALLET
MODERN DANCE
JAZZ
All Levels
Call 549-1555

For Less Than The Price of A Lift Ticket Alone...
Peter Pan's Stratton Mt. Express Package Combines Transportation and Skiing Fun From $25.00

Now-March 16, 1986
Stratton

Package Includes:
Round-trip transportation and a day's lift ticket for just $25.00 Tuesday, Thursday and $27.00 on Sunday ... less than you'd pay for a lift ticket alone. A great value to stretch your skiing dollar and your skiing fun. Arrive at Stratton Mt. at 9:00 a.m. Advanced reservations only.
Tickets available at all local college campuses and at the local Peter Pan Bus Terminal. For further information on pick up points and reservations call 781-2900 Ext. 253

Group Charter Packages:
There are also special packages for groups available at reduced rates. Peter Pan offers door to door charter service every day throughout the week at substantial savings for your group. Contact the Charter Department for group rate information at 781-2900

The People Professionals
Peter Pan Bus Lines, Inc.
1776 Main St., P.O. Box 1776
Springfield, MA • 781-2900
MA Toll Free 1-800-332-8995

PIKE TKA
Spring '86 Rush

Rush PIKE, and be part of
- The Largest Fraternity on campus
- Greek area Football, Basketball, Softball and Track champions
- The Fraternity that has raised over $70,000 for the fight against Multiple Sclerosis

Rush, including Free Refreshments, are:
Monday, Feb. 3rd
Tuesday, Feb. 4th 9-11
Thursday, Feb. 6th

545-2150 418 N. Pleasant

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Come to Collegian Office CC 113 • 8:45-3:45 Mon-Thurs; 8:45-2:30 Fri • Deadline is 2 days prior to publication day
Cash in advance • Phone number FREE

ABBY ROSENFELD

Retrieve belongings Tuesday 4th, 4:00'

ACTIVITIES

UPC General Meeting security, stagecrew, hospitalities, promotion. Come see what we're all about!! Tuesday, February 4, 101CC at 6:30

WSYL first organizational meeting on Thursday 2/6 CC 174, 7:00 new members welcome

AUTO FOR SALE

1978 Plymouth Horizon 4 spd 4 dr reliable transportation $1000 or BO 665-8335

1979 VW Rabbit 5 speed, good condition. $1200. Geoff, 259-1582

1975 VW Rabbit. 79,000 miles, mags, stereo, sunroof. Runs well. $950. 259-1582

VW Superbeetle, 1973 good condition. $1200.00 as is or best offer. Call 253-5790 after 7:00 pm

1975 Plymouth Fury, good condition must sell, $400.00 tel 584-9362, 665-3207

1977 Ford Van, 4 Captains chair, table, sunroof, 6 cyl-auto $2200 call 549-7825 or 545-0696

1978 Datsun B210GX 5-speed AM-FM cassette excellent condition $950 or BO call 549-0425

72 VW Beetle semi-automatic dependable $275 586-7088

Is it true you can buy jeeps for $44 through the U.S. government? Get the facts today! Call 1-312-742-1142 ext 9851-A

BED & BREAKFAST

Parents visiting? AMITY HOUSE is a cozy, convenient alternative for non-smokers in the heart of town. B & B for 2: $45.60. U Mass discount $5.00. Call 549-6446

"CASH"

Paying cash for your baseball cards Please call Mike 546-6105

ENTERTAINMENT

MOBILE MUSIC INC Disks spun to your

FOR RENT

3 bedroom apt Belchertown on bus route $625/mo includes heat, water 323-5907

Fridge Rentals free delivery R & F Package store 253-9742

Riverglade Apt for rent two bedroom call Terry 549-7476

Available one room in spacious apartment at bus stop. Five miles from campus $133/month includes elec & hot water call anytime 253-3825

Female 23°, nonsmoker housemate needed own room, ranch house, $150°, Hadley 586-7815

Rooms Available Delta Chi Fraternity, excellent home cooked meals, near Southwest. 1 double, 1 single open. Call 549-6261 for info

Large studio apt w/fireplace, private bath and kitchen. $385, includes heat. Steve 549-0859 anytime

Large room available immediately in 3 bedroom house. ½ mile from campus call anytime 256-0049

FOR SALE

New Tandy 1000 includes double disk dr, keyboard monitor. Also a PFS write and desk mate program 1,900 call Larri after 7:00 665-4991

Lange mens ski boots size 9½ mint cond $65. Rick 546-8856

Desk. Large, 4-drawer, hardwood with large surface. Good condition. $90.00 or best offer. Call 253-5790 after 7 pm

Fridge, Dorm size good condition $50 ask for Neal 549-6138

Pioneer car amp $50 BO Pioneer cassette deck $20 Mark 546-9321

Rossignol 180S exc cond 125 or BO also dorm fridge WFG 253-9509

Dorm Fridge $40 or BO 549-5184 after 5

FOUND

A puppy (about 4 weeks old) black and tan. Part German Shepard. Found at Puffton Village Jan 29 Please call 549-7449

HAPPY BELATED BIRTHDAY DIANE

I'm really sorry that I forgot; will you forgive me? Happy Birthday to a really sweet person. Your absent-minded friend

HAPPY 21st HOPE

Our door is always open! Love, Darra & Dianna

HELP WANTED

Do you like lobster? Do you like great homecooked meals! Need Springbreak money! Only a few hours per week. Great atmosphere. Call Jim 545-2150

Entry Level Marketing Position in local multi-million dollar firm hourly wages starting from 4 to 5 dollars, plus paid sales commission Matt: 584-3596

Weekly pay for newspaper delivery in dorms. Must be able to deliver 7 days/week. Pay is variable. No car needed. Call evenings 253-7069

Federal Overseas, Nationwide Jobs! $17,101-$61,104! Summer. Career! Call Guidedirectory. Applications, Listings, Newsservice! (916) 944-4444 ext G.S. 161

INSTRUCTION

Know your car. Basic Automobile Workshop. 28 hours including classroom and shop. Limited enrollment. 253-2098

Music and Dance Instruction. Performing Arts Division, register by Wednesday, February 5. UMass student discounts available. Old Chapel/UMass 545-0519

Private Guitar Lessons. Experienced and patient teacher. Rock/Pop/Folk/Blues. Improvisation, Reading, Theory, Composition. Your home or my studio. Doug 549-4786

JOURNALISM EXPERIENCE

Bring the news of your school to the five college area. Gain valuable experience reporting for an award winning newspaper. Contact: DAILY COLLEGIAN 545-3500

LOST

On 1-21-86 black dog approximately 1 year old 45 lb answers to George. Please call 549-4160 with any info

Dog tan color part Lab & German Shep. Vicinity of Brown dorm. Named Scotch Reward 200.00 546-5833 or 413 586-4772

MOVER

'Round Town Movers fast, reliable, cheap. Call Michael anytime 323-6780

OVEREATING

CAN'T STOP OVEREATING? Get "50 Quick Ways to Stop a Binge Once It Starts". Send $4.95 to Elke, Dept. CB186, 605 Leland, St. Louis MO 63130

PERSONALS

STOLEN blue CB ski jacket, gloves and scarf from 8 Brandywine party on 1/17. Please return no questions asked! Call 256-1719

Congratulations Ilene!!! No more looking at those beautiful men! Love Maureen and Alex

HAPPY BIRTHDAY COLLEEN KELLS

To the king, thanks for 2 lovely nights at the Pub, now its my turn. I really hate to see your crown get tarnished.

Looking for Christian Fellowship? Alliance Christian Fellowship Thursday 2/6 7:15 Campus Center

Madog says LAGNAFP

Get the most from your workout. Call Mal for supplements at reduced prices. 546-7549

$550 • REWARD

For takeover of ¼ of lease. 15 min drive from campus, Leverett, Sg. w/lg. living rm (fireplace) and lg. kitch. new furniture and shower. Full tank of oil. $178 mo Judy at 1-267-3385 nights

RIDERS WANTED

Tuesdays and Thursdays from Amherst to Boston and back call 549-7587 Claudia

ROOM WANTED

Help female looking for a room to stay as soon as possible. Please call early mornings or evenings keep trying 253-2401

ROOMMATE WANTED

Female nonsmoker to share room in Brandywine call anytime 549-6037

Female to share room in Southwood townhouse for spring semester call 253-9413

Female roommate wanted to share bedroom in two bedroom Brandywine apt. no security deposit required. Call before 3:30 pm 549-4824

Northampton one bedroom in two bedroom apt River Run 225$ need car 584-1293

Looking for a female to share a two bedroom apt you will have your own room. Close to campus. Call Yasmin 549-0926

1 male roommate for Brittany call 256-0682

Brandywine call Mike after 5 549-6289

Female roommate needed to share a room call 256-1663

Female need to share room in Brittany Manor call 253-7857

Summer on Cape Cod roommates wanted excellent location in Hyannisport $850 for season from Memorial-Labor Day. Call now! 546-5288

Single room for rent in 8 bedroom home bordering U Mass. $250 + utilities mo. Call John or Pat at 549-6364 house has 2½ bathrooms, lg. living room, lg. yard, 2 kitchens call anytime

Wanted 2 roommates male or female 5 minutes from campus Rt 9 call anytime 584-4601

One bedroom in two bedroom townhouse in Sunderland on bus route 225 each plus brand new, porch 665-7907 or 665-3414

Female roommate wanted for Brittany apt call now at 253-2420

Brittany Manor apt male roommate rent: 150.00 call 549-6014 253-7004

SERVICES

Typing. Fast, accurate. Call anytime. 665-7652

Lynne Hara Esq. P.C. Immigration Law evening appointments call Springfield Office 781-6370 or 665-8513

Light Moving with Toyota truck call 549-2649

Tailor for all kinds of alterations. Fast service, reasonable prices at SHAANN's Hampshire Mall 584-9362

TAX SOFTWARE

Integrated Federal, Mass forms from $59 call TaxHelp 256-0642

TRAVEL

SPRING BREAK on the beach at South Padre Island, Daytona Beach, Fort Lauderdale, Fort Walton Beach or Mustang Island/Port Aransas from only $69, and skiing at Steamboat or Vail from only $86! Deluxe lodging, parties, goodie bags, more... Hurry, call Sunchase Tours for more information and reservations toll free 1-800-321-5911 TODAY! When your Spring Break counts...count on Sunchase

WANTED

Attention: Adrian Scott is now auditioning Springsteen and similarly influenced musicians for an original/cover band that will play the college/club circuit. Have rehearsal space and studio. If you are an interested lead guitarist/bassist/drummer/keyboardist, call 546-5806

Help I need a bed!! Selling one? Call Jack 256-6064

We're looking to take over a lease in Brandywine or Townehouse apts for fall semester 86 please call 6-1137 or 6-9548

WANTED TO RENT

Need a room? Chi Omega provides a 21 meal plan (homecooked of course); double-occupancy rooms; on bus route but within walking distance. Any woman interested should call Mardee at 545-0162 or 545-2092

Promising new band desperately seeking a place to rehearse for spring semester preferably on or near U Mass campus Contact Scott at 546-5144

Single room wanted: female, non-smoker, responsible, would like a quiet room at a reasonable price. Call 665-2469

Road woes continue for UMass

• Temple pounds men, 69-38

PHILADELPHIA—Shooting a terrible 33 percent from the floor, the University of Massachusetts men's basketball team suffered a 69-38 loss to Temple University on Saturday.

Scoring the fewest points since a 50-36 loss to Penn State in 1980, UMass fell to 6-13 on the season and 3-7 in the Atlantic 10, tied for seventh. The Minutemen, 0-9 on the road this season, will try and rebound at St. Bonaventure tonight at 7:30 p.m.

Temple led 32-18 at halftime and was never in serious trouble. UMass got within nine, 36-27, with 15:11 left, but a 14-4 run by the Owls (15-3, 7-2) gave them a 50-31 lead and the game.

Sophomore forward Lorenzo Sutton, despite six-of-18 shooting, led UMass in scoring for the 10th straight time with 13 points. Freshman center John Milum added nine points and eight rebounds. Freshman guard David Brown added eight. Only five Minutemen scored in the game as Carl Smith contributed six and Duane Chase two.

Temple was led by guard Ed Coe with 16 points, including the 1,000th of his career on a jumper with 7:45 left in the game. Foward Tim Perry added 10 points and eight rebounds for the Owls. Point guard Nate Blackwell had ten points and eight assists. The Owls were 32-of-63 from the floor and five-of-nine at the line. UMass bent the rim at 17-of-51 from the floor. They were four-of-six at the line.

In other A-10 games, West Virginia downed Duquesne, 81-72 to go to 10-1 in the league. It was Penn State (4-7) over Rutgers (2-9), 74-59 while George Washington (3-7) handed URI a 79-71 setback. The other game saw St. Joseph's defeat St. Bonaventure, 73-65.

• Rutgers rips women, 95-55

By ROB ROSE
Collegian Correspondent

PISCATAWAY, N.J.—Tenth-ranked Rutgers University used a 12-0 run early in the first half to blow open a close game enroute to a decisive 95-55 victory Saturday over the University of Massachusetts women's basketball team.

The loss drops the Minutewomen to 9-11, 2-8 in the Atlantic 10 Conference. Rutgers improved its record to 18-2, and 9-0 in the A-10. The Scarlet Knights are the only undefeated team in the league.

Rutgers opened the game with a 6-0 spurt, but a 20-foot jump shot by UMass senior forward Juanita Matthews cut the deficit to four, 14-10 with 13:34 remaining in the first half.

The Knights then went on their 12-0 run over the next four minutes, all but shutting the door on the slumping Minutewomen, who have lost six straight league games and six of their last seven games overall.

Freshman forward Beth Wilbor broke the scoreless streak for UM with a 12-footer at the 9:07 mark to cut the RU lead to 14, 26-12.

Saturday's game was homecoming of sorts for Wilbor, who attended Hunterdon Central High near the Rutgers Campus. Wilbor did not disappoint the hometown crowd, scoring all ten of her points in the first half to keep UM within reach somewhat, 41-26 at halftime.

The second half started out with both teams trading hoops for the first three minutes. A 12-footer by Matthews (10 points) kept the Minutewomen close at 47-32. However, the Knights then showed why they rule the A-10.

Rutgers, taking advantage of a flurry of UMass turnovers, went on a 17-0 run to in-

continued on page 15

SPORTS

Gymnasts edge past Stroudsberg

By STUART GOTTLIEB
Collegian Staff

In a stunning upset, the University of Massachusetts men's gymnastics team defeated East Stroudsburg University, 255.35-250.90 Saturday afternoon at the Boyden Gymnastics Center.

The Warriors, last season's ECAC Division II champions, came into Boyden trying to up their record to 2-2, but instead walked away with a record of 1-3 and all the excuses in the world.

ESU head coach Keith Avery blamed such things as "faulty equipment" for his team's loss, but was most intent on blaming the officiating.

"The judging was extremely biased," Avery said after the meet, "How can I keep my guy's motivated when all the scores are coming up against us? Not only would we have had to beat the UMass gymnastics team today, but we would also have had to beat the judges. It's a disgrace."

Avery also said that he was going to write a letter to the commissioner of the ECAC to inform them of the "blatent show of bias" he has seen in all of his away matches this season.

UMass coach Roy Johnson, informed of Avery's reaction to the meet, said that he felt the opposing coach was overreacting.

"The judges showed a little bias," Johnson said after tl victory, which upped the Minutemen reci rd to 3-2, "But it was nothing worse than the bias expected for the home team."

Johnson also felt his team outplayed the Warriors. "Once Avery reviews the films he'll see just how many areas he has to clean up," the coach said. "It was a legitimate win by all means!"

The big difference in the meet was on the pommel horse, the second of six events. UMass had six consistent efforts, topped off by Steve Baia's 8.85, while the Warriors had several slip-up's. UMass took that event 39.2 to 36.80, setting the tone for the rest of the meet.

Also, the Warriors weren't as tough on vaulting as Johnson expected. "We were under the impression that vaulting was their strong point," Johnson said. "I was glad to see us take them in that event."

The coach had praise for the whole team's performance and said that their hard work is finally paying off.

Top all-around gymnasts Jay Ronayne and Roberto Weil both sophomores were at their usual level of consistency.

Weil, with an all-around score of 52.10 (tops in the meet), feels that he is finally reaching his mid-season potential.

"The past two meets I didn't feel as though I was doing very well" Weil said, "But now I feel really good and expect to stay up in the low 50's for the rest of the season."

Ronayne said that his new move on the pommel horse, the durham, one of the most difficult moves on the horse, is the key to his overall success.

"I just learned it two days before the meet," he explained. "I was glad to see it made a difference." Ronayne's score of 6.35 on the horse was the highest total of his career.

On the women's front, UMass experienced another tough defeat, this time at the hands of Cornell, 164.40-164.20. UMass is now 2-4 on the season after a series of narrow defeats.

Collegian photo by Rob Skelton

Sophomore Roberto Weil is a study of concentration during Saturday's gymnastics action at Boyden. UMass defeated East Stroudsberg, 255.35-250.90

Swimmers still undefeated

UM rolls over Vermont, 68-45

BY JOE ROBERTS
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts men's swim team improved its record to 10-0 with a 68-45 win at the University of Vermont, Saturday afternoon in Burlington.

UMass set pool records in the 500 freestyle and the 400 freestyle relay in easily handling UVM.

"We could have beat them 80-30 but we had people swim off events. Tim Flannery and John Turner both stayed home. Flannery wasn't feeling too well and a six hour bus ride wouldn't do Turner's sore back much good," Minutemen coach Russ Yarworth said.

The 500 freestyle pool record was set by undefeated UMass senior Drew Donovan in 4:44.6. Donovan was a key throughout the meet as he was part of both winning relay teams. Jim Kuhns, Paul McDonough, Mike Hoover and Donovan teamed to set the other pool record in the 400 freestyle relay in 3:14.6.

The Minutemen won the 400 medley relay also. Marc Surette, Fred Marius, Donovan, and Kuhns took the event in 3:45.4.

The 1650 freestyle and 400 individual medley events were included in this meet in order for swimmers to be ready for the New England meet later this month as both events are in the New England meet but not normally in dual events. UM's Rick Bishop won the 1650 freestyle in 17:10.87 and McDonough won the 400 IM in 4:25.5.

Ed Burton won the 200 backstroke in 2:04.8 and Marius won the 200 breaststroke in 2:18.7.

Pat Mullen in gearing up for New Englands was "trying some new tricks" according to Yarworth, and placed second in both diving events.

continued on page 15

Sports at a Glance

UMass Schedule:
Today: Men's Basketball: St. Bonaventure, 7:30 p.m.

NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY

The Massachusetts Daily
COLLEGIAN

RSO-UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS-AMHERST 113 CAMPUS CENTER 545-3500 VOLUME CXVI ISSUE 6

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1986

INSIDE

•Reagan appoints Shuttle commission. Page 3.
• Anorexia topic of Memorial Hall lecture. Page 3.
• St. Boneventure downs UMass — 78-60. Page 12.

Rostow mulls war and peace

By LESLEY CLARK
Collegian Staff

International law through fair practice is the only alternative to anarchy and tryanny, a former director of the US Arms Control and Disarmament Agency said last night.

Eugene V. Rostow, speaking to a near capacity crowd in Converse Assembly Hall at Amherst College said the concept of law naturally pervades the system of peace.

"The law of peace implies a quality of relationships, such that no state, no citizen within that state, fear violence," he said.

Rostow said peace is a matter of degrees.

"Most peaceful societies endure disturbances -- a few brawls on Saturday nights – this is not evidence of disintegration, but a warning that the laws have fallen behind and that it is time for a change."

Rostow said the Roman Empire and Pax Britainnica Europe (Europe 1815-1915) were models of peace.

"Rome with its military domination and Europe, a pluralistic grouping of independent states," he said. "What will the future hold? A Pax Sovietacana? A Pax Americana? Or will we continue as a model of turbulence?"

Rostow said the idea of achieving peace through a deliberate effort of diplomacy such as the United Nations was the best effort of modern governance.

"The state system is not self-regulating like the solar system," he said.

Every breakdown of international peace has been followed by an attempt to rebuild and improve it, Rostow said.

"The United Nations was created out of a revulsion of war in an attempt to prohibit aggression, except the sovereign rights of the state to defend itself," he said.

Collegian photo by Brian Guarnotta

Eugene V. Rostow at Amherst College last night.

"Achieving genuine world peace is a dire necessity," Rostow said, citing Soviet expansionism and "nuclear and other monstrous weapons."

Rostow backed the US policy of sending aid to Nicaragua.

"Nicaragua has been backing an attack on El Salvador and as such, has violated the United Nations charter," he said. "Under existing international laws what we are doing in Nicaragua is legal."

Rostow will speak at 4 p.m. today in Converse Assembly Room on "What is the American National Interest?"

Rostow, the director of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency from 1981 to 1983, was undersecretay of state from 1966 to 1969 and has written several books on law and foreign policy.

Area coordinator pushes RA program

By ANITA L. ROYE
Collegian Staff

In response to a decrease in applications for Resident Assistant (R.A.) positions at the University of Massachusetts, the coordinator for the Northeast and Sylvan Residential Area has devised a campus-wide information campaign.

"We want to educate a lot of people as to what the job really entails. Many are misinformed," Michele Cucuzzo, the coordinator, said.

The program includes information sessions, hand-outs and staffing an information table in the Campus Center Concourse later this month.

"Being an R.A. has been a unique experience. I've learned skills such as assertiveness training, time management and social skills. It's been an experience I want others to have," said Jodi B. Green, a 6th semester R.A. who spearheaded the application drive.

Cucuzzo and Green said they are eager to have the faculty involved in the process and want them to know what the job entails.

Green said the faculty sees the student in the classroom, not before an R.A. selection committee, and this is one aspect of the selection process she wants to change.

"A professor can see a student exhibit qualities before we can, and can suggest to the student to apply for an R.A. position," Cucuzzo said.

An R.A. is an undergraduate student living in the dormitory, who is responsible for enforcing regulations and answering students' questions.

The R.A. receives a single room, a weekly stipend and free room rent. Currently, there are 363 R.A.'s on campus, and the ratio to students is 1:30.

Reading room to have 21 new tape decks

By JOHN VINCENT
Collegian Staff

The music reading room on the Campus Center concourse is being equiped with 21 Hitachi tape decks, said Dudley Bridges, manager of Campus Center Building Operations.

Nine decks have already been installed in the room, which is a public study space for students. University building operations paid $91 each for the tape decks and $19.95 apiece for 25 sets of headphones for a total cost of $2,409.75. Workers also constructed theft-proof protective tables and re-wired the room themselves.

Reading room employees will begin handing out cassettes and headphones by March 1 said Forrest Davies, assistant manager of Building Operations

The old tape system was discontinued after the 1984 spring semester. The system had been there for 15 years and needed continual servicing, Bridges said.

UMass student Erik Marinko likes the new tape decks. He was listening to one of his tapes in the room yesterday afternoon, he said.

"They work very well," he said. "They are good quality tape decks."

Davies said he was aware of the limitations of the tape decks but said, "This is a totally new system to us. We don't know how students will like it, we may have to change it, but we have to give it a fair tryout."

Alex Zucker, chairman of the Campus Center Board of Governors, said there are plans to expand the library of tapes for the room.

Many of the old tapes were stolen, Zucker said, and although building operations used to pay for the tapes, the BOG has now been asked to buy them. That issue Zucker added, has to be settled before any new tapes are bought.

Rep. Conte rails against deficit bill

By IAN POLUMBAUM
Collegian Staff

US Rep. Silvio Conte, R-Pittsfield, yesterday said the Gramm-Rudman deficit-reduction bill will cause $210 million to be slashed from federal student aid programs next year. He vowed to continue his battle, inside and outside the courtroom, against the law.

Conte predicted that because of the cuts in domestic programs the law, passed last December, will call for Congress to choose between repealing the law and raising taxes.

Asked if he would support a tax increase now, he said, "Of course I would ... these programs [have to] keep going."

In a telephone interview from his Washington, D.C., office, the congressman said that in passing Gramm-Rudman, "Congress gave up most of its fundamental constitutional power -- the power of the purse -- to the president." He and 11 other congressmen have filed suit in US District Court in Washington, challenging the constitutionality of the law. Oral arguments were heard by the three-judge panel Jan. 10, and Conte said a decision is expected within three weeks.

Under the 4.3 percent across-the-board cut in non-military funding ordered by President Reagan under the terms of Gramm-Rudman, Conte said total US aid to college students will drop from $4.887 billion to $4.67 billion next year. He said guaranteed student loans will not be affected for the time being, but that recipients of small Pell grants – around $200 or less – "will have those grants reduced or even eliminated."

He said federal aid to work/study programs will be reduced by $25 million.

"Instead of using judgment about what programs should be cut, Gramm-Rudman takes an ax ... to 11 months of work by congressional committees," he said.

Conte said he is not sure whether he and the 11 other representatives, who are all Democrats, will appeal their challenge if it fails in district court.

But he said, "We've got one other avenue left if we lose this case." He predicted that when the fiscal 1987 budget is finished and members of Congress are confronted with even deeper budget cuts, "It'll be the electric shock effect ... They'll all be running and scurrying around" and will have to choose between raising taxes or repealing Gramm-Rudman.

"One or the other's going to happen," he said.

Conte also said Gramm-Rudman will hinder his efforts to secure more US money toward a $24 million polymer research center proposed for UMass/Amherst. Last December he pushed $10 million for the project through Congress by attaching it to a catch-all spending bill. This year, he said, "It's not going to be any cakewalk."

Collegian photo by Brian Guarnotta

CHILLY RUN — Graduate student Phil Graham eludes a snow serpent while jogging in North Amherst yesterday.

Reagan appoints commission to probe space shuttle accident

WASHINGTON (AP) President Reagan yesterday named former Secretary of State William F. Rogers and former astronaut Neil Armstrong to head an independent board to determine what caused last week's space shuttle catastrophe that killed seven astronauts.

Reagan said the presidential commission on the shuttle accident would have 120 days to find out "how it happened and how it can be prevented from happening again."

In a brief announcement at the White House, Reagan said Rogers, who served as secretary of state during the Nixon administration, and Armstrong, the first man to walk on the moon, would serve as chairman and vice chairman of the panel, which will have at least 10 other members, including scientists, government officials, technical experts and private executives.

Reagan, appearing with Rogers, Armstrong and NASA chief William Graham, noted, "It's been almost a week since our nation and family stood together as we watched Challenger slip beyond our grasp...As we move away from that terrible day, we must devote our energies to finding out how it happened and how it can be prevented from happening again."

AP photo

ON GUARD — Minnesota National Guardmen take up positions along the street in front of the Hormel plant yesterday after they were re-deployed by the governor. Striking meatpackers were prevented from carrying out their demonstrations near the plant.

The fastest-growing profession in America.

According to the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, the need for paralegals is about to double.

Now is the time to become a part of this dynamic profession . . . and there is no finer training available than at Philadelphia's acclaimed Institute for Paralegal Training. After just four months of intensive study, we will find you a job in the city of your choice. We are so confident of the marketability of our graduates that we offer a unique tuition refund plan.

To learn how you can add market value to your college degree, return the coupon or call toll-free: 1-800-222-IPLT.

We'll be on campus 2/10/86
Contact your placement office to arrange for an individual interview or group presentation.

Housing and Financial Aid available

THE INSTITUTE FOR PARALEGAL TRAINING

Approved by the American Bar Association

Mail this coupon to: RUMA
Institute for Paralegal Training
1926 Arch Street
Philadelphia, PA 19103
Please send a copy of your catalogue.
Name
Address
City State Zip
College (yr. of grad.)
Phone (present) (home)

EMT's
Join
UMass Fire & First Aid Unit
Work at shows, football games, concerts
CPR recert, CEU's
1st meeting Tuesday, Feb. 4, 1986
at 9:30 PM in Morrill North 406
New Members Welcome
Please bring a copy of your EMT and CPR card

BEDDING
GOOD NIGHT BEDDING
Amherst 549-3507
Carriage Shops
N'hampton 586-0259
122 Main St.
Futons
Matresses and Frames
Queen Size
$100 standard & custom sizes in top quality
chiropractic support stock available now

Le Boudoir
Intimate Fashions
HAPPY VALENTINE'S DAY
Keep romance alive with a gift from Le Boudoir. . .
Soft silk teddies, romantic nightgowns cascading with lace, silk bras, bikinis, and garter belts.
Don't miss our Gentlemens Night THurs., Feb. 13th
6-10 pm refreshments served
Carriage Shops, Amherst 549-6915 Mon.-Sat. 10-6

Valentine's Day A Day To Express Love February 14
VALENTINE'S DAY FEBRUARY 14TH
With a romantic sentiment, a humorous verse, a cute saying, all from American Greetings.
Located in the Campus Center
UNIVERSITY STORE
Open M-F 9-5
sat 10-3
AMERICAN GREETINGS
© MCMLXXXVI American Greetings Corp.

Speaker debunks AIDS myths

By JOSEPH R. TIGAN
Collegian Staff

The biggest falsehood society has about Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS) is believing the fatal virus can be contracted through casual contact like handshakes, according to Roger Smith of the AIDS Action Committee.

In a presentation last night at the Bangs Community Center in Amherst in front of 25 people, Smith discussed some of the truths of contracting the disease.

"AIDS can only be contracted through intimate sexual contact with an infected partner, shared hypodermic needles, and contaminated blood products or transfusions," Smith said.

According to Smith, contrary to poular belief, AIDS cannot be contracted through toilet seats, swimming pools, casual contact or eating utensils.

"And there is no evidence to date that the virus can be contracted from saliva or mosquitos," he said.

Smith stated there are several "psycho-social ramifications" that AIDS victims must deal with.

"Fear of the unknown is probably the most serious and often-felt characteristic of AIDS victims," Smith said. "Once people know you have AIDS, there is an incredible amount of discrimination that follows."

Among other problems AIDS victims encounter, Smith listed failure to receive ambulance and funeral service.

"Several victims are forced to change jobs and try to obtain insurance at their occupations. A sudden financial burden can be felt," Smith said.

Medical care for AIDS victims with insurance can rise from $50,000 to $150,000, according to Smith. Also, persons contracting the virus have been asked to vacate their housing.

"Combine this with the economic depletion, and you'll find people left in despair," Smith said. "Isolation and being left alone are major problems."

Sponsored by LifeLine Institute Inc., the Aids Action Committe provided certain preventive information at last night's presentation.

"There are high risk groups, such as sexually active homosexual and bisexual men, intravenous drug users, and hemophiliacs," Smith said. "One preventive measure would be to avoid sexual contact with these high risk groups. Another very important prevention is to avoid anal intercourse, because this is a very high risk sexual contact."

Collegian photo by Michelle Segall

Roger Smith of the AIDS Action Committee.

Counseling offered to gay community

By JEANETTE DeFORGE
Collegian Staff

"When I was coming out of the closet, I thought everybody who wasn't gay hated me. I felt as though I was the only person who had ever done this," said an applicant for the Counseling Committee at the University of Massachusetts.

The applicant, a lesbian who wants to counsel those who are experiencing what she did.

The Counseling Committee, located in the Student Union building, is made up of lesbian, gay and bisexual persons who offer advice and help solve problems that gay persons encounter in their social, family or academic life. They also offer information about the gay community and serve as a referral source.

"The Counseling Committee is a closed group of people which have more responsibility to the group. They are more structured and focused than the Lesbian, Bisexual and Gay Association, which is a group of people who are more comfortable with themselves," said Felice Yeskel, the co-director for the Program of Gay, Lesbian and Bisexual Concerns.

The committee also helps heterosexual people who are having problems accepting or understanding a gay roommate or have a close family member who just came out of the closet, she said.

"The Counseling Committee works on a more personal level, helping people working things out personally," Yeskel said.

It also works with other groups on campus like mental health, SCERA, Every Woman's Center and Housing.

"Picking counselors is the biggest event all year (for the gay community)," said Paul Thorne of the Counseling Committee.

The group is comprised of eight to 16 people. A student must apply in the beginning of the semester, they cannot join at any other time.

The group will hold information sessions on Thursday and Monday. Potential counselors must attend, fill out an application form and be interviewed by a member of the group.

"Usually we accept anybody who applies," Yeskel said.

When they are accepted, the new members attend an intensive eight-hour training session and are taught group building activities, how to handle oppression and lesbian, bisexual and gay group counseling skills.

They also attend a mandatory weekly training session.

During these meetings specific problems and issues are brought up and methods of solving them are discussed, Yeskel said.

'We are looking for people who have a certain level of comfort with themselves and want to help other people,' said Yeskel.

Counselors also serve as role models for gay persons who are coming out of the closet or have problems the counselors have already experienced in their own lives, Yeskel said.

Freire and Wald cancel lecture

Tonight's scheduled appearance of George Wald, a Nobel laureate, has been postponed due to illness.

Wald and Brazilian educator and author Paulo Freire were to deliver a joint talk at 8 p.m. today, in Mahar Auditorium. Freire, however, will appear for an informal discussion.

"Peace and Liberation," sponsored by the School of Education, has been rescheduled for Feb. 17.

Expert relates anorexia to periods of history

Says society causes disorder

By BRUCE SAXON
Collegian Correspondent

Anorexia nervosa, the reluctance of adolescent women to eat, is culturally bound and specific to certain periods of history, the director of women's studies at Cornell University said yesterday.

Professor Joan Jacobs Brumberg, an author on eating disorders, spoke to about 100 people on "The Emergence of a Modern Disease: From Anorexia Mirabilis to Anorexia Nervosa" at Memorial Hall.

In today's western developed nations, Brumberg said, anorexia nervosa is a major problem among middle class, adolescent women. In the United States, she estimated 10 to 20 percent of today's adolescent women are anorexic.

She attributed the problem in part to society's emphasis and demand for youth, fashion and beauty.

Anorexia nervosa, Brumberg said, has a biological component in which individuals often suffer from an organic imbalance. The disease often has psychological causes as well, and those afflicted often refuse to eat, an expression of conflicts about sexuality, adulthood and autonomy.

"These psychological and biological predispositions are often activated by potent social forces," Brumberg said.

"Certain social and cultural systems promote obsession with control of appetite and food intake," she said.

In late 19th century American and British society, Brumberg said, female fasting was an extreme response to Victorian notions of women. Food was a source of status for the affluent, but also a source of anxiety.

"The social imperative was to shape one's body in accordance with contemporary ideals of femininity and gentility," Brumberg said. These values, she added, contributed to the pattern among many adolescent women of restricting appetite and controlling their diet.

Brumberg's lecture was the second in a series sponsored by the Five-College History of Science and Technology Department. In May, the department will sponsor a lecture by Roger Kennedy, director of the Smithsonian Institute Museum of American History.

Collegian photo by Michelle Segall

Joan Jacobs Brumberg: Some cultural factors promote obsession with appetite.

Forum to focus on mind expansion

By PATRICK JOHNSON
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts will host a symposium Feb. 7 and 8 in the Campus Center which will feature four of the leading authorities on human creativity, a commodity which is lacking in most people, Doris Shallcross of the School of Education said.

"The average person uses 10 percent of his creative ability," said Doris Shallcross of the School of Education. "That is like having a sports car and only driving 10 miles per hour."

Speakers will discuss new ways to cultivate creativity among students, Shallcross said. The discussion will be open to the public beginning Friday at 7:30 p.m.

"We will have selected bibliographies which will hopefully spark people's interests," Shallcross said.

"On Saturday, any interested faculty members can participate in round table discussions to find ways to increase students' thinking abilities," Shallcross said.

The keynote speaker will be Marilyn Ferguson, author of "The Aquarian Conspiracy", a book about personal and social transformation in the '80s.

"The gist of her book is that a whole new set of values exist in the '80s. The people who wait, are waiting for 'them' to decide what is next to happen," Shallcross said.

Also speaking will be E. Paul Torrance from the University of Georgia. Torrance is the author of 35 books, and the creator of the Torrance Test of Creativity, which is used to measure a person's creativity, Shallcross said.

William Butcher, the director of special projects for the National Science Foundation, will speak about the need for creative engineers.

Dorothy Sisk, the former director of the Office for Gifted and Talented for three years during the Carter Administration, rounds out the list of speakers for the two-day session.

Shallcross said it is vital for people to increase their creativity. "Creativity is the one human facet not duplicated by technology," she said.

The creativity symposium is a "once in a lifetime" offer, according to Shallcross.

"We want to deal with other subjects dealing with creativity, such as risk or problem solving," she said.

Man pushed into lobby window

By JEANETTE DeFORGE
Collegian Staff

A man was injured when he fell through a three-by-four-foot window valued at $100 in the lobby of John Quincy Adams Tower at 8:23 p.m. Friday, University of Massachusetts police said.

A woman, working as a student security officer saw two men arguing over the telephone in the lobby and one pushed the other through the window. Blood was found in the area and University Health Services were notified, but the man, whose identity was not known, did not seek medical help, police said.

In other police reports:

• A fire at 3 p.m. Friday in the foundry caused $150 in damages, when sparks from a grinding machine ignited rags on nearby shelves. The operator of the machine extinguished the fire, police said.

• Careless disposal of smoking materials caused a trash can fire at 3:21 p.m. Sunday in Washington Tower, police said. Residents kicked in the door of the room when they saw smoke coming from under the door, and put out the fire, police said.

• A 1983 Toyota pickup truck received $800 in damages and destroyed a Ford Pinto at 1:08 p.m. Saturday at Sylvan circle. The owner of the truck, an Amherst man, left his car running and in gear on the roadway for a few minutes. The truck rolled 180 feet, jumped two curbs, sideswiped a tree, hit a light post and then the Pinto. The man was cited with failure to secure his motor vehicle, police said.

• A 20-year-old male student was taken into protective custody at 1:50 a.m. Saturday, when he was allegedly drunk and weaving into the middle of North Pleasant Street. The man was taken to the police station when he attempted to hitch hike and was walking in front of cars, police said.

• A 26-year-old man was arrested at 1:16 a.m. Monday in parking lot 44 and charged with driving while intoxicated, operating after revocation of license and failure to keep right, police said.

• A camera valued at over $350, a wool coat valued at $250, and a sweater valued at $70 were reported stolen from a room on the third floor of Mackimmee House at 6:18 p.m. Sunday. The room was left unlocked for about a half hour while the owner was taking a shower, police said.

NOW OPEN
Riverboat Village
APARTMENTS, SOUTH HADLEY.
1, 2 or 3 BEDROOM UNITS
BEAUTIFUL MODELS FURNISHED BY CHAP DELAINES & EPSTEIN FURNITURE CO.
•Swimming Pool •Tennis Court •Club House •Shuffle Board Court
FINANCED BY MHFA
LEASED ON OPEN OCCUPANCY BASIS
OPEN SEVEN DAYS A WEEK
10 AM 4 PM
PHONE 532-9461
532-9462
CALL FOR DIRECTIONS
Riverboat Village
River Lodge Rd
So. Hadley, MA 01075

Styles by Deborah

Introduces
CAROL GARDNER
Styles By Deborah is pleased to announce that Carol Gardner has joined its staff of skilled cosmetologists. Carol looks forward to seeing her old friends and welcoming new ones.
For your appointment call
549-5610
65 University Drive, Amherst • 549-5610

Don't be left out in the cold
UMASS SKI CLUB GOES DOWN TO NASSAU BAHAMAS

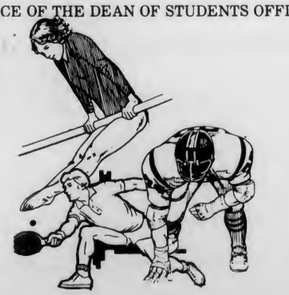
SPRING BREAK 86
From $349 Complete
For more info contact:
The UMass Ski Club
your SPRING BREAK CONNECTION
430 Student Union 545-3437

Campus Center

COFFEE HOUSE & ICE-CREAM SHOP	desserts 7 DAYS (in Bluewall)
BLUEWALL CAFETERIA	lunch M-F
COFFEE SHOP	breakfast, lunch M-F
THE HATCH	breakfast, lunch, dinner 7 DAYS
T.O.C. RESTAURANT	lunch, M-F dinner, T-SA

Food Services

ATLETIC FACILITIES
at UMass



For information on Athletic Facilities and events at UMass call:

TAPED INFORMATION PHONE SERVICE
545-1540

Ask for tapes by number

2453	Gym Schedule
2459	Pool Schedule
2471	Racquetball/Squash Court Schedules
2476	Weight Room Schedule
2477	Athletic Events
2678	Intramurals at UMass

For a complete listing of information tapes, come by the IDB-TIPS Office in Whitmore Rm. 227

A SERVICE OF THE DEAN OF STUDENTS OFFICE

AXA
LAMBDA CHI ALPHA
- Great Athletics
- One of the Highest Fraternity GPA's
- Great Meal Plan
- Outstanding Social Life
- Lasting Friendship

Come and Experience what real fraternity life is like. Stop by this week. Rush dates are Feb. 4, 5, 11, 12, at 374 No. Pleasant St., Amherst, MA
THE BLUE HOUSE ON THE CORNER

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian

ED/OP

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted.

Founded in 1870

EXECUTIVE BOARD-SPRING 1986
Dede B. Levenson, Editor in Chief
Ian Polumbaum, Managing Editor
Larry Bouchie, Editorial Editor
Peter Soderberg, Production Manager
Conor Plunkett, Production Manager
Elizabeth Young, Business Manager
Sherry Sharfman, Business Manager

BOARD OF EDITORS
Dede B. Levenson, Editor in Chief
Ian Polumbaum, Managing Editor
Larry Bouchie, Editorial Editor
Joel P. Coffidis, News Editor
John Yonce, Women's Editor
Peter Abraham, Sports Editor
Jennifer Ackerman, Arts Editor
Kelly Sieger, Arts Editor
Michelle Segall, Photo Editor
Paul Desmarais, Photo Editor
Chris Allen, Black Affairs Editor

Considering recent events

If justice were to prevail, black history would be reported on every day of the year to compensate for years of neglect by a prejudiced nation.

We have not reached that stage, but we do have Black History Month every February, when people of color are given added recognition for their rich contributions to our history.

The brainchild of educator and scholar Dr. Carter G. Woodson, this national observance has been recognized in many ways for over 60 years. It was this kind of recognition that Woodson hoped would reveal blacks as true participants in history.

This year, Martin Luther King Jr.'s birthday finally gained recognition as a federal holiday. We also witnessed the destruction of apartheid protest shanties at Dartmouth College only hours after the observance of King's birthday.

These events alone provide an excellent focus for this Black History Month.

Consider the national atmosphere that allows 18 years to pass before offering just recognition of King's contributions to our country. Consider also the atmosphere that allows conservative students to term their destructiveness an attempt to beautify the Dartmouth College Green.

With these events in mind, we can all participate in events at the University and elsewhere with an extra relevance. At the very least, a consideration of recent events strengthens our resolve that civil rights efforts must continue.

We encourage every community member to take advantage of a short month when special attention is focused on black history, and participate in those events that can educate us. Reflect, too, on what you can derive -- in college and in your mind -- from considering black history.

Unsigned editorials reflect the majority opinion of the Collegian Board of Editors.

A threat to our investment

Peter d'Errico

The recent concert of music for trumpet and organ, a tour de force faculty recital with Walter Chestnut and Ernest May, was a presentation of tremendous talent and power. The long standing ovation by the packed crowd of faculty, students, and visitors underscored the University's place as a center of culture.

Unfortunately, the physical setting underscored the University's extreme state of disrepair. The huge organ, a masterpiece of silver and wood --which must represent an investment of at least a quarter-million dollars --was partially draped in plastic to protect it from water leaking through huge holes gaping in the ceiling. Other plastic sheets hung high over the audience, protecting listeners from falling water and ceiling tiles, too. Broken air-conditioning vents protruded from the walls, or were covered by scraps of wood. Light for the performers was provided by jerry-rigged spotlights on extension cords. What a sharp contrast to the high quality of performance!

What possessed anyone to put the organ in room 36 of the Fine Arts Center in the first place? The labyrinthine Aedificium of Umberto Eco's mystery novel, The Name of the Rose, is rivaled by the Fine Arts Center itself. Readers of that novel who were present at the recital would testify that 36 FAC is not harder to find than the "finis Africae." One wonders whether the FAC, like the Aedificium, serves rather to conceal the treasures within it, than to make them accessible.

The organ ought to be moved. Imagine, for example, how much more the warmth and strength of the performance would have been appreciated had it been in Bowker Auditorium. There, Walter Chestnut's rare trumpets, including at least one he said he dared not fully demonstrate inside room 36, would have left a sweetness not obtainable in a concrete box.

This room is not the only place on campus that suffers from ceiling leaks. Falling water, even more than the infamous falling bricks, is the physical plant problem of the campus. Leaks plague dormitories, classrooms, offices, laboratories. They are a disgrace. Perhaps they are not dangerous to life. But one would think that at least when they threaten a major investment like the organ, and when they put the University to shame in front of many visitors, that steps will be taken to fix them.

With or without leaks, however, 36 FAC is not the place for the organ. If it stays there, music scholars of the future will undoubtedly someday "discover" it, in much the same manner that the Bach chorals -- played for the first time in Amherst at this concert --were discovered at Yale. Maybe then efforts would be made to bring it out of the dungeon.

Peter d'Errico is an associate professor of legal studies.

Those righteous protecters

Rusty Denton

A friend of mine who works with some of the University animals has been telling me about the escapades of some animal rights groups.

Recently, for example, one of the departments on campus had a few beavers on some UMass acreage. The area was fairly large, surrounded by a wire fence, and the animals were supplied with stacks of branches which they moved back and forth to build homes. Evidently they were happy in a beaver-ly kind of way, but one morning workers found the gate open, months of work down the drain, and a note (written by a human) to the effect that it was cruel punishment to make the beavers suffer in such confines when they were used to the wide-open spaces.

I can barely believe how foolish some of these animal liberation people are. I hear about them trying to outlaw rodeos, stop medical research, and hassling honest, compassionate farmers. The Washington Post recently reported that the English groups are trying to outlaw the kosher and humane slaughter practices required by orthodox Jews and Muslims. It seems to me that the activists are trying to bestow unprecedented grandeur on the animal world at the expense of human dignity.

That's a pretty expensive proposition. An example of how expensive animal rights can be is India, where it is against the laws and religions to kill rats, mice, cows, or other animals. According to one report, India's problem is neither food shortages nor overpopulation; it is animals. Ten years ago, there were 200 million "sacred cows" in India, each one eating enough food for seven people. That adds up to enough food for one-quarter of the world's population. If that weren't enough, the rats and mice have overrun cities, devouring what the cows can't get to, endangering children, and spreading disease and filth everywhere. This is the way the animals of India show gratitude for a multitude of rights.

In America, the situation is somewhat different. Animals are in farms and labs where their owners are not about to let them run amok. Contrary to animal liberation propaganda, most farmers take very good care of their stock. They have to keep things reasonably clean to avoid disease, and most farmers feed their animals as well as they can afford to, so they'll get a higher price for eggs, milk and meat. Any food scientist can verify that sacred or unhealthy animals give inferior food products.

Given the relative rarity of institutional animal abuse in America, I don't think the real issue is animal rights. I think it's part of the never-ending search for the underprivileged which characterizes the far left. I wish they would use as much imagination on the plight of unborn children as they use on the quality of life among beavers and cows.

To borrow a small-town phrase, such animal worship shows "more brains than sense." Anybody with university training and social skills and a good heart should be able to find better things to worry about than whether a chicken with an IQ of two has emotional fulfillment, or whether a veal calf can find true happiness in a barn as warm and dark as its mother's womb.

There are better things to care about than the academic environment of an animal that can't even master the finer points of toilet training; here are just a few. Amherst housing: our campus has turned a little farming berg into an unaffordable elitist hotspot. The black family in America: the media has finally picked up on the number of families with third and fourth generation unwed mothers. Unemployment in Holyoke: it's not easy to be poor. Your soul: it's always good to consider the state of your soul. Your neighbors: they may get less kindness than the animals.

Rusty Denton is a Collegian columnist.

Editorial Questions?

Tune in at 6 p.m. Thursday to WMUA and talk to your favorite Collegian columnist -- Larry Bouchie, Mary Cresse, Stephen Erickson, Rusty Denton, Timothy Harris, and William Spain.

Letters

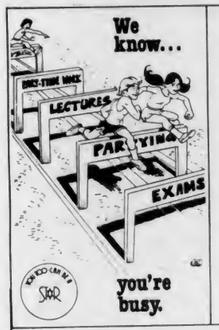
Eyecatching ad tarnished image

As I was waiting for the elevator in my residence hall, I noticed a sign posted which read, "Would you like $600 for Spring Break?" I continued to read this eye-catching advertisement: "Girls are needed for light kitchen work...." Girls? Sorry, brothers of Theta Chi (the advertisers), there aren't any girls in John Adams Tower, only women.

Perhaps you "frat boys" should demonstrate your social awareness (that I'm sure you have) by referring to females on this campus with respect. Obviously, you discriminate against men as well. Can't men perform light kitchen work too, or would you advertise for boys? Whoever wrote this advertisement tarnished Theta Chi's image and is in serious need of social awareness training.

Cathleen O'Shea, RA
Southwest

Ackerman should be encouraged



The College Literary Supplement (Jan. 28) review of Religion as Critique by Robert Ackerman is perhaps the most lucid and well written review I've ever read. Although I have no particular interest in the subject, I found my self captivated by the reviewer's style and incisiveness. I hope the Collegian can successfully encourage this reviewer to write more.

Jerry Pellegrino
Charlemont

Tell Your Valentine
She's A Gem
with Gold and Diamonds
at
Golden Opportunity
Diamond earrings as low as $15.00
Heart Rings $30.

13 N. Pleasant St.
at Lodestone

We know...

you're busy.

But you're not too busy to get involved. Give a little time and gain the satisfaction of knowing you have impact on the lives of Jews in Israel, in your own community, on your campus and in the many countries around the world.

Your involvement can make the difference. Join our United Jewish Appeal/federation student campaign.

Planning Meeting for the Annual Banquet
Please Come Tuesday, Feb. 4th
Dukes Room Stu. Union
6:30 p.m.

Kaplan stays with you for the long run.

After you take a Kaplan course, you're not only better prepared to take on marathon tests like the LSAT, GMAT, GRE, NTE, CPA, SAT, among others, but the study techniques you'll learn will help you through the rigors of your grad school courses.

That's why for nearly 50 years, over 1 million students have gotten in condition with Stanley H. Kaplan. And for those interested in breaking records, we also offer SPEED READING.

So call Kaplan. You've got a long race ahead to the top of your career. Every bit of training and coaching counts.

KAPLAN
STANLEY H. KAPLAN EDUCATIONAL CENTER LTD

DON'T COMPETE WITH A KAPLAN STUDENT—BE ONE

GMAT begins Feb. 3rd
GRE begins Feb. 11th
MCAT begins Feb. 19th
LSAT begins in March

Pi Kappa Alpha

Spring '86 Rush

Rush PIKE, and be part of
- The Largest Fraternity on campus
- Greek area Football, Basketball, Softball and Track champions
- The Fraternity that has raised over $70,000 for the fight against Multiple Sclerosis

Rush, including Free Refreshments, are:

Tuesday, Feb. 4th
Thursday, Feb. 6th 9-11

545-2150 418 N. Pleasant

Kodak-Ameriprint:
a tradition of quality.

Kodak Colorwatch™ System

Ameriprint and the Kodak Colorwatch System assure you of film developing excellence. We use only Kodak paper and Kodak chemistry and our quality is computer-monitored by Kodak technicians. The objective is to give you the finest pictures and best service possible at prices that represent outstanding value. Bring us your color film today for Ameriprints Colorwatch quality and save!

Ameriprint™

Open
M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3

Located in the Campus Center
UNIVERSITY STORE

BLACK AFFAIRS

From S. Africa to Smith

By CHRIS ALLEN
Collegian Staff

Two South African students, Sifanelwe Qangule, 17, and Siphokazi Koyana, 16, arrived in Northampton last week after a long trip from their troubled native country only to start another sort of journey.

The two young women are the recipients of two full, four-year Sophia Smith Scholarships. As they began classes this week, they took the first steps toward their shared goal -- Smith College degrees, and then medical school.

Qangule and Koyana are the second pair of South African students to attend Smith under a special scholarship program for black, Indian, or mixed-race South African students. The first recipients of the scholarships, Thembekile Mazibuko and Thlorthamay Simadari, started at Smith last year, also beginning their college studies in January because the school year in South Africa runs from January through November.

The scholarship recipients receive tuition and room and board for the four years needed to complete their undergraduate degrees. They are also offered campus jobs so that they may earn money for books and personal expenses, and have the opportunity to work as research interns with Smith faculty members during the summer.

Begun last year as a pilot effort, the South African scholarship program will be reviewed by the Smith College Board of Trustees this year. The college hopes to make the scholarships available to two South Africans annually.

Qangule is from Alice, the capital of Ciskie, one of the separate "Bantustans," or homelands, set up under the South African government's system of apartheid. At the Inanda Seminary she was active in the debate society and earned a number of speech prizes. She also participated in school athletics, was a school prefect, dormitory supervisor and campus care captain, and was honored for her academic work. She will go concentrate on the biological sciences at Smith and eventually plans to attend medical school.

Koyana, from Umtata, the capital of Transkei, another enclave established by the South African government, will also study biological sciences at Smith. Like Qangule, she would like to go to medical school. At Inanda Seminary, Koyana was involved in athletics, drama and debate. She was also a school prefect, dormitory supervisor, campus care captain and head of the Student Christian Movement.

Bishop Tutu sponsors Scholarship fund

South African Bishop Desmond Tutu recently announced the formation of a scholarship fund bearing his name, and said he hoped to raise $1 million to provide US college educations for students who are political exiles from his nation.

The cleric, in announcing the Bishop Tutu Scholarship Fund, said South Africa's apartheid system of racial segregation blocks students from attaining their full potential.

He said that a scholarship program in the United States was important for the future development of his country. Tutu, who won the Nobel Peace Prize last year for his battle against apartheid, donated an undisclosed sum to inaugurate the fund. It will be run by the Phelps-Stokes Fund, which has helped thousands of African students through similar programs.

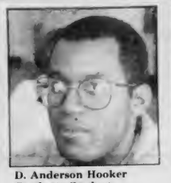
About 100 South African students are expected to begin college under the program within the next two years.

In his remarks Tutu again urged President Reagan to pressure South Africa's white minority government to end apartheid. The Reagan administration , he said, imposed sanctions against the Marxist governments of Poland and Nicaragua "at the drop of a hat."

The US government must be pressured "to take the leadership that it ought to take because it can divert a catastrophe if it wants to," he said, labeling as "baloney" Reagan administration statements that sanctions might hurt South African Blacks.

Tutu said he hoped for a peaceful solution to South Africa's racial problems, but that "we only hold on to that by the skin of our teeth."

Franklin Williams, president of the Phelps-Stokes Fund, said he hoped universities and colleges would waive tuition and room and board costs for students sponsored by the Tutu fund.



— C. RON ALLEN

There will be an important CCEBS meeting on Wednesday Feb 5 in Mahar Auditorum at 7:pm. All CCEBS students must attend.

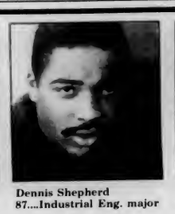
ROVING REPORTER

What does Black History Month mean to you?

Collegian photos by Rob Skelton

D. Anderson Hooker
Graduate Student

To me Black History Month is a political farce. It was created as a way of diverting attention from numerous contributions by trying to concentrate them in one month: the shortest month of the year.



Lonnie Brock
87.Mechanical Eng. major

Basically, it is a positive tribute to Black people. Why are we limited to one specific time in remembering accomplishments of prominent Blacks? Is Black History any different from American History? Black History is the backbone of America's progress.

John King
87.....Economics major

I feel that Black History Month is a time that all people especially Blacks, should recognize and applaud the accomplishments of great Black people. However I feel to consolidate this recognition into one month, while leaving Black people who have made great accomplishments out of the entire historical picture, is some what of an injustice.

Dennis Shepherd
87....Industrial Eng. major

Black History Month means to me that finally Black History is being exposed some what in America because all throughout America's history Black History has been left out. I hope that this period will give some exposure to some of the great feats we as Black people have contributed to this country.

Caiphia Smith
89.....Casiac major

I feel this is a very learning and educational period for Black children. It gives them insight on the Black leaders of the past. I also have a very negative feeling toward this month because it is one out of twelve months that Black people are being recognized for their contributions in the society.

Distributed by Films Incorporated
Released by Paramount Pictures Corporation
Produced by Lawrence Gordon, Joel Silver Directed by Walter Hill
Starring: Nick Nolte, Eddie Murphy, Annette O'Toole, James Remar, Sonny Landham, The Busboys
Color Rated R
FILMS INCORPORATED

DATE: Feb. 5, 1986
TIME: 5, 7, 9, 11
SPONSORED:
by Theata Chi Frat
PRICE: $1. for 5:00 show
all others $1.50

SALADS SUBMARINES SYRIANS
the sub
11 A.M. TO 2 A.M. / 7 DAYS
33 E. PLEASANT ST., AMHERST / 549-5160

THE SUB DELIVERS
549-5160
4:30 pm to 1:00 am

FREE CAN OF SODA
WITH DELIVERY ORDER

FRATERNITY LIFE

Experience the Brotherhood!
Delta Upsilon offers you

Home cooked meals
Excellent social life
A leader in academics
Intramural sports
Little Sisters Program

OPEN RUSH
Feb. 4, 5th & 10, 11th
9:00
549 3831

North	Grad
East	Tower
NOPE	ΔT

Study at
THE HEBREW UNIVERSITY OF JERUSALEM
A Unique Academic Opportunity plus
The Unforgettable Experience of Jerusalem
******
Herbert Weinberg,
Director of Special Academic Programs
at the Hebrew University
will be on campus to discuss study opportunities
Thursday, February 6, 1986 at 3:30 p.m.
Student Union, Suffolk Room

For further information call (617) 731-6810

Under the auspices of the U. of Mass. International Programs Office B'nai B'rith Hillel

* Start the Week off Right **********
at
CHANGES Dance Club
Tonight - Tuesday February 4th
THE FIRST 25 CUSTOMERS
RECEIVE A FREE UMASS T-SHIRT
Rt. 9, Amherst 256-8284

JBs
HOT ROAST BEEF SANDWICHES
253-7018
11 am - 2 am 7 days
50 Main St. Amherst, MA

AP Photo
I understand, J.B.'s gives me bowel trouble too.

Arrrgh!!

Buy a Big One get a reg. FREE (with this ad)
expires Sun. 2/9
If you have a good picture and want it in an ad, put it in an envelope and bring it to J.B.'s.

UMASS DCE
SPRING
IT'S NOT TOO LATE TO REGISTER!
Continuing Education Classes
and University Day Classes
Register through February 10
Registration Office
Division of Continuing Education
University Library
8:30 a.m.-7 p.m., Mon.-Thurs.;
8:30 a.m.-5 p.m., Fri.; and
10 a.m.-1 p.m., Sat. (2/1 & 2/8)
Late registration fee and permission of instructor necessary.
Pick up a catalog on campus or call 545-2414 for more information.

OPEN RUSH
BKΦ
ALL UNIVERSITY MEN INVITED

1984-85 Stephen Davis Memorial Award and Olympus Cup
BETA KAPPA PHI

- Two time Greek & Campus Intramural Champs
- Home cooked meals
- Outstanding social life
- Close to Campus
- High academic standing

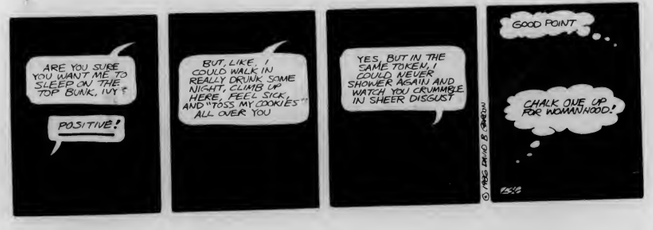
BKΦ
388 N. Pleasant
253-9071

Monday, Feb 3 9-11 pm Movies & Tours "Refreshments"
Tuesday, Feb. 4 9-11 pm Movies & Tours "Refreshments"
Wednesday, Feb. 5 9-11 pm Movies & Tours "Refreshments"
COME SEE WHAT BETA PHI HAS TO OFFER YOU

DOONESBURY GARRY TRUDEAU

THE FAR SIDE BY GARY LARSON

"Once in a while couldn't we just have some pasta?"



FREAKER PATROL BY DOWE & O'BRIEN

HOUSEMATES BY R.MILLER

GORDY BY GORDE

BLOOM COUNTY BY BERKE BREATHED

Anyone interested in writing for the Collegian is invited to a FREE SCREENING of
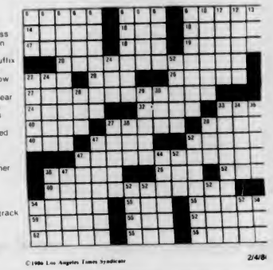
ALL THE PRESIDENT'S MEN
starring Dustin Hoffman, Robert Redford
Thursday, 7:30 p.m. Campus Ctr. 165-69

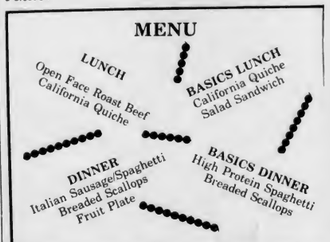
DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE
Edited by Trude Michel Jaffe



ACROSS
1 Truman's birthplace
6 Aggregate
9 Sheriff's group
14 Humbie
15 Before game or race
16 Like that old bucket
17 Walked up and down
18 Slippery critter
19 Statement of beliefs
20 Nighttime streaker
23 Uris hero
25 GI interview
26 ——— a customer
27 Armstrong and Aldrin
31 White poplar
32 CEO's, for example
33 Cool
36 Withered
37 Fold
39 Alzado of football
40 Tricky
41 Earl Derr Biggers's detective
42 Bridal path
43 See 20 Across
46 Freezing rain
48 ——— Lanka
49 Feminine suffix
50 Depression near Winslow Ariz.
54 Catchers' gear
55 A Gershwin
56 Ot the birds
59 Fur wrap
60 Goller's need
61 Lacking in class
62 Kelly et al
63 Hole-puncher
64 Result

DOWN
1 Once more around the track
2 Org. for lawyers
3 Factory equipment
4 At a loss
5 Cross off
6 Valedictory
7 Nobelist for chemistry 1934
8 Ott et al.
9 Pennsylvania mountains
10 Shell movers
11 Trapshooting
12 Take care of
13 Word with tight or loose
21 Lang. of the Caesars
22 Absorb
23 Accumulate
24 Insurgent
28 Violinist Bull
29 Contest
30 Actress Farrow
33 Fit of laughter
34 Fitzgerald et al
35 Equals
37 Snapshot
38 Thai language
39 Fleur-de-———
41 Cheddar and Edam
42 Excite
43 Put down roots
44 Mideast land
45 New Deal agcy.
46 Hit
47 Reveal
51 Actress Hayworth
52 See 10 Down
53 Novelist Hunter
54 NYC arena
57 Half of a Heyerdahl title
58 Comedian Louis

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE



T	O	W	E	R		S	P	A	R		S	T	E	P
E	R	A	S	E		C	A	G	E		O	P	E	E
E	D	I	T	S		A	L	E	C		B	A	R	N
M	O	T	H	E	R	L	O	D	E		S		K	Y
			A	H	E	M		D	A	I	L	Y
G	A	M	B	L	E		A	P	E	R	S
A	L	A	R		T	I	E		A	T	I
R	E	S	O	R	T	S		A	L	B	E	R	T	A
P	E	S	T	O		L	I	K	E		R	I	A	S
		H	A	G	E	N		A	S	S	E	T	S
D	O	R	E	M	I		S	A	V	E
U	N	E	A	R	N	E	D		T	I	M	E
L	E	A	R		T	R	A	M		M	I	N	E	R
T	A	T	A		S	I	L	O		O	R	I	G	A	N
S	L	A	T		D	E	E	D		N	O	E	L	E

2/4/86

©1986 Los Angeles Times Syndicate 2/4/86

MENU

Weather

TODAY: Snow and rain or sleet spreading southwest to northeast. Mixed precipitation changing to rain southwest coast. Highs in the upper 20s to mid 30s.
TONIGHT: Rain in coastal areas and snow, sleet or freezing rain in the interior sections. Lows in the upper 20s to mid 30s.
TOMORROW: Rain tapering to showers before ending, high in the mid 40s.

BROUGHT TO YOU BY

Today's Staff:

Night Editor.....Andrew Wolff
Copy Editor.....Kathy Hart
Layout Technician.....Ian Polumbaum
Photo Technician.....Brian Guarnotta
Production Supervisor.....Matkins
Production: Kelly Sieger, Nancy Klingener, Leslie Nakajima, Mark Parker, Dave Boardman

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian (USPS permit #58), a Registered Student Organization at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, is published Monday through Friday excluding holidays, exams and vacations periods. Content is determined solely by the Collegian Board of Editors without prior approval from University administrators, faculty or staff. Operations are funded solely by advertising and subscriptions revenue. Subscriptions and advertising rates are available at 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Mass. 01003, (413) 545-3500. Postmaster: send address changes to the above address.

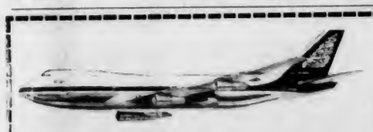
ARTS

POWER: a voter's nightmare

Power
Starring RICHARD GERE, KATE CAPSHAW, GENE HACKMAN
Directed by SIDNEY LUMET

By GREGG FALLON
Collegian Correspondent

Power is Sidney Lumet's latest film, starring Richard Gere as Pete St. John, a media consultant for political candidates. St. John produces the image of his clients that gets the votes. The film tries hard to be a political film but is often inaccurate in its depiction of political scenarios and methods.



Power depicts St. John during the busiest time of his year, the mediator's season, election time. He tries to project his clients into office and let them have what they seek most; power. He runs their campaigns, tells them what to wear, how to stand at the podium and chooses their hairstyles. St. John's not concerned with the issues. Those are for his clients to deal with after the election. His job is to get his client into office; once they get there, they can do whatever they please.

The film jumps from race to race, from a mayoral election in New Mexico to a gubernatorial race in Ohio to a presidential election in South America and so on. The film's weakness is that it lacks cohesiveness and deletes its own suspense and the viewer's interest. It seems the film is a collection of four or five sub-plots with no real substanance. What is considered St. John's key

continued on page 11

Richard Gere stars in Power

SAVE SAVE
SAVE SAVE
SAVE ON ANY SUMMER FLIGHT
IF BOOKED BY FEB. 15th
Book Now for the Summer
$50. Off Any International Flight
$10. Off Any Domestic Flight
If Booked by Feb. 15, 1986
UNIVERSITY TRAVEL and TOURS INC.
225 Main St.
Northampton, Mass. 584-9913

"I get my kicks from Arts"

Amherst Ballet Center
29 Strong Street
10-week adult evening courses starting Feb. 3
BALLET
MODERN DANCE
JAZZ
All Levels
Call 549-1555

EXCELLENCE IN JAPANESE CUISINE
Chui-Hwan Cho, A Goten chef and waitress Seung Kwom prepare a dish at Goten Restaurant in Sunderland.
TUES., WED., THURS., SPECIALS
Two Dinners For $12.
STEAK AND CHICKEN COMBINATION
Includes Soup, Salad, Vegetables, Noodles, Steamed Rice & Dessert
FRIDAY'S SPECIALS
Two Dinners For $17.
SHRIMP AND SCALLOP COMBO DINNER
Includes Soup, Salad, Vegetables, Noodles, Steamed Rice & Dessert
SUNDAY AFTERNOON SPECIALS
2-5 p.m. Two Dinners For $12
Cocktails and Oriental Drinks
Opens Tues.-Sat. At 5:30 p.m. Sun. 2-9 p.m. Closed Mon.
Reservations Welcomed 413-665-3628
Goten OF JAPAN
Rte. 116, Sunderland, MA

American Travel Services presents
SPRING BREAK "86"
Ft Lauderdale
Hotel from $139.00
Air: New York $209. Rd Trip
Boston $228. Rd Trip
Holiday Inn Oceanside $209.
Nassau/Paradise Island
Hotel & Air from $329.
Pilot House Hotel $379.
All prices include Taxes and Gratuities
Don't be left out, sign up now!
Limited space available
For more information: call Danny 546-7899

DELTA CHI ΔX
-FRATERNITY-
OPEN HOUSE
TUESDAY 7:00-9:00
THURSDAY
ΔX WANTS YOU
DO YOU WANT:
- 24 HOUR OPEN KITCHEN
- UNIQUE SOCIAL LIFE
- THE BEST FRATERNITY HOUSE ON CAMPUS
- AN OUTSTANDING LITTLE SISTER PROGRAM
- GOOD ACADEMIC ATMOSPHERE
A DORM OFFERS YOU A ROOM, WE OFFER YOU A HOME!
FEEL FREE TO COME DOWN ASK QUESTIONS, AND SEE WHAT DELTA CHI HAS TO OFFER. FOR MORE INFO CALL 549-4187
COLLEGE PIZZA · ΔX HOUSE · WENDIE · FEARING · STREET · SUNSET · SOUTH-WEST

Antigone's Antigone's Antigone's Antigone's Antigone's
Soon to be called
HUNGRY U Restaurant
ANTIGONE'S
Greek & Italian Cuisine
Subs
Pizza • Fries
Salads • Burgers
Lasagne • Syrian
Corned Beef • Reuben • Sub
Sandwiches • Lasagne • Manicotti
Quiche • Souvlaki • Moussaka
Potato Skins • Spaghetti
Mousaka • Souvlakia
Pastitso • Pizza
Spanakopita
Pizza
FREE DELIVERY
549-5713
55 University Drive
SPECIAL THRU FEB.
Mention Antigone's when ordering
PIZZA FOR DELIVERY and receive one free topping on any size pizza
Antigone's Antigone's Antigone's Antigone's Antigone's

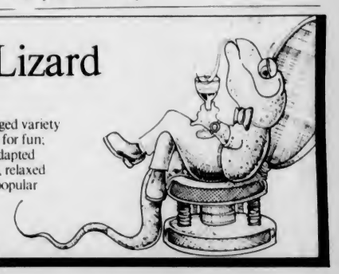
continued from page 10

client and thus a major part of the film is an Arab-backed businessman running for Senate so he can eliminate federal funding to a practical solar generator which can wipe out the big oil industry. The only thing is, we only see the Arabs once in a melodramatic, ominous, foreboding scene, and the story line just fades away into the film, blending in with the other less important segments.

The viewer's attention is scattered and spread out equally among five election races, all of which seem inconsequential at their turnout. St. John either says "Oh well" or claps his hands once, smiles and says "Oh good." Very anti-climactic. When the film ended, I said to my fellow viewer "Is that it?"

But the point of the film is not its plot, rather its messages about the American political game and the susceptibility of the American viewer to the candidate's image and surrounding media hype. The film suggests media wizards like St. John brainwash the public into choosing their candidates like they pick toothpaste. It is a view of the voter that I, as an American who believes in the participatory spirit of democracy, hope is not accurate. But looking at voter turnouts and then at the results, one gets to thinking. For America's sake and for all American's sake, I hope that if a Pete St. John does exist in politics, the public doesn't fall for his gimmicks and trickery.

Not to give the film away, St. John eventually realizes the wrongness of his ways, and leaves the campaign of the Arab financed candidate to advise an independent candidate to "say exactly what you think. Maybe even what you feel."



The ending is an attempt to condemn the dehumanizational aspect of the political process. Maybe it works and maybe it doesn't. In any event, when the next election comes around, please pay attention to the issues and not to the images.

James H. McManus eating place
• OPEN 6 A.M.-3 A.M. SUN.-THURS.
• OPEN 24 HOURS FRI. & SAT.
CAMPUS PLAZA (NEXT TO SUPER STOP & SHOP)
Rte. 9 • Hadley/Amherst
256-6899

DIETING?
Try something different. Lose weight sensibly by learning about your eating habits. Down with diets! Call UHS 549-2671 ext. 181 Preregistration deadline: Feb. 20.

HAIRCUTS $8.50 with this coupon
CALL STYLES BY DEBORAH
65 University Dr., Amherst, MA.
549-5610
C expires 2/14/86

Lounge Lizard
(lounj liz'ûrd) n.
A non-poisonous, two-legged variety with an enlarged capacity for fun; having a body uniquely adapted to lolling around in a lazy, relaxed manner; indigenous to a popular local watering hole.
Coming Soon!

JOHNNY WINTER
UPC Presents
A Blues Extravaganza!
and Special Guest
TUES. FEB. 25th
S.U.B. 8 pm
Tickets $9.00 in advance
$10.00 at the door
Tickets on sale 2/6/86 At Tix Unlimited For the Record (Faces) and Main St Records
No cans, bottles or recording devices

FIGHT FAT
Until Friday, February 7th you can work out at the BODY SHOP FITNESS CENTERS for FREE!!
Our friendly and knowledgeable staff will answer your questions and demonstrate our state-of-the-art Hydrafitness equipment.
EXERCISE WITH A FRIEND AND SAVE $$$$
Sign up with a friend and get the 2nd membership at 1/2 PRICE!!
THE BODY SHOP
TWO CONVENIENT CAMPUS LOCATIONS
Boyden & Totman
7:30 - 9:00 am
12:00 - 1:00 pm
4:00 - 6:00 pm
Still only $45/semester !

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Come to Collegian Office CC 113 • 8:45-3:45 Mon - Thurs; 8:45 - 2:30 Fri • Deadline is 2 days prior to publication day
Cash in advance • Phone number FREE

ACTIVITIES

Meditation Seminar for people who love humanity - 4 wk yoga and meditation class. Free. Wed, Feb. 5th, 6 pm, CC 811

ANIMAL RIGHTS COALITION

Meeting tonight at 5 pm Rm 903 Campus Center free movie - The Animals Film

AUTO FOR SALE

1978 Plymouth Horizon 4 spd 4 dr reliable transportation $1000 or BO 665-8535

VW Superbeetle, 1973 good condition, $1200.00 as is or best offer. Call 253-5790 after 7:00 pm

1975 Plymouth Fury, good condition must sell, $400.00 tel 584-9362, 665-3297

1977 Ford Van, 4 Captains chair, table, sunroof, 6 cyl-auto $2200 call 549-7825 or 549-6696

1978 Datsun B210GX 5-speed AM-FM cassette excellent condition $950 or BO call 549-9425

72 VW Beetle semi-automatic dependable $275 586-7088

1976 Toyota Corolla 4 spd 2 dr reliable transportation $450 or BO call Luisa 549-1421

78 Datsun Pick-up 5 sp 60K,00 586-2944

71 Plymouth auto. New exhaust system, snowtires. $350 must sell. Call Ngn 546-4837

Boltwood Project Information Sessions: Wednesday, February 5 rm 917; Monday February 10 rm 804, Wednesday February 12 rm 917; Tuesday, February 18 rm 917. Campus Center 7:00 pm come see what we're all about!

"CASH"
Paying cash for your baseball cards Please call Mike 546-6105

ENTERTAINMENT

MOBILE MUSIC INC Disks spun to your taste Call Chris 256-6845

TURN THE TABLES professional D.J. 5 yr experience call 24 hrs 586-3691

FOR RENT

2 bedroom apt Belchertown on bus route $625/mo includes heat, water 323-5907

Riverglade Apt for rent two bedroom call Terry 549-7476

Available one room in spacious apartment at bus stop. Five miles from campus $133/month includes elec & hot water call anytime 253-3825

Rooms Available Delta Chi Fraternity, excellent home cooked meals, near Southwest, 1 double, 1 single open. Call 549-6361 for info

Large studio apt w/fireplace, private bath and kitchen, $365, includes heat. Steve 549-0859 anytime

Large room available immediately in 3 bedroom house, ½ mile from campus. $150 call anytime 256-0049

FOR SALE

New Tandy 1000 includes double disk dr keyboard monitor. Also a PFS write and desk mate program 1,980 call Larri after 7:00 665-4991

Desk. Large, 4-drawer, hardwood with large surface. Good condition, $90.00 or best offer. Call 253-5790 after 7 pm

Rossignol 180S exc cond 125 or BO also dorm fridge WIN 253-9569

Dorm Fridge $40 or BO 549-5184 after 5

Mid-sized refrigerator; big 3' tall; excellent condition; limited warranty; $130 Anne 586-8578

Small refrigerator for $45. Great for dorm call 665-3706

FOUND

A puppy (about 4 weeks old) black and tan, Part German Shepard. Found at Puffton Village Jan 29 Please call 549-7449

Found dark blue Adidas bag containing brand new books call 665-4131 & ask for Rick to identify mornings only

HELP WANTED

Entry Level Marketing Position in local multi-million dollar firm hourly wages starting from 4 to 5 dollars, plus paid sales commissions Mail: 584-3596

Weekly pay for newspaper delivery in dorms. Must be able to deliver 7 days/week. Pay is variable. No car needed. Call evenings 253-7099

INSTRUCTION

Know your car. Basic Automobile Workshop. 28 hours including classroom and shop. Limited enrollment. 253-2096

Music and Dance instruction. Performing Arts Division register by Wednesday, February 5. U Mass student discounts available. Old Chapel U Mass 545-0519

Private Guitar Lessons. Experienced and patient teacher Rock/Pop/Folk/Blues. Improvisation, Reading, Theory, Composition. Your home or my studio. Doug 549-4786

IT'S NOT JUST A JOB...

The R.A. position can be the best thing you've done at U Mass. Take the challenge. R.A.'s will only be hired in the spring for the next full year. this semester will be your last chance to become an R.A. for the 86-87 academic year. The next R.A. hiring will be in spring 87 - so act now! It's not just a job, it's a lifestyle.

JOURNALISM EXPERIENCE

Bring the news of your school to the five college area. Gain valuable experience reporting for an award winning newspaper. Contact: DAILY COLLEGIAN 545-3500

LOST

Dog tan color part Lab & German Shep. Vicinity of Brown dorm. Named Scotch. Reward 200.00 546-5833 or 413 596-4772

Brown leather wallet on Wed. Jan. 29 in Mahar Aud during Econ 311. Please call Gordon for reward 253-3571

MOVER

'Round Town Movers fast, reliable, cheap. Call Michael anytime 323-6780

PERSONALS

STOLEN blue CB ski jacket, gloves and scarf from 8 Brandywine party on 1/17. Please return no questions asked! Call 256-1719

Looking for Christian Fellowship? Alliance Christian Fellowship Thursday 7-8 715 Campus Center

Get the most from your workout. Call Mal for supplements at reduced prices. 546-7549

Welcome back Stormin perhaps you can lure the Kuhr-Girls to be your servants.

LL Happy Birthday what a present huh? LLL

Jenni Talk to me! Doug

Congratulations Katie and Steve on your engagement love your sisters

$550 * REWARD

For takeover of ¼ of lease. 15 min drive from campus, Leverett, Sp. w/lg. living rm (fireplace) and lg. kitch. new furnace and shower. Full tank of oil. $178 mo July at 1-267-3586 nights

RIDERS WANTED

Tuesdays and Thursdays from Amherst to Boston and back call 549-7587 Claudia

ROOMMATE WANTED

Female nonsmoker to share room in Brandywine call anytime 549-6037

Female to share room in Southwood townhouse for spring semester call 253-3413

Female roommate wanted to share bedroom in two bedroom Brandywine apt. no security deposit required. Call before 3:30 pm 549-4824

Northampton one bedroom in two bedroom apt River Run 225* need car 5[illegible] 1293

Looking for a female to share a two bedroom apt you will have your own room. Close to campus. Call Yasmin 549-0926

1 male roommate for Brittany call 256-0082

Brandywine call Mike after 5 549-6289

Summer on Cape Cod roommates wanted excellent location in Hyannisport $850 for season from Memorial-Labor Day. Call now! 546-5288

Single room for rent in 8 bedroom house bordering U Mass $250 + utilities mo. Call John or Pat at 549-6364 house has 2½ bathrooms, lg. living room, lg. yard, 2 kitchens call anytime

Wanted 2 roommates male or female 5 minutes from campus $1 9 call anytime 584-4601

One bedroom in two bedroom townhouse in Sunderland on bus route 225 each plus brand new, porch 665-7507 or 665-3414

Female roommate wanted for Brittany apt call now at 253-2420

Brittany Manor apt male roommate rent 150.00 call 549-6014 253-7004

Female to share room in Brittany Manor for spring semester call 253-3612

Female roommate wanted to share room in Brittany. Located across from bus stop, Easygoing people. Call 256-6262

SERVICES

Typing. Fast, accurate. Call anytime 665-7652

Lynne Hans Esq. P.C. Immigration Law evening appointments call Springfield Office 781-6570 or 665-8513

Light Moving with Toyota truck call 549-2949

Tailor for all kinds of alterations. Fast service, reasonable prices at SHAANN's Hampshire Mall 584-9362

TAX SOFTWARE

Integrated Federal, Mass forms from $50 call TaxHelp 256-0642

TRAVEL

SPRING BREAK on the beach at South Padre Island, Daytona Beach, Fort Lauderdale, Fort Walton Beach or Mustang Island/Port Aransas from only $89, and skiing at Steamboat or Vail from only $86! Deluxe lodging, parties, goodie bags, more... Hurry, call Sunchase Tours for more information and reservations toll free 1-800-321-5911 TODAY! When your Spring Break counts...count on Sunchase

WANTED

We're looking to take over a lease in Brandywine or Townehouse apts for fall semester 86 please call 6-1137 or 6-9548

WANTED TO RENT

Promising new band desperately seeking a place to rehearse for spring semester ...preferably on or near U Mass campus Contact Scott at 546-5144

Single room wanted: female, non-smoker, responsible, would like a quiet room at a reasonable price. Call 665-2469

SPORTS

UMass takes beating, 78-60

St. Bonaventure coasts to win

Complied from staff and wire reports

St. BONAVENTURE, N.Y. — It must have been the longest six days of their lives.

The University of Massachusetts men's basketball team ended a nightmarish road trip with a 78-60 loss to St. Bonaventure before 3,700 at the Reilly Center here last night. The loss, UM's third in-a-row, dropped them to 6-14 on the season, 3-8 in the Atlantic 10 and 0-10 on the road.

UMass, in its last three games, lost by an average margin of 19.6 points. They lost to George Washington, 77-67 and to Temple, 69-38 in the two games prior to last night. The Minutemen are now eighth in the Atlantic 10 and can only hope to salvage a respectable seasch.

The Minutemen were never really in the game last night. A back-and-forth game in the early minutes devloped into a rout as the Bonnies (13-8) ran off nine points to increase a two point lead at 19-17 to one of 11 at 28-17 with 4:30 left in the first half.

A halftime lead of 42-29 ballooned to a 17-point bulge as St. Bonnie scored the first four points of the second half to put the game away. UMass fell behind by as many as 22 as the Bonnies scored at will inside.

Senior forward Barry Mungar, who scored 31 points when the Bonnies edged UMass 78-77 back on Dec. 11, burned UM again with 25 points, all from under the hoop or at the line as the Minuteman defense was unable to keep the 6-8 Canadian from scoring.

Guards Elmer Anderson and Doug Turner had 16 and 10 respectively for the Bonnies.

UMass was led by freshman center John Milum with 17 points, 12 in the first half. Guard Lorenzo Sutton, who didn't lead UM in scoring for the first time in 10 straight games, had 15, but only two in the second half as he missed numerous jumpers. Freshman forward Duane Chase added seven. Carl Smith scored only two and David Brown four as both continued to struggle from the field.

UMass was hit with two technicals, one each on coach Ron Gerlufsen and Sutton. The Minutemen were also whistled for seven charging fouls. The key to the game however was UM's defense, or lack of it. The Minuteman zone was sloppy at best, letting Mungar inside for easy layups. Offensively, UM turnovers led to easy hoops for the Bonnies on the break.

The Minutemen will be in action again on Saturday, facing Rhode Island in Kingston at 7:30 p.m.

Minuteman Mutterings: The 38 points UMass scored in Saturday's game at Temple was the lowest in the nation that day among all collegiate games. . .Gerlufsen emptied his bench last night as walk-on Bily Hampton saw action for the first time. He missed two shots from the line. . .The game was a homecoming for freshman Fitzhugh Tarry from nearby Buffalo. Gerlufsen used him sparingly as he scored three points. The 6-8 freshman had 11 points against Duquesne six games ago and was highly-praised by the coach, he has since been given little chance to show his skills and is averaging only six minutes a game in the ten games he has played. . .Freshman Joe Fennell dressed for the game, but did not play. The freshman had been the first player off the UMass bench. . .Sutton is now averaging 18.1 points-per-game. . .Smith is down to 8.2 and Brown 9.1 giving UMass only one player averaging in double figures.

Collegian photo by Paul Desmarais

UMass guard Carl Smith and the Minutemen lost to St. Bonaventure last night, 78-60.

UMass Notebook

Reid shocked at news of Carter's death

By PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

The suicide of Holy Cross head football coach Rick Carter on Sunday "shocked" University of Massachusetts coach Jim Reid, a long-time friend of the Crusader mentor.

"When I found out I cried," said Reid. "Rick was a good man who had a lot of terrible things happen to him lately. It's a real shame."

Carter, 42, was found dead in the cellar of his West Boylston home on Sunday night. A head coach since 1966, Carter had coached at Holy Cross since 1981, going 3-2 against UMass in that span. He was rumored to be up for many Division I jobs, but was hurt by a 4-6-1 season this past year. His father, Cloyd, died in August and his mother, Henrietta, is terminally ill.

"I had a great respect and admiration for the man. He offered me the position of offensive coordinator last year. Even though I had been a defensive coach all my life, he told me that it was the man that counted the most, not his experience. I'll miss him."

□

UMass baseball coach Dick Bergquist welcomed close to 30 candidates to the first practice yesterday in Boyden Gym. Among those starting practice were John McKeown, the star freshman linebacker for the UMass football team.

McKeown, a 6-0, 215 pounder from Biddeford, Maine was an all-state catcher in high school and led his team to a state championship. Other football players who hope to play baseball in the future after a season of spring football include Drew Comeau and Dimitri Yavis. Comeau, brother of former UM baseball great Todd Comeau, was a great high school hitter who suffered a broken leg early in his senior yearand was red-shirted this past season. The New York Yankees considered drafting the 6-4, 212 pound prospect. Yavis, an All-American punter as a freshman, is a 6-6, 255 pound pitcher.

□

Lacrosse coach Richard Garber, who was inducted into the lacrosse hall-of-fame on Friday night in Baltimore, also opens practice this week.

Among those starting practice is Greg Canella, the 1985 junior college attackman-of-the-year at Nassau Community College. Garber signed Canella last year and hopes to pair him with junior all-New England attackman Tom Carmean to form a potentially explosive offense. In other lax news, former UM defenseman Ray Cozzi ('81) was named first alternate on the United States team for the World Championships.

□

Megan Donnelly, UMass' senior all-american field hockey player, has been nominated for the Broderick Award, given to the top collegiate field hockey player in America.

A first-team All-American (and academic All-American), Donnolly would be up for the Broderick Cup, given to the best amatuer female athlete, should she be named the best in field hockey. She is also a member of the U.S. National Team.

□

The football game scheduled for September 20, 1986 against the University of Connecticut, has been moved to Nov. 22. "That gives us two weeks to get ready for Northeastern's wishbone offense," cracked UMass coach Jim Reid. I'll bet Paul (Pawlak, Northeastern's coach) isn't too pleased about that."

Ski teams claim wins

By KARA MULLEN
Collegian Correspondent

The undefeated University of Massachusetts women's ski team claimed a pair of victories while the men took a first and a second last weekend at Cannon Mountain, N.H. in the Plymouth State Tournament.

With the wins, both teams climbed into first place in the Eastern College Ski Conference, a conference that the Minutemen have won more than ten times.

The women, 5-0, won the slalom on Saturday and the giant slalom Sunday, and were led by junior Kathy Smiley who won Saturday's race with a combined time of 89.44 seconds. Her time was nearly three seconds ahead of the second place finisher and more than five seconds faster than UMass' Alice Gigliotti who placed third.

Junior Sandy Strip took Sunday's race in 80.12 followed by Smiley's second place finish in 81.30.

The men, 3-2, despite being shut out of the top three spots in Saturday's race, took second place behind Marc Dennis' fourth place in 88.45, and Jeff Spencer' ninth place in 91.85. Dennis led the Minutemen's winning effort on Sunday with a second place of 76.60.

Women's swimming defeats Rhode Island for 5th victory

The University of Massachusetts women's swim team ran its record to 5-5 on the season, defeating the University of Rhode Island, 75-65 in Kingston over the weekend.

Junior co-captain Allison Uzzo and freshman Melissa Waller were double winners for UMass. Uzzo took the 1,000 freestyle (11:00.54) and the 500 (5:25.66) while Waller won the 100 breaststroke (1:10.99) and the 200 breaststroke (2:35.79).

Other UM winners included Michelle Leary in the 200 with a 2:02.56, Lori Carroll in the 200 butterfly in 2:22.99 and Jean Cowen in the one-meter diving competition with a score of 190.30, a personal best for the junior.

The Minutewomen also won the 400 freestyle relay as the team of Uzzo, co-captain Sue Freitas, Megan McCamy and Leary turned in a time of 3:52.16.

UMass returns to action on Saturday at home against a tough University of New Hampshire team. The meet is scheduled for 1 p.m. at Boyden Pool. The final meet of the season is the Wednesday after at Mount Holyoke.

NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY

The Massachusetts Daily
COLLEGIAN

RSO-UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS-AMHERST 113 CAMPUS CENTER 545-3500 VOLUME CXVI ISSUE 7

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 5, 1986

INSIDE

- New campus newspaper draws attention. Page 3.
- INXS to play Student Union Ballroom Friday night. Page 9.
- Men's hoop team is down but not out. Page 16.

Hampshire may divest pension fund

BY SHERYL JEAN
Collegian Staff

The faculty at Hampshire College has unanimously passed a resolution to divest its pension fund from companies operating in South Africa in a response to that country's escalating situation, according to a faculty member.

This is one of the first faculty motions directed at the Teachers Insurance and Annuity Association and the College Retirement Equities Fund, known as TIAA-CREF, the largest educational pension fund in the country, said Frank Holmquist, a professor in the social science department at the college.

"We want TIAA-CREF to begin divestment now and go over a three-year period," Holmquist said. "It's not a radical proposal in the context surrounding South African politics."

There are over 900,000 members of TIAA-CREF across the country who are employed at about 3,500 educational insititutions, said James Breeden, chairman of TIAA-CREF Divest Campaign, based at Dartmouth College in Hanover, N.H.

The pension fund is similar to an insurance policy or retirement plan. Each faculty member contributes to the fund; then the money is invested by TIAA-CREF in various companies.

The TIAA-CREF pension fund totals $39 billion, of which over $7 billion is invested in companies operating in South Africa, Breeden said.

The total fund is "more than the combined endowment of all colleges and universities and the $7 billion invested is a greater amount than all that has been divested by any sort of institution in the U.S.," according to Breeden.

"The economic boycott will express a lack of confidence in the political system of South Africa," said Holmquist. "Economic boycott is a very real and useful tool."

"It's a message to South African authorities that they must abolish aparthied in order to make South Africa a democratic state to get back into the world community," said Michael Klare, director of the Five College Peace and World Security Studies program, based at Hampshire.

The TIAA-CREF now advocates the Sullivan Principles, devised in 1977 by Rev. Leon H. Sullivan of Philadelphia. The principles call for equal pay for South African blacks, better work conditions, desegration of company facilities and community welfare, said Holmquist.

The problem with the Sullivan Principles is that they have "nothing to do with what people are dying for every day in South Africa," said Holmquist.

Hampshire is one of four colleges whose faculties are known to have voted on resolutions to divest from the TIAA-CREF pension fund. The others are Colby College, Mount Holyoke College and Dartmouth College.

TOC decision due at noon

Will open today if insurance is secured

BY ANDREW WOLFF
Collegian Staff

Campus bars and conference services will resume serving alcohol this week, seven months after the University lost its alcohol liability insurance and was forced to discontinue liquor sales, officials said yesterday.

Collegian photo by Paul Desmarais

Steven Evitts(front) and John Frasier stock the bar of the Top of the Campus Lounge on the 11th floor of the Campus center. The lounge is scheduled to open tonight.

The Top of the Campus Restaurant and Lounge are expected to begin alcohol service tonight, but a final decision will be made at about noon today, according to Bernard Wilkes of Auxiliary Services.

It will depend on whether supplies are in place and the staff is prepared, Wilkes said.

The Hatch bar is tentatively scheduled to open tomorrow or Friday, Wilkes said.

In a change from last year, the Hatch will only be serving beer and wine, according to Lawrence Jeffers, Hatch manager.

The Blue Wall, which was transformed from a full service bar to a coffee shop in September, will not serve any alcohol.

The University was notified yesterday that it would be covered by a policy from the Joint Underwriters Association, a state insurance pool established by the state Legislature last summer.

University Auxiliary Services and Beverage Services officials began opening liquor storage closets and training its staff yesterday, according to Ashoke Ganguli, director of Auxiliary Services.

The University lost its previous insurance policy July 1, after the insurer, Imperial Casualty and Indemnity of Omaha, did not offer UMass the option of renewing the policy.

Under the new policy, the University is covered for up to $500,000 if sued by someone involved in an alcohol-related accident after drinking at a campus establishment, Ganguli said. The old policy covered the University for up to $1 million.

The policy will cost the University $30,000 annually, Ganguli said.

The delay in opening the establishments stems from a University requirement that bouncers, bartenders, waiters and waitresses go through a training session to acquaint them with rules and laws regarding alcohol service.

According to Jeffers, the sessions include information on state laws regarding serving liquor to intoxicated customers and underage drinkers, how to deal with inebriated customers and liabiiity laws.

Memorial fund for UMass student

A memorial scholarship fund honoring April C. Neff, a University of Massachusetts junior art major who was killed in a highway accident on Dec. 16, has been set up in Neff's hometown of Holliston.

Neff was on her way home when she was killed on Interstate 91 in Northampton.

Vanessa Picchi, Neff's sister, said the art department at Holliston High School will award the April C. Neff Memorial Scholarship each year to a student majoring in art. She said the scholarship might be designated for a UMass student.

"UMass was her school -- she loved it," Picchi said.

She said that a card with all the contributors' names will be sent to Neff's mother, because, "it is sort of helpful for her mother to see that people cared."

Many people from the University who knew Neff have called the family to express their sympathy.

Numerous donations have already been received, including the nickels and dimes of pre-school students from an art class Neff taught, Picchi said.

Donations can be sent to the April C. Neff Fund, c/o Eleanor Breen, Holliston High School, Holliston, MA 01746.

A retrospective exhibit of Neff's artwork is being planned for early spring, Picchi said. The exhibit will be at the Watts Gallery in the Holliston Town Hall.

MassAid fights state hunger

By JON STRYMISH
Collegian Staff

A group of University students have formed a non-profit corporation to organize a benifit concert and telethon to fight hunger in the Bay State.

Mass Aid, founded last semester by senior Mathew Atkins and junior Jonathan Silvan hopes to hold the concert at Warren McGuirk Alumni Stadium next September, using student volunteers, corporate donations and major musical acts.

Mass Aid hopes to raise more than $100,000 to give to the Western Massachusetts, Worcester and Boston Food Banks and bolster the University's public image at the same time.

The group is negotiating with University officials to hold the concert at the 16,000-seat Stadium or the Southwest fields.

"We've received some resistance due to problems with past events in the stadium but they're not being unfair to us," said Silvan. "If we don't do the concert here we'll go someplace else."

The group, with a nine-member board of directors and about a 20-member staff, will hand out flyers containing details about hunger in Massachusetts.

More than 500,000 Massachusetts residents are living below the poverty level, including 16 percent of all children under four and 9 percent of all senior citizens, according to 1980 census figures

According to Mass Aid literature, the number of those seeking nutritional aid in Boston has doubled over the past year, and the Reagan Administration has cut over $12 billion in funding to help the hungry. Under the terms of the Gramm-Rudman deficit-reduction law they can expect more cuts, according to Atkins.

Mass Aid member Carlo Demarco said, "This is an opportunity for everyone in any major, because we need their help. We need people to help with organization, artwork, coordination and security."

"Everybody's dumping on college students for their apathy these days," Silvan said. "We feel the university stands to gain a great deal from this. This school will have a reputation across the country as a progressive, concerned organization, sympathetic to causes such as our own," he said.

Collegian photo by Paul Desmarais

MassAid co-founders Mathew Atkins(left) and John Silvan pose in front of the group's logo

Working under auspices of Students Against Hunger, a newly formed Registered Student Organization whose office is across the hall from Earth Foods in the Student Union

Demarco said he hopes to avoid the mistakes of Live Aid, criticized for not sending money through effective relief agencies. Silvan said, "We will turn the money over to the agency which we have determined is the most responsive.

"We're looking to enlist three or four national acts with a history of working with benefits," said Silvan. "We have very direct connections to the music scene in Boston. Basically, people are very enthusiastic and helpful to us."

AP Laserphoto

Wearing a swastika on his forehead, convicted murderer Charles Manson faces a porole board in San Quentin yesterday. Manson's sixth bid for parole was rejected

FIREBRIGADE AT WORK- Two firemen of a Paris frebrigade are on the balcony at the second story of the large bookstore Gilbert-Jeune on Place Saint Michel in central Paris where a fire broke out after a bomb blast yesterday evening. Four persons were injured.

AP Laserphoto

APPLAUSE FOR PRESIDENT- Vice President George Bush and House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, applaud President Reagan before he gives the State of the Union address to Congress and the nation on Capitol hill last night.

Due to extreme technical difficulties the Collegian will appear late. Please excuse.

AIM HIGH

GET YOUR FUTURE OFF THE GROUND

Imagine breaking the sound barrier in a jet fighter... flying air defense missions... circling the globe with essential supplies and equipment. As an Air Force pilot you can have experiences most people only dream about.

If you qualify, you can take off with Air Force ROTC. We'll give you leadership training and sponsor FAA approved flying lessons. You also may qualify for a scholarship which pays college expenses plus $100 per academic month tax free. After graduation you're off to the intensive and rigorous undergraduate pilot training program.

Check out Air Force ROTC today. If you have what it takes you could wear the silver wings of an Air Force pilot.

For more information, contact: Captain Dave Parker, UMass AFROTC, at 545-2437

Gateway to a great way of life

AIR FORCE ROTC

PARTY

with Campus Marketing

YOUR BEST DEAL TO FLORIDA

Spring Break 3/15- 3/24

YOU DRIVE (TO THE PARTY) $109.00

WE DRIVE (THE PARTY STARTS HERE) $194.00

INCLUDES:

- Round trip motor coach transportation to beautiful Daytona Beach (WE DRIVE Packages Only) We use nothing but modern highway coaches
- Eight Florida days/seven endless nights at one of our exciting oceanfront hotels located right on the Daytona Beach strip. Your hotel has a beautiful pool sun deck air conditioned rooms color TV, and a nice long stretch of beach
- A full schedule of FREE pool deck parties every day
- A full list of pre-arranged discounts to save you money in Daytona Beach
- Travel representatives to insure a smooth trip and a good time
- Optional side excursions to Disney World Epcot deep sea fishing party cruises etc
- All taxes and tips

SPEND A WEEK — NOT A FORTUNE

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION AND SIGN UP

Please Call Chris @ 6-7269

6:30 pm - 9 pm Sun. - Fri.

12 pm - 5 pm Sat.

Fun in the Sun

Sponsored by Campus Marketing

DIETING?

Try something different. Lose weight sensibly by learning about your eating habits. Down with diets! Call UHS 549-2671 ext. 181 Preregistration deadline: Feb. 20.

HAIRCUTS $8.50 with this coupon

CALL STYLES BY DEBORAH

65 University Dr., Amherst, MA.

549-5610

C expires 2/14/86

Only one IUD left on market

By CAROLYN PHILLIPS
Collegian Correspondent

Only one type of intrauterine birth control device is now available in the United States after the two largest manufacturers of the devices, defending themselves against numerous lawsuits, removed their products from the market.

A.H. Robins Co., makers of the Dalkon Shield IUD, declared bankruptcy in January after paying $378.3 million in damages in 9,230 lawsuits. The company had $110.7 million in legal fees and had 5,100 suits pending against it at the time it filed for bankruptcy.

The company had stopped marketing their product in 1975 after four women who had used the device the year before died from complications of uterine infection.

The U.S. Bankruptcy Court has set a deadline of April 30 for any claims against the company. People who submit claims after that date will be unable to receive damages, according to Charles DiMare, director of the University Legal Services Office.

Robins has paid at least $1.6 million for removal procedures, according to Contraceptive Technology Update, a monthly health newsletter.

J.D. Searle & Co., manufacturers of the Copper 7 and TATUM-T IUDs, stopped selling the devices after 775 IUD claims filed against the company in the last 12 years prompted the company to file for bankruptcy.

The Copper 7 IUD was the most frequently prescribed and safest IUD available, according to University Health Services health educator Pam Gowyer.

"It's a shame, the IUD can be a highly effective form of birth control when used with informed consent," Gowyer said.

The only IUD left on the market is Progestasert, made by Alza Co. A drawback of that device is that it has to be taken out every year, Gowyer said.

The reason for the suits against Searle may be partially attributed to a "piggyback" effect from the Dalkon Shield suits, Gowyer said. A heightened awareness of the risks of all IUDs has led to some valid complaints, she said.

Older women will be most affected by the removal of the IUDs from the market because the birth control pill can be dangerous them, Gowyer said.

Collegian photo by Paul Desmarais

SEARCHING THE SHELVES-(clockwise fron top left) Mike Porter, sally Crowley, Giovanna Spataro, Mark O'Lalor, all juniors, look for books in Goodell library

New paper explained, critized

By LESLEY CLARK
Collegian Staff

The founders of The Minuteman, a student newspaper that made its debut yesterday, say they aim to provide campus conservatives with a voice.

Students involved with the paper maintain that it provides a forum for alternative political views seldom expressed in existing campus media. However, one campus group has questioned its purpose and an advertiser said she wishes to disassociate herself from the paper.

"We felt that a major part of campus wasn't being heard from," Minuteman co-editor-in-chief Lynn McCabe said. "One end of the political spectrum has the only voice on campus."

McCabe said the paper seeks to promote debate.

"I don't feel we're extremely right-wing," she said. "We want to provide a different, if not mildly conservative side."

McCabe, an economics major, said the staff "felt they could do more investigative reporting than the Collegian."

McCabe said the paper has received starting funds of $3,000 from the Institute for Educational Affairs in New York City, and $1,000 from the United States Industrial Council's Educational Foundation in Nashville, Tenn. Additional funding will come from advertising, she said.

Calls to the New York institute were not returned. Jeffry Dodt, director of programs at the foundation in Nashville, said the organization was "primarily interested in working with college students, faculty and media to promote the principles of free enterprise and American values."

Dodt said his foundation provides student newspapers with "decidedly conservative" cartoons and columns free of charge.

But one student activist said The Minuteman is part of an organized campaign against student rights groups.

"All the money comes from conservative groups, funded by conservative companies to promote right-wing ideals," said Bob Cohen, a member of the State Student Association of Massachusetts.

An article in the first edition of the newspaper attacks the optional student fee used to fund SSAM as "deceitful," "unethical," "unfair," and "illegal."

"We feel the attack is not so much directed at the fee but at the issues the organization [SSAM] works for," Cohen said. "This isn't a one-time thing. Groups which represent and stand for student rights will be attacked."

The owner of Crabtree & Evelyn on North Pleasant Street in Amherst, Denise T. Barnard, said she had not known what the paper was about when she agreed to place an advertisement.

"In no way do we endorse the ideology of the paper," Barnard said. "I don't want to be connected in any way with it."

Minuteman business manager Jonathan Kaufman said he had told Barnard that the paper "presents a different point of view, one with a conservative slant," and that she had agreed to run the advertisement.

"I'm proud of what The Minuteman stands for," Kaufman said. "I'd have no reason to misrepresent the paper."

The owner of two other area businesses which had advertised in the paper was unavailable for comment.

Woman, age 69, charged with DWI

A 69-year-old Lake Pleasant woman was arrested at 6:12 p.m. Monday and charged with driving while intoxicated after she drove into a snowbank on Sunderland Road, Amherst, Amherst Police said.

In other police reports:

- A backpack containing $70 in identification cards, a wallet, a jackknife, and a Texas Instruments calculator was taken from the Jones Library on Amity Street at 3:12 p.m. Monday, police said.

- ANNE TAUGER

Student arrested with stolen identification

A 20-year-old female student was arrested at noon Tuesday on North Pleasent Street and charged with two counts of receiving stolen property, operating a vehicle after the revocation of a license, and impeded operation, University of Massachusetts police said.

She had a stolen UMass identification card and a stolen New York license in her possession, police said.

●In other police reports:

●A 10-speed Punch bicycle valued at $150 was reported stolen at 4:22 p.m., Monday from a bike rack outside of Prince House. The bicycle was locked and chained, police said.

●A cassette deck valued at $150 was reported stolen at 6:11 p.m., Monday from a 1965 Ford Mustang parked in lot 44. The driver's side window, which was defective, was forced down, police said.

●A knapsack containing $90 was reported stolen at 7:14 p.m., Monday from a room on the third floor of Morill Science Center. It was found a half an hour later by custodians in a third floor classroom. The money was missing, police said.

●A wallet containing $70 in cash and identification cards was reported stolen from an office in Machmer Hall at 5:15 p.m., Monday. It was left unattended in an unlocked room for about two and a half hours, police said.

●Two text books valued at $60 were reported stolen Dec. 16 from Fernald Hall. The owner, while replacing the books, reported she had bought the same copies that were stolen. The person who sold back the books will be traced through the Textbook Annex computer, police said.

-JEANETTE DeFORGE

Prof. to lecture in Yugoslavia

By LINA PANAGOPOULOU
Collegian Staff

Peter B. Manning, professor and associate head of the department of hotel, restaurant and travel administration at the University, has become the first American hospitality educator to receive a Fulbright grant to lecture in Eastern Europe.

Manning left last Thursday for the University of Maribor, in Yugoslavia, where he will deliver a series of lectures on current and future United States hospitality industries. He will discuss the application of American hospitality management systems to the international community.

Before he left, Manning said he was very excited about the opportunity.

"I've heard that Yugoslavia is the most Western and capitalistic of all Eastern European countries. Business by individuals is encouraged by the government," Manning said. "That would be something interesting to look at. It is a departure (from) a socialistic form of commerce, encouraging individuals to develop their own inns and restaurants."

After six weeks in Yugoslavia, Manning said he will go to Brig, Switzerland as a visiting professor for the spring term at the Swiss Hotel School. Manning said he will present seminars on current topics in nutrition, sanitation, energy management and safety.

Manning has taught food chemistry, food technology, food services and management systems courses at the University since 1972. He has also conducted research and written articles on food processing and storing, simulated meat product development and the use of convenience foods in food service systems.

Manning said he will return to Amherst in August for the fall semester.

Nicaragua talk set for tonight

A slide show and discussion titled "Nicaragua: an Insider's Perspective" will be presented by a member of the Witness for Peace Organization tonight at 7:30 in the Commonwealth Room of the Student Union Building.

Britt Creelman, a 1984 Dennison University graduate in Anthropology/Sociology, spent 10 months in Nicaragua last year. He will present information from victims of human rights abuses and the political implications of United States aid to Nicaragua.

Creelman works for the Washington, D.C. based organization as an editor and writer.

Tonight's presentation is sponsored by the United Christian Foundation. Admission is free.

TEACH IN JAPAN

Persons with a degree and job experience in such fields as advertising, publishing, engineering, business administration, pharmacology, linguistics and languages, wishing to teach English to Japanese adults for one or two years in Tokyo and other parts of Japan should write to:

Personnel Manager, International Education Services
Shin Taiso Bldg.
10-7, Dogenzaka 2 chome, Shibuya-ku
Tokyo, Japan 150

Personal interviews will be held in New York in the middle of March, 1986.

Further information on the position, qualifications, salary, benefits, transportation and housing can be obtained by airmailing a detailed resume with a recent photograph to I.E.S.

COZY BEDS
Romantic Evenings,
Cross Country Ski Packages, and more
in Vermont Country Inns.
Rates start as low as $20. per person including breakfast.
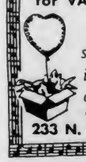
Call toll free 1-800-242-2241

Styles by Deborah



Introduces
CAROL GARDNER

Styles By Deborah is pleased to announce that Carol Gardner has joined its staff of skilled cosmetologists. Carol looks forward to seeing her old friends and welcoming new ones.

For your appointment call
549-5810

65 University Drive, Amherst • 549-5610

HIGH NOTES
Balloon Delivery Service
for VALENTINE'S Day

Balloon in a Box
sent nationwide, stays inflated for weeks!
order by FEB. 11
413-549-1430
233 N. Pleasant St. Amherst

JOBS
JOBS
JOBS
JOBS
JOBS
JOBS
JOBS
JOBS
JOBS
JOBS
JOBS
JOBS
JOBS
JOBS
JOBS
JOBS

JOBS
at SCERA now!

Gain valuable skills in:
- Leadership
- Communications
- Organizing
- Research methods
- Public relations outreach

Past SCERA projects:
- Combatting tuition increases
- South African divestment
- Social awareness weeks
- Take Back the Night March

* SCERA encourages all students to apply, especially women and minorities. We believe that diversity of race, culture, gender, religion, sexual orientaion, and physical ability creates a better work environment.

Applications are due:
4PM FRIDAY, FEB. 7th, at
SCERA, 422 Student Union Bldg.
Applications available at SCERA.

Positions available: Researcher(s), public relations, clerical support, anti-oppression weeks planner.

SALADS SUBMARINES SYRIANS
the sub
11 A.M. TO 2 A.M. / 7 DAYS

33 E. PLEASANT ST., AMHERST / 549-5160

THE SUB DELIVERS
549-5160
4:30 pm to 1:00 am

FREE CAN OF SODA
WITH DELIVERY ORDER

Beautiful boxes, filled with music or memories.

Nobody has a larger, more interesting or more affordable collection of music boxes and treasure boxes than we do! One of them is just waiting for her to put in the keepsake that will make it a memory holder for all time.

The Love Gallery.
VALENTINES DAY HEADQUARTERS

Here it is...this year's incredible gift by Giovanni
ONLY
$6.00!
(Regular Retail $12.00)

Of course, each pendant comes in its own plush, red velvet box. How else would you give someone you care about, a genuine fresh water pearl, suspended in heart with a golden leaf on a 12" chain?
"Very nice," I hear you say..."but how come the incredibly low price?"
Well let's not forget, the President of CARD gallery is an incurable romantic!

The Valentine tradition...A perfect card to go with a heart, filled with Russell Stover chocolates.

No one offers a more impressive choice than we do. Our card department features Hallmark and Recycle as well as the current rage, the musical card—a total selection of more than 50,000 cards in EVERY store! Remember, we pride ourselves on keeping enough of every kind of card so you're not dissappointed...even if you have to shop at the last moment. And what more can we say to add to the raves of millions of people who have long enjoyed and savored the excellence of Russell Stover chocolates and candies for more than 50 years.

A great mug for the big lug.

Give him a handful of something he really wants...some are tender...some are a riot...some even come with their own, very special matching card.

A rose by any other flavor...
...would not be as sweet as this extraordinarily different, long stem, solid chocolate rose. In your choice of ivory, milk or dark chocolate!

10,000 GIFTS ON DISPLAY...EVERYDAY!
CARD gallery
SPRINGFIELD (HAYMARKET SQUARE)/WESTFIELD (Next to ShopRite)
HADLEY (Campus Plaza near the STOP and SHOP) ENFIELD SQUARE

WHERE HILLS TURN TO MOUNTAINS

Why conquer hills when you can challenge a mountain. Just over the border is Mount Snow with 12 lifts (1 gondola, 5 triple chairs, 6 double chairs!), 57 trails, 1700 feet of vertical and 80% snowmaking.

THE SHORTEST DRIVE TO BIG MOUNTAIN SKIING LOCATED IN EASY TO REACH SOUTHERN VERMONT ON VT. 100

LODGING: (802)464-8501
SKI REPORT: (802)464-2151

The January thaw is over! Mount Snow has the most snow in southern Vermont. 17" of new snow since 1/25/86 including 10 inches this weekend. 53 trails are open on two mountain faces with edge to edge coverage. More than 30 trails on the Main Mountain and expert North Face are stockpiled with up to 6½ feet of snowmaking base. We've got the snow, let yourself go.

Mount Snow
VERMONT

MONEY MOTIVATED?

If You Are Enthusiastic, Have A Strong Clear Speaking Voice and Have the Confidence to Prove What it Takes, Keep Reading This

We are a Major Industrial Tool Company Expanding a new office in Amherst, Mass. Telemarketing is the future successful road to sales in the 1980's, and we are growing rapidly. 3 shifts allow you to work around your schedule, and you can earn up to $10.00 per hour while training. There are still 25 positions available. Salary plus Commissions plus Bonuses. For an appointment, Call 7 AM-7 PM, Dave 413-256-4101

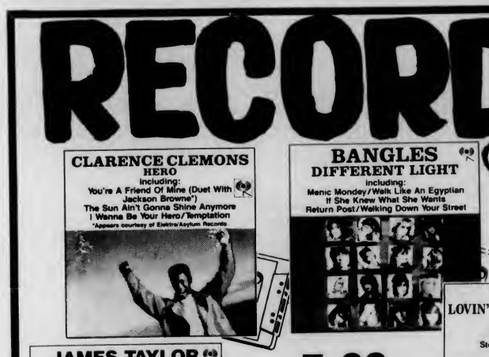
NEWMAN CLUB
"SAY IT WITH A FLOWER"

Order a Valentine Flower for Someone Special
Red means "I love you"
Pink means "I like you"
White means "I want to get to know you"
— plus your own message —

ORDER NOW !!

Look for us
Feb. 5th - Feb. 12th
in the CCC

JBs UB
HOT ROAST BEEF SANDWICHES
253-7018



I ate a Big One once. . .just once.

Buy A Big One get a Reg. Free (with this ad)
expires Sun 2/9

If you have a good picture and want it in an ad put it in an envelope and bring it to J.B.'s

11 am - 2 am 7 days
50 Main St. Amherst, MA

RECORD SALE

CLARENCE CLEMONS
HERO
Including:
You're A Friend Of Mine (Duet With Jackson Browne')
The Sun Ain't Gonna Shine Anymore
I Wanna Be Your Hero/Temptation
*Appears courtesy of Elektra/Asylum Records

BANGLES
DIFFERENT LIGHT
Including:
Manic Monday/Walk Like An Egyptian
If She Knew What She Wants
Return Post/Walking Down Your Street

From CBS Records

OZZY OSBOURNE
THE ULTIMATE SIN
Including:
Thank God For The Bomb
Shot In The Dark/Secret Loser
The Ultimate Sin/Lightning Strikes

Ozzy 6.99

LOVERBOY
LOVIN' EVERY MINUTE OF IT
Including:
Lovin' Every Minute Of It
Destination Heartbreak
Steal The Thunder/Dangerous
This Could Be The Night
Too Much Too Soon

JAMES TAYLOR
THAT'S WHY I'M HERE
Including:
Everyday/Song For You Far Away
Going Around One More Time
That's Why I'm Here

5.99
Each
L.P. or Cassette

L.L. COOL J
RADIO
Including:
I Can't Live Without My Radio
Rock The Bells/Dear Yvette/That's A Lie
I Need A Beat (Remix)

SADE
PROMISE
Including:
The Sweetest Taboo/Is It A Crime
Star Of The Hearts
Never As Good As The First Time/Fear

BOB DYLAN-BIOGRAPH-A-5-RECORD-DELUXE-EDITION
The Ultimate Bob Dylan Album.
53 Digitally Remastered Classic Tracks From 1961 To 1981 Including 21 Rare And Unreleased Performances. Features 36-Page Full-Color Book With Rare Photographs And In-Depth Interview.

Special
5-Record Dylan Set
21.99

One Stop Shopping for all of your Record and Stereo Needs

Open M-F 9-5

Sale valid until 2/15

UNIVERSITY STORE

Letters

Anti-PIRG attacks

This semester will, as usual, present many interesting battles in campus politics. There will be the senate elections in March, the SGA will work to ratify a new constitution, the administration and the student body will continue debate over the Student Activities Trust Fund, and students will again have the opportunity to demonstrate their support for the continued existence of a MASSPIRG chapter on campus. It is the last issue that I would like to address.

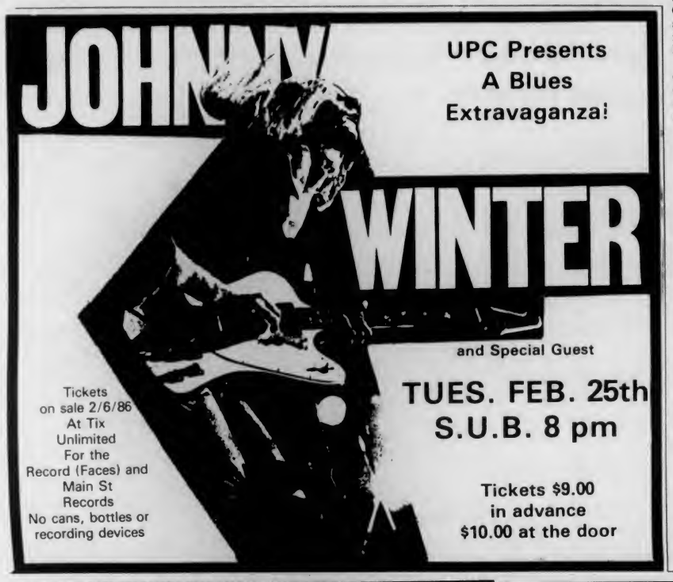
In 1972, students (by a majority) voted to form a chapter of MASSPIRG and fund it through a waivable fee on the tuition bill. Every few years since its establishment, students have mandated the continued existence of the PIRG chapter. In 1982, students reaffirmed their support for UMassPIRG when 50 percent of the student body signed a support petition and 89 percent of those voting voted in favor of MASSPIRG.

The organization transcends political boundaries and works for the public interest on issues such as toxic waste clean-up, fairer uility rates, acid rain reducation, and hunger relief, to name a few.

Despite a 13-year history of effective issue work and overwhelming student support, members of the UMass Republican Club have initiated a referendum to essentially rid the campus of the UMassPIRG chapter by abolishing the waivable fee that supports PIRG. Why are these people attacking PIRG? They say that the PIRG funding is 'unfair.' But what is more fair than a fee you vote to establish and then can choose not to pay. Do these people really feel the fee is unfair or is it just a convenient way for them to try to stop the organization from working on important issues? The attempts by these people to rid the campus of PIRG is not isolated. Similar attempts have been initiated at Boston College and Bristol Community College, as well as in other states like Oregon, New Jersey, and California. These anti-PIRG attacks have been initiated in these cases by conservative extremists who call PIRG's work on environmental issues anti-big business.

On Wednesday and Thursday, Feb. 12 and 13, the UMass community will be asked to vote on the anti-PIRG referendum. I would encourage people to educate themselves about the issues and to not take 13 years of history for granted.

Patricia Diggins
Amherst



Agony of accidents

I always wonder why public criticisms, reaction, and feelings outpour after a catastrophe. Why does our reasoning mechanism about the potential dangers of an endeavor begin to work only after a tragedy? Nobody expressed any concern about the space shuttle during the earlier 24 attempts and now everybody seems to be conscious of every possible risk involved.

We all know that going at 10 mph in a car will reduce fatalities during accidents but we still cruise at 55 mph. One of the reasons being we cannot afford to be that slow, and secondly we are ready to live with the risk because of its low probability of occurrence. I bet everyone of us had an opportunity to ride on a roller-coaster. More often than not it is children who enjoy those crazy rides. None of us seem to think of the consequences should something go wrong on a coaster ride. An accident on the roller-coaster involving children will definitely evoke the same emotions. The media will be there with the repertoire of slow motion clips, models explaining what could have happened and of course reactions from the president to the poet. We tend to check the fire hydrant after the building is on fire.

In any human endeavor risks have to be taken. If we cannot bear the consequences we should either refrain from any attempt or learn to live with the concomitant agony of accidents, however small their chances of occurrence.

Badrinath B.R
Amherst

UPC Presents
A Blues
Extravaganza!

and Special Guest

TUES. FEB. 25th
S.U.B. 8 pm

Tickets $9.00
in advance
$10.00 at the door

Tickets
on sale 2/6/86
At Tix
Unlimited
For the Record (Faces) and
Main St
Records
No cans, bottles or recording devices

OPEN RUSH
BKΦ
ALL UNIVERSITY MEN INVITED

1984-85 Stephen Davis Memorial Award and Olympus Cup
BETA KAPPA PHI

- Two time Greek & Campus Intramural Champs
- Outstanding social life
- Close to Campus
- Home cooked meals
- High academic standing

BKΦ
388 N. Pleasant
253-9071

Monday, Feb 3 9-11 pm Movies & Tours "Refreshments"
Tuesday, Feb. 4 9-11 pm Movies & Tours "Refreshments"
Wednesday, Feb. 5 9-11 pm Movies & Tours "Refreshments"
COME SEE WHAT BETA PHI
HAS TO OFFER YOU

Proctor and Gamble
CAREERS IN SALES MANAGEMENT

Discussion of career opportunities in sales/marketing management

Feb. 6, 1986 5:30-8:30
Room 917 Campus Center

Representatives from the beauty care division of Proctor and Gamble will be present

Attendance is required for on campus interview in February

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian

ED/OP

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted.

Founded in 1870

EXECUTIVE BOARD-SPRING 1986

Dode B. Levenson, Editor in Chief
Ian Polumbaum, Managing Editor
Larry Bouchie, Editorial Editor
Peter Soderberg, Production Manager
Conor Plunkett, Production Manager
Elizabeth Young, Business Manager
Sherry Sharfman, Business Manager

BOARD OF EDITORS

Dode B. Levenson, Editor in Chief
Ian Polumbaum, Managing Editor
Larry Bouchie, Editorial Editor
Joel P. Coffidis, News Editor
John Yonce, Women's Editor
Peter Abraham, Sports Editor
Jennifer Ackerman, Arts Editor
Kelly Sieger, Arts Editor
Michelle Segall, Photo Editor
Paul Desmarais, Photo Editor
Chris Allen, Black Affairs Editor

Welcome aboard

There's a new neighbor on the block in campus journalism: The Minuteman, a 10,000-circulation monthly which was born with thousands of dollars' worth of help from national conservative organizations.

The first edition, out yesterday, features jibes at campus liberals and hippies, plugs for getting tougher on Nicaragua and Libya, and a crossword puzzle with such entries as, "Sandinista Minister of the Interior and mass murderer."

It also includes a few pokes at the established campus daily. But the Collegian welcomes any new publication that adds to the diversity of local sources of information. It is a shame that The Minuteman has received infinitely more publicity than Critical Times, the campus' left-wing newspaper, and that a local newspaper printed several inaccuracies about the Collegian in reporting the advent of the new paper. But it is always encouraging to see an increase in the number of student organizations committed to enlightening the community.

Unsigned editorials represent the majority opinion of the* Collegian *Board of Editors.

U.S. foreign policy goals

Stephen Erickson

Perhaps in no other area is the United States assailed more viciously or consistently than for its foreign policy towards the Third World. From UMass academic circles to the United Nations, the United States is portrayed as an ultimate boogie man in its dealings with developing countries.

Admittedly, the United States has made some significant mistakes in the past in overeacting to perceived threats, with results that were not good for long term U.S. security interests and seldom helpful to the well being of the country acted upon. For the past ten years, however, U.S. policy can certainly not be faulted for heavy-handedness. Even the most Machiavellian U.S. policy-makers now realize that encouraging bloody, right wing (albeit pro-U.S.) dictators does not serve U.S. interests. U.S. foreign policy is, and has been for quite some time, to encourage stable, economically sound, democratically-oriented and humane governments, despite the claims of many leftists.

For example, nowhere is the record more distorted than when dealing with the subject of Nicaragua. Contrary to myth, the United States did not support Anastazio Somoza, Jr. The United States cut off aid and trade, applied diplomatic pressure, and even offered to bribe Somoza if only he would relinguish power. Outside landing the marines, what else could the United States have done? It is a question critics of U.S. foreign policy should ponder, because not only does it apply to Nicaragua, but also to countries like the Philippines today. It ought to be noted that Filipino presidential candidate Corizone Aquino has stated that she is satisfied with the level of U.S. pressure being applied toward achieving fair elections in her country. Clearly, in such situations as Somoza's Nicaragua and Marcos' Philippines, U.S. options are limited.

Among the most basic misconceptions of U.S. involvement in the Third World is the tendency to see such relations as soley a first world - Third World conflict, viewing the two as incompatable given the 'greedy capitalistic nature' of the United States. This outlook is misleading in that it ignores the role of the communist bloc as well as the fact that the U.S. has accepted and continues to have good relations with socialist countries in the Third World, provided they are of a democratic orientation.

The political left thrills at dissecting the failings of right wing regimes, while ignoring their revolutionary alternative or giving similiar attention to the ethics of states based on the Soviet model. Contributing to our lack of knowledge, and perhaps that of our leftist friends, is the reality that the totalitarian Soviet model tends to more effectively shut down opposition and the dissemination of information.

Although the Soviet Union is not necessarily the reason for revolution in the Third World, it exploits unrest to its maximum advantage. Once a Leninist state is established it becomes entrenched through massive Soviet military aid, the suspension of freedom and human rights, and the training of internal secret police. Unlike their right wing counterparts who sometimes censor institutions, Leninist states abolish such private institutions by nationalizing them, thus creating a society where there can be no significant opposition to the party line.

Struggle in the Third World is perhaps the issue of the second half of this century. From all corners of the globe, a war is being waged that pits the Soviet-backed forces with those of the West. The outcome is not only significant to the future of the peoples of the Third World, but the East-West balance of power as well.

In the coming weeks, this column as well as those of Peter Dow, will examine conflict in the Third World. We will attempt to correct some misperceptions of the nature of Leninst regimes and revolutionary movements in the Third World, as well as those of present and past U.S. policy. We also hope to draw attention to regions and problems that tend to be given less attention within our academic community, as well as provide counter-arguements to positions that often go unchallenged.

Steven Erickson is a contributing columnist

The Collegian welcomes letters, column, and cartoon submissions. Submissions should be mailed to the Editorial Editor at the Collegian, 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Mass. 01003, or they can be dropped off at the Collegian classified ad counter in the basement of the Campus Center. Due to the volume of mail received, individual replies cannot be made.

Philippine electoral hijinks

William Spain

Few things are more amusing to watch than a good political campaign. The Philippine presidential election this Friday has generated more lies, accusations, and emotions than any in quite a while. That is not too surprising, considering the stakes. On the table are not only civil liberties and the possible future of American bases but also the continued economic well-being of one of Asia's wealthiest families. But before we get into that, let us take a look at the contestants.

On one hand, there is Ferdinand Marcos. The strongman incumbent, he has a lot of political savvy and a reputation for overcoming any and all opponents. A graduate of the Richard Daley school of electoral politics, Marcos has the appeal of a fabricated war-record (always a crowd-pleaser) and the power of office from which to drop crumbs to the peasants come election day. This beloved leader has seen the Philippines through many hard times - from the Japanese occupation to the torment of post-war democracy. On assuming the office of president, he vowed never to let his country succumb to the latter again. In a few short years, his people were under the blessed stability of martial law.

Although he dabbles in real-estate on the side, his true part-time avocation is that of an American constitutional scholar. Just last week, he contended that his 1972 decree of martial law was necessary to guarantee 'a free and open society.' To back this up, he promptly imprisoned all of his political opposition. Lifelong friends of the United States, he and wife Imelda (affectionately dubbed 'the Queen' by millions of Filipinos) make a dynamic duo that will be hard to beat. He is in a strong position to (literally) take it all.

Then we have the challenger, Mrs. Corazon Aquino. This 52-year-old mother of five is the popular favorite of most human beings following Philippine events. A graduate of Mt. St. Vincent's College in the Bronx, she has the backing of a dead husband and a lot of yellow dresses to rally the masses to her cause. Invariably amidst an adoring throng, 'Cory' rarely has trouble making them roar. Spicing her speeches with a dose of old-fashioned name-calling, she still manages to retain a demure, maternal quality that many find irresistable. Whether or not she can bring bad boy Ferdinand to heel remains to be seen.

Not unexpectedly, the Reagan administration is taking a great deal of interest in the spectacle. Although they like to see our allies involved in some form of democracy, their real concern is our access to bases at Clark and Subic Bay. Keeping torture down to a reasonable level always takes a back seat to our ability to defend the free world.

Poor guys, they are having trouble deciding who is the lesser of two evils. Mrs. Aquino has been deliberately vague about her position on our continued armed presence beyond saying that she would respect the present lease agreement until it runs out in 1991. Marcos, however, is a most happy landlord. By not bothering to distribute the rent money to his people, he has acquired a large personal investment in keeping the bases. Besides, the G.I.s and the women who serve them turn out in large numbers for his pep rallies.

A staunch anti-communist, he has made sure that all economic benefits from the Pentagon are channelled directly into the private sector. Washington has got to love that but they keep hearing the word 'Shah' echoing in the backs of their minds.

One of the biggest worries is the possiblity of fraudelent election returns. Marcos has, of course, promised us that everything will be clean and does not seem nervous about the outcome. I understand his royal consort has even bought a new dress for the inaugural ball. William Spain is a Collegian columnist.

RENT A WRECK
New & Used Cars
Trucks & Vans Also Available
North Amherst
Rent-A-Wreck
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880

James H. McManus
eating place
• OPEN
6 A.M.-3 A.M.
SUN.-THURS.
• OPEN 24 HOURS
FRI. & SAT.
CAMPUS PLAZA
(NEXT TO SUPER STOP & SHOP)
Rte. 9 • Hadley/Amherst
256-6869

LEARN TO FLY
U-MASS STUDENT CLUB
ACADEMIC CREDIT AVAILABLE-LOW COST 665257

For Less Than The Price of A Lift Ticket Alone...
Peter Pan's Stratton Mt. Express Package Combines Transportation and Skiing Fun From $25.00

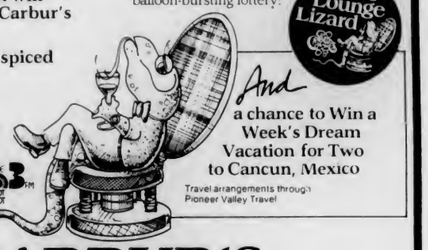
Now-March 16, 1986
Stratton

Package Includes:
Round trip transportation and a day's lift ticket for just $25.00 Tuesday, Thursday and $27.00 on Sunday — less than you'd pay for a lift ticket alone. A great value to stretch your skiing dollar and your skiing fun. Arrive at Stratton Mt. at 9:00 a.m. Advanced reservations only.
Tickets available at all local college campuses and at the local Peter Pan Bus Terminal. For further information on pick up points and reservations call 781-2900 Ext. 253

Group Charter Packages:
There are also special packages for groups available at reduced rates. Peter Pan offers door to door charter service every day throughout the week at substantial savings for your group. Contact the Charter Department for group rate information at 781-2900

The People Professionals
Peter Pan Bus Lines, Inc.
1776 Main St., P.O. Box 1776
Springfield, MA • 781-2900
MA Toll Free 1-800-332-8995

48 HRS.
DATE: Feb. 5, 1986
TIME: 5, 7, 9, 11
SPONSORED:
by Theta Chi Fraternity
PRICE: $1. for 5:00 show
all others $1.50
Campus Center Auditorium



Become A Carbur's Lounge Lizard... Tuesday, Feb. 11th!

We're kicking off Carbur's exclusive Lounge Lizard Club in style...with a big party beginning at 7:30p.m.

- 300 Membership Buttons will be given away Free!
- 99.3fm/The Hot Spot will broadcast live from Carbur's 7:30-10p.m.
- Free all-you-can-eat spiced chicken wings
- Free Balloons

You can't afford to miss this party!

Wear your L.L. button and get:
★ Dynamite Daily Specials
★ Cash Discounts in the L.L. balloon-bursting lottery!

And a chance to Win a Week's Dream Vacation for Two to Cancun, Mexico
Travel arrangements through Pioneer Valley Travel

99.3 FM

CARBUR'S
Restaurant & Lounge • Rt. 9 Hadley, MA
586-1978

Joe's Paradise
GOURMET FRIED CHICKEN
TRY SOME!
NOW DELIVERING
NOW DELIVERING
FRIED CHICKEN PALACE
TRY SOMETHING NEW & COMPARE THE VALUE

EVERYDAY GRINDER	$3.50	2 PCS. OF CHICKEN, BISCUIT, SLAW OR MACARONI SALAD & FRIES	$2.69
SMALL PIZZA	$5.00	4 PCS. OF CHICKEN, BISCUIT, SLAW OR MACARONI SALAD & FRIES	$3.99
LARGE PIZZA	$8.00	8 PCS. OF CHICKEN, BISCUIT, SLAW OR MACARONI SALAD & FRIES	$7.99

Downtown Amherst, 31 Boltwood Walk
(through the alley, next to Taco Villa)
253-7494
NOW DELIVERING

ARTS

Boston band is a good replacement

THE REPLACEMENTS at the Channel, Boston, last Friday
By ADAM BRIGHTMAN
Collegian Correspondent

Replacements' lead guitarist, Bob Stinson, with raised brow and impish grin, stepped up to the mike. Head bowed?ked a bluesish lick familiar to old Aerosmith fans and sang real low an- -ful. He played "Movin' Out" solo for a couple of bars - -en turned about and gave a double-finger to the band, laughing a mocking laugh. The band's show at the Channel in Boston Friday night rarely displayed a higher level of seriousness all evening.

The Replacements play and sing the rawest, most traditional rock and roll in America today. In great tradition of rock singers like Dylan and Springsteen, band leader Paul Westerberg lets loose with a piece of himself when he sings, as if (as another critic once said) his life depended on it. Conversely (and often simultaneously) there is intense humor underlying it all. The band played a Kiss medley, with feeling. I cannot convey in words what a gut high there is in seeing hundreds of college students slamming to 'Rock and Roll All Nite' (and party evaree-day!).

Westerberg is also a pop craftsman, exploring a huge range of feelings, while employing economy and playfulness into each rhyme and lyric. He and the band's comic nature is so humane and honest that it automatically rights the dramatic angst of an anthem such as "Bastards of Young" before it collapses under its own weight, reaffirming its truth and power.

The Replacements, now on the Sire label, are on tour to support their latest long player, "Tim." The title is seemingly a non-sequitur, meant to baffle "serious" music lovers (aided by some really awful album cover artwork.) The consistency of this record was reflected in their performance Friday, ripping through an abundance of recent songs, older favorites, and some great covers (including Slade's "My Town.")

The band seems now to be approaching a peak of creativity and popularity, fueled by Westerberg's wit and raspy melodies. This may well be the Replacements' moment in history as America's greatest rock band. Listen to this stuff. It's great and it's important, and most of all it's a whole lot of fun.

Artful Information

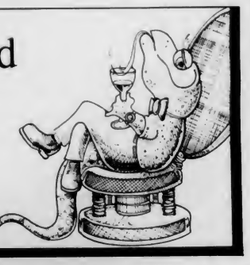
With the recent opening of so many new art exhibits, we realized what an abundance of art that is available to us in the Five College Area. There are five galleries at UMass alone, with each of the other colleges having at least one gallery. For all those interested in visiting these galleries, we've comprised a list of hours. Call the individual halls for information on exhibits.

University of Massachusetts The largest of UMass' five galleries is the University Gallery, in the Fine Arts Center. It is open to the public Tuesday through Friday 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. On the weekends, the gallery is open 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. Call 545-3670 for exhibit information.

Wheeler Gallery, located in Wheeler House in Central Residential Area, is open Monday through Thursday 3 p.m. to 7 p.m. and Sunday 2 p.m. to 5 p.m.

The exhibits in the Herter Gallery are on view from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays. On Sundays, gallery hours are 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. Call 545-0976 for information.

The Hampden Gallery, located in Southwest Residential Area, is open Monday through Friday 3 p.m. to 7 p.m., and Sundays 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. Information can be obtained at 545-2416



The fifth major gallery at UMass is the Student Union Gallery, which is open Monday through Friday 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Amherst College

Amherst College offers two major museums; the Mead and the Pratt. The Mead concentrates on art, and is opened weekdays 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and weekends 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. The Pratt is an anthropological museum, exhibiting in the most part the geological history of the Valley through dinosaur fossils and minerals. The Pratt is open 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. on weekdays only. The Mead can be contacted at 542-2335 and the Pratt at 542-2165. Smith College

The campus of Smith College in Northampton offers an excellent gallery. The gallery is open Tuesdays through Saturdays, noon through 5 p.m., Sundays 2 to 5 p.m. Information regaring exhibitions can be received at 584-2700, ext. 2760. Hampshire College Gallery Hampshire College Gallery is open 10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Call 549-4600, ext. 544 for information. Mt. Holyoke College

Lounge Lizard
(lounj liz'ûrd) n.
A non-poisonous, two-legged variety with an enlarged capacity for fun; having a body uniquely adapted to lolling around in a lazy, relaxed manner; indigenous to a popular local watering hole.
Coming Soon!

Amherst Ballet Center
29 Strong Street
10-week adult evening courses starting Feb. 3
BALLET
MODERN DANCE
JAZZ
All Levels
Call 549-1555

AMHERST CINEMA
Wednesday - Saturday
Mad Max 7:00
Road Warrior 8:40
Beyond the Thunderdome 10:15
Double Feature $3.00
30 AMITY ST. AMHERST 253-5426

The fastest-growing profession in America.
According to the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, the need for paralegals is about to double.
Now is the time to become a part of this dynamic profession . . . and there is no finer training available than at Philadelphia's acclaimed Institute for Paralegal Training. After just four months of intensive study, we will find you a job in the city of your choice. We are so confident of the marketability of our graduates that we offer a unique tuition refund plan.
To learn how you can add market value to your college degree, return the coupon or call toll-free: 1-800-222-IPLT.
We'll be on campus 2/10/86
Contact your placement office to arrange for an individual interview or group presentation.
Housing and Financial Aid available
THE INSTITUTE FOR PARALEGAL TRAINING
Approved by the American Bar Association
RUMA
Mail this coupon to:
Institute for Paralegal Training
1926 Arch Street
Philadelphia, PA 19103
Please send a copy of your catalogue.
Name
Address
City State Zip
College (yr. of grad.)
Phone (present) (home)

COLLEGE DRUG
4 Main Street, Amherst 253-2523
Mon-Fri 9-9, Sat 9-6, Sun 9-3
Diet Coke Thirst-buster 3 liter..... $1.79
TDK D 90 Twin Pack Cassette..... $1.99
while they last
Keri Lotion 9 oz..... $3.99
Super Soft Cotton Puffs
260 size..... 89¢
120 page 3 subject Notebook 99¢
50 page 1 subject Notebook 49¢

ARTS

Movie Review

THE BEST OF TIMES (★★) Starring Robin Williams and Kurt Russell Written by Ron Shelton Directed by Roger Spottiswoode By

JIM COLE
Collegian Correspondent

Robin Williams stars as Jack Dundee, a timid executive, and the man known around town as "the guy who dropped the ball" and lost the game for his high school football team 14 years before. He desperately wants to replay that fateful game, and do it right this time. This proves difficult, for he must first convince the ex-star quarterback, Reno Hightower (Kurt Russell), to play as well. The film follows his crusade to play the game, and at the same time, bring his sleepy little town back to life.

Robin Williams is both funny and touching in his role as a "never was." (He never had the chance to be a "has been.") Kurt Russell develops his character well, considering it isn't very well defined. The main problem with the film is timing. The small town of Taft is pretty dead until the game at the end, and so is the film. It takes too long to get going, and there isn't much excitement until the players are on the field.

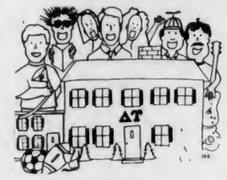
The Best of Times is billed as a comedy. With the exception of a few scenes, it really isn't. It is mainly a gentle story of one man beating the odds. I recommend this film, despite its' slowness, for the good acting, the great small town locations, and the climactic football game, which is very exciting. It almost makes up for the problems earlier on.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA

OPEN RUSH

All university men Invited

Tonight Feb. 5



9-11 PM

FREE REFRESHMENTS

374 N. Pleasant St.
(the blue house)

253-9032

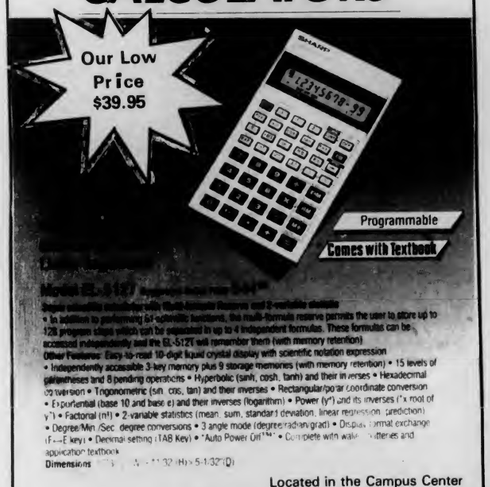
FRATERNITY LIFE

Experience the Brotherhood!
Delta Upsilon offers you

- Home cooked meals
- Excellent social life
- A leader in academics
- Intramural sports
- Little Sisters Program

Grad Tower	ΔT ■■■■
North East	NOPE

OPEN RUSH
Feb. 4, 5th & 10, 11th
9:00
549 3831



BUY 3, GET 1 FREE

During the month of February:
Buy a 3 month Nautilus membership for $85,
get the 4th month free

AMHERST RACQUET & FITNESS CENTER, INC.
Route 116, Sunderland
(on the Sunderland/Amherst line)
across from Bub's Barbecue
on the bus route 3 miles from UMass

SCIENTIFIC CALCULATORS

• In addition to performing 54 scientific functions, the multi-formula reserve permits the user to store up to 128 program steps which can be organized in up to 4 independent formulas. These formulas can be accessed independently and the EL-512T will remember them (with memory retention).
Other Features: Easy to read 10-digit liquid crystal display with scientific notation expression • Independently accessible 3-key memory plus 9 storage memories (with memory retention) • 15 levels of parentheses and 8 pending operations • Hyperbolic (sinh, cosh, tanh) and their inverses • Hexadecimal conversion • Trigonometric (sin, cos, tan) and their inverses • Rectangular/polar coordinate conversion • Exponential (base 10 and base e) and their inverses (logarithm) • Power (y^x) and its inverses ($\sqrt[x]{y}$ root of y) • Factorial (n!) • 2-variable statistics (mean, sum, standard deviation, linear regression, prediction) • Degree/Min./Sec. degree conversions • 3 angle mode (degree/radian/grad) • Display format exchange (F↔E key) • Decimal setting (TAB key) • "Auto Power Off"™ • Complete with wallet, batteries and operation textbook
Dimensions [illegible]

Located in the Campus Center

Open M-F 9-5

UNIVERSITY STORE

HAVE QUESTIONS ABOUT HEALTH SERVICES

The TAPED INFORMATION PHONE SERVICE has pre-recorded cassettes containing information on a wide range of health related issues to keep you in touch with available services.

CALL TIPS at 545-1540

And Ask For Tapes By Number

2600	Basic Student Health Plan
2645	Supplemental Health Benefit plan
2605	Contraception
2660	In A Medical Emergency
2610	Cold Self-Care
2655	Problem Drinking
2630	Mental Health Services

OPEN RUSH

A Δ Φ

TONIGHT WED 5th — SPAGHETTI DINNER 6:00 PM

THURS 6th — MOVIES & REFRESHMENTS 7:30 PM

ALPHA DELTA PHI
395 N. PLEASANT

INFO OR RIDE CALL 545-3117

SEE WHAT AΔΦ CAN OFFER YOU

BODY HEAT

CAMPUS CENTER AUDITORIUM

THURSDAY FEBRUARY 6

AT 5, 7, 9, 11

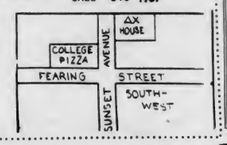
5 o'clock special - $1.25

All Other Shows - $1.50

DELTA CHI ΔX
-FRATERNITY-

OPEN HOUSE

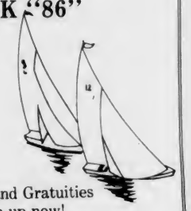
ΔX WANTS YOU



TUESDAY THURSDAY 7:00-9:00

DO YOU WANT :

- A 24 HOUR OPEN KITCHEN
- A UNIQUE SOCIAL LIFE
- THE BEST FRATERNITY HOUSE ON CAMPUS
- AN OUTSTANDING LITTLE SISTER PROGRAM
- GOOD ACADEMIC ATMOSPHERE



A DORM OFFERS YOU A ROOM, WE OFFER YOU A HOME!

FEEL FREE TO COME DOWN, ASK QUESTIONS, AND SEE WHAT DELTA CHI HAS TO OFFER. FOR MORE INFO CALL 549-4187

American Travel Services presents

SPRING BREAK "86"

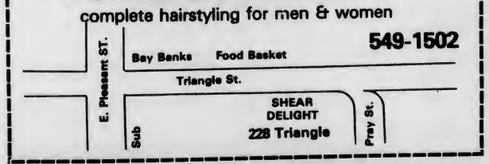
Ft Lauderdale
Hotel from $139.00
Air: New York $209. Rd Trip
Boston $228. Rd Trip
Holiday Inn Oceanside $209.

Nassau/Paradise Island
Hotel & Air from $329.
Pilot House Hotel $379.

All prices include Taxes and Gratuities
Don't be left out, sign up now!
Limited space available
For more information: call Danny 546-7899

WED., THURS. and FRI. SPECIAL

HAIRCUT



$7.50

with Blow Dry $10.00
with Laurie
with this ad/coupon Expires 2/14/86

at SHEAR DELIGHT

complete hairstyling for men & women

549-1502

Welcome Back SENATORS

First Student Senate Meeting will be tonight Feb. 5, 1986 at 7 PM

Campus Center Rm 101

All are welcome to attend.

UMASS DCE

SPRING

IT'S NOT TOO LATE TO REGISTER!

Continuing Education Classes and University Day Classes
Register through February 10

Registration Office
Division of Continuing Education
University Library
8:30 a.m.-7 p.m., Mon.-Thurs.;
8:30 a.m.-5 p.m., Fri.; and
10 a.m.-1 p.m., Sat. (2/1 & 2/8)

Late registration fee and permission of instructor necessary.

Pick up a catalog on campus or call 545-2414 for more information.

UNIVERSITY TRAVEL and TOURS INC.
225 Main St. Northampton, Mass. 584-9913

Spring and Summer Vacations with combination of cosmopolitan nightlife, beaches, and hiking

10 WEEKS EUROPE, CRETE, ISRAEL $1699

price includes:
- roundtrip airfare NY to Brussels
- 2 month Eurailpass
- 1 week hotel acc. each in Paris, Athens, & Israel
- 2 weeks hotel acc. on the beach in Crete
- 1 week acc. in the White Mountains of Crete

ATHENS AND CRETE 1 MONTH $999.

price includes:
- round trip airfare Boston or NY to Athens
- hotel acc.
  1 week in Athens
  2 weeks on the beaches of Crete
  1 week in the White Mountains of Crete

1 MONTH EUROPE AND CRETE $799

price includes:
- Roundtrip airfare NY to Brussels
- 1 month Eurailpass
- 1 week hotel acc. on the beach in Crete

Don't Miss Samaria Gorge in Crete, Europe's largest gorge!

2 MONTHS EUROPE, CRETE, ISRAEL $1199

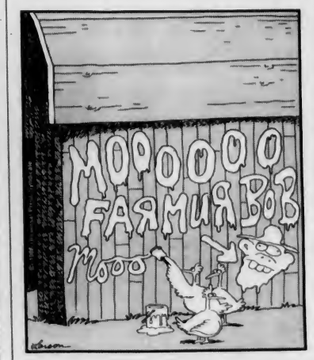
price includes:
- Airfare NY to Brussels
- 2 month Eurailpass
- Airfare to Israel
- 2 weeks hotel acc. on the beach in Crete

RUN THE ORIGINAL MARATHON

Week of April 6
26 miles
Marathon to Athens $899

- 1 week hotel acc. w/breakfast
- trans to and from race including all pre-race activities
- all finishers receive certificate from Greek Gov't

All prices good if reservations made before Feb. 15, 1986



SAVE SAVE SAVE SAVE SAVE
ON ANY SUMMER FLIGHT IF BOOKED BY FEB. 15th

Book Now for the Summer
$50. Off Any International Flight
$10. Off Any Domestic Flight
If Booked by Feb. 15, 1986

DOONESBURY GARRY TRUDEAU

THE FAR SIDE BY GARY LARSON

Eventually, the chickens were able to drive a wedge between Farmer Bob and Lulu.

FREAKER PATROL BY DOWE & O'BRIEN

HOUSEMATES BY R.MILLER

GORDY BY GORDE

BLOOM COUNTY BY BERKE BREATHED

Anyone interested in writing for the Collegian is invited to a FREE SCREENING of

ALL THE PRESIDENT'S MEN

starring Dustin Hoffman, Robert Redford

Thursday, 7:30 p.m. Campus Ctr. 165-69

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Edited by Trude Michel Jaffe

ACROSS
1 Manx
4 Hemingway to friends
8 Lincoln's in-laws
13 "To —— and a bone..." Kipling
15 Soliloquy opener for Hamlet
16 Otherwise called
17 Gam or Moreno
18 Camp cover
19 Family member
20 Eskers
21 Dress style of the Thirties
23 Breed of sheep
25 City on the Oka
26 Certain harvester
28 One kind of mill
33 Composers org.
35 Films Andrews
36 Hibernia
38 Eton, for one
41 Lime and magnesium
43 Gave the once over
44 —— even keel
46 Dust
47 Certain Greek islander
49 Divine bounty
51 Paper quantity
53 Engraves
57 Wrap for Sherlock Holmes
61 Garb for MacBeth
62 Gertrude
63 Skate to Mitterrand
64 Perry's creator
65 Twin Cities suburb
66 Hawaiian symbol
67 Abound
68 Nat and Natalie
69 Stamped
70 AMA members

DOWN
1 Pool ploy
2 Hit the deck
3 Russian republic
4 Scout group
5 Sheltered
6 Box holder of myth
7 Active
8 Twist together
9 Saimagundi
10 Food regimen
11 Fresh water fish
12 Wind dir
14 Blouse named for a famous Italian
22 India's neighbor
24 Scruft
27 Novelist Dorothy
29 Sailor's coat
30 Nap
31 Famous "Red"
32 Staff symbol
33 Honor cards
34 Only bean
35 Astlee to friends
37 Barrie dog
40 Hopeless case
42 Canterbury's location
45 Electric current measurer
48 Bowls
50 Like some boxes
52 Concerning
54 Took on
55 "Oklahoma" aunt
56 Goblet features
57 Make ——
58 Simon or Diamond
59 Virginia creeper
60 Sound in Sevilla
62 NYSE watchdog

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

L	A	M	A	R		S	U	M		P	O	S	E
A	B	A	S	E		V	I	R	E		P	A	N
P	A	C	E	D		E	E	L		C	R	E	D
		H	A	L	L	E	Y	S	C	O	M	E	T
A	R	I		T	A	C		O	N	E	D
M	E	A	N	T	H	E	M	O	N
A	B	E	L	E		V	I	L	P	S		H	E
P	E	R	E		P	L	E	A	T		L	Y	E
S	L	Y		C	H	A	I	N		A	I	S	L
		S	H	O	O	T	I	N	G	S	T	A	R
S	I	L	E	N	T		S	I	R		E	S	S
M	E	T	E	O	R		C	R	A	T	E	R
M	I	T	T	I	S		T	R	A		A	W	A
S	T	O	L	E			E	E	L		C	A	T
G	E	N	E	S			A	W	L		E	N	S

2/5/86

BROUGHT TO YOU BY

Today's Staff:

Night Editor.....Daniel Sobel
Copy Editor.....Bill Spain
Layout Technician.....Ansel Zinter
Photo Technician.....Paul Desmarais
Production Supervisor.....AZ
Production: Sod, AZ, Maura, Naomi, Mark

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian (USPS permit #568), a Registered Student Organization at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, is published Monday through Friday excluding holidays, exams and vacations periods. Content is determined solely by the Collegian Board of Editors without prior approval from University administrators, faculty or staff. Operations are funded solely by advertising and subscriptions revenue. Subscriptions and advertising rates are available at 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Mass. 01003, (413) 545-3500. Postmaster: send address changes to the above address.

UMASS SKI CLUB

Trip to Mount Snow

and Happy Hour with John Morgan

Sat. Feb. 8 - $23. for members

sign up at UMass Ski Club Wed and Thurs

Have your skis precision hand tuned by EXPERIENCED Ski Technician. Discount for members. Call Ski Club for details and appointment 545-3437

Z All Ψ

University Men are invited to

RUSH

ZETA PSI

TONIGHT

8:00 - 10:00

23 Phillips St. 256-6845

Shape Up For Spring

Until Friday,

February 7th you can work out at

the BODY SHOP FITNESS CENTERS for FREE!!!

Our friendly and knowledgeable staff will answer your questions and demonstrate our state-of-the-art Hydrafitness equipment.

EXERCISE WITH A FRIEND AND SAVE $$$$

Sign up with a friend and get the 2nd membership* at 1/2 PRICE!!

THE BODY SHOP

TWO CONVENIENT CAMPUS LOCATIONS:

Boyden & Totman

7:30 - 9:00 am

12:00 - 1:00 pm

4:00 - 6:00 pm

Still only $45/semester !

* ½ price for first time members only

The Whately Inn

Quality Food Prepared To Order

Chestnut Plain Rd Whately 665-3044

Featuring Steve Kloc's Famous Broiled LIVE LOBSTER

Also Serving Louisiana Cajun Entrees

Also Steaks, Prime Rib, Seafood

DIRECTIONS: take 116 north to South Deerfield, south on route 5-10 1½ miles. Right on Christian Lane ¼ mile from center of town.

Open: Mon-Sat 6-10 pm Sun 1-9

MASS. APPROVED INSPECTION STATION

RADIAL TIRE SALE

P155/80R13

$29.95

Includes Mounting plus MA State Tax

North Amherst Tire & Auto Center

"Full Service Tire Store"

78 Sunderland Rd., No. Amherst, MA Across from Watroba's Store

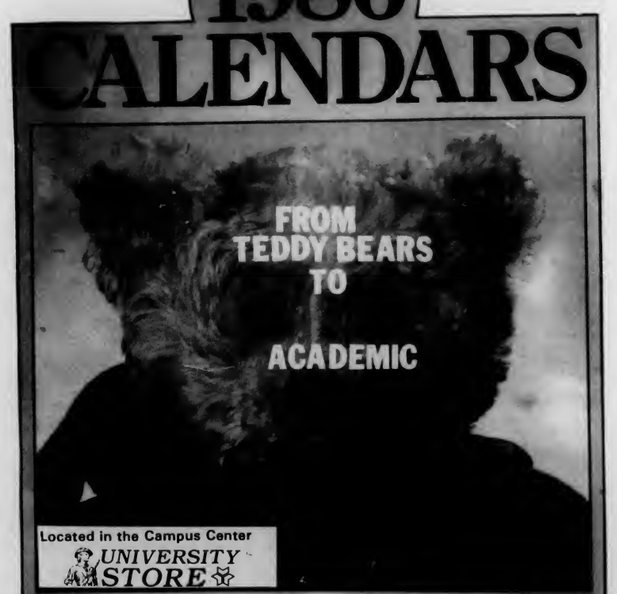
549-4704

Most Major Credit Cards Accepted

Lodestone has EDWIN JEANS

Save 10% with this ad - good thru Feb. 7

13 N. Pleasant St. Amherst, MA



U S Y Alumni & Friends Sponsors Brunch

NERUSY (New England Region United Synagogue Youth) Alumni & Friends organization, will sponsor a brunch on Sunday, February 9, 1986 at University of Massachusetts in Commonwealth Room (Student Union) from 11:00 A.M. to 1:30 P.M., the cost is $2.00.

USY Alumni & Friends was organized not only as source for renewing old acquaintances, but to seek out and gather information from past members and supporters. Helping fund scholarship programs for present USYers interested in participating in USY on Wheels, USY Pilgrimage to Israel, and Nativ, is just a part of what the organization is all about. Throughout the coming years NERUSY's Alumni & Friends hopes to obtain a large and ever-growing following to continue serving the needs of USYer's within the region.

For further information on the brunch at U Mass, please contact Elissa Wheeler at 546-8274

1986 CALENDARS

FROM TEDDY BEARS TO ACADEMIC

Located in the Campus Center UNIVERSITY STORE

NOW ON SALE

HILLEL COURSES

Jewish Liturgy

A preview of the major parts of the Sabbat and weekday services, analyzing commentaries on the prayers, and forming our own (translations) and understanding of them. One project may be to compile our own prayerbook for the Friday night service. Instructor: Rabbi Barry Krieger, Thursdays, 7-8 pm. Judaic Studies 192B #421214 Herter 112

Jewish Drama & Jews in Drama

An exploration of the Jewish experience as seen through plays written by Jews as well as through plays written about Jews by non-Jews. Instructor: Marcia Black. Wednesdays, 3:30-4:30 Judaic Studies 191C, #420411. Bartlett 310

— ONE CREDIT EACH —

To register: Bring Add-Drop form to Hillel Office Student Union 302

THE AMHERST DELICATESSEN

In the Carriage Shops, Amherst, since 1975!

On-Campus & Apartment Delivery Available • 549-6314

•Overstuffed Sandwiches •Foot-Long Subs

•Fresh Soups & Salads •Bagels & Lox

•N.Y. Cheesecake

THE AMHERST DELICATESSEN

233 No. Pleasant St., Amherst • 549-6314

Open Mon.-Sat., 9 a.m.- 10 p.m. ...Sun., 9-6

La Cazuela

THE MEXICAN RESTAURANT

NOW OPEN

Riverboat Village

APARTMENTS, SOUTH HADLEY

1, 2 or 3 BEDROOM UNITS

BEAUTIFUL MODELS FURNISHED BY CHAP DELAISES & EPSTEIN FURNITURE CO

•Swimming Pool •Tennis Court •Club House •Shuffle Board Court

FINANCED BY MHFA LEASED ON OPEN OCCUPANCY BASIS

OPEN SEVEN DAYS A WEEK 10 AM - 4 PM

PHONE 532-9461 532-9462

CALL FOR DIRECTIONS

Riverboat Village

P.O. BOX LODGE 93 SO. HADLEY, MASS. 01075

 THE UMASS PARTY CONNECTION *****

is

CHANGES Dance Club

Tonight - Wednesday February 5th

FREE SKI LIFT TICKETS

FREE MOVIE PASSES

Available For

PRIVATE PARTIES******

Free Sodas For Designated Drivers

Don't Drink and Drive

Rt. 9 Amherst 256-8284

CHANGES dance club

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Come to Collegian Office CC 113 • 8:45-3:45 Mon Thurs; 8:45 2:30 Fri • Deadline is 2 days prior to publication day

Cash in advance • Phone number FREE

ACTIVITIES

Alliance Christian Fellowship will meet on Thursday 2/6. For info or questions call Mark 546-9474 or Elizabeth 253-7206

WSYL - first organizational meeting on Thursday 2/6 CC 174, 7:00 new members welcome

"Coping With Our Mortality" Join Rev. Esther Hargis for Prophets and Other Heretics, Thursday, 4-5 at UCF, 428 Student Union

Are you Armenian or just want to be one? Join the club - the Armenian Club. Our first meeting Wednesday Feb. 5 6:30 CC 903 Details about everything. All old and new members always welcome (. .and refreshments, too)

AUTO FOR SALE

VW Superbeetle, 1973 good condition. $1200.00 as is or best offer. Call 253-5790 after 7:00 pm

1975 Plymouth Fury, good condition must sell, $400.00 tel 584-9362, 665-3207

1978 Datsun B210GX 5-speed AM/FM cassette excellent condition $950 or BO call 549-0425

72 VW Beetle semi-automatic dependable $275 586-7088

1976 Toyota Corolla 4 spd 2 dr reliable transportation $850 or BO call Luisa 549-1421

71 Plymouth auto. New exhaust system, snowtires. $360 must sell. Call Nga 546-4837

76 VW Rabbit, 4 door, standard, AM/FM, runs great, must sell 546-4854

BOLTWOOD

Boltwood Project Information Sessions: Wednesday, February 5 rm 917; Monday February 10 rm 804; Wednesday February 12 rm 917; Tuesday, February 18 rm 917. Campus Center 7:00 pm come see what we're all about!

"CASH"

Paying cash for your baseball cards Please call Mike 6-6105

ENTERTAINMENT

MOBILE MUSIC INC Disks spun to your taste Call Chris 256-6845

FOR RENT

Fridge Rentals free delivery R & P Package store 253-9742

Rivergiade Apt for rent two bedroom call Terry 549-7476

Available one room in spacious apartment at bus stop. Free miles from campus $153/month includes elec & hot water call anytime 253-3825

Rooms Available Delta Chi Fraternity, excellent home cooked meals, near Southwest, 1 double, 1 single open. Call 549-6361 for info

Large studio apt w/fireplace, private bath and kitchen. $585, includes heat. Steve 549-9859 anytime

Large room available immediately in 3 bedroom house, ½ mile from campus. $150* call anytime 256-9949

Looking for female for single room in three bedroom apt. Close to town and campus 225 plus call 549-4149 Triangle St.

FOR SALE

Desk. Large, 4-drawer, hardwood with large surface. Good condition. $90.00 or best offer. Call 253-5790 after 7 pm.

Mid-sized refrigerator; big! 3' tall, excellent condition; limited warranty; $130 Anne 586-6578

Small refrigerator for $45. Great for dorm call 665-3706

Electric Starfire-4 guild guitar for sale call Joann 586-9402

$300 worth of TWA trans. Fly anywhere by march 24, selling for $200. 584-5558

IBM Graphics Printer excellent condition call Arnie 253-5143

Airplane Ticket on Republic Airlines. Roundtrip to California. Seattle, Arizona, New Orleans, Florida, and more. No restrictions on reservation. First class, $290 549-4149

SMALL FRIDGE excellent cond. call Tim after six 256-8602 $60

GOVERNMENT HOMES from $1 (u repair). Also delinquent tax property. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. GH-9616 for information

FOUND

Found dark blue Adidas bag containing brand new books call 665-4151 & ask for Rick to identify mornings only

Did you lose a dog? Black and white with a tan muzzle. Approx 1 yr old. If so call Saul at 549-0686

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

Dan - Squished. Go stoop wild and get splattered. Rock Tracey Circle. Happy Birthday from Rubes, Dave, Drew, Bill and Eric. Golda too.

HELP WANTED

Entry Level Marketing Position in local multi-million dollar firm hourly wages starting from 4 to 5 dollars, plus paid sales commission Matt: 584-3596

Weekly pay for newspaper delivery in dorms. Must be able to deliver 7 days/week. Pay is variable. No car needed. Call evenings 253-7009

Airline Hiring Boom! $14 $39,000/ Stewardesses, Reservationists! Call for Guide, Cassette, Newsservice. (916) 944-4444 x UAW161

The Commuter Area Government is seeking a work study student to be a political advocate for off-campus students. Duties include: helping to organize area tenants unions, advocating for improved bus service, and researching the effects of fee hikes on off-campus students. Deadline 11 feb 3 PM 404 SUB 545-2145

JOBS*JOBS*JOBS Sears, the Student Center for Educational Research and Advocacy, is hiring the following positions; Public Relations, Researchers, Anti-Oppression Week Planner and Clerical. We encourage all students to apply, especially women and people of color. Applications available in 420 Student Union due 2/7 545-0341 AA/EEO employer

Campus Tour Service is hiring for spring semester. Apply at 101 Berkshire House by 2/14

GOVERNMENT JOBS. $16,040-$59,230/yr. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext R-9616 for current federal list

INSTRUCTION

Know your car. Basic Automobile Workshop. 28 hours including classroom and shop. Limited enrollment. 253-2098

Music and Dance Instruction. Performing Arts Division register by Wednesday, February 5. UMass student discounts available. Old Chapel/UMass 545-0519

Private Guitar Lessons. Experienced and patient teacher. Rock/Pop/Folk/Blues. Improvisation, Reading, Theory, Composition. Your home or my studio. Doug 549-4786

JOURNALISM EXPERIENCE

Bring the news of your school to the five college area. Gain valuable experience reporting for an award winning newspaper. Contact: DAILY COLLEGIAN 545-3500

LOST

Dog tan color part Lab & German Shep. Vicinity of Brown dorm. Named Scotch. Reward 256-0150 545-5833 or 413 596-4772

Brown leather wallet on Wed Jan 29 in Maher Aud during Econ 311. Please call Gordon for reward 253-5571

Car keys in SBA Monday afternoon small knife attached. Please call Steve 549-3815

Pin: Paisley shaped with colored stones. Thurs 1-30-86. Great sentimental value. If found, please call 549-3869 reward

Small visual aid in black vinyl case. Friday, January 31 Room 113 ORC or vicinity. Desperately needed by visually disabled student. Reward. 665-8316

$20 reward for the return of a blue duffle bag misplaced in Herter Hall please call: Colleen 584-1371

MOVER

'Round Town Movers fast, reliable, cheap. Call Michael anytime 323-6780

PERSONALS

Looking for Christian Fellowship? Alliance Christian Fellowship Thursday 2/6 7:15 Campus Center

Get the most from your workout. Call Mal for supplements at reduced prices. 546-7549

Larissa is a closet deadhead

Say it with a flower!! Send a carnation to a friend for Valentines Day. Table in Campus Center on Feb 5-12 sponsored by Newman Club

Southwest Residents!

- Help organize Southwest Week
- Fight unfair housing policies
- Get Involved

run for

Southwest Assembly Representative

vacancies for:

Crampton, Emerson, James, JQA Kennedy, Mackimmie, Washington

Nomination papers available at the SWAG Office in Hampden. Papers due at 5:00 pm on February 10th

SWAP BEDDING: our extra double mattress for your double box spring 665-8144

BONEYARD: if you can't be with the one you love, honey love the one you're with!!!!

Happy Birthday Julie Hope your day is wonderful and good luck this semester! L 4, 3 Scott

To Kim May this be your best semester yet Love Sandy

To all Sigma Kappa's I had a great time thanks for being so nice. Love Jana from CA

Congratualtions Brothers! We got a House! Alpha Epsilon Pi'ives! Howie & Rob

RIDERS WANTED

Tuesdays and Thursdays from Amherst to Boston and back call 549-7587 Claudia

ROOMMATE WANTED

Female roommate wanted to share bedroom in two bedroom Brandywine apt. no security deposit required. Call before 3:30 pm 549-4824

Northampton one bedroom in two bedroom apt River Run 225* need car 584-1293

Looking for a female to share a two bedroom apt you will have your own room. Close to campus. Call Yasmin 549-0926

1 male roommate for Brittany call 256-0082

Brandywine call Mike after 5 549-6289

Summer on Cape Cod roommates wanted excellent location in Hyannisport $650 for season from Memorial-Labor Day. Call now! 546-5288

Single room for rent in 8 bedroom home bordering U Mass. $250 + utilities mo. Call John or Pat at 549-6364 house has 2½ bathrooms, lg living room, lg. yard, 2 kitchens call anytime

Wanted 2 roommates male or female 5 minutes from campus Rt 9 call anytime 584-4601

One bedroom in two bedroom townhouse in Sunderland on bus route 225 each plus brand new, porch 665-7907 or 665-3414

Female roommate wanted for Brittany apt call now at 253-2420

Brittany Manor apt male roommate rent 150.00 call 549-6014 253-7094

Female to share room in Brittany Manor for spring semester call 253-2612

Female roommate wanted to share room in Brittany. Located across from bus stop. Easygoing people. Call 256-6262

Newly renovated Brandywine apt seek 1 male roommate in 2 bdrm apt. Should be clean & responsible. Come by 11L between 6:30-7:30 no calls

2 females needed for 1 lg bedroom in a house near Amherst Center 253-2284

Housemate wanted: 1 room available in house 1 mile from campus $184.00/month mds only call 256-8228 anytime

Male to share two bedroom Presidential Apt low rent 549-2808

Female 180 incl on bus rt Sunderland 256-6079

Female wanted for women's household near campus 187 plus nonsmoking vegetarian 549-5198

SERVICES

Typing. Fast, accurate. Call anytime. 665-7652

Lynne Hans Esq. P.C. Immigration Law evening appointments call Springfield Office 781-6370 or 665-8413

Light Moving with Toyota truck call 549-2649

Tailor for all kinds of alterations. Fast service, reasonable prices at SHAANN's Hampshire Mall 584-9362

SPITFIRE COLOR GUARD

UMass Competitive Color Guard - 1985 NJA champs - has 7 openings for experienced people. Go to school of Educ Rym on Tue or Thur at 8 PM or call 546-7699

TAX SOFTWARE

Integrated Federal, Mass forms from $50 call TaxHelp 256-0642

TRAVEL

SPRING BREAK on the beach at South Padre Island, Daytona Beach, Fort Lauderdale, Fort Walton Beach or Mustang Island/Port Arabaxa from only $89, and skiing at Steamboat or Vail from only $86! Deluxe lodging, parties, goodie bags, more. Hurry, call Sunchase Tours for more information and reservations toll free 1-800-321-5911 TODAY! When your Spring Break counts. . .count on Sunchase

WANTED

We're looking to take over a lease in Brandywine or Townehouse apts for fall semester 86 please call 6 1137 or 6-9548

Looking serious lifting partner call Matt 549-7980

WANTED TO RENT

Promising new band desperately seeking a place to rehearse for spring semester preferably on or near UMass campus Contact Scott at 546-5144

Single room wanted: female, non smoker, responsible, would like a quiet room at a reasonable price Call 665-2460

Sick of dorm life and D.C. food? Rooms available with full meal plan or meal plan alone. Walking distance to campus and town Call for more information 256-0674

SPORTS

Basketball Notebook

They're going down, but UMass isn't out

By PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

They are down, but not out. Not yet anyway.

The University of Massachusetts men's basketball team is home at last. The six day, three-game road trip is over. The Minutemen, losers of all three of those games and standing close to the Atlantic 10 cellar at 3-8 in the league (6-11 overall), are at the most critical point of the season.

With seven games left before the A-10 tournament, the Minutemen can establish some positive momentum for next season, or fall deeper into the hole they have already dug.

Granted, with three freshman starters and a slew of underclassmen on the bench, UM wasn't expected to win 20 games, but both head coach Ron Gerlufsen and the players thought a .500 season and top five finish in the league was possible.

The freshman however, played like freshmen and the team as a whole has been inconsistent with the exception of sophomore guard Lorenzo Sutton, who is the team's only double figure scorer with a league-leading 19.8 points-per-game.

UMass faces Rhode Island in Kingston on Saturday. The Rams, also 3-8, lost to UMass 81-75 in overtime on Jan. 11 and are pointing at UMass to be one of their infrequent A-10 victims.

They keys to the rest of the UMass season? There are many.

1. Get the ball to Sutton. For a high-scorer, the 6-2 guard doesn't see the ball enough. He gets only an average of 16 shots a game, not many for a player of his quality.

2. Create offense from other positions. Junior point guard Carl Smith can shoot. He is at 48 percent from the floor and needs to take more than six shots a game. David Brown, UM's small forward, can also score, but passes up the chance to show his skills in favor of making another pass. Center John Milum has the ability to rule the inside of A-10 games, but again, he doesn't get the ball enough. The big fowards, be it either Duane Chase or Sean Mosby, need to move without the ball and work for second-chance shots.

3. Open up the offense. Coach Ron Gerlufsen needs to tell his players its okay to shoot. UMass is waiting too long to work its offense and turns the ball over too often as the shot clock winds down. UMass should also run more often. Their half-court offense, because of their inexperience, isn't good. When Smith penetrates on the break and dishes off, UMass is at its best.

4. Get tougher on defense. UMass is letting other teams shoot 49 percent from the floor. St. Bonaventure scored the majority of its points on Monday night with layups. This is inexcusable. UMass has decent size underneath, but still cannot play good man-to-man defense. They need to concentrate more and try their hand at intimidating the opposition. With their team quickness, UM should be a better defensive team.

5. Try some other players. Specifically Fitzhugh Tarry and Sean Mosby. These freshman are 6-8 and 6-7 respectively and can play. Tarry, with the exception of the URI game (11 points and good defense) hasn't had a chance while after a great start, Mosby has seen little action. He's been in a slump, but you need to play to break out of one.

The final seven games include four at home against Penn State, Rutgers, St. Joseph's and Temple. Road games at West Virginia and Duquesne will be tough. A 3-4 record is a reasonable goal, but 4-3 isn't impossible. A 10-17 record, then maybe an upset in the A-10 tourney would leave the players feeling good and waiting for '86-87. Let's hope.

Atlantic 10 standings

1. West Virginia 11-1
2. St. Joseph's 10-2
3. Tem?tate 4-8
7. UMass 3-8
7. George Washington 3-8
7. Rhode Island 3-8
10. Rutgers 2-10

Collegian photo by Paul Desmarais

Women's basketball coach Barbara Stevens is looking for players to join sophmore center Sue Burtoft (above) next season

UM women begin search for recruits

Stevens has signed two, is close to others

By JOHN NOLAN
Collegian Staff

Three years ago, University of Massachusetts women's basketball head coach Barbara Stevens inherited a team that had won just five games the previous year and showed few signs of turning itself around overnight.

Stevens slowly began to build on a foundation of freshman and sophomore talent and hoped that with patience, a winning team would emerge. The following two seasons, the team showed gradual improvement, doubling its wins the first season and finishing 13-15 last year.

This season began with a promise for excellence and a winning record. Stevens' freshman foundation had matured and took the shape of five influential seniors expected to lead the team to its best record during Stevens' reign.

But what began as a season of high expectations, quickly turned into a coach's nightmare as the injury-plagued, 9-11 Minutewomen have suffered through a torturous schedule and several tough losses.

Losing the services of five graduating seniors this spring, UM will have to fill many shoes. The experience will be missed but as in every program trying to improve, it takes a long time to reach the top.

"Even though we've had a tough time in the conference, we're slowly climbing the ladder," Stevens said. "The way our recruiting situation is, we are competing for the same caliber athletes as the other Atlantic-10 teams are. But being in this conference, its only a matter of time before we get the kids that can help us out."

Stevens has landed two high school stars that she expects to help the team.

Michelle Rytko, a 5-10 guard out of Southbridge High School in Southbridge, Ma., is a career 20 points-per-game player who lead her team to a 14-1 record this season before being sidelined after tearing ligaments in her knee. Stevens doesn't expect the injury to affect her playing at UMass saying that with the necessary rehabilitation she should be ready to play.

The Minutewomen have also signed Sue Serafini, a 5-7 super-scoring guard out of Valley View High School in the Scranton, Pa. area. Serafini has scored over 1,600 points and grabbed over 1,000 rebounds during her career at Valley View.

She's a very, very capable scorer and rebounder who is an excellent athlete and a fierce competitor," said Stevens . Hoping to build a strong nucleus inside, Stevens has her eyes on three players that are also being actively courted by other schools. Stevens wasn't at liberty to name the unsigned prospects but did say that UM and Dartmouth are the finalists for a 6-3 center out of southern New Jersey.

Stevens also said that another player, a 6-0 forward out of New Jersey will decide between UM and the University of Arizona while a 5-11 forward also from New Jersey has narrowed her choices down to five schools including UM and three Ivy League schools.

Minuteman gymnasts home facing Southern Connecticut

By STUART GOTTLIEB
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts men's gymnastic team will take on Southern Connecticut University tonight at 7 p.m. at the Boyden Gymnastics Center. If the Minutemen, 3-2, are hoping to up their record, they will have to overcome some major obstacles.

The main problem the Minutemen face are that they will have to go up against Olympic coach Abe Grosfeld, the gold medal winning coach in the 1984 Olympics at Los Angeles, who doubles as coach of the Owls. He has been coaching at SCU for the past 20 years. This season, Grosfeld has led his team to a 4-0 division record, and a good shot at the East Coast Athletic Conference title.

Another problem UMass faces is the fact that they have not beaten SCU since 1972 which leaves coach Roy Johnson,"looking for another upset."

"This would be another big one" Johnson said, thinking back to his teams upset of East Stroudsberg at Boyden Gym this past Saturday. "If we pull this one out it will just prove to me that we could beat any team in the league."

The Owls have several outstanding athletes, but the one secret weapon is Robin Ratz. Ratz is a top gymnast in any forum, and has competed on the national level.

"We'll have to keep an eye on Ratz" Johnson said, "If he has one of his better days it could be all over, early."

Ratz is a phenom in the floor exercise, virtually turning the floor into a trampoline. He is one of the few gymnasts capable of performing a double back somersault, hitting the ground and turning it back around to a single forward somersault.

The UMass men will counter with sophomore Roberto Weil, who is the midst of an outstanding season in all-around competition.

The women's team continued their hard knocks season with a 164.40-164.20 loss to Cornell over the weekend in New York.

That loss raises the Minutewomen's "losses by under a point" record to three on the season and counting. The other slim defeats came at the hands of Yale, 171.90-171.65, and Northeastern, 168.8-167.95.

The Minutewomen are currently 2-3 on the season, but with just a little luck they would be 4-1 and right in the thick of their Atlantic 10 Conference competition.

NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY

The Massachusetts Daily

COLLEGIAN

RSO-UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS-AMHERST 113 CAMPUS CENTER 545-3500 VOLUME CXVI ISSUE 8

INSIDE

• Last-minute campaigning takes place in Manila. Page 2.
• The 1986 Academy Award nominations are in. Page 13.
• Men gymnasts lose to a feisty Southern Connecticut. Page 20.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1986

Weiner raps Conte, says he'll win seat

By IAN POLUMBAUM
Collegian Staff

Robert S. Weiner, the only announced candidate to unseat Rep. Silvio Conte, R-Pittsfield, yesterday said Conte "hides behind a veil of progressivism" and uses issues like the Gramm-Rudman spending bill to conceal his support for Reagan administration policies.

Weiner, 38, who has served as staff director of the House Committee on Aging and worked on three Democratic presidential campaigns, said that while Conte opposes the Gramm-Rudman law, the incumbent "was not effective in fighting cuts in human services before Gramm-Rudman."

Conte told the Collegian earlier this week that the deficit bill would reduce US aid to college students by $210 million next year, and that he would urge Congress to repeal the law if he loses a court challenge he and 11 other congressmen have filed against it.

In an interview yesterday, Weiner responded, "In the last five years our district [the 1st Congressional District] has lost $24 million in student aid ... before Gramm-Rudman. Where was Mr. Conte during that period of time?

He said Conte had done nothing to stop the slashing of $268 million from welfare, education, health and housing funds for the district during the Reagan years.

"The bottom line is, he votes like a Republican," he said.

Weiner charged that Conte was deliberately absent last year from key votes on the MX missile, nerve gas development and President Reagan's "star wars" initiative because he "wants to hide his vote from his district."

The challenger said Reagan's foreign and domestic policies "forget the people role of the federal government ... 'Star wars' and intervening in Nicaragua and Angola must never outstrip our own needs for education, housing, health care, food and jobs.

"There should not be funding for 'star wars,'" he added.

In addition to serving as an aide to the presidential bids of Jimmy Carter in 1976, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy in 1980 and Sen. Gary Hart in 1984, Weiner was the coordinator of the Democratic National Committee's National Youth Vote campaign in 1972, the first year that 18-year-olds were allowed to vote. He said his telephone in the Watergate office building that year was one of those bugged by the Republican Party in the scandal that eventually brought down President Nixon.

Weiner has never held an elected office, and Conte is considered an overwhelming favorite for reelection, having retained the seat with ease since he first won it in 1958. But Weiner said he is optimistic because Conte, the only GOP member representing the Bay State in Washington, is "an anomaly in this district, which is 3-to-1 Democratic. He's out of sync with the other members of the Massachusetts delegation."

Weiner has lived in Amherst since 1969. He received a UMass master's degree in recent American history in 1974.

Collegian photo by Michelle Segall

Bartender Tom Leahy pours the first alcohol to flow on campus this year yesterday at the TOC.

Wet campus

TOC serves liquor first time in months

By ANDREW WOLFF
Collegian Staff

Students, staff and visitors wanting a drink on campus were granted their wish yesterday, as the Top of the Campus Restaurant and Lounge served alcohol for the first time in nearly seven months.

More than than 30 people waited patiently at 5 p.m. for the TOC lounge doors to open. Within 15 minutes, the crowd, comprised mostly of students, swelled to about 50.

The opening came one day after the University was notified that its liquor liability insurance policy application was accepted by the Joint Underwriters Association, an insurance pool established by the state Legislature last summer to help bars with difficulty obtaining insurance.

Some students in the lounge when it opened said they were pleased alcohol has returned to campus.

"It's good," said Steve Miller, a junior economics major. "We don't have to drive. It's right on campus."

TOC prices have risen by 5 to 25 cents since the bar was last open to offset the cost of the new $30,000 insurance policy, said William Ellmore, staff assistant.

Also, alcoholic "iced tea," a drink made with several types of liquor, will no longer be served, in an effort to

Continued on page 8

Women's groups fear apathy

By ILANA LEVENSON
Collegian Staff

Leaders of student women's groups say they are baffled and concerned at the recent lack of interest and decline in membership in these groups.

The organizations include the women's caucus in the Undergraduate Student Senate, the Women's Leadership Project, and the women's issues team of the Student Center for Educational Research and Advocacy.

"All of a sudden nobody was interested anymore," said Diane Rossi, treasurer of the Student Government Association. Rossi said participation in women's groups is down from previous years.

The senate women's caucus, which folded in spring of 1984 but was revived that fall, has only 10 active members out of more than 100 senators, according to Rossi.

"Women who are active in the senate are definitely thinking about it [boosting women's involvement], and I hope they'll come up with some plans," she said. "All the areas' women's centers aren't real active at this point."

Rossi said she thought women are not participating because it is not a priority to them.

"I always hoped that one day there wouldn't be a need for these groups, but that day isn't here," she said. But at the same time, "Women are not being faced with an immediate crisis."

The women's caucus isn't the only

Continued on page 5

Collegian photo by Michelle Segall

SCALING LOGS -- Dennis Morin, a forester for the UMass Department of Forestry and Wildlife, measures the number of board feet in these logs yesterday at Tilson Farm. The process is called scaling.

SGA opens semester smoothly

By PATRICK JOHNSON
Collegian Staff

The Undergraduate Student Senate considered most of its old business last night, despite an hour-long debate concerning the conservative watchdog group Accuracy in Academia.

Before the debate, representatives from the group Students Advocating Rights Together informed the senate of a picket it will hold from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. tomorrow outside the Whitmore Administration Building.

Meeting for the first time this semester, the assembly was also able to suspend the rules to consider some new business, approve a motion to allocate funds for future spring concerts, and approve a letter which will be sent to the families of the victims of the space shuttle tragedy.

The senate adopted a resolution by a 28 to 9 vote, which states: be it resolved "that we (senate) show support and great concern to those professors who are currently monitored by Accuracy in Academia."

Some senators called for a postponement of the resolution because no instances of monitoring have been reported on campus.

"I am opposed to the motion since no University professor has been monitored on campus," Senator Tony Rudy said. "The motion should be postponed until Accuracy in Academia comes to campus."

M. Lynn Murphy, in support of the resolution, said the statement did not condemn AIA, but showed support for pro-

Continued on page 9

World and National

3rd bombing in Paris wounds 9 people

PARIS (AP) – The third bomb explosion in Paris in 48 hours wrecked part of a crowded underground sporting goods store yesterday, wounding nine people and inspiring fears of a terrorist campaign connected to events in the Middle East.

Six of the wounded were in serious condition, officials said. The bomb went off at 6:05 p.m. in the FNAC-Sports shop on the third underground level of the ultramodern Forum des Halles, the city's largest commercial complex.

Dozens of police cars, fire trucks and ambulances rushed to the complex built on the site of the old wholesale food market.

The store was plunged into darkness and was evacuated immediately. Shoppers estimated that up to 300 people were in it when the bomb exploded.

A police officer said the police station in front of the Forum des Halles received an anonymous telephone warning that there would be a bombing on the first level of the complex. It came about 10 minutes before the explosion two levels below.

Twenty-one people have been wounded in the three blasts - eight Monday night at a shopping arcade on the Champs Elysees, four at a large Latin Quarter bookstore Tuesday night, and nine at the sports store.

An unexploded bomb was found Monday night in a public lavatory on the top observation level of the Eiffel Tower.

The respected Le Monde newspaper said yesterday that police see the latest bombings - and explosions Dec. 7 at two large Paris department stores that wounded 39 people - as warnings to the government to speed negotiations for the release of four French hostages held in Beirut.

AP Laserphoto

BRIDGE OF SPIES – Members of the international press corps mill about the approach to the "Bridge of Spies," the Glienicke Bridge that connects Potsdam, East Germany, and West Berlin. The bridge, which has been a famous site of East-West spy and prisoner exchanges and is closed to traffic, is said to be the site of an expected swap next week that may include Soviet dissident Anatoly Shcharansky.

NASA cameras find booster

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla.(AP) – NASA trained undersea robot cameras yesterday on an object that could be Challenger's suspect right rocket booster, as agency officials prepared to disclose for the first time what they think caused the shuttle to explode in flames.

Sources reported, meanwhile, that ships had recovered 17 feet of explosives from a "destruct package" that was on the side of Challenger's main fuel tank when it lifted off. The explosives had not been detonated, the sources said, removing them from the list of possible causes of the catastrophe.

Members of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's interim review board are to be witnesses in Washington today when a presidential investigating commission holds its first hearing.

Spies accused

ROME(AP) – Italy has ordered the expulsion of a Soviet diplomat and the Rome station manager of the Soviet airline Aeroflot for alleged espionage activities, the AGI news agency reported yesterday.

AGI said one of the two Soviet officials is believed to have left the country already.

Spokesmen for the Foreign Ministry and Premier Bettino Craxi's office were not in and could not be reached for comment.

The Soviet Embassy said press and political counselors were not in their offices.

The AGI dispatch identified the two as Victor Kopytine, a first secretary of the Soviet Embassy who has been in Rome since September 1984, and Andrei Cheloukhine, the Rome chief of Aeroflot.

Marcos, Aquino dispute

MANILA, Philippines(AP) – President Ferdinand E. Marcos, at his last rally before the election, yesterday accused his opponents of sowing hatred and revolution during the bitter presidential campaign. Opposition candidate Corazon Aquino called him an old dictator whose time has passed.

Speaking in a Manila park during a heavy rain, Marcos addressed these remarks to Aquino and her supporters: "Slow down, you children of little brains, you're no match for the administration.

"I ask my opponents to stop what they have begun. You have sowed an atmosphere of hatred, anger and revolution. Now I say to you, the government of the Philippines is not defenseless," Marcos said on the last day of campaigning allowed by law for Friday's presidential election.

The city was plastered with posters calling Aquino "empty-headed."

Aquino, 53, told a crowd in her home province of Tarlac: "Marcos is my only enemy." She blames him for the 1983 assassination of her husband, Benigno, who had been the president's main political foe.

She said in a final campaign message issued by her headquarters that her campaign of "people power" had won, "and as the old dictator lurks in his palace with his dwindling band of cronies...I warn him: Do not cheat the people on Friday."

Marcos, 68, has been in power since 1965 and ruled by martial law for eight years beginning in 1972.

Washington that they would feel free to criticize any election abuses they found.

Marcos had called the early election in an effort to show critics at home and in the United States that he is still popular and has the strength to deal with a growing communist insurgency.

The president's party projected that he would win with 56 percent of the vote. Aquino has said she needs 65 percent to provide a cushion against vote fraud she predicts will occur.

Regan gets cornered on weighty matter

WASHINGTON(AP) – White House Chief of Staff Donald T. Regan got himself in trouble when he suggested most women don't understand ballistic missile throw-weights, and yesterday a woman asked him pointblank to supply a definition.

"Well, from the point of view, it's the amount of actual warheads that come from the curve of the missile from the time it leaves until it actually lands and how much do you actually drop," Regan replied in an interview on NBC-TV's "Today" show.

The State Department's arms control glossary defines throw-weight as: "The useful weight placed on a trajectory toward the target by the boost of main propulsion stages of the missile."

In an interview published during the Geneva summit conference last November, Regan had told a reporter that women are "not...going to understand throw-weights or what is happening in Afghanistan or what is happening in human rights."

"Some women will, but most women - believe me, your readers for the most part, if you took a poll - would rather read the human interest stuff of what happened," he said.

The remark touched off a furor, and Regan was forced to issue a written apology.

Are You Looking for Intelligent Life?

UNIVERSITY TRAVEL and TOURS INC. 584-9913
225 Main St. Northampton, Mass.

Saturday, February 22
Travels to New York City

"Looking for Intelligent Life in the Universe" starring Lilly Tomlin

$59.95 includes roundtrip bus fare, show tickets and dinner
Reserve your seat now. Call 584-9913

Beer with us!

Choose from our bounty of more than 80 varieties of imported beer!

We won the Valley Advocate's "Best Beer Selection" award - 1982!

Our selection now is EVEN BETTER.

We now feature our own brand of low priced LIQUORS as well as our super selection of WINES at very affordable prices.

Plus BULMER'S CIDER

BILLY'S
BEVERAGES
Beer—Wine—Liquor
SUNDERLAND • 665-2727
We welcome your empties!

President of graduate senate resigns

BY SEAN CASEY
Collegian Staff

The president of the Graduate Student Senate has resigned, claiming that his involvement with a unionization drive prevents him from devoting enough time to his office.

In other senate developments:

- The senate is investigating possible misuse of interest on student trust funds by administrators, and may file a lawsuit against the University if improprieties are found and not corrected.
- Senate leaders say new information they have received concerning the Universal Resource Fee may make it more difficult for them to press their opposition to the fee.

Jerry Ashlock, elected to his first term as a senate officer in May, informed the senate of his resignation from the presidency in January, citing his involvement with the Office and Professional International Employees' Union. The union is attempting to organize professional workers at the University.

George Claxton, former senate vice-president, assumed the office of president after Ashlock's resignation, creating an opening in the vice-presidency which will be filled at an open meeting of graduate students to be held Tuesday.

Graduate students will also elect a new executive officer at the meeting because that officer, John Hayes, has resigned to seek the vice-presidency.

Hayes also announced that the senate has been given new information about the Universal Resource Fee, $48 per semester paid by each student, which "may make it difficult for us [the senate] to make a good case for restructuring the fee," he said.

The senate has opposed the fee since its inception last May on the grounds that the fee was paying the debt service on buildings graduate students do not use, such as residence halls and dining commons.

According to information just given to the senate by the administration, the fee is actually going to be used to renovate buildings on campus, and only about 14 percent of this would be used for residence halls and dining commons.

"At any point in the year, they [the administration] could have explained this to us," Hayes said.

Hayes said senate officers plan to meet with Jack Littlefield, associate vice-chancellor for administration and finance, and John L. DeNyse, vice-chancellor for administration and finance, to discuss why the information had not been given to the senate earlier.

Hayes said that he is "not totally convinced" that the new information is true, and said also that the senate may call for an audit of pertinent university records.

Claxton also said he will be meeting with Chancellor Joseph D. Duffey to discuss the possible illegal use of student trust fund interest by administrators.

The interest on trust funds, which according to Claxton amounted to about $6.5 million last year, is required by law to be put back into the trust funds.

Claxton said that if mismanagement is detected and not corrected by the administration, a lawsuit will be initiated against the University.

Collegian photo by Michelle Segall

WHITE FLIGHT – Ed Harmon, a first-year Stockbridge student and member of Alpha Delta Phi fraternity, clears snow from the front of his North Pleasant Street house yesterday afternoon.

Resident area courses may fill requirements

By DANIEL MILLER
Collegian Staff

Students who register for residential area courses may be able to apply the credits to the new University's General Education requirements if a proposal from a residential area director is accepted.

Programming on campus is increasingly made up of departmental, and less often of residentially-designated courses since the early 1980s when the School of Education adopted the program and set up an ongoing administrative relationship between the school and Housing Services.

Larry Moneta, Orchard Hill Residential College assistant director for residential education, said 'we're working towards having all of our courses cross-listed [as Orchard Hill and departmental].

"We're advising faculty teaching courses here to submit their courses for approval as General Education requirements,' he said. The General Education Requirements will be required of first-year students this fall, replacing the core system.

Maurianne Adams, Southwest Residential Area academic coordinator, said "a cooperative situation" exists between Southwest and residential academic programs, which are now partially based in the School of Education.

Since the partnership between Southwest and residential academic programming began around 1984, the number of departmental courses taught in the dormitories has increased, she said.

This spring, Southwest is offering 29 departmental sections and 19 Southwest-designated sections. The Orchard Hill/Central area is offering nine departmental sections and 12 sections cross-listed as Orchard Hill/departmental.

Residential academic offerings are in three categories: liberal studies; staff development and social issues awareness; and the performing and fine arts. Curricula include courses, colloquia, independent studies, and a program for new students. Tutoring is also offered.

From 1967 to 1981, residential academic programming had to account to the provost. The move to the School of Education began in April 1981 when an ad hoc committee commissioned by the Faculty Senate presented the senate with a report on the "administrative reorganization of special programs."

Subsequently, the senate asked that the special programs University Without Walls, The Inquiry Program, and the Orchard Hill and Southwest residential colleges be administratively removed from the Provost's Office to the School of Education.

The ad hoc committee had concluded that the School of Education "would provide the best academic fit for these special programs," said Mario Fantini, dean of the School of Education. Fantini added that the programs were initially incorporated as a division of the school. Then-Provost Loren Baritz "didn't want these (special) programs in his office. He had too many people reporting to him," said Robert Kirk, associate professor of chemical engineering and a member of the Faculty Senate in the spring of 1981.

In October of 1983, Fantini and the Faculty Senate Academic Matters Council appointed a task force that according to its report "considered a need to examine the history, funding, objectives and missions of the various elements of residentially-based academic programming."

After the task force put forth non-binding recommendations, liberal studies was moved to the Office of the Coordinating Dean of Arts and Sciences; performing and fine arts was placed in the Fine Arts Center; and staff development and social issues awareness was relocated in the Human Services/Applied Behavorial Sciences division of the School of Education.

It is advantageous to teach classes in residence halls, because "the literature has shown that when students have the opportunity to take classes in residence halls, their retention rate improves," according to Charles Durant, Southwest Residential Area assistant director for residential education.

Women's studies staff evaluates curriculum

By BOB KIEVRA
Collegian Staff

After 11 years of growth and maturity, the University of Massachusetts Women's Studies Program has reached a crossroad.

"We are at a turning point where we need to assess where we've been, what we've accomplished, and where we're headed," said Professor Catherine Portuges, director of the program.

The major issues that Portuges said need to be addressed include questions of faculty responsibilities, research implementation, and the development of a graduate program.

"Our immediate challenge is to develop a graduate program that reflects the growing interest in the field," she said. "Over the past decade, there has been vast amounts of intellectual research that needs to be synthesized."

Portuges said she is concerned that much of her faculty's time is consumed by non-teaching activities.

"We need to be free from the endless rounds of committees that we all serve on," she said. "I could really use a few more faculty to round out the program.'

Portuges stressed that self-evaluation will be good for the program.

"Up to now, we haven't had the time to sit down and make connections between the field work that has been ongoing and the curriculum that we're presently offering," she said.

"Establishing a graduate program would give us this opportunity."

By "stepping back and consolidating the gains of the program," Portuges said that she hopes that some of the myths surrounding women's studies may be dispelled.

"There is the perception that our courses are restricted to women involved in certain groups or political activities. This is untrue." —Catherine Portuges, director, Women's Studies Program

"There is the perception that our courses are restricted to women involved in certain groups or political activities," Portuges said. "This is untrue.

"Our students are both male and female and our faculty and courses span the entire ideological spectrum.

"What our courses do is help students make connections between the intellectual concepts concerning gender and the reality in which we live," Portuges said. "In that regard, we try to help students come to a better understanding of the world around them."

Robert Paynter, an anthropology professor who has been teaching courses in the program for over three years, said that courses in women's studies attract quality students.

"The students who take courses in women's studies are some of the more intellectually active students on this campus," Paynter said. "As an educator, I enjoy working with them, because they have a vibrant attitude that's infectious."

"I encourage everyone to take a women's studies course or two," he said. "It's one of the best resources on this campus.'

BDIC offers flexibility

By DON LIPPER
Collegian Staff

Ron Maggio, a University of Massachusetts senior, created his major of corporate public relations because the University didn't offer a major that combined all his interests.

"It's a combination of writing, marketing and communications, and BDIC gave me an oppourtunity to continue pursuing my interests at the University," Maggio said.

The Bachelor's Degree with Individual Concentration program has been a feature of the University since the early 1970s when it was created in response to student demands for more flexible curricula. Under faculty guidance, students design their own interdisciplinary majors, which suit their individual talents and interests.

Although most of the work designing a BDIC degree takes place in the junior year, Susan Machala, coordinator of the BDIC program, said she urges students who are interested in creating their own major to speak with someone in the BDIC office early in the second semester of their sophomore year.

The requirements for BDIC majors are a minimum of a 2.0 cumulative average at entry and completion of University core and graduation requirements. In most cases, students need to make the commitment of four consecutive semesters to the BDIC program.

Malchera said she could not describe the "typical BDIC student."

In most cases, "it is someone motivated enough to bother to design their own major or someone who is disgruntled with what exists to become motivated enough to design their own major," Machala said.

There are currently about 150 BDIC majors, which is "a small enough group so that people can get personalized attention. It's much smaller than many majors, so I think that once people are in the BDIC program they get more careful attention and advising than in the larger majors," Machala said.

THE SOUND COMPANY

Will Not Be Undersold*

*or we will refund the difference plus 10% in cash

STEREO RECEIVERS

SAVE $70

$129

Technics 25 WATT DIGITAL AM/FM STEREO RECEIVER

SCOTT 319-25 Watt AM/FM Receiver ($150)	$79
AKAI T3 AM/FM Stereo Tuner ($240)	$109
TECHNICS 912 25 Watt AM/FM Receiver ($150)	$109
SCOTT 359R 60 Watt Digital Receiver ($300)	$169
TECHNICS 936 40 Watt Digital Receiver ($260)	$189
HARMON KARDON 615 AM/FM Stereo Digital Tuner ($395)	$249
HARMON KARDON 385-30 Watt Receiver ($250)	$209
TECHNICS 946 55 Watt Digital Receiver ($330)	$229
HARMON KARDON 380 Deluxe 30 Watt Receiver ($330)	$249
LUXMAN 102 60 Watt Deluxe Digital Receiver ($600)	$399
HARMON KARDON 660 80 Watt Intergrated Amplifier ($665)	$419
HARMON KARDON 690 60 Watt Digital Receiver ($700)	$599

CASSETTE RECORDER

SAVE $50

$109

Technics DOLBY B & C CASSETTE TAPE RECORDER

TEAC 518-Dolby B, C & DBX Cassette ($250)	$169.99
TEAC 555 Auto Reverse Dolby B &C Cassette ($270)	$169.99
TECHNICS B11W High Speed Dubbing Double Cassette with Dolby ($240)	$189
HARMAN KARDON 192 Solenoid Dolby Cassette (Resp 20-20,000 HF) ($250)	$229.99
TECHNICS B33 High speed Dubbing Double Cassette with Dolby B & C & DBX ($325)	$249.99
LUXMAN KX1W-Dolby B & C Cassette ($399)	$299.99
HARMON KARDON 292 Dolby B & C Solenoid Cassette-Freq. Resp. 20-21,000 ($350)	$299.99
HARMON KARDON 392 3 Head, Dolby B & C HX Pro, Auto Searen, Freq. Resp. 20-22,000 ($550)	$499.99
HARMON KARDON 491-3 Head-DolbyB & C HX Pro Freq. Resp. 20-24,000 ($825)	$599.99

TELEVISIONS

Panasonic

12" B & W T.V.

SAVE $30

$69

SELTEC 5" Battery/AC B&W TV with AM/FM Radio ($120)	$79
EMERSON 13" Color TV ($240)	$169
RCA 13" Color TV ($290)	$199
EMERSON 13" Wireless Remote Control Color TV ($350)	$249
RCA 19" XL100 Color TV ($360)	$249
RCA 19" Wireless Remote Control Color TV ($420)	$329

Digital Disc Players

Technics P-100 DIGITAL AUDIO DISC PLAYER

Newest model, triple laser technology, programmable for random access delay, skip key, auto music scan, lapse timer repeat. $248

Portable Disc Player (save 100) $269

CAR STEREO

SAVE $30

$20

EL-TECH AM/FM STEREO CASSETTE

SPECO 50 watt 20 ounce 6x9 Speakers ($60)	$29
Seltec AM/FM Cassette with Built in Graphic Equalizer ($90)	$59
Panasonic 695 6x9 Car Speakers ($100)	$59
Clarion 3180 AM/FM Cassette ($150)	$99
Clarim 3580 Auto Reverse AM/FM Stereo Cassette ($230)	$129
Audiobatn 381AM/FM Stereo, Auto Reverse Cassette, Dolby, Fader, Presets ($250)	$159
Panasonic 280 Digital AM/FM Stereo Cassette ($230)	$169
Concord #101 20 WattAM/FM Stereo Cassette ($180)	$139.99
Concord 102-20 Watt Digital Auto Reverse AM/FM Cassette ($250)	$199.99
Panasonic 330 Auto Reverse Digital AM/FM Cassette ($260)	$199
Panasonic 400-50 Watt Digital AM/FM Stereo Auto Reverse Cassette ($350)	$249
Augobaan 390-Digital AM/FM Stereo, Dolby Auto Reverse Cassette ($350)	$249

½ PRICE CAR STEREO INSTALLATION WITH PURCHASE

STEREO SYSTEMS

SAVE $70

$69

Emerson. AM/FM STEREO CASSETTE MUSIC SYSTEM

PANASONIC 3010 AM/FM Stereo Rack music system with Double Cassette ($300)	$249
PANASONIC 3020 20 Watt AM/FM Stereo Rac Music System with Double Cassette ($380)	$299
FISHER 3980 50 Watt Stereo Rack Music System with High Speed Double Cassette ($600)	$448
FISHER 8541-100 Watt Stereo Rack Music System with Digital Tuner, 14 Grand Graphic Equalizer, Linear Tracking Turntable, 15" 3 way Speakers ($900)	$698
FISHER 8551-100 Watt Stereo Rack System with Wireless Remote Control, Compact Digital Disc Player, 5 Band Equalizer, Linear Tracking Turntable, High Speed Double Cassette, 15" 3 way Speakers ($1200)	$898

MAXELL UDXL11-C90 CASSETTE TAPES $1.69 ea. LIMIT 10

TURNTABLES

SAVE $69

Technics BELT DRIVEN SEMI AUTOMATIC TURNTABLE

VIDEO RECORDERS

FISHER Front Loading VHS Wireless Remote Video Recorder

SAVE $150 $348

The Sound Compan

Quantity limited. No rainchecks. Not responsible for typographical errors.

Collegian photo by Brian Guarnotta

INTERESTING ANGLES – A lone person walks through the Fine Arts Center yesterday.

Group provides assistance to dyslexic students

Asked for a definition of dyslexia, Patrick Costello of the campus Dyslexic Student Organization struggles to come up with an adequate one.

"It's not a disease. It's perception," he says.

While the popular stereotype is that a dyslexic will see a word in reverse, for example, "dog" instead of "god," the problem is more complex, Costello said. Dyslexic, or "different learning styled," students process written or aural information differently from most people. Therefore, they need an individualized "different learning approach."

The DSO provides referral services, information, and peer support. It also works closely with the Communication Skills Center, which provides testing services and courses for students with learning disablities.

Costello said the administration is taking positive steps to provide assistance to the learning disabled. DSO is especially excited about a learning center being established by CASIAC and the Provost's Office that will include a program designed specifically for learning disabled/special needs students.

DSO will hold its first general meeting of the semester at 7 p.m. today in Bartlett 69. All interested persons are invited to attend and can call 545-0018 for more information.

—SEAN L. WALGREN

Student charged with false ID

A male student was arrested at 3:25 p.m. Tuesday in 12 Cance House on a warrant charging him with allegedly using false motor vehicle documents, University of Massachusetts Police said.

He was held on $100 cash bail, police said.

In other police reports:

●A 21-speed General Journey bicycle valued at $129 was reported stolen at 1:24 p.m. Tuesday, from a bicycle rack outside of Washington Tower. The chain locking the bicycle was cut with bolt cutters, police said.

●A police uniform and other equipment valued at $44 was reported stolen at 11:06 a.m. from the basement of Dickinson Hall. It was taken sometime since Dec. 31, police said.

★project

continued from page 1

women's group on campus with membership problems, as The Women's Leadership Project, a group "committed to promoting women's empowerment," is experiencing difficulties recruiting women as well.

Liisa Trocki, the former coordinator of the project and recent UMass graduate, said right now there is not a coordinator, but expressed hope that there would be one by next week.

Chris Alibrandi, the SCERA student coordinator, said she did not know why women were not applying for the position.

"For some reason women aren't turning up for that position," Alibrandi said. "It's a great job. There is room for creativity."

The leadership project shows movies and sponsors events on campus pertaining to women. Alibrandi said that future events are questionable unless women start participating in the project.

"I hope this isn't a trend. Every women's group on campus should focus some time on getting new people," Alibrandi said. "No one expects you to be perfect or a radical feminist either."

Alibrandi noted that the women's issues team of SCERA has suffered budget cuts, as have other anti-oppression programs.

"In our generation, we don't realize that we do have specific issues that are special to us because of the fact that we are women," she said. "We can't take for granted what our mothers and grandmothers and our aunts fought for before us because we are nowhere near equality yet."

Video Party With Rack-A-Disc

Saturday, February 8, 1986
Campus Center Auditorium
9:00 pm - 1:00 am
Admission $3.00
$1.50 Hillel Fee-Payers

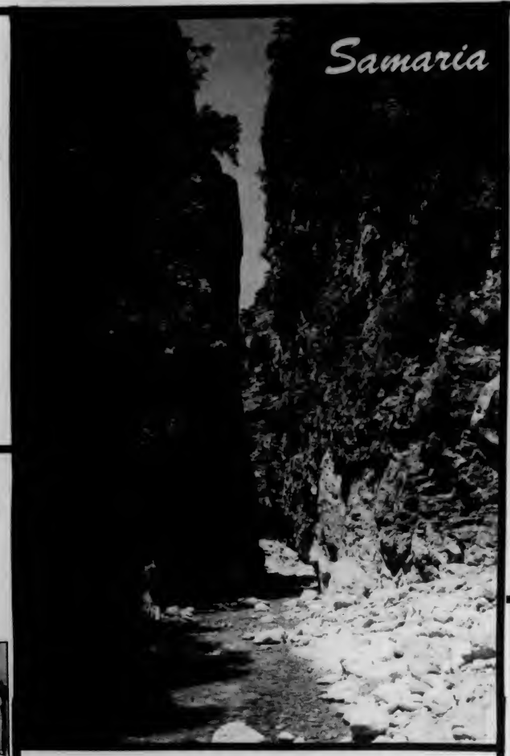
Sponsored by B'nai B'rith Hillel

ΣΔ
ΣΚ

- A positive membership education
- A concern for academics
- Immediate leadership
- Great social life
- Home cooked meals
- Competitive athletics

PHI SIGMA KAPPA
OPEN RUSH
Feb. 6 Thurs. 9-11

UNIVERSITY TRAVEL and TOURS INC.



225 Main St. Northampton, Mass. 584-9913

Spring and Summer Vacations with combination of cosmopolitan nightlife, beaches, and hiking

Run The Original Marathon

Week of April 6
26 miles
Marathon to Athens $899

- 1 week hotek acc. w/breakfast
- trans to and from race including all pre-race activities
- all finishers receive certificate from Greek Gov't

Price Good If Reservations Made Before Feb. 15, 1986

ATHENS AND CRETE 1 MONTH $999.

price includes:
- round trip airfare
  - Boston or NY to Athens
- hotel acc.
  1 week in Athens
  2 weeks on the beaches of Crete
  1 week in the White Mountains of Crete

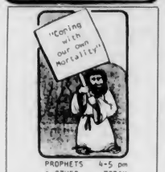
1 MONTH EUROPE AND CRETE $799

price includes:
- Roundtrip airfare NY to Brussels
- 1 month Eurailpass
- 1 week hotel acc. on the beach in Crete

Have your tour with all the trimmings. If you love the mountains. . .call us about our unique hiking program in Crete.

2 MONTHS EUROPE, CRETE, ISRAEL $1199

price includes:
- Airfare NY to Brussels
- 2 month Eurailpass
- Airfare to Israel
- 2 weeks hotel acc. on the beach in Crete



Making Plans for Spring Break Let Us Help

HAWAII	FLORIDA	MEXICO
4 nts Honolulu 3 nts Maui $844	Fort Lauderdale $278 to $580	Acapulco $579 to $619

Price Includes Airfare & Hotel Accommodations

HAIRCUTS $8.50 with this coupon
CALL STYLES BY DEBORAH
86 University Dr., Amherst, MA.
549-5610
C expires 2/14/86

RENT A WRECK
New & Used Cars
Trucks & Vans Also Available
North Amherst Rent-A-Wreck
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880

PROPHETS & OTHER HERETICS 4-5 pm TODAY at UCF 428 Student Union

ARE YOU PREGNANT & IN NEED OF HELP?
Birthright Can Help
• FREE PREGNANCY TESTING
Same Day Results -
Services that are Free, Confidential, Caring & Helpful
549-1906
Amherst Carriage Shops Upper Level

MASS. APPROVED INSPECTION STATION
Gas Saving Tune-up
4 Cyl $34.95
6 Cyl $39.95
8 Cyl $44.95
Incl. new spark plugs, points, & condenser, adjust dwell, check carb. adjust, set timing, test battery and charging system, inspect vacuum and distributor cap, PVC valve, ignition cables, air filter and wiper blades. Where applicable. Includes Emission Test and Printout.

Lube, Oil & Filter $17.99
Includes up to 5 quarts of 10-30 oil, and safety check.

North Amherst Tire & Auto Center
Full Service Tire Store
78 Sunderland Rd., No. Amherst, MA
Across from Wairoba's Store
549-4704

Book Sale
30% OFF our regular price on all books
Sat. Feb. 8 - Sat. Feb. 15
VALLEY BOOKS
Carriage Shops
Amherst
M-F 10:30-5:30
Sat 10-5
Sun 12-5
549-6052
VISA/MC

FOR ONLY $29.95

This is the Kodak Film offer you've been waiting for. You will receive a coupon booklet with 100 Kodak film coupons, and 10 enlargement coupons for only $29.95 with no time limit for their use. We provide film developing in our quality labs using Kodak paper and Kodak chemicals to ensure quality prints and slides. This offer can save you hundreds of dollars and can make a great gift.

If you are not delighted with this Kodak film offer return it for a prompt refund within 30 days.

100 ROLLS OF FRESH KODAK FILM as you need it

Special Campus Promotion
Limit 1 Offer Per Person

Mail To:
N.E. PHOTO CONCEPTS
241 King Street
Northampton, Ma 01060

Developing Prices	ASA 100-200	ASA 400-1000
12 Exposures	$3.19	$4.19
24 Exposures	$4.49	$5.49
36 Exposures	$6.99	$7.99
Disc	$4.99

SLIDE PRICES
20 Exposures	$5.99
36 Exposures	$7.99

Additional prints 9¢ each

SAVE HUNDREDS OF DOLLARS ON FILM AND DEVELOPING

☐ Check/MO ☐ VISA ☐ MasterCard
Acct. No
Expires
Signature
Name
Address
City
State Zip
School Affiliation
$29.95 includes postage and handling
Money Back Guarentee

Even Though We've Changed Our Name from Olympian, We'll Never Stop Competing Like One.

Look at These New Winning Values!

NIKE® AIR JORDAN Reg.$59.99 NOW $49
CONVERSE® HIGH TOP Reg.$34.99 NOW $27
NIKE® CONVENTION High Top Reg.$44.99 Low Cut Reg.$39.99 NOW $39 & $35

Winner's Circle is following in the footsteps of a former Olympian. We're the same spirited athletic shoe store featuring top quality brand name styles at unbeatable prices. Step into the Winner's Circle. The shoe store that continues to thrive on competition.

WINNERS CIRCLE
We thrive on competition.
Hampshire Mall, Rte. 9, Hadley.

★ TOC Continued from page 1

prevent excessive drunkeness, according to Dan Fitzgerald, a TOC employee.

"You can really get bombed on it," Fitzgerald said. "They can hit you like that."

The Hatch bar is not expected to reopen until Thursday or Friday, depending on when draught beer is obtained, according to Ashoke Ganguli, director of Auxiliary Services. The TOC does not serve draught beer.

Ganguli said only beer and wine will be served in the Hatch, a change from last year, when there was a full service bar.

"Beer and wine are more popular with the students in the Hatch and the pizza is there," Ganguli said.

Pizza sales have been down 10 to 20 percent since the bar has been closed, Ganguli said.

The Blue Wall will not be serving alcohol as it had in the past, since the coffee and doughnut shop begun last semester is a success, having earned $500 over normal operating costs, Ganguli said.

The Blue Wall lost $18,000 last year, he said.

Tom Hannan, 26, of Stratford, Conn., said he was surprised when he arrived here Monday for a convention of the Northeastern Retail Lumberman's Association and found no alcohol served anywhere on campus and glad he could now drink during his week-long convention.

"I expected it," he said of the alcohol. "I was surprised when they didn't have a bar."

Arrests of minors with alcohol declines

By JEFFRY BARTASH
Collegian Staff

University of Massachusetts police have cracked down on minors possessing alcohol since September and arrests have dropped off sharply since then, records show.

UMass police records show thirty-eight minors were arrested in September, while seven similar arrests occurred in December. Overall, 80 minors were arrested last semester as opposed to 12 minors arrested in the spring semester, before the drinking age was raised to 21.

"We pay more attention to it (minors in possession of alcohol)," said UMass police chief Robert Joyce. "Approximately only 8 percent of the campus population is eligible to drink now the drinking age is 21."

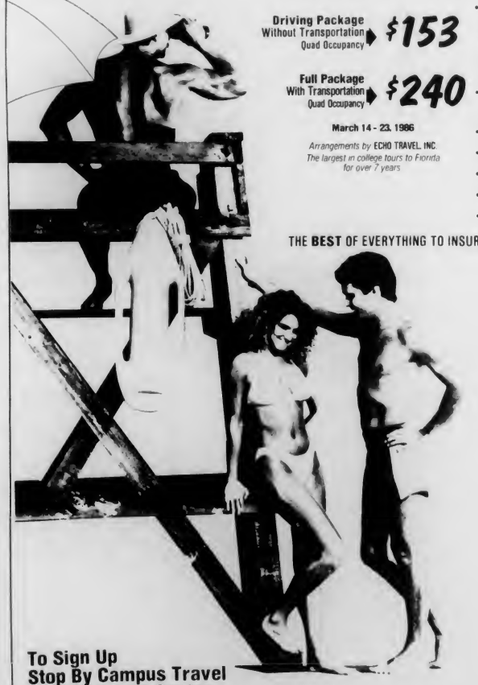
The raised drinking age has had no effect on the amount of driving while intoxicated arrests made by UMass police, records indicate. However, Amherst police records show 69 driving while intoxicated arrests were made last spring semester only 30 were made after the drinking age was raised last fall.

A first offense for driving while intoxicated is a misdemeanor. It carries a possible jail sentence of up to two years, a fine of not less than $100 and no more than $1000, or both. Those convicted have to attend an alcohol education program which costs about $500 and surrender their license for no less than 30 days. They are also required to pay lawyers' fees and probably a surcharge on their insurance. Multiple offenders face more severe penalties, Joyce said.

If a person, suspected of driving while intoxicated, refuses to take a breathilizer test, which measures the alcohol level in the bloodstream, his license will automatically be revoked for no less than 90 days. He will also have to attend a court hearing, Joyce said.

Collegian photo by Michelle Segall

Christine O'Neil, left, and Deirdre Armitage enjoy cocktails during yesterday's opener of the TOC lounge.



ACADEMIC CREDIT AVAILABLE-LOW COST 665257

CHINESE KITCHEN
FAST FOOD RESTAURANT
興旺樓
Eat In or Take Out Hours
Sunday Noon to 10 PM
Mon-Sat 11:30 AM to 10 PM
Pu-Pu Platter $12.00
Try Our Luncheon-Dinner Specials
Only $1.49 before 3 PM, $1.90 after 3 PM
2 LOCATIONS:
430 Russell St (Rt 9) Hadley 253-2571
150 King St. Northampton 586-8220

SPRINGBREAK
Jamaica from $299
AIR ONLY
FROM $249
★CALL NOW 800-1661
COUNCIL TRAVEL SERVICES
79 So Pleasant St Amherst

Tell Your Valentine
She's A Gem
with Gold and Diamonds
at
Golden Opportunity
Diamond earrings as low as $15.00
Heart Rings $30.
13 N. Pleasant St.
at Lodestone

CAMPUS TRAVEL
presents
SPRING BREAK IN DAYTONA BEACH
featuring the famous CARRIAGE HOUSE HOTEL

Driving Package Without Transportation Quad Occupancy $153
Full Package With Transportation Quad Occupancy $240
March 14 - 23, 1986
Arrangements by ECHO TRAVEL, INC.
The largest in college tours to Florida for over 7 years

YOUR TRIP INCLUDES
- Seven nights accommodations at the beautiful Carriage House Hotel located at 600 North Atlantic Avenue in Daytona Beach. Now under new ownership, this hotel is being newly renovated. With its great central location right on the strip it gives you the best of both quality and location. Includes color TV, air conditioning, restaurant and a great pool and party deck with a great tiki pool bar.
- Round trip motorcoach transportation via Interstate highway coaches to Daytona Beach, Florida leaving Friday, March 14, 1986. (more others) across the newest style buses available.
- Pool deck parties and activities every single day featuring the famous Echo Belly Flop Contest.
- Optional excursions available to Disney World, Epcot, Hawaiian luau's, party boats, and more.
- An entire list of bar and restaurant discounts to save you money at places you would go anyway.
- The services of full time travel representatives to throw parties and take great care of you.
- All taxes and gratuities. MASSA

THE BEST OF EVERYTHING TO INSURE YOU THE BEST SPRING BREAK!

★ Best Hotel-Guaranteed
You know where you will be staying on this trip (with other trips??)

★ Best Location in Daytona
Don't let a poor location ruin your trip - (the Daytona strip is 23 miles long!)

★ Shouting Distance from Everything
The top bars, restaurants, expos and free concerts (not a taxi ride away, like other trips)

★ Top of the Line Luxury Coaches
For the most comfortable party trip to Florida.

★ Pool Deck Parties Every Day
The hottest, biggest parties in Daytona Beach!

★ You might find a cheaper trip, but why risk your Spring Break cash on a cheap imitation?

To Sign Up
Stop By Campus Travel
in the Campus Center
Or For More Info
Call 545-0500

★ senate Continued from page 1

fessors across the country.

"Do you immunize for a disease after you've gotten it?" she said.

A motion sponsored by Senator Bill Collins to amend Student Government Association by-laws to include a spring concert funding clause was approved 30 to 2 with 10 senators abstaining. The motion calls for at least $50,000 from the annual Student Activity Trust Fund budget to be allocated for the spring events.

Under the provision, 40 percent of that amount is to be alloted to the Union Program Council Spring Concert, 20 percent to the Southwest Residential Area Concert, 20 percent to Eastside events, and 10 percent each to the the Greek Area and Music Theater Guild events.

Collins said the roll-call vote, where senators are called upon individually to cast their votes, "shows strong support the student senate has for the concerts to continue."

Marc Kenen, a representative from START, announced his group's plans for the "legal picket" tomorrow.

"We have to put things in perspective. Don't shirk your responsibilities," Kenen said.

"Will we be remembered as the ones who caved in, as those who sold out those before us, and those yet to come?"

Kenen urged all the senators present to take part in the picket. "If everyone in this room would come with two friends each, we would have over 100 people," he said.

He also spoke of unity among those in the senate. "The administration is determined to wait us out. Unity gives us the power to fight the administration."

The divisions in the senate have caused student confidence in student government to be at an all-time low, Kenen said.

"Every time we fight between ourselves, the administration wins. Everytime we publish articles against each other, the administration wins," he said.

The senate also observed a minute of silence to honor the shuttle victims.

CAMPUS TRAVEL CENTER
!! Spring Break in Orlando !!
We have blocked seats from Hartford to Orlando March 15-23
space is limited
$259.00 RT/Group Rate of $198.00 applies
if 20 or more people book
Campus Center (2nd) floor)
University of Massachusetts - Amherst
545-0500

Study at
THE HEBREW UNIVERSITY OF JERUSALEM
A Unique Academic Opportunity plus
The Unforgettable Experience of Jerusalem
******
Herbert Weinberg,
Director of Special Academic Programs
at the Hebrew University
will be on campus to discuss study opportunities
Thursday, February 6, 1986 at 3:30 p.m.
Student Union, Suffolk Room
For further information call (617) 731-6810
Under the auspices of the U. of Mass. International Programs Office B'nai B'rith Hillel

Marilyn Ferguson
author of
The Aquarian Conspiracy: Personal and Social Transformation in the 1980's will speak on
The Visionary Factor; Leading To Greater Creative Work

Friday, February 7, 1986, 7:30 P.M. at the University of Massachusetts Campus Center Aud.
also speaking on Creativity
Professor E. Paul Torrance, Professor D. Sisk and Dr. W, Butcher
Sponsored by the University of Massachusetts Schools and Colleges and the Honors Council
Free Admission

Proctor and Gamble
CAREERS IN SALES MANAGEMENT

Discussion of career opportunities in sales/marketing management
Feb. 6, 1986 5:30-8:30
Room 917 Campus Center
Representatives from the beauty care division of Proctor and Gamble will be present
Attendance is required for on campus interview in February

VALENTINE'S DAY
14K GOLD SALE
60% OFF
All Ticketed Prices of 14K Gold Chains and Bracelets!
14K Gold Earrings $10 sale price
14K Gold Bracelet reg. $50.
Sale Price $19.00
14K Gold Herringbone Chain
reg. $80.00 Sale $30.00
Many Other Specials Available
Sale Located on the Concourse
In Front of the University Store
Feb. 3 thru Feb. 8
10 am - 4 pm
Open M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3
Located in the Campus Center
UNIVERSITY STORE

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian

ED/OP

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted.

Founded in 1870

EXECUTIVE BOARD-SPRING 1986

Dode B. Levenson, Editor in Chief — Ian Polumbaum, Managing Editor — Larry Bouchie, Editorial Editor

Peter Soderberg, Production Manager — Conor Plunkett, Production Manager — Elizabeth Young, Business Manager — Sherry Sharfman, Business Manager

BOARD OF EDITORS

Dode B. Levenson, Editor in Chief — Ian Polumbaum, Managing Editor

Larry Bouchie, Editorial Editor — Joel P. Colfdis, News Editor — John Yonce, Women's Editor — Peter Abraham, Sports Editor

Jennifer Ackerman, Arts Editor — Kelly Sieger, Arts Editor — Michelle Segall, Photo Editor — Paul Desmarais, Photo Editor — Chris Allen, Black Affairs Editor

The Space Race

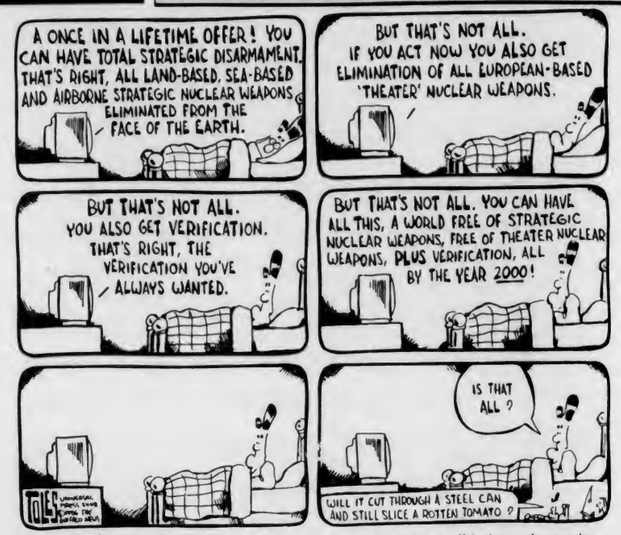
Timothy Harris

Millions of Americans emoted on cue last week when this nation's favorite experiment in the colonization of space exploded with a spectacular flash in a clear blue sky. The flag, last time I looked, was at half-mast; Reagan was photographed looking sad-yet-determined; America as an entity mourns seven "heroes." Or so says USA Today.

Undeniably, it is sad that seven more persons have been martyred to "progress." It is also tragic that the "Teacher in Space" public relations ploy should fail so dismally. But perhaps the hardest part to accept is the knowledge that this accident will not in the least halt the forward march of science in its drive to "conquer the final frontier."

The notion of exploring space has a very romantic appeal. I remember being nine years old, watching Neil Armstrong walk on the moon. "One small step for man, one giant leap for mankind," he said. At nine, I thought that was pretty profound. I also have vague memories of seeing, in Jan. 1967, Appolo One turn into a flaming ball of liquid oxygen on the launch pad. The three astronauts inside, Col. Virgil I. Grissom, Lt. Col. Edward H. White II, and Lt. Cmdr. Roger B. Caffee, were also declared heroes. Who remembers them now? Who remembers the Apollo One disaster? It occupies a rather obscure niche in the published history of space exploration.

"Space, the final frontier...," the disembodied voice intoned to a generation. "To boldly go where no man has gone before. Do-waaa, do-wa-wa-wa..." Imaginations ran wild. Visions of pressurized plexiglass colonies were shared, and talk of next conquering Mars and then Jupiter or Saturn was in the air. Our nation had space fever. And we were in a race with the Russians.



What is there to show for the investment of lives and truly astronomical sums of money that NASA represents? Some spin-off technology has made it to us, like velcro, which nice I suppose, but could probably have been accomplished more cheaply. A great deal of data that is of intense interest to a few specialists has been collected; the composition of extra-terrestrial minerals, atmospheric conditions 3,000 miles out in space; etc. This information, however, is of little help to a Haitian immigrant in Miami, a migrant laborer in California, or an unemployed steel worker in Detroit. Perhaps the most prominent legacy of the space program is the trillion dollars projected to fund the Strategic Defense Initiative, a.k.a. Star Wars.

Star Wars is the logical culmination of what began with Gemini, not just a fevered vision of Reagan's idiosyncratic brain. To blame Star Wars entirely on Reagan is to give the man far too much credit. Was the goal of reaching the moon simply to collect rocks? Was the point of Skylab some academic experiment in living in space? These were only a means to the ultimate end of gaining power from the vantage point of the sky.

Star Wars has the capability of being as much an offensive as a defensive weapon. So now the patriotic speeches, the lives lost and the money spent falls within a familiar framework. War, Power and Empire. Pax Americana enforced from the air.

Many universities won't touch Star Wars research, however lucrative. They recognize it for what it is. Scientists who haven't been dazzled by the dollar signs before their eyes agree Star Wars is unfeasible, and in these times of world wide human suffering, an unconscionable waste of resources. Redirecting the course of scientific research is no simple matter, especially when the purse strings are held by the Pentagon. However, we shouldn't let All-Star committees and cynically exploited words about "reaching for the stars" obscure the truth.

Timothy Harris is a Collegian columnist.

Gambling out lives

Mark Caldiera

How much longer will we allow the malicious Reagan administration to continue to play "chicken" with our lives?

Last July, Mikhail Gorbachev publicly announced that, as of Aug. 6, 1985, the Soviet Union would suspend nuclear arms testing until the end of the year; and this would be extended if the United States reciprocated. This moratorium, this concrete step towards ending the nuclear arms race, was brashly rejected by the Reagan administration on the grounds that it was a propaganda hoax.

Reagan spokespeople claim: 1)a test ban cannot be verified; 2)that the Soviets only made the offer because they had just completed tests of a new series of nuclear weapons and had in fact accelerated the test schedule so it could be finished before the suspension began. The Soviets soon made rationale 1) moot; excuse 2) was simply false.

The falsehood was that the Soviets had just accelerated a series of new weapons tests. According to the data gathered by the Swedish National Defense Research Institute (capable of detecting underground nuclear explosions in the Soviet Union as small as one kiloton), the Soviets conducted 14 nuclear tests in 1983, 18 in 1984, and only 7 before the moratorium took effect - hardly an acceleration. In comparison, the United States conducted 17 nuclear tests in 1983, 17 in 1984, and 16 in 1985, 7 of them after Gorbachev's moratorium.

Adding to the invalidation of the Reagan administration's accusation, there is no way anyone could measure a U.S. or Soviet underground nuclear explosion and infer from that which type of weapon was being tested, or whether they were new or old - only a fraction of the total explosive yield is set off during nuclear testing.

As for rationale 1)-that a Soviet test ban could not be verified - this was made moot in January when Gorbachev offered to allow the United States to place seismic detectors on Soviet soil, and to permit U.S. scientists to inspect Soviet test sites if any suspicion arose. To say the least, these proposals shocked the off-guarded Reagan officials.

As a result, the administration was forced to alter its rationale for opposing the moratorium. The new excuse is that the periodic testing of weapons in the existing U.S. arsenal is, in the words of Assistant Secretary of Defense Richard Perle, "indispensable to maintaining the credibility of our nuclear deterrant." This claim is an intentional fabrication. In 1978, Norris Bradburg, former director of the Los Alamos Weapons Lab, J. Carson Mark, former head of the lab's theoretical division, and Richard Garwin, a 35 year Los Alamos consultant, wrote a letter to then-president Jimmy Carter, saying: "Can the continued operability of our stockpile of nuclear weapons be assumed without nuclear testing?...Our answer is 'yes'." Reliability could be, and has been, assumed almost exclusively by other means: inspection and disassembly of components.

We are left then, after battling and interpreting the diplomatic doublespeak, to ask the question "What is the real reason for the Reagan administration's rejection of Gorbachev's moratorium?" The answer, we find, is that the Reagan administration is not interested in a nuclear test ban, nor in nuclear arms reductions. These are simply "not profitable." Its intention is clearly an increasing arms race (read: Space Race) which involves the development of a new generation of nuclear weapons - which requires nuclear testing. These new types include the Strategic Defense Initiatives' Xray-funneling laser bean weapon, and the electromagnetic pulse-boosting weapon.

While the Reagan administration gambles for profits with our lives, we must ask ourselves, "How much longer will we allow this?"

Mark Caldeira is a UMass student.

Duke's capital colors

Scott Frank

I am writing this article in awe of a man among men. This man is a person who, no matter what all others around him are urging him to do, does things in his own way. The man I am referring to is none other than the the Governor of this great state, Michael Dukakis. The issue that I am speaking of is capital punishment.

On the second day that Massachusetts voters elected Dukakis to his second term, they also approved a referendum initiating capital punishment into the state penal code. It was only a week or two later (after the election) that the soon-to-be Governor announced that, despite the people's insistence, he would not use the death penalty in any case, and if it was given to a criminal he would repeal the decision. That is the decision, by the way, of a jury of the person's peers. This does not seem to me to be a man who pays much attention to his constituents.

Let us pause here for a moment to look at Dukakis and his followers' stance. First of all, what is the use of a penal system if it does not punish in accordance with the crime that was committed? I am not saying that any person who kills should be penalized by death. I am not being unrealistic. If a person murders innocent, defenseless citizens repeatedly, with no sense of remorse, what is the sense of trying to rehabilitate them? I am not putting down the American rehabilitation system. I am one of its most avid supporters. What I am discussing is criminals who have had a chance at rehabilitation, failed, and gone out to kill again, and would do it even more often if given the chance.

What we are talking about here is a huge waste of the time, efforts, and money of our rehabilitation system, time that would be better spent helping other criminals learn the wrong of their deeds. According to national prison statistics, in 1983 there were 1,202 people on death row. It costs upwards of $20,000 (a conservative estimate) per year to keep a person in prison. This figures to be more than $20 million spent on people who have already been condemned to death by their peers, but are just taking up valuable prison space, thanks to our Governor and many others like him.

Why does Dukakis ignore the cries of his people? In these troubled times, citizens are only trying to make a safer world for themselves and their children. The reasoning behind the Governor's disregard for his constituents' wishes escapes me.

Scott Frank is a UMass student.

Savimbi merits U.S. aid

Peter Dow

Much of the American foreign policy toward the Third World has been characterized as misguided and incorrect by many political activists and historians. Indeed, the dominance of the United States in the international arena has led many leftist analysts to conclude that any incident in relations between a Third World country and the U.S. has resulted from American meddling and interference. In other words, all social and economic problems in a given Third World country can, in some way, be attributed to American "imperialism." This attitude immediately leads a leftist to support the "underdog," the Third World revolutionary who is attempting to overthrow a U.S. - supported regime.

Leftists, however, are currently facing the dilemma of whom to support in Angola. Savimbi has been in Washington this past week, lobbying congress and President Reagan for military aid in his fight against the Soviet proxy state in Angola. The marxists in Luanda are supported by between 30,000 and 45,000 Cuban troops (depending on whose figures you're using) and have received an estimated $2.5 billion in Soviet armaments.

Support for Savimbi has grown rapidly in recent months, as his liberation movement has gained international attention. Yet Savimbi and UNITA (the National Union for the Liberation of Angola) haven't just appeared from nowhere. They have been the dominant forces in the fight for total Angolan independence for many years; first against the Portugese in the 1970s, and now against Soviet imperialism. When Portugal granted independence to Angola in 1975, the marxist MPLA (Popular Movement for the Liberation of Angola) seized power from UNITA, promised to hold elections after a short time (which, of course, were not held), invited in Cuban military personnel, accepted Soviet armaments, and established a communist state (one's memory cannot help but to recall the Angolan parallels to Nicaragua). In addition, the U.S. Congress dealt a near-fatal blow to UNITA in 1976 by passing the Clark amendment, which banned U.S. aid to the Savimbi forces (this amendment was finally repealed last year).

Yet UNITA, isolated and without international support, did not succumb to the Angolan-Soviet-Cuban military machine; in fact, UNITA currently controls approximately one-half of Angola. Indeed, Savimbi has virtually split Angola into two countries; UNITA has its capital in Jamba, while the MPLA defends Luanda. Savimbi has been very successful in "winning the hearts and minds of the people," and UNITA now boasts a military force of 24,000 regular troops and 36,000 guerillas. In addition, Savimbi has established a successful barter system, and agricultural and social assitance programs. A particularly important part of UNITA's success has been the establishment of an extensive education system, consisting of 7,000 schools and 220,000 students. Indeed, by nearly every measure of merit, Savimbi is more than deserving of our support.

Thus the dilemma that is facing American leftists becomes evident. On the other hand, Savimbi is obviously a legitimate revolutionary, yet hs is pro-American and democratic. On the other hand, the Angolan government is clearly Marxist, has inflicted great pain on the Angolan people, and has received massive amounts of Soviet aid and cuban troops. Additionally, the Marxist regime receives more than 90 percent of its revenue from Gulf Oil, a dreaded, exploitative multinational. To further complicate the leftist's decision, the MPLA provides sanctuary for the African National Congress (ANC). Ironically, ANC activist Winnie Mandela has called Savimbi a "bandit" because he is trying to liberate Angola from the Soviet sphere.

Thus leftists find themselves in quite a predicament. For American conservatives and moderates, the choice is obvious; Savimbi, the anticommunist, pro-American democrat, deserves our military assistance in his fight against the MPLA. Hopefully, in the near future, the American left will emerge from their idealistic fog, abandon their allegiance to the Soviet proxy state in Angola, and choose to be on the correct side of history for once. The populations of Vietnam, Nicaragua, and Cambodia have all suffererd the results of misguided American leftist foreign policy pronouncements. Jonas Savimbi, UNITA, and the Angolan people deserve a better fate.

Peter Dow is a Collegian columnist.

Sources: "On the Verge of Success", Peter Worthington. Wall Street Journal, 8/20/85. James Kilpatrick. "Critical Hour for Savimbi". Worcester Telegram, 1/31/86. Norman Podhoretz. "Savimbi Deserves Benefit of Doubt". Worcester Gazette, 1/31/86. Peter Worthington. "Angola's Unknown War". National Review. 11/1/85.

Go ahead...make my day

Mary Cresse

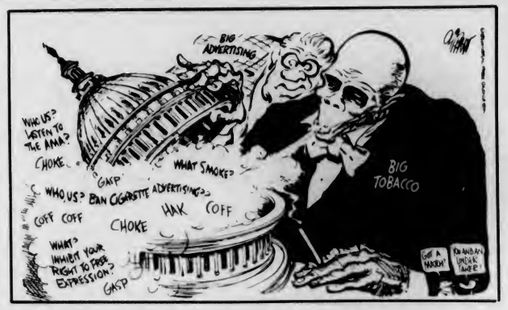
Hold it! Hold it right there. You're wearing a polo shirt and reading USA Today and drinking a Classic Coke with all that sugar--do you know there's at least a tablespoon of refined sugar in each can of Coke? And that hot dog that you bought at The Hatch? Nitrites! Carcinogens! Do you know processed pork causes breast cancer in lab animals?

Didn't I tell you to put down that newspaper? How do you expect to gain any journalistic insight from that daily gossip rag? It's got blue ink. And diagrams. Aren't you intelligent enough to gain information from news reports instead of step-by-step diagrams? Do you know how much money Gannett newspapers make in one year? How much they put into one issue of USA Today? Why, enough to feed all the anorexic chipmunks in Appalachia. The whales are gasping, child, and you're eating a HoHo!

I bet you read The Minuteman, huh? Our school symbol of the Minuteman is not only sexist but literally rings of militarism and ill will--do you listen to the national anthem, by the way? I bet you sing it at baseball games. I bet you drink Coors beer and eat Nestle bars and sing the national anthem and burp and talk about Dwight Gooden and dare to enjoy life when the citizens of this country have wasted their money on restoring the Statue of Liberty.

How can you do all that when you have the social obligation to go out into that world and teach your children that Left is Right and the Middle belongs in a candy bar. That simply because of their gender, women are theoretically bound to agree with all assertations made by all feminists, anywhere, on all issues. That no one in any walk of life should ever be offended. That children should be taught to see the folly of duality of thought and thus learn to argue, and form arguments, and back those arguments up with facts and figures. That would be an awful thing

Don't you realize that you should you should you should you should?



What bothers me the most is that you have the gall not to listen to me. Put that stack of Minutemans in the dumpster. Add the UMass Republican Club, too. And while we're at it, round up all the moderates and all the business majors. Find those conservative Democrats. They go, too.

Well, what do you have to say to all this? Don't you have any suggestions Mary?

Only one...Make my day.

Mary Cresse is a Collegian columnist.

Dial your way out of the doldrums. Call in to talk with Collegian columnists from 6 — 7 p.m. tonight. Only on the UMass Hotline with Bill Stepchew on WMUA.

Update from the office

Roth/Burgess

Welcome back everyone, we hope that your intersession went well. While you were away though, we were here continuing and beginning our work on many projects. Before everybody becomes caught up in the semester grind, we want to update you on a few of these projects and hopefully intrigue you to find out more about them and many others. Perhaps you will even consider setting up an Independent Study or an Internship which centers around one of these issues. Overall, we can begin to fill you in on all the SGA trivia.

--Remember the Varsity Sports Teams we were trying to save? Well today is the decisive day, but we seem to have already conquered the major obstacles. Last week, the Trustee Budget Committee met and not only chose not to ask for a demotion of these teams, but also authorized the University to fund the teams. We are optimistic that the full Board of Trustees will feel willing to agree with the committee's decision.

--The START coalition has been actively pursuing an end to the SATF control crisis. At present, students and administrators are negotiating the composition of an SATF commission which will be charged to resolve both the short and long term difficulties of this control struggle. We look forward to an expedient result.

--Yesterday marked the return of alcohol to our campus. It has been a long haul, yet it seems that the insurance companies have finally compromised on a reasonable proposal. So enjoy the return, but please remember moderation. Maybe we'll catch you in the back of the Hatch.

Obviously the work is far from over and is much more extensive than described here. Good luck as the semester begins. If you would like to speak with us about a problem or a question, feel free to stop by our office at 406E SUB or call at 5-0341. We are your co-presidents and we do care. Help us serve you better!

Stacy Roth and Dani Burgess are SGA co-presidents.

Growing up with UMass

Craig Sandler

It's very strange for me to be on the UMass campus as a student. I grew up in Amherst. My earliest recollection of UMass is walking with my dad past the incomplete Grad Research Tower. This was during the 60s, the time of the University's phenomenal growth as it went from 6,000 to 26,000 students in less than a decade. For years, construction was the dominant feature of the campus, and it dominates my memories-- huge cranes, dust, noise.

I grew older and the University became the ultimate playground. My friend Pierre and I spend several summers scrounging together what money we could and riding up to the University, to the Campus Center, to play pinball. In those days games were a dime a piece, three for a quarter, and we developed about six dozen ways to steal free games by beating on the machines in the right places. My earliest experience with the University staff came when the maintainence people had to free me from an electronic race car game. I had intelligently stuck my finger into a hoile on the game's steering wheel, and couldn't get it back out. When all attempts at liberation with soap and solvent had failed, they had to hacksaw te steering wheel. After three hours in the emergency room at Cooley JDickenson Hospital, a janitor finalkly released by finger with another hacksaw.

UMass was a recreational paradise, close by and cheap. At various times Pierre and I used UMass as a bike raceway (the plaza at the GRC), a source of pilfered candy (after-dinner mints from teh Top of te Campus), and a laboratory for studying the effects of free fall acceleration (the elevators in the Campus Center and their emergency stop buttons). For reasons only eleven-year-olds everywhere can understand, we decided one time to camp out in the Student Union. When we woke up at 2 a.m. in the darkened room, sore and absolutely freezing, we decided to head home. Pierre's bike got a flat tire, and we were escorted home at 3 a.m. by the UMass police. Our parents were less than delighted; we didn't see the campus for a while after that.

Later, I deserted my bike for the thrills and spills of skateboarding-- at the University, of course. The best ramp in town was located in the angular expanses of the Fine Arts Center, so my friends and I spend hours and days riding its surface, and occasionally fleeing from the school's constabularies. So little time, so many misdemeanors to commit. One time a photographer from a local newspaper showed up. He took out a film canister and peeled off its lid, but I guess he should have labeled that one, because a small avalanche of marijuana cascaded out. We went crazy.

Ah, memories.

Well, here I am now, older and wiser as I tell myself, and as I said it's strange. The modern video games call to me with their blips and howls, but I must ignore them-- it's 11:08 a.m., and I have a class to get to (a class?). Somewhere along the line, I developed the ability to ride in an elevator without torture testing it. And the UMass Transit Service must find a way to muddle through without my snowballs providing entertainment to its passengers and drivers.

The after-dinner mints are still terrific, though...

Craig Sandler is a Collegian correspondent.

Letters

Anorexia affects many more

In response to the Collegian article covering the lecture by Joan J. Brumberg on anorexia nervosa, I would like it known that this disease is not only "the reluctance of adolescent women to eat," but also adolescent men, as well as adults of both sexes.

Paul Gartland
Northampton

Lounge Lizard

(lounj liz'ûrd) n.

A non-poisonous, two-legged variety with an enlarged capacity for fun; having a body uniquely adapted to lolling around in a lazy, relaxed manner; indigenous to a popular local watering hole.

Coming Soon!

ARTS

It's Oscar time!

By DON LIPPER
Collegian Staff

I didn't want to write this article. They made me do it. Arts editors have secret ways of making film columnist make their Oscar predictions. It's hard to type while your fingernails are being extracted.

Based on the nominations, here are my absolutely fearless Oscar predictions:

Best Picture: Everyone knows that I'm a Spielberg fan (notice I didn't say Spielberg fan, shock therapy has cured me of that habit). I honestly believe that The Color Purple will win this one because it is a better film as a whole than the others.

Best Actor: William Hurt simply outacted everyone

continued on page 13

SPRING BREAK

- ☐ Nassau From $399.00
- ☐ Mexico (Cancun, Puerto Vallarta, Acapulco) From $379.00
- ☐ Bermuda From $419.00
- ☐ Ft. Lauderdale From $419.00 (hotel only $179)
- ☐ Daytona Beach From $429.00 (hotel only $174)
- ☐ London/Paris From $499.00

Party All The Time With Party Time!
Book Now—Space Is Limited
Contact: Mike Smith 549-7479

FLING INTERCOLLEGIATE HOLIDAYS

Party Time And Travel, Inc.
49Tuttle Street
Wakefield, MA 01880
617-246-1222

PTET Party Time & Travel Inc.

Destination _____ Departure City _____
☐ Sounds Good. I'm ready to party and enclose $50 deposit ☐ Rush me more information
Name _____ School _____
Address _____ Phone _____
City _____ State _____ Zip _____

VALLEY SPIRITS

Located in the heart of Off-Campus Housing: Where you can find the largest selection of imported and domestic wine and liquor 665-2571

Open: 10 am - 11 pm Rte. 116 Sunderland

UMASS SPRING

IT'S NOT TOO LATE TO REGISTER!

Continuing Education Classes and University Day Classes
Register through February 10

Registration Office
Division of Continuing Education
University Library
8:30 a.m.-7 p.m., Mon.-Thurs.;
8:30 a.m.-5 p.m., Fri.; and
10 a.m.-1 p.m., Sat. (2/1 & 2/8)

Late registration fee and permission of instructor necessary.

Pick up a catalog on campus or call 545-2414 for more information.

Say, "I Love You," This February 14...

With a card from American Greetings contemporary, traditional, or humorous, we have them all.

Open M-F 9-5
Located in the Campus Center

UNIVERSITY STORE

AMERICAN GREETINGS

© MCMLXXXVI American Greetings Corp.

ARTS

Oscar nominations are in; Out of Africa leads

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press
BEVERLY HILLS, Calif.

— The Color Purple, the struggle of a poor black Southern woman for dignity, and Out of Africa, a romantic tale of a Danish writer, led the field with 11 Oscar nominations Wednesday — but voters snubbed Purple director Steven Spielberg in his bid for artistic acclaim.

Prizzi's Honor, a black comedy about a lovesick Mafia hitman, and Witness, the adventures of a New York cop in Amish country, each captured eight nominations. The list of contenders for best picture of 1985 was rounded out by Kiss of the Spider Woman, about a revolutionary and a homosexual who become friends in jail. It had four nominations in all.

The 58th annual Academy Awards will be presented March 24.

The nominations reflected the independence of Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences voters. They were unswayed by the big bucks of 1985's biggest box-office hits. Back to the Future could manage only the song and writing nominations and two for sound, and Rambo – First Blood, Part II muscled its way only to a mention for sound effects editing.

Spielberg has yet to win an Oscar, even though he has directed the all-time movie moneymaker E.T. — the Extra-Terrestrial.

The Color Purple was widely considered his bid for peer acceptance as a director of substance.

At Spielberg's Amblin Entertainment, a secretary said the director was out of town and unavailable for comment.

Setting aside the director of a movie nominated for best picture is not without precedent, last year, the Norman Jewison-directed A Soldier's Story received a top picture nod, but Jewison was ignored by the Motion Picture Academy.

Spielberg's star, stand-up comic Whoopi Goldberg, was nominated for her role as the downtrodden farm wife.

"It's amazing," Goldberg said in a statement read by her publicist Nan Leonard. "I'm grateful and very excited."

Also named for best actress were Anne Bancroft as the stern mother superior of Agnes of God, Jessica Lange the country singer Patsy Cline in Sweet Dreams, and Meryl Streep as the Danish novelist Isak Dinesen of Out of Africa.

Geraldine Page, the homeward-bound Texas woman of The Trip to Bountiful, scored her ninth nomination. The 61-year-old actress has yet to win.

Jack Nicholson, the cool hitman of Prizzi's Honor, and Jon Voight, the escaped convict of Runaway Train were nominated for best actor, along with first-time nominees Harrison Ford, the detective on the run in Witness, James Garner, the small-town pharmacist in Murphy's Romance, and William Hurt, the homosexual prisoner of Kiss of the Spider Woman.

Don Ameche, 79, who started performing in movies in 1936, made a sentimental comeback by scoring his first academy nomination for best supporting actor in Cocoon.

The performances of Whoopi Goldberg in The Color Purple, Meryl Streep of Out of Africa, and Anne Bancroft in Agnes of God has earned these three actresses Oscar nominations for Best Actress.

Nominations for Best Actor include Harrison Ford of Witness, Jack Nicholson of Prizzi's Honor, and William Hurt from Kiss of the Spider Woman.

The Best Supporting Actors and Actresses lists include Margaret Avery, for The Color Purple, Klaus Maris Brandauer, of Out of Africa, and Meg Tilly for Agnes of God.

Amherst Ballet Center
29 Strong Street
10-week adult evening courses starting Feb. 3

BALLET
MODERN DANCE
JAZZ

All Levels
Call 549-1555

THE FINE ARTS CENTER CONCERT HALL
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

The National Theatre of the Deaf presenting
FAREWELL, MY LOVELY!
and IN A GROVE

Thursday, February 6, 8 pm
Tickets $18.16.14

★ predictions continued from page 12

else in this category. His characterization of the effeminate homosexual in Kiss of the Spiderwoman was perfect. It made the movie.

Best Actress: I haven't seen The Trip to Bountiful but I'm guessing that the real competition will be between Meryl Streep and Whoopi Goldberg. Both give wonderful performances, but I think it will be Whoopi (maybe because she shows a wider range and greater emotional growth in the film or maybe because Meryl already has too many of those little statues).

Best Supporting Actor: This is an easy one. Klaus Maria Brandauer (Out of Africa) simply outclasses all the others. You miss him everytime he leaves the screen.

Best Supporting Actress: This is the toughest acting category, all these women deserve recognition for their accomplishments. The top runners are Margaret Avery (The Color Purple), Amy Madigan (Twice in a Lifetime) and Meg Tilly (Agnes of God). I think the academy will probably go with Meg Tilly.

Best Director: First I'd like you all to notice that a certain favorite director of mine is noticeably absent from this list. I won't mention his name, but it rhymes with mielberg. The top runners in this category are Akira Kurosawa (Ran), Syndey Pollack (Out of Africa) and John Huston (Prizzi's Honor). Your guess is as good as mine, but my money is on Huston. Simply because he hails back to Hollywood's old glory days.

Best Original Song: Who cares?

Best Original Screenplay: This one goes to the fastest paced, tightest screenplay this year, and that is Back to the Future written by Robert Zemeckis and Bob Gale.

Best Screenplay Adaptation: Menno Meyjes for The Color Purple.

Best Cinematography: Allen Daviau, also for The Color Purple.

Best Original Score: Quincy Jones and Company for (guess what?) The Color Purple. This soundrack has evocative compositions in the different musical styles from the ragtime to the jazz eras. The music in this film is almost a character that makes itself felt in every scene. Best Art Direction: Another easy one, Brazil walks off with this one hands down. The sets create at once a bizarre off-center world where this manic story takes place.

Best Costume Design: If anyone aside from fashion marketing majors cares about this one, I'm guessing it will go to Ran, a movie set in feudal Japan.

Now, I just want to warn anyone who says to me on March 25, "You were wrong!" that they will be forced to sit in every student senate meeting for the rest of the semester and write 1000 times on a blackboard "I will always honor and revere the film columnist."

★★★★★

The photo running on yesterdays Arts page was lacking information. The band is INXS, who is playing at the Student Union Ballroom tomorrow night. Also, the Replacements are not from Boston but from Milwaukee. Sorry for the misinformation.

DANCE YOUR HEART OUT! — the Stompers & THE DEL FUEGOS

Special Guest Fantasia

Springfield Civic Center Exhibition Hall
Friday, February 14th-8:00pm
$8.50 advance, $10.00 day of the show
TICKETS ON SALE ON CAMPUS
AT FINE ARTS CENTER BOX OFFICE
PHONE CHARGES: (413) 787-6600 or (800) 243-4842
Produced in association with WAQY
ALL AGES WELCOME. CASH BAR — 21 AND OVER

UPC Presents
A Blues
Extravaganza!

JOHNNY WINTER

and Special Guest
ROY BUCHANAN

Tickets on Sale
TODAY!
At Tix
Unlimited
For the Record (Faces) and
Main St
Records
No cans, bottles or recording devices

TUES. FEB. 25th
S.U.B. 8 pm
Tickets $9.00
in advance
$10.00 at the door

"My career in medicine began at only 16, giving vaccinations in the Amazon jungle."

Deborah Berman
Nashua, NH

Work. Study. Save Money.
If you're tired of the same old thing, why not spend a year in Latin America or bring that travel dream home?
Like leadership skills. And a career edge. Some of us get an education there.
To be an Amigos volunteer, write: Amigos de las Americas, 5618 Star Lane, Houston, Texas 77057
Or call 1-800-OK-Amigo (In Texas call 1-800-392-1861)

AMIGOS

American Travel Services
presents
SPRING BREAK "86"

Ft Lauderdale
Hotel from $139.00
Air: New York $209. Rd Trip
Boston $228. Rd Trip
Holiday Inn Oceanside $209.

Nassau/Paradise Island
Hotel & Air from $329.
Pilot House Hotel $379.

All prices include Taxes and Gratuities
Don't be left out, sign up now!
Limited space available
For more information: call Danny 546-7899

the Hungry U Restaurant
549-5713
FREE DELIVERY
Buy any Sub at Regular Price
Get second at ½ Price
(higher priced item prevails)
Offer good on delivery only expires: Feb. 14, 1986
55 University Dr., Amherst

Shape Up For Spring

Until Friday,
February 7th you can work out at
the BODY SHOP FITNESS CENTERS for FREE!!

Our friendly and knowledgeable staff will answer your questions and demonstrate our state-of-the-art Hydrafitness equipment.

EXERCISE WITH A FRIEND
AND SAVE $$$$

Sign up with a friend and get the 2nd membership at 1/2 PRICE!!

THE BODY SHOP

TWO CONVENIENT CAMPUS LOCATIONS:
Boyden & Totman
7:30 9:00 am
12:00 1:00 pm
4:00 6:00 pm
Still only $45/semester

Become A Carbur's Lounge Lizard... Tuesday, Feb. 11th!

We're kicking off Carbur's exclusive Lounge Lizard Club in style...with a big party beginning at 7:30p.m.

- 300 Membership Buttons will be given away Free!
- 99.3fm/The Hot Spot will broadcast live from Carbur's 7:30-10p.m.
- Free all-you-can-eat spiced chicken wings
- Free Balloons

You can't afford to miss this party!

Wear your L.L. button and get:
★Dynamite Daily Specials
★Cash Discounts in the L.L. balloon-bursting lottery!

I'm a Carbur's Lounge Lizard

And a chance to Win a Week's Dream Vacation for Two to Cancun, Mexico
Travel arrangements through Pioneer Valley Travel

99.3 FM HOT SPOT

CARBUR'S
Restaurant & Lounge • Rt. 9 Hadley, MA
586-1978

ARTS

live wire

By Johny CantRead

INXS will play the Fine Arts Center tommorow, UPC has invited those looking for a little safe rebellion. The chancellor and your mother would aprove if they knew how sweet the boys really are.

I went to the UPC meeting and one officer, the one who said something about "MTV brainwashing," said, "It's [INXS] sold out and that's the general game plan we were going for.

INXS's opener New Man is one of landslide of Boston bands that formed in the wake of the success of 'til tuesday and the Del Fuegos with the sole purpose of MTV exposure.

If your an Excess fan and didn't get a ticket, Square One, playing Friday and Saturday at the Cheers Lounge in Northampton, have just as good haircuts and an equally excessive lead guitar.

The Roches playing the Calvin Theater Saturday night, could be great but they put all their energy into singing to impress instead of to communicate. They can sing, but their problem is they hide it behind every gimmick they can think of. So, if you're into the hallelujah chorus and gregorian chants, and get over the fact that one of them is Suzzy rhyming with Sudsy, have a ball. Progressive music, hallelujah.

Mass Aid looks like bandwagon of the year. Jump on it. Sign up at their new office across from Earthfoods in the Student Union. It'll be our only chance to prove we can hold a concert in the Stadium without breaking anything.

Buckwheat Zydeco, the king of Black, French soul, is appearing tonght at Pearl Street. I suggest stopping at Bub's Barbecue, Route 16 in Sunderland, on the way, and making it a swampy Louisiana night. It beats Superbowl reruns.

Taj Mahal, playing at the Ironhorse tonight, should be just as much fun, and sold out. Johny Winter, while not as much fun or as much of a standout, nor even an alumni, is not sold out. Tickets go on sale today for the February 25 S.U.B show. Opening will be Rory Buchanan, who is a standout.

Tonight's National Theater of the Deaf production of Farewell My, Lovely and In A Grove, will be the gutsiest gig of the weekend. Shows will be spoken and signed.

Monday, Jorma Kaukonen, the iron man of rock will play the Ironhorse. If you close your eyes and imagine, it's 1927 and the dustbowl all over again. I guarantee it won't be a nostalgiafest.

For those of you who've seen Jorma in a bigger city playing with his heavy metal band, forget it. He doesn't bring them to the Ironhorse, which seats only 85.

The Stompers are playing Valentine Hall, Amherst College, Saturday.

Campus Center

COFFEE HOUSE & ICE-CREAM SHOP	desserts 7 DAYS (in Bluewall)
BLUEWALL CAFETERIA	lunch M-F
COFFEE SHOP	breakfast, lunch M-F
THE HATCH	breakfast, lunch, dinner 7 DAYS
T.O.C. RESTAURANT	lunch, M-F dinner, T-SA

Food Services

James H. McManus
eating place
• BREAKFAST SERVED ANY TIME
• OPEN 6 A.M. 3 A.M. SUN THURS
• BEER & WINE SERVED TIL MIDNITE
• PLENTY OF PARKING • OPEN 24 HOURS FRI & SAT
CAMPUS PLAZA
(NEXT TO SUPER STOP & SHOP)
Rte. 9 • Hadley/Amherst
256-6889

BUY ONE-GET ONE FREE! WITH THIS SPECIAL Ad Vantage COUPON
Breakfast Served Anytime
SEAFOOD & CRAB OMELET with CHEESE and HERBS
Homefries or French Fries, Buttered Toast or "Thomas" English Muffin or Corn, Bran or Blueberry Muffin
Buy A Seafood & Crab Omelet above and get another one just like it FREE. Invite a friend to breakfast and take advantage of this valuable offer.
Cannot be used with any other offer or Discount Coupon must be presented at time of order. Valid 7 days a week
Offer Expires March 1, 1986
Coupon good for all persons in Party

DINNER FOR TWO
ONLY 9.95
with this Ad Vantage coupon
Choice of:
Chicken Kiev, Baked Stuffed Sole or Our Large 9 Oz. Sirloin Steak
Dinners include Choices of Two
Baked or French Fried Potatoes • Vegetables of the Day • Cole Slaw or Cottage Cheese • Tossed Salad • Rolls & Butter
Cannot be used with any other offer or Discount Coupon
must be presented at time of order. Valid 7 days a week
Offer Expires March 1, 1986

EVERY THURSDAY AT
CHANGES Dance Club

White Russians $1.75
 AVAILABLE FOR **
 PRIVATE **
 PARTIES **
Pearl Harbors $1.75
DON'T DRINK AND DRIVE
Free Sodas For Designated Drivers
Must Be of Legal Drinking Age
CHANGES dance club Rt. 9 Amherst 256-8284

USA TODAY
for the leaders of tomorrow.
SAVE 40%
Subscribe now and get USA TODAY Monday through Friday for only $1.50 per week
That's 40% off the newsstand price!

There's never been anything like USA TODAY on campus.

Dorms Only 13 wks for $19.50

Make checks payable to Ron Huberdeau

Name _____
Address _____
City _____ State _____ Zip _____
Telephone _____

ALL UNIVERSITY WOMEN INVITED

DELTA UPSILON FRATERNITY 9:00PM

THURSDAY - FEB 6th
THURS - FEB 13th LITTLE SISTER'S RUSH

SOUTHWEST RESIDENTS!

- Help Organize Southwest Week
- Fight Unfair Housing Policies
- Get Involved

RUN FOR SOUTHWEST ASSEMBLY REPRESENTATIVE

Vacancies For:

Crampton Emerson James Washington
Kennedy Mackimmie Prince JQA

Pick-up nomination papers in the SWAG office, Rm. 7, Hampden Commons. Papers due at 5:00 pm on February 10, 1986. Elections held on February 12, 1986 and February 13, 1986.

MONEY MOTIVATED?

If You Are Enthusiastic, Have A Strong Clear Speaking Voice and Have the Confidence to Prove What it Takes, Keep Reading This

We are a Major Industrial Tool Company Expanding a new office in Amherst, Mass. Telemarketing is the future successful road to sales in the 1980's, and we are growing rapidly. 3 shifts allow you to work around your schedule, and you can earn up to $10.00 per hour while training. There are still 25 positions available. Salary plus Commissions plus Bonuses. For an appointment, Call 7 AM-7 PM, Dave 413-256-4101

MIT

ON CAMPUS

Members of Our Technical Staff

February 20, 1986

Research challenges for PhD/MS graduates with interests in

- Machine Intelligence
- VLSI
- Image Processing
- Signal Processing
- Optics
- Digital Systems Design
- Satellite Communications
- Microelectronics

To arrange an interview, contact your Placement Office or send your resume to Marilyn L. Bodnar, MIT Lincoln Laboratory, 244 Wood Street, Lexington, MA 02173 (617-863-5500, ext. 7050). U.S. Citizenship required.

An equal opportunity affirmative action employer

Lincoln Laboratory

SCIENTIFIC CALCULATORS

Math and Science Student Calculator with Wallet

Model EL-509AT Suggested Retail Price $19.95

Wallet-sized, full-featured scientific calculator with built-in statistics functions

Scientific functions performed at the touch of a key are • Trigonometric (sin, cos, tan) and their inverses • Exponential (base 10 and base e) and their inverses (logarithms) • Factorial (n!) • 3 angle modes (degree/radian/grad) • Mean, sum and standard deviation • Power (y^x) and its inverse ($\sqrt[x]{y}$) and its inverse ($\sqrt[x]{y}$) Other Features Independently accessible 3-key memory • 15 levels of parentheses with up to 4 pending operations • Easy-to-read 8-digit liquid crystal display • Scientific notation (5-digit mantissa, 2-digit exponent) • "Auto Power Off™" function • Display format exchange (F<->E key) • Complete with wallet, batteries and application textbook. Dimensions 2-9/16"(W) × 9/32"(H) × 4-21/32"(D)

Located in the Campus Center

M-F 9-5

UNIVERSITY STORE

ΠΚΑ

SPRING '86 RUSH

Rush PIKE and be part of

- The largest fraternity on campus
- Greek area Football, Softball, Volleyball champions
- Fraternity that has raised over $70,000 for the fight against Multiple Sclerosis
- The Fraternity that does not haze

RUSHES ARE:

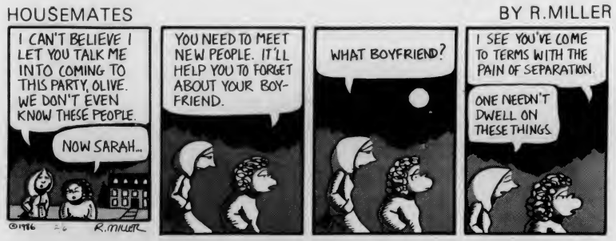
Thursday Feb. 6th
Monday Feb. 10th
Tuesday Feb. 11th

9-11

418 N. Pleasant St., Amherst 545-2150

DOONESBURY GARRY TRUDEAU

THE FAR SIDE BY GARY LARSON



"For crying out loud, Doris. ... You gotta drag that thing out every time we all get together?"

FREAKER PATROL BY DOWE & O'BRIEN

HOUSEMATES BY R.MILLER

GORDY BY GORDE

BLOOM COUNTY BY BERKE BREATHED

Anyone interested in writing for the Collegian is invited to a FREE SCREENING of

ALL THE PRESIDENT'S MEN

starring Dustin Hoffman, Robert Redford

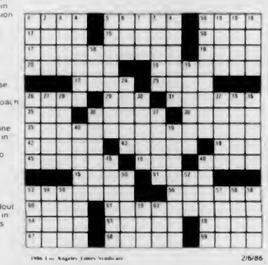
Tonight, 7:30 p.m. Campus Ctr. 165-69

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Edited by Trude Michel Jaffe

ACROSS

1 Article
5 All for one
10 Headwear
14 Kaye of ballet fame
15 European blackbird
16 Medley
17 Funny Girl
19 Author Ayn
20 — Nightingale
21 Midway performers
23 — lang syne
25 To — (perfectly)
26 Gym equipment
29 Waiter's reward
31 River near Columbia, S.C.
35 From: — 2
36 Extracted
38 Locations
39 Wonderland author
42 Tel — (celebrates)
43 Long necked bird
44 Time period
45 Sketch again
47 Transgression
48 Quarry
49 Col. sports gp.
51 — in calico
53 Vocations
56 Prejudices
60 White House office
61 Chargers coach
64 Agitate
65 — Gay historic plane
66 First name in mystery
67 Positions to 61 Across
68 Pay
69 Interpret



DOWN

1 Press handout
2 The Wind in the Willows character
3 River in N Ireland
4 Shawls, Texas style
5 Ol a metallic element
6 Charioteer Ben
7 — — was saying
8 Birthplace of Mohammed
9 Kit features
10 — Otis Skinner
11 Jai —
12 Evergreen
13 Covers with turf
18 — — are here
22 Logical thought
24 A Shore
26 Field of study
27 Make amends
28 — — with (dialect)
30 Isaac's statesman
32 Say
33 Farm machine pioneer
34 Test
36 Describing a Dennis
37 Andrea — —
40 Ezra and Katharine
41 Sailing ship's adjunct
46 Watchman
48 Musician
50 Collectively
52 Atmosphere
53 Heart
54 Stratford's river
55 Attack
57 Dry
58 Fitzgerald
59 Logic for one
62 — de plume
63 Hall of CCCP

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

C	A	T		P	A	P	A		T	O	O	D	S
A	R	A	G		A	L	A	S		A	L	I	A	S
R	I	T	A		R	E	N	T		N	I	E	C	E
O	S	A	N		R	E	D	U	N	D	O	U	T
M	E	R	I	N	O		O	R	E	L
			B	A	L	E	R		P	E	P	P	E	R
A	S	C	A	P		D	A	N	A		E	L	A	E
C	O	L	L	E	G	E		A	L	A	S		L	S
E	Y	E	C	O		O	N	A	N		E	J	E	C	T
S	A	M	I	A	N		M	A	N	N	A
			R	E	A	M		S	T	C	H	E	S
I	N	V	E	R	N	E	S	S		K	N	I	T
S	T	E	I	N		T	I	T	A	N		E	R	L	E
E	D	I	N	A		N	E	N	E		T	E	E	M
C	O	L	E	S		T	R	O	O		D	A	R	S

2/6/86

1986 Los Angeles Times Syndicate 2/6/86

Weather Today: Mostly sunny, highs in the mid-30s. Tonight: Clearing, followed by increasing cloudiness. Lows in the teens. Tomorrow: Cloudy with a chance of snow, highs 25 to 30. Forty percent chance of snow.

MENU

LUNCH
Ham Grinder
Broccoli and Cauliflower Casserole

BASICS LUNCH
Garbanzo Vegetable Stew
Chicken Cutlet Sandwich
Cranberry Sauce

DINNER
Meatloaf
Marinara Sauce
N.E. Style Scrod

BASICS DINNER
Fiesta Rice and Cheese
N.E. Style Scrod/Herb Crumb Topping
Eggs with Sharp Cheese Cold Plate

BROUGHT TO YOU BY

Today's Staff Night Editor: Anne McCrory Copy Editor: Liz Hettinger Layout Technician: Anne McCrory Photo Technician: Michelle Segall Production Supervisor: Conor Plunkett Production: Mia Rowan, Matthew Laurence, Rob Catalano, Adam Lavine

TIRED OF PIZZA?
AMHERST
DELI
DELIVERY
CALL
549-6314
MON-WED 4-8 THUR-SAT 4-10
CARRIAGE SHOPS - AMHERST

ROYAL CRANE
ORIENTAL FOOD MARKET
360 College St., Rte. 9, Amherst 253-5658
Sunday-Friday 10-8, Saturday 9-8
Happy Chinese New Year
Sauces & Spices • Noodles • Frozen & Canned Goods • Cooking Implements & Supplies • Homemade Take Out Food • Hard to Find Fresh Oriental Produce • New Items in Every Week • Big Shipment of Indian Spices • Pastries • Oriental Gifts • Cook Books at publisher's prices
The best prices & largest inventory outside of Boston or New York

Special Student/Youth Fares to SCANDINAVIA
On Scheduled Airlines!
The inexpensive way to get to Scandinavia and other destinations in Europe, Asia, Africa and the Middle East.
Winter Rates to Scandinavia
New York to Copenhagen, Oslo, Stockholm
from $215 one way, $350 roundtrip
Chicago to Copenhagen
from $215 one way, $350 roundtrip
Chicago to Oslo, Stockholm
from $255 one way, $430 roundtrip
For Information Call:
WHOLE WORLD TRAVEL
Youth and student travel experts for over a decade
17 E. 45th St., New York, NY 10017
(212) 986-9470

UMASS SKI CLUB
Trip to Mount Snow
and Happy Hour with John Morgan
Sat. Feb. 8 - $23. for members
sign up at UMass Ski Club Wed and Thurs
Have your skis precision hand tuned by EXPERIENCED Ski Technician. Discount for members. Call Ski Club for details and appointment 545-3437

STOP LOOK LISTEN
STOP worrying what to do with your degree in Music or Communications... LOOK at how the INSTITUTE of AUDIO RESEARCH can enhance your marketability... LISTEN to the opportunity calling in the Music and Sound Recording Industry.

The INSTITUTE of AUDIO RESEARCH, in the heart of New York's Greenwich Village, has modularized its renowned MULTI-TRACK RECORDING TECHNOLOGY PROGRAM into two summer sessions.
By the time you get your Degree you will also have your INSTITUTE Diploma and entree into the exciting worlds of Music Recording, Broadcast, Audio for Film and Video, Concert and Theater Sound and much, much more.
The INSTITUTE Program may also be taken on its regular nine-month schedule, starting four times a year. For further information fill out and return the attached coupon or call— (212) 677-7580

Name_____
Address_____
City_____ State_____ Zip_____
Phone (____)_____ College_____
Institute of Audio Research
64 University Place, Greenwich Village
New York, NY 10003 Established 1969

Mental Health Groups Spring 1986
Self Exploration Groups
Group I Tuesdays, 3:30 - 5:00
Group II Wednesdays, 3:30 - 5:00
Emotional Effects of Chronic Physical Illness, Fridays 12 - 1
Register for these groups during the first three weeks of classes. For information, or to register, call 545-2337 or come by 127 Hills North.
Adult Children of Alcoholics
Group I Mondays 1:00 - 2:30
Group II Tuesdays 1:00 - 2:30
Register for these groups the first three weeks of classes. For information, or to register, call 549-2671, x181, or stop by the Health Education Office at UHS.

Paradise
found...
at Seasons' Sunday Buffet Brunch
...Dixieland style!
Paradise City Jazz Quartet and Seasons' famous Sunday brunch all for only $8.75. Buffet specialties from quiche to roast beef, eggs and ham and seafood casseroles to delicious pastries and the two-beat rhythm of New Orleans Jazz!
February 2,9,& 16 from 11:00-3:00 pm.
Seasons
529 Belchertown Road • Amherst • 253-9909

The fastest-growing profession in America.
According to the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, the need for paralegals is about to double.
Now is the time to become a part of this dynamic profession... and there is no finer training available than at Philadelphia's acclaimed Institute for Paralegal Training. After just four months of intensive study, we will find you a job in the city of your choice. We are so confident of the marketability of our graduates that we offer a unique tuition refund plan.
To learn how you can add market value to your college degree, return the coupon or call toll-free: 1-800-222-IPLT.
We'll be on campus 2/10/86
Contact your placement office to arrange for an individual interview or group presentation.
Housing and Financial Aid available
THE INSTITUTE FOR PARALEGAL TRAINING
Approved by the American Bar Association
RUMA
Mail this coupon to:
Institute for Paralegal Training
1926 Arch Street
Philadelphia, PA 19103
Please send a copy of your catalogue.
Name_____
Address_____
City_____ State_____ Zip_____
College_____ (yr of grad)
Phone_____ (prevent) (home)

UMass Minutes debut next Monday night

Monday night marks the unveiling of the UMass Minutes, a kickline-dance team, that is scheduled to perform during halftime of the men's baketball game against Penn State in the Curry Hicks Cage.

The Minutes are a 25-member team that was formed last fall with the goal of providing entertainment for the fans and team support for the Minutemen.

According to Stefanie Zucker, the team captain, the kickline-dance troup is something that is very popular throughout high schools in New York and Long Island but that she thinks the concept is fairly unknown to the Massachusetts area.

But Zucker wanted to point out that the Minutes are dancers and not showgirls who take their roles seriously as do cheerleaders and other entertainers.

Practicing five to six hours per week and fully uniformed, she said that the Minutes hope to put on a good show for the fans but don't regard themselves as a replacement to the UMass Cheerleaders.

Sports Notices

UMass Women's Rugby: The University of Massachusetts women's rugby team is starting practice for the spring season on Friday, Feb. 7.

The team will practice on Tuesday and Friday from 5-7 p.m. at Totman Gym.

The team stresses that no experience is necessary to start playing rugby and that any women interested is welcome to come to a practice.

Collegian Staff: All aspiring sportswriters should visit the news room (Campus Center Room 113, bottom floor) and ask for the sports editor.

Styles by Deborah
Introduces
CAROL GARDNER
Styles By Deborah is pleased to announce that Carol Gardner has joined its staff of skilled cosmetologists.
Carol looks forward to seeing her old friends and welcoming new ones.
For your appointment call
549-5610
65 University Drive, Amherst • 549-5610

NOW OPEN
Riverboat Village
APARTMENTS, SOUTH HADLEY
1, 2 or 3 BEDROOM UNITS
BEAUTIFUL MODELS FURNISHED BY CHAP DELAINE'S & EPSTEIN FURNITURE CO
•Swimming Pool •Tennis Court •Club House •Shuffle Board Court
OPEN SEVEN DAYS A WEEK
10 AM - 4 PM
PHONE 532-9461
532-9462
ALL FOR DIRECTIONS
Riverboat Village

KARATE
$19.95
for 4 weeks
Fred Villari's
Studio
253-7349

DELTA CHI
(FRATERNITY)
ANNOUNCES ITS ΔX
OPEN RUSH TONIGHT
7:00 to 9:00
• A 24 HOUR OPEN KITCHEN
• A UNIQUE SOCIAL LIFE
• THE BEST FRATERNITY HOUSE ON CAMPUS
• AN OUTSTANDING LITTLE SISTER PROGRAM
• GOOD ACADEMIC ATMOSPHERE

International Student Solidarity
For Soviet Jewry
Join hundreds of students from around the country in Washington D.C
-learn the latest news about Soviet Jews
-- protest at the Soviet Embassy
-- educate our congresspeople and lobby for increased efforts on behalf of our brothers and sisters
This is probably the single most effective action we can take in support of Soviet Jewry Be part of this intensive, high level effort that can really make a difference in someone's life!
Information Meeting: February 6, 7 pm Suffolk Room
Lobby in Washington, D.C.: February 26 and 27
Stop by or call the Hillel office for more information 545-2526

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Come to Collegian Office CC 113 • 8:45-3:45 Mon Thurs; 8:45 2:30 Fri • Deadline is 2 days prior to publication day
Cash in advance • Phone number FREE

ACTIVITIES

UMass Uechi-Ryu Karate Club meets Fri nm 2- Totman 5 pm classical Okinawan karate training new members welcome

WSYL - first organizational meeting TONIGHT CC 174 7:00 on the agenda - election of new board members. New members welcome!

Newman Student Video presents Places in the Heart Fri Feb 7 7:00 pm no charge all are welcome

Union Video Center's first general meeting of the semester is today at 4:00 PM in the Commuter Lounge. All welcome!

AUTO FOR SALE

VW Superbeetle, 1973 good condition. $1200.00 as is or best offer. Call 253-5790 after 7:00 pm

1973 Plymouth Fury, good condition must sell, $400.00 tel 584-9362, 665-3207

1978 Datsun B210GX 5-speed AM-FM cassette excellent condition $950 or BO call 549-0425

72 VW Beetle semi-automatic dependable $275 586-7088

1976 Toyota Corolla 4 spd 2 dr reliable transportation $850 or BO call Luisa 549-1421

71 Plymouth auto. New exhaust system, snowtires. $360 must sell. Call Nga 546-4837

76 VW Rabbit, 4 door, standard, AM/FM, runs great, must sell 546-4854

80 Cam Z28 350 auto alarm Sony cassette good cond seek to sell immed asking $4800 549-7816

68 Dart auto runs good $550.00 584-3308 new tires good mileage

1975 VW Rabbit 79,000 miles, Sunroof, stereo, runs well, $625 259-1562

1979 VW Rabbit 122,000 miles. Excellent condition, 5 speed. Guaranteed. $1150. 259-1582

BOLTWOOD

Boltwood Project Information Sessions: Wednesday, February 5 rm 917, Monday February 10 rm 804; Wednesday February 12 rm 917, Tuesday, February 18 rm 917, Campus Center 7:00 pm come see what we're all about!

"CASH"

Paying cash for your baseball cards Please call Mike 546-6105

ENTERTAINMENT

MOBILE MUSIC INC Disks spun to your taste Call Chris 256-6845

Want to have some fun? BUS TRIP to a Boston Night Club on Feb. 21. FACES is large and has 3 dance floors. For information call Rich 546-5449

FOR RENT

Fridge Rentals free delivery *R & P Package store 253-9742

Available one room in spacious apartment at bus stop. Five miles from campus $133/month includes elec & hot water call anytime 253-3825

Large studio apt w/fireplace, private bath and kitchen. $585, includes heat. Steve 549-0859 anytime

Large room available immediately in 3 bedroom house. ½ mile from campus. $150 call anytime 256-0049

Looking for female for single room in three bedroom apt. Close to town and campus 225 plus call 549-4149 Triangle St

House/rooms available 5 bedrooms, 2 livingroom, large yard, near lake, on bus route. Call 549-1744

FOR SALE

Desk. Large, 4-drawer, hardwood with large surface. Good condition. $90.00 or best offer. Call 253-5790 after 7 pm

Small refrigerator for $45. Great for dorm call 665-3706

Electric Starfire-4 guild guitar for sale call Joann 586-9402

$300 worth of TWA trans. Fly anywhere by march 24, selling for $290. 584-5558

IBM Graphics Printer excellent condition call Arnie 253-5143

Airplane Ticket on Republic Airlines. Roundtrip to California, Seattle, Arizona, New Orleans, Florida, and more. No restrictions on reservation. First class, $290 549-4149

SMALL FRIDGE excellent cond. call Tim after six 256-8602 $60

Need bail money quick Yamaha system BO call Dude 546-5078

Bass - G & L 1000 series (black) amp - Fender super reverb (4-10's) P.A. head Peavey 400 (210 watts) all ex. cond. going cheap call Bill 584-5173

Takamine F360S Acoustic Guitar excellent condition, plays well and sounds great $225 259-1582

FOUND

Did you lose a dog? Black and white with a tan muzzle. Approx 1 yr old. If so call Saul at 549-0696

Thirteen keys on a ring, found Tuesday afternoon, 2-4, in parking lot 62 (near Fernald Hall) call Carolyn to identify 546-1164

GAYLE FRANCES WOJNAR

Happy Birthday we love you!!

HELP WANTED

Entry Level Marketing Position in local multi-million dollar firm hourly wages starting from 4 to 5 dollars, plus paid sales commissions Matt: 584-3596

Weekly pay for newspaper delivery in dorms. Must be able to deliver 7 days/week. Pay is variable. No car needed. Call evenings 253-7069

The Commuter Area Government is seeking a work study student to be a political advocate for off-campus students. Duties include: helping to organize area tenants unions, advocating for improved bus service, and researching the effects of fee hikes on off-campus students. Deadline 11 feb 3 PM 404 SUB 545-2145

*JOBS*JOBS*JOBS*

Seera, the Student Center for Educational Research and Advocacy, is hiring the following positions: Public Relations, Researchers, Anti-Oppression Week Planner and Clerical. We encourage all students to apply, especially women and people of color. Applications available in 420 Student Union due 2/7 545-0341 AA/EEO employer

Campus Tour Service is hiring for spring semester. Apply at 101 Berkshire House by 2/14

Small Northampton advertising agency looking for student intern. Must have car, organization, enthusiasm. Call: 586-2135

INSTRUCTION

Know your car. Basic Automobile Workshop. 28 hours including classroom and shop. Limited enrollment. 253-2008

Music and Dance Instruction. Performing Arts Division, register by Wednesday, February 5. UMass student discounts available. Old Chapel/UMass 545-0519

Private Guitar Lessons. Experienced and patient teacher. Rock/Pop/Folk/Blues. Improvisation, Reading, Theory, Composition. Your home or my studio. Doug 549-4786

JOURNALISM EXPERIENCE

Bring the news of your school to the five college area. Gain valuable experience reporting for an award winning newspaper. Contact: DAILY COLLEGIAN 545-3500

LOST

Brown leather wallet on Wed. Jan. 29 in Mahar Aud during Econ 311. Please call Gordon for reward 253-3571

Car keys in SBA Monday afternoon small knife attached. Please call Steve 549-3815

Pin: Paisley, shaped with colored stones. Thurs 1:30-ish. Great sentimental value. If found, please call 549-3609 reward!

Small visual aid in black vinyl case. Friday, January 31 Room 143 GRC or vicinity. Desperately needed by visually disabled student. Reward. 665-8316

$20 reward for the return of a blue duffle bag misplaced in Hertter Hall please call: Colleen 584-1371

Silver bracelet on Mon Feb 3 please call Nick for reward 549-5605

Gold ring, between Crabtree and Lyon near Worcester DC. Great sentimental value large reward! Gregg 546-3249

MOVER

'Round Town Movers fast, reliable, cheap. Call Michael anytime 323-6780

PERSONALS

Looking for Christian Fellowship? Alliance Christian Fellowship Thursday 2/6 7:15 Campus Center

Get the most from your workout. Call Mal for supplements at reduced prices 546-7549

Say it with a flower!! Send a carnation to a friend for Valentines Day. Table in Campus Center on Feb 5-12 sponsored by Newman Club

Southwest Residents!
Help organize Southwest Week
Fight unfair housing policies
Get Involved
run for
Southwest Assembly Representative
•vacancies for:
Crampton, Emerson, James, JQA
Kennedy, Mackimmie, Washington
Nomination papers available at the SWAG Office in Hampden. Papers due at 5:00 pm on February 10th

SWAP BEDDING our extra double mattress for your double box spring. 665-8144

To all Sigma Kappa's I had a great time thanks for being so nice. Love Jana from CA

CONGRATULATIONS MADOG way to go big fella, you and Ruth Buzzi will make a great team!

Jane Doe, Are you doing it? T Queen

Happy Birthday Janet Larkin! We hope all your wishes come true love Sharie, Willa, and Jane Doe

Lost - gold bracelet of extreme sentimental value. Reward offered! Please call 546-6664

RIK I love you more! It even says it in writing - your fav ear salesman

LCA Little Sister Open Rush. Thursday 9:00 all university women invited

Southwest Residents - Get Involved! Weekly Southwest Assembly meeting tonight, 7:00 pm in Hampden's Southside Room. All are welcome

Kimba Happy Anniversary!! I love you very much! Pete

$550 + REWARD

Room available! 15 mon drive to cmapus, Leverett. 4 b-room house, living rm, kitch. New furnace & stower. $178 mo Judy at 1-267-5385 evenings

RIDERS WANTED

Tuesdays and Thursdays from Amherst to Boston and back call 549-7587 Claudia

ROOMMATE WANTED

Looking for a female to share a two bedroom apt you will have your own room. Close to campus. Call Yasmin 549-0926

1 male roommate for Brittany call 256-0082

Single room for rent in 8 bedroom home bordering U.Mass. $250 + utilities mo. Call John or Pat at 549-6364 house has 2½ bathrooms, lg. living room, lg. yard, 2 kitchens call anytime

Wanted 2 roommates male or female 5 minutes from campus Rt 9 call anytime 584-4691

One bedroom in two bedroom townhouse in Sunderland on bus route 225 each plus brand new, porch 665-7907 or 665-3414

Brittany Manor apt male roommate rent: 150.00 call 549-6014 253-7004

Female to share room in Brittany Manor for spring semester call 253-3612

Female roommate wanted to share room in Brittany. Located across from bus stop. Easygoing people. Call 256-6282

Newly renovated Brandywine apt seek 1 male roommate in 2 bdrm apt. Should be clean & responsible. Come by 11L between 6:30-7:30 no calls

2 females needed for 1 lg bedroom in a house near Amherst Center 253-2294

Housemate wanted: 1 room available in house 1 mile from campus $140.00/month male only call 256-6228 anytime

Female 180 incl on bus rt Sunderland 256-6079

Female wanted for women s household near campus 187 plus nonsmoking vegetarian 549-5196

Still looking for a home? Large single room with fireplace available in apt 1 mile from campus, 140 per month plus utilities call 549-5439

3 normal guys looking for a fourth 150 month #1 Presidential 549-7875

Looking for 1 female to share a bedroom in Brandywine. No security deposit required. Call Kathy after 5: 549-7858

Share 4 bedroom house in So. Deerfield. 1 min. to bus stores etc. dishwasher &c laundry, piano, fireplaces M/F 200 plus ½ util 253-7627 before 10 pm keep trying!!!!

TRAVEL

SPRING BREAK on the beach at South Padre Island, Daytona Beach, Fort Lauderdale, Fort Walton Beach or Mustang Island/Port Aransas from only $89 and skiing at Steamboat or Vail from only $86! Deluxe lodging, parties, goodie bags, more. Hurry, call Sunchase Tours for more information and reservations toll free 1-800-321-5911 TODAY! When your Spring Break counts...count on Sunchase

Party! Party! Party! Come with Luv Tours to sunny and exciting Fort Lauderdale, Daytona or Key West. Best hotels on/off the Strip! Transportation available. Best prices going! Call Mark 549-6173, Ken 513-1749, John 549-6403, Grad, Frank 549-6650

Spring Break in Florida at Ft. Lauderdale or Daytona for $139 or in the Bahamas for as low as $359 call Dara 256-1469

SERVICES

Typing. Fast, accurate. Call anytime. 665-7652

Lynne Hans Esq. P.C. Immigration Law evening appointments call Springfield Office 781-8370 or 665-8513.

Light Moving with Toyota truck call 549-2649

Tailor for all kinds of alterations. Fast service, reasonable prices at SHAANN's Hampshire Mall 584-0262

Math Tutor - experienced, reasonable rates. Business Calculus, Engineering Calculus more 584-3184, after 5:00

WANTED

We're looking to take over a lease in Brandywine or Townehouse Apts for fall semester 86 please call 6-1137 or 6-9648

WANTED TO RENT

Single room wanted: female, nonsmoker, responsible, would like a quiet room at a reasonable price. Call 665-2469

Sick of dorm life and D.C. food? Room available with full meal plan or meal plan alone. Walking distance to campus and town. Call for more information 256-6814

THE RAMONES

in Rock 'n' Roll High School Feb 11 5, 7, 9, 11 SUB sponsored by WSYL

SPORTS

Collegian photo by Paul Desmarais

Phil Gorgone of the University of Massachusetts executes his routine on the parallel bars last night at Boyden. UM lost to So. Connecticut.

Gymnasts dumped by Owls

Southern Connecticut tips UMass, 259.10—250.60

By STUART GOTTLIEB
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts men's gymnastic team was defeated by Southern Connecticut State University, 259.10-250.60 last night at the Boyden Gymnastic Center.

The USC Owls (5-1) were the favorite of the match due to their top all-around performer Robin Artz. Owning the floor excercise, Artz successfully performed a double back flip and turned that around for an inverted somersault. This is a routine rarely seen in collegiate competition on any level. Artz scored a 9.30 in the floor exercise, the first of six events. He then went on to score consistenty around the 9.0 mark throughout the remaining five events to lead the all around scorers of the meet with a tally of 54.95.

Other forces for the Owls included Joby Cerpovics and Pat Rashed finishing second and third in the all around with scores of 51.80 and 49.90 respectively.

On the UMass side there were some tough efforts given by Phil Gorgone and Jay Ronayne. Gorgone started off the meet with a 9.3 on the floor exercise and was consistent throughout the competition. Ronayne, a sophomore, overcame a poor effort on the pommel horse and still finished up his all-around performance with a 47.85.

Ronayne contributes this success to his mastery of the vault. "I feel good after that event," he said after the meet. "When I have a good vault it pretty much motivates me throughout the rest of the competition."

Ronayne scored a 9.2 in the vaulting, tops in that event.

Minuteman head Coach Roy Johnson, despite the loss, felt optimistic about his teams recent efforts, and sees good things in the future for UMass. "We have a winning attitude," the coach said after the defeat which brought his team's record down to 3-3. "It won't be long before the teams hard work and dedication pays off."

Other highlights in the meet include a fantastic high bar exhibition by USC's Pete MacDonald. His score in that event was a 9.65, tops in the meet. Ronayne's 9.2 on the high bar, and sophomore Roberto Weil's 9.0 on the parallel bars were high points in the match for UMass.

UMass's next opponent will be Cortland State at Boyden on Saturday at 1 p.m.

Basketball notebook

Lewis gone for season, Burtoft hurt

By PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

The problems continue to mount for the University of Massachusetts women's basketball team.

Tara Lewis, a 5'9 sophomore forward, found out earlier this week that her knee injury will keep her on the shelf for the rest of this season, including the Atlantic 10 Conference playoffs. Lewis averaged 7.4 points and 4.4 rebounds off the bench this season.

Also, the team learned that starting center Sue Burtoft, a 6-1 sophomore, may also be lost for the season with a broken finger. The degree of the injury is still being evaluated, but the chances seem slim that Burtoft will be back to 100 percent this season. She is scoring 8.7 points and grabbing 7.6 rebounds in the pivot this season.

There is some good news however. Kelly Collins, a 6-1 junior forward, is expected to start practice today after coming off a serious knee injury. Collins has seen action in but six games this season, due to her injury, but will be counted upon heavily with the possible absence of Burtoft.

The Minutewomen, 9-11 overall and 2-7 in the A-10, face a tough St. Joseph's team in the Curry Hicks Cage on Saturday afternoon at 1 p.m.

Minutewomen Mutterings: Senior guard Barbara Hebel has led UMass in scoring the past four games. She is averaging 12.2 points this season and along with freshman point guard Christel Zullo, is the only UMass player to start in all 20 games. Jerrie Bernier, Rebecca Kucks and Mary Marquedant are the other players to see action in all of the games UM has played this season.

Hebel has scored 1,376 points in her UMass career, placing her third on the UMass career list, only 30 points behind Julie Ready (1979-81). The top scorer is Sue Peters with 1,887. Bernier, with 667 points, is eighth, only 14 points out of seventh place.

Zullo's 97 assists put her 52 away from the UMass single season record of 149 set by Mary Hallaren in 1978-79. The 5-4 freshman would have to average 6.5 assists-per-game the rest of the way to tie the record.

Karen Damminger continues to shoot well from the floor. The 5-11 senior forward his hitting at 58 percent from ther floor, by far the tops on the team and among the leaders in the league. . .Hebel is hitting at 82 percent from the line, also tops for UMass this season.

UMass, after playing the Hawks on Saturday, will at George Washington on the Tuesday after before returning home to face Temple (Feb. 14) and the University of Rhode Island on Feb. 18.

He's diving to the top

Pat Mullen and the UMass swim team look toward a title

By JOE ROBERTS
Collegian Staff

For senior diver Pat Mullen, there are still a few goals to be met.

Mullen has been diving competitively for seven years, tour for the University of Massachusetts, this season as a co-captain, and he has worked diligently to become one of the top divers in New England.

"I'd like to place in the top five in the New England meet, you always want to do well there. As a senior, I'd like to bring the team championship home," he said.

With Mullen's talent and the perfect 10-0 record of the swim team, he has a good chance of accomplishing both goals. "Pat should end up at least in the top five, there's no problem saying that," UM diving coach Bob Newcomb said.

Mullen's season may not end there, he has a good chance at qualifying for nationals. Mullen had his best meet against Tufts University on Dec. 4. His 11 dive score of 438 points was just 12 short of putting him the nationals. If he qualifies, Mullen would first go to a zone national meet before the final championship meet. "He has a shot, a strong shot at possibly both boards (the one and three meter)," Newcomb said.

Mullen has that ability to come through when he needs to. "He's a real sharp competitor. He doesn't like to lose; he comes on when he has to," Newcomb said.

"I feel pressure and it gets me psyched," Mullen said.

Pat turned down a scholarship at the University of Connecticut in order to come to UMass. "There were more opportunities here," he said. A mechanical engineering major, Mullen hopes to enter some type of management aspect of that field. He has yet to secure a job because due to his Dec. '86 graduation date, but he hopes to stay in New England.

One characteristic that has shown through Mullen's stay at UMass has been his motivation. It could be why he and senior freestyler Drew Donovan were elected co-captains.

"We might be the two most dedicated and motivated. We're determined to do well," he said. Mullen isn't saying he and Donovan are the only dedicated Minutemen, in fact it's just the opposite.

"They're a great bunch of guys. The spirit has been tremendous, they're constantly working and motivated. I walk into practice, (divers practice after swimmers), see them working and you know that they have a goal. And they won't stop working until we reach that goal of the New England title," he said.

Seeing as how he scores most of the points in diving for the Minutemen, the team will have a hole there next year unless they come up with a good recruit. "Without Pat we'd be down 16-2 in every meet. He's a real unsung hero," UM head coach Russ Yarworth said.

With three meets remaining, Mullen takes stock of the team's perfect record and aims at his final goals. "I'm psyched the team is doing well. We're right where we want to be. It proves how strong we are and shows how hard we worked. We deserve the New England title."

Photo courtesy of Sports Information

Universtity of Massachusetts senior diver Pat Mullen has emerged as on of the leaders of the undefeated Minutemen this season. Mullen and the Minutemen have a New England Championship as their goal this season. UMass has their last dual meet Saturday at New Hampshire.

NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY

The Massachusetts Daily

COLLEGIAN

RSO-UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS-AMHERST 113 CAMPUS CENTER 545-3500 VOLUME CXVI ISSUE 8

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1986

UMass student nominated for Oscar-Page 9

INSIDE

- University forges ahead in biotechnology. Page 3.
- The perils of being a Herb. Page 7.
- University students join march against racism. Page 11.

Chinese start New Year

By CRAIG SANDLER
Collegian Correspondent

Dumplings will sizzle and families will come together on Sunday as the Chinese community at the University of Massachusetts, said to be the fourth-largest Chinese student population in the country, ushers in the Year of the Tiger.

Rahnfong Lee, newly elected president of the Chinese Students Club, said a banquet is planned for Sunday night. The banquet is tentatively set to take place at the Campus Center. Lee said he expects many of the club's 250 members to attend.

Robin Hwang, a chemical engineering graduate student and club member, said, "we don't really party on New Year's like you [Americans] do." He added that the New Year is much less a drinking holiday for the Chinese than it is for Americans.

"It's a lot more like Christmas, a family time," Hwong said. "Families get together and have a big dinner."

"When I was growing up[in Taiwan], my mother would take me to the temple to worship our ancestors and the gods of our family," he said. "It's a day I waited for the whole year."

Along with Lee, Hwong will call his family on Sunday to wish them "congratulations and good fortune."

"Sometimes it takes two or three hours to get through on New Year's," said Hwong. Lee agreed, and noted that there are 20,000 Chinese graduate students in the U.S.

Children at the dinner Sunday will receive red envelopes containing gifts of money, Lee said. UMass student Felix Chen said he got $500 in an envelope, but added that the amount is usually about $100.

Chen said he was going to Boston "to my relatives' house" on Sunday.

The calendar of China takes its beginning from the legendary birth of Huang Ti, the "Yellow Emperor," supposedly China's first emperor and the mythic common ancestor of the Chinese people.

Unlike the calendar used in the United States, the Chinese calendar is lunar, regulated by the motion of the moon through the heavens. Each year is named for one of the 12 constellations of the Chinese zodiac. This year will be the Year of the Tiger, and 4685, the West's 1987, will be the Year of the Rabbit.

Collegian photo by Paul Desmarais

WIND SCREEN- Anne Demartino, a sophomore CASIAC major, seeks refuge from yesterday's bitter winds.

Future of optional fees up to students

By MICHAEL HELMSTADTER
Collegian Correspondent

A campus group calling itself Students for Participatory Democracy is seeking to eliminate the optional fees, totaling $3 a semester, for the Massachusetts Public Interest Group and the State Student Association of Massachusetts that appears on UMass students' tuition bills each semester.

A referendum asking students if they want to eliminate the fees is set for next Wednesday and Thursday. Fifteen percent of the student body must vote to make the referendum binding.

However, 3,000 students as of yesterday had pledged to vote in favor of saving MassPIRG and SSAM. MassPIRG spokeswoman Deirdre Cummings said. A petition, asking students to vote no on the referendum, was circulated Wednesday and yesterday at the dining commons, Student Union Building and Campus Center. Cummings said two-thirds of those requested to sign agreed to.

Brian Darling, a spokesman for SPD, contends that the manner in which the money is collected is confusing, and that many students may be supporting MassPIRG and SSAM inadvertently.

Currently all UMass students are automatically charged $2 for MassPIRG, a public lobbying group focusing on the environment, education, voter registration and other issues, and $1 for SSAM, an advocacy group for public higher education. If students do not wish to pay the fees they must check a box waiving them.

Rayna Sargent, campus coordinator for MassPIRG, said the fee system is necessary because it provides stable funding. Presently, she said about 80 percent of UMass students pay the fee.

If the referendum is successful and MassPIRG's funding option is withdrawn, Sargent said: "I'm sure we'd go to court on

continued on page 3

Picket today: SATF issue 'is not dead'

By PATRICK JOHNSON
Collegian Staff

Students concerned about control of the Student Activity Trust Fund plan to picket from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. today in front of the Whitmore Administration Building to show administrators that the issue is not dead, members of Students Advocating Rights Together said.

"The issue is not resolved yet. The administration needs to know that START is not dead," said Alex Zucker, chairman of the Campus Center Board of Governors. Zucker, one of the 22 students charged with trespassing during sit-ins in Whitmore last December, said he expects to be among the picketers.

Plans for a legal protest were announced at the semester's first Undergraduate Student Senate meeting Wednesday night, when START member Marc Kenen urged the senators to take part in the picket. Otherwise, "the administration is determined to wait us out," he said.

The picket comes at a time when START members are negotiating over control of the activities fund with Dennis L. Madson, vice chancellor for student affairs, and Randy Donant, director of the Student Activities Office.

Chancellor Joseph D. Duffey last night said he had not been informed of the status of the negotiations, and that he would be unaffected by the demonstration.

"Anybody has a right to picket Whitmore. But that's not a substitute for dealing with the [Student Government Association] deficit problem ... which created the issue in the first place," Duffey said.

He said the SGA should make its own fiscal decisions but that it is "the administration's responsibility" to see that they are made.

START member Laura Gottschalk said the demonstration would be legal, explaining, "We don't feel the need for direct action right now."

Nate Moore, a student senator from the Orchard Hill Residential Area, said he intends to be at the picket today.

"I haven't missed one yet," he said.

NOW president to speak at Smith

Eleanor Smeal, president of the National Organization for Women, will speak on "Turning the Tide for Women in 1986" at 8 p.m. Sunday in Wright Hall Auditorium at Smith College.

Smeal served as the president of the group from 1977 to 1982 and was re-elected last July. A Phi Betta Kappa graduate of Duke University, she has a master's degree in political science from the University of Florida, and has completed all work toward a doctoral degree.

Smeal served on the NOW national board of directors from 1973 to 1975, and was the chair of the board from 1975 to 1977.

She frequently appears on national television and radio programs as an expert on women's rights, and testifies often before congressional committees.

The lecture, sponsored by the Smith College Project on Women and Social Change, is free and open to the public.

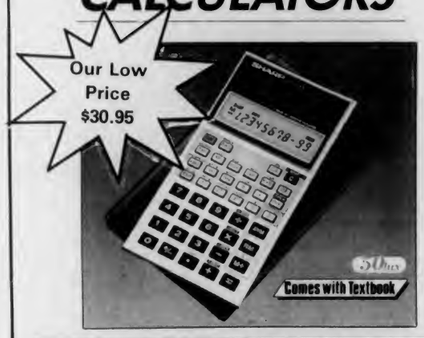
Grant pays for pond dredging

The state recently granted $245,100 to the town of Amherst to defray most of the cost of dredging Puffer's Pond, according to town Conservation Services director Peter Westover.

"If we don't dredge the pond, it will completely fill in," he said. "This pond used to be 25 feet deep; now it is only six or seven feet deep."

The problem is silt, an accumulation of dirt and other residue brought in from the brook that feeds into the pond, Westover said. It is important to remove the silt to keep water from backing up.

Testing was done last September by Brooker Associates of Maryland to determine the cost of the project. Seventy-five percent of the funding will be provided by the state Department of Environmental Quality Engineering.



Town members will decide in May whether or not to cover the remaining 25 percent, approximately $80,000.

Westover said that dredging will begin in either the fall or winter of 1987. "At that time the water will be let down and will stay down for six weeks."

Town Meeting approved $12,000 last October to help with the upkeep of the pond. Since then, the money has been used to put in anti-erosion terraces, to improve the parking area, and to make the pond more accessible to the handicapped.

- LORENA NOZZOLILLO

SCIENTIFIC
CALCULATORS

Solar-Powered Wallet-Size with 56 Scientific Functions
Model EL-515S Suggested Retail Price $34.95
10 digit scientific calculator with complex number calculations
• Operates on highly sensitive solar cells (more than 50 lux) which receive their power from natural or artificial light • No batteries ever required, for virtually unlimited power supply • 56 preprogrammed scientific and statistical functions including trigonometric, inverse trigonometric, logarithmic and others • Computer-age hexadecimal, octal, and binary calculations • Complex number calculations • Large 10-digit easy-to-read liquid crystal display • Direct formula entry • 15 levels of parentheses with up to 4 pending operations • 8-digit mantissa and 2-digit exponent capacities • Degree/radian/grad mode selector • Complete with wallet and application textbook
Dimensions: 2-23/32"(W) × 7/32"(H) × 5-3/16"(D)

Located in the Campus Center
Open M-F 9-5
UNIVERSITY STORE

Trouble besets election

MANILA, Philippines (AP)-Reports of stolen ballot boxes and delayed poll openings circulated last night as people chose a president.

Some neutral pollwatchers were banished from voting centers and there were reports of shootings.

Voters are choosing between President Ferdinand E. Marcos, who has ruled the pacific nation for two decades, and opposition leader Corazon Aquino. Both sides have accused the other of fraud and voter intimidation.

Accompanying reports of heavy early turnouts were mounting reports of trouble in many areas. In one province voting stopped for an hour when unidentified men seized seven ballot boxes from four towns.

Before casting his own vote, President Ferdinand E. Marcos told reporters that a final survey showed he would beat opponent Corazon Aquino with 63 percent of the vote.

Challenger Aquino told reporters she has never been more confident as she voted at a schoolhouse on the sugar plantation her family owns.

Philippine opposition leader Corazon Aquino casts her ballot in the strife-ridden election

Kennedy visiting Soviet Union

MOSCOW (AP)- Sen. Edward M. Kennedy praised Andrei Sakharov at a meeting of the dissident's former scientific colleagues yesterday, then met with Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev.

Tass, the official news agency, said only that Gorbachev "has had a conversation" with the Massachusetts Democrat, giving no details. Kennedy said in his address to the Soviet Academy of Sciences before the meeting that he intended to bring up his concerns about arms control.

American cameramen permitted to film initial greetings at the Kremlin said Georgy Arbatov, the Soviet adviser on U.S. affairs, also was present. They said Gorbachev repeated condolences about the explosion of the space shuttle Challenger last week in which seven American astronauts were killed.

Kennedy is on a three-day visit as the guest of the Soviet parliment. His speech to the academy, of which Sakharov still is a member although he now is internal exile, outlined possible U.S.-Soviet cooperation to overcome the nuclear threat.

He offered the November summit in Geneva between Gorbachev and President Reagan as evidence of "new rays of hope" in superpower relations, and said the two nations "stand on the verge of a decisive breakthrough.

"I also pay tribute here to another eminent Nobel laureate, the first Soviet citizen to receive the Nobel Peace Prize, a member of your academy, Dr. Andrei Sakharov," Kennedy said. "The indispensable value of science is its ability to speak truth to power."

There was no visible reaction to Kennedy's remarks. The faces of his listeners looked serious but emotionless throughout the speech.

FOUR SEASONS
RT 9 HADLEY 584-8174

HEINEKEN..... 12 pack..... $7.50
BUSCH..... $8.99
LITE..... $10.99
LABATTS..... Beer or Ale..... $11.99
MOOSEHEAD..... $13.99
GENESEE BEER..... $7.99
UTICA CLUB..... $6.99

SIX-PACK SPECIALS
BECKS..... $3.99
ST. PAULI GIRL..... $3.99

JUST ARRIVED!
NEW AMSTERDAM BEER from New York $5.99

LIQUOR SPECIALS
MALIBU RUM....less rebate 6.99 - 5.99....$1.99
VODKA & GIN.....1.75.....$8.99
AMARETTO, MELON or COFFEE LIQUEUR
.....750.....$4.99

WINE SPECIALS
DOMAINE ST. GEORGE '84 CHARDONNAY
.....$5.99
DONATIEN BAHUAUD '84 VOUVRAY.....$4.69
EMBROS CHABLIS, BURGUNDY, ROSE 3L$3.99

Kegs?! Check out our lowest prices in town
Master Charge and Visa accepted on deposit
Four Seasons is located past McDonalds and Burger King on Rt 9, call us at 584-8174

UMASS SPRING

IT'S NOT TOO LATE TO REGISTER!

Continuing Education Classes
and University Day Classes
Register through February 10
Registration Office
Division of Continuing Education
University Library
8:30 a.m.-7 p.m., Mon.-Thurs.;
8:30 a.m.-5 p.m., Fri.; and
10 a.m.-1 p.m., Sat. (2/1 & 2/8)
Late registration fee and permission of instructor necessary.
Pick up a catalog on campus or call 545-2414 for more information.

Biotech program starts with plans to build

By JOSEPH R. TIGAN
Collegian Staff

A biotechnology program at the University of Massachusetts, which has been in the planning stages since April, was launched yesterday with plans to spend $5 million on a new building to house the program.

"There are several advantages to having such a program," said J. Robert Smith, a member of the Committee on Biotechnology, which developed proposals for implementing the plan.

"A program like this will bring people with a common interest together," said Smith, a professor of veterinary and animal sciences. "[It's taking a whole new area of molecular biology and utilizing techniques for the well-being of different species."

Biotechnology includes the making of new products from living organisms for commercial use and the use of recombinant DNA–genetic engineering.

The proposed program here at UMass has an agricultural emphasis. Genetic engineering techniques in that area are used to improve yields in crop plants by inserting beneficial genes and building resistance to certain insecticides.

Plans include a search for a director of biotechnology who will advise the administration in the field.

"A bond issue is being proposed which would provide $5 million for a building entirely devoted to biotechnology," a report issued yesterday by Provost Richard D. O'Brien stated. "It would undoubtedly house the director of the program, and perhaps nine other faculty members."

According to the report, the three colleges involved with the program include; Food and Natural Resources (FNR), Natural Sciences and Mathematics, and Engineering.

"All will have a substantial involvement," the report stated, "But FNR is expected to have the largest share."

"This type of program lends itself to the aspect of food production," Smith said. 'But the manipulation of cells or genetic engineering could also provide us with answers in human medicine and health, such as vaccines or attacking the problem of environmental pollution."

Research lab at school proposed

By PATRICIA FAVREAU
Collegian Correspondent

Huge two-way mirrors lining the walls in each of the Mark's Meadow Elementary School classrooms on the University of Massachusetts campus have allowed researchers to observe the childrens' interaction in daily activities.

The school, part of the Education Department at UMass, has functioned for the past 25 years as a laboratory school. Researchers, ranging from education and psychology students to a toy manufacturer interested in marketing a new product, have studied kindergarten to sixth-grade children in their classrooms.

A five-page report released recently by the School of Education's Committee on Research at Mark's Meadow cited the need for strengthening the relationship between the elementary school and UMass.

The School of Education and Mark's Meadow faculty members will create a laboratory for research on teaching. It will attempt to unite the elementary school and UMass and organize more research projects.

According to the report, the laboratory would be geared toward college students learning and practicing teaching skills and toward educating the children.

The laboratory will focus on three topics, learning styles and developmental theory, the assessment and supervision of teaching, and the management of classroom settings.

"The committee's findings strongly suggest that the Mark's Meadow council play an active role in the proposed lab," said Andrew Sorensen, the school council chairman.

None of the research projects which have taken place in the elementary school have had top priority. The report addressed the importance of conducting and following-up on research studies.

Ten UMass faculty members have already expressed an interest in working together on various research topics, said David Day, chairman of the research report committee.

The School of Education's Director of Research and Development will oversee the management of the laboratory. A coordinator of laboratory funding and research will be appointed, said Mario Fantini, the Dean of the School of Education.

Collegian photo by Paul Desmarais

UMass graduate Doug Ruopp, plays a game with children during recess at Mark's Meadow.

Bike co-op gets space

By JEANETTE DeFORGE
Collegian Staff

The Campus Center Board of Governors last night approved a motion to increase the space in the Bicycle Co-op, located near the Student Union Ballroom, by moving a partition dividing it from an adjacent room.

Last semester the Bicycle Co-op was vying for the room across from the craft shop, vacated by Union Records Unlimited, because it needed more space.

"TIX Unlimited (beside the co-op) has a six foot gap in their office which they don't use," said William Harris, the director of the Campus Center.

The members of the co-op and TIX Unlimited will move the partition themselves.

Board members also discussed some of the prices in the Hatch Cafeteria and the Top of the Campus Lounge, which were increased without the knowledge or consent of the board.

"The changes in food prices are unacceptable to the board," Harris said. "Years ago they would have not been able to do it."

The board decided to allow vendors who sell perishable products, like flowers, in the Campus Center concourse to have registration priority over those who sell manufactured goods. It also limited each vendor to one table and discussed the problem of limited chairs in the Campus Center.

Room 322 in the Student Union Building, vacated when Teamworks (a sporting goods co-op) discontinued, was allocated to the University Democrats. MassAid, a group working to combat hunger in Massachusetts, will share the space when it becomes a Registered Student Organization.

The board discussed the library moving materials from Goodell to the Tower and will talk to the administration about acquiring student space in Goodell, Tom Butler, the space coordinator for the board, said.

★PIRG

continued from page 1

it, if it ever came down to that."

SPD tried to bring MassPIRG's funding procedure to referendum last December. According to Darling, the group collected more than 2,000 signatures on petition, enough to call a referendum, but the Student Government Association judiciary, he said, blocked an actual vote because of improper procedures. The Undergraduate Student Senate must set the times and dates for referendum questions. In December, the senate failed to approve a date on time, and improperly added the question to an existing referendum, a SGA judicial tribunal later ruled.

SPD members said they are not seeking to abolish MassPIRG.

"We support a lot of what they do," Darling said. "We don't think the administration should be a collection agency for them."

If the referendum is defeated by at least an 80 percent vote for MassPIRG (the same percentage of students paying the $2 fee), Darling said SPD will be satisfied that students are aware of the issue and wish to continue funding MassPIRG as before.

Regardless of the referendum's outcome, Sargent said, MassPIRG plans to hold its own reaffirmation drive in March, a campus-wide vote to see if a majority of students favor MassPIRG on their campus. Since 1972 (MassPIRG's founding), UMass students have continually supported the group's presence on campus, according to Sargent. The last vote was in 1981.

Massachusetts law states that any non-profit organization may have an optional fee placed on student's bills at public colleges and universities if it obtains majority approval of the student government association.

Michael Ferrigno, director of SSAM, said he thinks the referendum will fail. "I don't think they (SPD) express the popular sentiment of the students at UMass."

Feminist prof. likes to show many viewpoints

By NANCY KLINGENER
Collegian Staff

Lee R. Edwards is doing what she has always wanted to do -- teaching.

"I have always wanted to teach from the moment I learned to read," the professor of English said in a recent interview.

Edwards said she tries to show her students that "more than a single truth" exists for many works of literature, that there is usually more than one way at looking at a work.

"If you want a class that has the security of someone giving you the truth, and you want neat notes at the end of the semester, you don't want a course with me," she said.

"I want people in some sense to know when they leave the class that the world is a lot more complicated and strange" than it seemed when they walked in, she said. "People who have fixed views are very unhappy with me, wherever they locate me."

Edwards regularly teaches "Foundations of Feminism" and "Feminist Theory" for the women's studies program, and various courses, including "Woman as Hero," for the English department.

"Most of the teaching I've done in English has also been women's studies teaching," she said.

Before literature by and about women was taught in specified courses, studying women "would be inadvertent, but there would be no way to notice even that minimal incorporation," Edwards said. "Very few were studied, and those that were studied could not be studied in terms of being women."

Edwards said she sees another imbalance: female students are constantly asked to take the male perspective while studying literature, that of Hamlet or Julius Caesar, for example, while male students are "very seldom asked to make the shift" and look at a work from the female view.

"It leads to a certain flexibility in women, and rigidity in men," she said.

Edwards teaches one course, "Literature and Reality," that has as many men as women. She said very few men object to any feminist perspective she brings to the course.

Edwards first came to Amherst in 1967, after receiving her bachelor's degree from Swarthmore College and graduate degrees from the University of California's Berkeley and San Diego campuses.

WOMEN ON CAMPUS

English teacher Lee Edwards photo by Arlene Avakian

"My career in medicine began at only 16, giving vaccinations in the Amazon jungle."

AMIGOS

Mental Health Groups Spring 1986

Self Exploration Groups
Group I Tuesdays, 3:30 - 5:00
Group II Wednesdays, 3:30 - 5:00

Emotional Effects of Chronic Physical Illness, Fridays 12 - 1

Register for these groups during the first three weeks of classes. For information, or to register, call 545-2337 or come by 127 Hills North.

Adult Children of Alcoholics
Group I Mondays 1:00 - 2:30
Group II Tuesdays 1:00 - 2:30

Register for these groups the first three weeks of classes. For information, or to register, call 549-2671, x181, or stop by the Health Education Office at UHS.

ADD// DROP DEADLINE

The Final Day for Adding or Dropping courses is Monday, Feb. 10th. Fall course change forms must be submitted to the Registrar's Office, Whitmore Room 213 by 5:00 p.m. This deadline also relates to Pass/Fail forms.

For further information call The Taped Information Phone Service "TIPS" and ask for tapes by number:

1006 Adding and Dropping Courses
1032 Pass/Fail Option
1009 Credit Loads
1031 Graduation Requirements
1027 Incompletes
1033 Repeat Option
1005 Who is my Academic Dean

A Service of The Dean of Students Office

STADIUM LIQUORS
University Dr.
Amherst

Kegs ★ Beer ★ Wine
Soda ★ Ice

BUDWEISER or BUDWEISER LIGHT
12 oz. cans.....$11.20 + 1.20 case

BUSCH 12 oz. cans.....$8.95 + 1.20 case

CARLING 12 oz. bottles.....$6.95 + 1.50 case

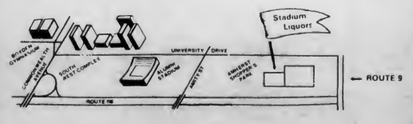
MEISTER BRAU 12 pk. cans $4.00 + .60 12 pack

LABATT Ale or Beer.....$11.95 + 1.20 case

ALMADEN 4 L Mtn. Wines.....$7.49

GALLO 3 L Table Wines.....$4.99

BACCHUS LAMBRUSCO
1.5 L.....$2.99 or 2/$5.00



LEROUX SCHNAPPS (all flavors) 750 ml $5.75

RON RICO RUM 1.75 L .$11.49

RON RICO RUM Liter.....$6.99

RON RICO RUM 750 ml.....$5.99

RON RICO RUM 151 750 ml.....$8.79

175 University Drive

253-5595

Sophia bookshop

BODHISATTVA OF COMPASSION: The Mystical Tradition of Kuan Yin, by John Blofeld. Illustrated with Chinese and Tibetan sacred art, this study of the ancient goddess of love and compassion provides a thorough portrait of Kuan Yin and her importance in Chinese religion. Illustrated with 18 halftones, 158 pp.
Order # 126
Paper $5.95

103 North Pleasant Street
Amherst 253-5574

RUSSELL'S LIQUORS
18 Main St. Downtown Amherst 253-5441

Bud & Bud Light suitcase.....$11.99 + dep.
Coors & Miller Lite suitcases.....$11.99 + dep.
Grolsch.....$4.25 6/pk + dep.
Becks light & dark.....$4.25 6/pk + dep
Ballantine Beer 12 pk cans.....$3.40 + dep.
Vodka or Gin 80°.....$5.49 Liter
Kahlua.....$11.49 750 ml
Jug Wine Burgundy, Chablis, Rose.....$4.99 4 L
Champagnes.....$2.99 750 ml & up

For Less Than The Price of A Lift Ticket Alone...
Peter Pan's Stratton Mt. Express Package Combines Transportation and Skiing Fun From $25.00

Now-March 16, 1986 Stratton

Package Includes:
Round-trip transportation and a day's lift ticket for just $25.00 Tuesday, Thursday and $27.00 on Sunday ... less than you'd pay for a lift ticket alone. A great value to stretch your skiing dollar and your skiing fun. Arrive at Stratton Mt. at 9:00 a.m. Advanced reservations only.
Tickets available at all local college campuses and at the local Peter Pan Bus Terminal. For further information on pick up points and reservations call 781-2900 Ext. 253.

Group Charter Packages:
There are also special packages for groups available at reduced rates. Peter Pan offers door to door charter service every day throughout the week at substantial savings for your group. Contact the Charter Department for group rate information at 781-2900.

The People Professionals
Peter Pan Bus Lines, Inc.
1776 Main St., P.O. Box 1776
Springfield, MA • 781-2900
MA Toll Free 1-800-332-8995

POWER HYPNOSIS
LEARN HOW TO HYPNOTIZE YOURSELF AND OTHERS.

In just 3½ hours you will learn how to:
- Achieve Hypnotic Power and Control over Others
- Entertain with Hypnosis
- Relax, Quit Smoking, Quit Drinking, etc.
- Control Stress
- Achieve Success Using Hypnosis
- Improve Concentration and Memory
- And much, much more!

These are simplified techniques that you can quickly learn. By the end of the seminar, you will have successfully hypnotized both yourself and another subject; and you will have learned how to hypnotize with a snap of the fingers, at a word of command, at a signal, by telephone — instantly!

SEMINAR TUITION is only $50, and includes the complete 3½-hour Guaranteed Seminar, Hypnosis Guidelines, and Seminar Manual. Tuition is payable at the door by cash, check, money order, MasterCard, VISA or American Express.

CHOOSE 1 OF 2 WORKSHOPS
MON., February 12th — 1 pm-4:30 pm OR 6 pm-9:30 pm
THE PARWICK INN — CHICOPEE
450 Memorial Drive (Exit 5 off I-90)

For Instant SEMINAR RESERVATIONS
Call Today — TOLL FREE 1-800-233-2545, Ext. 146-B

CAN'T ATTEND? For the Power Hypnosis Seminar on cassette tapes, workbooks, and all workshop materials mentioned above — with same full money-back guarantee — send $50 (plus $3.00 for shipping and handling). Send Orders to: Hypnosis Learning Center, 912 Union Street, Dept. 146-B, Manchester, NH 03104. Charge Card orders will be shipped within 48 hours by phoning toll-free 1-800-233-2545, Ext. 146-B. (Add $8 for Federal Express guaranteed 1-2 day delivery.)

Copyright ©1986 Hypnosis Learning Center.

BMW
ROCKY SPRINGSTEEN
The New York Times
MAY DEPARTMENT STORES

we're all ranked in the top ten

BUSINESS WEEK'S "GUIDE TO CAREERS" rated the May Department Stores' Executive Training Program one of the ten best in the nation... for all industries

FIND OUT WHY many of your alumni have joined the G.Fox team and have become successful executives

G.FOX

OPEN HOUSE
MONDAY FEB 10
10 am - 4 pm

SCHOOL OF MANAGEMENT
FACULTY LOUNGE

* Casual Dress

G.FOX

The Whately Inn
Quality Food Prepared To Order
Chestnut Plain Rd.
Whately
665-3041
Featuring Steve Kloc's Famous Broiled LIVE LOBSTER
Also Serving Louisiana Cajun Entrees
Also Steaks, Prime Rib, Seafood
DIRECTIONS: take 116 north to South Deerfield, south on route 5-10 1½ miles. Right on Christian Lane ½ mile from center of town.
Open:
Mon-Sat 5-10 pm Sun 1-9

Styles by Deborah
Introduces
CAROL GARDNER
Styles By Deborah is pleased to announce that Carol Gardner has joined its staff of skilled cosmetologists.
Carol looks forward to seeing her old friends and welcoming new ones.
For your appointment call
549-5610
65 University Drive, Amherst • 549-5610

Lounge Lizard
(lounj liz'ûrd) n.
A non-poisonous, two-legged variety with an enlarged capacity for fun; having a body uniquely adapted to lolling around in a lazy, relaxed manner; indigenous to a popular local watering hole.
Coming Soon!

DELANO'S
FINE FOOD & SPIRITS
FREE TACO BAR
MON & TUES NIGHT
9 — till it lasts
FEBRUARY BEER OF THE MONTH
Becks
57 N. Pleasant St., Amherst

Valentine's '86
Friday, Feb. 14th!
Valentine cards, Teddy Bears and more!
FACES
Downtown Amherst
Daily 10-6, Fri 'til 9, Sun. 12-5

Video Party With Rack-A-Disc
Saturday, February 8, 1986
Campus Center Auditorium
9:00 pm - 1:00 am
Admission $3.00
$1.50 Hillel Fee-Payers
Sponsored by B'nai B'rith Hillel

CALENDARS!
I THINK WE NEED A NEW CALENDAR!
A Large Assortment of Pictorial Wall & Desk Calendars Still Available
Located in the Campus Center
Open M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3
UNIVERSITY STORE

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian
ED/OP
The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted.
Founded in 1870

EXECUTIVE BOARD-SPRING 1986
Dode B. Levenson, Editor in Chief
Ian Polumbaum, Managing Editor
Larry Bouchie, Editorial Editor
Peter Soderberg, Production Manager
Conor Plunkett, Production Manager
Elizabeth Young, Business Manager
Sherry Sharfman, Business Manager
BOARD OF EDITORS
Dode B. Levenson, Editor in Chief
Ian Polumbaum, Managing Editor
Larry Bouchie, Editorial Editor
Joel P. Coffidis, News Editor
John Yonce, Women's Editor
Peter Abraham, Sports Editor
Jennifer Ackerman, Arts Editor
Kelly Sieger, Arts Editor
Michelle Segal, Photo Editor
Paul Desmarais, Photo Editor
Chris Allen, Black Affairs Editor

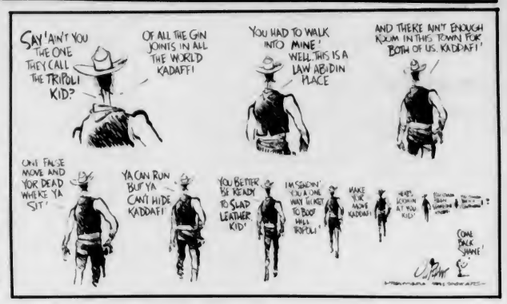
A personalized problem

Herb Ramy

Everyone of us has a cross to bear through life. Some people, like myself, seem to have many. Today, I'd like to talk about one of my crosses. One that I feel is completely unfair. That cross is my name.

Before any of you start saying that I'm being ridiculous, I'd like you to imagine going through life with the name Herb. Scary, isn't it?

Picture yourself as a six or seven-year-old being called Herbert Sherbert day after day for nearly a year. That's the kind of thing that stays with you for the rest of your life.



Let us not forget Hollywood's part in destroying my life. I'm sure many of you remember a certain Volkswagen Bug called Herbie from Walt Disney pictures. No twelve-year-old likes to be called the love bug by his friends, teachers, and even family. My mother even had the nerve to buy me a t-shirt with the car's number (53) on it. This is the same person who was instrumental in saddling me with this name in the first place.

Although all this was bad enough, the worst has to be Burger King's recent advertising campaign. It just took me by surprise. One day I was a healthy, well adjusted, 20-year-old male who thought the ridicule was behind him, and the next day my name was on bumper stickers all over the nation. It was like living my old nightmares all over again. Friends asking if I'd ever been to Burger King. Professors wanting to know if I preferred flame broiling to frying. I was even getting phone calls at 3 a.m. from people wondering if I was the Herb everyone was looking for. Worst of all, everyone thought they were the witty first one to ask, 'Hey Herb, been to Burger King lately?' It's easy to see that originality is not a problem for most people.

My last hope was that when Burger King finally decided to show Herb, they would be kind. On Super Bowl Sunday, I was in front of the television watching the Patriots getting embarassed by the Bears, when I saw Herb during a station break. My worst fears had been recognized. There he was, the ultimate wimp. His pants looked as if they were expecting a flood, and of course the pant legs were of different lengths. The horn rimmed glasses and bald scalp finished off the dismal picture.

What is my purpose for writing this column? (Other than I couldn't think of anything else.) Herb's of America, I'm asking you to unite! That's right, I'm talking to all three of you. Please join me in a class action suit against Burger King Inc. You have nothing to lose but your wimpy image.

Herb Ramy is a Collegian columnist.

Every day I ride the bus

Robert Slosberg

It started as any normal day would. I had to catch the 7:35 bus from Puffton to make it to my 8:00 class on time. As I approached the bus stop at 7:32, a horrible chill ran through by body as I noticed nearly 200 collegians also waiting for the 7:35. I mixed myself into the mass of bodies and at first, all the students seemed relatively human. I heard small talk here, a dumb joke there; the usual early morning banter. Then.....dead silence.

The bus was coming.

Suddenly, the situation became worse than a Who concert with general admission. The crowd of students busily jockeyed for a position nearest either the front or back doors of the bus. I felt like a wounded calf being swept along by the massive herd. (And some of these people really are animals.) Students pushed and shoved and tripped and smacked and screamed and scratched...it was sheer pandemonium. By the time almost everyone was on the bus, I realized that my chances of boarding were rapidly deteriorating. Luckily, I saw the doors closing and skillfully pranced onto the rear steps of the bus.....the doors slamming just behind me. But my happiness and sense of accomplishment were only momentary.

"Get off the bottom step," the bus driver squawked.

Being the sneaking kind of guy that I am.....I ducked down.

"Get off the bottom step or this bus doesn't move," the driver reiterated.

I complied by literally stuffing myself between two colleagues standing just above me. Not only were my movements completely restricted, but the individual standing closest to me had a serious case of morning breath. We were all packed in so tight, I couldn't even turn away. It was a dreadful situation. Then, he yelled to his friend, "I was so late this morning (chuckle, chortle) I didn't have time to take a shower or brush my teeth or anything."

No kidding.

We rolled toward campus and I soon noticed about 75 people waiting at the next bus stop. However, there was absolutely no way that one more person could have fit into that sardine sedan. Please....not one more person.

The bus driver casually pulled over.

There were only two sounds that ensued once the doors were ajar. The agonizing groans of fellow students being crushed...and the incessant snickering of the bus driver.

Somehow, the UMass campus was finally in sight, leading inevitably to the dreaded "dings." Six or seven of them could be heard as the students pressed the yellow tape, telling the driver to stop. (That always cracks me up when people do that. What's the driver going to do...unknowingly bypass the University? Dinging while on campus is unnecessary and annoying. Besides that, the three on campus stops are mandatory for the drivers.)

At last, the bus came to a halt and the flood gates were opened. Students began pushing and scratching and shoving again, and I, too, gladly exited the vehicle. As I began to walk to my first class, the fellow that was standing next to me on the bus (you know, halitosis Hal) asked me if I happened to have an extra piece of gum. I tossed him a whole pack.

Maybe tomorrow I'll take my car.

Robert Slosberg is a UMass student.

Letters from the editor

Larry Bouchie

Now that alcohol is back in the TOC and the Hatch, you'd think that students of legal drinking age would be a bit happier. Unless, of course, you're not from this state and don't happen to have a Massachusetts driver's license.

Campus bars are now not accepting out of state licenses, though it's been reported that those without Massachusetts licenses who are attending a conference here are being admitted without ID. By the way, the last time I checked (and I have), Massachusetts General Law states that it is up to the discretion of the bar management as to what they deem acceptable identification.

* * *

Speaking of drinking on campus, I've also heard that UMass actually had insurance before Tuesday, but wanted to train bartenders to use responsibility in serving those who may be too inebriated. This might explain why I've also heard that the Faculty Club was serving alcohol on Monday -- whoever made the decision to start serving earlier there knew that Faculty Club members are infinitely more responsible drinkers than students are.

* * *

Why is it that those of us who smoke cigarettes are now seen as targets for everyone and anyone? Believe it or not, most smokers I know try to be considerate of others when smoking. The argument that we indiscriminately force second-hand smoke on others is a rash generaliztion.

I don't mind being asked not to smoke in crowded confines, or in restaurants, but I do mind being harassed by those who are seated relatively far away, especially when it's obvious that I was smoking when these people settled in. As usual, it's the rude smokers who give us all a bad rap by extinguishing cigarettes in carpets and other inappropriate places, and by smoking in the "No smoking" sections and in elevators, buses, and other confining areas.

* * *

It is very quiet on the administrative front at UMass. Many are working toward pushing Chancellor Duffey's funding request through the legislature. Though Gov. Dukakis has stated that he's proposed our best budget ever, he only recommended that $25,000 be budgeted for the start of the General Education next fall. For that amount, we could probably pay a low level administrative salary and buy some paper clips. Just what sort of vision does Dukakis have for General Education?

Larry Bouchie is a Collegian columnist.

Suffering from selective vision

I am responding to Rusty Denton's column on animal rights groups. Or, to be more exact, to Denton's brand of journalism. Week after week, readers are forced to listen to Denton's convoluted distribe. He must either have the support of the Collegian or a portion of the student body. Let us pray it is not both. His ideas are not totally without merit, yet he seems more a preacher than a journalist at times, playing on the fears, hatreds, and ignorances of his limited audience.

Denton never fails in his writings to offend large segments of our society; usually women, foreigners, and minorities. Like the bully and the bigot, he picks on those least able to defend themselves or get a fair response. In this one article on animal rights, he manages to insult, either directly or by inference, Indians, Hindus, liberals, nutritional scientists, animal rights groups, blacks (especially women), Latinos, etc.

It is ignorant and crude to mock another's religious beliefs, especially when those beliefs venerate life and non-violence. How pallid our "elevated" Christianity seems, our systematic breeding (with toxic chemicals) and slaughter of the "lower" creatures, in comparison. Denton writes as though he gets much of his scientific information from the Bible and most of his spiritual insight from Reader's Digest. He reminds one of the person at the party who's had too much to drink and slurs out "all" the wrong things.

He inevitably lowers himself to attacking the ever-nebulous "far left" for it's "never ending search for the underprivledged." It seems to me that such a search is not without nobility -the 'human dignity' Denton so rabidly wants to save from the "animals" with low IQs. Can one imagine what Denton would make of Jesus if he were to show up on the steps of the Student Union Building, searching for the weak and oppressed? One can imagine too easily I'm afraid.

One does not have to look far to see the under-priveledged in our society. But some folks on our campus are suffering from selective vision, have more "brains than sense," and have not truly considered the state of their soul with any appreciable (or printable) results. Maybe Dartmouth College would be a more suitable environment for those having trouble "seeing" the way things really are. I'll admit UMass has changed for the worse when it comes to the spiritually blind, but it could never get that bad! Could it?

Frank Flanagan
Amherst

Letters
Johnny can't read, can't write

Last week, after reading the new version of the Live Wire column, I was left with the definite impression that its author not only held an unnecessarily negative attitude but was seriously misinformed as to the basic philosophy and practices of local broadcasters and programmers. Believing as the Collegian Board of Editors apparently did, everyone deserves a second chance.

Therefore, little "Johnny" is given one. I won't bother to address the issue that he shows signs of a serious lack of knowledge in the area of which he writes, but I will close with the observation that not only can "Johnny" not read, (INXS is NOT playing at the Fine Arts Center but at the Student Union Ballroom) but he can't write either.

Union Program Council

The Distinguished Visitors Program
presents
John Stockwell
the highest-ranking CIA official to openly criticize the agency
"The Secret Wars of the CIA"
distinguished visitors program
Tues. Feb. 11
8 PM
Campus Center Auditorium

Looking for some "Healthy Romance" on Valentine's Day?
You'll find it at Utopia Spas...
• complimentary flowers
• soft music
• ½ hour Hot Tub for Two only $14.50
If your Hot Tub for Two is between 11am and 5pm, you'll also receive 2 Free Hot Tub Passes good on your next visit
Utopia Spas
175 University Drive, Amherst
(413) 253-7727

HAIRCUTS
$8.50
with this coupon
CALL STYLES BY DEBORAH
65 University Dr., Amherst, MA.
549-5610
expires 2/14/86

AMHERST CINEMA
Are YOU ready for our 24 Hour Science Fiction Marathon
starting Sat. Feb. 15, 1986
at 12:00 Midnight
see
Eraserhead
The Thing
Hardware Wars
Star Trek II and III
and 13 more films
PLUS our famous Trivia Contest
and lots of prizes!
All 24 hours for just $6.00
30 AMITY ST. AMHERST 253-5426

Joe's Paradise
GOURMET FRIED CHICKEN
TRY SOME!
FRIED CHICKEN PALACE
TRY SOMETHING NEW & COMPARE THE VALUE
WE DELIVER
Downtown Amherst 31 Boltwood Walk
(through the alley next to Taco Villa)
253-7494

James H. McManus
eating place
• OPEN 6 A.M.-3 A.M. SUN.-THURS.
• OPEN 24 HOURS FRI. & SAT.
CAMPUS PLAZA
(NEXT TO SUPER STOP & SHOP)
Rte. 9 • Hadley/Amherst
256-6889

RENT A WRECK
New & Used Cars
Trucks & Vans Also Available
North Amherst
Rent-A-Wreck
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880

CLASSICAL JAZZ REGGAE BLUES ROCK SOUL FOLK JAZZ ROCK SOUL CLASSICAL
#1 IN THE VALLEY!
DYNAMITE RECORDS
New - Used - Buy -Sell 584-1580
Maxell XLII90 - 2.00/case
TDK SA90 - 2.00 ea
Warehouse Clearance Sale in progress
THORNES MARKETPLACE
150 MAIN ST. NORTHAMPTON

AMHERST CINEMA
Friday - Saturday
Mad Max 7:00
Road Warrior 8:40
Beyond the Thunderdome 10:15
Sunday - Tuesday
Francis 7:00
Dance with a Stranger 9:20
30 AMITY ST. AMHERST 253-5426

Become A Carbur's Lounge Lizard... Tuesday, Feb. 11th!
We're kicking off Carbur's exclusive Lounge Lizard Club in style...with a big party beginning at 7:30p.m.
300 Membership Buttons will be given away Free!
99.3fm/The Hot Spot will broadcast live from Carbur's 7:30-10p.m.
Free all-you-can-eat spiced chicken wings
Free Balloons
You can't afford to miss this party!
Wear your L.L. button and get:
★ Dynamite Daily Specials
★ Cash Discounts in the L.L. balloon-bursting lottery!
I'm a Carbur's Lounge Lizard
And a chance to Win a Week's Dream Vacation for Two to Cancun, Mexico
Travel arrangements through Pioneer Valley Travel
99.3 FM HOT SPOT
CARBUR'S
Restaurant & Lounge • Rt. 9 Hadley, MA
586-1978

ARTS

Local boys make good at Oscar nominations

By KELLY SIEGER
Collegian Staff

The Academy Awards have taken on a local flavor as an award winning film made by a UMass student and a Hampshire College graduate was nominated Wednesday for an Oscar.

"I was shocked," said Alan Edelstein, a UMass American history major and aspiring filmmaker, according to a report in The Daily Hampshire Gazette. "It wasn't as if I were waiting on the edge of my chair," he added.

The film, titled Wizard of the Strings, is a documentary portraying the career of vaudevillian Roy Smeck. According to Edelstein, who produced the film, it is "a portrait of Roy Smeck, who was, during the 20's and 30's, a well-known string instrumentalist."

Wizard has won a student Academy Award, as well as the 1985 CINE Eagle Award, and the Gold Plaque from the Chicago International Film Festival.

Edelstein became interested in Smeck after purchasing one of Smeck's albums in an Amherst record store. He soon realized Smeck's legacy to modern music.

"Smeck was one of the first musicians to popularize the guitar as a solo instrument," Edelstein said in a recent interview. "He is a very under-appreciated artist.

Roy Smeck was born in 1900 in Pennsylvania. While working in a music store, Smeck spent many hours playing the various instruments. He soon mastered the guitar, uke, banjo and Hawaiian guitar. In 1926 an agent of RKO Theatres invited Smeck to an audition in New York City, and his career as a musician began.

Because the vaudeville scene was so competitive, Smeck developed gimmicks to entertain his audiences. These included playing the ukelele upside down and backwards, and playing the guitar while his fingers imitated the tap dancing of Bill Robinson. He also devised a method of strumming the banjo which gave the impression of several instruments being played at once.

In 1928 Smeck was approached by Jack Warner, one of the Warner Brothers, and asked to appear in the studio's first talking picture. Overnight he became a star of screen, records, and concert halls.

Smeck had been out of the public's eye until Edelstein began his project. Edelstein, who first met Smeck in 1980, organized a concert for Smeck at Amherst College. Smeck, enthused by the warm reception he received, has performed many times since. The making of the film has increased public interest in him, which was exactly what Edelstein planned on.

"I made the film in tribute to his talent, and also to let people know of his significance to the music industry," said Edelstein. "The making of the film was a sort of comeback to him, he hadn't played much."

Edelstein made the film with partner, Peter Friedman. Friedman, who graduated from Hampshire College in 1982, directed Wizard. Friedman now lives in New York City as an editor for HBO. Wizard, which runs at 28 minutes, took a year and a half to film and a year to edit. The main obstacle, according to Edelstein was money. Edelstein and Friedman were fortunate to get a $15,000 Youth Grant from the National Endowment of Humanities. They also received small grants from the Louis B. Mayer Foundation and the Northampton Arts Council. However, Edelstein said the project was actually begun on his own savings.

"I don't know what we would have done without the Youth Grant," said Edelstein. Unfortunately, he added, the National Endowment of Humanities has recently cancelled the Youth Grant.

"Our timing was lucky."

Wizard will be shown at 10 p.m. tonight on Channel 57.

Alan Edelstein, a UMass senior, and Hampshire College graduate Peter Friedman accept student Academy Award for their documentary Wizard of the Strings. Below: Roy Smeck, the subject of Wizard.

Roy Speck, the vaudevillian musician who is the subject of the film Wizard of the Strings.

Student film contest calls for entries

The Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences has announced the 1986 Thirteenth Annual Student Film Awards.

The competition is open to all college student filmmakers. Awards will be given for the following categorys: Animation, Documentary, Dramatic and Experimental.

There is a $1,000 prize in each category, with an Honorary Award of $750.

The films must have been created in a student-teacher relationship while the filmmaker was enrolled in a U.S. college or university. Also, the film must be in 16mm gauge and no more than 60 minutes long.

Entries must be received by regional coordinators by April 1. Judging will be complete by May 19.

For all those interested, a complete set of rules and an entry form can be obtained at the Collegian, located in rm. 113 of the Campus Center, UMass.

FRIDAY FILM FOLLIES

By DON LIPPER
Collegian Staff

All that Oscar nomination business is over. I won't be bitter and rant about what an incredible outrage it was for the Academy of Arts and Sciences (the knee-biters!) to snub Steven Spielberg from his rightful place in the category of Best Director. I promise I won't even mention it. But I will say that if I ever meet the Academy in a dark alley, one of us won't come out alive. But enough of journalistic objectivity, let's get to the movies.

The best movie bet this weekend is at the Amherst Cinema. For those interested in 6 hours of non-stop action in a violent post-apocalyptic world, the Mad Max film festival is sure to be a hit. These three movies chronicle the life of Max, a policeman trying to keep order in a world gone mad. By the end of the first film Max has joined in the violent madness of this world's anarchy.

The second film begins with the recollections of an old man of mythical warrior of the roads. That road warrior turns out to be, of course, Max. Max is now fully adapted to the ways of survival in a world where men kill for a few precious gallons of gasoline. In a land where car-driving barbarians besiege an isolated oil producing town, Max becomes the town's hero against his will. The climatic chase scene at the end of the movie rivals any other chase scene ever put on film (that includes the truck scene in Raider's of the Lost Ark).

Mad Max Beyond Thunderdome raises Max beyond the level of mythic glorification of violence and into the realm of anthropology. The long years of struggling in the barren desert have begun to wear on Max. The film begins with his victimization at the hands of an old aquiantance. Penniless, Max wanders into Bartertown, a place crawling with people clawing for survival. Bartertown is ruled by a woman named Auntie Entity (Tina Turner). She inlists Max's aid to kill Master/Blaster, the only rival to her power. Master is a midget genius who is the only person who can run the town's power source (pig poo). He rides on the shoulders of Blaster a mighty masked warrior who Max must fight in Thunderdome.

Thunderdome is an arena where the combatants are strapped into harnesses which allow them to leap and fly around in the bee-hive-like structure. On the walls of Thunderdome are the weapons (chainsaws, etc.) used in the fight. The fight sequence provides some of the film's most memorable moments, especially when Blaster is defeated.

When Max leaves Thunderdome, he is adopted by a tribe of children. They believe he is the long lost pilot of their crashed airplane, returning to bring them back to a civilization that no longer exists. This is where the movie begins to transcend its violent origins. Max once again becomes a reluctant leader and the culture of the children raises him up to the level of a demi-god. Though the film ends with another violent chase scene, it portends of good things to come for the next movies in the series.

The malls provide an opportunity to see a few of the movies running for the Oscars. Just as a public service, here are the nominations for the local movies.

The Color Purple ties for first place with 11 nominations including: best film, best actress (Whoopi Goldberg), best supporting actress (Margaret Avery who plays Shug, and Oprah Winfrey who plays Sophia), best original song, best screenplay adaptation, best cinematography, best original score, best art direction, best costumes and best make-up.

Out of Africa also has 11 nominations including: best picture, best actress, best supporting actor, best director, best screenplay adaptation, best cinematography, best original score, best art direction, best costume design, best editing and best sound.

Murphy's Romance has earned James Garner a nomination for best actor, though God only knows why, also best cinematography.

Twice in a Lifetime (nicudes Amy Madigan in an intense performance that earned her a best supporting actress nomination.

Kiss of the Spiderwoman is playing at the Academy of Music in Northamton. It features William Hurt in an exceptional performance that has gotten him a best actor nomination and should get him an Oscar.

UTT

UNIVERSITY TRAVEL and TOURS INC.
225 Main St. Northampton, Mass. 584-9913
Special Events co-sponsored by our office overseas

International Medical Convention
sponsored by the Kos doctor's Association the second week of June held on the island of Kos, home of Hippocrates

Marathon sponsored by the Greek Government to be held the 6th of April and the 12th of October run from Marathon to Athens. Finishers receive certificate of completion from the Greek Government.

Are You Looking for Intelligent Life?
Come travel with us to New York City Sat. Feb. 22nd or Mar. 29th to see

Looking for Intelligent Life in the Universe starring Lily Tomlin

$59.95 price incl. RT bus fare, theater tickets and dinner

SAVE SAVE SAVE with this coupon for $50 off any international air ticket $10 off domestic air ticket when you reserve with us before Feb. 15

ATHENS AND CRETE 1 MONTH $999.
price includes:
- round trip airfare Boston or NY to Athens
- hotel acc.
1 week in Athens
2 weeks on the beaches of Crete
1 week in the White Mountains of Crete

Making Plans For Spring Break Let Us Help!
Price Includes Airfare & Hotel Accommodations

FLORIDA
Fort Lauderdale
$278 to $580

HAWAII
Honolulu 4 nts
Maui 3 nts
$844

1 MONTH in SPAIN
includes
RT airfare
& accommodations
$999

MEXICO ACAPULCO
$579 to $619

BLACK AFFAIRS

Collegian photo by Michelle Segall
Director of CCEBS Paul Barrows addresses students at first CCEBS meeting in Mahar Auditorium Wednesday night.

March against racism planned for next week

University of Massachusetts students ar. urging their colleagues to join them for a march against racism in Philiadelphia on February 15.

"It's obviously an area of this country that needs support against racism, and I think it will be a dynamic experience,' said student senator Laura Gottschalk, a junior political science major.

The National Organization Against Racism, a coalition based in Philiadelphia, has organized the march in response to various incidences of racist violence and what they see as the legitimation of racism being pursued by the Reagan administration.

Joe Pietge of the All Peoples Congress in Philiadelphia, one of the groups which is helping to organize the march, said the Reagan administration has promoted a "climate of racism' by in many different ways, from attacking affirmative action programs in cities across the country, to prosecuting voter registration activists in Alabama.

Pietge said the bombing of the Move group in Philiadelphia last spring had precipitated the organization of the march, adding that the actions of Reagan administration and institutionalized racism were being targeted.

The bombing, which left ll dead and hundreds homeless when a fire raged out of control and destroyed 60 homes, is one of many incidences of racist violence which prompted the formation of the coalition.

"When the Move incident took place (Attorney General Edwin) Meese sent a telegram to the police department congratulating them for effectively dealing with terrorists,' Piegt said.

February is Black History Month

Throughout the month of February, Black History month is celebrated throughout the United States. Try this black history quiz:

A. Actor
B. Gospel Singer
C. Research Scientist
D. Civil Rights Leader
E. Songwriter
F. Newspaper Publisher
G. U.S. Senator
H. Businesswoman
I. Liberator
J. Poet
K. Concert Artist
L. Nationalist Leader
M. Educator
N. Basketball Player/Coach
O. Mayor
P. Inventor
Q. Explorer
R. Labor Leader
S. Composer
T. Chemist
U. Frontier Scout

1. Robert Sengstacle Abbot
2. Marian Anderson
3. Daniel Hale Williams
4. Duke Ellington
5. Charles Richard Drew
6. A. Phillip Randolph
7. Hiram Revels
8. Jean Baptiste Dusable
9. Jan Matzeliger
10. W.C. Handy
11. Arthur B. Gaston
12. Harriett Tubman
13. Gwendolyn Brooks
14. James Beckworth
15. Malcolm X.
16. Carl B. Stokes
17. Bill Russell
18. Peroy L. Julian
19. Mary McLeod Bethune
20. Mahalia Jackson

ROVING REPORTER

What does Black History Month mean to you?

Collegian photos by Rob Skelton

Louis Alfred III..86...Communication Maj
Black History month is a time when all black people should take the time to reflect on the struggles and truimphs which constitutes black people's existence in America.

Karen Fraser..87..Psychology maj.
I don't really know much about it. I do think students should be more aware of it.

Christine Leung..86..Mathematics maj.
Black History Month helps me recognize that in this society, we have a strong case to fight discriminization and the way to correct it is to stand up for what we beleive. I am proud to be Kelly Fallon..88..School of Management maj.

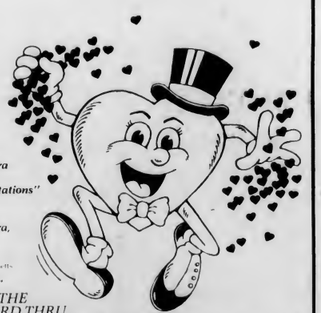
Black History means, my little sister learning about her

WIN A PAIR OF VALENTINE TREATS!



The Amherst Downtown Council and the Fine Arts Center are again sponsoring

...A Valentine's Day Giveaway Drawing!

Fifteen lucky winners will receive Two Choice Tickets to an evening's entertainment at the Fine Arts Center for one of the following Spring performances:

- ☐ Mummenschanz
- ☐ Guarneri String Quartet
- ☐ Carnegie Competition Winner
- ☐ Toshiko Akiyoshi Jazz Orchestra
- ☐ Bill Cratty Dance Theatre
- ☐ Guthrie Theater-"Great Expectations"
- ☐ Berlin Chamber Orchestra
- ☐ Mitchell-Ruff Duo
- ☐ Springfield Symphony Orchestra, Viktoria Mullova, soloist
- ☐ 42nd Street

Tickets contributed by the University of Massachusetts Fine Arts Center and Amherst Downtown Council

ENTER YOUR NAME IN THE DRAWING FEBRUARY 3RD THRU FEBRUARY 14TH AT ANY DOWNTOWN COUNCIL MEMBER BUSINESS DISPLAYING THIS AD. DRAWINGS TO BE HELD FEBRUARY 17TH. NO PURCHASE NECESSARY. DECISION OF JUDGES IS FINAL. WINNERS WILL BE NOTIFIED.

the Hungry U Restaurant
549-5713
FREE DELIVERY
Buy any Sub at Regular Price
Get second at ½ Price
(higher priced item prevails)
Offer good on delivery only expires: Feb. 14, 1986
55 University Dr., Amherst

TEACH IN JAPAN
Persons with a degree and job experience in such fields as advertising, publishing, engineering, business administration, pharmacology, linguistics and languages wishing to teach English in Japanese adults for one or two years in Tokyo and other parts of Japan should write to:
Personnel Manager, International Education Services
Shin Taiso Bldg
10-7, Dogenzaka 2-chome, Shibuya-ku
Tokyo, Japan 150
Personal interviews will be held in New York in the middle of March, 1986.
Further information on the position, qualifications, salary, benefits, transportation and housing can be obtained by airmailing a detailed resume with a recent photograph to I.E.S.

THE BLACK SHEEP
Deli & Bakery
79 MAIN STREET • AMHERST, MA 01002 • 253-3442
Hours: Mon.-Sat. 9-6
There can be only one "Black Sheep"
OPENING
MONDAY
FEBRUARY 10th
9 A.M.
Soup • Baklava • Tabouleh • Chocolate • Breads • Gruyere • Cheddar Jalapeno • Cake • Salad • Croissants • NY Deli Rye • Meats • Organic Olives • Cheddar • Truffles • Coffee Beans • Havarti • Mussels • Half Sour Pickles • Brie • Tea • Chocolates • Breads • Gruyere • Cheddar Jalapeno Soup

SALE!
3 DAYS ONLY...
FRI/SAT/SUN FEB 7,8,9
100% COTTON
TURTLENECKS
in a dozen dazzling colors

REG. 8.95
NOW
6.95
3 DAYS ONLY
3 FOR
19.95
FACES
Downtown Amherst Daily 10-6, Sun. 12-5

This Winter
We've Got It All
In BOTH STORES!
Amherst Carriage Shops • Northampton (Next to Iron Horse)
POSTERS Huge Selection ★ BAMBOO BLINDS 20% off
BEDSPREADS (Cover Walls Furn Windows) ★ Paper LAMPSHADES (Variety of Colors)
RUGS & MATS (Colorful Durable Greatly Expanded) ★ CARDS (Over 1400 Designs)
SKIRTS & BLOUSES (Comfortable Cotton) ★ Brass & Silver JEWELRY (earrings rings etc.)
WINTER SALE
20 - 50% off
selected Clothing, Chinese Shoes
Tapestries & Rugs
Great Gifts... Great Prices
THE MERCANTILE
Daily & Sat 10-6 • Sunday 12-5
Amherst 549-1396
Northampton 584-1205

Walsh's
Annual Winter Sale
RuggedWear Ltd.®

30% OFF
Large, colorful selection of all cotton Rugby, Henley and Crewneck collar shirts in both heavy and mid-weight. A great opportunity to update your Spring Break wardrobe!
House of Walsh
32 Main St., Amherst 253-3361 Mon.-Sat. 9-5:30

DOONESBURY GARRY TRUDEAU

THE FAR SIDE BY GARY LARSON

"You know those teeny tiny little birds that walk around so trustingly inside a crocodile's mouth? Well, I just been eatin' those little guys like popcorn."

FREAKER PATROL BY DOWE & O'BRIEN

HOUSEMATES BY R.MILLER

GORDY BY GORDE

BLOOM COUNTY BY BERKE BREATHED

All new Collegian personnel is invited to a News writing workshop with Collegian news editors
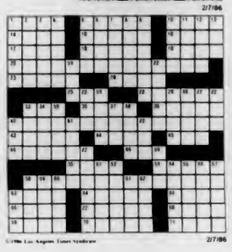
Tuesday Feb 11 7:30 pm
Room 902 Campus Center

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Edited by Trude Michel Jaffe



ACROSS
1 Carping remark
5 Wide open
10 Labyrinth
14 Type of market
15 Important person
16 Australian birds
17 Like the kittens' mittens
18 Timid in Scotland
19 It — necessarily so
20 Four Seasons composer
23 Itty bitty
24 Somme summers of old
25 Energy unit
28 Afloat
33 Turkish title
36 Type of 29 Down
39 Certain Japanese Americans
40 Musical great to friends
43 Close to a poet
44 Pitch
45 Munch or brunch
46 Western and Gothic
48 Ordinal suffix
50 Detriment
53 Michaelmas daisy
58 His nemesis was 40 Across
63 Swiss abstractionist
64 Aweigh
65 Small insect
66 Asian wild goat
67 All together, in music
68 Wash down
69 Small pie
70 Church recesses
71 Very, in Versailles

DOWN
1 Like Asharp
2 Sequestered
3 Remainder, in Toulouse
4 Accouterment for Prevn.
5 Bath Prefix
6 River in Corsica
7 Century plant
8 — — in writing
9 Gridiron number
10 Brunch or lunch
11 During
12 Pueblo Indian
13 D.C. time
21 19th cen. American humorist
22 Yoga postures
26 Cytoplasm substance
27 Graceful, of old
29 Shore phenomenon
30 — against — of troubles
31 A gear: Abbr.
32 Poetic contraction
33 First class
34 Small valley
35 Distant
37 In the past
38 Sheet of stamps
40 Droll person
41 Dancer Jose
42 Encountered
47 Beethoven's 'Pathetique'
49 Computer in 2001
51 Admonition to a child
52 Branch of law
54 Yore
55 Operatic hero, usually
56 Clean, as tape
57 Observances
58 City on the Tanaro
59 — dig went
60 Subject
61 Location
62 Noble's brother
63 A Carson

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

I	T	E	M		C	H	A	M	P		C	A	P	S
N	O	R	A		D	U	S	E		O	L	L	I	O
F	A	N	N	Y		P	A	C	K		R	A	N	D
O	R	I	O	N			G	A	R	N	E	T	S
			A	U	L	D		A	F	E	E
M	A	T	S		P	I	P		S	A	L	U	D	A
A	T	O	M		P	A	R	T	S		E	L	I	S
P	O	E	T	I	C		A	D	A	G	E
O	N	E	O	N		H	E	R	O	N		E	R	A
		E	D	R	A	W		S	I	N	A	T	R	A
H	E	A	R	T		A	C	A	I
C	A	R	E	E	N	S		B	I	A	S	E	S
O	V	A	L		D	O	N		C	O	M	E	T	S
R	O	U	N	D		A	N	D		R	O	U	N	D
E	N	D	S		R	E	M	I	T		R	E	A	D

2/7/86

©1986 Los Angeles Times Syndicate 2/7/86

Weather

Today: Sunny, high around 40 degrees.
Tonight: Mostly cloudy, with increasing cloudiness late, lows in the upper teens.
Tomorrow: Snow or rain possible, high in the mid 20s.

MENU

Lunch
Tuna Boat
Chili Corn Chip Bake

Basics Lunch
Lentil Spinach Stew
Tuna Boat

Dinner
Turkey Divan
Fried Shrimp Dinner/Tartar Sauce, Cocktail Sauce

Basics Dinner
Broccoli and Cheese Strudel
Fried Shrimp Dinner/Tartar Sauce, Cocktail Sauce

BROUGHT TO YOU BY

Today's Staff:

Night Editor.....Lesley Clark
Copy Editor.....Jim Patriquin
Layout Technician.....Conor Plunkett
Photo Technician.....Paul Desmarais
Production Supervisor.....Mark Parker
Production: Beatrix Hoffman, Peter Soderberg, Adam Rath, Laura Vogel, Dave Boardman,

★previews

continued from page 16

Cortland State, and the women going down to Philadelphia to compete in a dual meet against Temple and Northeastern.

The Minutemen will be hoping to up their record to 4-3 against a decent Cortland team (3-3) that features top performer Derek Cornelious.

The Cortland all-arounder was the Division I vaulting champion last season, but a lack of consistency shown by the rest of the team this season allows UMass head coach Roy Johnson to go into this meet with confidence. "Our consistency alone should allow us to take this meet," the coach said. "Cortland has a few areas of weakness that we are more than capable of taking advantage of."

The biggest weakness Cortland has is on the pommel horse. If UMass takes advantage of that event, the second out of six, they could coast the rest of the way.

The competition begins at 1p.m. on Saturday at the Boyden Gymnastic Center.

The women's team, coached by Chuch Sheibler, will try to turn around their hard luck season this weekend down at Temple. The Minutewomen (2-4) will face Temple and Northeastern on Saturday..

In other UMass action this weekend, the 5-5 women's swim team will be at home against a tough University of New Hampshire team at 1 p.m. on Saturday at the Boyden Pool.

★basketball

continued from page 16

the past two seasons, they are team the Minutemen should defeat.

"It's a win we want badly," said Gerlufsen. "It would do a lot for our confidence at this point in the season."

Minuteman Mutterings: Smith, with 475 career assists, is second on the UMass career list. He is 43 behind the late Alex Eldridge's 518. With at least eight games left this season, Smith should easily surpass the record as he is averaging seven per-game this season. The West Virginia game (Feb. 20 at WVU) would be the expected date for the record-breaking, but with a few double-figure assists days, Smith would set the record at home against Temple (Feb. 17).

Sutton is down to third in the league in overall scoring and second in scoring within the conference. He is hitting for just over 20 ppg against A-10 foes. . .freshman forward Duane Chase is fifth in the league in blocks with 1.13 per-game. . Smith is first in assists with 7.05 per-game. Smitty is also second in free throw percentage with an 86 percent mark from the line (50-of-58).

UMass 41-40 edge in the season-series. .former Minuteman star Al Skinner ('74) is Malone's assistant. . .Gerlufsen said the regular starting five of Smith, Sutton, Chase, freshman center John Milum and freshman forward David Brown will open the game. . .the 81 points in the first game against URI was a season-high for UMass. . .The Minutemen also attemped a season-high 32 free throws in that game, making 23 of them. Milum played well in that game, scoring 20 points as the 6-9 Iona transfer exhibited a variety of solid moves under the hoop.

UMass returns home on Monday night against Penn State at 7:30 p.m. The next game will be Thursday, also at home, against Rutgers.

C & C LIQUORS
61 Main St., Amherst
Next to Town Hall
FOR FREE DELIVERY OF $20 MINIMUM ORDER. (OFF UMASS CAMPUS)
Dial 253-3091
All Prices In Store Cash Only

Bud • Bud Light • Miller Lite
Coors • Coors Light
suitcases $11.99 ea. + dep.

Sebastiani Burgundy & Chablis 1.5 $3.75

Sierra Nevada Pale Ale NOW IN STOCK!

Wurzburger "Alcohol Free" 6 pk. $4.25

Heineken & Becks 6 pk. $4.25 + dep

Book Sale
30% OFF our regular price on all books
Sat. Feb. 8 - Sat. Feb. 15
VALLEY BOOKS
Carriage Shops
Amherst
M-F 10:30-5:30
Sat 10-5
Sun 12-5
549-6052
VISA/MC

NOW OPEN
Riverboat Village
APARTMENTS, SOUTH HADLEY.
1, 2 or 3 BEDROOM UNITS
BEAUTIFUL MODELS FURNISHED BY CHAD DELAINES & EPSTEIN FURNITURE CO
•Swimming Pool •Tennis Court •Club House •Shuffle Board Court
FINANCED BY MHFA LEASED ON OPEN OCCUPANCY BASIS
OPEN SEVEN DAYS A WEEK 10 AM 4 PM
PHONE 532-9451 532-9462
CALL FOR DIRECTIONS
Riverboat Village
River Lodge Rd
So. Hadley, MA 01075

TIRED OF PIZZA?
AMHERST
DELI
DELIVERY
CALL
549-6314
MON-WED 4-8 THUR-SAT 4-10
CARRIAGE SHOPS - AMHERST

Pride and respect.
They come with the territory.

It's one of the first things you'll notice as a Navy Officer. The recognition that you've got what it takes to Lead the Adventure.

That adventure can lead you around the world and back again. And along the way you're picking up experience that builds confidence it takes years to get elsewhere.

There's no boot camp. College graduates start with management and leadership training at Officer Candidate School. Once commissioned, you'll have even more educational opportunities that can further professional growth.

You'll uncover your potential and get the responsibility and decision-making authority success needs. The challenge, satisfaction and rewards add up to personal and professional growth no other job can match.

When you Lead the Adventure you start out with pride and respect. It puts you a step ahead. Contact your Navy Officer Recruiter or call 1-800-327-NAVY.

NAVY OFFICER.

LEAD THE ADVENTURE.

American Travel Services presents
SPRING BREAK "86"
Ft Lauderdale
Hotel from $139.00
Air: New York $209. Rd Trip
Boston $228. Rd Trip
Holiday Inn Oceanside $209.
Nassau/Paradise Island
Hotel & Air from $329.
Pilot House Hotel $379.
All prices include Taxes and Gratuities
Don't be left out, sign up now!
Limited space available
For more information: call Danny 546-7899

THE SPOKE
A Drinkery to Meet, Relax and Enjoy
Beer of the Month
Imported O'Keefe Canadian
Drink of the Week
The Mellon Ball vodka, mellon liquer, orange juice $1.25
35 EAST PLEASANT, AMHERST, MA 01002

Burns More Calories Than Nautilus

TODAY IS THE LAST DAY YOU CAN WORK OUT AT THE BODY SHOP FITNESS CENTERS FOR FREE!!

Our friendly and knowledgeable staff will answer your questions and demonstrate our state-of-the-art Hydrafitness equipment.

EXERCISE WITH A FRIEND AND SAVE $$$$

Sign up today with a friend and get the 2nd membership* at ½ PRICE!!

THE BODY SHOP

Two Convenient Campus Locations:

Sign-up hours:	EXPANDED hours as of Feb. 10
Boyden & Totman	Boyden	Totman
7:30-9:00 am	7:00-9:00 am	7:30-9:00 am
12:00-1:00 pm	12:00-1:00 pm	11:00-1:00
4:00-6:00 pm	3:00-7:00 pm	3:00-9:00 pm

Still only $45/semester

* ½ price for first-time members only

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Come to Collegian Office CC 113 • 8:45-3:45 Mon - Thurs; 8:45 - 2:30 Fri • Deadline is 2 days prior to publication day
Cash in advance • Phone number FREE

ACTIVITIES

HRTA Career Day 1986 Come meet with leaders in the hospitality industry on Tuesday February 25, 1986 from 9:00 am - 4:00 pm in the Campus Center Auditorium. Hotel, Restaurant, Fast Food and Contract Food Chains, will be hosting formal and informal presentations relating to career and industry opportunities, recruitment procedures, and future trends. Admission is free.

JOIN HANDS ACROSS AMERICA! Come to the UMass HUnger Task Force meeting Monday, Feb. 10 at 5:30 428 Student Union

Women who love sports. . . Women's Rugby starting practices Tuesday and Friday 5 to 7 pm Totman Room 22 strts 2-7-86 no experience needed!

AUTO FOR SALE

VW Superbeetle, 1973 good condition. $1200.00 as is or best offer. Call 253-5799 after 7:00 pm

1975 Plymouth Fury, good condition must sell, $400.00 tel 584-3062, 665-3207

1978 Datsun B210GX 5-speed AM-FM-cassette excellent condition $950 or BO call 549-0425

72 VW Beetle semi-automatic dependable $275 586-7088

1976 Toyota Corolla 4 spd 2 dr reliable transportation $850 or BO call Luisa 549-1421

71 Plymouth auto. New exhaust system, snowtires. $360 must sell. Call Nga 546-4837

76 VW Rabbit, 4 door, standard, AM/FM, runs great, must sell 546-4854

80 Cam Z28 350 auto alarm Sony cassette good cond new tk to sell immed asking $4800 549-7816

68 Dart auto runs good $550.00 584-3368 new tires good mileage

1975 VW Rabbit 79,000 miles. Sunroof, stereo, runs well $825 259-1582

1979 VW Rabbit 122,000 miles. Excellent condition, 5 speed. Guaranteed. $1150. 259-1582

1976 Volare Wagon, AM/FM/cassette, snowtires, dependable. $800 or BO 549-6349

Ford LTD 75 runs well $650 or BO call 253-9690 evenings

BOLTWOOD

Boltwood Project Information Sessions: Wednesday, February 5 rm 917; Monday February 10 rm 904; Wednesday February 12 rm 917; Tuesday, February 18 rm 917. Campus Center 7:00 pm come see what we're all about!

"CASH"

Paying cash for your baseball cards Please call Mike 546-6105

ENTERTAINMENT

MOBILE MUSIC INC Disks spun to your taste Call Chris 256-6845

Want to have some fun? BUS TRIP to a Boston Night Club on Feb. 21. FACES is large and has 3 dance floors. For information, call Rich: 549-5449

FOR RENT

Fridge Rentals free delivery R & F Package store 253-9742

Available one room in sparious apartment at bus stop. Five miles from campus $133/month includes elec & hot water call anytime 253-3825

Large studio apt w/fireplace, private bath and kitchen. $385, includes heat. Steve 549-0859 anytime

Large room available immediately in 3 bedroom house. ½ mile from campus- $150+ call anytime 256-9049

Looking for female for single room in three bedroom apt. Close to town and campus 225 plus call 549-4149 Triangle St

House/rooms available 5 bedrooms, 2 liv. ingrooms, large yard, near lake, on bus route. Call 549-1744

Office Space available. Especially appropriate for Dissertation Writers in Belchertown. 323-7636

FOR SALE

Desk. Large, 4-drawer, hardwood with large surface. Good condition. $80.00 or best offer. Call 253-5799 after 7 pm

Electric Starfire-4 guild guitar for sale call Joann 586-9402

IBM Graphics Printer excellent condition call Arnie 253-5143

Airplane Ticket on Republic Airlines. Roundtrip to California, Seattle, Arizona, New Orleans, Florida, and more. No restrictions on reservation. First class, $290 549-4149

SMALL FRIDGE excellent cond. call Tim after six 256-8662 $60

Need hair money quick? Yamaha system BG call Dude 549-5078

Bass - G & L 1000 series (black) amp Fender super reverb (4-10's) P.A. head Peavey 400 (210 watts) all ex. cond. going cheap call Bill 584-5173

Takamine F360S Acoustic Guitar excellent condition, plays well and sounds great $225 259-1582

GOVERNMENT HOMES from $1 fix repairs. Also delinquent tax property. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. GH-9616 for information

FOUND

Did you lose a dog? Black and white with a tan muzzle. Approx 1 yr old. If so call Saul at 549-0696

Thirteen keys on a ring, found Tuesday afternoon, 2/4, in parking lot 62 (near Fernald Hall) call Carolyn to identify 546-1164

Cross Pen in SBA on 2/4 call Mike at 586-0449

HELP WANTED

Entry Level Marketing Position in local multi-million dollar firm hourly wages starting from 4 to 5 dollars, plus paid sales commissions Matt: 584-3596

Weekly pay for newspaper delivery in dorms. Must be able to deliver 7 days/week. Pay is variable. No car needed. Call evenings 253-7069

The Commuter Area Government is seeking a work study student to be a political advocate for off-campus students. Duties include: helping to organize area tenants unions, advocating for improved bus service, and researching the effects of fee hikes on off-campus students. Deadline 11 feb 3 PM 404 SUB 545-2145

JOBS*JOBS*JOBS Serra, the Student Center for Educational Research and Advocacy, is hiring the following positions: Public Relations, Researchers, Anti-Oppression Week Planner and Clerical. We encourage all students to apply, especially women and people of color. Applications available in 420 Student Union due 2/7 545-0341 AA/EEO employer

Campus Tour Service is hiring for spring semester. Apply at 101 Berkshire House by 2/14

Small Northampton advertising agency looking for student intern. Must have car, organization, enthusiasm. Call: 586-2135.

UMass Transit Service is accepting applications for several bus driving positions. You must be in a degree program, taking at least six credits and have a Mass. Class II license and excellent driving record. $4.60/hr to start. Apply at University Bus Garage, or call Bud or Jenny at 545-0656 for more info. UMTS is an EO/AA employer

OVERSEAS JOBS. Summer, yr. round. Europe, S. America, Australia, Asia. All fields. $900-2000 mo. Sightseeing. Free info. Write IJC, PO BOx 52-MA 1 Corona Del Mar, CA 92625

Earn money on all the magazines sold on campus. Need people to post information. Good profit. Write, BPC, 8218 Hardy, Overland Park, KS 66204

Foreign Students: Recently published guide to Greencard from F1/H Visas. Free details: Immigration Publications PO BOx 515991, Dallas TX 75251

GOVERNMENT JOBS $16,040-$59,230/yr Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext R-9616 for current federal list

INSTRUCTION

Know your car. Basic Automobile Workshop, 26 hours including classroom and shop. Limited enrollment. 253-2098

Music and Dance Instruction. Performing Arts Division, register by Wednesday, February 5. UMass student discounts available. Old Chapel® Mass 545-0515

Private Guitar Lessons. Experienced and patient teacher. Rock/Pop/Folk/Blues. Improvisation, Reading, Theory, Composition. Your home or my studio. Doug 549-4746

JOURNALISM EXPERIENCE

Bring the news of your school to the five college area. Gain valuable experience reporting for an award winning newspaper. Contact DAILY COLLEGIAN 545-3500

LOST

Car keys in SBA Monday afternoon small knife attached. Please call Steve 549-2-15

Pin: Paisley shaped with colored stones. Thurs 1-30-86. Great sentimental value. If found, please call 549-3869 reward!

Small visual aid in black vinyl case Friday, January 31 Room 113 GRC or vicinity. Desperately needed by visually disabled student. Reward. 665-8316

Silver bracelet on Mon Feb 3 please call Nick for reward 549-5695

Gold ring, between Crabtree and Lyon near Worcester DC. Great sentimental value large reward! Gregg 549-3249

Woman's brown Seiko watch on Monday, 3/12. Large reward. Please call Tara at 549-6861

MOVER

'Round Town Movers fast, reliable, cheap. Call Michael anytime 323-6780

PERSONALS

Get the most from your workout. Call Mal for supplements at reduced prices. 546-7549

Say it with a flower!! Send a carnation to a friend for Valentines Day. Table in Campus Center on Feb 5-12 sponsored by Newman Club

Southwest Residents!
- Help organize Southwest Week
- Fight unfair housing policies
- Get Involved

run for
- Southwest Assembly Representative

*vacancies for:
- Crampton, Emerson, James, JQA
- Kennedy, Mackimmie, Washington
- Nomination papers available at the SWAG Office in Hampden. Papers due at 5:00 pm on February 10th

Lost - gold bracelet of extreme sentimental value. Reward offered! Please call 546-6664

Larry Bouchie - This is your very, own "Observant Reader of the Personals" personal. Enjoy

Stephen - Thank you for the most exciting, intense, rewarding, and wonderful two years I've ever dreamed of. Let's hope they last forever! Luv always, Leah

S.G. - Wanna celebrate? I've got some ideas. L.G.

HSMA Chocolate Sale on the Concourse from Feb. 10-14 homemade chocolates for 75¢ - $1.50 come by and see!

Do you hate eating in the D.C.? Are you on the 19 Meal Plan? There is an alternative, the Butterfield Kitchen has openings on their meal plan. If interested contact Elizabeth Lam at the Butterfield Kitchen office

Bubette - you party animal! We love you stay cool

What is a Spring Break Countdown

Spring Break Countdown Saturday Night

TOM CARMEAN - Quel damange que tu ne parle pas francais? Main je serais toujours la pour toi!! - Stacy

To Kim Martinez! have a blast on your long awaited 20th birthday! Love, KMI'K JLS

Happy Birthday Heather! To our favorite mobile home hommie. Happy 19 and counting! Love you a lot, Brent and Joe

To the Pledges of Sigma Sigma Sigma: Get psyched for this semester -- March is just around the corner!
Live, The sisters of Tri-Sigma

Bella Baby! (Clara) Happy Birthday Hon. Looking forward to a rippin' semester! We love ya! - your roomies - MN & SP

Happy Birthday Anthony and Jennifer! Wishing the best to two of our best friends! Love, Marcy & Karen

$550 + REWARD

Room available! 15 mon drive to cmapus, Leverett, 4 b-room house, living rm, kitch. New furnace & shower. $178 mo Judy at 1-267-3385 evenings

RIDE WANTED

Ride wanted to NYC or Long Island for long weekend. Need ride there and back will share expenses. Keep trying! Call Elizabeth 6-6852

RIDERS WANTED

Tuesdays and Thursdays from Amherst to Boston and back call 549-7587 Claudia

ROOMMATE WANTED

Looking for a female to share a two bedroom apt you will have your own room. Close to campus. Call Yasmin 549-0926

Single room for rent in 8 bedroom home bordering U. Mass. $250 + utilities mo. Call John or Pat at 549-6364 house has 2½ baths, more. Hurry, call Sunchase Tours for more information and reservations toll free 1 800 321-5911 TODAY! When your Spring Break counts. . .count on Sunchase

Party! Party! Party! Come with Luv Tours to sunny and exciting Fort Lauderdale, Daytona or Key West. Best hotels on/off the Strip! Transportation available. Best prices going" Call Mark 549-6173, Ken 549-1749, John 549-6103, Grad, Frank 549-9650

ROOMMATE WANTED

Single room for rent in 8 bedroom home bordering U.Mass. $250 + utilities mo. Call John or Pat at 549-6364 house has 2½ baths, more. Hurry, call Sunchase Tours for more information and reservations toll free 1 800 321-5911 TODAY! When your Spring Break counts. . .count on Sunchase

Wanted 2 roommates male or female 5 minutes from campus Rt 9 call anytime 584-4601

Brittany Manor apt male roommate rent 150.00 call 549-6914 253-7904

Female to share room in Brittany Manor for spring semester call 253-3612

2 females needed for 1 lg bedroom in a huge near Amherst Center 253-2264

Housemate wanted; 1 room available in house 1 mile from campus $180.00/month male only call 256-6228 anytime

Female 180 incl on bus rt Sunderland 256-6029

Female wanted for women's household near campus 187 plus nonsmoking vegetarian 549-5198

Still looking for a home? Large single room with fireplace available in apt 1 mile from campus, 140 per month plus utilities call 549-5436

3 normal guys looking for a fourth 150 month 81 Presidential 549-7875

Looking for 1 female to share a bedroom in Brandywine. No security deposit required. Call Kathy after 5. 549-7858

Share 4 bedroom house in So. Deerfield. 1 min. to bus stores etc. dishwasher & laundry, piano, fireplaces M/F 200 plus ¼ util 253-7622 before 10 pm keep trying!!!!

Male roommate needed, Brittany Manor. call 256-1398

Female roommate wanted to lease or sublet Colonial Village one bedroom apartment. Terms negotiable call 253-5706 or 546-9687

SERVICES

Typing. Fast, accurate. Call anytime. 665-7652

Lynne Hans Esq. P.C. Immigration Law evening appointments call Springfield Office 781-6370 or 665-8513

Light Moving with Toyota truck call 549 2649

Tailor for all kinds of alterations. Fast service, reasonable prices at SHAANN's Quigley Mall 584-9062

Math Tutor - experienced, reasonable rates. Business Calculus, Engineering Calculus, more 584-3184, after 5:00

SPRING BREAK 86

FORT LAUDERDALE from $309 including Round trip jet and 7 nights at Holiday Inn Hotel (which is one mile from beach) All Taxs s and Tips Included
MONTREAL WEEKENDS $79.00 including bus and hotel. Also available DAYTONA BEACH Packages

THE RAMONES

in Rock 'n' Roll High School Feb 11 5, 7, 9, 11 SUB sponsored by WSYL

TRAVEL

SPRING BREAK on the beach at South Padre Island, Daytona Beach, Fort Lauderdale, Fort Walton Beach or Mustang Island/Port Aransas from only $89; and skiing at Steamboat or Vail from only $86! Deluxe lodging, parties, goodie bags, more. Hurry, call Sunchase Tours for more information and reservations toll free 1 800 321-5911 TODAY! When your Spring Break counts. . .count on Sunchase

Party! Party! Party! Come with Luv Tours to sunny and exciting Fort Lauderdale, Daytona or Key West. Best hotels on/off the Strip! Transportation available. Best prices going" Call Mark 549-6173, Ken 549-1749, John 549-6103, Grad, Frank 549-9650

WANTED

We're looking to take over a lease in Brandywine or Townehouse apts for fall semester 86 please call 6-1137 or 6-9548

One INXS ticket will pay $$ Lisa 549-5013

Wanted: scuba equipment especially wet suit call Dave 546-9651

WANTED TO RENT

Single room wanted: female, non-smoker, responsible, would like a quiet room at a reasonable price Call 665-2469

Sick of dorm life and D.C. food? Rooms available with full meal plan or meal plan alone. Walking distance to campus and town. Call for more information 256-6874

SPORTS

Road-weary UM tries again

URI is next for Minutemen

By PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

Even 6-14 teams can have critical games.

The University of Massachusetts men's basketball team, losers of three straight, find themselves in the unenviable position of having to defeat the University of Rhode Island Saturday night in Kingston.

With a win over the Rams (7-13), UMass would snap its season-long 10-game losing streak on the road as well as bolster its Atlantic 10 standing; plus get a much-needed boost of their confidence.

Both the Minutemen and the Rams are 3-8 in the A-10, part of a three-way tie for seventh place. The Rams hosted a tough Temple team last night, the Minutemen have been idle since losing to St. Bonaventure 78-60 on Monday night.

"I'd say it's a critical game for a lot of reasons," said UMass coach Ron Gerlufsen. "We have four home games coming up and a road win before that would really get us going. We've had trouble on the road this season and with the road games we have coming up (at Duquesne and West Virginia) I'd like to have that first win under our belts."

The main concern Gerlufsen has heading into the game (7 p.m. at the Keaney Gym) is defense. The Minutemen are eighth in the league in scoring defense, allowing 72 points-per-game. UM has allowed 75 ppg over their last four games creating concern for Gerlufsen.

"It's a problem that we're concentrating on," said the coach. "We have to work harder under the hoop and continue that work out toward the perimeter. We're allowing too many easy shots and second-chance shots."

UMass defeated URI, 81-75 in an overtime battle Jan. 11 at the Springfield Civic Center. UM's leading scorer, 6-2 sophomore guard Lorenzo Sutton, had 24 points in the game. The Minutemen held a comfortable lead thoughout much of the contest before allowing the Rams to battle back and tie it in regulation. The Minutemen then played well in the extra period to put the game away. URI point guard Carlton "Silk" Owens led the Rams with 15 points.

Owens, a six-footer from Brooklyn, is averaging just over 13 points-per-game for the Rams and poses a problem with his quick penetrating into the lane and solid outside shot.

"Silk Owens is a challenge for any team," said Gerlufsen. "Smitty (UM point guard Carl Smith) will have his work cut out for him. I expect that to be a good battle."

Smith practically equalled Owens' production when the team last met, scoring 12 points and handing out 10 assists. Smith, a 5-11 junior co-captain, hasn't played up to his potential this season, averaging 8.2 points (6.2 in the league). A good effort against Owens and the Rams would go a long way in helping Smith regain his form for UM's stretch run.

Keys for UMass include stopping Bryan Mitchell. A 6-5 forward, the Pitt transfer hasn't played up his ability this season, but can still do damage with his long-range jumpers.

A-10 rookie-of-the-week John Evans is another tough Rhody guard. The 6-6 forward scored a career-high 27 points against George Washington last Saturday.

The Rams, under second-year coach Brendan Malone, are a scrappy bunch, that outside of Mitchell, Owens and Evans aren't all that talented. With a 15-43 record over

continued on page 14

Collegian photo by Michelle Segall

University of Massachusetts point guard Carl Smith (5) and Rhode Island's Bryan Mitchell meet again Saturday night in Rhode Island.

Minutewomen home against St. Joseph's

By ROGER CHAPMAN
Collegian Staff

Mid-season slump, tailspin, drought, it doesn't matter.

Whatever adjective you use to describe the current situation that surrounds the University of Massachusetts women's basketball team, you won't be far off from the mark.

The Minutewomen, (9-11 overall, 2-7 in Atlantic-10), have dropped six out of their last seven games and will attempt to break that streak against a good St. Joseph's University team (14-3 overall and 6-2 in the A-10) on Saturday in the friendly confines of the Curry Hicks Cage.

"We will have to play better defense on the perimeter and have much more intensity for the whole game," assistant coach Pam Roecker said. "We will need a total team effort."

With sophomore forward Tara Lewis out for the season (knee injury) and sophomore center Susan Burtoft out indefinitely (finger), UMass has an added burden in the form of injuries to key players. But despite the injury problem, Roecker maintains that the Minutewomen are prepared.

"Everybody on this team knows what their role is," Roecker said. "The seniors will have to take up some of the slack, but we are basically going to stay with our game plan and stay with our personnel."

In their last meeting at Philadelphia, the Minutewomen blew a six piont halftime lead and lost, 77-65. Senior captain Jerrie Bernier was high scorer for UMass with 13 points and Burtoft pulled down a game high 12 rebounds.

UMass will have to contend with the Hawk's big gun, junior center Teresa Carmichael, who has scored in double figures 15 times this season and is currently fourth in the conference in scoring. The Minutewomen will also have to stop guard Terri Mohr, who occupies the seventh spot in conference scoring. Carmichael led the Hawks with 23 points and 10 rebounds in their last meeting against UMass.

Game time is slated for a 1 p.m. start. The game will also be carried live by WMUA radio.

Weekend previews

Swimmers near spotless season

By JOE ROBERTS
AND STUART GOTTLIEB
Collegian Staff

In an effort to get the inevitable over with, the University of New Hampshire has changed the time of their men's swim meet with the University of Massachusetts

Seriously, UNH had a mix-up in scheduling that forced the change with the meeting with the Minutemen, who hope to finish their dual meet season with an 11-0 record tonight at 7 p.m. in Durham instead of Saturday, the originally scheduled day.

In other UMass action this weekend, the men's gymnastics team will be home against Cortland State on Saturday, the women gymnasts will be at Temple against the Owls and Northeastern, the women's swim team is hosting New Hampshire on Saturday while the track and skiing team's are also in action.

"We should have no problem with them," UM coach Russ Yarworth said of New Hampshire. "They have a couple of good freestylers, and a good backstroker. They have a solid team, they beat Vermont by four points," Yarworth said. The Minutemen handily beat the University of Vermont 68-45 last Saturday and according to Yarworth, UMass could have beat them by fifty.

Unfortunately, for some UMass swimmers this is their last meet of the year because the Minutemen can only take a limited roster of 17 swimmers to the New England and Atlantic-10 meets. "It's tough when kids are working hard all year and you have to tell them they can't go. The kids that aren't going to New Englands will be hoping to do their best times," Yarworth said.

Swimmers that aren't going have been tapering off on their workouts in practice so they're rested going into the meet. Other swimmers have been tuning up for the championship meets. "Some times will be quick but some others may be sluggish. You never know, sometimes quality work makes things click," Yarworth said

There are two swimmers that are swimming in the Atlantic-10 meet and not in New Englands. Freshman Eric Bebchick and Junior Owen McGonagle fit into that category. "These two deserve to be in the meet. They've been working hard. There are two other swimmers that will swim in the New Englands meet but not Atlantic-10's," Yarworth said.

Yarworth also wants to have the divers dive eleven times off the one-meter board in order to give Pat Mullen a shot at qualifing for nationals. He needs to dive a combined score of 450 points.

After they win, there won't be a celebration for their undefeated record. "Undefeated is great but New Englands is what we want," Yarworth said.

The UMass men's and women's gymnastics teams are ready for this weekend's competition with the men home against

continued on page 14

Weekend Sports at a Glance

UMass Schedule:
Today: Men's Swimming: at New Hampshire, 7 p.m.

Saturday: Men's Basketball: at Rhode Island, 7:30 p.m. Women's Basketball: St. Joseph's, Curry Hicks Cage, 1 p.m. Women's Swimming: New Hampshire, Boyden Pool, 1 p.m. Men's Gymnastics: Cortland State, Boyden, 1 p.m. Men's Track: Easterns, at Maine. Women's Track: at BU/Holy Cross open. Skiing: at Brown Tourney on Loon Mountain.

Sunday: Women's Gymnastics: at Temple, noon. Men's Volleyball: at USVBA, Holyoke High School.

NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY

The Massachusetts Daily

COLLEGIAN

RSO-UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS-AMHERST 113 CAMPUS CENTER 545-3500 VOLUME CXVI ISSUE 10

MONDAY FEBRUARY 10, 1986

INSIDE

- David Keith on the New Right. Page 9.
- INXS heats up the SUB. Page 11.
- Men's swimming caps its undefeated season. Page 20.

Collegian photo by Michelle Segall

Three of the nine protesters who showed up at Friday's START rally carry signs outside Whitmore Administration Building

START demonstration fizzles...

Students, administrators continue trust fund struggle

By ANDREW WOLFF and PATRICK JOHNSON
Collegian Staff

Last Thursday, Laura Gottschalk, a member of Students Advocating Rights Together, said she hoped 25 to 30 people would turn out at Whitmore Administration Building Friday to show administrators that students are concerned with the fate of the Student Activities Trust Fund.

Then she quickly added: "What I hope and what will be are probably two different things."

Gottschalk's prophecy became reality, as nine protesters assembled at the end of the Whitmore ramp at 11 a.m., carrying signs, passing out leaflets to passers-by, and chanting "Hey hey, Chancellor Joe, Randy Donant has got to go."

The demonstrators distributed leaflets to students approaching the ramp and asked, "Do you want activities this semester?"

There were no answers, but despite the poor turnout, the protesters said they believed they accomplished what they set out to do.

"My feeling is we are making a lot of students aware. Many have stopped to talk and to take the handbills," Gottschalk said."It would have been better if more had come, though."

Randy Donant, the director of the Student Activities Office and Dennis L. Madson, vice chancellor for Student Affairs, have been the targets of START and other student groups since the publication of a Nov. 19 memo, reaffirming what administrators have said all along: The director of the student activities office has ultimate control of the $1.7 million trust fund.

The controversial memo sparked a wave of student protests and led to the arrest of 22 students after two days of sit-ins outside Madson's office.

The trust fund, served by an $88 annual student fee, logged a $120,000 deficit at the close of the last fiscal year.

Administrators say the only way to rectify the deficit is to restate the direction of the fund to get it back into the black.

Students say that deficit or no deficit, they should maintain control of the fund and make the ultimate decisions of where student money is going.

Madson, with the blessing of Chancellor Joseph D. Duffey, has asked students to cooperate with him in establishing a commission to investigate the future of the SATF.

Trey Williams, Madson's assistant, is currently working with Dani Burgess, SGA co-president, to form that commission, which will include faculty as well as students.

Marc Kenen, a member of START, said Friday that his group is opposed to forming the commission.

"We don't even believe we should have a commission," Kenen said. "In return for our participation in the commission, the administration should fill the fourth attorney spot."

Kenen was referring to the Legal Services Office, which is run by trust fund money. Last year, one of the office's four attorney's resigned, and the vacancy was filled, but not by a full timer.

The fourth person has been hired on a "03" status, which means he works under a one-year contract with no benefits.

Madson said the position was filled to help with LSO's heavy case load, but permanently filling it depends on what Donant decides.

"I'm faced with a budget dilemma," said Donant. "I'm not recommending filling any vacant position requests (for fiscal year 1987.)"

... while senate does business as usual

By PATRICK JOHNSON
Collegian Staff

The Undergraduate Student Senate began its annual budgeting process last night, despite the fact that administrators may not let the senate control its funding.

The committee met for six hours to review the budget requests of nine registered student organizations, including Students Advocating Financial Aid, the Boltwood Project, and the Lesbian, Gay and Bisexual Alliance. The RSOs were applying for money from the Student Activities Trust Fund and the committee will meet three nights a week until every RSO requesting funds is reviewed, Committee Chairman Jordan Rosner said.

The committee is aiming to have the budget for fiscal year 1987 finished by March 5.

According to Rosner, the administration may accept the budget because of negotiations last summer. "They agreed at the time to accept our budget if we could have it written by March 5," Rosner said.

Control of the trust fund is being disputed by student leaders and administrators. The trust fund is currently controlled by the director of the Student Activities Office, Randy Donant, and Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs Dennis L. Madson, who assumed control of the fund Nov. 19 after what they called a "cycle of financial disintegration within the SATF."

The only snags in the process concern the professional positions paid by the trust fund, Rosner said.

The Legal Services Office is requesting a fourth full-time attorney, but Rosner said,"We don't consider that

continued on page 6

NOW president pushes march for women's rights

By REBECCA THATCHER
Collegian Staff

Calling the members of the right wing who oppose reproductive freedom and civil rights "fascists," the National Organization for Women President Eleanor Smeal urged an audience of about 600 to march on Washington D.C. on March 9 for "the biggest event in feminist history."

NOW is organizing two nationwide marches, on March 9 in Washington and March 16 in Los Angeles, to demonstrate public support for safe, legal abortion and birth control.

The gains of the women's movement of the 70s on many fronts are in peril, Smeal said, but most dangerous is the threat to safe and legal abortion and birth control. Smeal said the right to abortion for poor women has been taken away in all but 14 states, and by 1988 President Reagan may be able to achieve a majority of Supreme Court judges who will repeal the 1973 decision Roe v. Wade and make abortion illegal.

"We are going to make the connections and the links...when the Pope goes to Africa and says no artificial birth control we are going to have the courage to say: 'you're not spreading life you're spreading death.' "

—NOW President Eleanor Smeal

Citing polls and statistics, Smeal said the public is overwhelmingly in favor of the feminist agenda, but that the opposition is rich and powerful and "the fanatics on the other side are using violence and harassment."

She said it was time to "draw a line in the sand," and organize a movement that is too large to be ignored and throws off the old "narrow perspectives."

It is an outrage that nine million Africans starved to death in 1985 while the Reagan administration cut funding for birth control research, she said.

"We are going to make the connections and the links...when the Pope goes to Africa and says no artificial birth control we are going to have the courage to say: 'you're not spreading life you're spreading death.' "

Emphasizing the gravity of the crisis, Smeal refused to be a moderate in the face of the right wing. "We are in a deep struggle...

"When I stood up at the National Press club and called the opposition fascist, I was told that it was unwise and we should believe how they describe themselves and accept it as a given," she said.

Reminding her audience that the Nazis in Germany murdered the homosexuals before the Jews, Smeal said gay baiting is a historically fascistic tactic, which is used to distract, divide and conquer.

Rather than tackling the issues: that women earn 59 cents to every dollar men earn, that women pay higher insurance premiums for less coverage; Smeal said those who oppose justice can always "call us dyke, commie."

"If they debated us on the issues they would lose," she said.

Collegian photo by Brian Guarnotta

NOW President Eleanor Smeal

Mandela's wife says his release is imminent

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Winnie Mandela said yesterday her imprisoned husband Nelson Mandela, inspirational leader of South African blacks, will be released, but she did not know when.

Asked by a reporter if the release were more of a question of "when" and not "if," Mrs. Mandela replied: "Yes, that is correct."

Police in Natal province along the Indian Ocean Coast, said, meanwhile, that three black riot squad officers were killed yesterday when set upon by a mob of blacks engaged in tribal clashes wielding clubs and knives.

A police spokesman in Durban, 20 miles north of where the killing occurred, said seven black police were sent to deal with gangs of rival tribes, and their patrol car became a target for both factions. He said four officers fled on foot, but the warriors ran down the other three and mutilated their bodies.

Police said earlier in the day that police killed three blacks after riots broke out late Saturday and before dawn Sunday in eight neighborhoods.

Mrs. Mandela, who has emerged in recent months as an anti-apartheid leader in her own right, was besieged by journalists at Johannesburg's Jan Smuts Airport after she flew in from visiting her husband at Cape Town.

She told them, "I do not have the slightest idea when or where he will be released, but he will be released."

It did not appear that the 67-year-old guerilla leader, who has been serving a life sentence since 1964 for plotting sabotage, would be freed for days, at least.

Mrs. Mandela said she expected to see him again "in a few days" at Cape Town's Pollsmoor Prison.

"When one is released from prison, one goes home," she said, apparently trying to quell rumors Mandela might be released into exile in Dusaka, Zambia, where his outlawed African National Congress guerilla force has its southern Africa regional office.

Despite Mandela's years in prison, he endures as the foremost leader of South Africa's increasingly militant blacks.

The ANC is the main guerilla group fighting apartheid, the system of legal racial segregation through which South Africa's 5 million whites deny the vote and other rights to 24 million blacks.

Asked if Mandela might accept exile, his wife said "Not at all...There is no question of his accepting that kind of condition."

Last year, Mandela refused an offer of pardon if he would renounce the use of violence as a political weapon.

About 1,100 people, mostly black, have been killed in the black uprising that began Sept. 3, 1984. Police say about a third of the dead were blacks killed by other blacks, usually after being accused of collaborating with whites, and two-thirds were killed by security forces.

Workers charge vote fraud

MANILA, Philippines (AP)—Thirty computer operators marched out of the government's election commission yesterday, claiming the ballot-counting that showed President Ferdinand E. Marcos defeating Corazon Aquino was falsified.

An international observer group, meanwhile, accused Marcos' partisans yesterday of vote-buying, intimidation, snatching ballot boxes and tampering with election returns in Friday's special presidential election.

The computer operators wept on each others' shoulders after parading single file out of the Marcos-appointed commission's counting center.

"There was something wrong," a woman operator explained. "What's posted on the tabulation board does not tally with the computer board, and we don't know who is doing it. We can't take it anymore."

The woman, who refused to give her name, told the Associated Press that workers spotted the problem Saturday night, when Mrs. Aquino was leading in the commission's count by 100,000 votes. By midday yesterday, Marcos had taken over the lead.

By Monday morning, with 28 percent of the precincts reporting, the commission's unofficial tally gave Marcos 3,056,236 votes to Mrs. Aquino's 2,903,348, a split of 51.28 percent to 48.72 percent.

Daily Collegian Advertising that works!! Call: 545-3500

Ameriprint
FILM DEVELOPING
2 for 1
Offer Valid Feb. 3 thru 14
C-41 Process 110, 126, 135 on Disc
Standard Size and Finish Only.
AVAILABLE AT
University Store
Mini Store
Worcester Munchy
Hampden Munchy
We use only Kodak paper, Kodak chemicals, and Kodak's TECHNET™ center for computerized quality control.
Kodak Color Control System
Member 1985-86

LOSE UP TO TEN POUNDS IN JUST TWO WEEKS.

Pam Weisman's
Diet Center
644 Main St.,
Amherst
253-9580
Mon-Fri 7am to 11 am
4 pm to 5 pm
Sat 8 am to 10:30 am
DIET CENTER

Don't Forget to Send a Card
Prepare for Valentine 's Day Feb. 14th
Get your cards early.
at
A.J. Hastings, Inc.
—Newsdealer and Stationer—
"Conveniently located in the center of Amherst"
45 South Pleasant Street
OPEN: Weekdays 5 a.m. to 9 p.m., Sundays, 5 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Fred Astaire

• Top Hat
• Shall We Dance
• Follow The Fleet
• Carefree
• The Sky's the Limit
• The Band Wagon
these and many more great classics on video to rent or own at VIDEO To Go
44 Main St., Amherst • 256-1509

THE BLACK SHEEP
Deli & Bakery
79 MAIN STREET • AMHERST, MA 01002 • 253-3442
Hours:
Mon.-Sat.
9-6
There can be only one "Black Sheep"
OPENING TODAY
MONDAY
FEBRUARY 10th
9:00 AM

Collegian photo by Maria Bull
Rev. Gilbert Caldwell

UMass staff member receives King award

By PHIL SERAFINO
Collegian Staff

A member of the University of Massachusetts staff Saturday received the second annual Martin Luther King Jr. Peace and Justice Award for her work against discrimination in the residential areas of UMass.

Sally Majewski, assistant student development coordinator, was honored at a memorial breakfast for King at Amherst Regional Junior High School. The breakfast was sponsored by the Goodwin Memorial AME Zion and the Wesley United Methodist Churches of Amherst.

Majewski was recognized for her work as project coordinator of social awareness training for resident assistants. The award was presented by Frances Crowe, a local activist and member of the breakfast's awards committee, who said the award is presented to "someone in the community who is living out the dreams and ideals of Martin Luther King."

About 450 people attended the breakfast, including state Rep. James G. Collins, D-Amherst, who was master of ceremonies.

"The social awareness training tries to heighten their (RAs') awareness around issues of cultural diversity," Majewski said. "It's to help RAs create a better community on their floor. When they hear stereotypical comments, they can intervene and let that person know that some people in the community are offended by that stereotype."

Majewski, a 1972 graduate of UMass, said she draws on the fact that King taught white people not to feel guilty, but rather to work for social awareness. "The award is a very special honor for me," she said.

The keynote address at the breakfast was delivered by Rev. Gilbert Caldwell, a Methodist minister who worked with King in the Southern Christian Leadership Conference in the 1960s.

"His life and death has given this nation much energy to fulfill his dreams ... He challenged us, inspired us. He brought forth hope in the midst of hopelessness," Caldwell said of King. Caldwell was a campus minister at UMass from 1978 to 1980.

Stephen Oates, a UMass history professor and biographer of King, also addressed the group.

"King has gone on to join the great mythic heroes ... I hope we don't lose sight of him as a human being. He suffered, he felt anger," Oates said.

Later Oates added, "I've got nothing against making myths of our heroes. Every healthy culture has a mythology. That we mythologize King, a black man, makes me feel good. We have integrated our mythology."

Oates said that as a child and a young man, King felt an almost uncontrollable anger toward white people and was on his way to being a separatist.

"Mahatma Gandhi taught him a creative way to use his anger, however. Loving nonviolence was the method he used to use his anger creatively instead of self-destructively," Oates said.

WOMEN'S FORUM

Women's Forum is a weekly listing of events related to women's issues. Notices may be sent to the Women's News Editor, care of the Collegian, by the Friday before the event.

The EducatorAdvocates is looking for volunteers to raise community awareness around issues of violence against women. Academic credit and/or letters of reference are available for participants in the program. Additional information is available at the Everywoman's Center in Wilder Hall at 545-0883.

Impostors, Fakes and Frauds is a one-day workshop for women on issues of competence and confidence in the workplace. The workshop will be held 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. February 21 at the Northampton Hilton. Pre-registration and deposit are required by February 17. The program is being sponsored by Professional Development Associates. Anyone interested may enroll by calling V. Young at 586-7450.

Tuesday—The Women's Media Project on WMUA radio station will focus on the article in the February 6 Collegian, "Women's Groups Fear Apathy." Women from various groups on campus will discuss the problem and various ways of combatting it. The program, hosted by Maureen McCarthy, will be held from 6 to 7 p.m. on WMUA 91.1 FM.

Wednesday—Elizabeth Hartmann will speak on "The Strategic Womb: Women and the War on Population" at 3:30 p.m. in the west lecture hall of Franklin Patterson Hall at Hampshire College. Hartmann, a graduate of Yale University, has written extensively on hunger and poverty. Hartmann is speaking as part of the "Women, Population, and Agriculture" spring lecture series at the college.

Thursday—Amrita Basu will speak on "The Forging of Collective Identities and Struggles: Relationships Between Feminists Academics and Activists" at 7:30 p.m. in Smith College's McConnell Auditorium. Basu, a member of the political science department at Amherst College, is speaking as the first in a "Women Making Connections" series sponsored by the Smith College Advisory Committee on the Study of Women. The lectures are free and open to the public.

Dr. Paulo Freire, internationally known Brazilian educator, will speak from 5 to 7 p.m. at the First Congregational Church in Amherst on "Religion and Liberation." The talk is free and open to the public.

Collegian photo by Rob Skelton
Employees show their displeasure that certain paychecks did not come through Friday afternoon, on the eighth floor of the Campus Center

Student paychecks hit snag

Many student employees who were expecting paychecks Friday from the Campus Center or dining commons did not get their full checks because of a computer error, according to Auxiliary Services Personnel Manager Timothy Cox.

Students not able to receive full checks were offered up to 80 percent of the previous week's pay.

Signs posted in the Campus Center warned students that a "major problem" had delayed information concerning the status of student checks.

Cox said the problem occurred when the computer tape for the student payroll was replaced with the previous week's tape.

"Somehow, the tapes became mixed up," he said.

The payroll is submitted by tape to the payroll office in the Whitmore Administration Building. After a computer malfunction, the tapes were switched, with the error going undetected until Friday, Cox said.

"Duplicate checks from the previous week were issued," he said. The duplicates were given to students if the amount did not exceed what their time cards indicated.

"In places where people were supposed to get a check but did not, they will have the option of getting a cash advance for up to 80 percent of their pay," he said. "They will also be giving advances on Monday."

The usual long line at the Campus Center check-cashing window was noticeably shorter as many students were forced to make other arrangements.

—DAVE BOARDMAN

Needs of kids addressed

Creativity stressed

By JEANETTE DeFORGE
Collegian Staff

Creative children are the most gifted, but are often poor students, according to four experts on creative education during a symposium in the Campus Center Friday night.

"Creativity is the highest expression of giftedness," said Dorothy A. Sisk, the former director of the United States Office of Gifted and Talented Education.

E. Paul Torrence, a professor at the University of Georgia and a noted researcher in creativity, William Butcher of the National Science Foundation, and Marilyn Ferguson, author of The Aquarian Conspiracy: Personal and Social Transformation in the 1980's, also spoke to a group of about 250 on the need for more creativity in teaching.

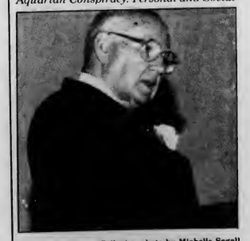
"Creative children tend to have a zany sense of humor, are anti-authoritian, able to resist group pressure, have little tolerance for boredom, need time to think and have a preference for complexity," Sisk said.

A gifted elementary school student, when asked to draw a snowstorm, passed in a blank piece of white paper. The teacher, who should have appreciated his creativity and sense of humor, made him draw another picture, Sisk said.

"Children should learn another language, it helps to develop a particular way to look at another world," she said. Children should be allowed to explore, observe, question, invent, and translate.

"In short we want to exercise their brains," Sisk said.

There is a great need for skillful teachers who allow creativity in the classroom, Torrance said.



"The most important thing to look for is that they are in love with the things they want to do," he said.

"Don't waste time being well-rounded," Torrance said. "If you do a few things well then do those things."

"We need new ideas. We need creative people who can think up new things," said Butcher, who is a director of special engineering.

"Creative people are sometimes really a pain because they talk too much, but they are adept people," he said.

Butcher said he is trying to establish a contest for undergraduate engineering students in which they would submit project ideas to try and win a $30,000 grant and be accepted into a choice of graduate schools.

Collegian photo by Michelle Segall
E. Paul Torrance addresses a creativity symposium Friday in the Campus Center

Japan-U.S. relations shift

By BRUCE SAXON
Collegian Correspondent

Mizuo Kuroda, Japanese ambassador to the United Nations said Thursday evening that recent developments in the Pacific region have produced a shift in relations between the United States and Japan.

Kuroda's speech to more than 150 people in Mount Holyoke College's Gamble Auditorium was the keynote address in the four-day Eighth annual Student Conference on International Affairs.

"The Pacific region is now an area where the US, Japan, the Soviet Union and the People's Republic of China will compete and perhaps neutralize each others effects and power," Kuroda said.

Japan is more important as a military partner of the United States today than ever before, he said.

"Japan has increased its role in the joint U.S. and Japanese effort to contain Soviet power," Kuroda said. "Japan has significantly increased its defense expenditures and it controls ocean straits important for Soviet military strategy."

Kuroda also said Japan has become a more important economic force.

"Because of increasing growth rates in Japan, an increasing economic interdependence has developed between Japan and the West," he said. "Each is the others" major trading partner.

"The US and Japan are the two largest market economies in the world," Kuroda said. "Maintaining harmonious economic relations between the two countries is a major goal of Japanese diplomatic efforts."

Kuroda's lecture was jointly sponsored by the conference and the Five-College Center of East Asian Affairs. Megan Van Frank, a co-organizer of the conference said her group offers students a unique oppurtunity to explore critical foreign policy issues.

"We have brought together a number of foreign policy experts to discuss and debate major problems facing the US and the world," Van Frank said.

POWER HYPNOSIS

LEARN HOW TO HYPNOTIZE YOURSELF AND OTHERS.

In just 3½ hours you will learn how to:

- Achieve Hypnotic Power and Control over Others
- Entertain with Hypnosis
- Relax, Quit Smoking, Quit Drinking, etc.
- Control Stress
- Achieve Success Using Hypnosis
- Improve Concentration and Memory
- And much, much more!

These are simplified techniques that you can quickly learn. By the end of the seminar, you will have successfully hypnotized both yourself and another subject, and you will have learned how to hypnotize with a snap of the fingers, at a word of command, at a signal, by telephone — instantly!

SEMINAR TUITION is only $50, and includes the complete 3½-hour Guaranteed Seminar, Hypnosis Guidelines, and Seminar Manual. Tuition is payable at the door by cash, check, money order, MasterCard, VISA or American Express.

CHOOSE 1 OF 2 WORKSHOPS

MON., February 12th — 1 pm-4:30 pm OR 6 pm-9:30 pm
THE PARWICK INN — CHICOPEE
450 Memorial Drive (Exit 5 off I-90)

For Instant SEMINAR RESERVATIONS
Call Today — TOLL FREE 1-800-233-2545, Ext. 146-B

CAN'T ATTEND? For the Power Hypnosis Seminar on cassette tapes, workbook, and 30 workshop Hypnotism Homestudy above — with same full money-back guarantee — send $50 (plus $3.00 for shipping and handling). Send Orders to: Hypnosis Learning Center, 912 Union Street, Dept. 146-B, Manchester, NH 03104. Charge Card orders will be shipped within 48 hours by phoning toll-free 1-800-233-2545, Ext. 146-B. Add $8 for Federal Express guaranteed 1-2 day delivery.

Copyright — 1986 Hypnosis Learning Center

UMass Greeks:
Where the Pride is!!

We have:

- 13 Fraternities that offer many differnt lifestyles
- A great social awareness
- Life-long friendships

Come Check Us Out

ΛΧΑ — Feb. 4, 5, 11, 12

ΠΚΑ — Feb. 6, 11, 13, 19

ΖΨ — Feb. 3, 4, 6, 10, 11

ΘΧ — Feb. 11, 12, 13

ΑΔΦ — call 545-3117

ΣΦΕ — Feb. 11, 12, 13

ΦΣΚ — Feb. 10, 12 or call 256-6863

ΒΚΦ — Feb. 3, 4, 5, 10, 11, 12

ΔΧ — Feb. 11, 13, 18

ΔΥ — Feb. 4, 5, 10, 11

EXOTIC FISH & PET WORLD

is offering hundreds of healthy tropical fish at special prices

SALE!

from Sat., Feb. 8 Mon., Feb. 17

49 Russell St., Hadley
one of the Village Barn Shops

SAVE UP TO $50 EVERY RING ON SALE

Now's a great time to buy an ArtCarved college ring and save up to $50.
Let your ArtCarved representative show you our incredible selection of Siladium® and 10 or 14 karat gold college ring styles.
Every ArtCarved ring is backed by a Full Lifetime Warranty.

ARTCARVED CLASS RINGS

UNIVERSITY STORE

ASK ABOUT OUR EASY PAYMENTS

2/10 - 2/12

DATE — TIME 10 - 4 — PLACE

Deposit Required

© 1985 ArtCarved Class Rings

Don't compete with a Kaplan student—be one.

Why? Consider this: More students increase their scores after taking a Kaplan prep course than after taking anything else.

Why? Kaplan's test-taking techniques and educational programs have 50 years of experience behind them. We know students. And we know what helps boost their confidence and scoring potential.

So if you need preparation for the: H.S. ENTRANCE EXAMS, PSAT, SAT, ACT, ACHIEVEMENTS, LSAT, GMAT, MCAT, GRE, DAT, ADVANCED MEDICAL BOARDS, TOEFL, NURSING BOARDS, NTE, CPA, INTRO TO LAW, SPEED READING, or others, call us.

Why be at a disadvantage?

KAPLAN
STANLEY H. KAPLAN EDUCATIONAL CENTER LTD.

MCAT begins Feb. 19
GRE begins Feb. 11
LSAT begins in March
358 N. Pleasant St.
549-5780

'Kissing disease' no fun

By MARION TINSLEY
Collegian Correspondent

About 40 or 50 UMass students per semester come down with mononeucleosis, usually for a short time but possibly lasting for months.

Mononucleosis, or mono, is a viral infection which if left untreated, can lead to a ruptured spleen or suffocation because of inflamed tonsils.

According to Dr. Rose Ciccarelli of the Mono Research Clinic at University Health Services, "most students come in with a sore throat and they say that they feel tired and run down, so they get cultured for strep throat and that is when it's diagnosed as mono."

Mono is transmitted orally during prolonged personal contact—hence its nickname the "kissing disease"—and is as contagious as a cold. People who have had the disease build up an immunity and rarely catch it again.

The symptoms for the disease are a sore throat, fever, headaches, swollen glands, extreme fatigue, and aching muscles. The diagnosis of mono is confirmed by a throat culture, a mono spot, a blood count, and a check "to see how the liver has been compromised," Ciccarelli said.

"For most students, mono is a short-lived illness which lasts two to four weeks,"she said. "However, there are cases where patients experience prolonged symptoms."

There are two kinds of mono. In mild cases, mono is often mistaken for influenza and victims recover without any complications. But in acute cases, the spleen and the liver become enlarged and the windpipe becomes obstructed.

Students suffering from acute mono may be admitted into the Mono Research Clinic, where they are treated and paid $70 for donating their blood.

"In cases where a patient experiences acute symptoms of mono, we would sign them into the inpatient unit. But the usual process is that a patient must have documented material stating that they have been tested and that they do have mono before being seen at the mono clinic," Ciccarelli said.

"Mono is self-healing in that there is no treatment for it. It has an incubation period of 30 through 60 days and the only treatment is one of symptomatic relief. Antibiotics can be taken for the sore throat and rest is advised," Ciccarelli said.

Course on Central America offered

The Unitarian Society and the American Friends Service Committee will be offering an introductory course on Central America, for those who may not know a lot about the region.

"You don't have to know who Daniel Ortega or Castro is," said Aliza Anzell, a University of Massachusetts student and service committee intern who will run the course. She said the course will trace the source of conflict in Central America and look at this administration's role in the area.

Frances Crowe, of the American Friends Service Committee, a Quaker-based organization, said the group promotes social change and tries to remove the cause of war around the world. Economic injustice and the desire for power and prestige are among the causes of war in the area, and that the course will focus on El Salvador, Nicaragua, and Guatemala, Crowe said.

The Unitarian Society of Northampton and Florence, a liberal creedless religious group that stresses ethics and responsibility, will also be sponsoring the course.

The course will run for eight consecutive Mondays, starting tonight, and will meet at 220 Main Street in Northampton at 7 p.m.

—DAN PERRIN

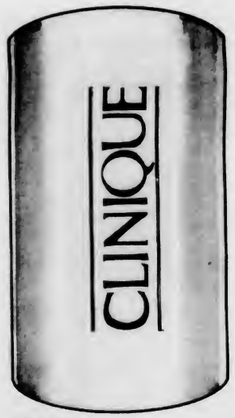
HOLYOKE MALL - HAMPSHIRE MALL

Steiger's

CLARIFYING LOTION
12 OZ. 13.50

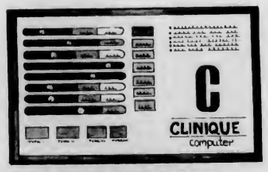
YOUR LATEST CLINIQUE BONUS "CLINIQUE RIGHT NOW"

YOURS AT NO EXTRA CHARGE WITH ANY CLINIQUE PURCHASE OF 9.50 OR MORE



With our Clinique bonus, there's no reason to spend another day without better-looking skin and hair. Just leave it to the Clinique beauty-workers that refresh and perfect your skin, add superb colours, and help you keep your hair where you want it, all day. Everything comes in small, useful sizes that go anywhere with you. Only available at Clinique bonus time! One bonus per customer.
The Clinique Counter, All Steiger Stores (d 39)

THE CLINIQUE LOOK
Not a put-on beauty, but the kind that comes from proper skin care.



DRAMATICALLY DIFFERENT
MOISTURIZING LOTION 2 OZ. 9.50

FACIAL SOAP
6 OZ. 8.50

"CLINIQUE RIGHT NOW"
Inside: Dramatically Different Moisturizing Lotion, Honeyed Beige Balanced Makeup Base, New Clover Powder Blusher & Brush, Watermelon Re-Moisturizing Lipstick and Non-Aerosol Hairspray.

THE CLINIQUE COMPUTER
It asks eight essential questions to determine skin type and the proper Clinique products and procedures for you.

CLINIQUE
Allergy Tested
100% Fragrance Free

CLINIQUE

FYI:

Buses will be leaving for Philadelphia for those who wish to participate in the March Against Racism, to be held Saturday. They will be leaving at 11:30 p.m. Friday from the Haigus Mall at the University of Massachusetts, and at midnight Friday from the Unitarian Church in Northampton. Tickets will cost $15 a person. The Radical Student Union will be sponsoring the rides. Further information is available by calling 545-0677.

A forum will be held on graduate programs and careers for those interested in the planning and landscape architecture professions. It will be held at 7:30 p.m. tonight in Room 106 Hills Central at UMass. Graduates of landscape architecture majors who are holding prominent jobs in local and state planning offices in New England will be speaking. A discussion will be held afterward, and the attendants will have an opportunity to speak with the faculty and students. The forum is sponsored by the UMass department of landscape architecture and regional planning. It is open to the public and refreshments will be served.

★ budget

continued from page 1

a snag because we budgeted for it last year and the position was never filled."

The snag comes from Donant's refusal to allow the position to be filled, he said.

For the 1987 budget $867,000 is available, a decrease from last year's $1.4 million.

Rosner said having a balanced budget will benefit everyone but Donant.

"Randy has to have the crisis, otherwise he is powerless," Rosner said.

Donant was unavailable for comment.

FRATERNITY LIFE

Experience the Brotherhood!
Delta Upsilon offers you

Home cooked meals
Excellent social life
A leader in academics
Intramural sports
Little Sisters Program

Grad Tower	ΔT
North East	NOPE

OPEN RUSH
Feb. 4, 5th & 10, 11th
9:00
549 3831

DOVE
Secretarial Services

Fast, Accurate Typing of

- Resumes
- Term Papers
- Dissertations

79 South Pleasant St.
Amherst, Mass 01002
256-1335
253-7480

TIME OUT

Featuring Great Lunches

Spaghetti
Homemade Soups
Big Sandwiches
All at Low Prices

37 N. Pleasant St,
Proper ID Required

"ALPHA EPSILON PI"
The Fraternity You've Waited For NOW HAS A HOUSE!

- GREAT Friends
- 120 National Chapters
- Active Intramural Sports

RUSH WITH US!
Feb. 12 & 13 - Refreshments!
CALL: Alan 549-5303
or
Howie 549-5723

- Highest GPA among fraternities
- Great Little Sisters
- "JACK"

BMW
ROCKY SPRINGSTEEN
The New York Times
MAY DEPARTMENT STORES

we're all ranked in the top ten

BUSINESS WEEK'S "GUIDE TO CAREERS" rated the May Department Stores' Executive Training Program one of the ten best in the nation... for all industries

FIND OUT WHY many of your alumni have joined the G.Fox team and have become successful executives

G.FOX

OPEN HOUSE
TODAY
10 am - 4 pm

SCHOOL OF MANGEMENT
FACULTY LOUNGE

* Casual Dress

G.FOX

Financial Aid Form (FAF)
Application Deadline
March 1, 1986

Applications will be available for pick-up at the Campus Center Concourse February 11th, 12th, 13th, 19th, 20th from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Look for the Financial Aid Services/SAFA Information table.

You may also pick up an application at Financial Aid Services, 243 Whitmore Administration Building from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday to Friday (except holidays).

Applications must be received by College Scholarship Service by March 1, 1986.

MONEY MOTIVATED?
If You Are Enthusiastic, Have A Strong Clear Speaking Voice and Have the Confidence to Prove What it Takes, Keep Reading This
We are a Major Industrial Tool Company Expanding a new office in Amherst, Mass. Telemarketing is the future successful road to sales in the 1980's, and we are growing rapidly. 3 shifts allow you to work around your schedule, and you can earn up to $10.00 per hour while training. There are still 25 positions available. Salary plus Commissions plus Bonuses. For an appointment, Call 7 AM-7 PM, Dave 413-256-4101

GENERAL MEETING OF GRADUATE STUDENTS
Tuesday, February 11, 1986
at 7:15 p.m.
917 Campus Center
Election of Vice President and Executive Officer and Constitution and By-laws changes
Graduate Student I.D. required

American Travel Services presents
SPRING BREAK "86"
Ft Lauderdale
Hotel from $139.00
Air: New York $209. Rd Trip
Boston $228. Rd Trip
Holiday Inn Oceanside $209.
Nassau/Paradise Island
Hotel & Air from $329.
Pilot House Hotel $379.
All prices include Taxes and Gratuities
Don't be left out, sign up now!
Limited space available
For more information: call Danny 546-7899

- Our Home Could Be Your Home -
Close to Campus
Alpha Delta Phi
395 N. Pleasant
For Info or Ride
Call 545-3117
Academics - Social Life - Home Cooked Meals
Diversity - Opportunity - Brotherhood
OPEN RUSH
Tues 11th | Wed 12th | Thurs 13th | 7:30 - 10
Refreshments

SCIENTIFIC CALCULATORS

Math and Science Student Calculator with Wallet
Model EL-509AT Suggested Retail Price $19.95
Wallet-sized, full-featured scientific calculator with built-in statistics functions
Scientific functions performed at the touch of a key are: • Trigonometric (sin, cos, tan) and their inverses • Exponential (base 10) and base e) and their inverses (logarithms) • Factorial (n!) • 3 angle modes (degree-radian-grad) • Mean, sum and standard deviation • Power (y^x) and its inverse (x^1/y^x)
Other Features: Independently accessible 3-key memory • 15 levels of parentheses with up to 4 pending operations • Easy-to-read 8-digit liquid crystal display • Scientific notation (5-digit mantissa, 2-digit exponent) • "Auto Power Off" function • Display format exchange (F↔E key) • Complete with wallet, batteries and application textbook
Dimensions: 2-9/16" W x 5-3/32" H x 0.31" D
Located in the Campus Center
M-F 9-5
UNIVERSITY STORE

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian
ED/OP
The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted.
Founded in 1870

EXECUTIVE BOARD-SPRING 1986
Dode B. Levenson, Editor in Chief | Ian Polumbaum, Managing Editor | Larry Bouchie, Editorial Editor
Peter Soderberg, Production Manager | Conor Plunkett, Production Manager | Elizabeth Young, Business Manager | Sherry Sharlman, Business Manager
BOARD OF EDITORS
Dode B. Levenson, Editor in Chief | Ian Polumbaum, Managing Editor
Larry Bouchie, Editorial Editor | Joel P. Coffidis, News Editor | John Yonce, Women's Editor | Peter Abraham, Sports Editor
Jennifer Ackerman, Arts Editor | Kelly Sieger, Arts Editor | Michelle Segall, Photo Editor | Paul Desmarais, Photo Editor | Chris Allen, Black Affairs Editor

The barriers that we erect

David Valade

Since starting to drive for the UMass Transit Authority, I've seen and experienced many things. Some have great impact on my outlook toward the world and people around me.

This past fall, UMass transit took over the handicapped van service. They're the blue vans you see around campus. The ones that say "Courtesy of Alumni Affairs" on the side. They were previously handled by Handicapped Student Affairs.

When the time for selecting routes took place, I asked to drive one of these vans. I made this request for a specific reason. I wanted to face a fear, one that most of us have. Every time I saw someone in a wheelchair, it was a reminder. A reminder that every day each one of us faces the possibility that it could be us in that position. Things that we do, simple things like taking a shower or crossing the street, have the possibility of putting us in a wheelchair. This fear prevented me from really knowing the people who were to become my passengers, from seeing each of them as a person.

Each successive passenger on the van helped me overcome this fear, although none of them knew this. I began to know many of them, and my fear diminished. I learned that life will continue if I find myself in that position and that I'll still be able to go on to enjoy life.

As the semester passed, I began to become aware of other things, many of which would not have occurred to me had I not been driving the van. When crossing campus on the sidewalks, new obstacles presented themselves. I never before had been faced with stairs and curbs as barriers. To drive across the campus, I had to plan my route. In a sense, for a short while, I had to face the same barriers that my passengers saw every day.

With this came similar realizations. Many buildings in our society are not accessible to someone in a wheelchair. I fully understood this one evening when bringing a passenger to Engineering East. She was going to see a movie, but was unable to because the building was not wheelchair accessible. The only possible way she could have gotten in was through Marston Hall and it was locked.

By the end of the semester, I saw what the greatest problem most of the passengers on my van face. It is a society that doesn't allow them to become full functioning members. We construct buildings that close them out. Curbs stop them. Most of all, the attitudes of our society disable them.

There are no simple answers. Each and every one of us must change our attitudes. They are the real barriers and we create them. Once they are gone, we'll be able to see and understand the physical barriers we create. When we do this, we'll allow people in wheelchairs to partake in the activities we now deny them.

David Valade is a Collegian columnist.

Flawed logic of the Right

David Keith

Since my wife started attending UMass, I have started reading the campus papers and come in touch with the voluble New Right.

My first instinct is to challenge specifics as in pointing out to Peter Dow—as well as that Old Right hand, Walt Rostow—that if we believe armaments are flowing from Nicaragua to Salvadoran guerillas, the legal action of the United States would be to take this alleged violation of the Rio Treaty and the Charter of the Organization of the American States to the World Court and ultimately to the U.N. Security Council. This is not leftist dogma, it is the US law.

Going beyond the first instinct, I feel a remote sympathy for the rebel stance of the New Right. They appear to enjoy standing tall against the trendy tides, even going so far as to solicit "Bomb Scares, Death Threats," and more deadly still, "Federal Grants."

But what I find deeply disturbing is the cocksure manner in which these ideological contras deal with issues that determine the fate of real, loving ot hating, but always fragile, humans. Right or Left, no good soldier would treat life and death issues so casually. Soldiers know ideas can kill.

While Stephen Erickson graciously admits "the United States has made some significant mistakes in the past in overeacting to perceived threats..."(so much for Vietnam, et al.) he moves inexorably to The Grand Assumption. "From all corners of the globe, a war is being waged that pits the Soviet-backed forces with those of the West." Once this idiocy (and I'm not referring to the globe with corners) is accepted, anything goes. People—like me—who disagree become "leftists" and therefore not credible. Who cares if a "leftist" points out that the United States not only supported the Somoza dynasty, but in 1933 created it; or that we only curtailed aid at the last minute when "Our son of a bitch" was not only embarrassing but losing?

The people finally pushed into resisting automatically become "Moscow-directed communists" and so, less than human. Ergo, compassion is wasted. All's fair in war.

The CIA special advisor on Central America from 1981-1983, David MacMichael, pointed out during a panel discussion at UMass that, as an insider, he saw no secret evidence of an "arms flow" from Nicaragua. Also, he said the contras were created by the CIA to overthrow the Sandinistas by military force and subversion, that the contras do use kidnapping to recruit, they do target teachers and health workers, and that they do commit terrorist acts as part of their policy.

While The Minuteman invites us to a "COOR'S PARTY" (to drink Coors?), Coors' money is going to U.S. mercenaries and contras to purchase the death of humans; and to the Heritage Foundation and The Minuteman to rationalize "good" terrorism.

As a final insult, The Minuteman stole the motto of my Scottish clan, "Veritas Vincit." If truth does indeed conquer, the New Right better duck.

David Keith lives in Sunderland

Letters

Pushiness is offensive to some

Last week, I was sitting in my economics lecture. It was running late as usual, because it takes a long time for 750 people to get in and settled. To my surprise, not my professor, but a woman I had never seen before assumed the stage. "Who could she be," I thought, "a T.A.?" No. She was from MassPIRG and was using my learning time to plug her organization. The clock ticked steadily on as she concluded her speech and handed out cards to the class.

I came to this University to get an education and I invest a great deal of time and money to insure that I get the best one possible. Therefore, I become annoyed when someone barges in and uses my class time to further his or her personal cause. It's just not fair, and frankly, I have better things to do with my time.

Like eating in peace, for example. Just a few days ago, I was in Franklin Dining Commons and as I was walking by, someone shoved a paper in front of my face and demanded, "Have you had a chance to sign the petition for MassPIRG?" When I informed him that I was not going to sign the petition, he became angry with me and yelled after me until I left the Dining Commons.

I have no problem with what MassPIRG stands for, and as a matter of fact, I think that they have done some very good things. What I don't like is their pushiness. If I wanted to learn about MassPIRG, I would have gone to their office in the Student Union Building and asked. Maybe they would get a better response if they changed their tactics. Many students are frightened by their aggressive and overzealous representatives. Their methods had enough of a negative effect on me for me to write an article on the subject and a good number of people I've talked to feel the same way. So think about it, MassPIRG; a little tact never hurt anyone.

Jennifer Abrams
Central

Information is a sacred cow

It is becoming quite tedious being subjected to misinformation by so-called "columnists" writing for the Collegian. Rusty Denton's article is no exception. It may have raised some interesting issues about animal rights. However, his remarks about India are inaccurate and out of context. Anyone who has bothered to research the subject, from sources other than tourist brochures and pejorative "country reports," knows it is not against the law to slaughter cows, or kill rodents, in India. Rather, the sanctions against killing cows are of a religious nature. It is rooted in the complex philosophical and bio-cultural tenets of 3,000 odd years of Hinduism.

Attributing the "alleged" shortage of food to the eating habits of cows is to fall into the trap of proposing oversimplistic arguments to the insidious and tragic problems of hunger, caused more by maldistribution, food and land ownership patterns. Further, the statement about rats and mice overrunning cities, etc. is highly imaginative and sensationalist but quite inaccurate and grotesque. India may not have brand name products "guaranteed to kill rats and mice," but we certainly are not in need of a Pied Piper, either.

By making unsubstantiated, inaccurate and insulting remarks about foreign countries, Denton reinforces the stereotype of Americans being ignorant about other cultures, peoples and places and being arrogant. It is also especially unforgivable in an educational environment where the access to resources and information is wide-ranging. It does not seem to play a role in Denton's attempts at being a columnist. I suggest Denton and those who agree with him take a dose of their own medicine and consider the state of their own souls. Seems to me, they may need rescuing from self-righteousness and ignorance.

Kamadhenu
Central

Letters

MassPIRG goals not partisan

As I was walking through the Campus Center last week, I was approached by a rather friendly student who asked me if I would help save MassPIRG.

Having had a close friend who was actively involved with MassPIRG in former years, I was well aware of the many beneficial issues that this organization has fought for and successfully achieved.

After I signed a petition in support of this group, I thought to myself, why is working for such things as cleaner air, uncontaminated drinking water, and world hunger such a hard thing to do? You would think that everyone—no matter how rich or poor, young or old, Republican or Democrat, educated or non-educated—would want to help, or at least support those whose goals are to make our world a healthier and safer place to live in.

Wendy Friese
Amherst

New masthead worse than terrible

As we returned to campus this semester, on one of our many trips through the Campus Center, we walked over to the stack of Collegians and picked up a few. Much to our chagrin, the typeface has been changed. We looked at each other and wondered if this was the same Collegian that we had both grown so accustomed to reading over our four year tutelage here at UMass.

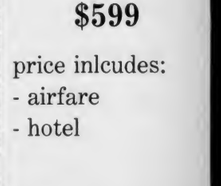
It was impossible to determine whether this paper was just another fly-by-night periodical, complete with its own cheesy font. Folks, the new typeface is worse than terrible, whose idea was that anyway? The Collegian now lacks personality. In the past, the Collegian was instantly recognizable and discriminated from any other paper on the stack. Now it is destined to remain where it is placed, on the floor of the S.U.B.

Matt Stanton
Sunderland
Grinda Leces
Amherst

UNIVERSITY TRAVEL and TOURS INC.
225 Main St. Northampton, Mass.584-9913

Spring and Summer Vacations with combination of cosmopolitan nightlife, beaches, and hiking

BRUSSELS



1 week

$599

price inlcudes:
- airfare
- hotel

1 MONTH EUROPE AND CRETE

$799

price includes:
- Roundtrip airfare NY to Brussels
- 1 month Eurailpass
- 1 week hotel acc. on the beach in Crete

Have your tour with all the trimmings. If you love the mountains. . .call us about our unique hiking program in Crete.

Price Good IF Reservations Made Before Feb. 15, 1986

ATHENS AND CRETE 1 MONTH

$999.

price includes:
- round trip airfare Boston or NY to Athens
- hotel acc. 1 week in Athens 2 weeks on the beaches of Crete 1 week in the White Mountains of Crete

SPAIN 1 month

$999

price includes:
- rd trip airfare
- hotel acc.

Making Plans for Spring Break Let Us Help

HAWAII
4 nts Honolulu
3 nts Maui
$844

FLORIDA
Fort Lauderdale
$278 to $580

MEXICO
Acapulco
$579 to $619

Price Includes Airfare & Hotel Accommodations

ARTS

INXS parties with power for sold out crowd

By NATALIE HEWITT
Collegian Correspondent

Perhaps one of the hottest tickets in the valley last week was for INXS who played at the Student Union Ballroom Friday night. Like the other INXS concerts already booked and promoted on this tour, the UMass concert was sold-out—and understandably so.

The first concert in their North American tour, INXS played their hearts out. Starting with a song from The Swing album, "Johnson's Aeroplane," INXS mixed old and new material, pleasing everyone with their brand of hard-edged danceable and rocking music. Michael Hutchence sang with incredible soul and energy although he was occasionally drowned out by the heavy mix of guitars and bass. Inviting the audience, saying, "Let's have a party here!" Hutchence and the band swung into a powerful performance of "I Send a Message," complete with a solid performance by Kirk Pengilly on saxophone and Hutchence's purring into the microphone.

Although the first songs, including "The One Thing," from their fourth album Shabooh Shoobah, slightly suffered from the band getting warmed up, they more than made up for it on some new tunes from their latest LP, Listen Like Thieves. Unlike any band I've ever seen in concert before, INXS played every song from their new album, and by the end of the night, they had played an impressive set of 21 songs from their last three American releases.

Some of the highlights of the show included "Dancing On the Jetty" (from The Swing) in which bassist Garry Gary Beers started jamming with guitarist Tim Farriss, and the girls in front of the stage grabbed for Michael Hutchence. "What You Need," INXS' new single, was a steamy romp as Hutchence and their female back-up singer provocatively shared a microphone on the chorus. Other highlights included "Original Sin," "This Time," and "One x One" which really cooked, and was probably one of the hottest tunes performed all night. "Don't Change" (from Shabooh Shoobah) ended the set with the enthusiastic crowd dancing and singing along.

INXS came back twice to play four encores. "Burn For You" and "The Swing," both from The Swing album, had the band flying on stage. On "Burn For You," Tim Farriss joined brother Andrew on synthesizers while "The Swing" showed off the third Farriss, Jon's impressive and propulsive drum work.

There were a few things that flawed the concert slightly, like the unneeded smoke machine and the few difficulties in hearing Michael Hutchence. But what made it a memorable and exciting concert was that the band enjoyed playing, and you could see that clearly on their faces and hear it in their playing. As Kirk Pengilly exclaimed backstage after the show, it was a lot of fun.

Opening for INXS was New Man, an increasingly popular college radio band. They played to a surprisingly enthusiastic audience, many in the crowd familiar with the songs, including "Bad Boys." New Man played an energetic, catchy, and stylized forth minutes of dance-oriented pop. From the sound and look of them, and the audience's reaction to them, we may be hearing more from New Man in the near future.

COMING TOMORROW
exclusive interview with INXS

Collegian photo by Brian Guarnotta
Michael Hutchence, lead singer of INXS, played Friday in the S.U.B.

Zora: Black folklore

By A.V. THOMPSON
Collegian Correspondent

Zora, the first performance celebrating Black History Month, was a dramatization of short stories and folklores of Harlem Renaissance writer Zora Neal Hurston (1901-1960). The works were edited by Alice Walker, author of The Color Purple.

The production, held last weekend at Hampden Theater, began with a brief introduction and slides showing Hurston as she was in the 1920's and 30's. This then led into three sketches epitomizing Hurston's pride and acclaim.

The first was three monologues taken from her essay, "How It Feels to Be Colored Me." Each actress with great exuberance and confidence strutted about the stage illustrating Hurston's own refusal to apologize for being black. They all had talent which enabled the audience to laugh, admire the author's boldness and appreciate her words.

The second was a collection of folklore tales told by three storytellers who represented ordinary black folk. Such fables had been passed down through generations.

This sketch turned out to be the highlight of the evening. It's performers, who according to actor/director Ingrid Askew were "family men," were superb in their witty interpretations. The tales themselves ranged from merely stretching the truth, as with a huge pumpkin, to depictions of black slaves fooling masters by feigning stupidity.

The third and final sketch was a short story, "The Guilded Six Bits." It told of the marriage between Missy May and Joe along with problems of adultery and money.

This performance was the longest and unfortunately one of the weakest of the evening, and showed the difficulty of adapting short stories to the stage. The excellence of actress Suyen Lyn shone through, however, and the dance scene by Patti O'Neal gave the story more depth of feel and imagination.

On the whole this hour and a half production of Zora was well worth seeing if only to realize the rich talent and uniqueness of Hurston herself. It does not give a biographical account but shows what she was most famous for—her writing.

Collegian photo by Michelle Segall
"Zora" is the presentation of several works by the late Zora Neal Hurston

Signing off in deaf performance

By ILANA LEVENSON
Collegian Staff

With fingers flowing and a simultaneous voiceover, the National Theatre of the deaf sent out a different flavor of drama, although it was not enough to mask their bland performance for their hearing/deaf audience.

The NTD, which is in its 18th year, performed two plays at the Fine Arts Center Thursday night, including a Japanese mystery and an American classic by E.B. White.

One of the special things about the troupe is that they are a theatre group aiming to communicate to an additional audience that differs somewhat from a hearing audience, through Sign Language. However, any hearing person who knows Sign Language realized that the prose that was overvoiced did not correlate closely enough with the Sign Language.

The first play performed was a Japanese murder mystery, In a Grove. It did not leave anyone sitting on the edge of their seat, of which there were many empty ones.

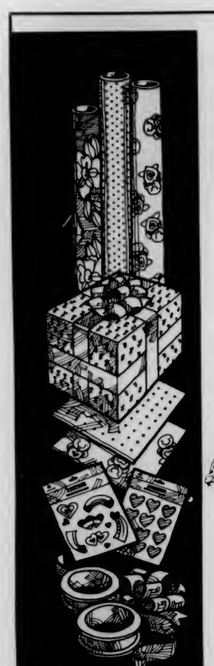
The scene opened with the man who had been stabbed to death laying on the stage. It developed through the six completely unsynchronized testimonies of who claimed to have stabbed this man. Because the first five testimonies brought no conclusion, the dead man was allowed to rise from the dead to communicate his 6th version through a mediator. After this version of what "really" happened, the play was over. Was the audience supposed to assume that the dead man's testimony was true because he was the one who had died?

After this, a 15 minute intermission allowed the audience a relief from this boring drama.

The following play, Farewell My Lovely was written by E.B. White as a tribute to his Model T. This humorous play could have been renamed the life and times of a Model T. White's strong affectionate feelings for his car are communicated. White's description of a new Ford as "born as naked as a baby" was the beginning a more up beat play that kept the audience laughing at the personification of his mechanical sweetheart.

It's too bad they couldn't have done away with the serious play and done another comedy, they're much better at it.

Charles Homet (left) and Andy Vasnick appear in "Farewell My Lovely," presented by the National Theatre of the Deaf



Bromberg delivers another crowd pleasing performance

By ROB SKELTON
Collegian Staff

Don't let the glasses fool you. David Bromberg was at his irreverent best Wednesday at Northampton's Iron Horse coffeehouse, treating the sold-out crowd to his trademark self-deprecating folkabilly blues.

Stand beside me when you measure my size. Dave is a big, funny-looking guy whose two decades in the business have made him a master of the microphone. Trading quips and dirty jokes with the intimately-set Iron Horse audience, he played songs old and new, and wrapped up his show with two well-received encores—Statesboro Blues and Mr. Bojangles.

...continued on page 13

Valentine Gift Wrap
VALENTINE'S DAY
FEBRUARY 14TH

Wrap your gifts with elegant and fashionable gift wrappings that say "Be my Valentine" from American Greetings.

Located in Campus Center
UNIVERSITY STORE
Open M-F 9-5

AMERICAN GREETINGS
© MCMLXXXVI American Greetings Corp.

THE FINE ARTS CENTER
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

BEN HOLT, baritone
1983 Winner of the Young Concert Artists International Auditions
Wednesday, February 12, 8 pm
Bowker Auditorium
Tickets $6

NIKOLAIS DANCE THEATRE
Wednesday February 19, 8pm
Concert Hall
Tickets $16.14.12

MUMMENSCHANZ
Swiss Mime-Mask Theater
Tues./Wed., February 25-26, 8 pm
Concert Hall
Tickets $20.18.16

Five College Students Half-Price Tickets available at Fine Arts Center Box Office, Springfield Civic Center and DATATIX Outlets
Call (413)545-2511 or 1-800-243-4842

The Distinguished Visitors Program presents

JOHN STOCKWELL
the highest-ranking CIA official to openly criticize the agency.
The Secret Wars of the CIA

TOMORROW
distinguished visitors program
Tuesday, 8 PM
February 11
Campus Center Auditorium

UPC Presents
A Blues Extravaganza!

and Special Guest
ROY BUCHANAN

Tickets on Sale
At Tix Unlimited
For the Record (Faces) and Main St Records
No cans, bottles or recording devices

TUES. FEB. 25th
S.U.B. 8 pm
Tickets $9.00 in advance
$10.00 at the door

ARTS

...continued from page 12

Don't let false estimates rule you. Bromberg's style weighs heavily on country picking punctuated by lead guitar vocal mimickry; he traverses musical boundaries, however, typically (for him) treating the packed house to a multi-packaged performance, which included original folk, twenties drug-songs, old blues standards, and some of his best-known hits, including "Sharon", and of course, "Demon in Disguise".

And then, you may come to realize that David Bromberg is a musical phenomenon whose successful solo acoustic valley appearance captured and enraptured all those who came to see him. Bromberg is especially adept at stringing long descriptives into a frenzied blues monologue without losing control of the rhythm or the audience. With his tongue working overtime, he spews out the old "my-woman-she-done-me-so-wrong" bit with a refreshing twist of eloquence which can amaze a listener, speak not of creating a convert.

I am a demon in disguise. And he has earned some respect for his art. If you missed him this time, try to get to him next year. He is definitely worth the effort; he makes the effort.

Roches harmonize to a SRO crowd

By PETER WISSOKER
Collegian Staff

The Roches made a triumphant return to the Calvin Theatre in Northampton Saturday night playing to an SRO crowd which brought them back for two encores.

